

Source: The Daily Mining Journal, Marquette, MI
January 2, 1891

Saturday

A Difficult Case

At Newberry, on Sunday last, a lumberman fell off the railway bridge, dislocating his right shoulder and fracturing the acromion process of the scapula. All the Newberry physicians took a hand at reducing the dislocation without success. Wednesday he was brought to this city and Doctors Youngquist and Brown reduced the dislocation and will ship the patient home in a plaster cast in a day or two. The Newberry physicians failed to discover that there was a fracture as well as a dislocation, hence their trouble.

✓DSS&A Ry.
Stations, Newberry, MI