WASHINGTON NOTES.

A Republican Tariff Measure Prepared and Ready to be Submitted to the House.

IT IS NOT TO BE PRESENTED FOR SOME DAYS YET.

The Animal Industry Bureau Bill Up in the Senate—River and Harbor Bill Passes the House.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

A REPUBLICAN TARIFF BILL.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—A republican tariff bill has been prepared, and is ready for introduction. Congressman Burroughs, of Michigan, explains the plans regarding it as follows: "If we were to introduce the bill now it would, as a matter of course, be referred to the ways and means committee, and the majority of that committee might not report it to the house for some time to come. Consequently it would be folly to introduce the bill. After the Mills bill has been discussed under the three minute rule for amendments, and has been reported back from the committee of the whole to the house so that a vote may be taken, we shall offer our bill as a substitute and it will be voted on first. If it is defeated, the motion will be on the passage of the Mills bill, but, of course, if our substitute is adopted, that ends everything."

NO ACTION TAKEN.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—At the meeting of the senate committee on the judiciary to-day no action was taken on the nomination of Melville W. Fuller to be chief justice, except the formal reference to the sub-committee.

The senate committee on public buildings and grounds to-day ordered favorable reports on public building bills as follows: Hastings, Neb., $75,000; Altoona, Pa., $75,000; Reno, Nev., $60,000; Vicksburg, Miss., $100,000; Columbus, Ga., $100,000; Charleston, S. C., $300,000; Atlanta, Ga., $120,000.

The senate in executive session to-day ratified the Chinese treaty without a division. Senators Teller and Mitchell made speeches in which they set forth the grounds of their opposition to the treaty, but they did not demand a vote.

Senator Edmunds reported the fisheries treaty adversely, submitting a written majority report, and Senator Morgan submitted a favorable minority report. Mr. Edmunds gave notice that he would call up the treaty, a week hence.

FRYE'S AMENDMENT.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Senator Frye introduced in the form of a bill the amendment heretofore proposed by him to the postoffice appropriation bill to provide a more efficient mail service between the United States and Central and South America and the West Indies. The amount of money to be appropriated is increased from $400,000, as originally proposed, to $1,000,000. The bill authorizes the postmaster-general to contract with the American built and registered steamships for transportation of United States mails to ports in the countries named, these contracts to be at a compensation not exceeding one cent for each 450 grams weight on letters, and one-twentieth of one cent for each 450 grams weight on papers for each nautical mile transported on the outward trip.

THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—After the morning hour the consideration of the railroad land forfeiture bill was resumed, the question being on the amendment offered by Mr. Palmer providing that no sale or entry be confirmed to the prejudice of any pre-emption or homestead claim now filed under the existing decisions of the secretary of the interior that was existing on January 1, 1888.

Mr. Palmer spoke in explanation and advocacy of his amendment. At the close of his remarks he read a telegram which he had just received from Bear Lake, Mich., asking him not to exclude the pre-emption and homestead settlements taken since the first of January, 1888, as hundreds of homes had been made on these lands since then, he therefore, withdrew his amendment and offered another, providing that nothing in the act shall be construed to confirm any private entry for land heretofore settled upon and now claimed under color of homestead or pre-emption laws; but that in all such cases the commissioner-general of the land office and the secretary of the interior shall hear and determine the case.

Mr. Spooner opposed the later amendment, and the bill went over till to-morrow.

The house bill to restore to the public domain part of the Utah valley Indian reservation in Utah was taken up and passed.

The senate then resumed consideration of the bill to provide for a bureau of animal industry to facilitate the exportation of live stock and their products, and to extirpate pleuro-pneumonia, and was addressed by Mr. Keagan in opposition to the bill. He believed that many of its features were unconstitutional. He said he had numerous letters and remonstrances protesting against the bill, and suggesting that its object was to place the control of the cattle of the country in the hands of a few men in Chicago who were referred to last week. There was confidence in the integrity, the fairness and justice of the commissioners of agriculture. It was believed that he would deal fairly with all interests in the country and would not be used to sacrifice the interests of the cattle growers and consumers.

Mr. Vest moved an amendment providing that the owners of cattle or any person having charge of the same shall have a reasonable notice of the time when, and place where, the appraisement is to be made, and shall be permitted to make proof of the value of the cattle; and also providing that the board, its agents and servants, shall have no authority to exercise its powers within the limits of a state (except in stockyards, cars or vessels) without first obtaining the consent and co-operation of the executive authority of the state.

Mr. Coke made an argument against the bill. He said his opposition to it was strengthened by the remarks made last Thursday as to a Chicago syndicate having a lobby in Washington, which was working for the bill. That fact was an evidence to his mind that the commissioner was not plying to the blandishments of the Chicago syndicate. He trusted the commissioner because the syndicate did not want him. That syndicate was called like an anaconda around the beef producing and beef consuming interests of the country.

Mr. Blair, member of the committee on agriculture, said so far as he knew there had been no human being lobbying for the bill, and that the senator from Kansas who had spoken about a Chicago syndicate was in favor of its passage.

Mr. Coke said that the senator from Kansas desired to have the commission feature of the bill stricken out, and that the senator did say that lobbyists in the interest of a Chicago syndicate had been, and were, in Washington working for the bill.

Mr. Blair—Does the senator himself know that?

Mr. Coke—I do not.

Mr. Blair—Neither do I.

At this stage, and without finishing his speech Mr. Coke yielded the floor and the bill went over without action. After an executive session the senate adjourned.

THE HOUSE.

RIVER AND HARBOR BILL PASSED.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Immediately after the call of states to-day Mr. Blanchard (La.) was recognized by the speaker and moved to suspend the rules and pass the river and harbor bill.

The speaker asked that the bill be read. The reading consumed an hour and a half. Mr. Bowden's motion. The motion to suspend the rules was seconded and passed—153 to 24—the majority of the opponents of the measure refraining from voting.

Mr. Blanchard (La) briefly explained the changes in the bill, stating that the aggregate of the appropriations of the bill was only $25,000 more than when the bill was last considered in committee of the whole, at $2,500,000 was given to the Cleveland harbor.

Mr. Seymour (Mich) favored a speedy passage of the bill. Mr. Sowden opposed the bill. Mr. Chandler said he would never vote for such a river and harbor bill as this.

The motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill was agreed to—Yeas, 161; nays, 69. The bill was then passed—Yeas, 161; nays, 69.

Mr. Bingham (Pa) moved to suspend the rules and pass the senate bill granting the right of way across the Crow Indian reservation in Montana to the Billings & Clark Forks railroad.

Mr. Fuller (Mont) spoke in opposition to the bill, and on seconding the motion to suspend the rules no quorum voted. A motion to adjourn was defeated. The speaker laid before the house a message from the president returning without approval the bill for the sale of certain New York Indian lands in Kansas.

Mr. McAdoo (N. J.) moved its reference to the committee on Indian affairs, and on that motion no quorum voted. The house then adjourned.

SHERIDAN IN CHICAGO.

The General Refuses to Talk Politics—His Visit Signifies Nothing.

CHICAGO, May 7.—General Sheridan arrived in Chicago this morning and paid a visit to General Crook, the new department commander. The general said there was no special significance attached to his visit here at this time, as it was his custom to come to the headquarters of the Missouri at intervals.

"How about the presidency?" "Tut, tut; I am general of the army, not a politician; if you want to talk politics you should go to a politician. I know nothing about it."

General Sheridan said as far as he knew there would be no material change in the personnel of the department.

A Big Grist.

CINCINNATI, O., May 7.—Warrants were issued to-day for 147 persons who yesterday violated the Owen law and all who were arrested gave bond. Mayor Smith intimated that he may change his policy next Sunday by arresting at once all who open their saloons. He says the law must be obeyed.

Brewers Strike Ended.

CHICAGO, May 7.—Wm. Selpp, president of the brewers' association, of Chicago, says, as far as the brewers are concerned the strike is ended.

THE TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLAR BATTERY SIMPLY FRUIT FOR DETROIT.

New York Drops a Game to Indianapolis.—The Phillies Win at Pittsburgh. No Game at Chicago.

YESTERDAY'S GAMES.

DETROIT; BOSTON 3.

DETROIT, May 7.—Detroit won to-day's game with comparative ease, both outplaying and outbating the visitors. Clarkson and Kelley were again in the points and one was wild and the other indifferent. Conway collided with Morrill at first in the second inning and Gruber was called upon to finish the game.

Score: Detroit.....2 2 0 0 0 1 0 0 2-7 Boston.....3 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-3

PITTSBURGH, 1; PHILADELPHIA, 4.

PITTSBURGH, May 7.—Since the victory Saturday will not count on account of the difficulty in the signing of Gardner, the Phillies showed up for the second game of the series with blood in their eyes, and it was not long after the sounding of the starting gong until the home club found that business was meant. For three innings both clubs were blanked, and then two errors, a three-bagger and a single, brought in three runs for the Phillies. Each club scored one run after that, but there was little interest manifested. The fielding of Fogarty and Sunday, especially of the latter, were the features of the game. Attendance, 2,000. Score: Pittsburgh.....0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0-1 Philadelphia.....0 0 3 0 1 0 0 0-4

INDIANAPOLIS 5; NEW YORK 1.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 7.—To-day's game was played for the most part in a drizzle which in the third inning developed into quite a heavy rain, delaying the game half an hour. Despite the bad condition of the grounds, the fielding of both sides was brilliant. The home team won by virtue of superior batting. The game was called at the end of the sixth inning on account of darkness. Score: Indianapolis.....3 0 2 1 0 0 0-5 New York.....0 0 1 0 0 0 0-1

PREVENTED BY RAIN.

CHICAGO, May 7.—The game to-day between Chicago and Washington was prevented by rain.

A RARE DAY'S SPORT.

The Lexington Races Open With Two Fine Events and a Large Attendance.

THE SHORTHORNS WIN.

LEXINGTON, May 7.—The Kentucky association's spring meeting commenced to-day with an immense crowd in attendance. Twenty-two book-keepers were on the ground, and the betting was lively. Five races were on the program, four stakes and one purse, making $4,000 additional money. The first race was for a purse of $800, with $500 added; distance, three quarters of a mile. While the horses were at the post a heavy shower came up. After several break-aways the flag finally fell with Laparto in the lead, Mishap second, and Lela May third, the rest close up. As they went by the half-mile post, Lucky Jim sprang to the front and set the pace, followed closely by Mishap and Laparto, the rest coming very fast up the hill, and into the stretch, they dashed at a rapid gait. Covington gave Lela May her head and dashed to the front, Mishap and Finality close behind. Lela May dashed under the wire four lengths ahead of Finality, who was one length ahead of Delia, third. Time 1:15 1/2.

The second race was for the distillers' stakes—$5,000 with $1,000 additional, one and one-quarter miles. The horses were sent away at the second attempt with Wary in the lead, Macbeth second, Libretto third and Insolence fourth. Passing the stand Cooper sent Insolence to the front with Libretto second, and Montrose retired, the rest close up. At the quarter Insolence was leading by two lengths, Montrose second and Libretto third. The pace now became faster, and as they dashed past the half Montrose had the lead by a length, Libretto had moved up to second place, with Macbeth at Libretto's saddle.

The race was an open one at this point and as they passed the three-quarter pole, they were all bunched and up the hill into the stretch they went with Libretto leading, Wary second, and Macbeth third. Shouts went up from thousands of throats: "Wary wins," "Look at Poter," and it was Poter and he dashed to the front and went under the wire the winner of the largest stake of the meeting. Macbeth took second place, a neck ahead of Finzer, third; time 2:08.

They Love Only Neebe.

CHICAGO, May 7.—The "advocate of social changes" in this city are far from being unanimous regarding the proposed amnesty movement for the imprisoned anarchists Neebe, Schwab and Fielden. Both of the latter appear to have lost caste with the more radical faction by accepting a commutation of the death sentence. To a reporter this afternoon Dyer D. Lum, successor of Parsons as editor, denounced Schwab and Fielden as cowards. Lum emphatically declared that, so far as he was concerned, the only one of the trio he would like to see free is Neebe, who, unlike Fielden and Schwab, did not beg for clemency.

THE PAPAL RESCRIPT.

The English Government Denies That It in Any Way Influenced the Pope.

A DISGRACEFUL SCENE IN THE AUSTRIAN PARLIAMENT.

Emperor Frederick's Condition—Empress Victoria Cheered—Dillon Denounces the Edict—No Chinese Wanted.

ENGLAND.

THE PAPAL RESCRIPT.

LONDON, May 7.—In the house of commons to-day Sir James Ferguson, under foreign secretary, stated that no official communication had passed between the government and the pope with reference to the latter's rescript condemning boycotting and the plan of campaign in Ireland. He also stated that the government had not brought to bear any influence to bring about the issue of the rescript.

Referring to the Samoa question, he said that the government had no reason to complain of King Malletoa's failure to keep his agreement. Germany did not ask the assent of the British and American governments to the deportation of King Malletoa and the position of England and America upon the subject was unchanged. The emperor of Brazil is suffering from inflammation of the kidneys.

The son of the late M. Kalkoff, who was making a tour of Switzerland, was robbed of jewelry worth $15,000 in the Geneva railway station to-day.

AUSTRIA.

THEY HAVE A SENATE ALSO.

VIENNA, May 7.—Despite the appeal of President Smotka, of the underhaus, that the deputies refrain from using abusive language in debate, the sittings Saturday and to-day were characterized by hot exchanges of words. Deputy Turk, a prominent member of the anti-Semitic party, was accused during the debate of having undergone prosecution for indecency. He immediately challenged his accuser to a duel.

Inquiry into the charge was made during Herr Turk's absence from the chamber. President Smotka, in rebuking the chamber for investigating the charge in the absence of the accused, characterized the style of debate as brutal and declared that henceforth he would use, severely, his rights as president.

Count Kalnoky sent Signor Crispi, the Italian prime minister, an autograph letter, thanking him for defending Austria in the recent debate in the Italian chamber of deputies against the charge of seeking conquests in eastern Europe.

GERMANY.

AN UNFAVORABLE BULLETIN.

BERLIN, May 7.—The bulletin issued this morning says the emperor's sleep was disturbed last night.

3:16 p. m.—The emperor has not yet risen from his bed. He feels fatigued and has no appetite.

The emperor's fever continues low, showing that no fresh abscess is forming. Dr. Mackenzie induces him to take necessary food, but his weakness is becoming serious. He had refreshing naps this afternoon. This evening he emphasized a remark that he felt stronger by clenching his fist vigorously and stretching and withdrawing his arm.

EMPEROR GROWING POPULAR.

BERLIN, May 6.—The empress to-day attended a meeting of the inundation relief committee at the town hall. She was given a hearty reception. The empress made a speech in which she advocated the adoption of a system of saving life and property from destruction by floods, and recommended that the districts liable to inundation be provided with life boats. Mayor Forckenbeck presented the empress with a bouquet of white roses when she left the hall. The people pressed around her carriage, cheering enthusiastically, and impeding her progress for some time. The inundation relief fund has reached 47,000,000 marks.

IRELAND.

CONDON GETS TWO WEEKS.

DUBLIN, May 7.—Thomas Joseph Condon, member of parliament, arrested for offenses under the crimes act, was to-day convicted and sentenced to two weeks imprisonment without hard labor.

Mr. Dillon in a speech at Drogheda to-day strongly resented the pope's interference with Irish politics. The remarks elicited expressions of dissent from his extreme views from several priests who were present.

AUSTRALIA.

THE CHINESE NOT WANTED.

SIDNEY, N. S. W., May 7.—Two steamers with Chinese immigrants arrived here to-day. The police have taken steps to prevent their landing. The government concurs in the opinion that the influx of Chinese labor must be checked.

At a conference held to-day to consider the methods of doing away with the rabbit pest, it was decided to elect an island upon which to experiment with the Pasteur and other methods.

ITALY.

RATHER LATE IN THE DAY.

ROME, May 7.—In view of the attitude of the National league, the pope has instructed Cardinal Simeoni to direct Mgr. Peracio to obtain from the Irish bishops without delay declarations of their views upon the rescript. The observations of the bishops will be submitted to the congregation of the propaganda.

FRANCE.

THE BOULANGER FRENZY.

PARIS, May 7.—General Boulanger has been elected a municipal councillor for Tulle by the spontaneous action of the workmen in the arms factory there, all of whom voted for the general independent of the electoral committee.

THE STRANGLER WINS.

Lewis Gives Wannop Three Straight Falls in Rapid Order.

CHICAGO, May 7.—The wrestling match for the world's championship between Evan Lewis (the strangler) and Jack Wannop, the champion of England, took place to-night. The terms were best three in five and three points down, and catch-as-catch-can style. The American weighed 170 pounds and the Briton 190. Only three bouts was necessary, Lewis winning each and the championship. Time of the first bout, 6 m 20 s; of the second, 7 m; of the third, 1 m. Three thousand people were present.

Struck Her Amidships.

NORFOLK, Va., May 7.—The British steamer Benison, from Matanzas to Philadelphia, was towed here to-day in distress. She reports being in a collision yesterday, shortly after noon, during a dense fog, with the steamer Eureka. When the fog lifted, about half an hour afterward, the Eureka was nowhere to be seen, and it is feared she was sunk. After the collision there was a sound of escaping steam and one whistle. The Benison's bow is badly stayed in and she would have sunk but for the water tight compartments. The Eureka is a freight boat and carries no passengers. Her crew, all told, numbers thirty-eight persons. The collision occurred 168 miles southeast of Cape Henlopen. The Benison struck the Eureka square amidships.

The Eureka was valued at $75,000, and her cargo at $150,000. She was a four-masted schooner.

Follow The Leader.

PITTSBURGH, May 7.—The tube workers wages, which have been the subject of considerable agitation for several months, are practically settled. The Pittsburgh works, which have been idle for the past four months, resumed operation to-day, giving employment to 400 men. The employees agreed to accept a reduction of 5 per cent in wages. A similar reduction in wages at the Pennsylvania tube works may follow, although the matter was submitted to arbitration a few months ago and decided in favor of the employees.

The Six Days Walk.

NEW YORK, May 7.—The result of the six days walking match up to 9 p. m. stands: Littlewood, 127 miles; Hughes, 123; Cartwright, 116; Herty, 112; Day, 110; Golden, 111; Noremac, 106; Hegelman, 103; Hart, 102; Saunders, 101; Moore, 100; Vint, 97; Cox, 94; Dillon, 88. Midnight score—Littlewood, 137; Hughes, 131; Cartwright, 125; Golden, 123; Herty, 123; Noremac, 118; Saunders, 115; Day, 114; Hart, 114; Hegelman, 105. Littlewood failed, as will be seen by the above, to make good his promise to beat Rowell's record of 150 miles in the first twenty-four hours.

Reverses The Decision.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 7.—The supreme court this morning rendered an opinion, written by Judge Sherwood, which reverses Judge Noonan's opinion upon the law of 1877, the "Sunday law." It is held that the city government of St. Louis never had the authority to grant permits for the sale of wine and beer on Sunday.

Rising Slowly Now.

LA CROSSE, Wis., May 7.—The river is now 25 inches below the highest mark. It rose three inches in the last twenty-four hours, but to-day it is coming up very slowly. If no more rain occurs, it is believed the rise will stop to-morrow.

At The Edgar Thomson Works.

PITTSBURGH, May 7.—The Edgar Thomson steel works presented a busy scene to-day and there was no indication that a big strike had been recently settled. The works started on double turn and everything is running smoothly. The bosses said they had all the men they needed and that others were offering their services. The Pinkerton guards have been withdrawn.

Failure at Port Huron.

PORT HURON, Mich., May 7.—Martin Bros. dry goods, grocery, etc., have made an assignment for the benefit of their creditors. The failure was precipitated by the recent failure of Roof, Strong & Co., of Detroit, who were heavy endorsers of Martin Bros. The liabilities and assets are about $50,000.

Vessels Collide.

NEW ORLEANS, May 7.—During a heavy rain and thunder storm this afternoon, the tow boat Future City and three barges from St. Louis came in collision with three United States war vessels at anchor in front of the city. Two of the barges sunk and the third was badly damaged; Loss 80,000. The damage to the war vessels is not stated.

Shot His Sweetheart.

RALEIGH, N. C., May 7.—At Carthage, Moore county, Saturday evening, a young man named McNeil, shot Miss Ida Roe, seriously wounding her. Jealousy is supposed to be the cause of the shooting. McNeil called to see the young lady, and, finding her entertaining another gentleman in the parlor, asked her to come to door and shot her. He then fled. Telegrams are being sent in all directions to arrest him.

It Didn't Materialize.

PITTSBURGH, May 7.—The threatened brewers strike has not materialized. It was expected that the employees of the breweries would to-day present their scale and ask to be recognized as a union. They did not do it and the breweries are open to-day as usual.

Broke Her Air Pump.

SAND BEACH, May 7.—The tug Music, bound up, with a raft of boom poles, broke the cross head of her air pump, but by running a siphon from the condenser managed to make this port for repairs. The tug Swan was driven away from the wreck of the schooner Ewen by the north wind.

Prisoners Escaped.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 7.—A special to the Evening Wisconsin from Ashland says that four prisoners, held for Saturday night by sawing off the bars of a win-

FORCED TO THE WALL.

W. T. Coleman & Co., of San Francisco, Make an Assignment to Save their Creditors.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—The Wholesale commission house of William T. Coleman & Co. have assigned to L. L. Baker and Louis Sloss for the benefit of their creditors. Frank S. Johnson, a partner of the firm, said the firm was unable to realize upon their assets speedily and in view of pressing engagements in New York, where the call upon them for money was urgent, decided to make the assignment. Mr. Johnson places the assets of the firm at from four to four and a half million dollars and the liabilities at two millions. The indebtedness in California, with the exception of a number of small amounts, is confined to four banks and two individuals. Mr. Johnson further states that the amount of most of the valuable assets of the firm is in a property valued at $2,000,000, and that negotiations for the sale of this were in a fair way to be consummated when the announcement of the tariff bill, placing borax on the free list, tended to defeat their efforts at that direction. The firm feels confident that the resources will be sufficient and more to meet all engagements.

Smith Is The Man.

CHICAGO, May 7.—Prominent members of the various labor parties that will meet in national convention at Cincinnati next week say that Congressman Smith, of Milwaukee, will receive the labor nomination for the presidency.

Excluded Women.

NEW YORK, May 7.—The Methodist Episcopal conference to-day voted to exclude women from the present conference and to submit the question of their eligibility to general conferences to the annual conference.

THAT President Cleveland will have no opposition in the St. Louis convention is incontestably shown by the enthusiasm with which the democrats are endorsing him in their local conventions. He is the "first, last and all the time" choice of the party. Whatever feeling against him may have at one time existed among certain elements of the party has wholly disappeared.

THE BLAINEs are booked for a coaching tour of Scotland, as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie. Blaine will be in the "land o' cakes" when the national republican convention meets, and it is safe to predict that his tour will be arranged so that he won't be very far away from a telegraph office while the convention is in session, as both he and his host will naturally be anxious to know at the earliest moment who "takes the cake" at Chicago.

A COPPER mine that even the advance in prices has failed to vitalize is the Nonesuch, in Ontonagon county. A force of men has been for some time engaged in stripping it of its machinery, part of which will be added to the equipment of the National mine, and the balance shipped to Chicago. It is a lucky thing for the copper region that it has not many such mines as the "Nonesuch", which seems to have been rather inappropriately named.

SPEAKING of the situation in copper, the Boston Transcript says:

Consumers of copper naturally are disposed to oppose the copper pool at the outset, and determined opposition seems to be the plan decided upon at yesterday's meeting in New York. At the same time, the agents of the Frenchmen are confident that if consumers will not pay 16 1/2 cents per pound now, they may have to pay more by-and-by. Some attempts have been made to obtain copper from some of the companies which sold their products to the Frenchmen, but the companies naturally refuse to sell, as their interest is in the direction of maintaining copper at a figure which will give the French purchasers a good profit, a profit which is divided with most of the companies, by the way, an additional reason why the producers should be interested in sustaining the price which the French purchasers have named to consumers. The latter will find it difficult to get any copper under 16 1/2 cents. One of them was told to-day that he could have some for 25 cents. Meanwhile the copper companies are thriving. The Osceola made a net profit of from $42,000 to $45,000 in the first three months of this year, and the others are making handsome returns, the effect of which must be to materially enhance the stockholders' satisfaction when dividend days come around. The copper market could not well be firmer.

We extract this item of news from the St. Ignace Republican of the 5th:

Considerable excitement was created the first of the week by a report to the effect that a large deposit of hematite iron ore had been discovered within three miles of the city limits, to the north. At first the report was received with doubts and fears, but it appears to have been based on a sufficiently sound foundation to induce Messrs. Monteith and Stuart to purchase 320 acres of land, from the Peninsula Land company, on which the ore is said to have been found. These gentlemen claim to have struck it rich and will set men to work uncovering the vein. Wm. Abernethy has purchased the adjoining 160 acres from Judson D. Smith, and he was showing specimens of a good quality of ore that he asserts he found on this land. Experts claim that there is no ore in this section of the country—except what is known as bog ore, that would not pay the expense of mining it. We hope that they are wrong and that the parties named have struck a bonanza. It will prove a good thing for the city and increase our growth and prosperity very materially. Yes, let us have an iron mine.

An iron mine in its vicinity would certainly be an immense thing for St. Ignace, as it would enable the Saints to utilize the natural fuel from their gas well (struck about a year ago, and a "gusher" according to the Republican) to reduce the ore. Ever since natural gas was discovered at St. Ignace we have been looking for just such a find as that now reported to go with it. There can be little doubt of the ability of the gas well to furnish fuel for smelting and working up into marketable forms all the ore that will ever be mined in the neighborhood of St. Ignace. Manifestly the Point is going to be a great city. "Carry the news to the Soo."

THE DEMAND FOR IRON.

A very interesting article discussing the outlook for the iron trade this year is given in the current number of the Cleveland Iron Trade Review. Mr. Swank's statistics of production and consumption, covering the past eight years, are taken as a basis for the calculations made, and the conclusion reached is that the demand for iron this year—and, as a consequence, for ore—will exceed

FALL OF NAPOLEON.

Gen. Phil Sheridan's Comment While Gazing at the Battle—Moltke Brings Up Fresh Batteries—A Flag of Truce. A Pitiful Epistle.

"One afternoon of the Sedan battle King William and his staff looked down from the Hill of Frenois on the amphitheatre of carnage and cannon smoke, in the heart of which the doomed French army still fought gallantly on in the face of fate. The commanding elevation gave a view northward far away beyond the gray fortress, and nearer the combats about Bazelles, and we were watching the gradual closure of the net enveloping the French army, as the Fifth German corps from the left and the guards from the right, drawing nearer and nearer each other, diminished the gap in the environment of blood and iron.

"That environment was not to be consummated without a gallant, but despairing protest. We saw the splendid brigade of French cuirassiers draw out and form on a gentle slope below the amphitheatre of carnage, facing against the German infantrymen in the hollow below. The massive horsemen gathered way in a headlong charge as they rode in glittering steel clad splendor down the smooth slope. As we gazed and listened we could see the flash of armor and seemed to hear the thunder of horse hoofs. The mailed cavalry of France in their furious gallop were in blue tunics and spiked helmets. With them it seemed all over. How could they stand against that swift, strong torrent raging down upon them? Suddenly from the steadfast ranks flashed a withering volley, then another and another, and the piled array of French cavalry was writhing in the dust, a shattered wreck.

A MAN IN BLUE UNIFORM.

"A quivering silence had pervaded the group of leaders and staff officers upon the Hill of Frenois. King William had risen from his camp chair and was standing with his eye at a great field telescope mounted on a tripod. The strained silence was curiously broken as the French cuirassier brigade met its fate by the snap of a closing binocular, followed by the quite decisive words:

"It's all over with the French now."
"All eyes turned on the speaker, a short, compact, resolute man in blue uniform that was not German. He was none other than Gen. Phil Sheridan, representative of the United States army attached to the royal headquarters. At the word the German chiefs ran to shake the foreign soldier by the hand, for they knew the comment came from the past master in the art of war.

"An hour later, the same afternoon, it was no longer battle, but massacre. Save for the casual spatter of musketry among the smoldering ruins of Bazelles and the loud bicker of fire on the shaggy woodland above Givonne, French resistance had died out. Yet, proud and stubborn, the army whose ancestors had conquered at Jena and Austerlitz would show no signs of surrender. Moltke, with a practical eye to the psychological moment, gave the word to bring up fresh batteries.

"But King William, a soldier to the core and conqueror as he was, would make the first advance, and bade Col. Brounart, of the general staff, take a flag of truce into Sedan and point out the further resistance to the royal headquarters. At his steady trot, disappeared within the outskirts of Toney, and was no more seen. The lurid day was waning, the sleeping submerses falling on the mangled ghastliness of the dead and wounded that littered the plateau of Honig, on the gray fortress wall, mounted in a swart of smoke of fire which the shell fire had lit in the distracted town, on the broken French army covering up to the time worn ramparts.

"The crown prince, with his stalwart, soldierly stride, had walked across from Douchery hill, whence he had directed his share of the battle, and stood by his father's camp chair talking to his king and sire."

THE WHITE FLAG WAVING.

"At length there is the white flag waving from the summit of the Sedan structure, and there is Brounart with his trumpet, and beside him rides an officer in uniform which afar off we discern is French. The little party ride up the steep ascent at a gallop. Brounart, a short distance off, halts the Frenchman, and dismounting himself, walks up to King William and utters a single short sentence, at which William starts violently and leaps to his feet.

"Der kaiser ist da, was hat Brounart said, with arm outstretched toward Sedan. The king repeated the words in loud, surly accents, and they found a surprised echo for every lip, for there had been no surmise that Napoleon, having forsaken the fortune of Bazelle's army, was now sharing the fortunes of MacMahon's.

"Brounart was hidden to bring up Gen. Comte Reille, the French officer who had accompanied him, and who, it appeared, was the bearer of a special communication from Napoleon.

"Strange contrast of condition. Three years before Reille had been the officer in waiting on King William, during his visit to the Tuilleries. Now he appeared as a man of the verge of dejection, of captivity, bowing low with quiet dignity beseeching a good soldier and a gallant general in the hour of adversity. Reille handed to King William a letter from his still imperial master. The world knows the contents of that pitiful epistle.

"Unable to die at the head of my army, I tender to your majesty my sword."
"The terms presented an embarrassment, and the king called on Bismarck and Moltke for consultation, while the crown prince, with instinctive courtesy, softened the stringency of Reille's position by entering into conversation with him. The answer was written and Reille was dispatched with it. The king read Napoleon's letter aloud, and then turned to his son and clasped him in a warm embrace.

"A mild label of discussion and mutual congratulations followed, and then the sun went down King William was on his way to night quarters in the historic Chateau de Chemy. Every day in that momentous autumn was fully charged with history."

Against "Popular" Education.

Charles Eliot Norton is pessimistic. As compared with a century ago he says that "there is proportionately less solid learning, less zeal and arbor for the best attainable culture, less earnest striving for the real bread of life. What is called popular education is perhaps sufficient for the mere business of life, for the practice of the arts of livelihood, but not broad enough to discipline and enlarge the mind, cultivate the taste, quicken the imagination and ennoble the character. There is in the public schools almost no training of the judgment or of the faculties of observation and reason, no inculcation of a sense of responsibility for self-improvement."—New York Tribune.

FALL OF NAPOLEON.

Gen. Phil Sheridan's Comment While Gazing at the Battle—Moltke Brings Up Fresh Batteries—A Flag of Truce. A Pitiful Epistle.

"One afternoon of the Sedan battle King William and his staff looked down from the Hill of Frenois on the amphitheatre of carnage and cannon smoke, in the heart of which the doomed French army still fought gallantly on in the face of fate. The commanding elevation gave a view northward far away beyond the gray fortress, and nearer the combats about Bazelles, and we were watching the gradual closure of the net enveloping the French army, as the Fifth German corps from the left and the guards from the right, drawing nearer and nearer each other, diminished the gap in the environment of blood and iron.

"That environment was not to be consummated without a gallant, but despairing protest. We saw the splendid brigade of French cuirassiers draw out and form on a gentle slope below the amphitheatre of carnage, facing against the German infantrymen in the hollow below. The massive horsemen gathered way in a headlong charge as they rode in glittering steel clad splendor down the smooth slope. As we gazed and listened we could see the flash of armor and seemed to hear the thunder of horse hoofs. The mailed cavalry of France in their furious gallop were in blue tunics and spiked helmets. With them it seemed all over. How could they stand against that swift, strong torrent raging down upon them? Suddenly from the steadfast ranks flashed a withering volley, then another and another, and the piled array of French cavalry was writhing in the dust, a shattered wreck.

A MAN IN BLUE UNIFORM.

"A quivering silence had pervaded the group of leaders and staff officers upon the Hill of Frenois. King William had risen from his camp chair and was standing with his eye at a great field telescope mounted on a tripod. The strained silence was curiously broken as the French cuirassier brigade met its fate by the snap of a closing binocular, followed by the quite decisive words:

"It's all over with the French now."
"All eyes turned on the speaker, a short, compact, resolute man in blue uniform that was not German. He was none other than Gen. Phil Sheridan, representative of the United States army attached to the royal headquarters. At the word the German chiefs ran to shake the foreign soldier by the hand, for they knew the comment came from the past master in the art of war.

"An hour later, the same afternoon, it was no longer battle, but massacre. Save for the casual spatter of musketry among the smoldering ruins of Bazelles and the loud bicker of fire on the shaggy woodland above Givonne, French resistance had died out. Yet, proud and stubborn, the army whose ancestors had conquered at Jena and Austerlitz would show no signs of surrender. Moltke, with a practical eye to the psychological moment, gave the word to bring up fresh batteries.

"But King William, a soldier to the core and conqueror as he was, would make the first advance, and bade Col. Brounart, of the general staff, take a flag of truce into Sedan and point out the further resistance to the royal headquarters. At his steady trot, disappeared within the outskirts of Toney, and was no more seen. The lurid day was waning, the sleeping submerses falling on the mangled ghastliness of the dead and wounded that littered the plateau of Honig, on the gray fortress wall, mounted in a swart of smoke of fire which the shell fire had lit in the distracted town, on the broken French army covering up to the time worn ramparts.

The crown prince, with his stalwart, soldierly stride, had walked across from Douchery hill, whence he had directed his share of the battle, and stood by his father's camp chair talking to his king and sire."

THE WHITE FLAG WAVING.

"At length there is the white flag waving from the summit of the Sedan structure, and there is Brounart with his trumpet, and beside him rides an officer in uniform which afar off we discern is French. The little party ride up the steep ascent at a gallop. Brounart, a short distance off, halts the Frenchman, and dismounting himself, walks up to King William and utters a single short sentence, at which William starts violently and leaps to his feet.

"Der kaiser ist da, was hat Brounart said, with arm outstretched toward Sedan. The king repeated the words in loud, surly accents, and they found a surprised echo for every lip, for there had been no surmise that Napoleon, having forsaken the fortune of Bazelle's army, was now sharing the fortunes of MacMahon's.

"Brounart was hidden to bring up Gen. Comte Reille, the French officer who had accompanied him, and who, it appeared, was the bearer of a special communication from Napoleon.

"Strange contrast of condition. Three years before Reille had been the officer in waiting on King William, during his visit to the Tuilleries. Now he appeared as a man of the verge of dejection, of captivity, bowing low with quiet dignity beseeching a good soldier and a gallant general in the hour of adversity. Reille handed to King William a letter from his still imperial master. The world knows the contents of that pitiful epistle.

"Unable to die at the head of my army, I tender to your majesty my sword."
"The terms presented an embarrassment, and the king called on Bismarck and Moltke for consultation, while the crown prince, with instinctive courtesy, softened the stringency of Reille's position by entering into conversation with him. The answer was written and Reille was dispatched with it. The king read Napoleon's letter aloud, and then turned to his son and clasped him in a warm embrace.

"A mild label of discussion and mutual congratulations followed, and then the sun went down King William was on his way to night quarters in the historic Chateau de Chemy. Every day in that momentous autumn was fully charged with history."

Against "Popular" Education.

THE CLOSED DOOR.

No marble woman could have been more cold: Her hands were clasped, her eyes were raised to mine.

No tremor even stirred the shadow fall Cast by the moon, upon the close cropped grass; By which I knew no answering heart beat shook Her soul, whose shadow stretched between us there.

But when I spoke upbraiding, passionate words, And would have urged my spelt, unhappy life, "Farewell," she said, "Love stands aside to bless; Love that would wrong would only prove a curse."

It was as if in some dark, stormy night, Just as despair for light had filled the heart, A door should open, and within should shine The strong glare from a great red glowing forge.

THE BANNER TOWN

Some Interesting Facts About The Iron Metropolis of The Upper Peninsula.

SOME OF THE THINGS SHE LAYS CLAIM TO.

The Largest and Best Iron Mines—The Only Gold Mines in Michigan—The Largest Population—The Most Voters.

Facts in a Nutshell.

It is an acknowledged fact that during the last few years no other town in Michigan has made such rapid and substantial progress as the city of Ishpeming. Nearly every incoming train brings in new people who come here to find employment and to become permanent residents of our thriving city. As a result real estate has rapidly increased in value, every desirable building site has been purchased, and the inhabitants are clamoring for more. Many new and handsome residences have recently been built and will be furnished this spring and summer. It was with this expectation that J. H. Quinn & Co., the firm who lay claim to the title of the only exclusive dry goods dealers in the city, laid in such a magnificent spring stock. Especially in carpets they are showing an elegant stock, embracing all the late patterns in Ingrain, Extra Super Three Ply Tapestry, Body Brussels and Wilton Velvet. Parties purchasing of them can have their carpets matched, sewed and laid on the floors if they so desire. They are also showing a nice line of lace curtains, Mar-seilles bed quilts, table covers, calico quilts, blankets, feathers and pillows, in fact all kind of house furnishings. In Smyrna rugs they have just received a choice line. A call at this immense establishment will convince you they are entitled to the title of the only exclusive dry goods house in the city.

ISHPEMING NOTES.

Barnum's Circus Coming—A Pleasing Entertainment Promised—Track Laying on the C. & N. W. R'y Extensions—News of the Town.

Coming.

The great Barnum & London circus will visit the upper peninsula this year, and will show at Ishpeming on the afternoon and evening of August 10th. It will visit no other town in the county and will not go to the copper country, at all. Some idea of the magnitude of the show can be obtained from the fact that it will require 3 full trains, or 58 cars, to bring the circus here. It will be the whole circus—not a part of it—and its advent will be the circus event of the season in the upper peninsula.

An Odd Time Coming.

James Clement Ambrose, in his evening attraction, "The Sham Family," will appear at Austin's Hall on Tuesday evening, May 15th. The following extracts will give the public an idea of how this lecture has been received in the east: "Kept the house in rars of laughter." Indianapolis Journal.

"Six hundred and fifty students of the Ohio Wesleyan University, together with the faculty, listened with the keenest relish."—President Payne, of the Ohio Wesleyan University.

"Something masterly—a moral and intellectual treat. Everybody was immensely pleased. Some melancholy dyspeptics were kept hanging onto their sides, and if Barnum could capture its 'tea party,' the loss of 'Jumbo' would be made good."

Newspaper Matters.

"Forposten," the upper peninsula's only Swedish newspaper, has ceased to appear. Pecuniary troubles caused editor Barthelsson to suspend its publication. As the field is a good one for a Scandinavian paper, it is hoped that "Forposten" will appear again in a short time.

The first number of "Paivaletti," the new Finnish daily, will certainly be issued this evening. The editor and publisher, Mr. John Ekman, has had considerable trouble from delay in receiving parts of the mechanical equipment of his office and from lack of compositors, but everything is now in readiness, and on to-day the only Finnish daily paper in America will begin its career—one which it is hoped will be long and prosperous.

J. D. West, of the Peninsula Record, will buy a two-revolution cylinder press while in Chicago. He has grown tired of printing an eight-page paper one page at a time, on a jobber.

Track-Laying.

Track-laying on the extension of the Chicago & Northwestern began last Saturday, and on that day 600 feet were laid. A new track-laying machine is employed, and it is thought that it can easily lay a mile a day, with favoring conditions. The ballasting is being done as fast as the rails are laid. There are 34 miles of track to be ironed between the Nonpareil mine and Michigan and on the branch to Republic. About one hundred men are now employed on the work. It will be nearly completed by June 1st.

The Vermilion Iron Journal, in the course of an able editorial article on the wage question, states that English workmen receive 100 per cent. less wages than American workmen. According to this statement the unfortunate wage-earners of England must work for the fun of the thing, and board themselves. No wonder they emigrate to this country.

Anderson & Co. are having a new window put in the Pearl street front of their jewelry store. It will be fitted with plate glass, and will add materially to the appearance of the building. This improvement will give Mr. Eger a chance to display a few of the many handsome things carried in his stock.

The sash, blind and door factory of Johnston & Stark is running with a full force and on full time. The success of this manufacturing venture should convince timid capitalists that their money can be profitably invested at home.

Professor Owen has nearly completed arrangements for rendering the "Chimes of Normandy" in first-class operatic style. The opera will be given in this city and Negaunee, and perhaps also in Marquette, during the present month.

A new covering will be laid over the Main street sewer on the city square, and the grade of the square will be raised about four inches, to correspond with the sidewalks in the business part of town.

E. C. Carter, assistant chief engineer of the Chicago & Northwestern railway, is in town.

Recorder J. B. Tibor got home Monday afternoon from Port Washington, Wis.

Beach & Bowers minstrels at the opera house on Saturday evening, May 5th.

A. B. Eldridge left on Monday for Detroit.

OUR NEW DEPARTURE.

Our new departure in Carpets and Oil Cloths has met with public approval and people have so testified in a way that pleases us. We have added a line of Carpets and Oil Cloths richer in quality, lovelier in design and at lower prices than ever before offered this side of Chicago.

Our sales so far has been satisfactory; already we sold more Carpets than we anticipated, showing conclusively that the people appreciate an enterprise. T. GRABOWSKY.

SWEET, SHY GIRL.

Oh, sweet, shy girl, with roses in her hair,
And love light in her face, like those of dawn...

A HOLIDAY PASTIME.

A shock of red hair, a pair of the lightest of blue eyes, a downy, sickly mustache, and hands and feet of ample dimensions...

On this particular afternoon he was weeding in the front garden, with occasionally an expectant glance down the country for the stage coach...

Phil, the only son and heir of the Dodds, had at first decidedly objected to "having"
girls pestered round his place...

Now, as he stood awaiting their arrival with an eagerness which he would not have betrayed for worlds, he was picturing to himself how he would receive them...

But alas! for human resolves! No sooner did the lumbering old stage appear on top of the hill than his courage completely forsook him...

"What a damned fool I am," was Phil's mental comment; thinking consolingly, however, that no one but himself knew of his defeat...

But his next thought was, how was he ever to face them at tea? He would have kept a fast that night, rather than go through that ordeal...

But there was some latent heroism in Phil, and knowing that the worst must come, he summoned all his courage and marched boldly into the dining room at his mother's summons...

"This is my son, Phil," announced the proud mother, with an air which plainly said, "and I reckon you ain't seen many like him..."

A white hand was extended, which he grasped almost mechanically in his big, brown paw...

Mr. Dodd! It fairly took his breath away Surely she must have meant "dad"; but the young lady evidently knew what she was saying...

That meal which Phil had so dreaded passed off in an extremely satisfactory manner.
Miss Vernon completely won "Marm" Dodd's heart by the praises she bestowed on her biscuit and butter, and strawberries...

It was no longer the heartless flirt that returned to her gay city home. The pastime
of breaking men's hearts had lost its old charm for Nell Vernon...

"I don't want to leave my husband," said an indignant wife. "For he is a real nice man and I like him..."

The "lifts" of the Hotel Monopole, London, name and fortune. True, she did seem rather above him; but then, had she not given plain proofs of her attachment to the country and of her preference for himself?

"So this is my last evening at Pennyville," Miss Vernon's dearest tones were saying.
"I know you must be glad, Phil, we have been such a bother to you..."

"I didn't know—I—I—thought may be you'd conclude to stay with us altogether," he stammered.
"O, that would be impossible," she said,
with an irrespressible giggle...

"O, when I axed you to stay, I meant, of course, for you and me to get hitched," said Phil, eagerly, plunging boldly into the matter...

"I think you are very presumptuous, Mr.
Dodd; what right have you to talk in that way to me?"
Phil stared at her aghast.

"What right!" he cried, in a passion of disappointment and pain; "why hain't you given me reason enough to think that you got something by me? Couldn't I ha' got as likely gals as there was in the hull country-side..."

"I am surprised that you ever thought it possible I could care for you," she returned, coldly. "I never dreamed that you would so misconstrue my friendship..."

"They called wildly to her to come down, but when she again tried the stairway, against the flames drove her back. She sank down with a moan of despair, but some one dashed up the burning stairs, wrapped her hastily in a blanket and bore her out of the room..."

"O God!" cried Phil's voice; "we shall die!" And then Nell lost consciousness.
When she again opened her eyes she was lying on the grass, with May Lorraine's anxious face bending over her...

With a terrible instinctive knowledge the gay city belle covered her face with her hands to shut out the sight.
She knew the whole story afterward—how he had rushed through almost certain death to save her, and had died with her name on his lips...

Her remorse for her heartless conduct toward him was keen and sincere. She remembered no more his homely features and ungainly ways; she thought only of the hero's soul that burned in that rough frame...

It was no longer the heartless flirt that
returned to her gay city home. The pastime
of breaking men's hearts had lost its old charm for Nell Vernon. And if ever she did feel tempted to trifle with an honest affection, the sight of Phil's white, despairing face, on the evening when she had crushed his hope, rose up before her with startling distinctness...

A New Theory of Divorce.
"U don't want to leave my husband," said
an indignant wife. "For he is a real nice man and I like him. But once in a while he takes too much wine, to say nothing of other cheaper and stronger drinks, and then he is positively insufferable. If I could get some sort of divorce that would work when he is full and stop working when he is sober, that would answer my purpose perfectly. But a woman has mighty little show in this country."—Omaha World.

The Elevators of London.
The "lifts" of the Hotel Monopole, London,

of the hydraulic power companies, of which a number are established in England.
By them water under pressure is carried beneath the streets and delivered to consumers at fixed rates. After doing the work required at the rate of the water is returned to the central stations of the companies there to be used over again.—Home Journal.

The Head Waiter.
"Will you please tell me the name of the landlord of this hotel?" asked a Saratoga guest of the head waiter.
"De name ob de land'lord, sah? Hum—de name ob de land'lord—sah, sah, but de name ob de gentleman hab' escaped me fer de moment; but my name am Mr. Alexander Johnsing, sah."—Youth's Companion.

Confidence Born of Wealth.
She (tauntingly)—I am afraid, George dear, that when you speak to papa he may be very angry.
He (confidently)—I think not, when I show him this (taking a bank book out of his pocket).
She—Oh, George, let me look at it first.—

FORMALLY NOTIFIED.

Smith & Wilson are Directed to Get Ready for Work on Our Building.

JUDGE BANTA WRITES UP ANOTHER LAKE SUPERIOR STREAM.

In the Y. M. C. A. Building—Clifford Coming. Ruulo's Benefit—At Lake Lincoln. Rally Round the Flag.

Formal Notification.

Smith & Wilson have been awarded the contract for building Marquette's government building, and are to have it finished within twelve months.

The contractors have been requested to communicate with you and arrange for the prosecution of the work, which is to be completed in twelve months.

Respectfully yours, WILL A. FERRET, Supervising Architect.

To complete the building within twelve months will be an immense undertaking, but Smith & Wilson are hustlers, and the foundations once in, the walls will go up very quickly.

The Judge at It Again. Perhaps Judge D. D. Banta is as well known to the sportsmen of Marquette and the upper peninsula as any other man in the country, and they will all be pleased to find that one of his delightful articles, beautifully illustrated, and treating of upper peninsula waters, appears in the May number of "Outing."

REPORTORIAL PENCILINGS. The Y. M. C. A. is arranging to give a "book reception" on May 20th. The fine weather and good roads are giving the livery stables a harvest.

This Week. The Edwin Clifford dramatic company will close this week at the Casino, playing a matinee Saturday afternoon and giving "The Two Orphans" Saturday evening.

Further Improvements. The Y. M. C. A. gymnasium has recently been still further improved and it is now an institution of great value to the young men of the city and one which could only be maintained by such an organization as the Y. M. C. A.

Down stairs a 120-gallon boiler has just been put in, the 52-gallon boiler not furnishing water enough to supply the demand, so great is the call upon the bath rooms.

In the reading room many new periodicals are now on the titles regularly, and the room is by all odds, the best equipped reading room in northern Michigan.

nearly every paper in Michigan, all the leading magazines and reviews, Puck, Judge, the London Graphic and the Illustrated News, Harper's, Frank Leslie's, Scientific American, and other illustrated weeklies are on file, while the American Angler, Outing and other papers and magazines treating of outdoor life and sports, are taken. Visitors are always welcome.

RoULO's Benefit.

On Friday Prof. A. K. Roulo, the athlete and trainer, will have a benefit night at the Casino at which Ed Butler, Dick Foley, of Negaunee, Bert Ogden and others will assist. Among the features of the evening will be a wrestling match between Butler and Foley, sparring by Ogden and others, a sparring match for points between two amateur middleweights, club swinging by Roulo, etc., to wind up with a grand four-round contest with the gloves between Butler and Roulo.

At Lake Linden.

Theodor Egloff, who had been confined to his bed for over four months by serious illness and who was taken to Lake Linden for treatment, died there yesterday, aged 29. His remains will be brought here today and he will be buried from his late residence on Rock street Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Encourage the Boys.

Marquette can retain her place in the state troops if the company here receives the active support and encouragement of the citizens, such was the verdict of the inspecting officers when here. It then behooves every business man or citizen who takes pride in the city and is jealous of its good name, to come to the front at once and become an associate member of the company, the main duty being the payment of $10 annually, and the main benefit a release from jury duty.

REPORTORIAL PENCILINGS.

The Y. M. C. A. is arranging to give a "book reception" on May 20th. The fine weather and good roads are giving the livery stables a harvest.

The diagram for reserved seats for Beach & Bowers' minstrel show is open at the post-office news stand. The seats are going fast.

The second series of the Marquette Building and Loan association is now open. Shares can be subscribed for at Knapp & Joslin's bank.

The public spirit of a private citizen is evidenced by a lot of fine maps set out on Ridge street in front of the high school grounds yesterday.

For the five Sundays in April the average attendance at the young men's meetings in the Y. M. C. A. assembly room was 108, a great showing.

Marquette laws are showing a bright green tint, yet the snow fingers in the woods to the depth of two feet or more according to reports received from the Whitfish yesterday.

The temperature readings at the U. S. signal station yesterday, 75th meridian time, were: 7 A. M., 42 degrees; 3 P. M., 44 degrees; 10 P. M., 39 degrees; maximum temperature, 52 degrees; minimum temperature, 25 degrees.

Extensive improvements are being made along Spruce street. Property holders there are grading their lots and setting out trees at a great rate. Quite a force of workmen is at work on Mr. G. W. Hager's grounds under the direction of R. R. French.

The contractors who put in the sewer on Rock street last fall have left that thoroughfare in terrible condition, and the city should at once take steps to make them put it in good shape again.

left on Superior street will be occupied by Will Nesbitt as a saloon.

The Marquette MINING JOURNAL got there again in its Saturday issue and as usual with both feet. It publishes a lengthy description and a fine picture of the new upper peninsula state prison. The institution is rapidly approaching completion.

General Superintendent Watson, who went down to St. Ignace immediately after the roundhouse fire, states that the old engine which was in the house is entirely gone. The others will have to be thoroughly rebuilt but as they had not cooled off when he left he could not estimate the damage done to them.

In the MINING JOURNAL "want" and "for sale" column appears a little notice which should receive attention from the generous people of the city. Near Choccolay there is a French family—the mother being known in English as Mrs. Goodfriend—which has been in very straitened circumstances all winter, barely pulling through.
