Entered as mail matter of the second-class in the post-office at Marquette, Mich.

If it will expedite legislation, the bill to provide members of the house with a clerk each ought to be railroaded through congress with all possible expedition. Such an enactment would make a good many new places for ambitious young men with a talent for writing speeches who are hankering for a taste of Washington life.

The representative from this district, Mr. Moffatt, is industriously looking after upper peninsula interests in the house, and bids fair to become a valuable member. Mr. Moffatt is on the minority side of the house, which fact militates somewhat against him, but as he is industrious and possesses the tact not to be offensive in his partisanship, there is reason to expect that he will be able to render effective service to his constituents at this side of the straits, who have matters pending in congress that ought to be favorably acted on at this session.

While the Irish question was the rock on which the treaty ministry stranded, it is worthy of note that the vote which, under the English system, forced its retirement was not a matter directly connected with that issue. The amendment to the Queen's speech, moved by Mr. Collins, and on which the government was defeated, had reference to the depression in trade and agriculture in England, and was in the nature of a censure of the conservative ministry for not having announced measures for the relief of sufferers therefrom. The popular impression that the government was defeated on a question growing out of its outlined Irish policy is incorrect.

Those advocates of unlimited silver coinage who reply to arguments against that policy by calling the persons by whom they are advanced "gold bugs" and "tools of the bankers and bondholders" are really doing the cause of the silver dollar no service. The silver question is one in which people can honestly differ, nor is there any occasion for indulging in hard names in discussing it. Another singular thing that we notice as characteristic of the silver side of the controversy is this: Unless one concedes that the free coinage of silver is a national blessing, he is sure to be denounced as an advocate of the demonization of that metal. There are many who believe that silver should be demonetized. It is true, but it is doubtful if they constitute anything more than a respectable minority in the great army of those who hold that a check should be placed on our coinage of silver before the equilibrium between the different kinds of money shall be destroyed and disastrous consequences thereby entailed on the country.

WISCONSIN almost invariably puts the poorest kind of public men into her state offices, but her delegation in the national congress is usually a strong one. In their time, Carpenter and Howe were among the foremost of the able men of their party in the senate, while her representation in the house has always been strong. At present the Badger state has in the senate that veteran publicist, Senator Sawyer, and a younger man who has rapidly made his way to the front in politics, Senator Spooner. The latter is just now the subject of much congratulation on account of the propriety and eloquence of his eulogy on the late vice-president, Mr. Hendricks, which is said to have been a masterly effort. Mr. Spooner seems to have pleased all parties by the force and justice of his remarks on the life and character of Mr. Hendricks, an achievement which was not without difficulty, owing to the prominent part in public affairs taken by the deceased at a period when party feeling ran high, and party leaders were frequently obliged to do and say things that their political opponents find it hard to forgive and impossible for forget.

JAY HUBBELL has gone to Washington to secure an appropriation for the enlargement of the ship canal at Sault Ste. Marie, and incidentally to work up his little boom for congress. He is very carefully laying the wires for a nomination to congress from the Eleventh district, but when the time comes Mr. Moffatt, the present incumbent, will undoubtedly have a good deal to say about it, and Mr. Moffatt has bested friends. If the festive Jay really has an idea that he will be sent to Washington from the Eleventh district next fall he is in a fair way to get over it so quick it will hurt him, one these days.

We take the above from the Kalamazoo Gazette for the purpose of explaining that Mr. Hubbell goes to Washington this winter as one of a committee composed of democrats and republicans, charged with the task of presenting to congress weighty reasons why certain important improvements to the connecting channels of the waterway proposed for the Great Lakes should be provided for by adequate appropriations. He was selected for a place on that committee by a convention made up of business men of the Lake Superior region in which both democrats and republicans participated, and his mission has no political significance whatever. It is hardly fair to make him the subject of ungenerous comment in this connection, for the reasons stated. What Mr. Hubbell's political ambition may be the MINING JOURNAL does not care to discuss, but it feels constrained to defend him against the unjust imputation that his mission to Washington has an object other than one in which all the people of Michigan ought to be of one mind in hoping that he may not make it in vain.

ON THE LOWER RANGE. This week's number of the Menominee Range notes mining and exploratory work in that district as follows:

The Caledonia mine, at Crystal Falls, commenced operations last week and will put on a force of 20 men or more.

At present the Cornell mine is hoisting from 110 to 115 buckets of ore per day, making an average of about 50 tons.

The new shaft on the Quinnesec town site is looking better every day, and we have no doubt that a large deposit of ore will be found.

The Iron Star company commenced pumping the water out of the mine on Tuesday morning, and will soon begin mining with a large force of men.

Wm. Parent commenced explorations on town 39, range 19, in Wisconsin, on Tuesday. A shaft will be sunk, and at some future writing we will endeavor to publish the developments.

Considerable new machinery will be put in at the Sheldon and Stafer mine, Crystal Falls, between now and the opening of navigation, including a drum and electric light plant. The working force will soon be increased to 40 men.

The Indiana mine management is making preparations to have a large supply of ore ready for shipment when the proper time arrives. The stock pile is increasing steadily and men are employed enlarging the ground work at the pit so that it will be much more extensive than heretofore.

A. D. Moore has secured an option on the Iron Mountain townsite, and will do some exploring back of The Range office, and on the site below Brown street. This is getting pretty close to home, and we may experience the novelty of having a mine in our back yard in the near future.

At the West Chapin a new shaft has been sunk about 200 feet north of the old workings. It has been dropped 57 feet, and a drift to the north shows red slates and lean formation, similar in character to that found at the old shaft. Work will be prosecuted for some time in the hope of discovering something of real value.

Messrs. A. F. Wright, of Quinnesec, A. D. Moore and Capt. Gray, of Iron Mountain, and J. H. Outwaite & Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, have virtually formed a company for developing the south half of 32, 40-30—the old Keel Ridge property—only remaining now to decide upon a name, and elect officers to perfect the organization. The first three of the above named gentlemen have been carefully exploring this property the past three months, and have met with such encouraging results as to warrant the formation of a company to prosecute the work in a systematic and energetic manner. The company will have a capitalization of $500,000, divided into 20,000 shares, and the confidence of the promoters in the value of the property is shown by the fact that there is no stock for sale. An assessment of $1 per share has been levied for working capital, and suitable machinery will be put in at once for pumping out the old mine and for sinking upon the ore revealed by the new pits. The dwelling houses will all be repaired, and in a short time the old Keel Ridge will again be inhabited by an industrious and prosperous community. The following analysis of the ore taken from the test pits shows it to be of excellent quality: Metallic iron, 65 1/2 per cent; phosphorus, .010 to .016; silica, .025.

COPPER COUNTRY NOTES.

Angus and Fourteen Hundred Dollars "Vamoos"—The Ice Skating Championship. The New Bank's Cashier.

HANCOCK, Jan. 28.—Angus McDonald, who has had considerable to do in the building line in Houghton county for some time past, is found to be missing, and with him has departed something like $1,400 to which he has no legal claim. This amount, or the greater part of it, was due his workmen, but he made his exit the latter part of last week, and has not been heard of since. A rumor was started that he had perhaps been drowned near the bridge, where he has lately been engaged, but Mack is too true to do that. He left his wife and children at the Osceola mine.

Andrew E. Norman, of Ishpeming, has challenged Charles Krause, of Lake Linden, to skate for the championship of the upper peninsula and the cup recently won by Krause at Ishpeming. Norman was beaten by Martin last year, and Martin's best time was 4.014. Krause has lowered the record to 3.233, and if Martin wants to win the cup he will be obliged to cover the mile inside in 3.15. Krause will accept the challenge, and will report at Bennett's ice rink at Ishpeming on Wednesday evening, February 10th. He cares but little for the honor of being the champion fast skater of the upper peninsula, but at the same time he will make an effort to defeat Norman, and Ingot naturally hopes his effort will not be in vain.

W. B. Anderson, who for several years past has occupied the position of teller in the First National bank of Hancock, has accepted the position of cashier of the First National bank of Calumet, and will assume the duties of that position in a few weeks. The selection of Mr. Anderson as cashier is a criterion of the business ability and to the respect of the new bank officials, and is a wise one in every respect. The stockholders of this bank are to be congratulated upon his success in securing the services of one so thoroughly competent to perform the duties attending the office of cashier, and Mr. Anderson is to be congratulated upon his having the privilege of accepting so important a call.

In answer to many inquiries we have received we would answer once for all that we are unable to tell whether Dr. S. is married or not; but that he will ultimately reach the goal of his ambition we have not the faintest doubt.

Several hundred persons attended the masquerade at Hamel's rink last evening, which was a success in every way. There were about thirty masks, and as nearly all were "comical" there was no end of fun for the spectators. Fifteen dollars in cash prizes were given. Manager Redd seems to be making a success of the ice rink, and is mapping out several other feasible, better by new number gentlemen.

Will J. Vivan, son of Capt. Johnson Vivan, of the Franconia mine, will leave Saturday morning for Michigan, where he has been offered and has accepted the position of manager of the Michigan mine. Will is a practical machinist, and has just enough theory to make him useful in many capacities about a mine.

Diphtheria is prevalent in Lake Linden, a case being reported in the family of John Bowden.

A scheme is on foot by several interested parties to remove the Eagle River hotel to Lake Linden. Whether the scheme will fully materialize or not is a question, but we hardly think the plan feasible. Better by new number gentlemen.

Joseph Schmitzer, will represent Mesnard lodge No. 28, I. O. O. F., of Houghton, at the grand lodge of Michigan, which meets at Big Rapids on the 31st ult.

AN ACTRESS' STORY.

KATE CLAXTON TELLS OF 'THE BROOKLYN THEATRE FIRE.

A Terrible Experience—Trying to Quiet a Panic-Stricken Audience—The Underground Passage to Safety—Nearly Three Hundred Dead.

[Philadelphia Times Interview.] "It was on the night of Tuesday, Dec. 8, 1876," said Kate Claxton, the well-known actress, "I was then a member of the stock company at the Union Square theatre in New York, under the management of Shook & Palmer, and it was on the evening of the Brooklyn theatre, which had been built by the late Mrs. F. B. Conway and managed by her up to the time of her death. A portion of our company had been transferred to Brooklyn, and on that night we were playing 'The Two Orphans.' The play had progressed to the last act. The stage was entirely unobscured, what is called a box set representing the old boat-house, which was the home of the Frochards. At half past 11 o'clock, dressed in the rags of Louisie, I had laid down on the pallet of Louie, when I was to be discovered when the curtain should rise.

"Suddenly I was startled by a rumbling noise, which sounded as if the ceiling of the theatre was falling; but I had no time to think about it, for the curtain rose and I devoted myself to the business of the scene. I had spoken but a few lines when I heard the voices of Lillian Claxton, who had knelt down behind the scenes just behind my head, whispering to me: 'Save yourself for God's sake! I am running now.' I looked up, and through the large looking-glass saw many pictures covered the light walls, and tables laden with priceless bric-a-brac stood here and there about the room. One saw a large, black, blue, yellow, lilac, green, all toppled against each other in the most fantastic manner. This, too, was doubtless a gift from grateful hands to the ever open-handed and liberal manager of the theatre. The locomotive firemen on this division of the Northwestern railway will give a ball at Escanaba some time this winter. The railroad men are apparently fond of dancing.

There will be a masquerade at Fayette, Mich., on Feb. 5th, 1886, and the promoters of the carnival assure this paper that any people from Negaunee who may happen about at that time will be cordially welcomed.

Manager Fellow, of the Adelphi polo club, who went to Marquette Wednesday night to act as referee in the polo game played there, found poor sleighing between him and Marquette, and did not arrive till too late to serve.

The next polo game will be played here on Wednesday night between the Superior and home teams. The MINING JOURNAL earnestly hopes, and sincerely trusts, that the game will be played without wrangling or dispute. The Superiors have said that they will be as dumb as so many oysters during the playing, and if no one but the captain speak, there can't be any unpleasant dissension.

The actions of a railroad man, of this city, who is not on the bottom rung of the ladder which leads to promotion, has caused some comment. He went to Escanaba, ostensibly to attend the ball, but after he got there he failed to call at the hall. His time was industriously devoted to filling himself with ardent spirits. This laudable line of action he pursued till the next morning, and when three friends tried to get him aboard the train they failed to move him. He could not be got on board the next train, and as a last resort a special engine was sent down, and he was brought home somewhat dilapidated, but still in the arena.

Change at the Rink. After February 1st, the Adelphi rink will be opened only on Tuesday and Friday evenings of each week, except when games of polo are to be played here, which will be on Wednesday nights, on which occasions the rink will of course thrown open to the public. Good music will be provided and the rink will be opened Saturday afternoons for the children.

Missed the Road. A sleigh load of our polo boys who went to Marquette on Wednesday night to see the polo game there missed the road, going five or six miles out of their way, and did not get to Marquette till 4 o'clock Thursday morning. They say they missed the right road while lighting their cigars at Eagle Mills. This, it is, or should be, an awful warning to smokers.

PERSONAL.

The Last Polo Game.

Some of the polo players, and in fact the entire club, feel rather sore over the way in which the game played at Marquette Wednesday night was written up for the Marquette department of this paper.

The game, according to those who won it, was not the poorest yet played by the league. The splendid victory achieved by the Superior club shows that good playing was done by its members.

The whistle, when Kellan lost his skate was not blown by any small boy, but by a large man, some thirty years of age. The Casino club should take this hasty mediator to some vacant lot, on a back street, and give him a few points about the proper conduct of spectators when a game of polo is being played.

The captain and players of the Superior club express the highest respect for referee Keim, who is an experienced poloist, and made his rulings impartially.

The victory of the Superiors was gained by careful placing of the men composing the team. Each player knew where he was to stay, when to leave his place, and how he was expected to play.

The club played together much better than in any previous game, and this had much to do with the result.

The Superiors and Casino have each won two games in the league contests, and the Adelphi one. One game is to be played over by the Casino and Adelphi at Negaunee. This will probably result in a victory for Negaunee. If it should the three clubs will then be "up sticks."

All of the players say they were very handsomely used in Marquette, by the referee, the Casino, and people at large, and whether victorious or meeting with defeat, will always be glad to make a similar visit to that city.

Settled the Case. Some time ago reference was made to the case of Capt. John Skoberg, who attempted a heinous crime near Bessemer, Ontonagon county. Deputy Sheriff Foley came here in search of Skoberg, but did not find him. He had many friends here, and they protested loudly that he was innocent. The agitator called it a case of blackmail on Foley's part, but still the "captain" did not show up, his explanations and defense against the charge against him being made vicariously.

A telegram was received here a day or so ago, stating that the case had been settled by Skoberg, who paid a large sum of money to the girl's father to quiet the matter. It may have been blackmail, but the probabilities are that Skoberg deserved all the hard things said of him at the time, and punishment of a most substantial nature as well. Money will do much, and it will often get a man out of a close place, but it fails to clear Capt. John Skoberg's name of the stain which has been attached to it.

Will Go on Runners. The fire department of St. Ignace ordered recently a full set of runners for the use of the engine, hose carts and hook and ladder truck of the departments there. Walseth & Tislow, the carriage manufacturers here, received the order, and have got part of the outfit of runners ready for shipment to-day.

The people of the city of the straits will find the runners, or shoes, which fit over the wheels, a serviceable device. They were invented by engineer Phil. Jones, of the Ishpeming fire department, and are used on both steamers here. They are also in use at Lansie.

Better Prospects. On the first day of February the wages of the miners at the Cleveland mine will be raised. The amount of the raise has not yet been made known. It will probably not be very large, but the fact that it is to be an advance and not a cut will prove very pleasing to the miners and business men of the city. The wages of surface employees will not be raised, but that will follow in time if the brighter prospects for the iron trade prove to be as justly founded as appearances would indicate. No change in wages has yet been decided on at the other mines in the city.

Well Entertained. A party of Ishpeming gentlemen who went to the ball at Escanaba last Tuesday night were right royally entertained by Mayor J. R. Stavel, of that city. The party went through his wine cellar at the mayor's request, and sampled some fine goods. In various other ways he made the evening a very pleasant one for them, and they will endeavor to repay him in kind should he ever come up this way.

Still Skating. George Mennie, Jr., skated on stilts 13 and 25 inches high at the ice rink Wednesday evening, surprising all by the ease and variety of his movements. All of the difficult movements were executed perfectly, and the friends of the skater had dubbed him "expert." He may repeat the exhibition before winter is over.

Sparing Match. V. G. Welch and John Venus have signed articles and deposited $100 each for a sparing match to be held within the coming two weeks, at a point not far from the city. Each man claims that he can down his opponent, and each is considered a good man in the sporting sense of the term.

W. B. Linsley, who returns to his old position as superintendent of the Peninsula division of the Chicago & Northwestern railway, arrived at Escanaba last Tuesday evening on the last train, and assumed charge of the division Wednesday morning. Since the departure of Supt. Fitch, the new assistant superintendent, G. M. West, has had control of the division, and he will aid Mr. Linsley in its management.

A card and dice expert got around some unscrupulous railroad men very neatly Wednesday night. He bet them the drinks for the house that he could shake 21 with three dice, counting the spots on the bottom and top of each die. Of course he won, and it took two friends of the deluded parties an hour, and a quarter to convince them that the bet was a sure thing—for the other man.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will give a ball at Escanaba some time during the month of February, probably the 22d, which happens to be the 15th anniversary of the birth of George Washington, of whom all of our readers have doubtless heard. The engineers expect to have a big time, and hope to get a special train to run to Escanaba and return from this section of country.

Dan McVichie, the new deputy collector of internal revenue for the upper peninsula of Michigan, has become well versed in the methods of official work. He is now enjoying a few days of respite, after the rush of business that comes at the first of the month. Mr. McVichie is of the opinion that his salary will be well-earned, the duties of the office being quite onerous.

For some reason not fully known, the tickets for the conductors' ball at Escanaba did not reach the copper district until shortly before the M. H. & O. passenger train left Houghton on Tuesday morning. In consequence there was no attendance at the ball from copperdom.

The editor and general manager of "Pick and Axe," Bessemer's new paper, is only 17 years old. Some of the boys of older growth who are dabbling in the newspaper business might learn something from his paper, despite the youth of its publisher.

A Finlander who was hurt at the Cleveland mine Monday afternoon by a bar which was driven nearly through his thigh, is now at the city hospital. He is progressing favorably and will recover, though the wound was an ugly one.

Alfred Dishnow, the new owner of the Hotel Commercial, seems to be about as unfortunate as his predecessor, the ill-starred Lefebvre. The place was closed last night on an execution got out by Phillip Feibisch & Co., of Negaunee.

The polo players who got home Thursday morning brought back with them a miscellaneous but complete assortment of bruised shins, contusions and fractures. Polo is an interesting game for spectators, but rather severe on the players.

An error, for which the long-suffering compositor is responsible, made the MINING JOURNAL state that services in the Episcopal church for the two following Sundays would be held at 1 o'clock, when it should have read 11 o'clock.

Swan West, the portly dispenser of malt and spiritual fluids who holds forth at the corner of Cleveland avenue and First street, rejoices greatly over the advent of a pair of twins, in which he and Mrs. West are jointly interested.

The latest thing out in sidewalks is to ornament the ice on them with a pick, cutting it on the bias, and leaving it with the appearance of a rough corduroy road. It may not be the best thing, but it's the style.

They have two polo clubs in Escanaba, and they quarrel just as much as though they lived in towns three miles apart.

Harry Taft has returned to his duties as mining engineer and chemist, at the Cleveland mine.

The Ropes gull miners will be paid about the 3d or 4th of February for December work.

The Brilliant Social Event of Last Evening, the Rankin-Watson Nuptials—New Views of Marquette.

Startling Figures Showing the Wholesale Slaughter of Deer in This Vicinity—Program For Rink Habitués.

Last Evening.

There was a large gathering of the prominent society people of Marquette last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Watson, to witness the marriage of their sister, Miss Carrie C. Watson, to Mr. Ernest F. A. Rankin.

The large and handsome drawing room where Mr. and Mrs. Watson received, was filled soon after 8 o'clock with invited guests in evening dress, the handsome toilets of the ladies being especially noticeable.

Shortly before 9 o'clock the bridal party entered the room, the groom with Rev. Dr. Hall, rector of St. Paul's, leading, followed by the bride leaning on the arm of her brother, E. M. Watson.

After the congratulations the guests admired the large and beautiful collection of presents in the south room, adjoining the drawing room.

An elaborate lunch was served in the dining-room and until a late hour the throngs of guests continued to come and go, the reporter noticing that many of the young married ladies wore their bridal dresses to grace the occasion.

Pressing Need of Further Protection. The MINING JOURNAL has already called to the attention of sportsmen and others interested in the preservation of the game laws, and of further protection for the deer in our forests.

A letter written to a prominent sportsman of Marquette now lies before the writer; it gives the number of pounds of venison saddles shipped from the station of Floeter, on the D. M. & M., during the open season, from August 15th to November 15th, and also estimates the amount, not included in the shipments, consumed in camp and other places.

There was shipped from Floeter in the interval mentioned 66,340 pounds of venison, saddles only, while the number of pounds consumed in the vicinity is thought to be about 14,000.

It does not require much intellectual effort for one to decide from the above showing that soon, and very soon at this rate, our boasted hunting will be a thing of the past.

The Lake Superior News reads this lesson to its readers, and there are those living in the city who might be benefited by pondering over it.

At the Rinks. The first dog-race of the season will take place to-night at the ice rink, and the simple announcement of the fact will probably insure a large attendance on the part of all those who have ever seen such a race in times past.

will be a grand masquerade with large prizes offered at the ice rink, while Saturday evening the grand masquerade carnival comes off at the Casino.

The second taffy pull of the season is advertised at the ice rink for Saturday afternoon. Everyone attending will receive a prize of greater or less value.

Map of Michigan.

The MINING JOURNAL has received a copy of the new sectional map of Michigan published by the celebrated publishers, Rand, McNally & Co. It is reliable and is handsomely gotten up.

Views of Marquette.

Captain Smith Moore has assumed control of the publication of the new lithograph view of the city of Marquette, and expects to have the same ready for distribution to the subscribers some time in February.

REPORTORIAL PENCILINGS. Messrs. Burton and Nester returned from up the road yesterday.

The Algona Pioneer states that "the American Sault now boasts a market garden, candy factory, toboggan slide, and bootblack."

The last issue of the Western Land Guide, published at Detroit, contains among other illustrations a fine portrait of William Austin Burt, the inventor of the solar compass.

Mr. Graves states that the item in the Ishpeming department of the Negaunee Herald, purporting to give an account of a narrow escape on his part from death by the cars at Ishpeming Tuesday afternoon, has no basis whatever in point of fact while the inference that he was intoxicated at the time was entirely unwarranted.

A dead bear has been working Marquette and vicinity pretty effectively recently. He claims to represent a Chicago establishment, and sells dress patterns.

Pencilings heard yesterday that there is a man in town who hasn't had a fall on the sidewalks since winter set in, and was starting out to interview the marvel when he was told that the "subject" is an invalid who hasn't been outside his room for several months.

Daniel Hickey, who was brought here from Munising and lodged in the county jail Wednesday, has been skipping from the frying pan into the fire frequently of late.

Pencilings understands that the members of the Superior polo team feel rather sore over the view taken of the polo game by the MINING JOURNAL's reporter.

The Detroit Evening News is raising a fund for relief of the starving fishermen off the west coast of Ireland, which is growing to very fair proportions, nearly a thousand dollars having been already subscribed.

Judge Stearns, who was appointed a delegate to Washington by the Ishpeming convention last fall, and who agreed to go to Washington on condition that business engagements would permit, finds himself utterly unable to set away, and it is not known whether anybody can be found to take his place.

The above is taken from the Lake Superior News, of Duluth, but no fears are here entertained but that Duluth can find an able man to represent her on the Business Men's delegation to Washington.

The Lake Superior News reads this lesson to its readers, and there are those living in the city who might be benefited by pondering over it.

At the Rinks. The first dog-race of the season will take place to-night at the ice rink, and the simple announcement of the fact will probably insure a large attendance on the part of all those who have ever seen such a race in times past.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Agent Fenwick, of the Detroit Mine, is in the city.

J. Connelly returned yesterday from L'Anse.

H. Selden, of L'Anse, came down to Marquette yesterday.

Mayor Thurber returned to the city via the D. M. & M. yesterday.

E. A. Douglass, Houghton's postmaster visited Marquette yesterday.

Miss Davidson is very low and but little hope is entertained of her recovery.

Chas. F. Orton returned to Marquette yesterday, after a short trip to the woods.

E. P. Foster, of Iron Mountain, is in the city and is registered at the Clifton House.

Mr. J. V. Davis is out again after a very severe illness which at one time threatened to prove fatal.

Dr. and Mrs. Cyr, with the Misses Cyr, of Negaunee, were in the city yesterday to attend the Rankin-Watson marriage.

The MINING JOURNAL enjoyed the pleasure of a call from Mark H. Stevens, government Indian agent for this state, yesterday.

McMillan possesses the finest location for a town on the D. M. & M., while it is situated in the center of the largest and best tract of hardwood farming land on the upper peninsula.

James A. Root, of Negaunee, has opened up a charcoal business in this vicinity; he now has six kilns in running order and has a good charcoal house on the line of the railroad, whence he will ship all his coal.

Smoke Flor La Mia cigars, the best dime cigars in the world.

J. Dwyer & Bro. have the celebrated Flor La Mia cigars—clear, imported, Havana filled, and Cuban hand-made and are pronounced fine.

Parties who would like a nice, quiet boarding place will find the same at Mrs. Barnard's, Washington street. The table will be abundantly supplied, and every attention will be paid to the comfort of those admitted there will be paid.
