THE LABOR PROBLEM.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Secretary Turner, of the executive board of the Knights of Labor, said this morning that the members of the board would retain their headquarters at the Astor House till to-morrow evening. They expect by that time to receive an answer from A. C. Talmage, general manager of the Wabash railroad, as to whether or not the company will re-instatute the Knights of Labor discharged on June 10th last. If the company will agree to this

ALL TROUBLES AT AN END.

Mr. Turner further said that the executive board had not made any demand for the discharge of those who had been employed in the places of the Knights of Labor men. He simply requested that the discharged men should be reinstated.

PROSPECTS OF A SETTLEMENT.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The members of the executive board of the Knights of Labor were sent for this evening by manager Hughes, of the Wabash, and were informed, in answer to their demand made at Wednesday's conference, that the officials were unable yet to state how many men would be employed in the Wabash shops.

Talmage said he would go to St. Louis to confer with the officials there, and then on Thursday of next week give a definite reply as to the re-instatement of the men.

"The interview was very satisfactory,"

said secretary Turner, when it was ended, and then added: "of course there is not work for all the discharged men, but all that can be done will be done, and I think matters will be adjusted."

The Knights left town to-night.

Leaves of Absence Without Pay—A German

Commission—The Alabama Claims Court.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Judge McCue, solicitor of the treasury, has given an opinion in regard to leaves of absence to inspectors of customs, which has a general bearing on the leaves granted to all classes of employees under the treasury department. The opinion, which has been approved by the acting secretary, is as follows:

"The practice of granting leaves of absence seems to have grown in the department service without special provision of law. It seems the custom has fixed the extent of the leaves at a period not exceeding thirty days, except for illness, or other special reasons, and the deduction was made from the salary or compensation of the clerk, or other employee.

The act of 1858 for the first time recognizes the national law in this subject, and provides that all absences from the departments on the part of said clerks, or other employees, in excess of such time as may be granted by the department thereof, which shall not exceed thirty days in any one year, except in case of sickness, shall be without pay.

THE BIG COUNTERFEITING SCHEME.

Joseph H. a Brother of Lucien White, is Arrested in Texas.

WACO, Tex., Aug. 27.—Joseph H.

White, of Hill county, Texas, was arrested Tuesday by deputy marshal Wheeler, of St. Louis, on a charge of being implicated in a scheme of counterfeiting the currency of Brazil. He was brought to Waco yesterday, and was held in default of $10,000 bail to appear before commissioner Pinker. Collier this morning. Joseph is a brother of Lucien White, who was recently arrested in St. Louis on the same charge. The former is known to have received a package containing $150,000 of Brazilian counterfeiters through the postoffice at Blum, Basque county. The Whites stood well in the vicinity of Waco, where they have been reputed to be among the wealthiest residents of Hill county.

USED FOR COGAR STAMPS.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27.—Lucien White, charged with attempting to counterfeit

Brazilian treasury notes, was taken before

United States commissioner Collier this afternoon for examination, but at the instance of United States attorney Bliss the hearing was postponed ten days, and the prisoner was committed to jail. Further advice from Waco is to the effect that

Joseph H. White, arrested there

Monday, had only received a large amount of the bogus notes, but had also received a stamp by express, with which to place the numbers on the notes. He while waiting for the notes and the stamp labels, and says that great quantities of them are used for that purpose in Brazil.

He is expected to attempt his release by interference with the habeas corpus proceedings in a day or two.

A VIRGINIA HOE-DOWN.

It is Danced by a Happy Groom, Who is Rather Muddy in Appearance.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—A train on the Virginia Midland brought to the city lately another in the line of eloping couples—

Robert Lee Hicks and Lena Welsh, of Culpepper, Virginia. When Hicks, at City Hall, received his license to wed, he was so delighted that he went through the first steps of a Virginia hoe-down, to the amusement of the persons present. A message went in quest of the Rev. M. A.

Turner, as they were desirous of getting and particularly before another train could arrive with the "off" of the bride.

While waiting for the minister they both scraped some of the red clay off their shoes. The young man's pants were literally covered with clay up to his knees, and the bride's skirts and hose were also splashed with mud. They were both in this plight when they stood before the minister, who, after a moment's hesitation, never was a happier couple married in silks and lace. Hicks stated that he a ladder, at 10 o'clock at night, and then Richfield station. Mrs. Louisa Davis, who had come to see the "disorderly" bride, was prevailed upon to be bridesmaid, and John Polham acted as best man. Some one of the party had a bunch of roses, and when the Rev. Mr. Turner arrived, there was quite a wedding march down one of the corridors. Arriving at a side

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—J. L. Sullivan, the preparatory to leaving for Cincinnati in the evening. His sunburned complexion and reduced abdominal proportions indicated that he had managed to get rid of considerable superfluous flesh, but his weight is still several pounds over his Daily Mining Journal.

PUBLISHED BY THE MINING JOURNAL COMPANY. A. P. SWINFORD, JAS. RUSSELL, A. HORNSTEIN.

THE DAILY MINING JOURNAL is published every weekday morning at Marquette, Mich., and contains the Associated Press dispatches, in addition to special special dispatches from all points in the upper peninsula. It circulates throughout the entire iron and copper districts of this peninsula, and advertisers will find it an unrivaled medium for placing their announcements before the people of this region.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. One year, $4.00; six months, $2.50; three months, $1.50; by carrier, per week, 25c. Advertising rates reasonable, and furnished upon application to parties desiring space. The paper will be for sale at the newsstands in all the towns and locations in the district, also on the different railway trains.

A. HORNSTEIN, Business Manager; JAMES RUSSELL, Managing Editor; CHAS. M. HOWELL, Associate Editor. MARQUETTE, MICH., AUG. 28, 1885.

Entered as mail matter of the second-class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

A. MATHEWS, real estate dealer, this city, has for sale a partially developed mining property at a price that makes it a rare bargain for any one with money to invest.

For the week closing with Friday last, the receipts of ore at Ashland were 308 cars, of 20 tons each, the aggregate being 6,160 tons. The newest of the Lake Superior ore fields opens up strong.

At the Pittsburgh & Lake Superior nine preparations for getting out ore on a large scale are under way, the management have contracted with furnace companies for a considerable quantity of its product. This mine is now in excellent condition to be wrought to good advantage, and is taking on an increased force of miners.

At a meeting of the directors of the Nainaimo Mining company, held last week at Fond du Lac, Wis., it was decided to resume active work at the mine at an early date. Pretty late in the season for such a decision, but perhaps the action of the owners-in-fact of the property in seizing the mine for royalty due may have impelled the management to this step.

SATURDAY'S Ashland Press states that 1,000 tons of ore were shipped from the Colby mine one day last week, and adds that twice that amount could be mined daily were the railroad company able to take care of it. The statement seems rather large, but the MINING JOURNAL is content to give it on the authority from which it is obtained without doubting comment.

We notice in the Ashland Press the assertion that the ore of the Vermillion region "is rich enough in iron, but carries silica and phosphorus to such an extent that it falls below the grade of Bessemer ore." This is news to the MINING JOURNAL, which had been led to believe that the Vermillion ore ranked as a high-grade Bessemer. Will our friends of the Minnesota Iron company please take notice of the rating given their product, and give us the facts?

FOREIGN advices indicate higher figures for wheat. The latest estimate for the wheat crop of France is 100,000,000 hectolitres, the yield of an ordinary year, which leaves nothing for export. France will be required to import 15,000,000 hectolitres. Advices from Italy estimate the wheat crop at only 82 per cent of the average year. The wheat exports from India for 1884-5, a decrease of 6,500,000.

Is an editorial discussing the significance of the recent gold discoveries in this part of Michigan, the Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph remarks that they "ought to give the state a big boost in population and wealth." So they ought, and so they will eventually, but the benefit will be confined chiefly to this peninsula. Our lower Michigan brethren are too remote from us to be helped appreciably by the tide of gold-seekers whom our auriferous resources will attract hither, and they are too slow to get a hold on the gold properties while that is obtainable, and thus secure a share of the wealth there will yet bring their owners.

The main line of the Canadian Pacific railway will be open for regular passenger traffic between Montreal and Winnipeg some time during the next month, and the completion of the whole road to the Pacific coast is being pushed forward with great rapidity. From the Montreal Gazette we learn that Mr. W. C. Van Horne, vice-president and general manager of the Canadian Pacific railway, has received information that the contractors had reached Shuswap summit from the Pacific end of the road. This point is eighty-two miles east of Savona's Ferry, where the company's work from the west commenced. Thirty-six miles of road were laid in ten days. This leaves a gap between the ends of the track of about 100 miles, all of which is graded and the bridges will be finished within two weeks, including a bridge over the second crossing of the Columbia river. All the difficult points have now been passed, and the completion of the through line is only a matter of putting down the rails and ties.—Canadian Manufacturer.

ONE shipment ran light for the week ending with and including Wednesday, the 26th. The aggregate from the ports of Escanaba, Marquette and St. Ignace was but 64,110 tons, this being 15,779 tons less than the quantity forwarded to market by lake the previous week, and 17,629 less than was shipped from the ports of this district for the corresponding week in 1884. Of that total, 24,721 tons went from Marquette, 34,511 tons from Escanaba, and 4,878 tons from St. Ignace. The total shipments by lake for the season to date aggregate 1,289,112 tons, this being 444,849 less than the shipments last year at a corresponding stage, with the prospect that the shrinkage will grow as the close of navigation approaches.

We learn from the Hancock Mining Herald that the reduction in tolls levied by the Portage Lake and River Improvement company proposed by Mr. Manning, agent for the company, at the June meeting of the Houghton county board of supervisors, has not been approved by his principals, and the old rate of tribute continues to be exacted. The Herald calls on the board to take action which will result in downing the "infernal monopoly," and it is safe to assume that the supervisors will act on the suggestion. The corporation is obviously juggling with the people of that region, its failure to give effect to the proposition submitted by its agent to the board of supervisors being susceptible of no other rational construction.

COPPER COUNTRY NOTES. Our sprightly Hancock contemporary, the Hancock Mining Herald, has the following items relating to the copper mining industry, in its issue of Wednesday:

We learn that No. 5 Calumet shaft has struck it "rich," though it is a mild term to use in announcing any increase in the quantity of rock as encountered in the C. & H. mine. But it is a fact that the rock taken out of No. 5 shaft is richer by far than the average run of the rock, some of it running as high as 35 per cent.

Messrs. Funky and Wilcox, the gentlemen who have been working the Wolverine mine on tribute for the past year, were in Houghton, Monday, endeavoring to obtain a renewal of the lease and for a longer period of time. We are informed that they were successful in obtaining a lease for two years, dating from the expiration of their present lease, which expires next month. Messrs. Funky and Wilcox have our hearty congratulations. They assumed a great risk when they undertook to operate the mine on shares, and now that they have been successful, it would seem an injustice for the owners of the mine not to renew the lease.

It is now almost a settled fact that the Mineral Range Railroad will be extended from its present terminus at the smelting works, to the point opposite Cleaves' foundry, thence across the lake, by way of a bridge, to the yards of the M. H. & O. R. R. at Houghton. We are informed that the company has already obtained permission to span the lake with a bridge, and that the extension will be completed and the connection made with the M. H. & O. R. R. by the first of January. A third rail will be laid so that the M. H. & O. cars may be taken over the Mineral Range to Hancock. The advantages of this extension to Hancock, are numerous and great, and the fact should not be lost sight of by our business men. Connection by rail between these roads will enable the business men of Hancock, Calumet and neighboring places to get their freight at a cost less than 75 cents per ton less than they are now paying. It will bring a larger number of the traveling public to Hancock, and will assist it in a hundred other ways. We are also informed that the right of way has been obtained from the different owners of the property through which the extension will run, and that work will be commenced as soon as permission is received from the state commissioner of railways to go ahead.

ORE SHIPMENTS. Below is given a tabulated statement showing the amount of iron ore and pig iron shipped from the lake ports of this district for the season, up to and including Wednesday, Aug. 26th:

Table with columns for Name of Mine, Tons, and Grand Total. Includes sub-sections for Marquette-Marquette District, L'Anse-Marquette District, Pig Iron, St. Ignace-Marquette District, Escanaba-Marquette District, and Escanaba-Senominee District.

HOW LAGER BEER IS BREWED.

The Process Described in an Interesting Manner—The Part Ice Plays (Baltimore Sun.)

Theoretically, it's very easy to brew beer. You get your malt, grind it up, stir it with hot water, strain it off, and boil the extract with hops, cool it off, let it ferment and drink it. Practically, it isn't quite so easy. It requires a knowledge and as good as now, will be sold at Chicago—Stoughton Nov. 1st, 1885, or before.

Up away in the topmost story of the brewery the malt is thoroughly cleaned of every impurity, and is then put through beautiful machinery. Then it drops one floor to the mill, and is ground to a sweet, white flour, and now the brewing proper begins. Into a huge circular tub of sheet iron, with a capacity of 60 gallons—the mash tub—1 slides, and a thick copper pipe supplies hot water. Here ingenious machinery stirs it round and round—how long is the brewer's secret. The color of the beer depends much on this, and no two brewers have the least of exactly the same shade. It varies from a pale amber to a rich dark brown.

The extract that drips from the mash tub, after several hours of stirring, is the pure extract of malt. It has a sweetish taste, naturally, for the duty of the mash tub is to convert all, or nearly all, of the starch of grain barley into the soluble form of malt sugar, etc., is run out of the tub and sold to the cattle dealers. The extract drips into a large kettle on the next floor below. Here the brewer knows how much hops and how long it boils. When the hops are done, the fresh, strong and fragrant from the neighboring Harz mountains.

But the cool air alone is not enough, especially in summer time, and to the beer, over a long coil of bright tubes, are kept cold by a constant stream of water. In some breweries a strong brine runs through the tubes, and, if cooled, the beer now runs into the enormous vats that rest in the three vaulted cellars, one beneath the other, the third being forty feet below the surface. Thick coils of pipe run through the cellars, through which brine carries the cold produced by a fine ammonia ice machine on the ground floor, covered with a coating of ice an inch thick. The temperature of the deepest cellar, where the beer has been fermenting for between two and three months, and is consequently ready for market, is several degrees below the freezing point. Here it is drawn off into small kegs, and each keg is completely wrapped up in the forty feet of daylight in an instant.

Chinese Lottery Methods. The game is played with slips of paper four lines square, or which are written 100 characters, the names of celebrated Chinese famous characters who have figured in the history of the many dynasties. Through the aid of the Chinese, the numbers dividing the characters into five lines of ten each. The game consists in spotting out with India ink certain combinations of five each, and the player who first catches the number, or nine in ten characters out of twenty, drawn out of 100, yet mathematical chances have calculated, and the chances are such a remote chance that it is not worth calculating.

The danger of Chinese lottery lies in the fact that its agents spread all over a city. In San Francisco there are several hundred of them. Every laundryman is an agent, and even the Chinese home-servants buy slips for their mistresses. So universal has the custom of playing with Chinese lottery become on the Pacific coast that hardly a man, woman or child can be found that can say that at some time in their career they had not bought slips. In this city the passion for lottery is spreading. Laundrymen accommodate their customers and the small winnings whet the appetite for more. The police usually ignore Chinese lottery until it factors upon a town too strongly to be shaken off. Then they do their worst. It is as hard as policy to stamp out, because the game is represented by slips of paper merely and the players need never visit a gambling resort.

He was lost on July 4th last, at Beacon, Mich., during the progress of the celebration. It was thought at first that he was in the vicinity but he had no trace of him. It is respectfully requested that his parents now suspect that he may have been abducted. He was dressed as follows: A kind of sailor suit, the waist of Godefray or Peacock blue Jersey cloth, with four plaits down the front and same on the back; a pair of knee pants of yellow cord in front; a pair of knee pants same color, with two rows of same colored cord down the side; one pocket on right side, with three brass buttons by the side of each knee; a white linen collar with pictures of dog heads on the border; a straw hat of brownish red color; buttoned shoes and red stockings. The reward will be paid on above conditions, at the office of CHAMPION Iron Company. PATRICK CRONIN, Champion Mich., Aug. 19th, 1885. 8-20-4

GENERALLY FAVORABLE.

Sentiment Regarding the Project to Cut Trails Through from the Railroad to the Shore.

With Hardly an Exception, the Marquette Taxpayers Intervened to Approve the Idea—Objections of One Who Does Not.

In the course of his perambulatory excursions after news during the week, the reporter has run across a great many of the principal business men and tax-payers of Marquette, in addition to not a few from up the coast points, and he has in a casual way obtained an expression of opinion from nearly all whom he met as to the advisability of having the county cut trails through from points on the M., H. & O. railroad to Lake Superior, as suggested by the MINING JOURNAL in a late number, to expedite development of the gold and silver bearing lands whose existence in the territory that would be thus opened up is no longer a matter of mere speculative opinion.

"The county should do it at once," was the emphatic reply of a prominent front street grocer, in response to the reporter's inquiry as to what he thought about it. "If there is gold and silver there we want that country opened up in our day and generation. The board of supervisors could not make a more judicious expenditure of money than by cutting trails through to cross the gold-bearing range, and thus open the way for explorers. In addition to hastening the discovery of its mineral wealth, it would enable people to get in and see what else there is in that stretch of territory. I'm willing to stand my share of tax for that purpose, and hope something of the kind will be done."

The next man seen is an operator in real estate. He said that there was no question as to the wisdom of opening up that wilderness by cutting trails or roads through it. "I own lands in there that have paid highway taxes for years," he declared, "and the county has collected the money and used it for other purposes. It is time it did something in the way of supplying me and persons situated like me with the roads for whose construction we have paid several times over." Asked as to what effect he thought opening trails through would have in stimulating explorations for gold veins he said that he didn't know much about the mineral wealth of that part of the county for the reason that it was so wild that he had never penetrated it to any distance, but that it should be opened up anyway—even without counting on gold or silver there was enough else there to warrant the expenditure, and it was the county's duty to quit taxing the lands for highways or else see that they were provided in one form or another.

A lawyer was the next subject captured by the reporter. His opinion was given without the usual preliminary of an exhaustive examination of the "books," and it coincided with those previously obtained. "That the section 'struck a snag,' the individual to whom the phrase is applied didn't believe the county had any right to spend money cutting trails for gold seekers. "But," was urged, "the county has repeatedly made appropriations to open roads through to districts unvisited with them, on the pretensions of settlers who had located there. If it has the right to open up one part of its territory it has an equal right to treat another part similarly. It seems to me to be a question of policy rather than authority."

"Well, I'm opposed to it anyway," persisted the objector, "we've got gold veins enough exposed now. Let me find a few more and you can't do anything with 'em. I think we've got too fast in this gold business."

Inquiry established that this gentleman is interested in a gold "prospect" that he and associates intend stocking at an early day. His objection to having more funds made just now is based on a good business foundation so far as he is concerned, therefore, but is one that will hardly count against the proposition with the general public.

Very many of those interviewed were believers in the wisdom of having the wild region between the railroad and the lake rendered accessible to explorers and others by having trails cut through at intervals, but doubted whether the county could legally expend money for the purpose. In this could be done lawfully, they would favor such expenditure. The almost universal sentiment is, if the views obtained by the reporter be any criterion, that the county ought to do something to facilitate exploratory operations in the territory lying north of the M., H. & O. railroad from Negaunee to Michigamme, and that the money so expended would bring rich returns in added wealth and population within a very short period.

manner, acknowledged the welcome accorded him, Mr. Vilas was repeatedly applauded and at the close of his speech was surrounded by and presented to the citizens, by the committee, nearly an hour being spent in a social conversation and mutual greetings.

The whole affair, although impromptu, was very successful and pleasant, and while Mr. Vilas was somewhat loath to being captured in this way, yet his response proved conclusively that he valued the friendly compliment paid him by our citizens and that the reception was pleasing to him.

At a quarter to one o'clock this morning, when no other sound but the monotonous click of the types in the sticks as heard in the MINING JOURNAL building the tune of "Remembrance of Home," brought every man to the windows, where the glare of torches revealed the last uniforms of the Choquamegon. The stillness of the night combined with the thought that it was the farewell piece of the band, added a new charm to the favorite melody, which made it sound sweeter than ever. The sole representative of the MINING JOURNAL staff bid the boys a hearty good-bye, who, under the guidance of "mine host" Volk, of the Clifton House, continued on their journey, bidding their friends a musical farewell. Miss Katie Healy, Mrs. Gay, Mrs. Brotherton, Miss Anna Gregory, Mrs. Hager, Miss Riddle Everett, Miss Lydia Campbell, Miss Fannie Cavin, Mr. L. Wetmore and Mr. Jopling, were the recipients of a similar ceremony. The Choquamegon have made scores of friends during their stay in Marquette, and their departure will be sure to create an aching void for some time to come. It is to be hoped that they may decide to spend their next vacation with us again.

A Marquette Want. Marquette is in need of, and would appreciate, a good orchestra. The young male person who is in doubt as to whether he had better aid in organizing and perfecting such an association is assured that it will be worth his while. If he is possessed of musical ability, and has skill wherewith to manipulate the psalter, the shawm, the sacbut or dulcimer, he has no right to hide his light under a half-bushel. Talent belongs to the public, and by the public must be sustained. Several of the lower peninsula towns have bands composed exclusively of young ladies. Why not Marquette? If the wearers of the exterior-lacquered garment won't come to the front, the young ladies must.

CONDENSED CITY NEWS ITEMS. Conklin sells more rusted merchandise than any other dealer on the peninsula. "Skid" is thick. Skids are used to roll up iron. This particular "skid" is used to make people laugh. Green corn, melons, cucumbers, huckleberries, pumpkin, equatorial distresses, etc., are plenty, and all of the best. Some parties who were out on the bay Wednesday night report having seen a fire at the Corp, but they did not ascertain what burned. Those who encircled Miss Potter were guilty of a very stony pun. The enthusiastic expiring of hands said plainly, "Here, repeat!" Those who live on Bruce street need no longer pine for an improved thoroughfare, as that highway was taken in hand some days since.

The effects of the late firm of L. B. Stafford & Co. were sold at public auction yesterday for the benefit of the creditors. Good prices were realized. Much speculation is indulged in as to whether the new bank building is going to grow another story, or "toss" out where it now is. The majority favors another story. With an opera house provided, this city could have a season of light opera every winter, and then the wild spirit would seem so much like "mine month in Siberia."

Let it not be forgotten that Marquette county has an agricultural society, or that the executive officers thereof propose making the fair this fall a bigger success than ever. "Is now the hay fever sufferer does his buffalo underwear and hies him to Marquette. It is a little singular that the folder of this latitude isn't subject to inflammatory troubles. A large and valuable plate glass light was accidentally broken by one of the workmen at Conklin's, yesterday. It is seldom that so large a pane is substituted by so simple an employee as a pine stick. The engagement of the Choquamegon band at the Casino rink expired last evening. The patrons of the rink will now have an opportunity to rest, while that piece of amusement park winter clothing. There are three pedal pushers in town whom to have met in a distinction and to have kicked to have performed an imperative duty. They are insolent, cheeky, persistent, and a nuisance that needs abating. Manager Stevens wishes to publicly thank Mrs. C. H. Y. Caves for the handsome floral wreath and star she so kindly presented to the rink. The flowers were suspended beneath the center light last evening and excited universal admiration.

About 300 people assembled at the rink last evening, and forty-two couples participated in the grand march. At the conclusion of the march the band struck up "The girl I left behind me," and played it with a degree of execution that spoke volumes. To-morrow's issue of the MINING JOURNAL will tell all about the Vescecius concert company, which will be, as most of our readers are aware, the attraction at the Casino rink on the evening of Monday, September 1st. The three Vescecius sisters have quite a reputation here. W. K. Stafford & Co. are moving their stock into the new store in Fraser's block as fast as rooms and teams can do it, and they will soon be conducted in the most commodious quarters of any similar establishment in the northwest. Marquette is noted for the Society of its business houses, and those owned by the Vescecius sisters are consequently fine. Good, honest, extensive provisions are sold in abundance in Marquette as any where else. It's the thing these things that come by express that cost excessively. People who are hard up, or in receipt of a minute income, must buy these things in mind. Canned goods and California fruit shine also on the just and on the shelves, but the "business" must be there alone. It is expected that by another season the great store of base ball will be played four people—two on a side—a pitcher and a catcher. The art of pitching will have been reduced to so fine a point that it will be impossible to hit the ball, so that, batsmen and pitchers will not be needed. There is a pitcher in training in this city who can pitch a ball in such a manner that it will describe a double bow shot over the batsman's head, and then slide quietly into the catcher's pocket. He has not pitched in any of the games played here this season, so he expects to burst like a meteor on the gaze of an astonished world next year. He wants $50,000 and expenses per annum. It has been softly whispered in the ear of the reporter that another year will see a fine opera house built in this city, and so remote not to be touched with a locomotive locomotive. A gasping, wheezing, bell-ringing engine is a symbol of strength, progress and a lot of other fine things, but it is a little too strong for double baronies even on a $500,000. ("Strad" is high-toned for "Bd.")

It will be lawful to kill deer in a few days now for the last six weeks. Some legal luminary has said that the quickest way to do away with obnoxious laws is to enforce them. By a parallel course of reasoning, one arrives at the conclusion that a wise law is sure to remain on the statute books if not enforced. A law ought to be like a spring gun—capable of "going off" if its provisions are meddled with. So live that when thy summons comes to join the innumerable caravan that journeys toward the Casino rink to hear the Vescecius concert company render one of the best programs ever sung to a Lake Superior audience, that thou go not like an unpaid hireling with a design in thy heart to make a sneak on the back door, but like one who wraps his best marked-down-to $7 drape about him, and with a dollar-and-a-half in one hand, and his choicest girl's left arm in the other, he walks to the front porch and says: "Make way, we've come."

Mrs. Ed's flower garden was bespoken Wednesday evening of some of the fairest blossoms this latitude of brilliant colors is capable of producing, and all that was left whereby the vandals may be identified was a pair of white gloves that look as though they had been to a dance. The lady intended that her flowers, which were the pride of her heart, should flower their race and perfume to the attractions of floral hall at the coming fair, but the bloom loving, local assyrain "came down" on them, and, like Joseph and Simon, "they are not."

A really staid citizen of this county who has been poking his nose into the MINING JOURNAL's affairs with offensive pertinacity for some time past will soon have the pleasure of perusing in these columns an account of certain of his adventures that he never anticipated seeing in print. "The mills of the gods grind slow," but the MINING JOURNAL will grind the opposite of slow when it gets to running on that grist! If the reader is good at solving conundrums, he can evolve the statesman's name from the preceding sentence without much difficulty.
