OUR PAPER

This year the students are planning to put out a bigger and better paper than ever before. Our paper will have news from other schools as well as local news. Also topics of interest from our surroundings will appear in other parts of Michigan. This will keep us informed as to the activities of other schools and we can tell where we stand.

It will give our school a better name if we all take interest in our paper and do our best to make it a success. It will put us on the map. The majority have promised to work for the new paper. This is usually the case but when the work comes, do you do it? Or do you say, "Oh, I don't care if the paper never comes out. Let the editors do the work, that's what they are there for." Students, it is this kind of spirit that is going to make a success out of our paper or make a success of our later lives? No, it is not! What we are doing today in school determines greatly what we will do in our later lives. If we do not make good in school, nine chances out of ten we will be failures in the days to come. Some of us may work hard to get the first issue out to the readers and then begin to lose interest. But to make our paper a good one we must do our part, not only now, but throughout the entire year. Experience is not the only thing one gets out of writing. We will be graded on the work we do, and will help raise the marks of the pupils in the English classes.

THE BOY SCOUTS

It appears that the community is becoming a great deal more interested in the Scout movement. The Scout organization is one which tends to raise the standard and morals of the young boys. Every boy just cannot help being a little better because of his becoming a Scout. It may be true that all of the scouts are not perfect and by the way, who is? It is an organization that a fellow does not see the real benefit of until he grows up and then looks over his boyhood days. The people of the community play a great part in the scout movement. If the townspeople are the type that uphold high morals and ideals the younger people will naturally follow in their footsteps. Indirectly the townspeople are affecting the lives of the boys and girls whom they become acquainted with. So townspeople, a great deal is depending on you.

Let's go students, and do our share by doing the work given us, by getting subscriptions, by getting jokes, and by putting them in the joke box, and last of all by co-operation. Let's make our paper a big success!

as it was possible to purchase. Practically all of the feed was purchased. When Mr. Miller was asked if the dairy business paid he pointed to his barn and explained that all of his money had been made from his cattle. He believes that a good sire is an important item in the dairy business, as this one factor will probably do more toward building up a herd than any other one point. The sire of his herd is a registered Guernsey with a known record of performance of his dam available at the farm.

The class next visited the herd at the State Hospital at Newberry, which consists of all registered Holsteins, and many of them having semi-official tests. Some of the cows were being tested while we were there. Mr. Campbell, who is superintendent of the farm, took us to the barn and introduced us to the herdman, Mr. Iker. These two gentlemen explained all the methods very carefully to the class. They have a number of wonderful cows with extra fine records. They have a few cows that produce nearly twenty-six thousand pounds of milk in one year, or thirteen ton of milk, which seems hardly possible. Some of these cows produced more than one thousand pounds of butter fat in one year, and a number produced better than nine hundred pounds of butter fat. They mix their own feed, using home grown feeds as much as possible, and supplemented with mangel and slage. The slage consisted of sun flowers and

GRADE NEWS

A visit to the Lower Grades this month, reveals that they are well along way in doing their interest, not only to themselves but to others.

Miss Cogrove's kindergarten has constructed a very vivid reproduction of Grand Marais. The buildings are made of blocks and the park has tiny evergreen branches set in spoons for trees. The lake is made of blue paper and all of the results are of great interest. It developed from their study of homes, and it is worthy of our comment.

These pupils are also busy fixing their sand table which will develop into an Indian settlement after it is finished.

They have a spelling thermometer in her room. Each day they have five words in spelling and if no one misses a word, the red ribbon on the thermometer goes up to 5. If anyone misses one word it goes down to 4. This urges them to do their best because one student does not like to lower the class record.

When one enters Miss Strom's third and fourth grade room, they notice the attractive curtains at the windows which now suggest Hallow'een. They were made by the pupils.

They not only make health posters but they also keep health records. These records they take home and on them mark each day they clean their teeth or practice some other good habit.

Miss Bosclair's fifth and sixth grades have studied the poem of Hiawatha. They dramatized the part called "Hiawatha's Friends."

The pupils made the stage themselves and John Doyle acted the part of Hiawatha, Billy LaCombs was Chibiabos and Kwashid was Philip Strom. Frances Tonkile's portrayal of Hiawatha's mother was excellent. Music was furnished by Genevieve MacDonald and Margaret Tornovish. This play of Hiawatha together with a few poems of Hallow'een furnished very good entertainment for the other grades, their teachers, and Mr. Butler.

be made here as the conditions are similar to the places visited. Balanced rations and records are necessary for best results, providing the cows are good producers, and the records will tell if the cows are good producers or not. The Animal Husbandry class has taken an inventory of the live stock in the community and is planning on making tests soon. Any farmer wishing to get the benefits of this work get in touch with a member of the class. Perhaps there will be enough to start a testing association, and this work will be carried on by the Animal Husbandry class if there are enough patrons to make it worth while.

Next visited the Newberry High School, with the wonderful class rooms, gymnasium, and auditorium. The H.V. boys were going to show the boys through the building but they could not do this until after the football game, so the class did not see all of the building.

About two o'clock we saw Marquette and Newberry High Schools play football. Newberry winning by the score of 6-0. We arrived home about seven o'clock.

The class learned that dairying is a paying proposition, and that money can

FIRST PARTY OF SEASON GIVEN

The first high school party was given Friday, October 28, with the teachers as guests.

The evening's entertainment included games and dancing. Delightful music was furnished by a peppy orchestra in which Pauline Tornovish Edith Erickson, Mr. Toms and Mr. Fleming played.

Lunch was served at ten o'clock followed by more dancing. The party ended a success and more are expected to follow.

FIRE TEAM ORGANIZED

A fire team consisting of the boys of the Agriculture Class has been organized, under the leadership of Superintendent George S. Butler. It will be the work of this team to see that all pupils leave the building in an orderly manner and that no one re-enters before the second bell rings.

Although the students of this school have caused no trouble on this point, it was decided that "Safety First" is the best motto.
