A SMALL WAR CLOUD

The Uneasiness Over Russia's Action on the Austrian Frontier Increasing.

AUSTRIA'S FRONTIER GUARDS TO BE IMMEDIATELY STRENGTHENED.

A Military Council—Russia's Action Explained—A Circular—M. Goblet Will Form a Cabinet—Miscellany.

AUSTRIA.

A MILITARY COUNCIL.

VIENNA, Dec. 7.—Emperor Francis Joseph will preside at a military council which is to be held at the palace to-morrow for the purpose of considering what steps are necessary in view of the collection of Russian troops on the frontier.

RETAINED IN THE RANKS.

VIENNA, Dec. 7.—It is reported that all Russian troops whose time of service has expired will be retained in the ranks; that 250,000 recruits have been enrolled in the army corps which forms a military line from Lublin to Zuzoz and that a strong body of cavalry will be stationed between Rovno and Kovel. All the places named are near the Austrian frontier.

MILITARY PRECAUTIONS NECESSARY.

VIENNA, Dec. 7.—The opinion is very general here that the German press exaggerates the importance of the military movements of Russia in order to disabuse Prince Bismarck's diplomacy, the chief object of which is supposed to be the removal of the Czar from the influence of those who desire to estrange Germany and Russia. The course of the German press is considered dangerous because in the event of Prince Bismarck falling in his purpose it will increase the tension of the situation. Owing more to a possible failure on the part of Prince Bismarck than to the massing of Russian troops the Austrian military precautions may be necessary.

FRONTIER FORCE INCREASED.

VIENNA, Dec. 7.—The Political Correspondence semi-officially denies a report that the powers interested have officially sent a note to Russia in reference to the increased force of troops on the frontiers. It says that Austrian frontier guards will be completely organized and their numbers increased. It adds that the Russian censor has suppressed all telegrams sent to Russia in reference to the Fremdenblatt's article concerning Russia's action.

GERMANY.

ON THE FENCE.

BERLIN, Dec. 7.—The National Gazette, discussing the Vienna Fremdenblatt's article relative to the massing of troops on the Russian frontiers, says it is evident that the force of Russian troops now in Poland is not sufficient to attack two formidable military powers. The present massing of troops is too small for war and too large for peace. We must wait and see how Russia will reconcile the massing with the pacific assurances of the Journal de St. Petersburg.

A CIRCULAR.

BERLIN, Dec. 7.—The Russian government has sent a circular to its representatives at the foreign courts in relation to the Czar's recent visit to Berlin. The circular draws attention to three points: First that the Czar's conversation with Prince Bismarck showed that there was not the slightest reason for a breach between Germany and Russia; second, that Prince Bismarck promised that Germany would remain neutral in Bulgarian affairs; third, that both governments should order all newspapers to adopt a moderate tone in comment on Russo-German relations. The forged documents are not mentioned in the circular.

NOT DUE TO A CHANGED TREATMENT.

BERLIN, Dec. 7.—The National Gazette denies, on the authority of Dr. Freund, that the improvement in the crown prince's condition is the result of a change of treatment. The swelling of the glands of the jaw, which lately disappeared, was caused by the teeth, and was not connected with the throat trouble.

IS HE SICK?

BERLIN, Dec. 7.—A private telegram from San Remo reports that the doctors attending the crown prince have completely changed their opinion regarding the nature of his disease.

TWO OPINIONS.

BERLIN, Dec. 7.—The Cologne Gazette says: Two opinions prevail in St. Petersburg regarding Bulgaria. On one side the diplomatic solution of the problem is favored, on the other military measures are believed to be necessary in order to exercise pressure upon the powers, especially Austria. With Austria remains the choice between a serious conflict and the acceptance of a settlement agreeable to Russians.

ENGLAND.

PROTECTION FAVORED.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The returns issued by the board of trade, show that the imports decreased during November $1,000,000 as compared with the same month last year and that the exports increased $8,050,000 as compared with November of last year. At the annual meeting of the central chamber of agriculture to-day many provincial delegates were present and took part in an excited discussion over a motion favoring protection. The Right Hon. Henry Chaplin, conservative member of parliament for Lincolnshire, deprecated the placing of duties on cereals, unless the agitation in favor of bimetalism and the abolition of bounties were fled. The motion was carried by two to one.

THE WORK OF MONTHS.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The Times publishes a letter from a landed proprietor near Dolgelly, Wales, which says that the result of a hundred men's work for several months has been the stopping of 2,500 tons of ore which, it is estimated, will yield six ounces of gold to the ton. The letter also says that thousands of tons of stone, richly laden with gold, are ready for stopping.

AN INVESTIGATION DEMANDED.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—Mr. Bradlaugh has written to Lord Salisbury demanding that a parliamentary committee be appointed to investigate his charge that Lord Salisbury sent a check to promote a fair trade meeting in Trafalgar square in 1882.

JOHN MORLEY AND THE MARQUIS OF RIPON WILL VISIT IRELAND SHORTLY.

A SMALL PRESENT.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The grand lodge of Free Masons has voted £500 for the purchase of a gift to be presented to the Princess of Wales on the occasion of her silver wedding.

FRANCE.

RUSSIA'S ACTION EXPLAINED.

PARIS, Dec. 7.—According to private advices from Warsaw, the massing of Russian troops on the frontier is attributable to information received by Russia of a concerted plan by Germany and Austria for united action in the event of a war between either of these powers and Russia. In that contingency it was proposed that Germany and Austria should suddenly invade Russian Poland and occupy Warsaw by using their greater facilities for mobilizing. In consequence of the discovery of this alleged project Russia resolved to compensate for her slow power of mobilizing by a permanent increase of her frontier forces. The movement implies no aggression, but is a purely defensive precaution.

EX-PRESIDENT GREY IS ILL.

He receives no visitors. His memoirs are being written by his nephew.

PRESIDENT CARNOT HAS SUMMONED M. GOBLET TO FORM A NEW MINISTRY.

M. Goblet has agreed to form a cabinet.

RUSSIA.

BETWEEN TWO FIRES.

MOSCOW, Dec. 7.—The Gazette says the future policy of France will decide whether Germany will be compelled to watch on both her frontiers. The paper declares that Russia must always have a strong fleet in the Pacific Ocean.

SPAIN.

A BIG STEP FORWARD.

MADRID, Dec. 7.—Germany, Austria and Italy have agreed to raise their ministers here to the rank of ambassadors and England is expected to follow. This is a step towards the recognition of Spain as a great power.

SHOT GUN VS REVOLVER.

The Terrible Tragedy Enacted Near Piqua, Ohio, Monday Night.

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 7.—

News was received to-day from Piqua, Ohio, of a terrible tragedy at a farm house two miles from that city, on Monday night. Between 9 and 10 o'clock, while John H. Wolf was sitting at home with his two sisters, the door was battered in. Wolf seized a loaded, double barreled shot gun just as the door yielded and revealed two masked men, the foremost of whom leveled a revolver at Wolf. The revolver and the shot gun were discharged together. The robbers shot missed but Wolf's shot took effect and the remaining robber seized his wounded companion and dragged him out. In the morning they found the dead man not twenty yards away.

CHANGE OF OFFICERS.

General Manager Spicer of the C & G. T. and The D., G. H. & M. Resigns—The Reason.

DETROIT, Dec. 7.—

William J. Spicer, general manager of the Chicago & Grand Trunk and the Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee roads, with headquarters in this city, has resigned. It is believed that he will accept the management of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, the connecting link between the eastern branch of the Canadian Pacific and the Northern Pacific at Duluth. Mr. Spicer's successor with the Grand Trunk has not yet been decided upon. Mr. Wainwright, president of the Hudson's Bay, is prominently spoken of. Mr. Spicer is in New York and the officers of the road refuse to discuss the matter.

BUCKET-SHOPS RAIDED.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 7.—The police this morning raided a number of so-called bucket-shops. The proprietors were held in $800 and the employees in $500 bail for a further hearing. In all five places were raided and eighteen persons arrested. At all of the places with the exception of Walkes & Co.'s office, the proprietors themselves were found. Most of them furnished bail for a further hearing. Director Stokely says that these five cases are to be made a test of the law relating to the subject and that no further raids are contemplated by the authorities until they are disposed of.

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

PORT HURON, Mich., Dec. 7.—A freight train on the Grand Trunk railway broke in two while descending the grade near Goodell's station. The front end was side tracked at the station and while returning for the rear portion, the engine came in collision with it, instantly killing Harry McGowan, brakeman, and severely injuring Jeff Ray, the engineer, and Robert McKay, fireman. The engine and cars were badly wrecked.

WILL PROBABLY ACCEPT.

The Question of General Bragg's Appointment To The Mexican Mission Discussed.

NO BEE IN RUSK'S BONNET.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—General Bragg, congressman from Wisconsin, is at the Leland Hotel. "I shall be a delegate," he said, "to the next democratic national convention, and I have been asked to run again for congress in my old district, but I am too old to make a thorough canvass. My law business is pleasant and profitable, but on account of falling eye-sight I am not able to give it all the attention I should desire. It may be, if the demands of a campaign are not too exacting, I will accept the candidacy for congress." General Bragg said the dispatch from Oshkosh to the effect that he would ACCEPT THE MEXICAN MISSION grew out of a facetious remark he made to a brother lawyer in the court room last Monday. He had no thought of such a mission. Speaking of Governor Rusk's name in connection with the vice presidency, or as some of his friends would have it, the presidency, General Bragg said the governor was an honest, able, big-hearted man, but he knew his worth and what his prospects were. He was not a man to be carried away by any talk of over-sanguine friends or sycophants, and "Jerry" Rusk wasn't losing any sleep over deep-laid plans for the presidency, as he believed, for the vice-presidency either.

George C. Ginty, the republican candidate for governor of Wisconsin, is at the Pacific Hotel. He said it was rather early to prognosticate about his prospects and he was loth to say what his chances were. He said General Bragg may not have given any thought to the Mexican mission, but his friends were working for him for the post. Some of the latter thought the general could go to Mexico and still conduct his canvass for congress. The mission was worth $12,000 a year, and as the general was one of the most popular democrats in Washington, he thought the least Cleveland could do would be to give it to Bragg, who had loved the president "for the enemies he had."

UP TO STAY.

The Rite in Copper Believed To Be Normal—Still Going Up.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Copper seems to have climbed to a high notch to stay, according to the general impression on change. The market for tin and copper was booming to-day. Consumers from all parts of the country were rushing to buy. Copper especially was in demand. Large orders for lake ingot have come in, particularly from Germany. Price for copper advanced to 16.50 from yesterday's figure of 16.40. In London to-day Chili bars were quoted at 70c 10s for spot and 71c for futures. Lake ingot is still about 5 per cent below its legitimate commercial value and an advance is looked for before January 1st. Tin to-day advanced 1c in London.

A SUIT FOR MILLIONS.

Began in the Interest of a Noted French Bank.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Trial was begun to-day in the United States circuit court of two suits in equity brought by the Banque Franco-Egyptienne, of Paris, and Henry L. Bischoffsheimer, of London, against John Crosby Brown and others for about $6,000,000. The suits grew out of the negotiations of bond of the New York, Boston & Montreal railroad company. The first suit was commenced in 1875 and the other in 1878. There are a large number of persons interested, among them J. W. Seligman & Co., Brown Brothers & Co., and Dunham, Sherman & Co. The pleadings alone cover over 9,000 printed pages. Elihu Root made the opening argument.

In 1873 the New York, Boston & Montreal railroad company issued $12,250,000 first mortgage bonds; $12,750,000 second mortgage bonds, and $15,000,000 of stock. Bischoffsheimer & Goldschmidt, of London, advanced the money on $6,250,000 of the first mortgage bonds and they transferred $5,000,000 to the French bank. The road passed into the hands of a receiver and all the money received was spent. The suits are for an accounting of the company.

ENFORCING THE ORDINANCES.

Ashland's Leading Citizens Arrested for Neglecting to Clear Their Walks of Snow.

ASHLAND, Dec. 6.—The city authorities have been trying for some time to get people to shovel the snow from their walks, but with little or no success. Formal notices were not heeded, and to-day, by direction of the mayor the chief-of-police furnished his force with warrants for the arrest of the following persons: Postmaster Sullivan, ex-Lieut.-Governor Field, G. F. Merrill, W. L. M. Tompkins, E. H. Shortes, W. A. Webster, E. F. McClure, E. G. Willis, and H. L. Barney. For fast driving, warrants were issued for the arrest of Indian agent James T. Gregory, Sheriff James Brennan, John Mahoney and Wm. H. Hassett. The latter paid his fine of $6.75 and Messrs. McClure and Barney paid similar amounts. There is a big brigade of snow-shovelers at work as a result of the raid. The arrested men are calling one by one this evening and depositing their fines.

In the Law's Grasp.

MARSHALL, Mich., Dec. 7.—Eugene M. Converse, who under the name of Mason married a Miss Jones, of Waukesha, Wis., while having a wife living in New York, pleads guilty to a charge of embezzling $3,500. Converse was arrested in Chicago while on his wedding tour and was brought here to answer for misappropriation of money left in his hands while in an attorney's office. He has been in jail since his arrest. In pleading guilty Converse threw himself on the mercy of the court. After serving a term of embezzlement he will probably be taken to Waukesha for trial on a charge of bigamy.

WHAT THE WISE DID.

Legislative Lords Devote the Entire Day to a Much Needed Rest.

THE SENATE CONVENES, MAKES A MOTION AND ADJOURNS.

No Session of the House Takes Place. Speaker Carlisle Busy at Work Making Up the Committees.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—After the presentation of various communications from heads of departments and the court of claims, Mr. Cullom remarked that the rule provided that when bills are introduced before the committees were appointed such bills should be laid on the table, and that created unnecessary work, he therefore moved that the senate adjourn. But he withdrew the motion temporarily to permit Mr. Plumb to offer a resolution calling on the commissioner of agriculture for information as to whether any person in the employment of that department, making experiments as to the manufacture of sugar from sorghum, had obtained or applied for a patent or a patent connected with such manufacture and growing out of such experiment. The resolution was adopted. Mr. Farwell asked his colleague to withdraw his motion so as to allow him to introduce a bill to perpetuate the national bank system. Mr. Cullom declined, and at 12:20 the senate adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Although the house was not in session to-day a number of members were in their seats, attending to their correspondence and chatting over the committees. Speaker Carlisle spent several hours in his room in an effort to outline the organization of the committees. He has had prepared a number of cards bearing the names of the different members which he is endeavoring to assort into committees. These cards can be readily transferred from one committee set to another, so that changes are made with facility.

DURING THE DAY all the representatives who visited the capital called upon the speaker, either by request or at their own volition, to express their personal preference in the assignments to committees. Many rumors were current this afternoon relative to the distribution of the chairmanships. Little credence is generally given to them, however, owing to the fact that many changes in the list are inevitable, even after it shall have been advanced much nearer to completion than it is presumed to be at present. Any changes in one committee

WILL INVOLVE ALTERATIONS in several others, and may affect the chairman so that predictions cannot be safely made. The appointment of the committee on rules which will probably be made in a day or two is awaited with special interest, for the reason that the chairman of the committee on ways and means has always been a member of the committee on rules, and the arrangement of Mr. Morrison's successor on the last named committee will be generally regarded as tantamount to the selection of the chairman of the committee on ways and means. The clerks of the committee on appropriations of the two houses of congress have prepared

A TABULAR STATEMENT, the footings of which make the following showing: The net increase in estimates for the next fiscal year over those submitted for the current year is $8,187,937. The net increase over the appropriations for the current year is $23,737,007. The total of the estimates for the next year is $384,094,527. The estimated revenue for 1888 is $440,563,734.

Sir George Campbell, Sir John Swinburne, Hon. Hallery Stewart and Mr. Cramer, the members of the British peace commission, visited the room of the senate committee on foreign relations this morning, where they were met by and introduced to the members of the committee of the last congress, all of whom will without doubt, be members of the committee of the present congress. Each of the visitors addressed the senators, setting forth their views and purposes in connection with the plan of settling internal controversies by arbitration. The members of the delegation from Cincinnati and Omaha, who are in the city for the purpose of presenting the claims of their respective cities for the next national republican convention, called at the white house to-day and paid their respects to the president.

Midwinter Base Ball Games. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—Two thousand people witnessed a closely contested game between the St. Louis Browns and the Chicago white stockings at Central park this afternoon. The game was the third of a series of thirty-six arranged to be played on California diamonds by the four eastern clubs and was one of the prettiest ever witnessed, the score being tied in the first and seventh innings. St. Louis won by one run, score 8 to 7.

Found Guilty of Murder. NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—At Riverhead, Long Island, to-day, Francis A. Hawkins, aged about twenty-two, and of respectable antecedents, was found guilty of murder in the first degree for killing his mother, who objected to his intended marriage.

To Quell a Riot. COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 7.—The sheriff of Lake county has asked the governor for the militia to quell a threatened riot at Fairport. One hundred men have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to move when necessary.

THE HARPER TRIAL.

The Damaging Testimony of Frank M. Hayes, an Expert Accountant.

EVERYTHING OF THE CROOKEDEST. CINCINNATI, Dec. 7.—The Harper trial did not reach the close of the government's testimony to-day as was expected, but the same curious crowds gathered in all available places during the day. Howard Eckert, among other things, was asked to identify certain checks of his firm, which he did. Maurice Rosenfeld, of Chicago, formerly a grain merchant, testified that he had had dealings with Wilshire, Eckert & Co. He recognized the account current with them for the purchase of about 500,000 bushels of wheat. His house received $389,500 in money.

THE SENSATION OF THE DAY was the testimony of a Mr. Frank M. Hayes, the expert who has been sent here by the government to assist in the prosecution of the case. He is a nervous looking young man with a fierce mustache, short cropped hair, piercing eyes and a large mouth. He said in answer to questions, that he was an expert accountant, that he had about ten years experience in banks and had filled all positions up to assistant cashier. He had also been familiar with brokers business by a two years connection with a firm in Pittsburgh whose business reached into millions. He had examined for the government the books of the Penn National bank of Pittsburgh where some millions of dollars were involved. He had made

A CAREFUL EXAMINATION of the books of the Fidelity National bank, and of the First National bank of New York, as far as they relate to dealings with Harper and the Fidelity bank. He had also examined the accounts of Irwin, Green & Co. and C. J. Kershaw & Co. with reference to their dealings with Harper and the Fidelity National bank. He began by saying that he found charge tickets at the Fidelity, one of $200,000; the First National bank, and a third of the same kind for $100,000. Then, on March 1st there was one credited to Harper with $600,000 and charging the Commercial National bank of New York with the same amount. In the case of the Chemical bank the Fidelity bank had a credit there by reason of

A CERTIFICATE OF DEPOSIT forwarded to them, but that certificate was not entered on the books of the Fidelity bank. The First National bank had two accounts with the Fidelity. One of them showed credits to the Fidelity, the other overdrafts. By reference to both it appears that the Fidelity really had to its credit March 1st, $9,000. One of the accounts at that time showed a credit of $200,000; the other showed overdrafts to the amount of $200,000. On April 1st, these two accounts were consolidated and there was $5,836 to the credit of the Fidelity on the books of the First National bank of New York, by reason of two certificates of deposit for $200,000 each, but these certificates of deposit

WERE NOT ENTERED on the Fidelity books, and there was nothing on their books to show this outstanding indebtedness. Previous to this time Harper was credited with $100,000 and thus the books of the two banks were made to agree. Turning then to the Chemical National bank of New York he said their books showed that the Fidelity bank had a credit of $300,000 marked loan, indicating that the Fidelity had borrowed that amount, but on the Fidelity books there is nothing to indicate a loan. Instead, a certificate of deposit for $300,000 is issued, and the stub is marked cancelled. The showing was minute and in detail, and he followed out the entire $800,000 in this way, showing that of this sum there remained to his credit on March 17th, but $45,971.20. Recurring to the First National he said the draft record showed a draft by the Fidelity on the First National for $100,000. The First National

NEVER PAID THAT DRAFT. but Mr. Harper's account in the Fidelity is charged at $100,000 and this made the books agree. The witness also stated that two drafts drawn April 28 and 30 for $100,000 each, were not entered on the Fidelity books until June 18, although one of them was paid in New York May 4. Mr. Hayes then took up the accounts of Irwin, Green & Co., and stated that the Fidelity's books did not show any such credits to their accounts as the letters of advice sent them indicated. Irwin, Green & Co. credited Hoyt with $340,000, all this, except $2,962, was drawn out by Harper's checks. There was

NO ENTRY OF LETTERS of credit to Hoyt, amounting to $285,000 until June 16. C. J. Kershaw & Co. were advised by four letters of credit that Hoyt had deposited to their credit $200,000. Kershaw & Co.'s books credit Harper with four amounts of $50,000 each, corresponding in date to the letters of credit. The witness went on to show that all of this was absorbed in the wheat deal. There was really but $701.25 actually put to the credit of Kershaw & Co. in the Fidelity bank. While witness was laying bare by reference to Harper's own books all these startling irregularities his attorneys raised but a single objection to the form of the examination and made no effort to obscure the light being thrown on their client's transactions, while Harper amused himself by chatting and laughing with his wife and her sister, by writing notes and passing them to friends seated within reach. This witness had not ended his testimony when court adjourned.

The Site Selected. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 7.—A telegram from Captain Wm. B. Landing, member of the National Soldiers commission, this afternoon stated that the commission had selected a tract at Santa Monica, nine miles from this city, as a site for a National Soldiers Home on the Pacific coast.

Fontz Goes to the Brooklyn. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—David Fontz, of the St. Louis Browns, signed a contract to-day to play with the Brooklyn club next season.

THE BOOMING 800.

A Prominent Firm Forced Under—Real Estate Active—A New Railroad.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Dec. 7.—[Special.]—The firm of M. Prenzler & Son, doing business on Water street, made an assignment to-day to P. M. Church, for the benefit of their creditors. The failure is ascribed to their heavy loss by last year's fire, which they encountered without insurance. No particulars of the failure can be learned, but those best informed place the amount of the unsecured liabilities at $7,000.

Transactions in real estate are active, $200,000 worth of it having changed hands during the past ten days. Plans are maturing for a new road from St. Ignace to connect with the Minneapolis road near Pine river, making nearly an air line from St. Ignace to the Soo, the distance being less than eighty miles. The arrangements for the new road are practically completed and an early beginning of construction may be looked for.

After The Wreckers. CHEBOYGAN, Mich., Dec. 7.—A United States marshal from Detroit arrived yesterday to seize all property recovered from the wrecked steamer Albany. He proceeded to Bois Blanc Island and recovered 650 barrels of flour which were hidden in the brush and will make a demand for the flour recovered by parties here. He will undoubtedly recover by force and arrest all parties who refuse to submit.

Anti-Prohibits Win. ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 7.—The city election to-day hinged upon the prohibition question. The anti had out a straight ticket, while the prohibitionists ran a combination ticket. The election was warmly contested, and resulted in a victory for the anti, their average majority being about 1,000. This gives the anti complete control of the city government.

Made An Assignment. NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Owing to pressure by foreign creditors, W. & H. Chalmers, dealers in linens in this city, made an assignment to-day. Liabilities $100,000; assets not known.

Isaac Hays, wholesale liquor dealer, made an assignment to-day. Liabilities $125,000; assets about $85,000.

Weather Indications. WASHINGTON, Dec. 8, 1 A. M.—The signal service notes the following as the predictions for the next thirty-six hours: For Michigan and Wisconsin, warmer, fair weather by rain or snow; light to fresh winds becoming southerly and increasing in force, followed in upper Michigan and Wisconsin by rain.

An Expensive Hazard. MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 7.—The largest fire in Montgomery's history broke out on the east side of Commercial street between 12 and 1 o'clock this morning. Several business blocks burned with a total loss of $250,000.

A Chemical Anomaly. An astonishing result has been reached by Dr. Richardson, the English physiologist, in some experiments on the respiration of animals in pure oxygen. In most cases a steady flow of fresh oxygen rendered the animals confined in it excited and feverish, and none were quiet or made sleepy. When, however, the oxygen, after having been passed once through the chambers containing the animals, was collected, purified and again used all the warm blooded animals, such as the cat, dog, guinea pig, rabbit and pigeon, became drowsy and fell quietly asleep; and when the gas was again used after another purification the sleep became deeper, and some of the animals soon died. The oxygen appeared chemically pure at each time of using; and the cause of its remarkable change in effect is as yet a mystery. Whether some peculiar modification of oxygen is formed during respiration, or whether the toxic properties are due to some active product of respiration which has escaped detection in the inhaled gas, is a problem which will doubtless be studied with much interest.—Arkansas Traveler.

One of the Hoosier Schoolmasters. O. A. Stevens relates in The Los Angeles Tribune that some years ago he met Rev. Dr. Edward Eggleston in Switzerland, and went with him to a diligence bureau to secure him a place to Chamounix. "I acted," says Mr. Stevens, "as interpreter, and noticed the clerk looking with awe at Dr. Eggleston's tall form, long hair, sombrero and novel out of clothes, for he affected the western air then. 'What is that man there, an American?' the clerk asked me in French. 'Yes,' I answered, 'he is a Hoosier schoolmaster, and came, looking again at the hair and hat, 'Is it that he is a savage? 'Savage' not at all,' 'I beg 100 pardons, but it is to me occurred that he is by all hazard an Indian.' 'Ah! not exactly,' I replied. 'He is not an Indian, but an Indianian.' 'Ah! precisely. I thought so.' And, thanks to the man's mystification, Dr. Eggleston opened a seat in the imperial that had already been engaged."

MUSIC OF THE STREETS.

THE FORTY BRAVING BANDS OF NEW YORK AND BROOKLYN.

A Census of the Discard Makers of the Metropolis—The Leaderless Band of Three Pieces—Hand Organ, Violin and Harp—Whistlers.

Much that is musical, and more that is carousing and loud splashing in its discord, is tooted, blown, rattled, squeaked and pounded by the thousand old players on instruments who pick up a living in the streets of New York and Brooklyn. This regiment of itinerant destroyers of harmony and disturbers of peace is made up of about ten divisions. By far the largest of these divisions is the one that numbers in its ranks the gutter bands. There come the grinders of the wheezy organs. Next on the list are the manipulators of the crank pianos. The banjo players follow in order, and then the field is filled with the violinists, harpers, cornet soloists, pipers, singers and whistlers. There are more than forty street bands tooting for pennies in the two cities every pleasant day. Three or four of these bands number eight or ten performers each, and they get themselves up in pretty good style so far as uniforms are concerned. The leader is usually a man of middle age, and, with the exception of the strong lunged individual who operates the bass horn and the man who helps the leader out on the cornet end, the players are all boys. They make pretty good music when they are feeling well.

Other street bands have as few as three pieces—cornet, alto and bass horn. Bands of this description play in front of saloons, and they are usually leaderless. Sometimes the alto horn gets under way before the cornet and its deeper toned neighbor, and just as frequently the bass horn starts in first. Of all the noises that are forced through imperfect horns, that of the leaderless band of three pieces is unquestionably the worst. Yet these bands manage to pick up between $0 and $5 a day.

THE ORGAN GRINDER. The organ grinder has long been with us. He is remembered by the oldest inhabitant, and, judging from the doleful strains of "Yankee Doodle" and kindred selections that are heard on the street, the organs have been in use for many years. This instrument is immensely popular with the children. It matters not how discordant the music may be, they like it. In the tenement house districts an organ grinder is sure to get five cents a tune, and it takes less than five minutes to grind out a selection with a methodical man at the crank. There are over seventy-five old fashioned hand organs in use in and about New York, and it is a poor day when they fail to charm $2.50 from the children and mothers.

The crank piano is a natural outgrowth of the hand organ. Progressive civilization demanded something better than wheezy organs, and the rattily bang piano was introduced to fill the long felt want, as it were. It really has some claim on the public ear. In the first place it gives us music that is comparatively new. Snatches from the popular comic operas are common with it, and the way it renders them is not entirely void of interest. There are thirty street hand pianos on regular duty. Good banjo music is scarce on the street. Of the dozen odd players who make their living around town by thumping this instrument, all but one are negroes. There are two banjo players up town who know how to play right well. They frequent the saloons during the winter time, and whenever they find a party of young fellows who are out for the night they make good money. One can stand more of banjo music than he can of any other kind. While the hand organ becomes intolerable in ten minutes, the banjo is listened to with interest for an hour. The banjo itinerants usually travel in pairs, and plantation melodies go with the music.

VIOLIN AND HARP. As nearly as can be ascertained there are ten violin-harp combinations in existence in New York city. These players are entitled to more merit as musicians than any that play on the street for what the public is pleased to give them. It requires years of training to become at all proficient as a violinist or a harpist, and it costs something, too. Out of twenty-five persons who undertake to master the violin, not more than one is ever able to make good music. Considering this fact (for it is a fact), it is remarkable that all the street violinists are capable musicians. Damp weather and cracked instruments do much to make otherwise good music squeaky and disagreeable.

The melody of the pipe has passed, and the pipes are now a novelty. Once or twice a year their peculiar music can be heard on the streets along the river front, but it doesn't seem to take as it used to, and the pipers get disgusted and quit. Three whistlers—a white man in Brooklyn, a negro in New York and a negro down-pucker their respective mouths to the latest popular airs on the city streets. For whistling to town has the decided advantage. He has a way of rendering "Way Down Upon the Savanah River" that is truly melodious. The down town negro makes a specialty of whistling tunes that have varied in their origin. He can give you the "Mocking Bird" in twelve different styles, and is practicing on the thirteenth. He can imitate a canary so cleverly that the bird's own mother couldn't tell the difference. Singing in the street requires great lung power, and it is hard work. The only successful street singer in the two cities is a woman about 50 years of age, whose voice is sweet and plaintive, and whose sad face brings her money when her efforts at vocal entertainment fail.—New York Star.

Louisiana's Queer Ponds. "I do not understand the lakes or ponds," said Mr. Ely. "We have passed today at least a thousand, I think, from three feet to three miles in diameter, and all almost perfectly circular. The water in them, too, is live and sparkling, as if from springs, not stagnant. How do you account for their shape? Look at the one we are passing. No surveyor could lay out a more perfect ring." "The Acadians have many superstitious reasons for their shape," the priest said, smiling. "They were worn by the accursed Voodoo dances, or they were the places where human beings were sacrificed in ancient times. Some of the farmers will tell you that when two bulls fight they tear up a round hole with their horns and fore hoofs, into which the water comes, enlarging it year by year, but still keeping the circular shape. It is a singular fact, though, that in the next parish there are mounds of every size, exactly corresponding in shape to the ponds here."

"How do you account for them?" "Pere Nodan shrugged his shoulders. "How should I know! There are many myths of other days, before even the Indians came to Attakapas—many mysteries. Science cannot explain them. Me?—I do not meddle with them."—Rebecca Harding Davis in Harper's Magazine.

Morris Gaffey, Formerly of This Place, in Trouble at Ashland—Election of Officers—The Ferguson-Wood Nuptials

In Trouble Again.

The following telegram, published under the date of Ashland, Wis., December 6th, in a Milwaukee paper, will be of interest to people here from the fact that the subject of the sketch is well known to Negaunee people. His parents still live here. He served his apprenticeship in a grocery store, made about $7,000 by the sale of some mineral property and went into business where Mitchell's drug store now is, keeping a general stock of merchandise. He did a large credit business, and some seven or eight years ago was forced to make an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, after which he moved away, and has latterly lived at Ashland. The dispatch gives this account of his more recent difficulties:

A committee has been for several weeks investigating the accounts of county clerk Morris Gaffney, and at a meeting of the board of supervisors to-day John H. Knight, his principal bondsman, submitted a communication charging Gaffney with habitual neglect of duty and misconduct in failing to make proper entries on his books of the receipts and disbursements of monies collected. He also charged him with being addicted to the habitual use of intoxicating liquors. Gaffney was elected in the spring of 1886 by a big majority over everybody else on the democratic ticket. He was a comparative stranger, but came here from the copper country with good recommendations. For months his bondsmen have tried to find out the status of the finances of his office, but without success. He absented himself from the court house for days, and gave himself up to liquor. The committee could find neither "head nor tail" to anything in the office. He has failed to turn over to the county treasurer the moneys received by him during his term, and no one knows how much he has received. Gaffney could not be found to-day, but the sheriff was authorized to serve him with a resolution which was unanimously passed by the board, commanding him to appear at 9 o'clock to-morrow and show cause why he should not be removed.

Election of Officers.

At the regular meeting of Negaunee lodge No. 202, F. & A. M., held at the lodge hall Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:
 John Q. Adams, worshipful master; Edward C. Anthony, senior warden; S. P.
 Kline, junior warden; Joel Williams,
 treasurer; John Thompson, secretary;
 Thomas Carmichael, senior deacon; Albert Newcombe, junior deacon; Charles L. Sporley and James H. Rough, stewards.
 There will be a public installation of the officers-elect on the evening of St.
 John's day—Tuesday, the 27th inst.

There are a couple of men in the city insuring horses. Though the scheme is a decidedly novel one in this section, it meets favor with owners of horse flesh.
 In a few years there will doubtless be competition enough to warrant the establishment of a horse insurance company on some improved plan. "The Equitable Ins. Co." is suggested as a suitable name for it.

The announcement that the Milwaukee passenger will be run through to Ishpening, commencing next week, gives great satisfaction to Negaunee people. We can now go to Escanaba, or other points down that way, in the morning, transact our business and return home in the evening.

Mr. Mark Ferguson and Miss Ida M.
 Wood were married yesterday at the residence of the bride's mother in this city.
 The groom is from Eagle Mills, and his bride is an estimable young lady of Negaunee, who has for some time been teaching school at Eagle Mills.

Charles L. Knuckey was struck on the head by a piece of falling rock one day last week while at work at the South Jackson mine. The rock cut a four-inch gash in his head and rendered him insensible for a short time. He was able to be out yesterday.

As leap year approaches, the boys begin to wonder "what the girls are going to do about it." One of the things they will doubtless do is to give a party and social hop.

The funeral of the late M. Belhumer took place from the Catholic church yesterday morning at ten o'clock. It was largely attended by friends of the deceased.

The case of Michael Curran, charged with assault and battery, Hans C. Anderson being the complainant, will be tried in the circuit court on the 13th inst.

An up-town saloon keeper pounded one of his customers quite severely a few nights ago, but for some reason the injured man refuses to prosecute.

Marshal Cunningham is busy serving subpoenas on persons who are wanted as witnesses at the coming term of the circuit court.

Several church congregations are making arrangements for Christmas entertainments for their respective Sabbath schools.

Prof. Crim's orchestra will furnish music at the rink this evening. Admission, for gents, 25 cents; ladies, free.

The run of cases in the municipal courts has subsided for the time being.

Will C. Dougherty arrived in the city yesterday. He will remain here a week or ten

MARQUETTE, MICH., DECEMBER 3, 1887.

REPRESENTATIVES of the largest holders of stock in the Kakagon, Sunday Lake, Bessemer and Nimikon mines are now in the Gogebic region endeavoring to effect a settlement of the labor and royalty claims against these properties. The major part of the stock in the mines named is held by men of means, who do not propose to lose their investment if there is any way by which it can be saved. They have put up a large amount of money to settle outstanding claims, and the mines will probably soon be running along smoothly again, and under a better general management than they had before.

A NEW YORK financial paper is informed by its Washington correspondent that the prevailing desire among the members of congress is to avoid extremes in legislation, and shape congressional action so as to promote rather than check the prosperity of the country. The conviction is very general among the law-makers at Washington, he says, that 1888 is going to be a "big business year," as the conditions are highly favorable to continued activity in all lines of trade and industry, and they feel under an obligation not to interfere rashly with the laws affecting business, lest they might throw out gear a system that is, on the whole, working quite satisfactorily. Congress is in a remarkably sensible frame of mind if this be true. As a rule, its members are full of rash eagerness to change existing laws and effect visionary reforms at the beginning of a session, and only begin to discern the wisdom of taking things coolly as it is drawing to a close. According to the correspondent's report, this congress is starting in just about where preceding ones have left off, from a common sense point of view, so we are warranted in expecting it to make a wonderful record.

One of the most influential republican papers in the northwest, the Minneapolis Evening Journal, had this significant editorial utterance in its issue of Monday:

The convening of politicians in Washington at the opening of congress to-day stimulates the discussion of the question of presidential candidates. The managers are anxious to hear reports through the members of the feeling in various localities. Until Mr. Blaine announces that he does not want the nomination his friends will continue to urge his claims. As long as Mr. Blaine is regarded as the heir to the nomination, that fact is bound to influence the action of his party representatives on the tariff question in congress. It is time to get rid of the idea that Mr. Blaine monopolizes the brains of his party on this question: it is time to question whether he is the most available man for candidate for president; it is time to consider whether Mr. Blaine is in full accord with the majority of his party on the tariff issue; or whether he has not lagged behind the growing sentiment of the country in favor of a reduction of the tariff so far as to be out of harmony with it. If he isn't, that is in his favor, but we would like to see that question faced squarely.

The significance of the above consists in that it shows the paper from which it is taken to be almost squarely in accord with the president on the subject of tariff reduction. In this, however, it but gives expression to a strong and growing sentiment in the republican party, which is outspoken in its demand for such revision of the revenue and tariff laws as will give the people relief from burdensome and unnecessary taxation.

OPINIONS ON THE MESSAGE. President Cleveland's message to congress took the newspaper men by surprise, first by its brevity—it was only one-quarter as long as they had been led to expect it would be—and next by its novelty in dealing with only one subject and giving that thorough treatment. They were prepared to review a long, prosy message in the old-fashioned way—the democratic papers commending and the republican organs condemning everything in it—but as it was not either long or prosy the comments on it partake somewhat of the nature of the message itself, being fresher and more readable than the regulation president's-message editorial that we have been accustomed to.

The Milwaukee Sentinel, republican, says of the message: The president has done well to omit the recapitulation of facts and figures already made public in the several departmental reports, which usually lumber up a message, adding to its length while discouraging readers from attempting its perusal. He has also shown shrewdness in confining himself to the single topic in which he is most interested, as by that means he draws increased attention to it, and, in the most emphatic manner possible, indicates to his political supporters that they must harmonize and unite in carrying his suggestions into practical effect. The one topic of the message is the necessity of reducing the surplus revenue, with an argument in favor of accomplishing the object by a reduction of the tariff. The argument contains nothing new. If it appeared as an editorial in some free trade journal it would attract no attention. Every suggestion it contains has been repeated until it is threadbare. Its interest, therefore, lies in the fact that the author is a president, who is seeking a re-election, and who is endeavoring to harmonize factions of his party who differ radically in regard to the tariff policy of the country.

It is easy to read between the lines that Mr. Cleveland is a free-trader, who, at the same time, does not wish to lose the votes of protectionists. It cannot be said that the message throws any new light upon the problem before congress. It was not, however, designed for that purpose, but was intended as an appeal to the members of the president's party to do something by which to improve the position of the party in the coming political canvass. The Wisconsin, of the same city, also republican in politics, commends the message for its brevity, agrees with the president in his recommendation of an enlargement of the free list, says it will be "widely read and discussed," but thinks that what congress should provide is not a method of reducing the surplus, but a broad-gauge plan for spending it. The gist of its observations is contained in this extract:

Many of the president's arguments are adroit and polite, but he does not cover the whole question. If Mr. Cleveland were really a grand man he would have recommended that $100,000,000 be appropriated at once to national educational purposes. Illiteracy is growing frightfully throughout the land, and the education of the masses is not only the well-spring of our future strength, but does more to insure the safety of the republic than vast fleets and great armies. Had he been a great statesman he would have grasped this question in all its bearings, and the money could thus be invested at better interest than in any other form.

The Detroit Evening Journal, independent with a strong republican leaning, regards it as a "reform" message in a praiseworthy respect. It is brief, and "not a mere dumping ground for department reports already published." By dealing exclusively with the subject of tariff revision it emphasizes its necessity, that paper observes. On the whole, it approves of the message, but thinks the president should have been more specific in his recommendations—should have, in fact, named the articles on which the duty should be reduced or taken off, and stated the reduction each should bear. To do this would be to treat congress with disrespect, as it would infringe on the functions of this body. President Cleveland knew where to halt better than the Detroit paper knows how to tell him.

Queerly enough, the Evening News, of Detroit, a rabid anti-Cleveland paper, finds the message much to its mind, and concurs fully in the president's recommendations to congress regarding tariff revision. Congress can scarcely ignore so strong an appeal for a readjustment of the burdens of taxation and legislation to provide against further accumulation of surplus revenue, in its opinion. It conceals that the "absolute necessity of early legislation" to remedy the evils of the present laws relating to taxation is strongly put, and the danger arising from their continued operation plainly pictured. Which is no faint praise for Mr. Cleveland, coming from so unfriendly a sheet as the Detroit Evening News.

PROHIBITION BY COUNTIES. Elections under the local option law have already been held in several of the lower peninsula counties, and in every case thus far the result has been unfavorable to the liquor dealers. This can only be regarded, however, as a reiteration of the verdict rendered by the voters of the same counties in the election of last spring, when these counties were carried for the prohibition amendment by large majorities. It is practically, therefore, nothing more than putting into effect a prohibitory system in organized communities where the sentiment was previously overwhelmingly in its favor, and marks no substantial gain for prohibition in the state at large.

In counties where they encountered an adverse majority last spring, the prohibitionists are not showing much inclination to attempt further restriction of the liquor traffic than can be effected under the existing license law. The local option law merely enables them to assert their absolute possession of ground which was theirs before, to all intents and purposes. When they capture a county that went against their proposed amendment last spring they can justly claim to have achieved a victory worth hurrahing over, but not till then.

A MIND DISEASED.

MONOMANIA SAID TO BE THE ONLY SAFETY OF MANKIND.

An Expert's Opinion of Lunacy and Lunatics—A Product of Gin—Cleanliness Run to Seed—Religious Fervor—Foreign Pauper Lunatics. "It is difficult to draw the line betwixt sanity and lunacy," said the late superintendent of an insane asylum, who finally ended his days at Napa, where he was sent as an inmate, to a reporter. He was an entertaining monologist, and as instructive as he was entertaining. "I, in common with many physicians," said he, "contend that every one is a monomaniac, and he who escapes polymania is a fortunate man."

"I am often asked what I consider to be the most frequent cause of insanity," he went on, "and I, in my turn, have put the same question to all men of our profession who have made disease of the mind at all a specialty. A young doctor from Dublin answered the question tersely with one word, 'Gin.' " "Yes, I suppose alcohol is responsible for a great deal of it, and yet the French have fewer insane than any people upon earth, and with them the red wine is drunk by the ton, and it contains a large per cent. of alcohol. Overwork, stimulated by the prevalent spirit of rivalry, breaks down the brain forces of the American; but his body generally succumbs, as well, so that our insane are violent and short lived, while in Great Britain it takes the form of dementia, and the patient lives on and on and dies in a maudlin condition of old age.

"The county of York, in England, is divided into what is known as the East and West Riding. In early times so many miles was called a day's riding. Well, in the West Riding alone of Yorkshire there is a public asylum containing 1,300 native lunatics. Besides, there are those kept at home by friends or sent to private institutions, and the other half of the county is furnished with another asylum of even greater capacity.

"We're not any abnormal condition of mind sad to contemplate, some of the freaks of monomania would be most amusing. Many times what appears but a leading characteristic or modification of character in youth assumes at middle life, especially with women, distinctive features of lunacy. "I remember a lady I knew in her young married days, who was noted for her splendid housekeeping. Not a speck of dirt was to be found, even in the remotest corners of her dark closets. The parlor fairly shone with cleanliness, and even her kitchen was a poem in the beauty of its absolute order and freedom from the smallest smirch.

"Ten years later I visited her, and before she allowed me to enter she asked me to rub my feet on a series of mats before the door, and before she offered me a chair she wiped it carefully with a neatly hemmed cloth that she constantly held in her hand or kept in the pocket of a large apron she wore over her elegant robe de maison. "It did not occur to me until I had been a couple of hours in the house that my hostess was a mad woman, nor did even her husband suspect it, so slowly had this thing crept upon her; but she is today in an asylum with a dust rag in her hand, and not a grain of dirt mars the utter cleanliness of her apartment.

"Kleptomania is one of the most common phases we find, and," added the doctor, with dry humor, "it appears to be confined to no class or condition of men. The real kleptomania is generally confined to the stealing of some class of articles, and arises from antenatal disease or convulsions, and is usually outgrown by adults, though it is not uncommon with children.

AN AGGRAVATING CAUSE. "Religious fervor is probably the most frequent aggravating cause of insanity in this country. I remember visiting a country asylum where there were thirty-seven patients. Twenty-eight of these had gone mad over religion. Five had been sunstruck, two had received falls and one had been frightened deaf in a hotel fire. And this same large percentage of religio-maniacs prevails in nearly all of our asylums.

The Lawyer and the Cashier. A Bank Cashier who had Stolen $60,000 from the Bank and skipped out to Cincinnati Went to a Lawyer and said: "How can I Fix Matters so as to be safe from the Law?" "I will Arrange to have the Bank Settle for Half the Amount," was the Prompt reply. "When this had been done the Thief Expressed his Great Pleasure and Satisfaction, and inquired: "And now what shall I Pay you for your Services?" "The Other Half, sir," was the Calm reply. Moral.—It's a Wonder the Lawyer left so much for the Bank.—Detroit Free Press.

COMMON COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

A regular meeting of the common council of the city of Marquette was held in the council room on Saturday, the 3rd day of December A. D. 1887.

The minutes of the council meetings of November 24th and November 19th were read, when Alderman Wetmore stated that in regard to the election of Alderman Carl Rohl, he simply asked the city attorney if a council meeting not having been called on the Thursday following the special election would affect the eligibility of said alderman to take his seat in the council.

The bond of marshal Michael Ryan, with Joseph Fay and Carl Rohl, and the liquor bond of Foubert & Rouberg, with William R. Wright and Adolphus Lonstine as sureties, were on motion approved and accepted.

The communication of James R. Dea, hoping the council would extend the time for receiving the electric light bids, was on motion of Alderman Connors, seconded by Alderman Zerbel, referred to the electric light committee.

The communication from residents and property owners on Third street, from Superior to Fisher streets, stating that boys—almost young men—gather there, using offensive language, and make night hideouts, was on motion, referred to the city marshal.

The following petition from Hon. Peter White was presented and read: To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council of the City of Marquette.

GENTLEMEN:—In reading the published proceedings of the common council at its last meeting I notice the action in changing the name of Pine to White street.

While thanking you for the compliment I most earnestly protest against the change proposed, and beg that you will reconsider the action, and thus leave the name as Pine street.

These are some of the reasons why the change should not be made: 1. Many lots have been sold and conveyed as so many feet front on the east or west side of Pine street, and extending so many feet deep from Pine street, so that changing the name would tend to confusion and unnecessary trouble.

2. There is a well-recognized harmony and significance in naming streets, Pine, Spruce, Cedar and Walnut, as the streets are named lying east of High and north of Ridge street, which would be broken and violated by this change.

There are still other good reasons for not changing the name, which I will not detail, as I deem the foregoing of sufficient importance to warrant my request.

If a majority of the council desire to please me in this matter they will at once reconsider and annul the said change.

When that portion of the Presque Isle road which lies north of Captain Smith Moore's addition becomes public property I intend to ask the city council to name it "Presque Isle Avenue" or "Boulevard," which name will signify to an inquiring public where it leads to.

Again thanking you for the honor intended in the compliment and earnestly and respectfully begging that you will grant the request herein contained, I am, with great respect, Your obedient servant, PETER WHITE.

Alderman Ekstrom, seconded by Alderman Zerbel, moved that said petition be referred to the street committee, whereupon Alderman Hennessey, seconded by Alderman Connors, moved an amendment that it be granted at once, which was, on a vote being taken, carried, and the petition granted.

The following communication from Alderman Palmer was, on motion, referred to the street committee: MARQUETTE, Nov. 7, 1887.

To the Common Council of the City of Marquette: DEAR SIRS:—I had occasion to dig up the monuments planted at the angle point in the center of Lake street in the rear of D. H. Merritt's residence, and find that the west end of the stone wall at its base is only nineteen feet and six inches from the center of Lake street as per centers planted by George P. Cummings, C. E., whereas it should be twenty-five feet from said center line of Lake street. All of which is respectfully submitted.

L. C. PALMER. The petition of residents and property owners on Superior street praying that a sewer may be constructed on said Superior street, to connect with a sewer already laid on said street, thence west to Fourth street, was, on motion of Alderman Zerbel, seconded by Alderman Ekstrom, referred to the street committee.

Alderman Ekstrom, chairman of the committee on police claims and grievances, reported back and recommended that certain bills referred to said committee, be paid, with one or two slight reductions, and the report was, on motion, accepted.

It was moved by Alderman Ekstrom, seconded by Alderman Rohl, that the time for receiving electric light bids be extended till December 17th inst, at 5 o'clock P. M.

The following report of the commissioner of parks and cemeteries was presented and read, and, on motion, accepted.

To the Honorable the Mayor and the Common Council of the City of Marquette, Mich.: GENTLEMEN:—Your commissioner of public parks and cemeteries has the honor to report as follows: During the past season I have taken down the fences from the west line of the old cemetery, moving it nearly half a mile distant to the west, taking in of new ground into the cemetery something over thirty (30) acres.

I have caused a road or drive-way to be graded and macadamized, running south of this new extension; also across the west end and down the north side, joining the old drives in the old cemetery. The new part has been largely graded and leveled up, and the place for a pond or lake nearly excavated, which will be a beautiful addition to the grounds.

A new tier of lots has been laid on the south side, through the entire new part, or nearly so.

The old cemetery has been improved in many ways during the past season. I have caused a stone wall to be put up for a retaining wall on the east of the cemetery, being the west line of Seventh street.

This was necessary to support the fences, and this wall should be extended toward the south as far as Bluff street next year. I have expended in these improvements $2,987.22, and I have received for sale of lots $1,969, leaving balance due me $1,318.22.

For this amount I beg that you will grant me an order on the city treasurer. I enclose the vouchers. Any further information on this report can be given you by Mr. James E. Jopling, who has superintended all this work. I did not intend to expend more money on these improvements than I should receive for the sale of lots, but it was impossible to keep a close account of it, and before I was aware of it, I had expended the above amount in excess. If I should be your commissioner next year I will try and keep within bounds of the receipts.

All of which is respectfully submitted. PETER WHITE. Park and Cemetery Commissioner.

STANNARD ROCK LIGHT. [THE MINING JOURNAL makes no apology for the poem which appears here in print for the first time. It was written by one of the keepers of the lonely light in the midst of Lake Superior's waters, while one of the fiercest gales of October was dashing the seas against the straight tower of stone which rises from the lake's bosom.]

Stannard Rock light, Lake Superior. Is seen both far and wide: It warns the watchful mariner Of the dangers that betide A far-extending sunken reef, That is guarded day and night By signals ever loud and clear— May God guard that lonely light!

It stands in lonely grandeur, And is a monument of skill. A noble work of human hands. 'Tis hard to find, except where you will. It holds its own with mighty strength. While the storm winds show their might And the lightning's flash around us light— May God guard our lonely light!

At sunrise dark clouds gather That predict the coming storm, And the winds increase in fury. The waves begin to form— Across the reef like mighty foes They rush in angry foam. With the sound of distant thunder Around the noble tower of stone.

There are many posts of honor That are held by men of fame, Who serve their country faithfully And earn a noble name; And the keepers of a lighthouse, Though humble be their sphere, The lives and wealth of thousands Do watch from year to year.

And when our watch on earth is done, And our life's light burns no more, May the commander of commanders Call us to that happy shore Where there's peace and joy eternal In the haven of the blest, Where the wicked cease from troubling, And the weary are at rest.

THEIR BUSINESS BOOMING. Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade as H. H. Stafford & Son's drug store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free. Large size $1. Every bottle warranted. 3

Branch League Meeting Tuesday Evening. They Want to Play Polo—Current Topics Briefly Treated.

The Irish National League. The regular annual business meeting of Robert Emmett branch No. 407, Irish National League of America, was held at Donahoe's Hall, 206 West Division street, on Tuesday evening. The meeting was called to order at 8:30 o'clock by T. F. Donahoe, president. The annual report of the treasurer was then read and accepted. The report showed that the receipts for the year were $363.84, the disbursements $316.85, and the cash balance remaining on hand $46.79.

The election of officers was made by acclamation, the following gentlemen being chosen to fill the offices of the branch for ensuing year: President, T. F. Donahoe; vice-president, T. J. Dundon; second vice-president, James Clancy; recording secretary, Albert F. Lane; financial secretary, John Garvey; treasurer, Patrick H. Donahoe.

An executive committee of eight members was then chosen, the president of the branch being also a member by virtue of his office. The members of this committee are as follows: Peter Fitzpatrick (chairman), Dennis Mooney, Michael Shea, Thomas J. Dundon, Patrick J. McGinty, Phillip Connell, Michael Hughes, Dennis Quinlan.

An adjourned business meeting of the league will be held at Donahoe's Hall on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the first entertainment will be given at Austin's Hall on Tuesday evening, December 20th. At the business meeting to be held on Sunday afternoon all members of the league will be expected to be present, if possible, and renew their membership by paying the dollar required for annual dues.

Polo.

The Superior polo club, of this city, has been endeavoring to arrange for a series of games with either the Marquette or Houghton club, but so far the manager has not been successful in getting up a game. The Superior club won the championship of the upper peninsula two years ago, and the boys feel that they ought to be given a hand in where there is any polo playing going on. As there is no large rink here it would be necessary to play at Marquette or Houghton in case a series of games were arranged for. If there is any polo club in the peninsula that feels like having a chip knocked from its shoulder it can be accommodated by dropping a line to the manager of the Ishpeming club.

W. U. Tel. Co. Change.

Mr. S. E. McCabe, who succeeded M. Lynch as manager of the W. U. Telegraph company's Ishpeming office on December 1st, has sent his resignation to headquarters, and will leave the city tomorrow to resume his old place at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, first visiting his parents at Watertown, Wis.

Mr. John Garvey, who has been in the freight department of the C. & N. W. office here for a year and a half past, will take the place vacated by Mr. McCabe tomorrow. William Piper will remain as night operator.

Charles H. Billings, formerly traveling salesman for D. L. Van Moppes, diamond merchant, is at the Nelson with a fine line of diamonds and carbons, which he will be pleased to show to intending purchasers. Mr. Billings now represents the New York diamond house of S. Desseau & Son, and wants all his old friends and customers to keep giving him their trade.

Business men are greatly pleased to learn that the Northwestern railway will run two through trains daily between Ishpeming and Milwaukee. Better train service has been needed, and the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Co. will lose nothing by putting on the day train which is to begin running next Monday.

The Snow Shoe club hasn't been out yet this winter. The members are anxious to open the season with a ten-mile tramp on snow-shoes, but some of them have a prejudice against walking without snow, and out of deference to their feelings the other members of the club are holding themselves "in leash."

Mrs. James was arrested recently on a charge of assault and battery, the complaint being made by Mrs. Charles Archib. The case was called for trial Tuesday afternoon, in Judge Kennedy's court, and was adjourned until Monday, December 12th.

M. Lynch has begun a suit against John Jones for damages, the charge being malicious slander and defamation of character. E. E. Osborn is attorney for the plaintiff. The case will be tried at the February term of court.

The cornice of the Jenks' block is being put on, and the outside work will soon be finished. When completed this block of five stories will be one of the finest business buildings in the city.

The Mulholland exploration near the Winthrop mine is looking well, and if indications are reliable, the property will develop into a good mine.

C. L. Sheldon has a very large line of felt-sole slippers and shoes which are being sold at low prices.

At the common council meeting held last night very little save routine business was transacted.

The "Crescent" roller rink was opened for the second time last night with a large attendance.

A. W. Lindholm offers for sale cheap a good house and lot on Strawberry hill.

The second floor of the McKey building, corner of Main and Peare streets, is receiving some needed improvements in the line of fresh kalsomine and paint.

PERSONAL.

J. A. Reul, of Appleton, is at the Nelson. Mrs. H. C. Osgood, of L'Anse, is in Ishpeming.

E. H. Hawes, representing the New York Life Insurance company, is in Ishpeming. Ed. Blake, of Negaunee, came to Ishpeming for a few hours' chat with friends Wednesday afternoon.

C. B. W. Oden, of Chicago, representing "Kurru," an illustrated literary and news journal for Sweden in America, has been in Ishpeming for several days securing subscribers for his paper. His trip has been a successful one, and Mr. Oden says that Ishpeming is about as good a business town for its size as he has been in America.

LOVE IS LORD OF DEATH.

"'Tis true; I shall love thee forever, I know, While suns shall rise or tides shall flow, And when on my heart lies death's hand cold, I shall love thee then as in days of old."

I shall look for the light of thy dark blue eyes, When o'er the sea heaven's glories rise, For one glance from those eyes will be to me The glory of immortality.

Through the streets of that city of burnished gold I shall look for my love of the days of old—I shall look for her voice 'mid the angel's strain, Without her 'e'en heaven were eternal pain!

And, love, dost thou know how fully thy name Is woven with every dream of mine? I have dreamed, and all that time nor eternity Holds faith or love that does not mean thee —Home Journal.

THREE INTERVIEWS.

RE.

One morning in August, 1868, Dr. George Iyarde, of the 4th South Carolina infantry, then on special duty at Richmond, Va., was passing down a line of new recruits drawn up for medical inspection. He put them through the usual precautions. They swung their arms, rose up on their toes, rolled their eyes, and put out their tongues after the manner of their kind, while he perfunctorily thumped and scrutinized them until a critical darter in a melon patch.

At last he halted before a medium sized, yellow haired, thin, whose barehead face, slender physique and evasive, not to say nervous manner indicated that youthfully slender was strongly contending with the fiery resolution that had doubtless brought him hither. His preternaturally large bright eyes hardly ever rose in their places above the surgeon's sash and sword belt.

His face and neck were well tanned, yet his features were of classic regularity and his hand small and shapely. The routine questions as to age, etc., were answered with evident reluctance. The doctor seemed to grow suspicious for he suddenly pressed his knuckles sharply against the youth's chest. The latter sprang back with a swift appealing glance at his tormentor, who abruptly turned, passed to the next man and so on down the line. When he had finished, Dr. Iyarde returned to the lad, and consulting his list, said in a cold, official tone: "Your name is Oliver Wild?

"Yes, sir." "You will come with me, Wild. Your case seems to require special attention."

"The surgeon led the way, while Wild, who seemed upon the ground, quickly followed him into a private office, when the latter closed the door and turning to the would be soldier he said sternly: "Now, miss or madam, how long have you been residing in this attire and what is your real purpose?"

"The youth looked up with a brightened countenance of feature, then assumed with effort a hardened, indifferent air, saying: "I really don't make out to understand ye, sir."

"I will make my meaning plain. You are a woman. It is difficult to conceal such things from a physician who knows his business. Do not deny it. I would save you from a more public exposure. Your motives though wisely mistaken may be various; yet, though the Confederacy needs soldiers badly, we can do without women in that capacity for a while yet. I also fear that in your language, as in your actions, you are veiling your real station in life by an assumption of ignorance as unnatural to you as it seems degrading to me."

As Iyarde concluded, the other lowered his gaze to the floor and remained obstinately silent. The doctor resumed: "You will see that it is impossible for me to pass you. Yet if you have a real desire to serve your country, there are other ways wherein you may do so without unsexing yourself. There are—"

"Do you really think so?" she interrupted. (We may as well say "she" now.) Her earnestness she forgot her cracker dialect and intonation, and spoke with a pure and refined enunciation. "Certainly," replied Iyarde. "There are hospitals needing good nurses; also the Sisters of Mercy and charity of various religious and secular orders who follow the ambulance and brave shot and shell to accomplish good work on the battlefield. The courage of the soldier is far more essential than the devotion of those who minister to him—man suffering and faithful tends to the living. Even your face and hands are artificially tanned."

Before she could resist he took one of her hands, pushed up the coat sleeve, revealing thereby a shapely white arm. Through the brown upon her cheek he saw the rich color rising as she hung her head. At this period some one entered the outer office, and the doctor, bidding her to remain there until his return, went out, closing the door behind him.

It was several minutes before he came back, only to find that the would be recruit had vanished. An open window looking into a back yard, that communicated with an alley leading to the street, explained the manner of her exit. He afterwards made various discreet inquiries, yet heard of her no more, finally abandoning the quest with a feeling of pity. She had interested him more than he felt the heroine of such a french escapade deserved. There was a contradiction and a mystery involved in it that puzzled and fascinated him; yet as the months wore on these impressions gradually faded into a vague, gently regretful memory.

SHE.

Sister Maria Jones, a nurse of the order of the "White Cross," attached to the ambulances of Gordon's division, was attending the wounded in the rear of the trenches back of Richmond. The time was the winter of 1864. Grant was drawing his cordon tightly around the doomed city. Without those battle worn lines were all pomp and circumstance of war; within, its puffing and desolation. The men in the rifle pits were stretched to the utmost limit consistent with safety, and the fighting was incessant and severe.

One day Sister Maria was called on to attend a young surgeon, whose professional ardor on the field had subjected him to a dangerous wound. She started back at the sight of his pale, luminous face, then quietly settling herself with a new resolve, she hardly left his side for two days. He was then taken to Richmond, where better accommodations could be secured to him. After his departure Sister Maria continued her work of mercy as usual, yet there were graver lines upon her face and at times a soft, introspective light in her eye, while she might have been detected in committing certain thoughts to her diary that she would never willingly have made public. The next entry after the wounded surgeon's departure ran thus: "He is gone, and so ends my brief dream. He recovered his strength sufficiently to endure removal, and during one lucid interval he recognized me. It happened that I alone was by his side. His brown eyes opened with a bewildered glare; he looked around him wearily, then fixed his gaze upon my face. In spite of myself I blushed and looked down. Then I heard him murmur, as if to himself:

"It must—my little recruit—ran off."

Mr. D. Coughlin left for Illinois and Iowa this morning for the purpose of purchasing another lot of horses. The motto with him is "Quick Sales and Small Profits."

CALUMET. CALUMET, Dec. 7.—Yesterday was a day of sensations at Red Jacket and Calumet. When the MINING JOURNAL reporter reached here on the 6:30 p. m. train he found the mine on the street that Clarence W. Wentworth, a young man who keeps a photograph gallery in P. Halman's building opposite L. Hermes & Co.'s store had shot himself accidentally.

Upon going to Wentworth's gallery he found the door locked. A few minutes later the reporter found Dr. H. H. Mansueu at his office in the Bank block. The doctor stated that about 2 o'clock he had been called to see Wentworth at his gallery and found him with a bullet wound in the right arm above the elbow. Drs. Lawbaugh and Rod were called in consultation and after putting the man under an anesthetic the work of probing for the bullet was begun.

"The bullet was lodged in the left arm dressed antiseptically. The doctor stated that the wound was a very severe one and that the shock was great, but about the cause or how Wentworth was injured he was non-committal. Returning to the art gallery the reporter was admitted. Wentworth was lying on the lounge in the reception room surrounded by three or four young friends. Upon being asked for information concerning his injury he at once made the following statement: "About 2 o'clock John P. Curtis and H. P. Shives entered the reception room of the gallery. Two ladies were in the room who left as they entered. Approaching me Curtis asked me if I had any photographs of his wife. I told him I had not. He then asked me if I had any negatives of her in the building. I told him I had. Just as I answered him I saw him pull a revolver out of his overcoat pocket and point towards me. I started about to get out of his way. He shot and I staggered into the operating room, exclaiming 'I'm shot!' I fainted and fell to the floor. Curtis and Shives left at once. They were not in the room more than five minutes. Mr. Henry Vigers, an artist employed by Wentworth, stated that he was in the operating room and overheard the conversation and that he did not see them enter but recognized Curtis' voice when he spoke. After the shooting he went to Wentworth and helped him up, and then went for Dr. Manseau. Wentworth was asked whether he knew of any reason why Curtis should do such an act. In reply he said he knew of none, but supposed he was jealous of attentions given his wife, but if such was the case he was blameless, for he had paid her no attentions except kindness, same as was exhibited towards her by other boarders, he having boarded in Curtis' house last summer. Although the facts of the shooting were known to the officers Curtis was not arrested yesterday. This forenoon prosecuting attorney Dunstan and sheriff Healy, who had been informed of the affair at a late hour last night, came out on the 9:30 A. M. train. Dunstan at once went to Wentworth's room at the Commercial House, accompanied by Justice McDonald. They there took Wentworth's sworn statement of the affair. Afterward Justice McDonald was instructed to issue a warrant for the arrest of Curtis and Shives. Curtis went to Houghton at the 1 P. M. train to obtain counsel to defend him. When he left here the warrant had not been served on him. A complaint for simple assault, we believe, had been made out against Curtis this morning.

Shooting match number two was that of the Loveloy family, who live at Calumet village, near the old Mineral Range depot. They live in an old shanty and are a disreputable lot. Frank Loveloy furnished a 38-caliber revolver at the head of his son-in-law, who fired one shot and missed his mark. A butcher in Sailor & Sampson's meat market rushed out and took away the deadly weapon. No complaint has been made; therefore, no arrests.

"I wish I hadn't touched him." "Why, dear?" "I'm afraid I've spoiled my chances of marrying."—Omnia World.

ON DRESS PARADE.

The M. S. S. C., With Band, Torches and Regulation Costumes, Opens the Season.

THE CASINO TO BE OPENED SATURDAY EVENING BY THE M. C. B.

The Diphtheria Scare at the Asylum Over Reid and the Plymouth—Sixty New Vessels.

The Opening of the Season.

Over forty members of the Marquette Snow Shoe club formed in line at the Casino last evening, and headed by the Marquette City band, marched up the hill to Ridge street, down Ridge to High, north on High to Arch, east on Arch to Pine and then to Hodgkins, where they strapped on their snow shoes for the tramp to the club house. The marching music of the band, the flaring torches and the long lines of snow shoes in costume drew hundreds out into the streets to witness the parade, while whenever the music ceased the shrill "Hi-Hi-He" of the club rolled down across the bay and awakened even the Choccolay boom.

Everybody was in high spirits, and the new members of the club, of whom a large number were out, entered into the spirit of the thing as keenly as did the veterans of three seasons. At Hodgkins the band took possession of the sleigh which had been accompanying the procession for their use, and started on ahead for the club house. As soon as the club was ready the order was given to fall in by twos and the tramp on snow shoes commenced, the line moving down Pine to Hewitt avenue and then west, taking to the woods between Front and Third streets. Many decided to walk out in the road, fearing that there was not snow enough in the woods to make good shoeing, but those who stuck to the procession found that the walking was much better than had been anticipated. When the order was changed to single file the line made a very pretty sight moving through the woods, the torches lighting up the dark pine-tops overhead and throwing into bold relief each tree trunk and snow-laden shrub.

Just as the trail-breakers came in sight of the club-house lights and the usual yell rolled back along the line, the band, within the house, struck up a lively air, and continued playing until the last of the snowshoers had entered the main hall. Selection followed selection until the first division of thirty was summoned from the club house to the grub house, and then one of the liveliest incidents of the evening occurred to gladden those who waited. A lively scuffle arose between two exuberant members of the club, and such a tumult ensued that the two big dogs which sometimes accompany the club on its tramp decided that they were called upon to take part in the melee, so waded into each other with a vigor which made the fur fly. The scene which followed beggars description. In a trice half a dozen red-stockinged snowshoers were dancing a jig on the top of the piano, while others swarmed up the sides of the club house or mounted chairs, tables and benches in a wild endeavor to get out of the way. Everybody was howling with delight while the belligerent purps, Stoves and Scip, the largest canines in Marquette, rolled over and over on the floor and their respective owners danced hopelessly about them in a frantic endeavor to end the rumpus. In the midst of the scene the dogs rolled into the immense open fire-place, which certainly did not serve to cool them off. When they were finally separated and w. w. peace again appeared on the scene, every person present had yelled until there wasn't enough breath left in the assemblage to toot the smallest horn in the band.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart surpassed all previous records in the supper provided for the famished clubites, and the latter tried conscientiously on their part to also eclipse all former records. At the conclusion of the festivities at the club house, which ended with a concert by the club orchestra and the glee club, followed by a closing selection by the band, a serenade was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Stewart and the young ladies by the M. C. B. in behalf of the club. It was sweet, but short, for the horses of the band sleigh became restive and started for town in the midst of the serenade. The club was so well pleased with the band that it is proposed to have a grand parade in costume again later in the season, when the additional suits now in "process of construction" are completed.

Fun for Saturday.

The Marquette City band has leased the Casino for Saturday evening of this week and will open it for skating and dancing. The full band will be present and will play for skating until 10 o'clock, when the floor will be cleared for dancing, dance music being furnished until 12 o'clock. The admission will be very reasonable, only twenty-five cents being charged, and there should be a big turn-out. Make it a benefit night for the band and everybody go, the music alone will be worth the visit to the rink, while it will be one of the rare chances of the season for those who are fond of roller-skating. Let the rink be well filled Saturday evening.

Sixty New Steamers.

There are now under contract at the shipyards of the lakes sixty boats, all but five of which will be propelled by steam.

Seventeen of the steamboats will be made entirely of steel, and their average valuation is about $250,000. The total valuation of the new tonnage under contract is $8,325,000. The boats representing an aggregate carrying capacity of 108,525 gross tons. Of this total Cleveland will build eighteen boats, the value of which is $3,392,000. Three of the boats to be built there for the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway company will not be ready until 1889, but all other boats in the list will come out before July next. The new boats under contract at this time a year ago numbered thirty-one. Their valuation aggregated $4,074,000 and their combined carrying capacity was 65,750 gross tons. Thus it will be seen that the tonnage which will be built this winter is about double that of a year ago.

Milwaukee & Northern Traffic. Owing to the vastly increased number of trains on the Milwaukee & Northern railroad, rendered necessary to accommodate the freight and passenger business of the company since the completion of its line to Champion, Mich., and its connection there with the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic road, the work of handling all trains from the dispatcher's office in Milwaukee has become burdensome. Orders were issued last Sunday to cut the circuit at Green Bay and open up a new office from which all trains running north from that point will receive orders. Mr. Marsh, former operator at Green Bay, has been installed as assistant train dispatcher, by chief train dispatcher F. D. Tucker.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

The Plymouth. Mayor Reid went to Marquette this morning to look after his new purchase, the wrecked schooner Plymouth, it having come to his ears that parties were taking off her cargo of coal. Reid & Co. bought the boat for $1,200; she is worth, at least, $20,000. Mr. Reid does not expect it will cost a large sum to raise her in the spring.—St. Ignace News. The prospects are that Reid will have a choice collection of kindling wood in the spring and that Munson & Co. will save the coal, which belonged to them by purchase before Reid bought the barge's hull. The Plymouth would make pretty good kindling wood already.

Abating. The diphtheria scourge which caused such a panic at the orphan asylum seems to be abating. There have been no new cases in the last few days, and the physician and the sisters believe that there will be no more, the quarantine having been very rigid. The two deaths at the very outset are all that have occurred. In this connection it may be stated that the asylum and St. Joseph's academy, the convent school, are kept entirely separate, so that there is no chance for the disease to make its appearance among the pupils of the academy.

REPORTORIAL PENCILINGS. Marquette merchants are already beginning their holiday window displays. Some of the displays are very rich and artistic.

Dr. Markham will have his office at his residence, corner of Front and Bluff streets, and not in the Frei block as stated yesterday.

H. E. Bittner has just purchased the MacArthur property on Michigan street, between Fifth and Sixth streets, and is fitting it up for rental.

It was a hard matter to determine last night which was enjoying the evening the most, the members of the M. S. S. C. or the members of the band.

Captain Grummond, of Detroit, has taken the contract to release the Osceola from Port Austin by June next, the sum stated to be $15,000 delivered in port of safety.

It is stated that Mr. J. C. Lewis has had a stroke of paralysis within the last day or two. The news will be received with regret by his large number of friends and acquaintances.

The furniture store of J. F. Mack, Jr., contains a very elegant line of fine rockers, sofas, etc., which, for Christmas presents, can't be excelled. Mr. Mack is up to the times and is drawing a good trade.

L. Grabower, the popular dry goods merchant, is especially well stocked up for the Christmas trade. Among the many new goods for the holidays he has a fine line of muffs, silk handkerchiefs and mufflers, which will make very acceptable presents.

Yesterday J. B. Sweatt broke ground on the south side of Ohio street, between Front and Third, for a residence for Mr. E. E. Bittner who will make Marquette his headquarters as the upper peninsula representative of the Detroit firm with which he has been during the last year. It will be the first house in the block on that side of the street.

The S. S. S. S., "Sorosia Snow-Shoe Strollers," held a business meeting yesterday afternoon to elect officers, and determine upon a constitution and bye-laws, each member of the new club being resolved that it should no longer be said that they were embarking on the troubled sea of clubdom without a Constitution. They're bound to have that now, even if the supply of chewing-gum has to be limited in consequence.

That pocket-book was restored yesterday morning—early. Pencilings wishes to explain that it was not his pocket-book, but "Cother fellow's." In the first place, his editorial passes are so rarely used that they 'em under lock and key; in the next place, none of his notes have yet been cancelled, and, lastly, he has never found a pocket-book a necessary article of furniture, possibly because he never got far enough ahead to buy one and never had the luck to have one given him.

The latest supplement to Inland Lloyd's register offers the following in regard to the wrecks of last month: Wrecked, total loss—propellers S. H. Johnson, Osceola, Pacific, tug W. S. It happened Tuesday evening, and a well-known Ishpeming business man was the victim. The scene was in Nich Barth's. The Ishpeming b. m. had failed to catch the train for home and wanted to telephone up to his partner an explanation of the affair. He was shown the telephone, and taking down the number he applied it to his ear knowingly and began talking away at his partner without even ringing up the Marquette "central." He told how he came to get left, supposed that his partner was busy at work, etc., until Nich had a convulsion and had to give the joke away to all the "boys." It cost the Ishpemingite something to do that telephoning, and even then no one would promise to keep still about it.
