FIVE IN ONE GRAVE.

The Dead Chicago Anarchists are Finally Interred in Waldheim Cemetery.

THEIR BODIES ARE ALL PLACED IN THE SAME TOMB.

Mrs. Parsons Creates The only Excitement. By Dramatically Fainting—The Addresses—A Quiet Affair.

SECOND BURIAL OF THE RED.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—The four anarchists who were hanged August 11th,—August Spies, A. A. Parsons, Adolph Fischer and George Engel and Louis Lingg, who cheated the gallows by committing suicide the day before, were placed in their final resting place in Waldheim cemetery. There was no disorder. The only dramatic feature of the occasion was brought about by Mrs. Parsons, the dusky widow of the dead anarchist. She had kept in the back ground at the cemetery during the first part of the exercises, but a few moments before Captain Black, chief counsel for the anarchists, concluded his address, and while the spectators were in a matter spell-bound by the captain's rhetoric, some one shouted:

"MAKE WAY FOR MRS. PARSONS." The solidly packed crowd gave way, a passage was made, and Mrs. Parsons, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. William Holmes, came forward. The nearest coffin to her was that of Spies. Her husband's was the second from this. Mrs. Parsons eyes seemed to pick out the casket in which she was most interested. At the moment her gaze caught it she gave voice to a wail which startled the crowd. Captain Black paused in his speech. The throngs were startled. Then came a scream from Mrs. Parsons which reached to the outer circles of the crowd. Thrice she strove to speak but the words refused to come out and she sank fainting into the arms of her friends. Captain Black came to the rescue by saying in a commanding tone: "Some one please take some fresh snow and rub the lady's face." Three men made soft snow balls,

RUBBED MRS. PARSONS' TEMPLES, and when she showed signs of consciousness she was carried away. The funeral arrangements consisted of two parts. The immediate relatives of the dead men left the city at 10 o'clock in carriages. They started from 635 Milwaukee avenue. At this place is a saloon, over which a labor union meets. It was chosen for the reason that it was a central point for the chief mourners. The public went by train from the Wisconsin Central depot—miles away from the other place. At the depot there were no scenes. There was only one police officer in uniform, but there were five city detectives scattered about. The first train to start was the regular suburban one. It consisted of six cars partially filled. Half an hour later

THE SPECIAL FUNERAL TRAIN pulled out of the yards. There were ten cars behind the engine. These cars contained not over 800 people. There was no sorrow displayed by the occupants. In fact the demeanor of the people was that of a picnic. When the train arrived at Waldheim station a stampede was made for the cemetery. The crowd gathered around a lot about 1,000 feet from the entrance. The vault in which the bodies had been kept was situated a few hundred feet to the north. Quickly the coffins were taken from the lot and carried to the spot where the expectant crowd was assembled.

SPIES' CASKET CAME FIRST borne by six members of the Aurora Turnverein; Fischer's second, the pall-bearers, members of Typographical Union No. 6; Parsons' was in the hands of members of his own Assembly 1307, K. of L.; Engel's was taken care of by the German Fresco Painters union and Louis Lingg's was carried by a committee from Carpenters Assembly No. 241. The caskets were placed on biers, the undertakers removed the lids from the coffins at the same time that the chief mourners took their places. Among the latter were Chris and Ferdinand Spies, their sister Gretchen, and their aged mother; Nina Van Zandt with her father; Elsa Friedel, "Lingg's girl"; Mrs. Fisher with her daughter; and close to her was Mrs. Schwab, whose husband is in the penitentiary. All of the women were dressed in heavy mourning.

NINA VAN ZANDT WAS A STUDY. Not a sign of emotion appeared on her features. She chatted continuously with Captain Black. The only one who showed tears at this time was Gretchen Spies. J. B. Buchanan acted as master of ceremonies. Mounting a box he directed the crowd to file past the coffins to take the last look at the faces of the dead. The features of all the dead were what is called life-like—that is, the embalming process had been a success. Not a sign of decomposition was to be seen. So many people wished the privilege of looking at the faces that Mr. Buchanan announced that the unsatisfied crowd should keep on moving and looking while the speeches went on. Before the addresses were begun

A MEMORIAL HYMN was sung by the Milwaukee Socialist mennerchor. Then Captain Black spoke. His address was remarkable in that it upheld in most fervid and eloquent words Christ as the example for his hearers to follow. His English auditors appreciated it, but the Germans, who were nine-tenths of the listeners, made no sign of approval. After Captain Black came Paul Grotkau, of Milwaukee, who was followed by Albert Currlin, of St. Louis. Both the speakers were frequently applauded, but Currlin carried off the honors in this respect. Mr. Buchanan then ordered the lids of the coffins screwed on. At this moment Mrs. Fischer stepped forward and laid on the glass of her husband's coffin a cabinet photograph of her two-year-old daughter, and simultaneously placed

IN ENGEL'S COFFIN several copies of the Arbeiter Zeitung. Just as the word was given to the undertakers to remove the caskets, a representative of the Cleveland Brewers union stepped to the front and laid a wreath on them. The grave had been made one hundred feet north of where the ceremonies took place. It was twelve feet deep and leading to it was an incline dug out of the earth. At the bottom of the receptacle is a block of granite on which rests a bed of cement. Granite blocks are the walls and the top is two blocks of granite a foot thick. This stone-encased grave was made to fit exactly five pine boxes in which the five caskets were quickly placed. The remains were carried

DOWN THE INCLINE and the sexton and his assistants as quickly placed them in position. Spies lies to the west, his head to the north, and beside him lie, in order, Fischer, Parsons, Engel and Lingg. While this was being done the relatives came down the incline. The first emotion of Nina Van Zandt was here displayed. At this time she broke down, but her tears were quickly stanchoned and during the rest of the time the young lady showed no violent grief. The grave diggers with the help of a derrick then began to place the big granite cap stone in position. The cap stone was lowered, cement was spread over it, and the crowd walked quietly out of the cemetery, leaving the defense committee to see that the grave was properly filled with earth.

THE COPPER MARKET.

The Close of a Most Exciting Week on The New York Exchange—The Closing Prices.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—To-day closed the most exciting week on the metal market during the copper boom. Sales have been large, and fluctuations rapid. The copper sales here amounted to nearly 5,000,000 pounds in this market, while in London 6,275 pounds were sold on a steadily advancing market. Although the London exchange closed to-day for a holiday, private cables to this side announced an advance of 10s. in the price of Chili bars. Everything offered on the other side at $81 per ton was quickly taken. Great Britain consumers entered the market Friday and bought in large quantities. Many purchases were said to come from the ship building interests. The New York copper market opened steady to-day. It looked bearish at first until large orders for about 600,000 pounds came in. At the close of the exchange, December deliveries brought 17.70 to 17.75, January 17.90 to 17.95, February 18 to 18.05, March 18.10 to 18.15, and May 17.15 to 17.20. These were unaccepted bids. The iron market was quiet with low prices and few sales and those only at retail.

A BREWERS' BOYCOTT.

The Keely Brewing Co. Will Buy No More Barley Grown in Iowa or Kansas.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Considerable stir has been created here by the announcement that the Keely Brewing company has instructed its brokers to purchase no barley grown in the states of Iowa or Kansas. The announcement reads as follows: "When purchasing barley for our account you must have a guarantee from the seller that the barley was not grown in either of the states of Iowa or Kansas or shipped from any town in either of those states." John P. Taylor, secretary of the Keely Brewing company, is quoted to-day as saying: "No, it is not an attempt to punish these states for their prohibition principles. But if they won't buy our beer, it is quite proper that they shouldn't buy their barley, isn't it?" Mr. Taylor said he issued the order because he thought the Minnesota and Wisconsin barley was better than the Iowa and Kansas barley and because there is no need of buying from them if we can get as good or better some where else." At other brewers it was said the matter up to the present time concerned only the Keely company. Louis Huck, the millionaire maltster, said the deliberations of the Brewers association were held in secret. If there were such a movement as intimated he would join heart and soul. The farmers of Iowa were hypocrites, he declared, pretending to believe in prohibition and raising barley for the manufacture of whiskey and beer.

Another Electrical Invention.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 18.—Daniel Drawbaugh, of Ebert's Mills, who claims to have invented the telephone, is at work on a novel electrical apparatus which he believes will be useful in time of war, either on land or at sea. He asserts that by the use of his new contrivance the approach of a body of men or ships can be detected ten miles away.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19, 1 A. M.—The signal service notes the following as its predictions for the next thirty-six hours: for upper Michigan snow followed by colder, fair weather; brisk to high northwestern winds with a cold wave.

LINNELL'S FUNERAL.

The Victim of The Trafalgar Square Riot Buried with Imposing Ceremonies.

THE FUNERAL CORTAGE NEARLY TWO MILES IN LENGTH.

Germany Sends Pacific Overtures To Russia—Austria Will Exercise Increased Vigilance—Acting in Unison.

ENGLAND.

THE FUNERAL OF LINNELL. LONDON, Dec. 18.—The funeral of Linnell, who died in a hospital from injuries said to have been received in the riot at Trafalgar square, took place to-day. The funeral was made the occasion of the most imposing public demonstration seen for many years. As the procession neared the cemetery it was a mile and a half long, and it is estimated that there were 100,000 persons in the crowds that thronged the streets throughout the route. When the procession reached St. Paul's Catholic church the band playing the dead march in Saul and the cathedral bells ceased chiming as a token of respect. The cortege avoided Trafalgar square. All the extremist clubs in London were present. Beyond a few isolated conflicts with the police, the affair passed off quietly.

Parliament will meet on February 9th.

ACTING IN UNISON.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—Sir T. F. Grovo, member of parliament for the Wilton division of Wiltshire, who was elected as a unionist, has become a Gladstonian.

The Vienna correspondent of the Daily News says: Austria and Germany are acting like one nation with regard to the war scare. Austria takes no step without Germany's approval.

GERMANY.

WITH CONCILIATORY INSTRUCTIONS. BERLIN, Dec. 18.—The National Zeitung says that Gen. Von Schweinitz, the German ambassador to Russia, returns to St. Petersburg with conciliatory instructions. Prince Bismarck, the paper says, counsels Austria, while strengthening her military position, to avoid giving provocation to Russia.

The emperor to-day received Hung Tuen, the Chinese minister, and Marquis Sarozine, the Japanese representative. Count Herbert Bismarck was present at the interview.

It is officially explained that the court circular yesterday announcing a meeting between the emperor and General Von Moltke and others conveyed the erroneous impression that a military council had been held. The emperor, it is stated, did not hold a council but merely gave a reception to General Von Moltke and others.

The crown prince accompanied by prince Henry and the duke of Edinburgh, took a long walk to-day.

Prince Frederick Leopold is seriously ill with gastric fever.

AUSTRIA.

BOTH EYES WIDE OPEN. VIENNA, Dec. 18.—The military council in this city to-day was presided over by Emperor Francis Joseph. There were present the prime minister and cabinet and Count Kalnoky. Previous to and after the council, Herr Von Lissa, the prime minister, had a conference with Count Kalnoky. The council resolved that the unexpended portion of the credit of 52,000,000 florins voted last spring shall be applied to the purchase of equipments and construction of huts for troops in Galicia. No increase of the forces in Galicia has yet been decided upon, and if there is no further augmentation of Russian troops on the frontier, Austria will adhere to the policy of observation.

Another military council has been summoned for to-morrow.

It is semi-officially stated that the cabinet shares in the belief that pacific relations with Russia will be maintained. No difference exists except with respect to Bulgaria. Austria is ready to assist in a pacific solution of the question, but the announcement in the Invalides that Russia projects a whole series of military measures of which the recent increase of forces in Poland is only a part, enjoin increased military vigilance. Austria must keep pace with Russian plans. Count Von Taaf and Herr Von Tiza agree that the summoning of the delegations in the meantime would be inopportune.

RUSSIA.

A SMALL CONFLICT. ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 18.—The Official Messenger says there has been a conflict in Syria between Bedouins and Druses, in which the latter had 100 killed and 300 wounded.

Stabbed Over a Dog Fight. ST. LOUIS, Dec. 18.—Friday evening at Steckerville, Missouri, William Kirk, killed his brother-in-law, Robert Kirk. The quarrel grew out of a dog fight during which Robert kicked the wrong dog whereupon William stabbed him in the neck with a dirk severing the jugular vein.

The Hibernian Society. PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18.—At the quarterly meeting of the Hibernian society last evening President Cleveland, William E. Gladstone, Governors Biggs, of Delaware, Beaver, of Pennsylvania, Fitzhugh Lee, of Virginia, and Gordon, of Georgia, were elected honorary members.

DELAYING THE GAME.

Action on The Cabinet Nominations Not Expected Until After The Holidays.

THE SENATORS UNANIMOUSLY FAVOR AN EARLY ADJOURNMENT.

Some Little Wind Exercise Looked for During The Week, but The Transaction of Important Business Not Anticipated.

THE COMING WEEK IN CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—There is no joint purpose on the part of the senate either to do or abstain from doing any given thing during the coming week unless the unanimity of opinion in favor of beginning the holiday recess on Thursday or earlier be accounted a purpose. The senate calendar contains only three bills which can be taken up for action. One of them provides for refunding to the states the direct tax of 1861 and the other two relate to ports of entry in Oregon and Washington Territory. A dozen measures lie on the table, some of which will doubtless be called up during the week by their originators.

AS TEXTS FOR SET SPEECHES, and will then be referred to the proper committees. Among them are the civil service resolution of Mr. Hale; the postal telegraph resolution of Mr. Beck; the constitutional amendment proposed by Mr. Dolph, empowering congress to legislate upon marriage, divorce, polygamy, etc.; the bill introduced by Mr. Plumb, providing for the erection of public buildings for postoffices; Mr. Mitchell's bill to abrogate all treaties and repeal all laws which permit the immigration of Chinese; Mr. Palmer's bill to regulate immigration, and the two postal telegraph bills offered by Mr. Edmunds and Mr. Cullom respectively.

THE BUTLER RESOLUTION to form a special postal telegraph committee still lies on the table, under a motion to reconsider, which will probably be taken up and disposed of to-morrow, or at least before the holiday recess. The matters of greatest interest before the senate in executive session are the cabinet nominations, and these seem to be awaiting the motion of the judiciary committee, to which the nominations of Messrs. Lamar and Vilas were sent. The committee has held no meeting thus far and none has yet been called for to-morrow, though Monday has for many years been its regular meeting day.

THE DELIBERIES IN GENERAL among senators that no action will be taken upon these nominations until after the holiday recess. The nomination of Secretary Fairchild has already been reported from the finance committee and that of Mr. Dickinson is ready to be reported from the postoffice committee. Should the senate see fit to confirm the nomination of Mr. Dickinson before it acts upon those of Messrs. Lamar and Vilas, the president will doubtless withhold the commission until such action is taken. The total number of nominations before the senate is 129, not more than a dozen of which have yet been reported back from committees. The sub-committee of finance which has for more than a year been studying the subject of fraudulent undervaluations, has perfected an elaborate bill of twenty-four printed pages, which will be submitted to the full committee to-morrow morning, and probable reported to the senate during the day.

THE HOUSE'S PROBABLE WORK. The few days in which the house will be in session during the coming week, will, in all probability be devoted to the discussion of the rules which are to govern the proceedings of the house for the present congress. The committee on rules, which it is learned on authority will be the only important committee appointed before the recess, will be announced to-morrow, and an early adjournment will be had in order to enable that committee to organize and proceed speedily to the consideration of the proposed changes of the rules, which have already been referred to it.

Mr. Townsend (Ills) may call up for action his resolution setting apart a day for the introduction of bills for reference, but it is not likely that it will receive favorable action, until the committee on rules shall have passed judgment upon the proposition that private bills shall be presented through the petition box and not in open house. In view of the propriety of having a code of rules to guide the house framed before the holiday recess, the committee on rules will endeavor to submit its report on Tuesday of Wednesday, thus making it possible for the house to consider the matter and adopt the report before the adjournment on Thursday.

A Cold Wave Coming. ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 18.—It has been snowing heavily in northern Minnesota all day, a foot having fallen at Brainerd. Both Brainerd and Duluth report trains somewhat delayed. The weather is mild and the snow packs badly. The signal officer here to-night issued the following: "A cold wave will extend over Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin. The temperature will fall fifteen to twenty-five degrees by Tuesday morning."

The Cherokee Internal Trouble. CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—A special from Vinita, Indian Territory, says: Ex-chief D. W. Bushyhead, who was ousted from the executive mansion of the Cherokee government last week, has issued a call to his followers to meet him in council at Campbell's store, about thirty miles from Vinita, Monday. The call is for 200 men to seek redress for the wrongs done the Bushyhead party and also to gain control of the government.

FIRE AT MILWAUKEE.

The Immense Art Emporium of J. C. Iverson & Co. Badly Strained.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 17.—The building at 425 East Water street occupied by J. C. Iverson & Co., manufacturers of and dealers in picture frames, pictures, mirrors, etc., was wrecked by a fire which broke out at 3 o'clock this morning. The building is a four-story brick structure, and stands on the west side of the street, between Wisconsin and Mason streets. It has a frontage of about thirty feet and extends back to the river. The book store and bindery of Edward Quinn, adjoining Iverson's on the north, was flooded with water, entailing a heavy loss.

The fire started on the third floor, near the elevator shaft, which is toward the rear of the building. This story was crowded from floor to ceiling with mouldings, frames and other material, all of the most inflammable nature, and the fire made rapid progress. The loss in Quinn's book store was caused entirely by the water, which leaked through from Iverson's building. The third and fourth floors, which were occupied as a bindery and stock room, respectively, were drenched. The second floor which was also used as a bindery was badly soaked in the rear, but the front is not damaged much. Some $2,000 worth of blank books which were ready for delivery to the St. Paul Railway company were safely removed and carried to the Kirby House.

The total insurance on the building occupied by Iverson is $20,000. The insurance on the building occupied by Quinn amounts to $28,000. The total insurance on Iverson's stock is $104,000, distributed among companies represented by Milwaukee agencies. The total insurance on Quinn's stock is $5,500, which will about cover the loss.

Mr. Iverson said this morning that he thought the stock, which he valued at over $130,000, would be almost a total loss, and that the loss would certainly be over $100,000.

The fire was discovered by M. W. Eddynean, a traveling man, who had come in on a late train and was just about to enter the Kirby House, when he noticed the fire and gave the alarm.

MADE A BANDIT BY LOVE.

The Strange, Remarkable and Romantic Career of a Mexican Woman.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 18.—Senora Amastoa Rubio de Pasadero, a female bandit of renown, was hurried by the side of her lover at San Antonio, Zacatecas, Mexico, yesterday. In early womanhood her intended husband was killed by federal troops, and on his grave she swore vengeance. Her oath was to kill five men every year of her life. She more than kept it. Her first exploit was to rob the Aguas Calientes stage near Zacatecas. Single handed she drove the postillion to flight, halloed the stage and ordered a supposed band of assistants concealed in the woods not to shoot unless resistance was offered. The eight passengers gave a good booty. She continued a career of robbery for many years, which terrorized citizens of Sinaloa and Sonora, and enriched herself. The authorities and troops were powerless to suppress her. She bequeathed her fortune to charities, dying a natural death in obscurity.

JOINS THE OTHER TWO.

James Robinson is Found Guilty of Murder in the First Degree.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 18.—James Robinson, the third and last of the murderers of detective Huggan, of this city, was to-day found guilty at Ravenna of murder in the first degree. The case was given to the jury at 3:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon and the verdict was returned at 6 o'clock this evening. Robinson received the announcement without any visible emotion, but his two sisters, who reside in Pittsburgh, were almost heartbroken. They wept and embraced their brother time after time. The scene was affecting in the extreme. Robinson's case has been hotly contested, scores of witnesses having been brought from Pittsburgh and Allegheny City to prove an alibi for him.

VICTORY FOR IVES.

The Charge Brought Against Him by Mr. Dexter Dismissed.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—Justice Kilbreth, of the Tombs police court to-day dismissed the case against Henry S. Ives, who was charged by Julius Dexter, of Cincinnati, with stealing a draft for $100,000 from the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad. Neither Mr. Dexter nor his counsel was in court. Ives, his lawyers, and several friends were there and when the defendant was discharged he was congratulated. Ives says he will at once institute proceedings against Dexter, claiming $10,000 damages for malicious prosecution.

Will Support the Lehigh Strikers.

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. J., Dec. 18.—A convention of Reading railroad employees began here to-day. There are 300 delegates present from local assemblies of the Knights of Labor on all branches of the road in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, representing miners, coal handlers, iron workers and general railroad men. Three sessions were held with closed doors and the delegates are very uncommunicative. The objective of the meeting is to discuss all labor questions directly affecting Reading men, particularly the Lehigh miners' strike. It was resolved to stand by the strikers in their demand for 8 per cent advance and all local assemblies will be urged to contribute financial aid. Over one hundred boats are lying at the Reading docks in this city and the employees refuse to load them.

Don't Desire Free Coal.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—The Central Labor union to-day refused to adopt a resolution demanding that congress should remove the duty from Canadian and other British coal, to protect the American people from the grasping greed of the coal barons. A resolution demanding that congress place a tax upon the imported barrels used by the Standard oil company was referred to the law committee.

Ten Men Killed In a Wreck.

MONROE, N. B., Dec. 18.—A fearful disaster occurred last night near Carogaque station on the Northern division of the Intercolonial railroad. It is reported that a train went through a bridge and that ten men were killed. No particulars have yet been received.

WHISPERS OF WAR.

Russia's Relations With the Other Powers Are Still Very Much Strained.

BERLIN, Dec. 17.—Emperor William held to-day an informal council on the military situation which is understood to have a special bearing on to-morrow's military council at Vienna. Whatever measure is there adopted will be taken in consonance with a concerted plan for a demonstration against Russia. Reports have reached the Berlin war office which describe the Austrian defense works in Gallata as neglected, while the movements of the Russian troops show an accurate knowledge of the weak points for attack. These statements, which were sent to Vienna, have stung the war office there into night and day activity. All measures that are decided upon are communicated to the Berlin authorities and the inspiration of Count Von Moltke is supposed to guide the Austrian preparations.

The result of to-morrow's conference is eagerly awaited. Berlin officials are of the opinion that the outcome of the council will be nothing more than an accelerated dispatch of troops to the frontier. The time has now come for a collective note from the allied powers demanding an explanation of the Russian concentrations.

General von Schwelinitz, the German ambassador to Russia, will return to his post at St. Petersburg to-morrow. If the czar approaches him upon the question of mutual armaments General von Schwelinitz is believed to be charged to represent that the German diplomatic and military position is unchanged and that peace is dependent upon the cessation of Russian measures against the league of peace.

Government circles, both in Berlin and Vienna, are becoming convinced that the allies mean to attack Russia early in the spring. Military circles in Vienna regard the campaign as an event close, and are of the opinion that it will be opened within two months.

Peter Lloyd, the organ of Herr Tisza, Hungarian premier, contends for the necessity of hushing Russia in the event of war occurring, and so rectifying the frontier as to disable her from causing further trouble in Europe.

From Constantinople reports come that under the promptings of Herr Von Radwitz, the German ambassador at the porte is hastily extending the fortifications on the Bosphorus, and German engineers are supervising the work. The whole tenor of news is warlike.

No measure that the present reticence has considered has so notably shown the national spirit, uniting all parties, as the new military bill. Yesterday's debate was a succession of patriotic speeches untinged by party bias. The debate has been especially gratifying to the government. The absence of opposition has proved that every section of the house has become permeated with a sense of near danger, and is ready to respond to whatever demands the government deems expedient.

To-day the cereal bill was read for the third time. It includes an amendment raising the duty on oats to four marks. All paragraphs were adopted in the form approved in the second reading and the whole bill finally passed. The reticence adjourned until January 17th.

THE LINE COMPLETED.

The Last Spike In The California & Oregon Railroad Driven.

ASHLAND, Ore., Dec. 17.—The California & Oregon railway was completed to-day. It affords for the first time an all rail communication between the northern and southern cities on the Pacific coast, and places under the control of one railway corporation an unbroken line from New Orleans to Portland, Ore., 3,000 miles. Special trains from San Francisco and Portland brought large numbers of prominent gentlemen of both states to attend the ceremony. The party from Oregon included the governor and other state officers. The California train was greeted along its route by crowds of enthusiastic people.

Leaving Reading for the north the heavy train was drawn up the steep approaches of the mountain by three engines, reaching Tison this morning, 4,000 feet above the level of the sea, and at the base of Mount Shasta, which rises 10,400 feet higher. From here on the stupendous character of the engineering difficulties in compassing the Shasta range began to be revealed. Ascending the Klamath range the railway forms loops, the track itself rising in tiers, the road at one point traversing eighteen miles in ascending, and at another descending, in accomplishing an air line of six. During the forenoon the Siskiyou tunnel, 3,300 feet in length, was traversed, and its companion, 1,400 feet in length also passed through. This last tunnel delayed the construction of the road to some extent.

Mr. Crocker struck the blows which completed the road and simultaneously fired cannon in Portland and San Francisco. After prayer by Rev. F. G. Strong, Governor Penneyer, of Oregon, spoke briefly.

New Minneapolis is situated on the Minneapolis, Sault Ste. Marie & Atlantic railroad at the head of Big Bay de Noquette. A glance at the above map will show the advantages of its location for flouring mills, grain elevators, furniture factories, nail mills, saw mills and furnaces. Its location is unsurpassed. A quantity of fine building stone on the townsite affords good facilities for building. Deep water along the whole front of the town makes a good harbor. Situated half way between Escanaba and Manistique, it bids fair to become a prosperous town. Free sites will be given to anyone locating industrial institutions in the new town. NEGAUNEE JOTTINGS.

The Sparring Contest a Fizzle—Affairs in Justice Court—Progress on the School House—Personal Mention.

Failed to Materialize.
 The fifteen-round sparring contest between Doc Mack and Billy Lachapelle, announced for Saturday night, did not materialize. Doc Mack came down in the morning and applied for a license for the exhibition. Mayor Kirkwood refused to allow a license to be granted, and gave the police instructions to prevent the exhibition, and to make arrests if an attempt were made to go on with the contest. The parties failed to show up at the opera house in the evening, so there was no occasion for police interference. Mayor Kirkwood is determined to have no prize fights or boxing contests take place in Negaunee during his administration, and in this he has the approval of the majority of the citizens.

In Justice Court.
 The cases of Edwin Carlson, Alfred Anderson and Hans Johnson vs the Boston Iron Mining company, to recover wages in the sums of $24, 40.75 and $79 respectively, were called by justice Primeau Saturday morning. The plaintiffs were represented in person and by their attorney, James L. McClear. There was no appearance on the part of the defendant company. The court rendered judgments for the amounts stated, and costs of suit, in favor of the several plaintiffs.

The garnishee case of Joseph V. Vacca vs Michael Molloy also came on for a hearing before justice Primeau. "Mike," who figured in the Ventecinq family row, is a fair scholar, and Vacca gave him $14 to send to his (Vacca's) inamorata in Italy to bring her to America. Instead of sending the money, Molloy appropriated it to his own use, and hence the suit. Judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff.

Christmas Eve.
 Lake Superior Iron Council No. 15, Royal Templars of Temperance, will give a supper at McDonald's opera house on Christmas Eve. The supper will consist of an abundance of delicacies. After the dinner has been satisfied there will be an entertainment, consisting of songs, vocal selections, readings, etc. The proceeds will go to the incidental fund of the lodge. All those who wish to come and enjoy themselves are cordially invited.

Under the laws passed at the last session of the legislature labor debts were made preferred claims. Several workmen here, whose wages were not forthcoming as promptly as they should, have taken advantage of the new law. If certain steps are taken at the commencement of such suits, the plaintiff's attorney fees have to be paid by the defendant.

The young man who was in partnership with Tyack, the defaulting proprietor of the rink, and who was, by the way, victimized with the rest of those who took Tyack's word at par, assumes the management of the rink and will run it as it should be run. The new manager has lived in the city for some time and stands well here.

The South Shore road dispensed with the services of the Gold street flagman when the ore trains were pulled off. Mayor Kirkwood has notified the company to keep a flagman there, that crossing being much more dangerous than the Silver street one, on which a flagman is always on duty.

Mrs. John Curran died at the residence of her husband on Kanter street Thursday, of a rheumatic complaint of long standing. The deceased leaves a husband and three children. The funeral took place Saturday morning from St. Paul's Catholic church.

The parties who are up here insuring horses are doing a good business. The company is well recommended and the scheme, though a novel one, takes well with owners of horses.

To reduce his stock, preparatory to transferring the business to other hands, N. McLeod offers to sell articles in his store at cost. Note his announcement elsewhere.

The school house roof is now about ready for the slate. The men have begun work on the tower, when completed, this will set off the structure nicely.

The patronage of the Milwaukee passenger for the first week has been very fair and the accommodation afforded is appreciated by travelers.

No tidings have been obtained of Tyack, the lad who skipped out with the door receipts. The fur will fly if Ferriman runs across him.

A board of trade was organized at Gladstone last Tuesday. It proposes to do its share toward pushing the village to the front.

One or more tank cars filled with acid pass through here daily, en route to the copper county.

Letter From the Assistant Foreman of the Delivery Department—A Subject in Which Thousands are Deeply Concerned.

About five years ago I suffered from painful urination and great pain and weakness in the lower part of my back, pain in the limbs, hot taste in the mouth, disgust at food, and great mental and bodily depression.

I live at 211 York street, Jersey City, and on arriving home one night I found a copy of Shaker's Almanac that had been left during the day. I read the article, "What is this Disease that is Coming Upon You?" It described my symptoms and feelings better than I could if I had written a whole book. My trouble was indeed "like a thief in the night," for it had been stealing upon me unawares for years. I went for a bottle of Shaker's Extracts of Roots, or Fesler's Syrup, and before I had taken one-half of it I felt the welcome relief. In a few weeks I was like my old self. I enjoyed and digested my food. My kidneys soon recovered tone and strength, and the urinary trouble vanished. I was well.

Millions of people need some medicine simply to act on the bowels. To them I recommend Shaker's Extract in the strongest possible terms. It is the gentlest, pleasantest, safest and surest purgative in this world. The most delicate women and children may take it. One point more: I have all the more confidence in this medicine because it is prepared by the Shakers. I may claim to be a religious man myself and I admire the Shakers for their zeal, consistency and strict observance. What they make may be trusted by the public.

For sale by all druggists and by A. J. White, 14 Warren Street, New York.

MARQUETTE, MICH., DECEMBER 19, 1887.

Entered as mail matter of the second class, in the post office at Marquette, Mich.

The Boston Herald states that the Tamarack company has contracted for its third head of stamps, to be delivered on the cars at Milwaukee April 15, with a forfeiture of $25 for each day of delay. This head should be pounding rock about May 1.

The Florence Mining News says that the Prospect Hill mine, "the only Moore-Benjamin property on the Menominee range," is in a bad way financially. The paper gives these particulars: The company operating it is in debt to the amount of about $19,000 and advices from Milwaukee, where the principal office of the company is located, are to the effect that a quorum of stockholders cannot be secured. Efforts have been made to hold a meeting for the purpose of devising some means of raising the debt on the property, but they have been unsuccessful. The Prospect Hill was formerly known as the Traders. Moore, Benjamin & Co. secured it about a year ago and organized a stock company with a nominal capital of $1,000,000, divided into 40,000 shares. The stock sold as high as $3 and $4 per share at one time. The property was put in the Lake Superior consolidation deal, which fell through some time since, at $260,000, a figure far beyond its real value. There is a fair-sized deposit of ore at the Prospect Hill, but it is not merchantable.

THE HARD-UP PORT.

The peevish old Iron Port, of Escanaba, is obviously quite hard up for a club to use against this paper. A couple of weeks ago it sought to make the members of the K. of L. order believe that a four-line paragraph of ours which was applicable only to the anarchistic element that is trying to disrupt the order was a gross insult to workmen as a class, and was so intended by the writer. The Port did this with a fine assumption of indignation on behalf of the laboring class, but it was too plainly simulated for the purpose of making a point against this paper to be effective, and that endeavor to incite a "boycott" on the MINING JOURNAL was a disheartening fizzle.

But the poor old Port is up and at it again. It is to the producers of iron ore that it now appeals, as appears from the following paragraph in its issue of Saturday:

Since it got the cue from the president's message the MINING JOURNAL discloses that "the duty on iron ore is really no protection to the miners of Lake Superior." The MINING JOURNAL resents the imputation that it is a party paper—the Iron Port glories in its partisanship but will abandon its party before it will stultify itself in that manner. How much dependence can the mining men of the region place upon such a concern? What support does such a paper deserve at their hands? Seventy-five cents a ton duty of foreign ores would let them 150 miles farther west to compete with ours, but the MINING JOURNAL says "the duty is no protection." Mark that, miners.

A good many people who have given the matter thought contend that the duty on ore is really no protection to the miners of Lake Superior, who are protected, it is all, by the higher duty on iron in its finished forms. Those who so hold maintain that the cost of freightage west, and not the duty which foreign ore pays at the seaboard, is what protects our mines from harmful competition. A little figuring on this point, taking the price for which foreign ore is laid down at Atlantic ports and the rail charges it must pay before it meets ore from Lake Superior, will throw a great deal of light on the subject.

The statements embodied in this extract from our article—and on which the Port's comments are based—are absolutely true. Many of the best informed iron men believe precisely as stated—that the present tariff on iron ore is not high enough to afford any protection to the Lake Superior mines. It no doubt does something toward protecting iron mines in New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, but we doubt very much if its effect is felt far enough inland to in any degree benefit the iron mines of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. The protection afforded these by the tariff comes through the creation and maintenance of an iron making and manufacturing industry at points in the country where domestic ores can be had more cheaply than foreign, despite the low price at which the latter can be laid down at Atlantic ports. But suppose the MINING JOURNAL held to a mistaken opinion on this point, would that be "stultification?" Hardly. Unlike the Port, whose editor is a sage in spectacles, the MINING JOURNAL is not infallible, and sometimes—though but rarely—makes mistakes. It is never guilty of a deliberate meanness, however, and would much sooner stand convicted of holding a mistaken opinion on a question on which our ablest thinkers disagree than of a sneaking attempt to unfairly prejudice the popular mind against a contemporary by garbling its expressions, or putting a wrong construction on its meaning.

Regarding the insinuation that this paper took its cue from the president's message, it holds to precisely the same views regarding the reduction of taxation now that it held before the sitting congress assembled, or the message had been given to the country, as this extract from an editorial published in our issue of November 22nd sufficiently establishes:

Congress has been outrageously derelict hitherto, in neglecting to provide for a reduction of taxation by which the accumulation of surplus revenue would cease. It must shrink that duty no longer. The people look for relief from unnecessary taxation, and should have it. Nevertheless there is some reason to apprehend that so much political jockeying will enter into the treatment of this matter of revenue reduction during the coming session that whatever measure will be agreed on will be a piece of unsatisfactory patchwork which will fall far short of meeting the popular demand for a judicious and statesmanlike revision of our tariff and internal revenue laws.

As every well-informed person knows, there are two elements in congress, as in the nation at large, which approach this question from opposing points of view. One of these wants the reduction to be made wholly at the expense of the internal revenue, while the other seeks to accomplish it by a wholesale slashing of the present schedule of customs duties. But the better sense of the country is, we honestly believe, that the reduction should cover both. The people do not desire to see the tax on whiskey, tobacco, sugar, etc., abolished in order that unnecessarily high customs duties shall be maintained, on the one hand; nor do they favor such a lowering of the tariff as would work harm to our producing industries, on the other. What they ask and expect is a careful revision of the tariff, supplemented by such changes in the laws relating to internal revenue taxation as will bring the receipts of the government down to a volume closely approximating its requirements. If congress gives them this return, they will be satisfied; if it fails to do this, it will establish its incapacity to deal honestly and wisely with a simple proposition in legislation, and will deserve, and be visited with, popular reprobation.

NEXT YEAR'S OUTPUT.

Noting that several papers which give special attention to the iron mining industry are speculating somewhat on the probable production of the mines of this region next year, the Norway Current shrewdly observes that in making estimates for 1888 based on what our iron mines have done this year, it will be well to keep in mind what the probable requirements of the market will be next season. "It will be conceded," says that Current, "that the present year has been one of unprecedented activity in the construction of rail roads, and that while extensive building will be done next year, it is hardly probable that it will equal that of '87, as the railroads will to some extent be compelled to wait for civilization to catch up. As a large proportion of the iron output is converted into rails, it will be a question as to how much ore will be needed. In other words, it will be a question of demand rather than supply." This is a sensible view of the matter, and one that will readily suggest itself to the owners of mines, though it seems not to have occurred to some of the papers which are blocking out their work for the season of 1888.

The Current doubts if an output of 6,000,000 tons could find sale next year at profitable prices, and it also establishes, by a simple calculation, that if the production should reach that figure next year it would give the lake carriers the same advantage over the mines in 1888 that they enjoyed this year, and of which they did not fail to take full advantage. We doubt very much if the papers which are positively predicting so large a gain next season are benefiting the iron mining interests by so doing, though it is barely possible that the established reputation for unreliability in estimates pertaining to the iron industry which some of them have earned may correct the harm that their extravagant figures might otherwise work the producers of ore.

A FURTHER COMPLICATION.

It is now reported that there has been no sale of the Moore-Benjamin properties in the Gogebic district, the procedure of the Bessemer Consolidated Iron company's representative in placing the deeds covering the same on record having in view merely the recovery of money advanced to the representatives of the properties by the syndicate that had their purchase in contemplation while the negotiations for their transfer was pending last fall.

It seems that the deeds placed on record at Ashland last week were executed and placed in the hands of John H. Rice as trustee, to be held until the deal was consummated. It is presumed that some money was advanced by the syndicate to Moore & Benjamin to meet pressing demands at the mines. The syndicate now seeks to secure itself for these advances, and also for expenses incurred in the endeavor to carry out the projected consolidation scheme, by the adroit move taken last week, and which was wrongly interpreted by the public to mean that a sale of the properties had finally been effected.

It is questionable if the proceeding will stand the test of legal investigation, as the action of Rice appears to be a violation of the trust reposed in him. It is one more complication, however, in the series of those which have almost hopelessly tangled up what is known as the Moore-Benjamin "group" of Gogebic mines and mineral properties.

IS CONSUMPTION INCURABLE?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made." Jesse Middlesex, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Trouble. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at H. H. Stafford & Son's drug store.

AN END OF BONE SCRAPING.

Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well." Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucklen's Arnica Salve at 25c. per box by H. H. Stafford & Son.

WIVES IN THE CITY.

LITTLE REDRESS FOR WOMEN DESERTED BY THEIR HUSBANDS.

Marital Troubles Brought to Light in the Police Courts of New York City—Choice Between Pauperism and Starvation, Delinquent Husbands.

Men tired of their wives occupy more than a fair share of the time and attention of the police magistrates. The law gives very little redress to women deserted by their husbands. Before a magistrate can interfere at all in behalf of the woman she is obliged to apply to the commissioners of charities and correction for a requisition to the magistrate in the district in which she resides. This requisition empowers, or rather orders, the magistrate to issue a warrant for the arrest of the delinquent husband. Before obtaining this order on the magistrate the applicant is obliged to swear that she is without means of support, and that she will be obliged to call on the city to support her if her husband is not compelled to provide for her. If she asks for any of the luxuries of life she will not get them, because, having secured the arrest of her husband, she merely occupies the position of a witness in the police court. She has sworn that she will have to be supported by the city if the city does not compel her husband to provide for her; therefore the city takes charge of the unfortunate woman's affairs, and the husband into custody merely to protect itself from having another pauper to support.

FIVE DOLLARS PER WEEK.

This being the case, the woman is rarely allowed more than $5 per week by the magistrate for the support of herself and perhaps two or three children. If she has no children and can do work, or has children who are able to work, and who turn any of their earnings over to her, these facts are taken into consideration and the amount the husband is ordered to pay her is correspondingly lessened.

The husband may have made the wife's life so miserable that she cannot live with him. He boldly announces, however: "I never refused to live with her. She left me. I am willing to take her home with me now and support her."

"How is this? Is he telling the truth?" the magistrate inquires.

"I could not live with him. He abused me, called me all manner of vile names and said he wished I would leave him," the woman answers.

Although the magistrate may believe every word the woman says he is powerless to do anything but tell her to go home with the husband, and if he abuses her, to come back and have him arrested for disorderly conduct or assault. If the woman refuses the justice has no alternative but to dismiss the case and let the woman starve or become a pauper, supported by the city.

Many of these applicants for support have not been actually abandoned, but have been driven from their homes by the delinquent husband. The husband has been turning a mere pittance of his earnings into the house, drinking up the remainder and abusing his family every time he got drunk.

"If you would only give him a talking to and make him promise to do better, judge," the wife says. "Don't lock him up. The little money I get from him is better than none, and if he is locked up he can't earn anything."

LECTURING THE DELINQUENT.

The magistrate thus appealed to delivers a lecture to the delinquent and dismisses him if he does not treat his family better. The justice, however, rarely believes that this will have any lasting effect, and it very rarely does. In most instances the man is more firmly convinced than ever that his family are unable to get along without him, and he feels sure that his abused wife will not dare to appeal again to the court. The fear that her little income will be still further decreased by his imprisonment. Accordingly, he usually acts worse than before. If he continues to give some little support to his family his wife bears his abuse as best she can.

Sometimes such men become so reckless that they cease to be of the slightest benefit to their families and are locked up. The law is next to powerless with men whose incomes will allow them to live apart from their wives. If such men choose to contribute to the support of their wives they may abandon them at will and a police magistrate can do nothing to aid the deserted wife. Many wives are unable to swear truthfully that they are liable to become paupers. Many others will not submit to the humiliation of swearing so even if it is true.

Many refined, well educated women submit to all the humiliating preliminaries to securing the abandonment warrants, because of their just indignation at being abandoned for women whose physical charms are superior to their own. Such applicants are surprised to learn that the law is not framed to punish such offenses, but merely to prevent an increase of the number of paupers. The delinquent is merely called upon to give bonds to give his wife a certain amount each week.

Rare indeed do such men face their injured wives, even once a week. Some places has to be provided for the receipt and delivery of the weekly stipend. This has led the sergeants of the various police courts to assume a duty, which has of late grown to such proportions that it has become decidedly onerous. Sergeants of the police courts have more than fifty men on their lists who are thus handling their weekly installments. These are passed over to the deserted wives, and receipts taken. In many of the busier courts this list will include from 100 to 150 names.—New York Evening Sun.

Harpooning Boards at the Docks.

Among the boatsmen of our docks damaged boards are often found in considerable numbers. The other day an Italian fished for them very systematically just above the foot of Desbrosses street. He used a round piece of heavy wood, about three inches in diameter and eighteen long. One end of this was armed with a sharp pointed spike, while to the other end was attached about twelve feet of clothesline. Taking the stick in his hand, the Italian darted the spike into the end of a board, such as a sailor would harpoon a whale, and then carefully drew it up so that he could reach it with his hands and pull it up on the dock. The spike would sometimes pull out when the board was almost within reach, and one particularly attractive one had to be harpooned a dozen times before the Italian could call it his own. The man dries the boards thoroughly, then chops them into kindling wood, which he sells. He is said to be making a fair living out of the business.—New York Evening Sun.

The Main Point Vividly Indicated.

A little Sunday school girl, whose lesson had been about the story of the fiery furnace, was telling her mother about it. "And, mamma," she said, "that naughty king heated an oven just as hot as he could get it, put three good men in and they wouldn't cook a bit!"—Syracuse Herald.

REPORTORIAL PENCILINGS.

Sergeant Dent announces the approach of a cold wave. He states that there will be a drop of from fifteen to twenty degrees before Tuesday morning, and prophesies snow. We need it, for the sleighing is getting a little frayed about the edges here.

Miss Flora B. Culver celebrated her 18th birthday Saturday evening. Guests to the number of thirty were present. A number of beautiful presents were given the young lady, showing the esteem she is held in by her associates. The occasion was a very happy one, and was only marred by the fleetness of the hours which brought on "going home time."

Secretary Fairchild's reformation in the reduction of the expense of collecting the revenue from customs, which will be put into full force and effect on the 1st of January next, strikes two of the Michigan districts pretty hard. The collections of the Superior district during the last year were $3,431,330. It cost to collect this amount $12,889,666. This expense will be reduced $5,029,098, leaving the net cost of collection the next year $7,860,568. The Grand Haven district collected last year $387,84, at a cost of $7,933,44. This will be reduced $2,876,49, leaving the net cost next year $5,056,95. The Grand Haven district has long been considered one of the most expensive districts, considering the amount collected in the Union, but there are many districts that exceed it in proportionate expense. The Bristol and Warren districts, of Rhode Island, last year collected 19 cents, at a cost of $1,439.85. This expense will be reduced by Secretary Fairchild to $89.75.

THE CASE RESIDENCE.

One of the Most Elegant of Marquette's Many Beautiful Homes.

THE INTERIOR FINISH THE FINEST IN NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

New Minneapolis, the New Town on Big Bay De Noquette—Circuit Court Notes—Other Items.

One of Marquette's Finest.
Mr. J. M. Case's new residence on East Ohio street is now fully finished and possesses beyond any question the handsomest interior of all the elegant houses of which Marquette as a city is so proud. The house was designed by Burnham & Root of Chicago, and built by Mr. J. B. Sweatt of this city and so great were the care and pains taken by Mr. Sweatt and his efficient workmen that the interior wood-work of the house is like cabinet work, perfect. Quarter sawed oak and birch were the main materials used though the handsomest room in the house is finished in solid mahogany. It is an impossibility to give a full idea of the beauty of the finished residence in a newspaper article and the MINING JOURNAL can only attempt an imperfect description of the house in its interior arrangement and finish.

On both the first and second floors the "key room" is the reception hall, as it would be styled on the first floor, or the "sitting hall" on the second. The reception hall is one of the largest rooms in the house and is finished in birch that has a polish equalling that on a piano case. The fire place, with its birch mantel reaching the ceiling and containing a handsome beveled glass mirror, is the principal attraction in the room, having wrought iron fittings of similar design with the wrought-iron-work of the chandeliers and of the newel light on the stairs. The room has a birch "beamed" ceiling while the floor is of polished oakso carefully laid that it seems to be but one piece of wood. It is lighted by large windows in the front of the house, the recess being shut off by "spindle work" in birch and fitted with one of the large window seats so popular in modern houses. The finest stained glass in the city is that over the hall windows and in the two large stair windows of this house. Besides stained glass the windows contain many pieces of beveled plate glass which cast prismatic colors across the floors within and almost dazzle the eye from without when reflecting the sunshine.

On either side of the fireplace an open doorway with a spindle arch and portieres leads to the dining room, while a heavy sliding door, with one face of birch and the other of oak, connects with the front library. This room is finished entirely in oak, including an elegant oak mantel and book-cases. The iron work of the fireplace is Roman in design, having inscriptions and relief pictures copied from walls in the excavated cities of the Roman empire. This is the southeast corner room. Connecting with it by sliding doors is the second library, also used as a drawing room. This is the most beautiful room in the house. It is irregular in shape, a square projection from the corner of the house to the northeast giving a view of the sweep of the lake from above Presque Isle to the harbor side of the lighthouse. In the center of the end wall of this extension is the fireplace and the mantel with its large beveled plate mirror. The tiles are all hand decorated, the famous "Lowe art tiles," as are all the tiles used in the house. The room is finished entirely in solid mahogany with a floor of birch. The rich color and finish of the mahogany, with which everything else in the room is in perfect accord, make this room a perfect picture of beauty and the surprise of every visitor.

Passing from this room to the dining room, connected also with the hall as described above, one enters a large room finished entirely in oak, the mantel, which extends to the ceiling, and the sideboard, table and chairs, being also of oak finely carved and of one design. The ceiling is beamed with oak, and the floor is of the same wood. The room has a swell side on the north, lighting it perfectly and giving a beautiful view of Presque Isle and the lake. From the dining room one enters the butler's pantry and china closet, with its place for washing china and a large plate warmer heated by hot water. The kitchen, also reached by a side hall from the main hall, is a large room, fitted with a wrought iron range and all modern conveniences. A peculiarity of the finish of the room is that the wainscoting is made of Portland cement. The kitchen is connected with nearly every room in the house by electric bells and also speaking tubes. The refrigerator is built into the house.

One of the most attractive features of the residence is the large stairway shut off from the main hall by a screen of spindle work, lighted by stained glass windows and with elegantly carved newel posts and hand rails, which, with the paneled wainscoting, are all of the finest grained selected birch. The beauty of the stairway, with its frequent landings, can only be appreciated by one who has had the pleasure of seeing it. On the second floor the finish is selected pine. The sitting hall has a hard wood floor, a large fire-place, with a birch mantel, and is separated from the little smoking-room in front by sliding doors which, with the door at the head of the stairs, are fitted with large and handsome glass doors for light. Off from the smoking room is a little balcony. The bed rooms are all large and beautiful rooms, with fireplaces and birch mantels, and are all connected with the sitting hall, which contains a piano, and is furnished as one of the most used "living" rooms in the house. In Mrs. Case's room, which faces the north, is a "hob grate," a novelty here. There are four large family rooms on this floor, while on the third floor are the guests' rooms, the billiard room, servants' rooms, and large closets and store rooms.

The basement contains as much room as many houses in the city. Besides the laundry and coal rooms, there are several large rooms for fruits and supplies, a work room with a photographer's "dark room" connected, and the furnace room. The heating apparatus is something entirely new here. The house is heated from top to bottom and kept "like summer"—something Marquette people always desire—by hot water and the heater which does it all is hardly four feet square, uses only a ton and a half of coal a month for this house and only a gallon of water has to be added per month. The water is supplied from a small tank in the billiard room, the highest point in the pipe-system, and circulates throughout every part of the house. There is a supply pipe from the heater for each floor and each radiator has its own return pipe. The system works perfectly. It cost about $2,500. The plumbing in the house is a system in itself and no care has been spared in making it perfect. From the basement an elevator, bricked below, runs clear to the third floor.

The great desideratum—every modern convenience without making the house too large to be easily taken care of—seems to have been reached in this residence. In arrangement it seems perfect. Every room is intended for use, the tastes of each member of the family have been consulted, and there are a hundred little conveniences on every floor which at once attract the visitor's notice and admiration yet cannot be clearly described on paper. Among other noticeable features of the residence, beyond a doubt the handsomest home in the city, is the fact that there is not a dark room or closet in the house, save only the room for amateur photography in the basement.

In the erection of this residence Mr. Sweatt has done work which any builder in the United States would feel proud of. Everywhere the greatest care was taken to make each part of the work perfect. The "finish" of the woodwork, an immense job of itself, was done by Mr. E. T. Drew, the well-known house-finisher, and the splendid work done is worthy of the high praise given it by Mr. Sweatt.

New Minneapolis.
The plat of the new town of New Minneapolis, accompanied by a map showing its relative location, appears in this morning's issue. This new town has been planned and laid out by several gentlemen of this county and of Delta county who had the foresight to see the possibility of building up a thriving city on Big Bay de Noquette, as a result of the building of the Minneapolis, Sault Ste. Marie & Atlantic railroad. There is every prospect that the most sanguine hopes of the promoters of the enterprise will be realized. The new town is at the head of the bay, and at the only place where a good harbor can be made, as the water on the rest of the bay is very shallow. It lies midway between Escanaba and Manistique. The location of the town is level, with a long water front, and the bay being wide, boats can sail into the harbor without the aid of tugs. The country back of the town is well timbered with pine and hard wood, while good building stone is obtainable on the town site. It is very reasonable to suppose that the new railroad which runs through the town, will build docks and do much of its shipping there. Every inducement will be offered to bring manufacturers to the place. One of the schemes for the benefit of the new town, and one which is quite plausible, is the building of a line from a point on the D., S. S. & A., to enable that railroad to ship ore to the Lake Michigan shore. The owners of the place do not put themselves ahead of Chicago, Detroit and all the other lake cities, nor do they claim that New Minneapolis will be the distributing point for all the supplies for the upper peninsula and six or seven western states, but they have the nucleus of a thriving village which will eventually grow into a city. They offer lots at reasonable rates, and while they know they have a good thing to offer, are not trying to lure people there by holding out inducements and making claims that are sure to lead to disappointment.

A New Departure.
D. Hammel & Co. have established a sales stable at Marquette, Mich., under the most favorable auspices. They will keep the choicest heavy draft horses, suitable for the work incident to that region, as well as buggy and carriage horses of selected qualities.

Hon. David Hammel is giving the enterprise his personal supervision. He is a business man whose word is as good as his bond, and the firm long since earned the reputation of always fulfilling their engagements. The Crescent begs leave to state to its Marquette friends and the business men of that city and vicinity that they can depend upon this statement as true to the letter.—Appleton Crescent.

In the Circuit Court.
The case of John Johnson vs E. B. Spear, for injuries received from a falling coal bucket while unloading a vessel at Spear's dock last summer, was decided in the circuit court Saturday. Mr. Johnson lost part of his right hand by the accident, and the jury gave him $1,500 damages.

In chancery the appeal of the Cleveland Iron Mining company for a new trial in the Huseby case was denied by the court.
