A GREAT LEADER.

Commissioner Curtis Says the Late Gen. Barrios, of Guatemala, Was as Great as Grant or Napoleon.

Treasurer Jordan Says the Rumor Relative to the Deficit at the San Francisco Mint is Incorrect.

Gen. Armstrong Who Recently Investigated the Cheyenne and Arapahoe Agencies Will Enroll the Apaches—Miscellany.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Mr. W. E. Curtis, who was originally appointed secretary of the South-American commission, but who, upon the return of Mr. Reynolds to the United States, was appointed commissioner in his stead, has returned to Washington. In an interview to-day he said: "Of all the men we met in our visit to the countries south of the United States, Gen. Barrios, the late president of Guatemala, was the greatest. He was as great in his way as

GRANT OR NAPOLEON. He possessed all the natural gifts which tended to make a great leader, but was lacking in advantages of education. He was one of the bravest men. An attempt was made to assassinate Barrios by throwing a bomb at him. It fell at his feet. He quickly put his foot on the bomb and extinguished it, remarking, as he did so, "These people don't know enough

TO KILL ME." In the conference last March, between the commissioner and Barrios, his little seven-year-old daughter, seated on her father's knee, acted as interpreter. At this meeting he said: "When you go back to your people tell them I am with them, and intend to become one of them. After I have accomplished the reunion of the Central-American states I intend to go to New York, and reside there and become a citizen."

A PREMATURE STATEMENT. Treasurer Jordan says that the statement that a misunderstanding exists between the outgoing and incoming sub-treasurers, at San Francisco, regarding the count of money is premature if not entirely incorrect. He has received no information on this point, and if there has been any misunderstanding of the kind stated, he certainly would have heard about it.

ENROLLING THE APACHES. Gen. Frank Armstrong, who recently investigated the Cheyenne and Arapahoe Indian agency, and whose report thereon had much to do with the issuance of a proclamation ordering the removal of that reservation, will soon proceed to the Apache agency, for the purpose of making an enrollment of the Indians there, and of inquiring into and reporting on the condition of affairs among the Apaches.

HIS SERVICES REQUIRED. A strong effort is being made to have the secretary of war make an exception in the case of Col. Davis, of Gen. Sheridan's staff, in enforcing the order sending officers, who have been doing detached duty for more than four years, back to their regiments. Col. Davis has been on detached service nearly five years, a portion of which time he assisted in the superintendency of the construction of the Washington monument.

THE OBJECT IN RELATING HIM IN WASHINGTON is to secure his service in superintending the construction of the proposed army museum building, provided for at the last session of congress. Work on the building has not begun, and during the time which will intervene between now and the commencement of the construction of the museum building it is intended to place Col. Davis in charge of the proposed improvements at the soldiers' home.

TRANSPORTATION OF GOLD. An appropriation of $1,000,000 was made at the last session of congress for the transportation of about $40,000,000 in gold from the sub-treasury at San Francisco to the sub-treasury at New York. Owing to the high rates asked by the express companies the secretary of the treasury decided to transfer the coin by registered mail. So far about $10,000,000 has been transported in this way. The money was mailed in $1,000,000 packages. In view, however, of the publicity which has been given to the method of transportation, it has been deemed best to suspend further shipments of the precious metal.

THE SMITH COURT MARRIAGE has completed its work, and to-day the court was adjourned. The findings will be sent to the president for his approval or disapproval. An unwritten law in court martial cases prevents members of the court from publishing the rulings till the president's action.

SANTOS HAS BEEN LIBERATED. Secretary of state Bayard to-day received a telegraphic communication from the American consul at Guayaquil, Ecuador, saying that he had positive information that Santos has been liberated. No details were given with the telegram.

NAVAL BOARD APPOINTED. The following naval board has been appointed to meet at the Delaware Iron Works, Chester, Pa., to-morrow, to examine and take inventory of the three cruisers Chicago, Atlanta and Boston, which were being constructed by Mr. John Roach. Assistant naval constructors J. T. Hanson, J. B. Hoover, Richard Gatwood and Lewis Nixon.

MISCELLANY. The quarantine officers at Baltimore, and the two Boston inspectors, have been notified to look out for three vessels which have sailed from Genoa for those places without bills of health. Acting secretary Fairchild has directed that a supplemental competitive examination be held at the treasury department on the twenty-fifth instant for the purpose of filling seven vacancies of the grade of cadets in the revenue marine service. The treasury department to-day purchased 245,900 ounces of silver for delivery at the Philadelphia mint, for coinage into standard dollars. The state department is informed that the civil government has officially declared that not one case of cholera has thus far occurred at Malaga.

Missouri Monumental Grant Association. St. Louis, Aug. 11.—At a meeting held at the office of mayor Francis this morning the Missouri Monumental Grant Association was organized to raise funds to erect a monument to Gen. Grant in this city. Officers were elected, and contributions called for.

On the Track of Geronimo. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 11.—The Call's Deming special says, Fort Bowdoe advises received here state that Geronimo is now in the southern part of the Sierra Madre, below the border, with two commands following him.

THE UNFINISHED CRUISERS.

Will Be Finished in Roach's Yards, Whitney Having Ascertained It Was Cheapest.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The Tribune to-morrow will say: "The secretary of the navy received this afternoon the assignees of John Roach & Son, George H. Wood and Geo. W. Quinlan, and their counsel, Aaron J. Vanderpool. To judge of what could be learned about the consultation Mr. Whitney is to take charge of the works, plant and tools of John Roach & Son, and to finish the cruisers. Mr. Wood is to handle the money, and make the profit, if there is any, acting virtually in the capacity of the government's agent."

THE COMPROMISE. It looked on as the outcome of secretary Whitney's discovery that it was impossible to complete the cruisers at the government's navy yards. The plan was investigated by the place selected, the yard in Brooklyn. Upon advice furnished him by his agents, secretary Whitney found it would cost at least $3,900,000 to get the yard in a condition to do the required work, and by the necessary tools, and even then it would cost FIVE TIMES MORE in labor and materials to do the work, than would cost the contractor. It then goes on to say: "Secretary Whitney found that the contract price for the remaining work on the Chicago was $285,000, and that if done in Roach's yards would cost $193,000 to complete her; that the contract price for the completion of the Atlanta and Boston was $85,000 each, and that the work to be done would cost $10,000 each.

GRANT'S PERSONAL MEMOIRS. They Will Be Finished by Col. Grant Up to His Father's Death.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—In an interview with a reporter Col. Grant said:

"I think that father's book will appear before long. We do not yet know exactly what or how much manuscript there is. The last pages my father wrote have not been looked up, and there is a large amount of matter not in form for publication. On my return to Mt. McGregor I shall devote the next four weeks to looking over the manuscripts. I shall make copies of all his papers and preserve the originals. I am not yet sure whether there will be enough to warrant publication or not, but what there is will be published with as little revising as possible. The story will be brought down to my father's death, and when this has been done, whatever there is will be printed. In regard to his mother's health he said: "My mother is physically very strong, and I have no doubt that in time she will regain her usual health. She has been confined unremittently for a long time to my father's sick room. If she had not been so strong, she would have broken down long ago. I think that with a change of surroundings she will recover rapidly. As to the future plans of the government, I cannot speak definitely. We shall go back to Mt. McGregor and remain there until fall, when the family must separate. Mrs. Grant will doubtless occupy the house on Sixty-sixth street."

TELLER TELLS A TALE. He Says the Government Reserved the Right to Remove the Cattlemen.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Ex-secretary Teller, in an interview here to-day, denies that the leases to the cattlemen, as granted by the Cheyenne and Arapahoe tribes in 1883, had ever been sanctioned or recognized by him, as secretary of the interior. He says he specifically stated in his reports of 1883-4, that the government reserved the right to interfere with the cattlemen and remove them whenever it became necessary, either on its own motion or from complaints of the Indians. In the connection announced to the cattlemen that if such occupation proved agreeable to the Indians the government would not interfere with their possessions. Secretary Teller said that the good had been done the Indians by meeting the cattlemen. The former were taught how to herd cattle, and in other ways were made familiar with actual business.

Gettysburg Memorial Association. GETTYSBURG, Pa., Aug. 11.—The battle-field memorial association held an unusually full meeting to-day, spending the entire day on the field, and in session, permission was unanimously granted to erect a monument on Culp's Hill, on the grounds of the association. Resolutions were adopted providing that hereafter all monuments erected on the grounds of the association must have historical inscriptions approved by the board, and the flanks of the monument indicated. The one hundred and fortieth Pennsylvania regiment dedicated a monument in Wheatfield to-day.

The President's Summer Resort. AT SABLE FORKS, N. Y., Aug. 11.—President Cleveland, accompanied by Dr. Ward of Albany, passed here this morning en route for the Adirondacks. They were met at the depot by H. D. Graves, and taken to his residence, where a short reception was given, after which the party was met by Paul Smith, who will take them by stage to the Prospect House, where the president will spend a few weeks.

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y.—President Cleveland and Dr. Ward reached Prospect House on the upper Saranac lake, their destination, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. They had a pleasant untroubled back-board ride, of 47 miles from the railway terminus at Au Sable.

Two Brothers Killed by a Bull. ST. PAUL, Aug. 11.—It is just learned that on Sunday, Hine and Steward Pond, brothers, were leading a Holstein bull of their farm, which is located about five miles from this city. The bull became unmanageable and attacked the men. Both were killed almost instantly. The bull was unmarried, and sons of Elder Pond, ex-Indian commissioner, one of the oldest and best known men in Minnesota. Up to date, he has killed, four years ago, a consistent oddity that the police officers have begun to doubt his sanity.

Maxwell's Insanity Pledge. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—Maxwell, the supposed St. Louis murderer, was taken east this afternoon. He maintained up to the time of leaving the same cool indifference at which he manifested yesterday, and passed the day in smoking cigarettes, and chatting. He consulted Gen. Clinch, of this city, with a view of retaining him as an attorney, but Clinch declined. Maxwell has proven such a consistent oddity that the police officers have begun to doubt his sanity.

DRAFTING THE QUEEN'S SPEECH. LONDON, Aug. 11.—Lord Salisbury has drafted the queen's speech for regency parliament. His aim is to make a manifesto in favor of the conservatives. The speech will refer to the quietude of Ireland without coercion, the successful issue of the Egyptian loan, the revival of peaceful relations and friendly alliances with foreign powers, and the activity of legislation since the Tories came into office, as a matter for national congratulations.

SPANISH CONSPIRATORS. LONDON, Aug. 11.—Paul Angula, and other Spanish refugees in London are under surveillance, the Spanish government having received information that a plot to assassinate King Alfonso had been arranged in England, and that conspirators had left England, via France, for the Spanish frontier. The Madrid government is considering whether or not to demand the extradition of Angula, on the charge of the murder of Gen. Prim. All the leading republicans, including Castelar, Salmeron, Zorrilla and Marquani, declare that they have no sympathy with the Angula party. The Globe, Castelar's organ, declares that Angula should be classified among the common criminals, and the progressives demand that he be brought to justice.

Berton, conservative member for Whitehaven, concerning the thirteen-year old daughter of Mrs. Eliza Armstrong, alleged to have been deceived from her home by an agent of the salvation army, and to be held in duress by Gen. Booth, for the purpose of exhibiting her as a minor saved from a life of wickedness by the army, said the government had submitted all the evidence so far obtained in the case to attorney-general Webster.

A POET DEED. LONDON, Aug. 11.—Lord Houghton, the poet, is ill. He was born June 19th, 1829.

A NATION'S GRATITUDE. LONDON, Aug. 11.—All the morning newspapers to-day publish copious accounts of the funeral of Gen. Grant. All agree that the outpouring of the people on the occasion, and their deep grief, as indicated by the dispatches, was something wonderful. The times has a special dispatch three columns long, detailing the various incidents of the funeral, and also prints a leading editorial paragraph and recalling many personal traits of the dead general. It expresses unbounded admiration for the noble conduct of the American people concerning the funeral of Gen. Grant, and pronounces the funeral "a spontaneous outburst of national admiration and gratitude, which although it can do nothing for its actual object, is none the less to be commended."

GERMANY. BERLIN, Aug. 11.—It is announced to-day that emperor William and the czar will have a meeting shortly, but at what place has not yet been stated. Gen. Postol, the Russian minister of communications, is already at Washington preparing arrangements for the czar's visits to the emperors of Austria and Germany. The army is being mobilized to occupy the different points of railway to be traversed by the czar, and to GUARD THE BRIDGES, tunnels and crossings. The precautions taken last year, to protect the czar against an outrage by the nihilists, are being repeated on a larger scale, owing to the authorities having received information to the effect that the nihilists in Europe have become more active, great activity, and have plenty of money.

FIRE DAMP IN A COAL MINE. Twelve Miners Instantly Killed and Several Injured at Moanagna, Pa.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 11.—Reliable information has just reached here that a terrible explosion of gas took place in the West End coal company's mines this morning at Moanagna, fifteen miles from here. As far as can be learned ten miners were instantly killed and several others dangerously injured.

Further advice of the disaster say that the engine that supplies fresh air to the West End mine at Moanagna broke, depriving the mine of air. Four men have been brought to the surface dead, and four or five more are yet in the mine, and cannot be reached, owing to impure air.

CONTRADICTION STATEMENTS. LATER.—The loss of the mine says he notified the mine before they entered the mine that the fan had stopped, and it was not safe for them to enter, as the mine was filling with gas. This is denied by the miners and laborers who, on the contrary, say that he told them to go to work; that the fan was broken, but would be repaired and put in working order in an hour. When they entered the mine everything appeared to be all right till they began to SMELL THE FATAL AIR and sulphur fumes, and before they could get out many were overcome and suffocated. The disaster is considered singular in its nature, and stands alone in the history of mining. It could have been easily foreseen and prevented, but being one of those singular overights the cause of the disaster escaped notice. The death toll is twelve, as is now fully ascertained.

A Gladly Cargo. HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 11.—The French consul at Sydney, Cape Breton, has received a letter to the effect that the French brig Deux Cousins, of St. Brieux, passed in mid-Atlantic large ship's boat containing the dead bodies of three men. The boat had a piece of a pole for a flagstaff, to which was attached a piece of canvas as a flag of distress. She evidently belonged to a Norwegian vessel, as she had the name "Richard Laurvig" painted on her. There was a heavy sea running at the time and it was impossible for the brig to secure the bodies and give them a christian burial.

Terrific Boiler Explosion. PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 11.—A large tubular boiler, used for boiling rags, exploded this afternoon in the Evanhoe paper mill on Spring street. The head of the boiler went up through an eight-inch wall in the picking and dusting department, and through that, and then through a twelve-inch brick wall into the street. The flames and hot air went up through the roof, and fell down again on a brick wall. Two buildings were badly wrecked. The loss will reach several thousand dollars. No one was killed, but several persons in the picking room were badly scalded, and one was killed. The cause of the explosion is not known.

A Stricken Town. WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 11.—No sooner has the epidemic of typhoid fever ceased to rage in the unfortunate town of Plymouth, than it is succeeded by another large and more terrible. A severe form of dysentery is now prevalent in Plymouth, Kingston and vicinity to an alarming extent, and it is even more deadly than the fever. It is a disease which has always been frequent in Plymouth and neighboring towns during the summer, but never before were there half as many cases as there are at present. Not was the disease so virulent and fatal in its results. There are over 150 cases now under treatment.

Followed the Old Commander. CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 11.—John Baker, of Eagle, Fayette county, a soldier who fought with Grant at Vicksburg, was the possessor of a horse which was shot under Gen. Grant the day before Vicksburg fell. Though old the animal was without a blemish except the scar received at Vicksburg. FINDLAY, O., Aug. 11.—Mrs. Rachel Struble, a widow 60 years of age, last evening took a bottle from a shelf containing an old cider, and while trying to open the bottle it burst, a piece of glass striking her in the neck and severing the jugular vein. The Amalgamated Association Convention Strikes out the Old Rail Clause and Everything is Serene Again.

In Pennsylvania the Demand for an Advance May Result in Another Coal Miners' Strike.

LABOR STRUGGLES.

THE CLEVELAND STRIKERS. CLEVELAND, Aug. 11.—The striking employees of the Cleveland Rolling Mill company held a large meeting last night and agreed to stand as firm as ever, and never accede to the demands of the company. It was announced at the meeting that an attempt would be made to start a portion of the wire mills this morning, and at an early hour a large crowd of foreigners gathered to gather in the vicinity of the mills, to prevent any one from going to work. At 6 o'clock in the morning about 700 of them had congregated in front of the wire mill gate, and pushing the watchman aside, they RUSHED INTO THE MILL on an exploring expedition. Finding no one at work they retired, but pickets were kept on guard all day. They kept up their exclamations as regularly as during the first days of the strike, and are determined that no man shall go to work till they are re-instated.

AN ARCADE TALK. CLEVELAND, Aug. 11.—Gersuch, the anarchist, addressed the strikers in the public square to-night. The red flag was waved, and the use of dynamite recommended.

The Amalgamated Association. WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 11.—The Amalgamated association to-day withdrew the old rail clause, and left the question to be dealt with by each mill, and gave the manufacturers till August 22nd, to make arrangements with the conference committee, after which date it will not be subject to alteration. Permission was given jobbing mills rolling pipe iron exclusively to resume work.

GREAT SATISFACTION. CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 11.—A special from Youngstown says: "There is great satisfaction here over the decision of the Amalgamated Association convention, at Wheeling, that the old rail question is a local issue. The manufacturers here have expressed their willingness to sign the scale, with the old rail clause eliminated, and it is expected that everything will be settled, and all the mills in the city, including those at Girard, will be started up Thursday."

The Cleveland avenue groceryman, has had the street torn up in front of his place this week, by putting city water into his store.

Let us pity the inhabitants of New York and other great cities. One sewer and a system of water works manage to keep the streets here torn up during a good share of the summer.

The Iron Cliff drive, which runs from Winthrop to Negaunee, is undoubtedly the most beautiful of any in the county.

The Justices Have a Busy Day, and Dispose of a Variety of Offenders.

The justice courts were unusually busy yesterday, and a number of people were given cause to wish that they had behaved themselves.

In justice Becker's court were eight young men charged with the same misdemeanor, in different degrees.

that, like those of the gods, grinds exceeding, but not an excessive, fine.

Monday night the police found John Boone and Mary Harrington indulging in too much affection on Cleveland avenue.

They were jugged and brought before Justice Kennedy Tuesday morning.

He sentenced Mary, who is an old offender and a chronic hard case, to a term of six months in the house of correction.

Boone is a blind man, well along in years, but blessed with an extraordinary faculty for making a fool of himself on occasions of this kind.

In consideration of his age and infirmity, he was sent back to Houghton, where he belongs.

Houghton is welcome to this Boone, even though it must be denied the branch state prison to put him in.

Mrs. John Uren, who was hit on the head with a chair by her drunken brute of a husband Monday night, is seriously sick from the effects of the blow.

Her head is badly cut. Uren is a lazy, worthless dead-beat, who will not work, but makes his wife and children furnish him money to get drunk with.

He has only been home about two months from the house of correction, where he served out a year's time.

He should be sent back again for a term long enough to insure his continuous absence from Ishpeming for at least five years.

LIFE INSURANCE.

The Reliability, Promptness and Liberality of the New York Life Insurance Company - A Celebrated Case.

The sad and tragic death of Mr. Charles E. Gay is still fresh in the minds of all readers of the MINING JOURNAL, and to them the following note, which explains itself, will have a melancholy interest.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Aug. 1st, 1885. Mr. E. H. Hayes, Agent New York Life Insurance Company.

DEAR SIR:-I have to acknowledge receipt of your company's check for $1,000, in full payment of the insurance on the life of the late Charles E. Gay, and to thank you for your prompt attention to the matter. The papers having been completed only on the 25th of July. Yours respectfully,

RICHARD LOUD, Administrator.

This matter of life insurance is one of great importance to the public, the liberality of any company's contracts, and its responsibility and promptness in making a settlement in case of death, being the leading points on which all who take out life insurance policies wish to be informed.

In all these particulars no company stands higher than does the New York Life, and in one respect it excels every other. Every one of the first-class companies, excepting the New York Life, insists on retaining the following provision, or the same in substance and effect, in their policies, viz: "If the policy dies in his own hand, whether voluntarily or involuntarily, this policy shall be null and void."

A policy with such a clause in it puts it in the power of every company which uses it to set up a claim for non-payment of the insurance money in every instance where the death of the insured is shrouded in mystery, or accompanied by accidental or premeditated personal violence.

There are plenty of such cases on record, some of them having attracted attention throughout the Bridgeport country. The case known as the Bridgeport mystery is one in point, and is a striking illustration of the injustice that may be perpetrated under such a policy.

A history of this mysterious case, and its solution, was given in a special dispatch from Bridgeport, Conn., to the New York World of May 9th last. The dispatch, among other things, states: "The death-bed confession of Baldwin Jansen a Danish sailor, who died off Housatonic in January, has unraveled the mystery of a murder which, for eleven years, puzzled the Connecticut authorities. In June, 1873, Capt. J. M. Colvocoresses, of Litchfield, was found dying with a bullet through his heart in a public street in Bridgeport. His watch, a pair of valuable hands, was missing, and a seal ring from his finger was gone. He had over a quarter of a million dollars insurance on his life, and the theory was vainly advanced by interested insurance companies that he had committed suicide."

Yesterday, Capt. Donaldson arrived here with the stolen ring, and the story of the murder as confessed by Jansen in his last hours. The events leading up to the crime are briefly those:

Capt. J. M. Colvocoresses lived in a handsome residence in Litchfield, Conn. He was a Greek, was rich, and traveled constantly between Litchfield and New York.

His life was insured for $250,000. He usually carried a small hand-bag, and on the night of the murder in 1873, as was afterward proved, this bag was filled with bonds. Capt. Colvocoresses arrived in Bridgeport from Litchfield late in the afternoon of the fatal day and proceeded to his hotel. He would not permit his bag to be checked or allow it to be left in the office, but carried it into the dining-room, and while eating supper held it between his feet. At 10:30 at night he started to walk to the steamboat dock, stopping at Mayne's drug store, on Main street, to buy a cigar. He proceeded down Main street and turned into Clinton. Fifteen minutes later a shot was heard by Officer Bailey, he ran down Clinton street and found Capt. Colvocoresses gasping his last. His coat and shirt were on fire. Beside him lay his sword-cane broken in two. Across the street, sixty feet from him, under a plank, was found an old horse-pistol, and further on a paper containing bullets and some powder. At 11 o'clock the Bridgeport boat started. After it had gone a freight car between Clinton street and the steamboat dock; the bag was cut open and the bonds gone. The coroner's jury brought in a verdict that the deceased came to his death from causes unknown.

The insurance companies put in the claim that the captain had killed himself, and a long controversy ensued between the heirs and the companies. Dr. Hubbard testified that it would be impossible for a man to shoot himself through the heart, and then fling the pistol sixty feet and cause it to lodge under the opposite end of a plank, as in this case. Pinkerton's detectives were called upon to prove the fact of a suicide, which they were unable to do, and in the end the insurance companies paid fifty cents on the dollar. One company, however, said in full.

Baldwin Jansen's dying statement now clears the unsolved portions of the mystery. Jansen was a sailor, often in port at Bridgeport, and he and other sailors had often seen Capt. Colvocoresses on his way to the 11 o'clock p. m. Bridgeport boat. Jansen had heard that Colvocoresses carried money in his hand-bag, and determined to rob him; he did not mean to kill him, but carried the old pistol in case he should need it. On the fatal night he saw the captain coming out of Mayne's drug store with the lighted cigar; he followed him to the lonely portion of Clinton street, ran up him, hid behind him and seized the coveted bag. Capt. Colvocoresses turned and struck Jansen with his sword-cane, and Jansen tried to wrench the bag away, but Colvocoresses, being a large man, retained his clutch. The blows from the cane fell fast until it was broken, and Jansen, fearing Colvocoresses would throw him with the protruding sword point, drew his pistol and fired.

Colvocoresses dropped. Jansen ran across the street, dropped the pistol and bullets where they were found, cut open the bag with his sheath-knife, flung the bag under the car, and escaped upon the schooner in the harbor. In wrenching the bag from Colvocoresses he forced the captain's seal ring from his hand, this he thrust into his pocket. Fearing detection from the officers who boarded the schooner, he threw the bonds overboard; the ring he secreted in one of the schooner's "knee" timbers and covered it with oakum and pitch. Afterwards he gave it to Capt. Donaldson, and the captain will shortly return from Portland to look up the whereabouts of the murdered man and restore the ring.

The "one company" referred to above as having paid in full its policies upon the life of Capt. Colvocoresses, was the New York Life. As long ago as 1850 this company expended from its policy forms the clause making them void in case of self-destruction. It has consistently maintained ed, from that day until this, not only that actual suicides are usually the result of disease, but also, that any one is liable to die under circumstances that will seem suspicious if a large amount of money is at stake.

In a more recent case, which occurred in Chicago, a man, who held a policy containing such a clause as the one above given, while suffering from neuralgia took an overdose of laudanum to alleviate pain, and death resulted. The courts held that the insurance company was not liable, because the clause mentioned was a part of the contract. In Michigan the supreme court has held the rule to be the same, so that it is undeniable that a company whose policies contain such a clause can escape paying the full amount of insurance in all cases of suicide, and in many where suicide did not in fact occur, but in which the preponderance of evidence seems to indicate that it did.

The right of the companies to insert the clause refusing to insure against self-destruction, is, of course, unquestionable. They have the same right to refuse to insure against small-pox, or diphtheria, or cholera, or cerebro-spinal meningitis, or railroad accidents, or inflammation of the bowels, or angina pectoris, or inflammation of the brain. In fact, a refusal to insure against death by any of these diseases would detract less from the value of the policy than the refusal to insure against self-destruction. The companies have a right to except anything they like as a cause of death, provided they give fair notice of the exception; but of course the exceptions should be taken into account by the public in estimating the value of their contracts.

But it sometimes happens that murder or accidental death cannot be distinguished from suicide. It is therefore difficult to say what shall be done with many claims arising under policies containing the suicide clause, but no trouble will arise on that point if, when you insure, you take a policy that has no such clause in it. The New York Life insurance company has no suicide clause in its policies.

The advantages of patronizing a company which deals thus generously with its policy holders are too apparent to require comment, and to say that the New York Life is in advance of all other first-class companies in this respect is only to state the truth. It was only three years ago that a traveling man, who held a policy in this company, met a violent death by drowning in the Chesapeake near this city. The three thousand dollars for which his life was insured was promptly paid. In taking out a life insurance policy these circumstances certainly are well worth consideration, for there is no one that may not, possibly, meet with a violent and mysterious death, in which event the presence, in the policy, of the objectionable clause mentioned would be very likely to entail expensive litigation, and possible failure to secure the insurance money.

Prizes For the Champions. As he announced some time ago he would do, Mr. Evans, proprietor of the Evans bowling and shooting gallery, in the old MINING JOURNAL building, will give a prize to the champion ten-pin player and one also to the champion rifle shot of Marquette. To be permitted to enter the contest for either prize, one must be a resident of the city or live in the immediate vicinity.

The prize to be given to the best marksman is a handsome silver cup, gold lined. After the contest is decided, Mr. Evans will have appropriately engraved upon the cup the name of the winner, and any other inscription to suitably commemorate the event. Fifteen entries will be required to contest for this prize, the winner to score the highest number of points, on the Creedmore target, out of twenty shots, distance sixty feet.

The prize to be presented to the best ten-pin player is an elegant cigar holder and match safe combined, which would be an ornament to any table. In the foreground are two figures, a lover and his sweetheart, who evidently have been quarrelling over a missile, which has dropped at their feet, and the former, with his hat off, and on bended knee, is apparently pleading for a reconciliation, but with poor prospects of success. This reward will be given to the one making the best score in twenty frames of ten-pins, the highest possible number of points that can be made being three hundred, while half that number is better than the average score made by amateurs. For this contest ten entries are required.

The respective contests will come off as soon as the lists are full, and the contestants agree upon a date, or authorize Mr. Evans to set the time. Some time will be allowed for practice, if those entering so desire. The books will be opened this morning for entries for both contests. The proprietor of the gallery, of course, will not enter for either prize, the contest being for amateurs only.

The prizes are now on exhibition at the gallery, where all are requested to call and look at them.

United States District Court. Judge Brown, who is to hold the next term of the United States court here, desires the bar to be ready to take up business sharply upon opening of court on Sept. 1st, at 10 o'clock a. m. The jury has been summoned for that hour, and the Judge wants to take up jury cases at once.

CONDENSED CITY NEWS ITEMS.

Front street is receiving some needed repairs. The violin recital Friday evening, by Camilla Uro, is worth "taking in."

Mr. Sidney Adams' residence has been connected with the telephone exchange. "Silky fiddling" is what the old farmer called Camilla Uro's efforts on the violin, and the term fits.

Don't fail to read Charles Barnard's little book entitled "Camilla Uro, a tribute," that you received by mail last week.

A new walk has been laid across Front street, directly opposite the room in the Fraser block which is soon to be occupied by W. K. Stafford & Co.

Mrs. Busch, of the Menard house, took a large party of her guests out picnicking yesterday afternoon, and all report having had a delightful time.

Don't forget, you folks along the line and up in copperdon, to come to Marquette next Sunday, on the excursion train, and take a look at the metropolis.

The chancery case which occupied the at-ention of the circuit court yesterday was concluded late in the afternoon. The law cases will be taken up to-day.

If you want to get one of those prizes at Evans' bowling and shooting gallery, you will have an opportunity to see some practice before the contest comes off.

The citizens of Marquette should beware of spurious works purporting to be the "Personal Memoirs of General Grant." Capt. C. D. Blanchard being the only agent who can sell the genuine works in this city.

Fred. Frei won a fine pair of peacocks at a raffle last Monday, the male especially being a magnificent specimen, which would prove an ornament to the grounds of one of our up-town residences. They are for sale.

Mr. S. G. Cole brought into the sanctum of the MINING JOURNAL, yesterday, a branch of the ordinary red currant bush, on which there was a luxuriant and healthy growth of berries as fine, in fact, as could be grown anywhere. Mr. Cole's bushes are yielding well this season.

Next Friday evening Camilla Uro will play to a Marquette audience. That she is the greatest of female violinists is conceded by all who have heard her play in a position to judge, and that she is the peer of any artist now living is also a fact easily established. That the people of this city have an opportunity of hearing so great an artist is a piece of good luck. That the outfit required to do so is an indication of what Marquette may be accomplished by united effort, and disinterested management. There are plenty of good seats left, and those who have not purchased course tickets and reserved seats are admonished to do so.

The four-masted schooner Special is provided with a novelty to be found on no other board. It is nothing more nor less than a small house, built wholly independent of the boat, except that it stands on the deck. The little dwelling is for Capt. Tower's little daughter, whom he affectionately dubs Miss Dimple. The house is painted and finished up nicely and well furnished. Miss Dimple is its sole occupant, and she spends the greater part of her time in it. When the season is over the house will be moved from the vessel to the captain's home in Cleveland, and may do service on the lakes in subsequent years.
