The lodge had decided to relax from the business duties of a regular secret session on that night, and, with their friends, enjoy an evening of recreation and pleasure. To that end a Hay. Left Her Husband.

Mrs. Mary Venticinque and Michael AGRICULTURAL LANDS Mallico, Italians, were arrested Saturday afternoon by officers Cunningham and Hansen on a warrant issued by justice Primeau, charging them with adultery. The parties were living on a rocky bluff not very far from the New York mine at Ishpeming in a wretched hole. The complainant in the case is Gabriel Venticinque, the woman's husband. Mallico sent the woman money while she was in Italy to bring her to this country, and since she came here she has lived with him. As an excuse for her conduct she Salt, Plastering Hair and Oil; also him. As an excuse for her conduct she says Venticinque was getting too old and that that she was tired of him. The woman is not at all ill-appearing, but Mallico's countenance shows him to be cunning schemer. He is well educated. When the parties appeared before the magistrate they asked for and were granted adjournment until Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. Being unable to furnish bonds, they were committed to the city jail for safe keeping. The woman had her little girl with her, and when her husband asked for the child she gave her up without reluctance. She made loud protestations, however, when the officers refused to put her in the cell with Moliico.

In the Police Courts.

John Morris was arrested Saturday by officer Lentz on a warrant issued by justice John Jones. Morris was charged with trespass by G. Sporley. The trial was held in the afternoon. It appeared that Morris hauled wood from Sporley's ands after he had been informed that he was trespassing. Morris paid Sporley $10 and settled the costs.

John Young, who had just come from Finland, and John Earney, who was showing him the town, were arraigned Saturday morning by officer Lentz before justice Jones. They were each fined $5 and

The Steamers of the World. Recent statistics show that the number of steamers existing in the world in 1886 was estimated at 9,969, of an aggregate burden of 10,531,843 tons. In the previous year the number was stated at 9,642, of an aggregate burden of 10,291,241 tons. The world's steam shipping in 1886 was thus distributed: Iron steamers, 8,198, of an aggregate burden of neons, 50. From the above figures it appears that, notwithstanding the great depression prevailing in the steam shipping trade, the number of steamers afloat last year increased to the extent of 327 as compared with 1885.-

Not Shut Out.

In last Saturday's Iron Ore, in the ourse of a half-column article on the slander suit of Mr. M. Lynch against Mr. John Jones, it is stated that "the Western Union is a powerful corporation and he (Lynch) cannot secure employment at his profession. He is virtually blacklisted and shut out." The MINING JOURNAL IS willing to leave the settlement of this case to a jury, and will not go into the details of the matter further than to say that Mr. Lynch is not blacklisted, and can get a position with the Western Union at any time he desires. He has brought the suit against Mr. Jones for the purpose of proving that there are no grounds whatever for connecting him with the loss of money which was taken from the C. & N. W.

The Constracts Signed.

For some time contractors have been figuring on plans prepared by Mr. J. A. The successful contractor was virtually decided upon a week or so ago, but the contracts have just been signed and permission at last given to make the matter public.

The contracts have been let to Thomas H. Hamilton, of Toledo, one of the best known timber work contractors in the state of Ohio.
