THE CRISIS REACHED.

The Venerable President of the French Republic at Last Forced To The Wall.

HIS RESIGNATION READ IN THE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES.

A Congress Called at Versailles To-Day To Select His Successor—Sullivan Sentenced To Two Months In Prison.

FRANCE.

PRESIDENT GREY'S RESIGNATION.

PARIS, Dec. 2.—The crisis in the affairs of the republic of France was reached to-day on the thirty-sixth anniversary of coup d'etat of Louis Napoleon. Shortly after daylight thousands of people were on the streets, flocking toward the chamber of deputies, and at 1 p. m. the building was completely surrounded by crowds that stopped traffic in the vicinity. The announcement that M. Grevy had last evening announced that he would resign the presidency added to the excitement. At 1:30 p. m. President Grevy's resignation was sent to the senate and chamber of deputies, with instructions that it be read immediately at the opening of the sitting of the chamber. At 2:25 p. m. the reading of resigning the presidency of the republic was finished in the chamber of deputies. In it M. Grevy says he regards the votes taken in the senate and chamber of deputies yesterday as a decisive demonstration necessitating his resignation. The deputies received the message with profound silence. M. Flouquet read a letter from the president of the senate summoning a congress of the two chambers at Versailles to-morrow for the purpose of electing a new president. The sitting then closed amid cries of "Vive la Republique."

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

TEXT OF THE MESSAGE.

The text of M. Grevy's message of resignation is as follows: "So long as I had only to contend with the difficulties that have accumulated in my path, the attacks of the press, the abstention of the men whom the public voice called to my side, and the increasing impossibility to form a ministry, I struggled on and remained where duty led me. But at the moment when public opinion, better informed, marked a change which gave me hope of forming a government, the senate and chamber of deputies voted a double resolution which, under the form of an adjournment to a fixed hour to await the president's promised message, is tantamount to summoning the president to resign. It would be

MY DUTY AND RIGHT TO RESIST,

but under the circumstances in which we are placed a conflict between the executive and parliament might entail consequences which restrain me. Wisdom and patriotism command me to yield. I leave to those who assume it the responsibility for such a precedent and for the events that may ensue. I relinquish with regret, but not without sadness, the dignity to which I have been twice raised without solicitation, and in the exercising of which I feel conscious I have done my duty. To this I call France to witness.

FRANCE WILL SAY

that for nine years my government has secured to the country peace, order and liberty; has made France respected throughout the world, has worked unflinchingly to raise her, and in the midst of an armed Europe, leaves her in a condition to defend her rights; further, that it has been able to keep the republic in a wise internal course marked out by the interests and wishes of the country. France will say that in return for this I have been removed from the post where her confidence placed me. In leaving politics

I FORM BUT ONE WISH.

It is that the republic may not be struck blows aimed at myself but that it may issue triumphant from the dangers it is made to incur. I place on the bureau of the chamber of deputies my resignation of the functions of president of the French republic."

In pursuance of the order to generals to rejoin their commands General Boulanger has returned to Clermont-Ferrand, his headquarters. His departure from Paris was unnoticed. The general aspect of Paris at 4:30 o'clock was quiet.

EVENING.—On a pretext that the republic was threatened

and socialists, followed by a big crowd composed of all elements, started for the Hotel de Ville. The police charged the mob, which retailed with a volley of stones. A number of persons were wounded. The mob was dispersed. A number of members of the two chambers held a session the afternoon for the purpose of balloting for president preparatory to the election by the congress at Versailles to-morrow. The second ballot resulted, 338 senators and deputies voting: M. De Freycinet 190 votes; M. Brisson 84; M. Sad-Carnot 27; M. Flouquet 26; M. Ferry 11; only members of the republican groups took part in the ballots.

MIDNIGHT.—There was much less excitement to-night than on the previous night. Knots of curious people collected from time to time but were easily dispersed. A few persons received slight injuries in scuffles with the police. The senators and the moderate deputies generally abstained from taking part in to-day's balloting. The plenary meeting to be held at Versailles to-morrow morning will afford a better indication of the final result.

IRELAND.

SULLIVAN GOES TO PRISON.

DUBLIN, Dec. 2.—The second trial of Lord Mayor Sullivan for printing in his paper reports of suppressed branches of the National League took place to-day and resulted in his conviction. Mr. Sullivan was sentenced to two months imprisonment, but without labor. The lord mayor took his seat on the bench in the court of assizes and kept it until the commission was read. He then made a formal protest against the omission of his name and withdrew from the court. After leaving the court Mr. Sullivan was conveyed in a cab to Richmond prison. Immense crowds gathered in the streets and the lord mayor was cheered along the whole route. There were a number of conflicts between the police and people. Mr. Sullivan will be treated in prison as a first-class misdemeanant.

DONE TO CRIPPLE THE LEAGUE.

DUBLIN, Dec. 2.—The arrest of Mr. Harrington is regarded in nationalist circles as an attempt to cripple the league. He has been the principal director since the arrest of Mr. O'Brien and the departure of Mr. Dillon on a tour of England and Scotland. It is stated that Mr. Harrington can prove that he has had no connection with any paper for five years. Upon Mr. Harrington's arrival at Tralee he was met by an immense crowd. There was a collision between the crowd and police. The latter charged the crowd, using their batons freely, and injuring many. Mr. Harrington is out on bail. It is rumored that Mr. Healy has been arrested.

GOT THE BROTHER NOW.

DUBLIN, Dec. 2.—Timothy Harrington, member of parliament for the Harbor Division of Dublin, was arrested to-day in this city. He is a brother of Edward Harrington, member of parliament, who was arrested yesterday. The Harrington brothers are both charged with publishing reports of meetings of suppressed branches of the league in their papers.

ENGLAND.

DENIES THE STATEMENT.

LONDON, Dec. 2.—Lord Salisbury writes to the Times denying a statement made by Mr. Bradlaugh to the effect that Lord Salisbury provided money in connection with a meeting held in Trafalgar square in 1886.

DIFFERENT WAYS OF LOOKING AT IT.

LONDON, Dec. 2.—The Daily News says: "The imprisonment of Lord Mayor Sullivan is a national scandal. He is a man of the highest character, both publicly and privately. The question which the people of Great Britain are asking in shame and anger is, What manner of law is this which converts such men into criminals." The Standard says: "We are sincerely sorry for Mr. Sullivan. But if he is a prisoner the faults are only his own and a painful duty of the government, but it was the only way clear for them to do."

GERMANY.

BERLIN, Dec. 2.—Germany and Austria have renewed the commercial treaty for a period of six months with the understanding that it shall tacitly continue after that time. Germany has partially abandoned here opposition to the Austrian export bounties on sugar and spirits.

BULGARIA.

IN HER SON'S INTEREST.

BUCHAREST, Dec. 2.—Princess Clementine, the mother of Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria, will visit the king of Roumania after leaving Sofia. Her mission is to secure the king's recognition of her son as Bulgaria's ruler.

SPAIN.

MARTOS RE-ELECTED.

MADRID, Dec. 2.—Senor Martos has been re-elected president of the house of deputies.

THE LEHIGH STRIKE.

Foreigners To Be Imported To Take The Places of Striking Miners.

CARBONDALE, Pa., Dec. 2.—News of the Lehigh strike received here to-day is that 2,000 Belgian miners have been employed in the old country to come to this country for the purpose of working the mines of R. B. Cox. If the Belgians come there will be bloodshed in the Lehigh region, for the men there feel that they might as well die fighting as starve to death on the wayside in midwinter, for if they are driven out of the Lehigh field they will be discriminated against and blacklisted by every boss in the anthracite valleys of Pennsylvania, and they will not be able to find work anywhere.

Granted a Franchise.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 2.—The secretary of state has granted an incorporation license to the Peoria & Michigan Railway company, which proposed to construct a railroad from Peoria, Ill., to the state line of Wisconsin. The principal business office will be in Chicago, and the capital stock will be $3,000,000. Chicago men are the incorporators.

A Fatal Explosion.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 2.—The locomotive of a freight train on the Philadelphia & Reading railroad exploded this morning near East Mahanoy Junction. Alexander Walker, the engineer, was instantly killed and the fireman and two brakemen so seriously hurt that they died while being taken home. The victims all lived at Tamaqua.

BANKER HARPER'S TRIAL.

Bank Examiner Powell Tells the Story of His Closing the Bank.

BRIGGS SWIFT ON THE STAND.

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 2.—The Harper trial opened to-day with the usual crowd of spectators. Mr. Schofield, of the First National bank of New York, explained the accounts of his bank with the Fidelity, stating, among other things, that the Fidelity's general account showed a credit of $500,000, while its special account showed a deficit of $500,000. But he answered to the court that it was an agreement that the special account was not to be drawn upon. Bank-examiner Powell, who was the government's agent in closing the doors of the Fidelity last June told his story—how he was begged by Harper to pass the examination, and was then asked to telegraph to the comptroller of currency for authority to not make the examination, but he still refused. He then found the tell tale memorandum checks as cash representing $600,000. Briggs Swift, the president, said he never knew of it till then. Harper, when asked for an explanation, shrugged his shoulders and walked away in silence.

BRIGGS SWIFT TESTIFIES.

When the district attorney called Briggs Swift there was a murmur of expectation for this is the name of the venerable president of the late Fidelity bank. A tall, straight man, with white hair and beard, both scanty, walked with almost a youthful step to the witness stand. This was Briggs Swift, a man who has lived more than his three score years and ten, and who has spent all of his business life in Cincinnati with never so much as a stain upon his business integrity until the merciless hand of the government placed an indictment upon its records against him along with Harper and other officers of the bank. There are few business men in Cincinnati who could conceive of Briggs Swift

DOING A DISHONORABLE ACT.

and there was much curiosity as to how he would talk when called as a witness. Almost the first question produced laughter. He was asked if he knew his bank was engaged in a wheat deal. "I did not," was his answer. He then went on to say that he asked Harper in January last if he was in the wheat deal and Harper said he had not a dollar in it. "Later I sent him a letter asking the same question and he replied by letter saying he had no interest whatever in the matter, and if any man said he had he was a liar." Afterwards I often spoke to him about it, and he always

CONTRADICTED THE RUMORS

that he was in the deal. When the public began to suspect the Fidelity bank and I wanted to restore confidence, I went to the bank with Mr. Richard Smith, of the Gazette, who has known me for years, and together we catechised Harper on the subject. We put him on the stand and he denied it. Then Mr. Smith upon my assurance, and upon Harper's express statement, wrote an editorial denying that the Fidelity bank was mixed up in the affair. This was but a few days before the failure."

SENSIBLE AS USUAL.

Powderly Gives a Few Pointers To The Kicking Knights on Organizing a Separate Order.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—The Journal of United Labor of Philadelphia contains a second letter to-day from Mr. Powderly on the "Works of Knighthood." In the course of its three columns he says: "When I hear men talk of seceding from the organization, with the threat of starting an improved order, I fancy that they know but little of the trials, the dangers and the odds against which they will have to contend, and I feel that the amount of energy necessary to build up a new order, would if properly applied to the old one, would make it invincible. It is true that in the old organization all who aspire cannot be officers—all who pull wires cannot succeed in getting a position; but it is equally true that if they secede and if they succeed in building up a new order, they only make it possible for other men to pull wires and aspire to the place which they continually hope to secure for themselves. If in the new order they succeed better than in the old one and secure offices, they do so only to find at their elbows men who, like themselves, will stop at nothing mean or low to compass their end."

THE COPPER MARKET.

Prices Advancing—Stocks Going Up—Sent Against the C. & H. Threatened.

BOSTON, Dec. 2.—Copper has been very active here to-day and prices advanced to 15, 50 for lake ingot, which sales at 15, 35 for December delivery. The copper stocks have all been listless, and several that have not been dealt in for years came in for a share of business and in every instance considerable advance was recorded. News from the Calumet & Hecla mine is still unfavorable and to the effect that three shafts are closed, and a French syndicate has threatened suit for failure to deliver a contract. The Calumet & Hecla people claim they are excused by fire from making deliveries.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—To-day's dealings in the metal exchange were very large. It is estimated that private transactions amounted to fully 200,000 pounds. The exchange business in copper was also very heavy. It is stated that private transactions amounted to 215,000 pounds.

A Democratic Caucus.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—A caucus of democratic senators was held to-day to which an informal report of the caucus committee was submitted respecting the admission of Senators Turpie of Indiana, and Faulkner, of West Virginia. The matter was discussed at considerable length, but as several members of the caucus were absent, no line of action was sketched, and the further discussion of the subject was put over to to-morrow at 12 o'clock, to which hour the caucus adjourned.

READY FOR CONGRESS.

President Cleveland's Annual Message To The Nation's Solons Finished.

A FEW OF THE RECOMMENDATIONS TO BE MADE FORESHADOWED.

Some Suggestions on The Emigration Question—Little To Say on The Tariff. A Long Document.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND'S MESSAGE. DISCUSSED BY THE CABINET.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—A Washington special to the Tribune to-day says the president has submitted to the cabinet a rough draft of his forthcoming annual message to congress. It was fully and freely discussed yesterday for nearly four hours, and was again submitted to-day to the cabinet in the form in which it is to be sent to congress. Meanwhile speculation is rife as to the contents of what will probably be one of the longest official documents ever written by Mr. Cleveland. Those who know say that it will contain approximately 22,000 words. From excellent sources it is ascertained that Mr. Bayard's department will absorb

THE LION'S SHARE. He will announce in the first place either the result of the labors of the fisheries commission, or the fact that they are still at work. There is an impression that the commission will sit to-morrow for the last time. It indicates that the negotiation of a new treaty has been found impracticable, a result said to be favored by Mr. Bayard who is represented as despairing of getting a treaty acted upon by the senate in its present temper. What the president will probably be able to announce in his message is that

THE COMMISSION HAS AGREED upon an interpretation of the treaty of 1818; a revision of the naturalization laws; the establishment of a central bureau for the registration of naturalized citizens, and a hint as to the advisability of restricting by federal statute immigration of an undesirable kind; and among the topics discussed by the president, in view of the recent anarchist demonstrations in various parts of the country, regarding the tariff and other questions of finance, the president will have little to say, the present plan being, it is said, to let the secretary of the treasury

DEAL WITH BOTH QUESTIONS in his annual report. In a general and very guarded way the president recommends, it is understood, a liberal enlargement of the free list, mentioning by name, however, none of the articles which in his opinion ought to be placed thereon. Upon the wording of this part of the message much care and attention have been bestowed. Among those to whom it has been read, outside of the members of the cabinet, are Messrs. Carlisle, Scott and Watterson. Mr. Randall has been given no opportunity to inspect it.

A MODIFICATION OF THE BANKING LAWS amended in the manner proposed by the controller of the currency is recommended. The president, it is thought, will in a cautious way recommend a liberal system of appropriations for the improvement of the Mississippi. He will likewise suggest, it is believed, that appropriations for this river be made separately, and not as heretofore in the river and harbor bill, which he has always regarded as an object of suspicion more or less. The repeal of the preemption acts is urged in the strongest terms. The necessity of preserving the national forests is also pointed out. The Pacific railroads, it is understood, will be the subject of a special message to congress later on.

STUCK IN THE ICE. Five Steamers Ice Bound at Mud Lake—The Soo Canal Closed.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Dec. 2.—News was received here this morning from the ice bound vessels in Mud Lake. The propeller Gilchrist has lost her rudder and is leaking badly; the Alverson, Avery, Fisk and Hawgood have no accidents but are still hard bound. The ice has increased to ten inches thick. The City of Traverse returned here this afternoon, not damaged. The Alberta is at Garden river storm bound by a strong southeasterly snow.

St. Marys Falls canal closed at 6 P. M. No further vessel passage this season. CHEBOYGAN, Mich., Dec. 2.—The steamers Jas. Fisk, Waverly, Gilchrist and others are reported fast in the ice at Mud Lake and in danger of being cut through as the ice is over six inches thick. The tug Mocking Bird has been ordered to leave here at once to assist them out.

Fatal Flames. BROOKVILLE, Kas., Dec. 1.—Six business houses and three dwellings burned here at 1 o'clock this morning. Four men, fireman Lowry, of Wamego, brakeman Hartigan, of Wamego, Mr. Farnsworth, of Lincoln, Indiana, and an entirely unknown man were burned to death. Charles Loss, of Tower Springs, Kas., was badly burned and will probably die. The guests of the hotel were obliged to jump from the second story windows. Loss, $28,000.

The Andersoff Trial. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 2.—The rebuttal testimony on behalf of the state was continued this morning in the Hadcock case. A large number of witnesses were introduced to impeach Peterson, alias Juhl, the alleged eye witness, who testified for the defense.

Exonerating Parker. NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—The executive committee of Plymouth church has ordered a resolution exonerating the Rev. Dr. Parker from all blame in the Beecherology matter.

Estimate of the Cotton Crop. NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Dwyer's estimate of the cotton crop of the country for the current year

CONDITION OF TRADE.

Corners Everywhere—Speculation Very Active—Legitimate Dealers Cautious.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW. NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—R. G. Dun & Co. in their weekly review of trade say: Speculative booming and commercial embarrassments and uncertainties connected with the meeting of congress have made up the week. In nearly all the speculative markets there is furious excitement, corners abound and artificial advances are forced by powerful cliques, aided by abundance of money. But prices check legitimate business, industries are hesitating and monetary stringency at many points results in slow collections and some important failures. At Denver collections are fair and money in increased and sharp demand; at Kansas City

COLLECTIONS ARE DULL and money close; at St. Paul collections are fairly satisfactory and at Milwaukee the demand is urgent, the market stringent, and collections somewhat backward. At Cincinnati banks have no money for outsiders and the market is close at 6 to 7 per cent. At Cleveland deposits improve but money is still close. At Philadelphia collections are somewhat slow, heavy blocks of paper await sales and considerable New York paper is being offered. The dry goods trade is moderate as usual for the season without improvement in woollens. The boot and shoe trade is in good shape, but leather is dull, and hides depressed. There is a large volume of business in groceries.

IRON STILL HESITATES. Though best grades are scarce and prices at Pittsburgh tend lower for all grades except charcoal. In bar iron there is a perceptible shrinkage of demand. Nails are dull and lower, and steel rail buyers hold off. The halting in the market for securities continues partly because of foreign sales, partly the result of rate disputes, and partly because late returns show nearly as large an increase in expenses as in earnings. The wheat market has risen two cents and corn as much with great excitement. A boom in pork products lifted prices, but has met a reaction. In all directions speculation is marked by that excited activity which renders legitimate dealers cautious. The business failures during the last seven days number for the United States 215, and for Canada 29; or a total of 244 as compared with 207 last week, and 212 the corresponding week last year.

THE SPOT CHOSEN. The Bodies of the Executed Reds to be Placed in Greenwood Cemetery.

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—The bodies of Lingg, Spies, Parsons, Engel and Fischer will be quietly transferred from the vault at Waldheim to Greenwood, and the formal burial services will be held on Sunday. It is the intention of the committee to make an imposing demonstration on that occasion. Excursion trains will be run, and an elaborate program will be carried out. It is anticipated that several thousand dollars will be added to the monument fund and that the speakers will have an opportunity to express their sentiments unrestricted by the police. Greenwood cemetery is situated between the east of Morgan park, and lies between One Hundred and Seventh and One Hundred and Eleventh streets. It is conducted strictly upon the unsectarian plan and has been established since 1880.

COUGHLIN TO HANG. The Jury Returns a Verdict of Guilty of Murder in the First Degree.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 2.—The case of John Coughlin, indicted for the murder of detective Holligan, was given to the jury at Ravenna at 2 o'clock this afternoon. At 3:25 a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree was returned. The result was reached on the first ballot, but the members of the jury sat down afterwards and talked the entire case over. The verdict created some sensation and Coughlin took on pretty hard. A motion for a new trial was filed at once and court adjourned until Monday next when the case of James Robinson will be taken up. The case with which Morgan and Coughlin were convicted has frightened Robinson's friends and every effort will be made to get a change of venue for him.

MISSING SIX DAYS. The Three Men, Lost in the Gale of Last Saturday, Picked Up by the Gazelle.

ST. IGNACE, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Indians bring the report to this place that the tug Gazelle found the three unfortunate men, whose loss last Saturday was telegraphed to the MINING JOURNAL, badly frozen on St. Martin's Island. They went out to pick up flour from the wrecked steamer Waverly and were caught in the gale. The masts of their boat were broken off and after drifting around at the mercy of the storm they were finally cast on the island where they subsisted on flour. They have been missing six days and had been given up for lost by everyone here.

The Government's Wards. Sisseton Agency, Dak., Dec. 2.—Special agent Lightner who has been here since August, has completed the work of allotting lands in severalty to the Indians of this reserve. Indian inspector Pearson, who has been for a week inspecting Uncle Sam's affairs here left for Washington yesterday. It is hinted that his report will show up considerable rottenness in the government school. The charges against the superintendent are of a serious character.

Killed by Her Paramour. PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 2.—A quarrel took place this evening in Italy, between a man and woman in a tenement house on South Seventh street in which Mary Shields, 30 years of age was stabbed through the heart by her paramour, an Italian named Pedano.

Weather Indications. WASHINGTON, Dec. 3, 1 A. M.—The signal service notes the following as the predictions for the next thirty-six hours: For Michigan, warmer, threatening weather, with snow or rain, fresh to brisk winds, generally southerly.

Suffocated by Coal Gas. ABERDEEN, Dak., Dec. 2.—Daniel McClellan and D. J. Jones, two young men of Stausville, were suffocated by coal gas yesterday morning. McClellan was dead when found, and Jones' recovery is doubtful.

King Fish, the Racer, Dead. NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Dwyer Brothers celebrated two-year-old racer, "King Fish," died last night.

CHAT ABOUT A SINGER.

P. T. BARNUM'S RECOLLECTIONS OF THE "SWEDISH NIGHTINGALE."

Jenny Lind's Kindness of Heart Illustrated—Her Daughter's Voice—Teaching the Great Showman a Lesson. Profits of Her American Trip.

P. T. Barnum, who is spending a few weeks in the city, gave a reporter some interesting reminiscences of Jenny Lind a few days ago. "My autobiography," said the veteran showman, "gives nearly all that I can say about Jenny Lind. Her natural impulses were most noble and good. I never met a person so susceptible to the wants, needs or sufferings of others. I could at any time make her tears flow by relating some case of want, and her dollars would flow freely with her tears. She could not bear the thought of 'passing by on the other side,' when she could relieve the sorrow of any being, however humble."

Mr. Barnum told a touching story of an incident that occurred when Jenny was singing in Boston. "A poor working girl," he said, "thrust $3 into the hands of the ticket seller at the Boston Temple for a back seat at Jenny's concert. On receiving the ticket she said: 'There goes my wages for one week, but I must hear that good angel sing.' Jenny's secretary, her cousin, Max Hjortzberg, heard the remark and immediately went to the greengrocer and laughingly told it to Jenny. 'I shall never forget how she jumped to her feet and exclaimed: 'Oh, this must not be! Poor girl, she shall not lose her money! It is wicked! Max, take this money—handing him a twenty dollar gold piece—search out that dear creature and put it in her hands with my love. God bless her!' Cousin Max found the girl, gave her the money and message, and witnessed a flood of grateful tears from the working girl's eyes. If she is alive today she will remember it."

HER KINDEST REGARDS. "When I was struggling against the Jerome clock debt, in 1858," Mr. Barnum went on, "I took my wife and children to London. One day Jenny's husband, Otto Goldsmith, called on me and said: 'Mrs. Lind, hearing of your financial misfortune, desired me to call on you and say if a few hundred pounds, or a thousand, will serve to relieve your present wants, I am to hand it to you with her kindest regards. We are now living in Dresden, and my wife says if you will take your family there she will gladly do so. I have apartments at a low rate, and we shall both be glad to render you any service we can.' The kind offer was declined with thanks, but it shows the charitable character of this most angelic woman."

"She has two children, the elder a son. The mother died in 1860, and the father died told me he believed if cultivated would prove equal to her mother's. 'But,' he added, 'her parents are rich, and have no ambition to have her attain musical renown, which would involve such arduous study and practice.'"

"Her share of profits in our musical campaign, in 1850 and 1851, was $208,675.00. She sang in ninety-three concerts. She was worth over $1,000,000 when she left the United States in 1851, and this sum has been increased by occasional concerts in Great Britain, and by the judicious investments of her husband."

"Kind and lady like as Jenny Lind was, she had a horror of meeting strangers, and I will tell you this story, though it is against myself. During the first few weeks of our engagement I introduced to her numbers of ladies and gentlemen who desired to see her. She frequently intimated to me that it was displeasing to her, but I was anxious to gratify the people who so persistently sought an introduction."

INTRODUCING A STRANGER. "One morning at the continental hotel in Philadelphia, an esteemed friend called on me and asked for an introduction to the 'Swedish Nightingale.' I told her how glad I would be to gratify her, but these introductions of strangers were very annoying to Miss Lind, and I finally decided to go and ask her permission. 'Oh, do please do so just this once, for I am dying to speak to her,' urged my friend, and at last I reluctantly consented to ask her permission."

"Miss Lind," I said, "I know you dislike to have me introduce strangers simply because they are friends of mine, and I know many such requests daily, but a particular lady friend of my family is waiting in the reception room, very anxious to speak a few words with you."

"Jenny surprised me by saying with a pleasant smile, 'Dear Mr. Barnum, how can I refuse you anything! Bring up your lady friend immediately, by all means.'"

"I hastened down stairs, brought up the lady, and was delighted to introduce her. Jenny bowed and received her graciously, then pointed to a chair and they both were seated. Jenny's face once assumed a sober aspect as she said: 'Madam, I do not know what to say to you; we are perfect strangers. You have come only to gratify, and to idle curiosity; what can I say?'"

"I was shocked to hear this, and to see my friend turn as red as scarlet when she tried to make some excuse. 'Oh, do not apologize,' said Jenny; 'I do not blame you half as much as I do Mr. Barnum. I have warned him often, and now I am compelled to give him this severe lesson, which I am determined he shall never forget.'"

"It is needless to say that I never did forget it, nor, seeing the justice of Jenny's position, did I ever repeat the offense."

"How long has it been since Jenny Lind gave any concert?" was asked. Mr. Barnum replied, "She gave many for charities in England that were never known to the public. The tickets were sold privately, always at a guinea each, and the hall was always filled. During the last year that she sang, all her concerts were for the benefit of poor clergymen."—New York Tribune.

NATIONAL BANKS.

The Comptroller of the Currency Talks About Their Value, Etc.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The twenty-fifth annual report of the comptroller of the currency shows that the total number of national banks organized up to October 31 is 3,805, of which 625 have gone into involuntary liquidation and 119 have failed. The total number of new banks opened during the year is 225, and the total number closed thirty-three, of which twenty-five went into voluntary liquidation and eight failed. The net increase in national bank capital for the year is $2,572,325. There is a net decrease of $50,495,590 in the circulation represented by bonds.

Very full statistics have been collected about the state banks, savings banks, loan and trust companies, and private banks and bankers throughout the country.

The suggestions made by the comptroller as to amended laws are set forth at considerable length. The most important changes recommended is that the minimum amount of bonds to be deposited as security for circulation shall be ten per cent of the capital of banks of not over $250,000 and $25,000 for banks of which the capital exceeds $250,000.

He also recommends that national bank notes be counted as a part of the lawful reserve of the banks. The existing provisions of the law as to the responsibility of officers and directors of banks are modified so as to avoid existing obstacles to their prompt and certain enforcement. The restriction upon banks as to making loans in excess of 10 per cent of the capital to any party, is modified in respect to loans upon collateral security and the total limit is raised to 20 per cent of the capital and surplus.

The Malsters' Strike Proves a Fizzle. The restriction upon banks as to making loans in excess of 10 per cent of the capital to any party, is modified in respect to loans upon collateral security and the total limit is raised to 20 per cent of the capital and surplus.

AFFAIRS MUNICIPAL.

Negaunee's Common Council Meets and Disposes of the Customary Crisp of Business—A Wedding and a Death—Personal Movements.

The Council Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the common council was held at the council chamber Thursday evening. There were present Mayor Kirkwood, Aldermen Lee, Hoch, Calligan, Thoren and O'Leary.

Alderman Lee reported that he had made some purchases for the equipment of the jail, and had also ordered some storm windows to be put on.

Mayor Kirkwood stated that he had investigated the bill of Girard & Montsette and found it correct.

The street commissioner reported that the culvert had been completed and that it had been very substantially built. Members of the committee on streets, highways and bridges reported that they had examined it and found it to be entirely satisfactory.

The report of the night watchmen showed that at various times during the past month there had been fourteen street lamps unlighted. A motion was made and carried that the bill of the Negaunee Gas Light Co. be allowed, less the price of fourteen lights.

A large number of bills were audited, allowed and ordered paid. The bill of the Negaunee Gas Light Co. for a damaged lamp post was returned.

George McComber's bill for fixing the suction pipe was allowed less $10. Alderman Hoch explained that Mr. McComber was unable to perform the work according to contract, but that he had agreed to finish the job in the spring for $10.

The marshal was instructed to notify the representatives of the railway companies not to permit street crossings to be obstructed by trains, and he was also instructed to vigorously enforce the law regarding such obstructions.

Mayor Kirkwood stated that the city treasurer had filed bonds to the amount of $40,000 with the city and to the amount of $25,000 with the county, and recommended that the assessor be notified to transfer the assessment roll to the city treasurer. The assessor, who was present, was given formal notification by the council. The marshal reported that he had collected $1,010 poll tax and had transferred that amount to the city treasurer.

The council then adjourned.

Married, at the residence of Mrs. James A. Root, in this city, on Wednesday, by the Rev. A. S. Fair, Mr. William Stevens, of Marquette, and Miss Louisa Jackson, of McMillan. The wedding was a quiet one, there being but a very few persons present at the ceremony. The newly married couple left shortly after the wedding for their future home down the line of the D., S. S. & A. railway.

The abutments to the old iron bridge at the head of Iron street are being taken down. They were put up very substantially and the men engaged on the job find it difficult to undo the work of its builders.

This is the season of the year when the small boy maketh haste to join the Sunday school and thus he enabled to enjoy the annual Christmas entertainment with attendant presents, pop-corn and candy.

An infant child of A. Distelle died of scarlet fever Thursday night. The funeral will take place to-day from the residence on Pioneer avenue, near the corner of Case street.

During M. C. Quinn's recent visit to Chicago he made extensive purchases for the Bazaar. Full particulars will be given in his advertising space next week.

John Mitchell has sold his interest in the saloon at the corner of Iron and Division streets to his former barkeeper, who is now running the business.

Roy Broad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Broad, died of scarlet fever yesterday afternoon.

Music has been engaged and will be in attendance at the skating rink to-night.

Men are at work putting on the cornice at the new school building.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. D. L. West, of McMillan, is here on a visit.

D. Sutton, of Marquette, was in town yesterday.

S. H. Moore of Davenport, Ia., was in the city yesterday.

John S. Sewell, of Norway, is in the city and will take charge of the George Mitchell mining property.

MARQUETTE, MICH., DECEMBER 3, 1887.

Adding the rail shipments to local furnaces over the D., S. S. & A. line to the lake shipments from the mines of the Marquette range, the total is 1,817,342 gross tons for the season.

A LATE number of the Port Arthur, Ont., Sentinel, mentions the arrival there of Captain Mitchell, of Ontonagon, with a force of miners, to resume work on mineral properties in the North Shore silver district owned by him and Mr. Myers, of Duluth.

Table showing shipments of iron ore to local furnaces by the D., S. S. & A. railroad from Jan. 1st to Dec. 1st, 1887. Lists names of mines and tons shipped.

Below is given a statement showing the shipments of iron ore to local furnaces by the D., S. S. & A. railroad from Jan. 1st to Dec. 1st, 1887.

Since the failure of the Windom-Dorsey combination to take the Gogebic mines known as the Moore, Benjamin & Co. "group," the properties have been in a sadly embarrassed condition, and their stockholders have been endeavoring to hit on some plan by which they might protect their interests in them.

THE GREAT CONNECTING WATERWAY. We take pleasure in reproducing from the Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph this timely editorial urging on the attention of congress the importance of the further enlargement of the facilities for the passage of vessels through St. Mary's river.

Pittsburgh has a stake in commerce in all sections of the United States, and favors the improvement of all waterways, wherever located. Her people are very strongly in favor of the improvement of the Sault Ste. Marie canal at the head of navigation on Lake Superior, because through it is borne a very large proportion of the iron ore needed to supply our furnaces, and any improvement in navigation there will tend to cheapen the cost of transportation of this ore to Pittsburgh.

REALM OF THE DIME.

THE BOWERY AS SEEN DURING AN AFTERNOON STROLL.

What You Can Buy for Ten Cents—Getting Over a Spruce—Flotsam and Jetsam of the Human Tide—Peeps at the Shows.

The Bowery is the realm of the dime. For a dime, having first made your will, you can get one of Fred's dinners, consisting of soup, meat, potatoes, vegetables and coffee. You can get, after buying an accident policy, two unclean shaves for ten cents or one shave with lather and a clean towel. You can buy a lot of chestnuts, fresh roasted at the stands or old and moss-grown in the gaudy temples of Momus. You can buy shoestrings, suspenders or a handkerchief from Samuels
 of Posen of all ages, colors and previous conditions of service. You can get a milk punch with an egg in it, provided you do not exact cow's milk and hen's eggs in your purchase. You will be foolish if you exact them. To enjoy the Bowery you must take it as it is, believe in all its shams, accept its mermaid, give credence to its living statue,
 gaze in wonder at its lobster man and in awe
 at its fat ladies. There is no particular fun to be found in looking behind the cards in any walk in life, and this is true of the Bowery more than of most other places.

Your first dime will go to a young man who approaches you shivering. His hat is wrecked and stained, his shirt very dirty and his clothing in shreds. He has just got over an incident of "the shanks," their dismal horrors having made more hideous
 the gutter in which he reposed while the elevated trains thundered over his head through the long hours of the night. His face is red and his nose shines. "I say, mister," he will say, "give me a dime to get something to eat with, will you? I'm an educated man. Just gettin' over a spruce. I believe in being laconic. Brevity is the soul of wit. What do you think about it?" he nervously rattles off.
 "Do you want a drink?"
 "Yes."
 You give him the dime. He goes for his drink. The white angel of philanthropy, hovering over the Young Men's Christian association opposite, frowns at this encouragement of vice. Nevertheless, you feel that the Roaming Angel will look at the matter differently.

A "chippie" stares at him in scorn as he reels away. The Bowery is the roosting place and feeding ground of the little "chippie."
 They are a prominent part of the flotsam and jetsam in the human tide that ebbs and flows constantly in this great canal in the center of a great city. They are not necessarily disreputable, though they would like to be so, especially so. They slip along the pavements in their sailor hats—fashionable sailor hats, for they live in a country
 in which high and low, rich and poor, and all the other trifles that describe the social extremes, dress according to the same set fashion. The "chippie's" complexion is dull. Her veins are full of the beer that she drank over night in some smoke filled saloon with sawdust on the floor. The "chippie" knows little happiness. Her brow is nigged and unsmooth. In a perpetual state of nervousness, she is in a constant state of the constant weight of her hands.

The fat lady gets her second dime. She is in a museum whose outside is ablaze with paint—red, blue and yellow. On its front are huge and monstrous figures of all kinds of human and animal. As you enter the door of the British museum of scents and a Cosmo collection of smells come trooping at you with the profusion of cherubs in a Vatican fresco.
 The bouquet of the balmy incense, and the essence of the confining little museum, inmingle democratically with the cheap cologne of the Circassian person, and the odor of newly dispensed paint. The fat lady is at her post, or rather on her four paws. She is a handsome fat lady. She has brown eyes, a small mouth and pretty teeth. She has square yards of arm and billows of bust.
 There are feathers in her hair and a circlet
 of brown silk dress about her sylphide figure. She confessedly is a summer, though you inwardly doubt that the most industrious vitality could have reared this structure in twice the time. She is from Ohio, she says, and that explains it. She is unmarried.
 There were twenty-eight fat ladies in the show when she got her medal, she continues,
 and of them all only three are unmarried.
 She chats familiarly with the Circassian
 lady in a red dress and frizzled hair, recently from the Red mountains of Pennsylvania.
 Most of the Circassian ladies come from Pennsylvania. At other times she calls on the tattooed girl across the way, who is rather a pitiful sight. She was a pretty little girl
 before they jabbed needles in her white skin
 and marked her indelibly on legs and arms
 with bluish and unsmooth drawings in red and blue. She has nice eyes and a modest manner. She must have been fair to look at before they made her a perpetual monster-stry. She has a pretty neck, with the symmetrical curve of young womanhood, but the neck now wears a necklace of hideous blue leaves that no autumn ever will alter and only one winter—the enduring one—ever remove. It cost $150, she says. Her father made her do it. Did it hurt? Yes. It hurt
 a good deal, and she was sick for two weeks
 once while it was going on. She takes no pride in it. She endures it, perhaps, to buy her father's gin.

Galatea gets your next dime. She comes to life in another museum. The showman dangles the ball, goes to a square platform with a black screen above it. In the center of the screen is a square hole, and into this
 you gaze while he says:
 "You've all heard, ladies and gentlemen, of the story of Pygmalion and the Galatea. Pyg-malion was an artist, or a sculptor,
 rather, and him bein' pretty conceited couldn't find no woman that he wanted for to marry, so he up an' chiseled a bust, an' the bust was the Galatea. This here is the bust, gentlemen."
 A white light shines in the box and a white bust appears. It is painted life size, in white, on a side of black, and looks quite statuesque. While you stare at its chalky features and closed eyes the showman continues:
 "Pygmalion got stuck on the bust an' set all day a lookin' at it till he got a little loose in the upper story an' prayed to the gods to change the Galatea into a woman. The Galatea will now change into a woman, gentlemen. Watch the color come in her cheeks and the winkin' of her eyes. There's no flies on them eyes, gentlemen. Yer can see for yourselves."
 The white bust fades into a woman's head and neck, wound and loving. She reddens comically, and opens and shuts a pair of startling black eyes very naturally. She does ten cents' worth of smiling as he goes on:
 "Pygmalion wanted for to marry the Galatea, but she wouldn't have it. She was a high roller and he was only a poor artist.
 She wanted some feller that would put up diamonds for her, and consequently she changed back into marble again once more."
 She truly does so. The chalky bust once more in the box and the "Galatea" is pulling on a waterproof behind the scenes, while Pygmalion, in a brown mustache and a cigar,
 waits to take his winking and blushing "Galatea" to dinner.—New York Times.

THE POET.

Verse making was least of my virtues; I rieved
 with despair
 Wealth that never yet was, but might be, all that
 verse making was least of my virtues; I rieved
 with despair
 If the life would but lengthen to wish, let the mind be laid bare.
 So I said: "To do little is bad, to do nothing is worse."
 And made verse. —Robert Browning.

THE SULTANA'S BAND.

Musical Beauties of the Orient—Various Kinds of Dances.

The sultana has a military band. They are Georgian and Circassians. One lady plays the flute, another the horn and a moon faced beauty the trombone, while another fair one, Yildiz by name—meaning the star of the harem—crouches pensively at the feet of a blue eyed, dark haired girl of the Orient, who could not sit down because she must have a monstrous double bass viol. The double bass is a Chaldean. Her cheek is olive, her eyes immense and the fringes of her eyelids astounding. Being of mountain growth, she has a wildness of temper and aspect which nothing but the big double bass can tame.
 They are dressed after the manner of mannish. They wear a tunic and pantaloons of white woolen stuff, faced with blue, and little shakos to match. They are quite martial in their appearance, and perhaps they furnish the hint for many of the fine displays upon our melodramatic stage.

How are they taught music? Some of the masters in the theatres in Constantinople are called in to give lessons. While practicing with her masters, the women use a strip of muslin over the head and shoulders, not always a successful veiling of their charms.
 Not satisfied with the band without utilizing it, the sultana must have a comic dance, then a Turkish dance and a pantomime. A bright girl plays the young hero, who is a Claude Melotte, except that he is a house painter and not a gendarme. There is a heroine and a porter who have a heavy father,
 and a harlequin and a Columbine. To crown
 the whole, a ballet is led by the "Antelope"
 —a beautiful girl of that name. The pantomine is a rendition of European life, but the ballet which follows is more comical than the pantomime. It is realistic. Our artist assists them in its preparation. One of her instructions is, that if a lady drops her handkerchief her partner should pick it up and restore it with a bow and a lady's smile. The ballet provide themselves with gay bandanas,
 and while dancing the mazurka, the galop,
 or the polka, and especially in the quadrille,
 the floor is inconveniently strewn with handkerchiefs. The floor becomes farcically
 European by this extraordinary politeness.
 I do not claim any royalty for any performance which may be suggested by these revelations of the harem, but doubtless many of the most interesting of our light and spectacular dramas are derived from the harem.
 I do not claim any royalty for any perfor-

Danish Rule in Iceland.
 Iceland, with about 200,000 inhabitants, is a Danish possession and supported a constitutional contest against the arbitrary rule of the Danish government until a constitution was granted thirteen years ago. But the popular party and the government still considered it a violation of the constitution. The minister introduced an amendment to the constitution this year, but although the legislative session extended over two months, the committee did not report upon the proposal until a few days previous to the close of the session, when it was rejected. The Danish government refused ratifying it. These and other circumstances render the condition of the poor in Iceland very wretched, and emigration is going on at a great rate. Most of them go to Winnipeg, where they have already established a colony, with a newspaper in their own language. The weather having been very mild this summer in Iceland,
 producing unusually large quantities of hay for their cattle, there will not be so many emigrants as in former years.—
 Chicago News.

Essence shedding of Blood.
 The 23d-Gurhan (Festival of Sacrifice) was celebrated at Teheran on Aug. 30, and it was estimated that 500,000 sheep were killed in the course of the festival. It is the custom for the shah to sacrifice a camel in public, the ceremony being actually performed by one of the princes as deputy for his majesty, and he is vested with the jagheer, or emsign of royalty, which he wears in his hat. This year an unprecedented event occurred. The camel that was to be sacrificed was brought to the palace door to be inspected by the shah, and in the temporary absence of its attendants, it wandered into the corridor through which his majesty was to pass. The shah appeared before the camel could be driven out, and he was so much touched by its beseeching expression that his majesty ordered not only that it should be spared, but that, in reward for its sagacity
 in seeking the sanctuary of the shah's hall,
 it should be given comfortable quarters for life in the royal menagerie.

Another camel was then brought, which was slain at a stroke by the shah's deputy,
 who was richly clad and covered with jewels.
 Small portions of the skin and flesh were carried into the palace, where the shah received them in state; but directly the royal cortege
 vanished, the remainder of the still quivering carcass was literally torn to pieces by the people, every one endeavoring to get a bit of the flesh, as it is considered lucky to eat it.—
 Cleveland Leader.

A North American Jaunt.
 Our transatlantic friends are making much ado over the opening of a parlor car express service between Galois and Lisbon, a little matter of some 1,100 miles.
 It is a very commonplace thing for an American to slip aboard a Pullman at the Grand Central station, and to get off a few days afterwards at the City of Mexico, considerably over 3,000 miles away.
 This is a great country, indeed, and after the Europeans have roamed their little acre,
 they should come over here and learn something about traveling.—New York Evening World.

China's Practical Religion.
 The Chinese are very practical in their religious ideas. If a god whose basis it is to bring rain overdoes it and causes a deluge,
 they take him out of the Joss house and set him down in the shower. If this fails to make him dry up they go to the extremity of toasting him behind a boat in the river to convince him that too much of a good thing
 is as bad as too little.—San Francisco Alta.

The Celebrated Chapin Mine Case Settled Before Trial for Cash.

BANFIELD AND HIS SUCCESSFUL ATTORNEYS RETURN TO MARQUETTE.

Will Move Next Week—November Weather, Anna River Brick Yards—Where the Lying Comes In.

Compromised. A case which has attracted wide attention among mining men, and which was set down for trial yesterday in the circuit court at Menominee, was compromised by the payment of a handsome sum to the complainant by the defendants. It was the case of Rev. John A. Banfield, formerly of Marquette, now of Tacoma, W. T., against Henry A. Chapin and the Menominee Mining company, the claim being to a half interest in the fee of the celebrated Chapin mine, on the Menominee range, together with one-half of all the royalties received therefrom and one-half of all royalties hereafter to accrue.

The complainant, Rev. John A. Banfield, was a resident of Marquette prior to the year 1865, being at one time editor of the MINING JOURNAL and at another period in charge of the Marquette schools. While here he became somewhat acquainted with the extensive mineral wealth of the peninsula and acquired valuable information concerning the Marquette and Menominee iron ranges. In 1865 he entered into an agreement with Henry A. Chapin, of Niles, who was to furnish money for the purchase of some lands which he, Banfield, had selected, receiving therefor a half interest in the lands selected. The Chapin mine is on one of the tracts selected and it was purchased for $120. The tract purchased was the south half of the southwest quarter and the southwest quarter of section 30, T. 41, R. 30 W. in Menominee county, the deed being in Banfield's name. In May, 1865, he transferred the title to Chapin, the understanding still being that he should receive half of any profits which might accrue from the venture.

Shortly afterwards he removed to the Pacific coast. The land was then an unbroken wilderness, two hundred miles from any railroad, but he relied upon Chapin to keep the agreement if anything ever came of the deal. It was not until 1882 that he learned of the great mine that had been opened up on the land specified, and he at once took steps to establish his right to a share in the property as indicated above. No progress was made, however, until early the present year, when he placed the matter in the hands of Ball & Hanscom of this city. At the time that he learned the royalties which had been paid, he was not in circumstances warranting him in entering any protracted legal strife, but in the charge of the Marquette firm mentioned his case was pushed until just before the trial was to begin the attorneys for the principal defendant offered to compromise, thus virtually acknowledging the justice of his claim. While the amount of money paid is not made public yet, the MINING JOURNAL understands that it will prove a snug little fortune for Mr. Banfield and congratulates him, and his able attorneys also, upon the successful outcome of the affair.

Will Move. F. C. Gloeck is preparing to move his cigar factory from his present quarters over Dwyer Bros' store to the place in the Fred block on Washington street until recently occupied by Brown's pharmacy. He is having the new place handsomely fitted up and expects to get into it next week. The front part will be used as a sales room and will be separated from the factory proper by a handsome wood and glass partition. The business of the factory is constantly increasing and it is becoming known as one of the solid industries of the city. The MINING JOURNAL trusts that the reputation of the cigars made here will become so great and the demand for them increase so fast that soon Mr. Gloeck will need a whole block for his factory. He already employs more workmen than have ever been employed in one cigar factory here before.

Who Does the Lying? One can hardly pick up a newspaper now-a-days without finding that some one who has let his tongue wag too fast is "blaming it on the reporter." Utterances which are not particularly striking in conversation and when a man knows that he is talking for the press, sometimes prove startling when seen in print. Then the interviewee arises, tears his hair with rage and calls the interviewer a liar. A writer in the Chicago Herald very justly says in this connection:

The regularity with which reporters lie and misrepresent, according to the people who have interviewed, is becoming quite monotonous. The fact about the matter is that reporters strive to report correctly; that is their business, and that is what they are hired and educated to do. So far as my acquaintance with reporters goes, and it is quite extensive, they are almost without exception an earnest and faithful lot of workers who know that reliability is their first virtue. Let a reporter be as honest as Diogenes and as faithful in his production as an echo, and he will not escape. The first man whom he interviews, and who talks so much that on reading his remarks in print he is exceedingly anxious to escape responsibility for his utterances, or at least a portion of them, will swear that the reporter lied about him. About one man out of five is the average of those who stand by what they say; of the remaining four two will say the reporter lied, one will say his remarks were misrepresented and exaggerated, and the last will make the excuse that he was not talking for publication. The reporter is a scapegoat every time. Reporters are employed and paid fair salaries for their ability to tell the truth, and the nearer a man can come to a recital of actual facts the larger his salary is likely to be. In nine cases out of ten it is the other fellow who does the lying.

November Weather. Sergt. W. W. Dent furnishes the following weather report for the month just ended: Mean temperature, 31 degrees; one degree above the normal. Highest temperature, 64 degrees; highest for any November was 69 degrees in 1886. Lowest temperature, 6 degrees below zero; lowest for any November was 9 degrees below in 1875. Monthly range of temperature, 70 degrees; mean daily range, 13 degrees; mean maximum temperature, 37 and mean minimum, 24 degrees; the minimum temperature was below freezing point on 21 days. The total precipitation was 3.03 inches—one-half below the normal. Amount of snowfall, 28 inches. Precipitation, rain, sleet, or snow, occurred on 17 days. Percentage of humidity, 74. Prevailing wind, northwest. Total movement of wind, 7,103 miles.

A Peninsular Organization. In accordance with the call which was noticed in the MINING JOURNAL some weeks since, delegates from all the German Aid societies on the upper peninsula met at Miller's hall, in Houghton, Thursday and Friday, to form a union of the German societies of the upper peninsula. Delegates were present representing over one thousand members. Leopold Grieninger and John Fassbender were the delegates from the society in this city. The election of officers for the union resulted in the choice of the following for the coming year: Emil Glaser, Escanaba, president; Caspar Schulte, Houghton, vice-president; Leopold Grieninger, of Der Wanderer, Marquette, corresponding secretary; Chris. Fox, Houghton, financial secretary; John Thoney, Marquette, treasurer.

Brickyard at Anna River. For some time past rumor has been afloat to the effect that parties from Detroit were making preparations for starting a brickyard at the mouth of Anna river. Nothing certain was known until yesterday, when Mr. Payne, of Detroit, arrived at Munising, accompanied by his partner and a surveyor for the purpose of laying out the grounds. Mr. Payne informs us that as soon as he can make the necessary arrangements he will commence clearing the land, and by the time the soil can be used in the spring he will be ready to manufacture brick. The land that Mr. Payne is to locate on is just north of the Anna river bridge on the D., S. S. & A. railroad, and is considered to be the best clay soil for brick in the upper peninsula.—An Train Alpha.

Y. M. C. A. Reception. A reception for railroad men and their friends will be held in the Y. M. C. A. Hall Tuesday evening, December 6th, at 8 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all railroad men to come, bring their friends, and enjoy a social evening together. A good program has been arranged for the occasion.

PERSONAL MENTION. Messrs. Ball and Hanscom returned yesterday from Menominee.

Frank Perry, the well-known Sault lumberman, is at the Hotel Marquette.

C. M. Gooding has returned from an A. O. U. W. trip to the copper country.

Rev. John A. Banfield and wife are guests at the residence of Hon. D. H. Ball.

Mrs. Otto Bessler was reported a very low yesterday, and fears are expressed that she will not recover.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Neuberger returned from Chicago yesterday. They went down to attend the marriage of Mr. Neuberger's brother-in-law.

E. B. Whitcomb, the general passenger agent and D. C. McIntyre, the general freight agent of the Detroit & Cleveland Steam Navigation company, both well known Detroiters, are in the city and are guests at the Hotel Brunswick.

Hon. W. P. Healy left yesterday for Washington, D. C., to argue a case before the U. S. supreme court Monday. The case is one tried in the U. S. circuit court here four years ago before Judge Withey. It was appealed by Mr. Healy, and has just been reached in the regular order of business by the supreme court, a significant commentary upon the overcrowded condition of that court. The case is for $3,500 income tax which the government claims the old M. & O. railroad should have paid in 1871. It brought suit against the M. & O. Railroad company and it was decided against the company. Mr. Healy, as the attorney of the road, carried it up and hopes to obtain a different decision this time.

AN EARTHQUAKE

In The Price of Blankets at Louis Grabower.

We have succeeded in closing one of the largest blanket houses in Philadelphia one small lot of fifty pair 10-4 all wool white blankets; bought them for cash down at our own prices. We will give our customers the benefit of this great bargain and sell them at $5 a pair. They are cheap at $7 a pair. They are an extra quality with handsome borders and will not last long at the above price.

Cold weather is sure to come; must have blankets. Now is the time to save money on blankets; look at them.

REPORTORIAL PENCILINGS.

From now until Christmas every purchaser of a pair of ladies' shoes at the Bee Hive will receive a pair of rubbers with the shoes.

Judkins is making a great improvement in the Portage Lake Mining Gazette. He has more than doubled the amount of local reading matter in it.

With the end of December the young men will have to take a seat clear back in the rear and let the young ladies run things during 1888 to suit themselves. What a haven of refuge the M. S. S. C. house will be for the boys during leap year!

A Munising correspondent of the Alpha estimates that 1,700 barrels of oil yet remain in the wreck of the Morwood, on Grand Island, which can be saved after ice has frozen around her, so that she can be reached by sleighs and the oil taken to the railroad.

Mr. W. S. Allen, the local freight and ticket agent of the D. S. S. & A., has purchased a third interest in the Milwaukee printing and publishing house of Burdick & Armitage, one of the oldest established firms in the city. He will remove to the Cream City at the end of this month, entering upon his new business career with the new year. Both Mr. and Mrs. Allen will be greatly missed in this city, but as Milwaukee is not the "utmost part of the earth," their friends here will expect to see them often. The MINING JOURNAL congratulates Mr. Allen upon his determination to "with the printers stand," and trusts that unbroken prosperity will attend him in the profession.

To Members of Co. G, 3rd Regt. An election for commissioned officers of the company will take place next Monday evening, December 5th, at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.
