I can assure you, and I wouldn't go through it again for the world.—Chicago which indicated that Senator Palmer's position on the prohibition question is Here's news for those sportsmen who are not that of more than a respectable minority of his political associates, and that the bold step taken by him is more likely to injure his chances of being the protected by the government. The Cheyenne Leader says that a herd of 200 has been found in the Big. Horn mountains. Pity the whole herd couldn't be saved and protected by the government.

Spanish companies has steadily declined since 1883. In that year Rio Tinto sold at 25%; in 1884 at 21 1/4; in 1885 at 13 1/8; in 1886 at 13 1/4, and on October 4, 1887, it was selling at 7%. Mason & Barry shares also declined from 251/2 in 1883 to 5% on October 4, 1887. These shares were largely held in Paris. A syndicate was formed in the French capital to corner tin, and it was very successful in putting the price of that metal up, having increased the price 12 cents in two months, the price now being 32 cents a pound.

The syndicate, being so successful in the tin corner, and being large holders in the Spanish copper stocks, conceived the idea of cornering Chili bars and forcing the price of copper up and consequently the price of their shares. On October 20th of this year they began Chili bars were then selling at £29 per ton, and there were on hand in England at that time 34,000 tons of the bars. In a month the syndicate had bought 25,000 tons, and by this date 30,000 tons of Chili bars have been actually taken out of England into France.

The result was as was expected, as far as World incidentally tells how Mr. Cleve- the Spanish shares were concerned. On Sunday last Mr. Bernt Wiggen and a companion were prowling about Division street, searching for a drink. Their bottled supply of fusel oil had given out and they were very thirsty. Atter reconnoitering the back doors of several saloons without effecting an entrance, they attempted to get into the office of the Iron Ore. Whether they had an idea that the editor kept a private bottle for thirsty friends, or looked upon the closed blinds as a sure sign that liquid comfort was dispensed within, Mr. Wiggen and his friend neglected to state. An officer arrested Wiggen, his companion escaped, and the editor is still at large. Sureday closing is already bagging. office of the Iron Ore. Whether they large. Sunday closing is already bearing good fruits.

It is to be hoped that Mack and Lachapelle will arrange for a pugilistic meeting soon, and settle their claims to the feather-weight championship of the upper peninsula in the ring instead of Foreign and Domestic Cigars through the newspapers. There has been discussion enough, now let us have a battle or unruffled peace.

Mr. J. N. Williams, agent of the D., S. S. & A. R'y in this city, is increasing the business of his station at a rate which must be very satisfactory to the company. Mr. MICHIGAN. Williams has made many friends here since taking charge of the Ishpeming business of the "South Shore."

Negaunee has had two murders since Ishpeming has had one, and it is said that Griffey & Flynn are to get out a 16-page paper this week to properly impress the public with a sense of the vigor and push or which Negaunee is becoming noted.

SOLID SILVER.

Lachapelle's Answer.

To the Mining Journal:—I am willing to fight Mr. Doe Mack, with two or four-ounce gloves, or bare knuckles, at Negaunee, where the match was originally to have taken place, on Saturday, December 17th, for $50 a side and gate receipts. I should prefer wearing two-ounce gloves or none at all. My forfeit of $25 will be posted by Saturday, December 10th, and I want Mr. Mack to put up an equal amount as an earnest that he means business this time. I do not care to arrange for another match in which Mack will not show up when the time comes to fight.

THE FIRST GRAY HAIR.

And then hast come at last,
Then baleful issue of the buried years—
Sad fruitage of the past.
Root nurtured in a learn of hopes and fears;
I half they, but I hate thee, lurking there, Thou first gray hair

Thou soft and silken coil.

Thou milk white blossom in a midnight tress!
Out from the alien soil Til pluck thee in thine infant tenderness.

As the rude husbandman uproots the tare,
Thou first gray hair?

Of all the fleecy flock.

Then art the one to leathe and to despise;

The cheat within the shock.

The mold that on the early larvest lies,

The mildew on the blossoms of the pear—

And thou, the Judas art,
The tattler of Old Time, who doth betray
The weary, worn out heart,
Ere yet we dare to dream of its decay;
Thou art a hint of wreek beyond repair, Thou first gray hair!
