GRADUATION

in Grand Marais. The weather held out for all the parties. A few clouds and sprinkles came through along with a fog bank. However, all turned out well with sunshine for most of the weekend.

In visiting with Dianna Bell and family was Theresa Beach from Hillsdale. She was able get some visiting in while attending some of the graduation parties

Several of the Bells were in over the weekend for Sarah's graduation. If you did not get to Sarah's party you probably heard it. Corissa Ross also graduated and she had plenty of family in to celebrate. Many of the Blocks were in along with the Ross families The Beaupied's had relatives up from down state for Matt's graduation. Sure was nice that so many people were able to enjoy the celebrations.

Terry Hardy from Grand Rapids made it up for the weekend along with friend Bob Heater. Of course their goal was to fish and that they did. We were able to enjoy a meal of brookies one night.

Bob and Renee' (Beaver) Stocking were in from Grand Rapids. Yes, you did not read it wrong. Renee' and Bob were married last weekend in GR. A small ceremony with her parents, Ruth and Neil Beaver, and Bob's parents Bob and Ruth Stocking. Congratulations!

Ryan and Brooke (Barney) Whaley are in from Marquette with their children Paige and Blane.

Dennis and Cindy (Barney) Elliot were in from Marquette with son Chase. They were in visiting with family.

The Dempsey clan were in over the weekend. Ed delivered the commencement speech to the seniors and did a very fine job

Dennis and Marcey Carlson were in with there children for the weekend. Rich and Treva (Sibbald) Gorski were in with children Nolan and Dana. I did see the Lundquist girls helping Mom, Gloria, plant the garden. Keep up the good work.

There has been lots of grass mowing going on this past weekend and flowers are being planted. The flower pots in front of Superior Shores sure looks nice. I am sure the woman's club will be planting the planters around town soon. That sure make things look good around town with the potted plants.

Chris Bailey was up over the holiday weekend from Tecumseh. She was visiting with her dad, Bill, and sister Nadine Bailey. On her way up she picked up Millie LaFraniere, (Bill's sister). They had a good visit. I went up to Uncle Bill's and we played cards. I think Nadine enjoyed seeing me lose game after game.

Also in for the weekend were Cobina St Martin and John Whittingham from DePere WI. They have been working on their place out east of town. Cobina will be retiring this summer and is really looking forward to retirement.

Kurt and Patti Greening were in from Alma staying at their house in town. I'm sure we will be seeing more of them through out the summer. We have new owners for the Hardware Store. Tim and Deb McKinstry sold the hardware to Mike and Chris Lawless. The deal was finalized on Wednesday. (Make sure you check out the new hours. They are no longer the same as the grocery store). Congratulation Mike and Chris and we look forward to seeing you around town.

There were many garage sales through out town this weekend. Garage sales are always fun and hope we have more through out the summer. Mary Ann (Hill) Jacobson is in town staying at her summer home. She hopes to be here for about a month.

The Pickle Barrel is taking shape. There was lots of activity there this weekend. You will notice many trees planted and flowers too. The open house is July 3rd. It should be a nice kick off to the 4th of July.

Happy birthday to Evelyn Tornovish, Dorothy Morrison, Paige Whaley, and Kay Wampler.

If you have any news for Around the Bay let us know. See you Around the Bay.

Keep on smiling Evie morriso3@jamadots.com

A SPECIAL THANK YOU!

Thank you to everyone who participated in my surprise birthday celebration on May 22nd. The day was absolutely perfect with family and friends gathered together. An extra thank you to hubby Mike, Gordie and Pat Kniss and their conspiratory assistants who ruly can keep secrets! Grand Marais is the best place in the world to call home. I love you all!

OBITUARY

CHRISTINE WOOD

Christine Noella Wood, age 73, of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. Passed away Saturday evening, May 7, 2005 at her home.

Christine was born in Auburn, Maine on December 13, 1931, the daughter of the late Arthur and Albertine (LeBlanc) Dore. She graduated from Waterville High School with the class of 1951. On April 23, 1955, she married John Wood in Waterville, Maine. Motherhood is a gift that never runs dry. This gift brought endless joy to Christine. She is survived by her husband; John Wood, four daughters; Barbara (Daniel) Braun of Grand Rapids, Mich., Theresa (David) Pobursky of Wyandotte, Mich., Diane Orlando of Riverview, Mich., and Suzanne (Tony) Marriott of Arizona,. and five grandchildren; .Stephanie, Andrea, Aaron, Joseph, and Nancy. She is also survived by a sister: Lorraine (Ray) Cyr of Florida, and a brother; John (Joan) Dore of Maine. , A Memorial Mass will be held at 11 a.m. On Friday, May 13, at St.

Mary's Pro Cathedral with Father Ted Brodeur as celebrant. Interment will take place on a later date at the Holy Rosary Catholic Cemetery in Grand Marais, Mich

Memorials may be left to Hospice of Chippewa County or the American Cancer Society.

Matthew Holcombe Leavenworth, of Plainville, CT., son of Lois & Jim Leavenworth of Grand Marais, graduated with a B.S. degree in Education on Saturday, May 21, 2005, at the Hartford Civic Center in Hartford, CT. He attended Central Connecticut State University in New Britain, CT. (Lois' home town). He hopes to start teach ing 9th grade English in a CT part in this happy event.

Memorial Day is a fitting way to honor those who gave the ultimate sacrifice for their country. The services held around this nation were sincere and the speakers were in fact expressing their gratitude to these brave men and women. This year in excess of 1500 more groups of family and friends mourned the loss of a loved one. I joined all true Americans in honoring and grieving for the losses suffered during all the wars and non-wars of this country. I also prayed for the safe keeping of those in harms way. According to most reports, the Iraq war is quickly approaching or has already exceeded a cost of $300,000,000.00. Although that is an unimaginable amount of money, it is not the biggest cost and the worst thing about it is that it ain't over yet.

To listen to Georgie Boy and many other politicians from both sides of the aisle give moving testaments to our fallen warriors is disgusting. They and others like them are the cause of the deaths. In many instances they have sent the soldiers and sailors into battle for no legitimate purpose and worse yet with poor or no equipment. Then these monsters refuse to give those who have survived the wars, with varying degrees of health, the help that is needed and was promised. Look at the record; our leaders refused to accept there was such a thing as Gulf War Syndrome until several veterans became delayed casualties of that war. The same thing occurred with Agent Orange and other physical and mental problems that veterans suffered from as a result of doing this country's dirty work. Did you ever wonder how the veterans who have lost their health, jobs, houses etc. feel when they hear these lying politicians from Georgie Boy on down shout their gratitude and then have the VA tell them to go to Hell? This is mainly because our leaders have failed to allocate sufficient funding for the VA. They just don't give a damn. They will tell you that cuts have to be made but pass a transportation bill that has enough pork in it to give the VA all it needs and then some. As far as I am concerned, having these people have anything to do with Memorial Day services is a slap in the face to the fallen warriors and their loved ones. PUT OUR MONEY WHERE YOUR MOUTH IS!

Amnesty International gave our prisons, detention centers, military prisons or whatever you choose to call them a big-time butt chewing. Although their analogy of our facilities being the modern gulag is a great exaggeration, there is no doubt that our handling of "detainees" leaves room for lots of improvement. To give some hard jail time to a couple of kids that let their patriotism run rampant without doing the same for senior NCOs and commissioned officers is dead wrong but SOP for the military. It is the offering of a scapegoat to ease the criticism of both our friends and enemies. Those kids need psychiatric help a whole lot more than incarceration. The picture of Saddam Insane in his skivvies may look like a humorous prank to us; but many people perceive it as an insult. It reinforces their hatred or dislike of the USA and that is low enough now. Iran, North Korea and a few other countries are eating this up; it makes great propaganda.

Bills that she supposedly will sign take more local authority away and transfer it to the state. The bills in question deal with zoning and allow wind turbines in any zone. There is also movement in the state to do away with all local, county and municipal zoning and create one "comprehensive" act. It will no doubt be written by people that have no idea about what zoning is and have never visited the diverse locations of this state. In other words it will be written by ignorant people for politicians that have little stake in the ramifications of such a law and god only knows who will enforce it. It will however allow our state politicians another means to repay large campaign contributors.

And finally. I got a chance to see Lizzard play fast pitch softball last week. Her team eked out a 7 to 6 victory. Lizzard's first two at bats resulted in RBI hits and her third was a drive to deep center field that was caught for an out. Although I am not at all prejudice, Lizzard is far and away the best player on the team. Due to an injury to one of Lizzard's teammates, Doc was called up from the lower age group and did a great job. Doc fielded the first ball hit her way and threw it to second base for a force out. She almost made a difficult catch of a fly ball and might have if two of the other girls weren't also trying. Doc didn't get to bat but she no doubt would have given the ball a ride had she batted. I enjoyed many aspects of the game: watching my granddaughters play, see ing the high level of skill of that age group, watching great sportsmanship (something missing in most athletic contests today) and seeing the joy all players got from the game. Dizzy was also there cheering on both sides because she knew girls from both teams. She too is a ballplayer and from what I saw a pretty good pitcher. By the time the game was over and l had dinner at Poo's it was time for Hoo and Too and Dizzy to go to bed and it did not take long for me to join them. Rooting for the team was quite tiring. I discovered that it was Sandy's birthday (I knew it but pretended that I didn't); I wont tell you how old she is. Her next birthday will be the big 40. The next morning I was awakened by an attack of three grandkids. Am going to a baseball game with Boo and Hoo next week and am looking forward to the trip to Milwaukee. Not looking forward to Boo's driving; it could be worse, I could be driving.

And finally, finally. Graduation was last week for Burt Township School and I blew it big time. It was all over before I was reminded and I missed all the free food at the parties. I also missed Ed (Tiger) Dempsey's keynote address. I heard he had them rolling in the aisles. Congratulations to all graduates and you may find success.

And finally, finally, finally. I guess I am out of the loop. I didn't know that Mike Kinlaw had finished his tour of duty and was home. I am happy to be able to say that he made it. Thank you Mike for your service! Memorial Day brought our attention to our country men who gave their lives in service to this country. I hope we also remembered their families and friends. So many young men and women lost and yet to be lost because the leaders of the world cannot work out differences in a reasonable manner. It doesn't look like that will happen in the near future, therefore many more young people will be killed and injured and many more will be grieving for a family member or friend next year. Wars are not necessary but they are inevitable and casualties are a certainty. Don't let Memorial Day be the only day that you pay honor to and pray for our soldiers and sailors both present and past. Till next issue.

Six Simple Computer Security Tips

- Use strong passwords. Choose passwords that are difficult or impossible to guess. Give different passwords to all accounts.
- Make regular backups of critical data. Backups must be made at least once each day. Larger organizations should perform a full backup weekly and incremental backups every day. At least once a month the backup media should be verified.
- Use virus protection software. That means three things: having it on your computer in the first place, checking daily for new virus signature updates, and then actually scanning all the files on your computer periodically.
- Use a firewall as a gatekeeper between your computer and the Internet. Firewalls are usually software products. They are essential for those who keep their computers online through the popular DSL and cable modern connections but they are also valuable for those who still dial in.
- Do not keep computers online when not in use. Either shut them off or physically disconnect them from Internet connection.
- Do not open e-mail attachments from strangers, regardless of how enticing the Subject Line or attachment may be. Be suspicious of any unexpected e-mail attachment from someone you do know because it may have been sent without that person's knowledge from an infected machine.

June 5 - 11, 2005 is Rip Current Awareness Week.

Rip currents are powerful, channeled currents of water flowing away from shore. They typically extend from the shoreline, through the surf zone, and past the line of breaking waves. Rip currents can occur at any beach with breaking waves, including the Great Lakes. Rip currents can be killers. The United States Lifesaving Association es-

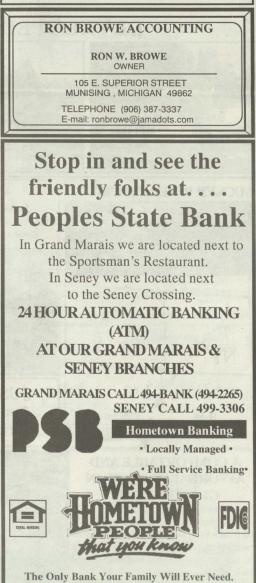

Rip currents can be killers. The United States Lifesaving Association estimates that the annual number of deaths due to rip currents on our nation's beaches exceeds 100. Rip currents account for over 80% of rescues performed by surf beach lifeguards.

The greatest safety precaution that can be taken is to recognize the danger of rip currents and always remember to swim at beaches with lifeguards. The United States Lifesaving Association has calculated the chance that a person will drown while attending a beach protected by USLA affiliated lifeguards at 1 in 18 million. If caught in a rip current at an unguarded beach, how you respond could make the difference between life and death.

NOAA's National Weather Service and National Sea Grant Program, in partnership with the United States Lifesaving Association, are working together to raise awareness about the dangers of rip currents. Research is also being conducted in order to develop and improve the ability to predict the occurrence and strength of rip currents. The goal of the awareness campaign and research is to reduce the number of rip current related fatalities.

A daily rip current outlook is included in the Surf Zone Forecast, which is issued by many National Weather Service offices. A three-tiered structure of low, moderate, high is used to describe the rip current risk. This outlook is communicated to lifeguards, emergency management, media and the general public.

With increasing coastal populations, rip currents will continue to be a serious hazard at surf beaches. This web site is designed to provide educational material as well as real time information about the rip current risk. The time you take to understand rip currents can help you protect yourself and your loved ones when visiting the beaches.

DO THE RIGHT THING By Lee Goewey

"The mere existence of conservatives should be proof enough to liberals of the fallacy of their belief in the perfectibility of mankind."

Passed by congress and signed by the president late last year, the Intelligence Reform Bill contained some border security measures that now raise hackles on two or our elected officials.

The problematic provisions perturbing these politicians require that travelers entering the U.S. from Canada and Mexico must present a passport on arrival. One of these worthies contends that this interferes with our need to "be sensitive" to "tourism and the regional economy." The other fears that the requirements might "disrupt the honest flow of traffic."

Who are these two, anyway, you might ask? Syndicated columnist Michele Malkin identifies them as "Senator Conniver" and "President Clueless", in a recent article. "Strange bedfellows," indeed; they are Senator Hillary and President Bush. As Malkin puts it, "What a pair ... Pick your poison. Either way we're committing national suicide."

Politicians on both sides of the aisle in congress are posturing to be seen as tough on immigration, but little of real substance is being accomplished. Even Maxine Waters (D-CA) is quoted by Malkin to say, "There is no excuse not to control the border." "I'm a liberal with a capital "L", but I'm sick of it!" Senator Clinton favors appointment of a "Border Czar", but only for the CAN-US border! Go figure.

The president still advocates his amnesty program, ignoring the fact that President Reagan pushed through such a plan in the eighties, when we had 4 million illegals here. We now have over 11 million illegals and we want to try that again? Get real! Veterans of the recent "Minuteman" project on our southern border, accompanied by talk radio hosts from around the country, are now in

Veterans of the recent "Minuteman" project on our southern border, accompanied by talk radio hosts from around the country, are now in Washington to try and persuade the powers that be to act effectively on the life-and-death matter of securing our borders. Ted Kennedy and his ilk and White House supporters of the president's ill-conceived amnesty refuse to meet with the supporters of sanity. As Ms Malkin puts it, "As long as the elites in both parties continue to act like scared monkeys, Americans will be forced to take homeland security into their own hands. We are all Minutemen now."

In this last regard, I am reminded of the two men of middle-eastern appearance encountered back on April 25^{th} of 2000 by our ambulance corps. (I wrote of this in the Gazette on 2-20-03.) We found them not to need medical assistance and our county and state law enforcement officers were uninterested in them in the absence of any overt law breaking on their part. The question remains as to what these two lightly clad (shirts, shoes and trousers only), uncommunicative individuals, with no food or other possessions were doing, walking south on M-77, about 12 miles from Grand Marais.

"9-11" was over a year away at that time, and no one cared whether these guys were illegals or not. Today, in many jurisdictions, police who become aware of illegal aliens are under orders not to turn them in to federal officers. Washington, itself, has authorized a "catch and release" program for over-worked border patrol and INS officers. These "policies" are sheer lunacy! We do live on the "front lines" here in the U.P. and it is, indeed, up to

We do live on the "front lines" here in the U.P. and it is, indeed, up to us to report any suspicious individuals we might encounter who could be illegals. Our remote little airport and miles of untended shoreline are prime locations for illegal entry. Please, DO THE RIGHT THING and be a "minuteman" in this regard. You should also contact your public servants in Washington and let them know you expect prompt and effective action from them to protect our borders against illegal entry by those who mean us ham. As of now, our borders remain out of control. You may agree or disagree with me, but the important thing is to let your elected officials know what you believe and what you expect from them, in a courteous manner. You may contact them at the following addresses; please be sure to include your name, address and phone number if you use snail or e-mail:

MEDIA FELLOWSHIP ON AGING AT NORTHERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY MARQUETTE - What is it really like to grow old today? Is aging accurately portrayed by the media?

Northern Michigan University will play host to a two-day conference, "Old Like Me² Issues and Stereotypes of Aging in North America," Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 17-18. The event is part of the 2005 Council for the Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) Media Fellowships Program.

The "Old Like Me?" conference will bring together gerontology and health care professionals, researchers and senior adult advocates to discuss with media members issues related to aging. These include where and how senior adults are growing older; the situation faced by the corrections system to deal with an aging prison population; teaching family members to communicate with loved ones who have Alzheimer's; new training and technology for health care professionals who work with senior adults, especially those in rural settings; an introduction to Ojibwe elders who are proactive in preserving tribal traditions for future generations; and new research into causes of human hearing loss.

The CASE Media Fellowships Program is a competitive application process. A limited number of fellowships are available for print, broadcast, online and experienced freelance journalists. Northern Michigan University will cover the cost of lodging and meals for those selected as media fellows; the journalist's employer is responsible for travel expenses and salary during the conference period. Local media are encouraged to register to attend, but lodging will not be provided. The application deadline is June 15. For more information or to register online, go to www.nmu.edu/case.

Michigan's Free Fishing Weekend, June 11-12, is a Great Time to Try Fishing

State recreation officials today announced Michigan's annual Summer Free Fishing Weekend, June 11-12. For these two days, residents and nonresidents can fish without purchasing a fishing license. though all other fishing regulations still apply.

Michigan has offered Free Fishing Weekends since 1986 as a way to promote the state's diverse natural resources. With more than 3,000 miles of Great Lakes shoreline, 11,037 inland lakes and more than 36,000 miles of rivers and streams, Michigan's freshwater angling opportunities are among the better in the nation.

"Fishing is a great way to connect with nature, whether you enjoy the solitude of a wooded stream or a day on a lake or pier with friends and family," said Department of Natural Resources Director Rebecca Humphries. "I encourage all Michigan residents to get out and try 'casting a line' and discover the many rewards that Michigan fishing has to offer.

The DNR and a host of federal, state and local partners offer educational Free Fishing events throughout the state. Most are designed for families and children.

"Avid anglers tend to have a stronger understanding of our aquatic re-sources and ecosystems," Humphries said. "Many seasoned anglers view Free Fishing Weekend as a time to introduce friends or young people to angling. Mentoring others helps ensure Michigan's conservation heritage is passed along to future generations."

A complete list of Michigan Summer Free Fishing Weekend events is available on the DNR Web site at www.michigan.gov/dnr.

ART MINIGRANT APPLICATIONS BEING ACCEPTED

Grant money is available through the CUPPAD Regional Commission to assist in funding local art programs. The Art Minigrant Program provides up to $4,000 to nonprofit organizations, schools, libraries and local governments on a matching basis.

The next deadline for submitting an application for the FY2006 program is July 1 ,2005. Projects being submitted for this funding cycle must begin after October 1, 2005 and conclude by September 30, 2006. Projects funded in the past have included after-school art classes, youth and adult art exhibitions, folk music concert series, school mural projects, piano concerts, photography workshops, and music conferences These programs are in response to needs of the community.

There are a few activities that cannot be funded with minigrant dollars, such as fund raisers, capital improvements (purchase of large items or renovations) or activities that produce an academic grade or are part of the school curriculum.

A local art review committee, with one member from each of the six counties, will discuss and evaluate the applications. Grant awards are made by the CUPPAD Executive Committee following a review of recommendations submitted by the local art review committee. In partnership with the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs, the CUPP AD Regional Commission is the granting agency for the central Upper Peninsula.

For more information or an application packet, contact the CUPPAD Regional Commission office, 2415 14th Avenue South, Escanaba, Michigan 49829, or phone 800-562-9828 or 906-786-9234.
