

SCHOOLCRAFT COUNTY TOWNSHIPS & MANISTIQUE

AN INTRODUCTION TO SCHOOLCRAFT COUNTY

French explorers, missionaries, and voyageurs passed along the shore of Schoolcraft County beginning in the seventeenth century. Many stopped to camp and move on. The county was established in 1843 and organized in 1846. In the early days logging and associated industries were prominent. The industrial life of Manistique dates from a lumbering development in 1860, from which grew one of the Upper Peninsula's largest lumber centers – a city with mills and docks that extended several miles up the Manistique River. At the peak of production, the mills had an output of 90,000,000 board feet of pine annually much of which went to construct Midwestern cities. With the decline of timber, after 1900 new industries – chemical factory, lime kilns and iron furnaces. Immigrants were attracted to the county because of this industrial development.
