MARQUETTE, MICH., JANUARY 21, 1886.

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

CLEVELAND advises are to the effect that the ore trade generally at that point is awaiting the action on prices for the year of the Republic and Champion iron companies before adjusting the figures at which ore will sell for 1886.

There are now employed at the Humboldt mine 75 men, and this force will be doubled when the shipping season opens in the spring.

While enemies at home are striving to compass his rejection by the senate, judge O. W. Powers appears to be gaining quite a reputation for promptitude and judicial acumen in discharging the duties of the high office in Utah territory which he holds by appointment of president Cleveland.

The decision of judge Powers in the great case of the Bullion, Beck & Champion company vs the Bureka Hill company, filed yesterday, (Jan. 12th), will be found in to-day's impression of the Tribune.

Our esteemed but somewhat disgruntled North Shore contemporary, the Port Arthur Sentinel, is earnestly assured that the MINING JOURNAL is most emphatically not actuated by a "strong feeling of jealousy" against the mines (silver) of that district.

Griffith's annual review of the iron trade of Great Britain makes an exceedingly bad showing for 1885. Only once during the "dreary twelve months" was there any variation from the disheartening monotony.

The success of failure of North Shore properties cannot affect the MINING JOURNAL, or the region for which it stands, favorably or otherwise.

A special dispatch to the Detroit Free Press from its Washington correspondent gives this statement:

To a republican senator who called on the president to-day the latter said: "I am led to believe that the majority of your body intend to insist that I shall give my reasons for suspending an office-holder at the time I nominate his successor."

Plainly, it is not only the "hungry" democratic phnos-hunters who are to find in president Cleveland a chief executive who appreciates the responsibilities and dignity of his office.

In the position that he holds with reference to giving the senate his reasons for making changes, as indicated by the dispatch given above, president Cleveland stands on solid ground.

because of improper conduct in office should they be suspended before the expiration of the terms for which they were originally appointed.

THE CLEVELAND IRON MARKET. Saturday's number of the Iron Trade Review, of Cleveland, says of the iron market at that point:

The iron ore market shows considerable activity in the way of inquiries and negotiations for next season's supply of ores.

ful that before the new year is far advanced, selling prices may gradually move upwards to a moderately profitable level.

THE COPPER COUNTRY. Calumet & Hecla's Heavy Dividend—Tamarack's Output—The Atlantic Dividend—Profit—Old Folks' Concert.

HANCOCK, Jan. 20.—The Atlantic Mining company has declared a dividend of one dollar per share, payable on the 28th instant.

Dr. H. W. Jones, of Houghton, is taking care of the practice of Dr. David, of the Atlantic mine, who left for below Monday morning.

The members of the Houghton Light Infantry, company K, Third regiment, Michigan state troops, intend giving a grand social party and reception in their armory on Washington's Birthday, February 22d.

The "Rivals" was presented at Calumet last evening before a fatigued audience, and in a satisfactory manner, though the actors did not seem as much "at home" as when rendering the play at Hancock and Houghton.

An "old folks' concert" is the next local entertainment soon to take place in Houghton under the auspices of a number of Houghton people.

The passenger train over the M. H. & O. railroad was an hour late last evening, consequently the mail in Hancock and Houghton was not distributed till this morning.

Richard Foley, of Lake Linden, left for Ishpeming to-day, intending to take in Friday night's train.

King Ludwig of Bavaria was taking a solitary walk the other day in the Bavarian Alps, when his passage through a forest was suddenly impeded by an angry ox.

THE HISTORIC PARK OF HAMILTON PALACE, Scotland will soon be broken up for a coal field, the gardens are leased to a nurseryman, and the palace will probably soon be dismantled.

IN THE HOLY CITY THE DISCOVERIES WHICH HAVE BEEN MADE IN JERUSALEM.

Setting the Localities of Sacred Places by Laborious Investigation—Many Old Traditions and Legends Erroneous—Work Accomplished.

A Jerusalem handbook of no very important value, dealing with the conclusions resulting from the excavations and researches of Sir Charles Wilson, Sir Charles Warren, Capt. Conder, Mr. Clunton Ganneau, and others, during the last few years.

The excavations were carried on under difficulties of every kind, in face of the opposition of the local government, and in spite of continual fevers and lack of funds.

NEGAUNEE, The Messrs. Allen, Jensen & Williams have received at their grocery store an invoice of Whip plug tobacco. With each pound sold, at 62 cents, a buggy whip is given the purchaser. It is to be hoped that this will not cause any young man who does not use tobacco to acquire the habit merely to get a whip, but those who use both can make a combination and get the two at once.

Several citizens are preparing to build comfortable residences in the spring. The growth of the city for several years past has been toward the east, and the opening of the new mine on the "farm," by the Saginaw Mining company, has helped to make that part of the city desirable for residence purposes. It is thought by some keen observers that more building will be done at the other end of town, toward the Jackson location, next summer.

Aid For a Deserving Man, Michael Riley, from whose lip and neck two cankers were removed a short time ago by Drs. Cyr and Lombard, is not doing well, and in fact his recovery is not expected by the physicians in charge. The disease had advanced too far before the operations were performed, and the shock to his nervous system was so great that there was but slight ground for hope of a favorable issue. The cancer in the neck is still spreading and cannot be cut out.

Mr. Riley has decided to dispose of his horse by raffle, and the drawing will take place on Saturday. Tickets can be bought at Dan McDonald's store.

Mrs. Bohlman's Case, Mrs. C. Bohlman was arraigned before justice J. H. Primeau yesterday morning, charged with keeping a disorderly house. At the request of the defendant, the trial was postponed until to-morrow morning, when it will take place.

If what is reported about this place is true, the house should be closed, and that very quickly. It is charged, and apparently on good authority, that boys, some of them only twelve to fourteen years old, have been frequenters of the place. If the accusations made are proven, justice Primeau will do the city good service by giving the guilty parties long terms in the house of correction.

Fine Lot of Horses, Greenfield & Coughlin have at their livery barn a fine lot of heavy draft horses, brought from Illinois and Wisconsin by T. J. Atkinson. They weigh from fourteen hundred to nearly two thousand pounds each, the heaviest, a bay mare, almost weighing the latter figure. They are undoubtedly the finest horses for sale in the peninsula, and lumbermen and others desiring teams or single horses should call at the stable here before investing their money.

Church Supper, The sisters of St. Joseph give a supper at McDonald's hall to-night. The proceeds will go to aid the Catholic school here, and tickets for it have been largely bought by those interested in the welfare of the school.

A Happy Young Pair of Innocents, (Howard in Philadelphia Press.) What sort of a groom is he who can sit holding the hand of a woman two hours and a half on a hot summer day without uttering a word, and what sort of a bride is she who can sit and have her hand held in a dust-laden railway car two hours and a half without saying a word? When the spasm of a to-morrow morning's issue is reached, what has he to offer her? What has she to extend to him? Are they going through life specialties? Is there any topic on which they young couples might find words of common interest? Have they no plans for the future to ponder and to talk about? Have they no expectations, no hopes, no fears? Is the future assured? Does the vast horizon beyond point to them simply a certainty of bliss?

He was a curly headed, blue-eyed, downy mottled, narrow chested, knobby-knosed youth, with lustrous, auburn hair, and a flashy scarf. She was a prim young maiden, in a saton dress, every part of which indicated the matron, the preciseness of her nature. There was a little frill in the neck and a little frills at each wrist, a long gold chain around her neck, at the end of which hung a tiny watch, encased in a net. She wore mits and she sat like a statue of patience, waiting for the end of their journey. That was their bridal trip. A happy pair, no brains, no hearts, no fears, no aspirations, nothing but a calm pain to palm present. I thought of that young couple considerably, and wondered what their end would be.

Marrriages at Midnight, (Paris Cor. Baltimore Herald.) Marrriages at midnight are becoming a mode. In Burgundy one has just occurred at the residence of the bride, which was illuminated and decorated with myrtles, white roses and orange blossoms forwarded from Nice. The invited arrived for dinner, at which the bride-elect was present in a rose tulle toilet. Next ensued the civil ceremony by the local mayor, when all the doors were left open as required by law. Music and chat followed and at midnight the bride's father went to seek his daughter in his boudoir to conduct her to the chapel, where the religious ceremony was celebrated, accompanied by choral music. The guests then returned to the castle, when a magnificent supper was served.

Mrs. Gladstone's Forgetfulness, (Chicago Tribune.) An English lady sojourning at Aix-les-Bains told an amusing anecdote regarding Mrs. Gladstone, illustrative of her forgetfulness. Her mind, it seems, is always miles away. When last she went to Windsor she forgot to take her hat.

League Meeting, The exercises at the I. N. L. meeting Tuesday night were not as meritorious as those occasionally given there, but the program rendered was by no means destitute of entertaining features. The proceedings were opened with a song by Rosa Dillon. A recitation by Kate Lowry followed. This was very good. Nellie Donahoe, accompanied by Anna Reidy, sang, Mrs. T. P. Donahoe read a selection; Conrad Carlson, the handsome and entertaining city recorder, read an article entitled "At Last," by John Boyle O'Reilly, from the January North American Review. Prof. Benj. Owen favored the audience with two exquisite musical selections for the piano. T. J. Dundon and H. J. Stevens read essays on the "Penal Code" of Ireland, the former being good, and the latter—but excessive modesty prevents the scribe from giving it the praise which it may have deserved.

Patrick Donahoe, with the aid of a "shtick," helped to amuse those present by a declamation and song. J. J. Rigney, he of the diamond pin, the form of an Adonis, and his own curly hair, read "Littlo Breaches," the only good thing that Col. John Hay ever wrote, and in response to an encore gave, verbatim, Artemus Ward's lecture on Mormonism and the Mormons. (To correct a wide-spread misapprehension, it is here stated that Artemus Ward did not steal the material for his lecture from one delivered in the fall of '96 by Kate Field. She was not then in the lecture field, being engaged in dressmaking in New York, on the co-operative plan.)

The Misses O'Brien, Bresnahan, Kalink, and Misses Laramie and Lane, accompanied by Miss Maggie Kennedy, sang "Willie Darling."

On Tuesday evening, February 26th, essays will be read on the invasion of Ireland by Oliver Cromwell.

Gogebic Affairs, In Bessemer there are eleven saloons, in Ironwood eight and in Hurley eight. This affords the denizens of the new iron range a chance to quench their thirst without buying the extinguishing agent at wholesale.

The number of new mines being opened near Hurley and Ironwood is truly surprising. From present appearances, they are all first-class prospects, but some of them may ultimately prove worthless.

Capt. John B. Berringer, once mayor of Negaunee, is interested in a number of promising mining properties out that way, the best of which are the Pabst and Albany mines. Those concerned in the matter say that the ore vein in the latter mine measures 140 feet from wall to wall, but there is a limit to credulity, and it would probably have been just as well to have called it 139 feet and some inches in width.

"Chuck" Stevens is opening a mine in Wisconsin, a mile or so from Hurley. He will move his family there soon, but will live in Ironwood, and remain a Michigander.

Contrary to the general expectation, trade holds good in these towns. Hundreds of strangers visit them every week and all leave more money behind than they take away.

The expense of building a residence or saloon—the structures most frequently put up—is not heavy. The lumber is brought from Ashland or Soudan Lake, a desirable lot is secured, and the carpenters have the building finished in a few days. A stock of goods—if it is to be a saloon—can be easily secured, and then all that remains to be done is to dispose of the stuff and get rich.

This new country is a great one, and reminds old mining men of Gold Hill, Carson City, and other Nevada mining towns in the sixties. The boom will not last, to be sure, but the wise are taking advantage of it while it continues.

Trials of an Amateur, Severe Anderson, the redoubtable chimney sweep and ex-poundmaster, is one of those men who hold fast to a good thing when they get it. Severe is going to navigate the skees, or Norwegian snow-shoes. It was not for him to attempt the descent of some steep mountain side, only to meet with disaster and have his remains gathered together by the corner with a blotting paper and fine-tooth comb, so he began in the streets where it is level. He narrowly escaped collision with a coal cart, and was run over by a man who was bringing a load of wood to town. The teamster was a Frenchman, who did not care for the properties, but the mishap did not seem to disturb Severe in the least.

Desiring to turn around he went into the alley and scraped bricks and boards from the sides of the buildings that were nearest him, and when he got out he was facing the same way as when he started. He put the iron shod staff which he carried through an Irishman's boot, and there would have been trouble but that he offered to treat on the spot. The Irishman took whiskey, and Severe took several chairs and a portion of the saloon fixtures when he left. The bar-tender and his friends picked the furniture from him and his snow shoes after he got out.

Severe is learning fast, nevertheless, and he will eventually become expert in the use of the skees. In the meantime those who see him coming will take the other side of the street.

Novelty on Ice, George Menzies, Jr., has been devoting full time to the practice of skating on skates for the past several weeks, and now his enthusiastic friends call him an expert. He will give an exhibition on skates 13 and 26 inches high next Wednesday night, executing all the difficult movements ordinarily performed by skaters moving without these aids to their altitude.

Justice on the Hunt, Three hungry and dishonest Cornishmen, who were not content to get their food by honest means, stole a ham and several loaves of bread from a private room in Pearce's exchange a few days ago. They devoured their ill-gotten booty at one sitting, and outraged justice, the bare-footed lady who goes about with a handkerchief over her eyes and a pair of hay-seals under her arm, is right on the track of the voracious characters who committed the theft.

Retrieved Themselves, The polo game between the Superiors and Adolphs at the Superior rink proved a long and exciting one last night. After nearly two hours of hard work and the customary kicking from the Negaunee team the game was finally won by the home team by the score of three goals to two.

The MINING JOURNAL predicted, when Barney became the captain of the Superior team, that he would make his club win its next game, and the prophecy was a good one. E. L. P. Wetmore, of Marquette, the manager of the Casinos, refereed the game.

January is commonly considered by business men to be the dulllest month in the year, but trade has been far from slow thus far during the present month. This is one of the many signs which point to better times in the future.

An alarm from the Cleveland location called out the fire department Tuesday afternoon. False alarms, or alarms given when there is no adequate occasion, come rather expensive, but the city pays the bill.

The cue pushers of this place are not fully abreast of the age. A match billiard game was played at Negaunee last Monday night, and a pool tournament is to be held there soon.

There are to be a dozen or so of marriages here between now and Lent. Doubts may be expressed on this point, but the truth of the statement will be duly proved in time.

Greenfield & Coughlin, the Negaunee livery men, have at their barn a fine lot of horses, just received from Illinois. They can be seen by those desirous of buying.

"Only one drunk and disorderly case here in over three weeks," said marshal Harbour yesterday.

Some money changed hands at the rink last night, as a result of the polo game.

Architect Sweatt Finishes One House Only to Begin Another—Number the Dead Beats For Protection.

The Money Paid Over—Florida's Freeze—Wedding Cards Out—Water Works in Trouble—Patent Issued.

Completed. J. B. Sweatt has completed the house on Spruce street, corner of Ohio, which he began in the fall; yesterday the reporter visited the new residence, and was much pleased by what he saw.

The house is very nicely finished inside; the hall is large and handsome, containing a fireplace with a mantel and front of the new Georgia marble, a very pretty stone for such purposes. The front and back parlors are connected by sliding and double doors, respectively, which arrangement permits all three of the large rooms to be thrown into one. The hall and dining room have handsome maple floors, while the parlor also contains a grate with Georgia marble fixtures.

On the second floor the rooms are large, conveniently arranged, and remarkably well lighted, while from most of the windows there is a beautiful view of the lake. The attic is very high and commodious, giving ample room for storage or for the drying of clothes in wet weather.

The cellar extends under the whole house, and is about eight feet high; it is well lighted by six windows, contains the laundry and store rooms, and is warmed by the furnace.

In every part of the house the skill of the architect, in arranging it with a view to the comfort and convenience of the inmates, is made manifest. Large closets are provided, while the bath-room, pantry and kitchen are admirably arranged. The outside door of the kitchen is of extra width to permit the introduction of the range and other large articles with greater ease, while the front door is also large, making it an easy matter to bring in a piano.

Mr. J. E. Sherman will occupy the house and will probably take possession, with his family, next week.

Combine For Protection.

Yesterday the fact was brought to the notice of a representative of the MINING JOURNAL that some of the merchants in the city were being systematically swindled by a few smooth tongued dead beats. For the second time within a few days he heard complaint made of the way a certain woman on Washington street was working the town; she stays in a house without paying any rent just as long as the owner will stand it, then moves on, and she transfers her valuable patronage from one grocery store to another, and from one meat market to the next in just the same way, victimizing each dealer to the extent that he is willing to trust her, for it is impossible to collect anything from her at all.

If the merchants of the city would start a "black list" for such characters the nuisance would soon be done away with; all that would be necessary for such a list would be for the first victim to pass the name around to other merchants as one whose credit was worthless and the party would soon find it necessary to begin paying out cash for a change.

As it is now a "dead beat" can live here for some time without being denounced, for it takes some time to make the rounds of all the groceries and meat markets in the city. Think it over and try the plan.

Cleveland and Marquette.

From the Cleveland papers it seems that that city is now undergoing an experience similar to that which Marquette had a short time ago, only at Cleveland the trouble has been far greater. The fine ice in the lake has been sucked into the supply pipe, and has finally cut off the supply of water entirely. The ice not only choked the supply pipe, but also filled the stand pipe, which is ninety feet in height and nine feet in diameter, and the ice is packed in so that it is thought that it may be necessary to wait for warmer weather to thaw it out; there seems to be no way of removing it by any mechanical process.

Those who have wells are using them while others are depending upon cistern water and some upon melted snow. Should a fire break out only the three chemical engines of the department could be called into service.

Colleged it seems that Marquette has reason to congratulate herself on getting off with only a partial stoppage of the pumps for a day or so.

The Transfer Takes Place.

Yesterday the Business Men's association paid over to E. A. Burt and G. P. Cummings, the agents for the owners of the property, the total amount for the prison site accepted by the commission at its last meeting here.

The title to the property has now been transferred to the state and accepted by the state authorities. The plans for the prison buildings are now being completed by the prison architects in Detroit, and as soon as the frost is out of the ground in the spring, the work of construction will be begun; it is expected that a large number of men will be employed, and that the work will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

The money was paid over by the association before all the subscriptions had been collected, some of it having been advanced. Those who have not attended to their subscriptions will now be called upon to do so at once.

Next Thursday.

Cards were issued yesterday for the wedding of Mr. Ernest Rankin and Miss Carrie C. Watson, which will take place at the residence of the bride's brother, Mr. E. M. Watson, Thursday evening, January 25th, at half past eight o'clock.

Miss Watson is one of the best known young society ladies of Marquette, while Mr. Rankin, who occupies a respectable position with the D. M. & M. R. R. company, has made many friends in the city since his first arrival here from his home in Detroit. It is peculiarly fitting that the MINING JOURNAL should offer its congratulations upon the approaching occasion.

the lady having been at one time a regular and valued contributor to its columns. It now does so together with its best wishes for the future happiness in life of both the bride and groom.

On Spruce Street.

The extension of Spruce street is already beginning to have a built-up appearance. Mr. Sweatt has finished the house on his lot, corner Spruce and Ohio, and yesterday his men began excavating the cellar for a new story-and-a-half cottage, which he intends to build next to the house just finished. Strange to say, although the cellar has been begun, the house is not yet started.

On the opposite corner W. H. Wheatley has a new house well under way, the frame being nearly finished. From its present appearance the reporter would say that when completed it will be a large and fine-looking dwelling; its location is certainly a splendid one, commanding a beautiful view.

It is stated that E. C. Williams will occupy the new house as soon as it is completed.

The Frost Line Gone to Cuba.

Jack Frost seems to be enamored with the southern portion of our land this winter.

Florida papers just received here contain long reports of his visit; frozen oranges, ruined orange groves, and instances of people being frozen to death are enumerated.

At Fernandia the Camilla Urso concert company was frozen out when giving its entertainment; at Jacksonville and other places ice skating was indulged in by the few who had skates, and altogether the "oldest inhabitant" was all broken up, for he could think of nothing in the old days with which to awe the youngsters who were exclaiming over the sudden invasion of arctic weather into sub-tropical Florida.

Patent Received.

Joseph Cosford and John Kern, of the water works, whose new engine governor was fully described in the MINING JOURNAL some time since, have just received a patent on the same from the patent office officials at Washington.

It is thought by many that the new governor will prove a big thing for them as it has already attracted great attention and much favorable comment. They are now making another of the new governors for use at the water works.

REPORTORIAL PENCILINGS.

Marquette's snow-pow goes about doing good in an exceedingly erratic way. It answers to clear off the snow tolerably well, but it doesn't "answer the helm" worth a cent.

Duluth is going to make an effort to grow up to Chicago in size before the year is out. Marquette's ambition isn't quite so vaulting as that, but it will give Oshkosh a close rub ere 1887 is rung in.

We're going to have a prison, constructed by the state; also a U. S. custom house, a structure quite ornate; and other things we're going to have, they're coming thick and fast, but we won't be wholly happy till Grace turns in "in blast."

They had quite a jolly time at the ice rink last night, the first dance on skates for the season taking place. The couples went through the quadrille in very good style for the first attempt, and hereafter, as music has been secured, the quadrille will be made a feature of the evening frequently.

To prevent any possible misconception the MINING JOURNAL would state that the connection of Mr. O. H. Packard with the firm of M. R. Manhard & Co., was in no wise that of a partner or member, while he will be a member, and a very active member too, in the new firm of Call, Packard & Co.

The astonishing statement is made in a Beloit paper that burglars entered a clothing store there the other night and carried off about $1,500 worth of goods. The number of burglaries in the job is not known, but a very little figuring will enable the reader to see that there must have been a whole store-full of 'em.

Oueda county, New York, seems to produce something besides Conklings and Kernans, and that something is cold weather. Monday was thirty-six degrees below zero at some of the places in that county, and yet they think Marquette has glaciers in every suburb. Ten below is a good enough record for us thus far this winter.

This is the way a wicked Kalamazoo editor extends congratulations to a brother editor upon the latter's marriage: C. P. Sweet, editor of the Kalkaskian, led to the altar recently Miss Irene Foster, of Keeler, Van Buren county. Nothing has yet appeared to cast a shadow on the honeymoon, but the statement of the Bangor Advance that the fair bride was very popular when she taught school there twenty-five years ago.—Kalamazoo Telegraph.

The Lake Superior News, of Duluth, publishes a letter from "the oldest inhabitant," correcting the statement that "twenty-five years ago he sat down with the entire population of Duluth on a single log." His name is Banning, and he states that "you have rolled that historic log seven years backward," as it was only eighteen years ago that Duluth held a mass meeting thereon without anybody feeling crowded.

It seems that the governor has not got far enough away from the world to escape all the ill-fish he is heir to, for an exchange states that "the first lot of pianos ever sent to Alaska has just been shipped from Portland, Oregon." Penclings thinks the sorrows of "Curlo" when the native thinkers first begin soothing their savage breasts by producing chorals and discords on the new instruments.

Penclings thinks that it is carrying out a good rule a little too strictly when the runner of a popular hotel is refused admission to a car, because he had no ticket, when bringing down the luggage of a guest of his house who was about to leave. Such was the case yesterday afternoon just before the D. M. & M. R. express pulled out of the depot, the officious employe informing the runner that the guest could bring his own baggage for all the company cared.

With preliminary symptoms of the annual charter election disturbance begin to be discernible. In other words, several ambitious aspirants for municipal honors are "scratching around" in a manner indicating that the "itch for office" has broken out all over them, and will give them no rest till after the ballots are counted. Penclings hopes they'll all "get there," with but just one exception, and, as it happens, his case is the worst of the lot.

St. Paul, Minnesota, is making extensive preparations for the winter carnival soon to be given there, and from all indications her carnival and ice palace will far surpass any effort ever made by Montreal. When cities this side of the line really lay themselves out, our Canadian neighbors are left far behind. Customed carnival clubs are now visiting the different cities of Minnesota to arouse interest in the carnival, and the railroads are offering very low rates to those who wish to attend.

There was a chap in town this week who was here to "work up" a circulation for a Detroit daily—one, too, that is much addicted to venturing itself. He tackled a merchant whose name he was very desirous of adding to his meager list. "Your paper is a good one, I dare say," observed the merchant in answer to his appeal, "but I get the news in our Marquette daily much sooner than I could in yours, so I prefer to take that." "But," persisted the solicitor, "the MINING JOURNAL gives only the 'pony report,' and we give the full associated press dispatches." "Is that so?" said the merchant, "let me compare the two papers and see the difference." This was done, and not at all to the advantage of the Detroit sheet. "If the MINING JOURNAL's report is a 'pony,' yours isn't much of a 'horse' in comparison," observed the dealer in dry goods and things, as he handed back the Detroit paper to the eloquent ex-claimer of its superior quality. The solicitor retired discomfited, which was quite proper. He lied about the MINING JOURNAL when he asserted that it published a "pony" news report. This paper prints the associated press report, and if the chap who stated that it doesn't lie ignorantly, he is just about sharp enough to represent the publication that keeps him on the road.
