Mining Journal. Published by the Mining Journal Company.

The Daily Mining Journal is published every week-day morning at Marquette, Mich., and is the Associated Press dispatches, in addition to special dispatches from all points in the upper peninsula.

The senate took notice of the protracted absence from his seat of the honorable James G. Thompson, this week by substituting for him on the committee on commerce Senator Gibson.

His course in the southwestern railway troubles has enhanced the reputation of Terence V. Powderly a hundred fold. The order whose executive head he is exceedingly fortunate in having such a man directing its movements at this juncture, and its members will be inexorably blind to the welfare of their organization if they do not keep him in his present place and give heed to his counsels.

An Ironwood "workingman" writes to the Oshkosh Times urging that paper to discourage men who are in want of work from going to the Gogebic range in search of it. There are all the men there that are needed for the amount of work to be done, he states, and he probably tells the truth about it.

The Cleveland Iron Market. From the Iron Trade Review of the 10th we obtain this report on the condition of the iron ore and pig iron market at this point on the date named: Sales of iron ore have been less frequent the past week, but nevertheless, a steady demand of moderate dimensions for medium-sized lumps continues to keep business moving and the market firm.

CONVICTING THE ROPES. At the Ropes gulf mine they are busily employed in preparing for an active season of mining and milling work. The equipment of mining and hoisting machinery is to be very materially increased immediately.

AN ANSWER WANTED. Can any one bring a case of kidney or liver complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure? We say they can not, as thousands of cases already permanently cured, and who daily recommend Electric Bitters, will prove. Rightly named, "Kidney and Liver Bitters," it is a complete and reliable remedy for all ailments of the urinary and biliary systems.

ENGLAND'S DILEMMA. "It must be humiliating to England that at the present crisis in her affairs she has but one real statesman, and that this one stands on the brink of the grave," remarks the Detroit Evening Journal, alluding to the fierce opposition in parliament to Gladstone's scheme for the pacification of Ireland.

THE COPPER COUNTRY. The criticism, though harsh, is just. The drawing effect on the human intellect of the feudal system, even where it exists in a liberalized form, is painfully apparent in the attitude of the English majority toward the wise and liberal measure introduced by the great premier.

The criticism, though harsh, is just. The drawing effect on the human intellect of the feudal system, even where it exists in a liberalized form, is painfully apparent in the attitude of the English majority toward the wise and liberal measure introduced by the great premier. The English lords cannot see far enough ahead to understand that England's safety, no less than Ireland's prosperity, demands that Ireland shall be granted the latter country, and so they antagonize a project that is excellently calculated to give peace and security to the realm, and forever relieve the imperial parliament from an irritating and demoralizing subject for discussion and legislation.

THE COPPER. The Engineering and Mining Journal of the 10th says of the copper market at New York: This market is extremely quiet, though prices are generally unchanged. Producers are extremely firm and show not the least anxiety about selling, a better market being confidently anticipated. There are no stocks here, and even at the lake stocks are very much lighter than in any other part of the country.

NEWBERRY CATCHES. NEWBERRY, April 12.—An adjourned meeting of the village council was held Friday evening, when the appointments of health officer and marshal were made. John M. Bain has commenced work on a building which he will use as a meat market and dwelling house.

THE COLONIES OF AUSTRALIA. The most independent people in the world—Bourbonese Reservoirs. In most respects the Australians are the most independent people in the world. Each of the four colonies has its own government and is independent of the others as though they were foreign countries.

MUCHLY MUSICAL.

The Band Concert at Ishpeming Monday Night—It Was a Great Affair.

Other Local Happenings that Came Under the Reporter's Observation Yesterday.

Monday Evening's Band Concert.

Notwithstanding that it was an unfavorable date for an entertainment of that character, the benefit concert at the Superior rink Monday night was well attended. Between three and four hundred people were present, and the sum realized will go far toward buying uniforms for the band.

The first number on the program rendered was a fantasia by Malot. The band numbered fifteen pieces, and some of the performers are fine musicians. The second number, "A Song of the Vikings," by Fanning, was a vocal one, and was given by a quartette, composed of Mr. W. H. Johnston and wife and Mr. C. S. Bundy and Mrs. E. B. Howard. The four are evidently used to singing together, their voices blending charmingly. All of the numbers by the quartette were very good.

A piano duett, by Misses Johanna and Manie Flanigan, was well received by the audience. For players of their age they have made great progress in music.

The fourth number, a cornet duett from "Lucetta Borgia," by Messrs. W. T. Bennett and John A. Peterson, was one of the best of the evening.

"A Bird From Over the Sea," vocal, by Mrs. Boehm, followed the duett by Messrs. Bennett and Peterson. This lady possesses a sweet and well modulated voice, which is admirably trained. She sings very well, and was at her best Monday night.

A piano selection by Prof. Benj. Owen came next. Ishpeming people who are in any way interested in musical matters do not need to be told of the professor's musical talent. Mr. Owen is one of the best pianists in his country. A hearty encore elicited one of his own compositions, a variation on "Home, Sweet Home."

The professor kindly took the part of accompanist during the rendition of the whole program, and helped to make the success of the vocal numbers more conspicuous than it would have been without his masterly handling of the piano.

"Home, Sweet Home," by J. Bosanko, playing respectively the cornet and trombone, executed a duett, "All's Well," the only criticism which the reporter can pass on the duett by the members of the band was that they were too short.

The eighth number was a satirical solo, followed by the "Captivity Duet" by G. H. Arthur. His voice was handsomely strong enough for the great hall, but those who were near enough to get the effect of his singing were well pleased.

A second fantasia by the full band completed the first part of the program. The excellent advantage of the rink are noticed to advantage in a musical rendition of this character, and those in the farthest corner of the hall heard every note as plainly as those nearest to the band.

The first number of the second part of the program was a trio, by Messrs. Bundy, Johnston and Devine, accompanied by Prof. Owen. It was finely rendered by the trio. The next was a beautiful composition, came next, and was the band's best number, being played fullness, a selection from "Il Trovatore," by Mrs. Boehm and Mr. Bundy, was deserved applause and an encore. Messrs. G. Lindholm and John A. Peterson followed with a duett, "The Village."

The instruments were in perfect accord, and the music, though a little difficult, was well rendered.

The fifth number, "Paganini's Wedding March," was sweetly rendered by the vocal quartette. In response to an encore, "The Old Church Bell" was given. A grand duett, "Sweet to Me," rendered by Messrs. Bennett and Peterson with muted instruments, was listened to with pleasure by the audience, and another duett with muted cornets was given in response to an encore.

"Echoes from China" was given by "The Heathens." The band, led by the triangle and played on the classic kazoo, a noted instrument of the Floryland Land. Next they played on the fire: Char Kolo on the trombone; Green Ho on the classic Chinese fiddle; Der Hamm on the "toxicophone," and Du Du beat the tom-tom and did some effective vocal work.

The music rendered was supposed to be an exact counterpart of that furnished by the respective Chinese band, and was the composition of the eminent classical composer and musician, Char Kolo. The audience really appreciated the audacious humor of the thing till the "selection" was half over, but at the end of the number the pipe-called barbarians were called out again with as much applause as, and perhaps more out-calls and whistles, than a well-bred audience should give utterance to. The orchestra played the tune backward and sang the song the same way, according to true Chinese ideas of heavenly harmony and sympathy.

"Gleams of Sunshine," by the band, completed the entertainment. After the audience had partly left the hall the band struck up a stirring melody again. The military appearing snare drummer "got in his work" with the sticks, and the music rendered was supposed to be an exact counterpart of that furnished by the respective Chinese band, and was the composition of the eminent classical composer and musician, Char Kolo. The audience really appreciated the audacious humor of the thing till the "selection" was half over, but at the end of the number the pipe-called barbarians were called out again with as much applause as, and perhaps more out-calls and whistles, than a well-bred audience should give utterance to. The orchestra played the tune backward and sang the song the same way, according to true Chinese ideas of heavenly harmony and sympathy.

"Gleams of Sunshine," by the band, completed the entertainment.

READY FOR THE ORE.

The Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon Better Prepared for the Ore Traffic Than Ever Before.

A Visit to the Car and Machine Shops. Interesting Statements Concerning the Rolling Stock.

The Iron of the Season in Marquette Starting Circles—Harbor Improvements—Great Court Work—Plan Changed.

Through the M. H. & O. Shops. Yesterday afternoon the reporter made a professional visit to the car shops of the M. H. & O., with the intention of learning something about the preparations for this season's ore traffic.

The master car-builder of the company, the master car-builder of the company, the master car-builder of the company, the master car-builder of the company, the master car-builder of the company.

"We have built thirty new ore cars this winter," said Mr. Lyons, referring to his books, "besides rebuilding forty-two and overhauling four hundred, so you can see we've been pretty busy up here.

When asked something about the number of ore cars, Mr. Lyons said that there were 2,884 available for use this season.

The reporter inquired what was meant by "weighting off" the cars.

"Why," replied Mr. Lyons, "each spring every ore car is weighed before it enters the yards and its weight is entered on a chart with the number of the car and then when a trailer ore comes down Judge McCreger, the weight master, takes down the number of the loaded cars and by turning to his chart he can at once tell the weight of the car itself.

Leaving his office, Mr. Lyons conducted the reporter to the car shop and explained the machinery to him.

It is a vertical car tamping machine, and cuts the tamps, double or single, in the ends of car sills without turning; it is made by J. A. Fay & Co., of Cincinnati, who manufacture the best wood-working machines in America.

It saves a wonderful amount of labor as compared with the old method of cutting tamps by hand, doing in a minute what did take an hour or more.

In the car shop, too, all of the painting is done, and men were at work burning the old paint on a passenger coach with gas jets, and then scraping it off.

The Marquette & Western coaches are all being repainted, two of them going on the road for the first time on the iron trail yesterday.

"Come on," said the master car-builder, "and I'll take you to the hospital track."

As the reporter left the shops and followed him up a side track Mr. Lyons explained that there were disabled cars were run for repairs during the busy season.

Mr. Lyons then offered to show the representative of the MINING JOURNAL through the machine shops, and the offer was gladly accepted.

The first entered was the boiler shop, in charge of Mr. Ford. Here the tenders are made, of heavy riveted boiler iron.

Passing on, the reporter was ushered into the blacksmith shop and introduced to Mr. H. B. Dye, the foreman.

He said that he had been men in the shop, while last winter he had only four, and that showed just how much difference there was in the two years.

The next shop is the machine shop and here the representative of the MINING JOURNAL was handed over to the master mechanic of the road, W. A. Mahan.

Lyons then returned to his department, leaving the reporter gravely indebted to him for his courtesy.

Mr. Mahan then showed the repairs in progress on the locomotives. The road owns 32 engines, 19 of which belonged to the Marquette & Western.

off their wheels, some having the tires turned. The road owns Baldwin, Taunton, Rogers and Dickson engines. The first seven 45-ton Baldwin Moguls, one of the fleet things about the Baldwin standard locomotive is that the parts are interchangeable and if one part gives out it can be replaced from any other engine not in use.

The number of engines has been doubled since 1870, but the capacity of the shops has not been increased. They can now repair two engines a month.

The different makes, of course, require different patterns, and this makes the repairing more difficult than it would be if there was but one style.

Manager Donkersley introduced the Grand engineer, Mr. Morrill, the Taunton; Mr. Schock preferred the Taunton, but could not get them built when wanted, so took the Rogers. Thanking him for his information, the reporter said: "Good afternoon," Mr. Mahan, and started back with a much better idea of the magnitude and importance of the M. H. & O. shops than he ever had before.

All with whom he spoke were agreed in saying that there has never before been so much work done at the shops as has been done this season.

Mr. Lyons has been forty men busy in the car shops, as compared with fifteen last winter. The rolling stock has received a thorough overhauling, and the M. H. & O. is prepared to handle a greater traffic this coming season than ever before in the history of the road, all of which speaks highly for the present management.

The reporter was looking around for some yesterday afternoon when a friend met him and said that there was going to be a contest with soft gloves between two local sports, strictly private, to take place in a room down town at 11 o'clock.

He at once laid in an extra supply of note books and, availing himself of his invitation, proceeded to take in the scrapping match.

He found the pugilists clad in airy apparel surrounded by a few friends and awaiting the beginning of the ceremonies. At 11:05 the referee called time for the first round, and shaking hands, the men stepped back and gazed bashfully at each other from opposite sides of the ring.

After a moment, the gentleman alighted in response to the whispers of his second, advanced and manifested a disposition to put a toe on the opponent's ear but missed his mark by about a foot, simply striking an attitude. His shiny adversary, the terror of the town, countered heavily and striking his Sansonean biceps on the shoulder, knocked him out of the ring, or to explain, out of the platform.

This ended the first round and for some minutes the battle-holders were kept busy, while the two gladiators glared at each other from opposite sides of the ring.

The second round was almost a repetition of the first, but was even more exciting. After a moment, the gentleman alighted in response to the whispers of his second, advanced and manifested a disposition to put a toe on the opponent's ear but missed his mark by about a foot, simply striking an attitude.

In the third round the men and the battle-holders "came up snuffing," and manifested a disposition to keep on snuffing. Finally the ceremony was waived for the time being and both advanced and pounded the air with considerable spirit.

for the addition to their popular hospitality. As a result of their "visit the plans will be changed so as to call for four stories, instead of three, which will give Hancock a fine hotel as there is in the copper country.

REPORTORIAL PENALTIENS. Next Saturday evening the Alerts will play the tough and ready polo team at the Casino.

Charlie Johnson, of Hook River, was in the city yesterday. He is now pitting his legs into the river and expects to begin his drive next week.

Arch street men made an attack on the snow-covered sidewalks along the line yesterday, and did great execution at short range. Their example might well be followed on Blaker street.

Captain George Jackson died at his home in Cleveland on Sunday. He was a sailor, every inch of him, and the bluff, gentlemanly old captain will long be remembered by his many friends in this city, as well as elsewhere.

How's this: Duluth papers state that the harbor there is open so that the tugs can move about, while here there is no sign of a break in the ice fetters which bind the waters of old Superior. Can it be that Duluth's "absolute grip on the unsalted seas" has scared out Jack Frost?

Penalties think that some Marquette men are rushing the season. Yesterday he saw one at work who was sporting a straw hat last night his horrified gaze rested on one who was calmly working at the case clad in a green and a chunk of ice-throwing. Just behind a little there may be something blizzard yet.

To-morrow evening the fast skaters, Lepponen and La Fontaine, will skate at the Casino for a purse of $25. After the race Mr. La Fontaine will give an exhibition of trick and fancy skating, in which time he is said to be among the best. When he skated at Decatur, last Saturday, he was called the best fancy skater who had ever visited that place.

A foot ball eleven has been organized at the Lake Superior Carriage works, to be known as the Lake Superior Carriage works team. John Bell is captain; John Charlton, vice-president; John Vignier, treasurer; Arthur Richardson, secretary and manager.

The game will be played according to the established rules and in a scientific manner. It occurs to Penalties that some one ought not to organize a team and challenge the L. S. C. boys, who'll do it.

If some one don't "kick a tooth out" they'll break their precious neck on the apology for a sidewalk in front of the foundations for Dyre's and Mahan's blocks. Yesterday a gentleman called Penalties' attention to the trap laid there, and while he was talking about the danger, a man came down the street and was thrown headlong by one of the loose planks tipping up with him.

The walk should be made safe there, at once; if anyone should be injured as it were, it is a pity that the insurance would be the inevitable result.

PERSONAL MENTION. Mrs. P. P. Wetmore is reported to be quite ill. J. M. Case returned yesterday via the C. & N. W. E. M. Watson returned from an extended business trip yesterday.

Hon. Tim Newby is again on the wing; he left for Chicago yesterday. J. H. Devereux, of Houghton, is in the city, and is a guest at the Memorial. The party form of ex-Deputy Collector McViehe was seen in the city yesterday.

John H. Gordon and Charles Linder, of Hancock, dined at the Clifton yesterday. N. J. Warner, of Lathrop, registered at the Clifton yesterday. He is a log lumberman there. Capt. T. D. Blanchard left the city yesterday on business. He started on the noon mail train.
