MANY AMENDMENTS

Made to the River and Harbor Bill by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

THE HENNEPIN CANAL SCHEME RECEIVES ATTENTION.

Michigan Man Honored—Mrs. Sawyer Dead—Minister McLean on the European Situation—in Both Houses.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The total increase in the river and harbor appropriation bill as reported to the senate is about $1,500,000. The appropriation for Dunkirk, N. Y., is made $20,000; for Charlotte N. Y., $60,000; for Oakland, Cal., $350,000; for the great Kanawha river, West Virginia, $350,000; the item for the Monongahala Navigation Co. of West Virginia at $150,000 is struck out; for Buffalo, N. Y., $250,000; for Ashabula, Ohio, $25,000; for Fort Clinton, Ohio, struck out; for Oconto, Wis., $20,000; for the St. Croix river, Wisconsin and Minneapolis, $10,000; for the Mississippi river from the Des Moines rapids to the mouth of the Illinois, $135,000; the canal at Cascades, Ore., $300,000; for the mouth of the Columbia, Oregon, $500,000; for the construction of a movable dam in the Ohio river near the mouth of the Beaver river, $100,000; for the St. Clair flats ship canal, Michigan, $750,000; for the Grand rapids, near the mouth of the Carmel, Illinois, $50,000; for the Mississippi, from Minneapolis to the Des Moines rapids, $500,000.

The provision for the Missouri river is struck out and the following substituted: Improving the Missouri river from the mouth to Fort Benton, and continuing the improvements, $1,050,000. The following is the Hennepin canal provision: For the purpose of securing a continuous navigable waterway between Lake Michigan and the Mississippi river, having a capacity and facilities adequate for the passage of the largest Mississippi river steamboats and a naval vessels suitable for defense in a time of war, the secretary of war is authorized and directed to cause to be made the proper surveys, plans and estimates for a channel improvement and locks and dams in the beds of the Illinois and Des Plaines rivers from La Salle to Lockport, so as to provide navigable water not less than fourteen feet deep, and have surveyed and located a channel from Lockport to Lake Michigan at or near Chicago, such channel to be suitable for the purposes aforesaid and capable of carrying not less than 600,000 cubic feet of water per minute, flowing rate two miles per hour, the necessary expenses of such surveys, plans, etc., to be paid out of the sum appropriated for the improvement of the Illinois river.

The senate committee on the judiciary to-day further considered the nomination of Melville W. Fuller to be chief justice of the United States. A member of the committee is authority for the statement that the present status of the case warrants the belief that Mr. Fuller will be confirmed at an early day.

President and Mrs. Cleveland leave Washington Wednesday morning to attend the Presbyterian anniversary at Philadelphia.

Senator Manderson, from the committee on military affairs, to-day reported favorably the bill to increase the annual appropriation for the militia from $400,000 to $600,000.

MICHIGAN MAN HONORED.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The cruiser Baltimore will be launched at Philadelphia, July 4th, and Mrs. Cleveland will christen her.

W. C. Bancroft, of Port Huron, Mich., has been appointed general superintendent of the railway mail service, vice T. E. Nash, resigned.

Mr. Bancroft has accepted the appointment, and will enter upon the duties of office June 1st.

MRS. SAWYER DEAD.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Mrs. Sawyer, wife of Senator Sawyer, died very suddenly this morning. Mrs. Sawyer had been in ill health for over two years, although her death was not looked for.

POSTPONED TILL WEDNESDAY.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—At a meeting of the ways and means committee this morning it was agreed between the majority and the minority that the house should not enter upon the consideration of the tariff bill for amendments before Wednesday.

THE EUROPEAN SITUATION.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—United States Minister McLean, who arrived here this morning in answer to the question said there was no likelihood of war; that France did not want it. He said also that there was no chance of a civil war in France; General Boulanger was a clever politician, that was all. He said, however, that Russia was trying hard to raise a war, but it was doubtful whether it would succeed.

THE SENATE.

BILLS ON THE CALENDAR.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The senate bill appropriating $17,500 for the Smithsonian Institute on motion of Mr. Morrill was taken up, and, after a short discussion, passed.

The senate then proceeded to the business on the calendar, and passed numerous bills, including the following: The senate bill to perpetuate the Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., port delivery, with the privileges of inland transportation in bond; the house bill to establish a port of delivery at Grand Rapids, Mich.; the house bill appropriating $10,000 for repaving the roads to the national cemetery on the the Presidio reservation at San Francisco; the senate bill declaring that certain "water reserve lands" in Wisconsin are and have been subject to the provisions of "the railroad right of way act" of the 3d of March, 1875.

The senate bill for the erection of post-office buildings in towns and cities, where the postoffice receipts for the three years preceding have exceeded three thousand dollars annually, having been reached on the calendar, objection was made to some of its details, and on motion of Mr. Plumb the provision was struck out, authorizing the postmaster-general to accept the sites granted or donated for postoffice buildings and contributions to purchase the sites or in aid of the construction, and directing preference to be given to the localities that provide sites satisfactory to the postmaster-general. The bill then went over without final action.

Mr. Frye, from the committee on commerce, reported the river and harbor bill with amendments, and it was ordered to be printed and recommitted.

The senate then adjourned.

THE HOUSE.

A CONFERENCE ON THE PENSION BILL.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The senate amendments to the pension appropriation bill were non-concurred in, and a conference ordered.

An hour was consumed in referring to the appropriation committee the senate bills which had accumulated on the speaker's table during the past week.

On motion of Mr. Dunn (Ark.) the resolution was adopted directing the committee on marine and fisheries to investigate the fur seal fisheries of Alaska.

On motion of Mr. Mills (Tex.) a resolution was adopted setting apart to-morrow for the consideration of the bills reported by the committees.

Mr. Dalzell (Pa.), rising to a question of privilege, charged that Thursday's record had been altered by the omission of an important part of the colloquy between Messrs. Scott, Brumm and himself and the insertion of matter not spoken on the floor. He wished the speaker to see that the full debate was printed.

Mr. Belmont (N. Y.) made an effort to secure consideration for the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, but his motion to go into committee of the whole was defeated—yeas, 90; nays, 155.

The unfinished business was the motion submitted two weeks ago by Mr. Bingham (Pa) to suspend the rules and pass the senate bill granting a right of way through the Crow Indian reservation to the Billings, Clarke's Fort & Cooke City Railway company.

Mr. Wilson (Minn) opposed the bill because, he said, another road had already been projected and partly built through the only canon which afforded a passage across the country, and the effect of the passage of the bill would be to enable a set of Wall street speculators to come in and throttle the enterprise already under way by occupying the canon to the exclusion of the other road.

Mr. Toole (Mont) also opposed the measure on the same grounds. He argued that thirty days should be allowed to the Clark's Fork & Cooke City Railway company to negotiate its bonds before the house should attempt to act upon the bill.

The bill was then passed—yeas 112, nays 40.

Mr. Hatch (Mo.) from the committee on agriculture, moved that the rules be suspended and the bill passed to enlarge the duties of the department of agriculture, and to create an executive department to be known as the department of agriculture.

After a brief discussion the motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill was agreed to—yeas 233, nays 13. It creates a board to be known as the department of agriculture, under the supervision and control of a secretary of agriculture, and provides for the appointment of a first assistant secretary of agriculture. It also transfers the weather service of the United States signal service from the war department to the department of agriculture.

The house then went into committee of the whole on the diplomatic and consular appropriations bill.

Mr. Belmont explained that the bill as reported was identical with the bill of last year, with the exception that an appropriation of $15,000 contained in that bill for the expenses of the Venezuelan and Haytian commissioners was not contained in the pending measure.

No amendments of consequence were offered to the bill and after a short time spent in its consideration, the bill was passed.

The District of Columbia appropriation bill was also considered in committee of the whole, and passed by the house.

Mr. Outhwaite (Ohio) asked unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution ordering a number of night sessions.

Mr. McDonald (Minn) objected, and the resolution was referred to the committee on rules.

The house then adjourned.

WARD MATERIALLY HELPS DETROIT TO LOSE TO THE GIANTS

And Chicago Drops One to the Phillies. Indianapolis Shuts Out the Bean Town Crowd—Association Games.

YESTERDAY'S GAMES.

DETROIT, 7; NEW YORK, 8.

DETROIT, May 21.—Both Conway and Keefe were hit hard and often to-day. The former had but little command of the ball, sending four of the Giants to first on balls, two of whom scored. Conway and Cleveland knocked the ball over the left field fence for home runs, the latter making the winning run. The Champions had two men on bases in the ninth and only one man out but Bennett hit to Ward and a double play was made. Ward's batting and base running and Hanlon's catch of a long drive were the features of the game.

Score:

Detroit.....2 0 0 0 2 3 0 0 0-7
New York.....0 3 1 3 0 0 0 1 *-8

CHICAGO, 1; PHILADELPHIA, 4.

CHICAGO, May 21.—The Phillies scored a victory to-day in a game characterized by light hitting and good fielding. In the second inning Mulvey was given a base on balls and Farrar then hit the ball over the fence for a home run, thereby winning and earning the game, as one run was all the Chicagoers could score in the game. Both pitchers were too much for the opposing batters. Casey struck Baldwin out four times. Brilliant playing was done by Pfeffer, Burns, Daley, Ryan, Clements, Bastian and Andrews. Score: Chicago.....0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0-1
Philadelphia...0 2 1 0 0 0 1 0 0-4

PITTSBURGH, 5; WASHINGTON, 0.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 21.—The weak batting of the Senators made them easy victims for the home team and at the end of the ninth inning they retired with nine goose eggs. Pittsburgh played a strong game at all points, but the contest was too one-sided to be interesting. Miller, who was badly spiked by Pfeffer during the Chicago series, made his first appearance on the field since the accident and played with all his old-time vigor. Attendance, 2,000. Score: Pittsburgh.....2 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 2-5

INDIANAPOLIS, 1; BOSTON, 0.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 21.—Hines and Glascock's bases on balls and Denny's two bopper in the third inning, scored the only run and won to-day's game. In the fifth, Boston had a man on second and third bases with nobody out, but was unable to score, and in the ninth Morrill struck out, leaving Wise on third. Both pitchers were on their mettle and base hits were few and far between. The fielding was brilliant, Esterbrook, Nash and the two catchers especially distinguishing themselves. Score: Indianapolis...0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0-1

THE SOO IMPROVEMENTS.

Statistics Showing the Benefit to the Country at Large from Them.

GENERAL POE'S REPORT.

DETROIT, May 21.—General O. M. Poe, United States engineer, has just completed a special report to the chief engineer at Washington which is of great interest to marine men and shippers, and in fact to the country at large, in view of the present discussion of the improvement of St. Mary's Falls, Canadian Hay Lake channel, and the "Soo" route generally. The gist of the report is contained in the following figures: Down freight 3,749,436 tons; up freight 1,745,213 tons; total 5,494,649 tons; average distance each ton was carried by water 811 1/10 miles; total freight charges, including terminal charges, $10,075,153; average freight charges per ton per mile 23-100 of a cent.

The bureau of statistics gives the average freight charges per ton per mile in round numbers thus: The average freight charges by rail compared with those by water appears to be as $11 to $13. Upon this basis $10,075,153, representing the cost of freight transportation by this water route during the season of 1887, would have been, if the freight had been carried by rail, $44,632,293. To realize what this benefit means it is only necessary to state that it represents more than ten times the cost of improving the canal and the St. Mary's river to the present time, or about six times the estimated cost of the proposed further improvements.

Passed the Hudson.

DETROIT, May 21.—The Western Line steamer Hudson passed the Buffalo breakwater yesterday at 4:55 P. M.; the Toga at 5:34 P. M. There is considerable rivalry between these lines and it was understood the Toga would try to overhaul the Hudson before reaching Detroit. This she did, although she had the heaviest cargo and when passing the Hudson was listed considerably. The Toga passed the United News marine office at 12:40 and the Hudson at 1:03. The latter stopped here thirty-one minutes.

A SAD SEA SONG.

A sailor man sailed over the sea. When the billows were soft and low. And the winds a lullaby to the glee. Sang sweetly in gentle flow.

A sailor wife sat out on the shore. And dreamed of a ship on the deep. But her sailor man she saw no more. For he slept in a sound, sound sleep.

The sailor sailed away and away. Where the surges were fierce and wild. And was lost at the break of a stormy day. To his wife and his little child.

The winds were sad and the waves were wild. And the sea sang a story of life. A lullaby to the sailor child. A wail to the sailor wife.

INTERESTING EXERCISES.

Dedication of the New School Building at Negaunee Yesterday - Addresses by Judge Grant and Others - An Auspicious Opening of the New Temple of Learning.

Dedictory Exercises. The high school assembly room was completely filled yesterday afternoon on the occasion of the dedicatory exercises of the new $35,000 school building that the citizens of Negaunee have erected and which was occupied for the first time on that date.

Judge Grant, by way of introduction, spoke of his declining the invitation to be present, but when other invitations from the school board, from Hon. J. Q. Adams and others, were received, he felt compelled to accept.

Joseph Schneider hurt his finger in a cigar press the other day, and carries his arm in a sling in consequence. FOR SALE - Ten large Hogheads, holding from 15 to 18 barrels each, at reasonable prices.

languages meant modern languages, and not Latin, which in the Negaunee schools was "elective" - the pupils could take it or not, just as they wished.

Judge Grant then asked permission to add a few words more concerning the compulsory educational law, stating that he had been prompted to do so by the statement of a prominent citizen to the effect that at any time during school hours any number of idle children could be found on the streets.

The building was then thrown open from attic to basement and the visitors were allowed an hour to inspect it. Those from outside who participated in the exercises may rest assured that their services were highly appreciated and their remarks enjoyed.

The C. & N. W. road was so heavily rushed with freight last week that four long freight trains were run Sunday. The consignments were principally coal for the D., S. S. & A. and the local mines, and steel rails for the railway extensions up this way.

Last night J. H. Browne's theater company presented "Foggy Ferry" at the opera house. Little Maude and J. Knox Gavin made great hits.

The board of review was in session yesterday. A review of the more important portions of the 1888 assessment roll is reserved until to-morrow.

FOR SALE - Ten large Hogheads, holding from 15 to 18 barrels each, at reasonable prices. They are suitable for cisterns or for use as reservoirs for feeding boilers.

MARQUETTE, MICH., MAY 22, 1898.

Entered as mail matter of the second class, in the post office at Marquette, Mich.

The new furnace at Ashland, which has now been in operation several weeks, is turning out about 80 tons of pig iron daily. It is running on Gogebic and Vermilion ores.

SHIPMENTS of ore from Ashland began on Thursday, of last week, the first vessel to clear from that port being the Fayette Brown, which loaded at the Wisconsin Central's docks. On the same date last spring eighteen cargoes had gone forward from Ashland.

We see by the Ashland Press that real estate there is sliding into the lake in a most unaccountable way. The explanation of the phenomenon is probably to be found in the fact that it isn't able to stand up under the exorbitant prices placed upon it by the "boomers" who had their own way there for a fortnight or so last spring.

The Iron Trade Review gives the news that the city of Sandusky, O., has just voted to bond itself in aid of the Sandusky, Ashland & Cochoton railway, its terminals and its correlative ship-building project. The Review further says: "Recent advices from the east go to confirm the impression that the capital necessary to carry out the scheme will be forthcoming. As we understand it, no stock is to be offered for sale, the bonds being ample to pay the whole expense. We learn that a satisfactory conclusion has been arrived at between the promoters of the new enterprise and some leading ore producers, for a fifteen-year contract to transport over 2,000,000 tons of iron ore yearly at a certain agreed low rate of freight."

The Sault Ste. Marie News thinks that, as the river and harbor bill makes generous provision for the St. Mary's River improvements as it passed the house, the senators from this state should not jeopardize the measure by amending it so as to make provision for purchase of the Portage Lake canals and making them free to the commerce of the great lakes. This, it strikes us, is a rather selfish view of the matter. The government is amply able to carry on the Soo' improvements and at the same time acquire control of the Portage canals, and it is just as essential to our lake commerce that the latter waterways should be made free and kept serviceable as that the former should be brought up to the requirements of the traffic that they accommodate. We see no reason why one of these projects should wait on the other, both being meritorious and having claims on the immediate attention of the government that appeal powerfully for favorable and prompt action.

SOME weeks ago the MINING JOURNAL made mention of a chart prepared by a gentleman of this city who is thoroughly familiar with the ore-mining industry in the Lake Superior region, by which is shown in a simple but effective manner, the lake shipments of ore from each range up to date, the shipments by ports, the charges for lake carriage, and the selling price each year. The chart is a valuable addition to any mine office, and will not come amiss in the business places of many who are not directly interested in mining ventures.

We are pleased to learn that a limited number of these charts will be prepared by a competent draughtsman, and those desiring copies can procure them by addressing Mr. W. C. Finney, Iron Bay Foundry, and enclosing the price, which is $4 per copy. The chart is so designed that any one can carry it on from year to year up to 1896 by extending the lines and inserting the figures showing output, freight rates and selling price at the close of each year, thus making it a complete record of the Lake Superior ore shipments from the inception of the iron mining industry here to the end of the year. It will be found useful for reference in a variety of ways. The chart is based upon the MINING JOURNAL'S corrected statistical tables showing output, but gives a great deal of valuable information not to be found in these. Order one.

ONTONAGON COPPER MINES.
The Ontonagon Miner has these items concerning operations at copper mines in that county:

At the National mine active preparations are being made for the erection of the stamp mill, and if warmer weather ever comes the work will be pushed ahead. Capt. Vivian has advertised at Hancock for carpenters and masons to work on the building, and at this end, Capt. Parrell is doing everything that can be done under the circumstances.

The tributors at the Mass mine have hoisted their copper and are now at work getting it ready for shipment. Teams are bringing it down as fast as cleaned and it will be shipped by boat to Cleveland, thence to Pittsburgh to be smelted where the principal owners of the mine, the Husseys, own a smelting furnace. We understand that many of the men will go into the mine again on tribute for the summer.

One pair of miners have been meeting with very good success tributary to the Hilton mine in a split on the Knowlton vein which has been worked several times, but the men have generally abandoned the work because the rock is very rich in stamp copper only, producing but little mass or barrel work, which only is of value to the tributors, as they have no means of using the stamp rock. This pair of tributors, however, persisted in work and have been rewarded with considerable heavy copper, one mass weighing something over a ton. The Hilton is rich mining property and should be worked especially with copper at the present price.

The tributors at the Ridge have got through cleaning their copper and it has all been brought down for shipment. It will be sent by the City of Fremont to the smelting works at Hancock, as the smelting works at Detroit have been closed. At the mine, work is moving slowly, as the ice, snow and frost impedes operations. The engineers have the hoisting engine all apart repairing it, a new foundation has been put under it, the boilers will be overhauled and new mason work put around them. In the No. 2 shaft the track is found to be entirely useless, new timbers will be put in, and the old-fashioned flat rails will be replaced by strong T-rails. On the surface men are busy laying new tracks and making general repairs to the road and approaches to the stamp mill. The stamp mill will be put into the hands of the machinist as soon as they get through with the hoisting machinery and it will be thoroughly overhauled and made ready for work.

A SOUND LEGAL OPINION.
E. Bainbridge Munday, Esq., County Atty., Bay county, Texas, says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother also was very low with Malarial Fever and Jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. Am satisfied. Electric Bitters saved his life."
Mr. D. L. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying: "He positively believes he would have died, had it not been for Electric Bitters."
This great remedy will ward off, as well as cure all Malarial Diseases, and for all Kidney, Liver and Stomach Disorders stands unequalled. Price 50 cents and $1 at H. H. Stafford & Sons.

DON'T EXPERIMENT.
You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems at first, only a cold, and you permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Cough and Croup. Now you are getting the genuine. Because he can make more profit he may tell you he has something just as good, or just the same. Don't be deceived, but believe in the truth of the New Discovery, which is guaranteed to give relief in all Throat, Lung and Chest affections. Trial bottles free at Stafford & Son's Drug store.

RENEWED HER YOUTH.
Mrs. Phoebe Chesley, Patterson, Clay Co., Iowa, tells the following remarkable story, the truth of which is vouched for by the residents of the town: "I am 73 years old, have been troubled with kidney complaint and lameness for many years; could not dress myself, could not walk, and was unable to do any housework. I owe my thanks to Electric Bitters for having renewed my youth and restored me to health. Now I am free from all pain and soreness, and am able to do all my own housework. I owe my thanks to Electric Bitters for having renewed my youth and restored me to health. Now I am free from all pain and soreness, and am able to do all my own housework."

RUPTURE

PROFS. GOSEKE & VAN SCOYOC,
ISHPEMING, MICH.

We desire to inform all those who are suffering from the serious affliction known as RUPTURE or HERNIA, that there is yet a chance for relief, and not only for relief, but for a SOUND AND PERMANENT CURE.

You have probably tried many remedies with the hope of obtaining relief—have tried all kinds of trusses, and have expended a large sum of money, and still find yourself uncured, and have given up all hopes of recovery, and expect that you must endure the pains of trusses to such an extent that life has no enjoyment, once regarded it as unworthy of special attention. It is not a staid old affliction; it is a progressive even unto death, and they are wise who take the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon them.

We treat by the SNEDEKER METHOD, which is now practiced in most every state of the union with successful success. The treatment is entirely external, without the use of the KNIFE or SYRINGE; nor is one's labors or amusements interfered with. This treatment can be received from our hands, as we have the sole right to use it in the peninsula.

One year among the citizens of Ishpeeming and Marquette county has clearly proven to many sufferers, who have taken the treatment, that it is invaluable, and that it is also represented to be given this justly celebrated treatment a fair and impartial trial, and let it stand or fall on its merits. So confident are we of success in every particular that we give a WRITTEN GUARANTEE to every case taken for treatment, and we especially invite the afflicted to give us a trial.

Any further information can be had by calling on or addressing us at our office in HEINEMAN BLOCK.

Respectfully,
PROFS. GOSEKE & VAN SCOYOC.
WILL BE AT THE SUMMIT HOUSE
—FROM—
May 17 to 27th, inclusive, where they can be consulted on this subject free of charge. Come and receive the names of many who have taken this treatment in your county, and avail yourself of this opportunity before it is too late. 5-16-18

RUSSIAN FANATICISM.

HORRIBLE THINGS DONE BY CERTAIN PEASANT RELIGIONISTS.

A Fanatic Who Preached the End of the World and Advocated Suicide by Starvation—A Mad Band—The Jumpers a Less Harmful Sect.

Not all the fanaticism of Russia goes into political and nihilistic agitation, if the statements made in a recent article in an English review by M. N. Tsakni have a reasonable foundation in truth.

In the provinces of Perm, beyond the Kama twenty years ago, there was in the depths of the forests an educated peasant, Khodkine, passionately addicted to reading, and spending most of his time over religious books, which he expounded in his own fashion. He soon convinced himself that the end of the world was at hand, and persuaded himself and a band of followers that the only way to save their souls was to leave the world to hide in the forest, and to make an end of the life of ignominy and sin in which they were involved. His first disciples were his mother, brother, sister-in-law and uncle.

"Anti-Christ is already come," he declared, "and goes to and fro in the earth. The end of the world is at hand; let us fly to the forests, bury ourselves alive, and die of hunger," and the half insane converts followed his example, a large congregation going with him into the woods, where the men set out to dig actual catacombs and the women made graves for twelve days. There were thus consumed, and then all the disciples, dressed in these clothes, three several times renounced satan and all his works. This ceremony over, Khodkine said:

"Now that you have renounced satan, you must die of hunger. If you take no nourishment and drink no water for twelve days, you will enter into the kingdom of heaven." Blindly they set themselves to follow his command. Days of intolerable agony followed, and at last the tortured women and children began to cry aloud for water. Touched by the piteous wailing of the children, some of the fanatics knelt to their chief, and sought him for mercy for the little ones; but he was immovable and refused the petition, while the children writhed in agony sucking grass, chewing fern fronds, and swallowing sand. Two of the band, able to endure no longer, slipped away in the night, and Khodkine, fearful that aid might be summoned, determined to hasten their end. "The hour is come. Are you ready?" he said.

"We are ready," they exclaimed. Then, at his command, they began a massacre. The children were first killed and the bodies of the victims buried. Then the survivors decided to resume the fast, but the two fugitives having warned the police, about this time a body of officers was seen approaching. The madness of the fanatics reached its height, and, swearing to shed their blood for Christ, they began an indiscriminate slaughter. The women, and then the weakest of the men, were killed with hatchets, until finally Khodkine and his followers were the sole survivors. They attempted to escape into the forest, but were captured and turned over to justice.

A few years ago, M. Tsakni says, the monk Palare enjoyed great popularity on the banks of the Volga, and taught that the sole mode of salvation for man was voluntary death. "It is impossible," he said, "to continue to live in this world immersed in sin and falsehood. We must seek safety in death; we must die for Christ." Large numbers of disciples attached themselves to this prophet of death, and one night eighty-four persons met in a cavern prepared beforehand near a river. Straw and faggots were at hand, that they might hasten death if the police should interfere. They began to fast and pray, but one woman became skeptical as to the efficacy of death as a means to salvation, and in the darkness slipped away to a neighboring village, where she gave the alarm to the authorities. The inhabitants turned out en masse and went to the river. The corpse was seen by a sentinel of the fanatics, who shouted:

"Anti-Christ is coming. Fly! Let us not give ourselves up living into the hands of our enemies."
The mad band set fire to the straw, and the peasant villagers endeavored to extinguish the flames. A terrible struggle followed. The police and the villagers tried to snatch the victims from the fire; but they defended themselves, wrestling with their would-be saviors, throwing them aside and killing themselves with hatchets, shouting all the time, "We die for Christ!" Many of them were saved in spite of themselves, however. After those had been tried and convicted, one of the condemned, Toubkoff, escaped from prison, and himself began to propagate the religion of suicide. More than sixty persons in that same locality decided to give themselves up to voluntary death. Whole families—fathers, mothers and children—were included in the number. On a day fixed beforehand they met for mutual massacre in the house of one of their number. Peasant P. entered the house of his neighbor, and after killing him, with his wife and children, went to the barn where the other fanatics were waiting for him with their wives, and these calmly put their heads on a block, while P. played the part of executioner. Then he went to the barn of another peasant woman, killed her and her kinswomen, while an accomplice killed the children. Then the accomplice put his head on the block and begged P. to cut it off. P. himself being subsequently killed by one of the band, so that in all thirty-five persons met their death in this way before a peasant woman, chancing to pass in the neighborhood, was terrified by the spectacle and ran to give the alarm.

A less harmful sect existing in the Caucasus and neighboring countries are called Prigoony, or the "Jumpers." They have carried religious ecstasy to the highest point. Their principal apostle calls himself God, and teaches chiefly that the end of the world is at hand, all must prepare for it by repentance and purification from past sin by confession to the elect of God. The enthusiasm of the disciples is such that they leave their work and devote all their time to prayer and to listening to sermons. The principal dogma of the sect is belief in the descent of the Holy Spirit upon the elect. This takes place only upon the elect during religious meetings, and continually only upon two or three persons in each meeting. Habitually it occurs only at the end of the meeting, when all have been suitably prepared by prayer. The signs of the presence are usually a pallor of the face, quickened breath, then a swaying of the whole body, a rhythmic tapping with the feet, violent contortions and jumping, and in the end a heavy fall upon the ground. Some of the believers sway, and then, springing from the benches, begin to jump. Others fall from the benches to the floor and there remain stretched out for an hour or more. Others march around the table with theatrical stride, shaken by hysterical sob, and while twirling in their places, throwing themselves about, falling on the ground, or raising themselves again, they retain a fixed look of the greatest solemnity. At the end of the meeting the teachers and apostles embrace each other and then retire to opposite sides of the room. Then the brothers and sisters come to them successively, throw themselves on the ground three times before them and embrace them three times.—New York Sun.

A HIDDEN TREASURE.

One dismal, rainy evening in the fall of 1857 a wayfarer entered a country inn in Indiana and secured lodgings for the night. He was a sailor, he said, and was on his way to a town twenty miles distant, where he had relatives. He was a stout built, rugged looking fellow, but next morning he was found dead in his bed. The above facts were clearly established, but a certain other fact could only be surmised. Word was sent to the dead man's relatives, the coroner took charge of the remains, and all personal effects were turned over with the remains. The deceased had a few dollars in money and a few trinkets, but the relatives at once claimed that he had been robbed of valuable papers.

The proprietor of the inn was a veritable Yankee, including a hawk bill nose and the legendary wrang, and his wife was his counterpart. He was known to be sharper than steel in a horse trade, and he never put out a dollar that he did not get a big interest; but no one believed he had rifled the dead man's baggage. When the relatives were asked about the nature of the alleged valuable papers they refused to answer, and this evasion threw doubts on their allegation. In a few weeks the affair blew over, and in about three months the landlady and wife began to feel lonesome for the hills of old New Hampshire. This was an excuse for offering their property for sale, and six months after the death of the stranger in the hotel the place passed into other hands.

The next season opened in New Orleans. I was then employed by Blank & Blank, wreckers, as general manager of the business. We had three vessels, steam pumps, divers, and all other necessary apparatus. I was called into the private office one day, and there found Jonas Stebbins, the hook nosed Yankee who had sold out his hotel in Indiana. He had something to say, but he hesitated to say it. It was half an hour before we could bring him to the point, and then only after the three of us had placed our hands on a small Bible, which Stebbins had thoughtfully provided for, and sworn never to reveal his secret. Then he brought forth two letters and a map, and we saw that another buried treasure crunk had struck the city. Such incidents were not uncommon. In the five years I had been manager we had encountered a full dozen of these crunks, and on two occasions the firm had lost heavily by entering into partnerships which failed to pan out. As soon as Mr. Stebbins unfolded himself he got the corker, "solder, but he would not take it that way."

"Look here," he said, as he tilted his chair back, "do you take me for a fool?" "Well, partly," "Do you think I want a partnership in it?" "Don't you?" "Not by a jugful! I want to hire a schooner and crew and divers by the week for so many weeks. All are to be under my orders, and I am to have all that's found. Partnership! No, sir—e! What's your lowest figure?"

He had shown us a roughly drawn map of the Bahama Islands, one executed with pen and ink by some sailor. He wanted a schooner to proceed to one of the islands. All the apparatus he wanted was grapnels and divers. He might want three weeks, but probably not over two. It was finally agreed that he should hire by the day. He beat us down $5 on the figure named, and an iron clad agreement was drawn up and signed, and he counted out $1,000 in gold. A sum sufficient to pay us for three weeks was deposited with a banker, and we at once began preparations for the trip. It had been stipulated that Mrs. Stebbins was to go along, and we had a steamer room fitted up for her.

This was the first time any treasure hunter had put down his own money for an expedition, and we could not doubt that Mr. Stebbins had what seemed to him a straight deal. It was not our business to throw cold water on his plans, even though we were firmly convinced that he would return empty handed. The firm decided that I should go in charge of operations, and a couple of days after the contract was signed we were off for the Gulf. I expected the Stebbins to be nervous and frustrated, but there was not a sign of it. They were as cool as if going on a visit to a relative. As we were going down the river, I said to him: "Now that the contract is signed and we are under way, I suppose you had as soon tell me about your treasure?"

"Well, no," he drawled; "you might leave the schooner somewhere and try to cut in ahead of me, or we may be wrecked before we get there. I think you are honest and straight, but I can't give you the exact location."

"No, indeed, we can't," added Mrs. Stebbins. "You see, it has taken every dollar we could rake and scrape, and if we don't get that treasure we'll be busted."

"But you seem to be certain of getting it." "Oh, yes!" they replied in chorus. "Is the amount large?" They looked at each other a moment, and then Mrs. Stebbins replied: "Jonas, I think we can safely tell him some few things, for he seems to wish us well."

"Yes, I guess so." "Well, then, we expect to get about $100,000 more or less, in gold and silver."

"Yes, that's about the figure," added Stebbins, "and as we are both getting along in years it will come in handy. If you had that much money, Mr. Marvin, would you buy a farm or move into a city?"

They seemed so firmly convinced of the existence of the treasure that I felt it my duty to warn them of possible disappointment.

"Yes, we might possibly fail, but 'tain't at all likely," he replied. "We ain't the sort of people to put our last dollar on an uncertainty."

"No, Jonas, we ain't," added the wife. "Was this treasure deposited years ago?" I asked.

"Yes, a good many years ago." "On land?" They looked from me to each other, and smiled in a knowing way. "Because," I continued, "there can't be a rod of any of the Bahamas, nor a bay, nor cove on the shores, but what has been explored over and over."

"Exactly," replied Stebbins, as he arose to spit over the rail. "If anybody has found the treasure then we shan't get it."

"Of course we shan't," replied the wife, and that closed the conversation.

Neither one of them had been to sea before, and while we were running down the Florida coast both were terribly seasick. They were around again as we came up with the cape, however, and when the captain asked Stebbins which one of the Bahamas he should steer for the man consulted his sketch fresh, compared it with the captain's chart of those waters, and finally replied, as he put his finger down, "This is Turk's island."

"Yes." "That's where they get a heap of salt." "Yes." "Well, here's an island to the northeast of it, fifteen or twenty miles away."

"Yes; that's the Little Cayes." "Well, now, you might bring up there." "During the remainder of the voyage, or until we sighted the island, the coolness of Stebbins and his wife was remarkable. The only game they knew how to play was for cards and go, and they played from morning still night and far into the evening. We threaded our way among the various islands to get to the east, and sails were in sight every hour in the day, but this queer couple could hardly be induced to raise their eyes from the game. Stebbins was always on hand when the captain picked off the day's run on the chart, and it was evident that he was keeping a sharp lookout to see that we were headed in the right direction.

In due time we raised Turk's island, coming down from the north, and then we kept off a couple of points until Little Cayes was sighted. It is an island lying much lower than Turk's, almost surrounded with dangerous shoals and reefs, and at the time of which I write the only settlers were traders, wreckers and fishermen. There are harbors on the east and west shores, but by order of Stebbins we ran around to the south side and dropped anchor about a mile from the beach.

It was just at sundown when we came to anchor, and the evening the captain gave them the use of the cabin for a couple of hours to look over their papers. The island, with all the indentations, as well as the shoals, reefs and depth of water, was pictured on our chart, and they compared their pen and ink sketch with this, and consulted another paper which none of us had before seen, until they came to a decision. I was looking down upon them through the open skylight from the corner of my eye, and I saw Stebbins strike the table with his fist, and heard him whisper:

"We've got it, sure as shooting!" "Haud shie, a'ronnished!" "Of course we've got it. We haun't nobody's fool, Jonas Stebbins. Do you suppose I'd have consented to put all our money into this venture if there was a chance to lose it?"

"By gum! but we'll be rich!" "Of course we will!" "Richest folks in the hull county!" "Yes, but don't get excited."

They sat on deck for an hour or two, Stebbins smoking and his wife knitting, and as they were about to retire for the night I felt bound to observe:

"Well, Mr. Stebbins, here we are in good shape and now, as I was sent to manage your business, you'd better explain matters pretty clearly. I may want to make some preparations for to-morrow."

"How long will it take you to get a diver ready to go down?" he asked.

"Well, that's all the preparations needed." "What is the diver to go down after?" "Sunthin' that won't run away before morning," answered Mrs. Stebbins, and with that both went below.

It was only natural that all of us should be in the expectation, but every attempt to find out anything had thus far been cleverly frustrated. The captain and I talked it over again for the twentieth time, and we came to the same old conclusion—that Stebbins had come on a wild goose chase after some old wreck. In our opinion all his refusal to furnish particulars we almost hoped he wouldn't find it. Stebbins was on deck at daylight next morning, and his wife half an hour later, and after breakfast, when the captain asked for orders, the Yankee waited to fill his pipe before replying:

"I guess we'll jog westward about five miles." The schooner was got under way, and when she had accomplished the distance named she was about a mile off shore, in fifty feet of water, and midway between her and the beach was a reef covered with not more than ten or twelve feet of water at low tide. As the anchor was about to pull off, Stebbins and his wife were both to go, making a party of six of us. We pulled almost straight for the reef, ported a little after crossing it, and then, as we anchored in three fathoms of water I looked about and discovered that we were in what might be called a basin, although it was open to the east.

"Yes, this is the spot," said Stebbins as he stood up and looked around.

"I'd almost know it at midnight," added his wife. "What am I to look for?" asked the diver as he donned his dress.

"Some boxes about the size of them that axes come in," replied the Yankee. "There ought to be ten of 'em down there. They are iron bound and purty hefty, but you hook on and we'll do the hauling."

I assured him that it could be done, and we got down the boat, put in the pump and dress, and were shortly ready to pull off. Stebbins and his wife were both to go, making a party of six of us. THE BANNER TOWN

Some Interesting Facts about The Iron Metropolis of The Upper Peninsula.

SOME OF THE THINGS SHE LAYS CLAIM TO.

The Largest and Best Iron Mines—The Only Gold Mines in Michigan—The Largest Population—The Most Voters.

Facts in a Nutshell. It is an acknowledged fact that during the last few years no other town in Michigan has made such rapid and substantial progress as the city of IshpeMING. Nearly every incoming train brings in new people who come here to find employment and to become permanent residents of our thriving city. As a result real estate has rapidly increased in value, every desirable building site has been purchased, and the inhabitants are clamoring for more. Many new and handsome residences have recently been built and will be furnished this spring and summer. It was with this expectation that J. H. Quinn & Co., the firm who lay claim to the title of the only exclusive dry goods dealers in the city, laid in such a magnificent spring stock. Especially in carpets they are showing an elegant stock, embracing all the late patterns in Ingrain, Extra Super Three Ply Tapestry, Body Brussels and Wilton Velvet. Parties purchasing of them can have their carpets matched, sewed and laid on the floors if they so desire. They are also showing a nice line of lace curtains, Marcellus bed quilts, table covers, calico quilts, blankets, feathers and pillows, in fact all kind of house furnishings. In Smyrna rugs they have just received a choice line. A call at this immense establishment will convince you they are entitled to the title of the only exclusive dry goods house in the city.

AN IMMENSE FUNERAL.

The Largest Ever Seen in IshpeMING Was That of the Late Captain Eddy Sunday.

A Kicker—From Way-back—Where to Call for Your Citizen's Papers—A O. H. Matter.

Buried on Sunday.

The funeral of the late Capt. Jas. C. Eddy was held in this city on Sunday last and it is not exaggerating to say that it was the largest ever seen in IshpeMING without any exception.

The remains were met in the northeastern part of the city by the members of the two societies of which Capt. Eddy was a member. The procession was formed at the A. O. U. W. hall on Cleveland avenue, at 1 P. M. It was headed by the Select Knights of the IshpeMING and Negaunee legions, and the members of the Cul Bono lodge No. 112 of Negaunee, and IshpeMING No. 113, of the A. O. U. W. The Select Knights were preceded by the Young Eureka Cornet band of this city, reinforced by a number of musicians from the L. A. & S., and Red Men's bands, the additional players all being members of the societies with which Capt Eddy was connected.

Following the S. K. and A. O. U. W. came the members of English Oak lodge, of Negaunee, and Sir Humphrey I avy lodge, of IshpeMING, of the Sons of St. George. This society was headed by English Oak band, of Negaunee.

The line of march was from the hall along Cleveland avenue to Main street, Main to Canada, Canada to First, First to High, High to Second, and from Second to North Third street. At the corner of Empire and Third streets, the hearse and carriages of friends fell into line, and were escorted to the Division street M. E. church, where the funeral sermon was preached by the Rev. J. P. Warner.

From the church the line of march was taken up to the cemetery, where the last sad rites were performed by the clergyman, and the representatives of the two lodges. Over 700 men were in line in the funeral parade. There were 70 members of the S. K. in full uniform, 250 members of the A. O. U. W., 350 members of the Sons of St. George, and the two bands—over 700 men in all, besides the 50 or more carriages containing friends.

The tribute to the memory of Capt. Eddy was a magnificent one, and the great concourse of people attending the funeral spoke more eloquently than words of his virtues and worth.

A Kicker.

Considerable amusement was created in the council room yesterday afternoon by a property owner who went before the board of review to complain that his assessment was too high. He gave as a reason for his complaint that there were "two of the Finland saloons" in the same block as his house, and that on account of the before mentioned "Finlanders" making night hideous and day uproarious, he considered that the value of his property had depreciated at least 50 per cent. He did not succeed in getting his valuation cut down, and departed highly wroth.

Naturalization Papers.

The naturalization papers applied for last month have been made out by the county clerk, and are now ready for their owners. The Cornish, Irish, German and French applicants can get them at Harry Harwood's drug store; Norwegians and Swedes will find theirs at August W. Lindholm's bazaar, and those for candidates from Finland are awaiting their owners at the store of Nels Mahjannan & Co., on Division street.

A. O. H.

At the state convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, held at East Saginaw last week, John E. Tyrrell, of East Saginaw, was elected state delegate, and Matthew Dennison, of this city, secretary. Mr. Dennison has held this office for a number of years and so acceptably to the order in this state, that it insists on having no other man for the place. Mr. Dennison was also a delegate from Michigan to the national convention of the A. O. H., held at Nashville, Tenn., two weeks ago.

Henry Nicholas, the builder, is remodeling the house at the northwest corner of Division and Second streets, owned by James Blackney, and will change it from a dwelling to a business building. It will be transformed into a two-story structure, with high ceilings and wide windows. Division street is improving of late, and Mr. Blackney's remodeled building will be a notable change for the better.

Detroit lodge, No. 6, of the A. O. U. W., tried to recapture the banner broom from IshpeMING lodge, No. 113, but failed. Ninety-eight new members were initiated, but that same seven short of the required number, and the broom stays here.

The attention of mine owners and parties desirous of engaging good prospectors is directed to the card in the IshpeMING business notices of to-day. The explorer in question is an experienced miner, and can be depended on.

The Michigan Herald, of Detroit, copies the MINING JOURNAL'S account of the initiation of 104 new members into IshpeMING lodge No. 113, A. O. U. W., in its May issue. That's all right, but the Herald gives the Peninsular Record credit for the article, which isn't all right.

Beggars are growing numerous again. Beggars and vags turn up together with the first warm weather, and one is entitled to about as much sympathy and assistance as the other.

THE PERFUMERS ART.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF A GREAT FRENCH INDUSTRY.

The Flower Growers and Perfume Distillers of Southern France—How Floral Beauty is Sacrificed—Pomades and Perfumed Oils—Distillation.

The flower growers and perfume distillers of southern France have no fear of any competition. They claim that because they inherited this industry from their ancestors and because no other country has ever taken it up successfully no other country or people ever can or will. But there is nothing mysterious about the business, and nothing impossible to any man or community who will choose a suitable soil, location and exposure in, well, say California, and go about the business intelligently and with energy.

Only the simple, most natural varieties of flowers are used. The roses that are grown by tons for this purpose are the plain, pink June rose that every country schoolboy in America has picked from the bushes in some garden or door yard and presented blushing to his schoolmate. The single white jessamine, the wild violet, the single tuberose are the only ones known to the perfumers. For orange blossoms a small, bitter, non-edible variety is used, which makes up for its poor fruit by producing a wealth of blooms that are large, white and heavy with perfume. There is nothing in the growing of flowers that any peasant farmer of ordinary intelligence cannot readily master. It is in the manufacture of the perfumes from the gathered blossoms that the greatest skill and experience are required. It requires capital, too, but the profits of the business are liberal, and those who have been long enough engaged in it have no want of money.

POMADES AND OILS. The perfumes of commerce are in one of four generic forms, viz, pomades and perfumed oils, which are made by the process of absorption, or—essences and essences oils, which are made by distillation. Every large establishment is provided with apparatus for all these processes. The first two classes—pomades and oils—are used simply as vehicles to absorb the perfume and retain it for transportation. Pomades are made from roses, jonquills, tuberose, jessamines and some other alien species of flowers. Before the season begins each manufacturer provides himself with a large number of wooden frames set with plate glass. These frames are about two feet square and their wooden sides are perhaps five inches wide, so that when piled up edge to edge they form a series of close chambers five inches deep and two feet square. Over the plate glass, on both sides, is spread a thin coating of refined grease—a mixture of purified lard and tallow—which, when the boxes are piled one above another, forms the floor and ceiling of each separate chamber thus created. All is now ready for the flowers.

As these arrive each morning they are assorted and the petals carefully picked from the stems and pistils, which are thrown away as worthless. Over the bottom of each frame or chamber above described is spread a layer of petals and the frames piled one upon another, so that in each chamber the layer of white grease, which absorbs the perfume until the petals become limp and withered. They are then removed and replaced with fresh ones, and this is repeated each morning until the pomade attains the required degree of perfumed strength. It is then carefully removed, packed in earthen jars, sealed, labeled and made ready for export.

OTHER METHODS. Olive oils are used in a similar way, except that instead of being poured on the bottom of the frame they are used to saturate pieces of coarse cotton cloth, which are then spread upon wire netting in tight frames three or four feet square. Thus prepared these frames are filled with petals as in the preceding process, the refined and colorless olive oil absorbs the aroma of the flowers and becomes, like the pomade, a vehicle for the retention and transportation of the perfume. This latter process is especially applied to roses and acacias. To extract the odor from pomades or perfumed oils, they have simply to be saturated with alcohol, which, with its stronger affinity, absorbs the perfume, leaving the grease or oil to be used for ordinary purposes.

The process of distillation, which yields essences and essential oils, is altogether different. In this the flowers are thrown into large copper retorts with water, in which they are boiled, the perfume going over in vapor into condensing coils, as the ordinary distillation of high wines from grain. But the heat often changes the character of a perfume and it is only the more robust and vigorous odors that will stand the test of this without deterioration. The "flower waters" of the perfumers' shops are made by placing alcohol in the condensing tank, which condenses and absorbs the odor of the perfume until it becomes fragrant and sweet. Most of the popular handkerchief extracts are made by skillfully combining the odors of several different flowers, which form a harmony of perfumes, and often by becoming the perfume of the society for a season make the fortune of the lucky inventor. Thus "Jockey Club" and "Patchouly" in their day had an extraordinary vogue and filled the pockets of their inventors.—Philadelphia Times.

A Merchant's Methodical Life. A Boston merchant, who lived and died on Summer street, was a curious instance of one who was an invalid from childhood, always extremely hypochondriacal, who never imagined himself ill when he was not, nor exaggerated his actual illness, nor feared, usually, sickness or pain, or death itself. But it was the business of his life to take care of his health, and he devoted himself to this work with a wonderful assiduity. He rode just so far each day, when the weather was fair, and at such an hour. He had a great variety of clothing, which he regulated with precision by the thermometer, sometimes changing his dress many times in a day, and selected for his overclothes when he rode out the very garments which the mercury indicated. He had a weathercock put upon his stable within fair view from the bedroom and sitting room; and that and his thermometer, and all possible or impossible signs of the weather, he was watching constantly, and found in these occupations a very agreeable way of employing all his day and all his days. How far his long life is to be attributed to this excessive care it is impossible to tell, but he outlived every brother and sister, every brother's wife, every sister's husband, and his own wife, and died in 1887 at the age of 81.—Boston Advertiser.

Annual Rings of Trees. From studies upon the relation which the annual rings bear to the age of trees, it has been concluded that they are only an approximate and not a certain correct index of age. Any agency operating to produce alternate periods of rest and activity in the growth of the tree serves to determine their formation. In cold climates the number of rings more nearly serves to indicate the age of the tree than in warm climates.—Globe-Democrat.

Additional Ishpeming.

Browne's Theater Co. The following, from the Marquette department of the MINING JOURNAL, gives an idea of how Browne's Theater Co. was received in Marquette:

A big house greeted the J. H. Browne Theater company at the Casino last evening. The company presented "Fog's Ferry" with little Maudie as Chip, J. Knox Gavin as Zeb Fozz, J. H. Browne as Gerald White and Alice Marble as Martha Blodgett, all favorites here last year. The play took well and all present seemed greatly pleased, applause being frequent and hearty. The hits of the evening were the songs of "Little Maudie," who by the way, is now a very good little actress in important roles, and the character songs and ballads by Gavin in the last act. He took the house by storm and received three or four enthusiastic encores, a response being compelled in each instance. Mr. Gavin has a very pleasant voice and has already established himself firmly in the favor of Marquette amusement-seekers. The Marquette City band acted as an orchestra for the evening and filled the bill splendidly, as usual. Between the acts Messrs. Calhoun, Suggs and Johnston, the Hotel Marquette trio, sang a number of plantation melodies which caught the fancy of the audience. Crowded houses will be the order to night and to-morrow night.

W. Scott Nelson is enlarging his residence on North Euclid street. The enlargement is on such extensive scale that the house will be practically a new one when finished and will make one of the handsomest residences on Strawberry hill.

The lawyers are busy at Marquette attending the term of circuit court which opened yesterday. There are a number of important Ishpeming cases on the docket.

NOW FOR THE LIGHT.

The Dynamo and Supplies for the Test Electric Plant Have Arrived.

DEATH OF MR. ALFRED WHITMAN LATE LAST NIGHT.

A Rousing Time for the Boys—Opening of Trade—Going to Build—Other Local Notes.

Here at last. The dynamo, lamps and other supplies for the test plant of the Van Depoele Electric light system arrived in the city last evening after being on the road a week—apparently the walking was poor. Mr. Colgate has had everything in readiness for some days awaiting the arrival of the dynamo, and the work of putting the line on Front street in shape for use will be resumed at once. Unless very bad weather is experienced Marquette will have her first sample of street lighting by electricity within two or three days.

Last Night. Shortly after 11 o'clock last night Mr. Alfred Whitman died at his residence on the corner of Pine and Arch streets of an organic trouble of the heart, aged 63. Mr. Whitman had been confined to his bed for some time and was a great sufferer. His death had been expected for some days. He was a brother of Mrs. F. P. Wetmore and leaves besides his wife, an only son, now residing in Missouri, to mourn his loss.

The Circus Beaten.

A circus creates great excitement in a town, in fact Marquette is already looking forward to the appearance of Sells Brothers here on June 4th, but a "glory crowned tented show" is nothing to the rumpus which Kaufman's base ball opening caused. Two policemen were on duty at the store to subdue the excited mob of boys gathered there at the appointed hour. The youngsters scrambled over each other in their rush for the coveted balls and bats, and, in spite of the efforts of the officers, at times all that could be seen was a confused heap of wriggling legs and arms with here and there a many colored base ball cap to indicate a head. After the distribution had been accomplished without loss of life to the officers or the members of the firm, the Marquette City band appeared on the street with Hodgkins' immense carryall, drawn by four horses. The band took a position in advance of the horses and while it played a few lively tunes the kids climbed into that wagon. They kept climbing until from stem to stern the concern was packed dense with exuberanturchins all hurrahing for Kaufman & Sons with what little breath was left in their bodies. By actual count 123 boys had crowded themselves into that wagon. Where they stowed themselves is still a mystery but they "got there just the same." Mr. Cole was so struck by the sight that he had the procession held until he could photograph it. The band then marched through the principal streets of the city, followed by the four-horse load, while all the other youngsters in the city crowded after on foot. It was a great day for the boys, and knocked the Fourth of July silly. Hereafter their patron saint will be the rotund and genial veteran of the Lake Superior clothing trade, who still remembers how it was with himself in his younger days.

Open for Trade.

Yesterday another big lot of goods arrived for C. Kellan & Sons and they finished arranging their store for business. No one would recognize the old postoffice stand now as it has been transformed by the carpenters, painters and paper hangers into one of the handsomest grocery stores in the city, its width making it especially valuable for this line of trade. The firm has a large and very carefully selected stock of fine and staple groceries already opened, everything being new and fresh and of the very best brand or make. The display of canned and bottled goods is especially large and tempting while in other departments of the trade the firm has the best that there is to offer. Especially is this so in the case of coffees, teas and spices. The store is connected with the telephone exchange and to-day it will put its delivery wagon on the streets. Mr. Kellan is an old and respected citizen and has worthy assistants in his sons. The MINING JOURNAL wishes the new firm its full share of business and a big measure of prosperity.

Will Build.

The Marquette County Agricultural society has determined to take steps at once for the improvement of its new property on the powder mill road north of the city and in all probability the grounds there will be in fine shape in time for the county fair next fall. Elsewhere will be found a notice to contractors calling for bids for the construction of the buildings required by the plans and specifications now displayed at the office of the secretary, Mr. C. H. Call, in the new Harlow block. Proposals will be received up to 4 P. M. on Tuesday, June 5th.

Memorial Day.

Albert Jackson post, No. 300, G. A. R., extends a general invitation to all the military and civic societies of the city, to the school children and citizens generally, to join in the procession and exercises on Memorial day, Wednesday, May 30th. All old soldiers and sailors are invited to meet at the post rooms at 9:30 A. M. on Sunday, May 27th, to prepare to attend divine service, as is customary in the order of the Grand Army of the Republic on the Sunday before Memorial day. The exercises on the 30th will consist of addresses, etc., by prominent local speakers. The program will be announced later.

A Fine Stock.

Mr. A. R. Morgan has recently been increasing the size and variety of the stock of boots and shoes carried by him until he now has as fine a stock as can be found on the peninsula, and can fit any size or width. He has had special patterns made up as he saw where they could be used in his trade, and there is not a person in town now who could not obtain a fit at his place. He has also put in new window fixtures, the latest things out for the proper display of footwear, while a new and elegant case, made to order for the place where it stands, faces the door. The store now seems to be overflowing with boots and shoes of every description.

A New Shop.

Mr. J. F. Kehoe has arrived in the city from Waupun, Wis., to open an elegant barber shop in the basement of the Nester block, directly under the east store. The rooms have been fitted up especially for his occupancy, and he has had new and beautiful fixtures made for it in Chicago. He expects to be ready to open his shop for business by Saturday next and will have one of the finest and best barber shops in the city, while every effort will be made to please all who may favor him with their patronage.

REPORTORIAL PENCILINGS.

A. Cameron, the Ohio street baker, has put a fine looking delivery wagon on the street.

The Michigan Land and Iron company's office has been connected with the telephone exchange.

The keel of a new steel steamship for the Detroit & Cleveland Steam Navigation company has been laid at the Wyandotte yards.

Grummond's fleet has again secured the contract to carry the Vulcan Furnace company's pig iron from this port to Cleveland.

The May term of the circuit court opened yesterday, the morning being passed in arranging the docket. The jury will be called to-day.

According to the St. Ignace Republican the Soo has more saloons than any other town on the peninsula. Up to date the council of that place had approved the bonds of forty-nine applicants and raked in $24,000 cash. Escanaba comes next with forty-five.

The steamer Westover, which was at St. Ignace after ore recently, has a season contract to carry pig iron from Pine Lake to Chicago. This is her first season on fresh water. She for a number of years plied in the Atlantic coast trade between New York and Boston.

The temperature readings at the U. S. signal station yesterday, 7th meridian time, were: 7 A. M., 46 degrees; 3 P. M., 55 degrees; 10 P. M., 44 degrees; maximum temperature, 54 degrees; minimum temperature, 42 degrees.

Detroit Tribune: The success of the ice crusher St. Ignace has attracted general attention. Orders have been received by the Detroit Dry Dock company for drawings for a boat to be used at Baltimore, for the purpose of keeping the Potomac open during the winter.

Owing to the illness of some who were to take part at the book reception in the Young Men's Christian association rooms this evening the reception has been postponed until Monday evening, May 28th. The association has already received some books for its intended library, a gentleman in Chicago and a lady in Republic having sent volumes here, on reading the announcement of the reception in the MINING JOURNAL, to show their appreciation of the work of the association. The secretary announces that if any who will be unable to attend the reception next Monday night desire to give the association books they are invited to send them, or, if they will give notice they will be sent for.

PERSONAL MENTION.

C. G. Griffey, editor of the Negronee Herald, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Lobdell arrived in the city yesterday on their return from their wedding trip and received a cordial "welcome home."

To-day S. Kaufman, Sr., celebrated his fifty-first birthday and the MINING JOURNAL office has already observed the anniversary by taking care of some good cigars. May he live to be fifty years older is the wish of all "Sam's" friends and they are scattered throughout the length and breadth of the whole Lake Superior country.

Mr. W. H. Kelly, baggagemaster of the South Shore road in this city, was notified by dispatches that his mother was seriously ill at her home in Burlington, Vermont, the last telegram stating that she was not expected to live, the disease being typhoid fever. The D. S. & A. telegraphed passes clear through to Burlington for Mr. Kelly, who got away last night in order to catch the morning train for Mackinaw City. He will return to his position in this city as soon as possible, and his many friends here will hope that he will return with the assurance that his mother, whom he has not seen for nine years, is on the road to recovery.
