WASHINGTON NOTES.

Appropriation Bills Occupy the Time of Both Houses Yesterday.

AN ANTI-SECTARIAN CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT PROPOSED.

The Senate Tariff Sub-Committee Agreed on the Main Points of the Bill Which Will Suit Them.

THE SENATE.

A CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT. WASHINGTON, May 25.—Mr. Blair introduced the joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution to the effect that no state shall ever make or maintain any law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting free exercise thereof; that every state shall establish and maintain a system of free public schools but no money, raised by taxation, shall ever be appropriated, applied or given for any public school, institution, corporation or person whereby instruction is given in any doctrine, tenets, beliefs, ceremonial or observation peculiar to any religious sect. The resolution was laid on the table at his own request.

The senate bill for the confinement of inebriates in the government hospital for the insane was reported and placed on the calendar.

Mr. Edmunds offered a resolution, which was adopted, instructing the committee on Indian affairs, to examine into the condition of the state lands held by the United States in trust for the Indians, the amounts overdue thereon, and whether there was any legal method of enforcing their payment, and if not, whether any such can be devised.

The senate then proceeded to the consideration of the house bill making an appropriation to supply the deficiency in the appropriations for the expenses of collecting the revenue from the customs.

Mr. Allison, having charge of the bill, explained, in answer to questions put by Mr. Edmunds, the causes of the deficiency. He ascribed it largely to the legislation of '74 repealing "the moiety system", and said that since then the receipts from fines, penalties and forfeitures have been constantly falling off, while the expenses of collecting the revenue had been constantly increasing.

Mr. Edmunds suggested, sarcastically, that while there might have been extravagance in the collection of the revenues under the former administrations there could not, of course, have been any extravagance under the present administration.

The amendment was reported by the committee on appropriations to strike out the clause repealing the law, making a permanent annual appropriation of $5,500,000 for the expenses of collecting the revenue from the customs. Agreed to. The other amendments reported were also agreed to and the bill was passed.

The senate then proceeded to the consideration of executive business and when the doors were reopened adjourned till Monday.

THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Private business having been set aside the house went into committee of the whole on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, which was read by paragraphs for amendments.

The greater part of the afternoon was consumed in discussions upon the proposed increases in salary for the house employees. No material changes were made in the bills.

Mr. Cobb (Ala.) opposed the appropriation for a botanical garden. He said that when he first came to congress he said to an old member that he would vote to abolish the garden. This member, an economic and reform democrat, told him that if he did he would be a "damned fool." (Laughter.) He had then asked what was the use of it, and the reply was that one of the uses was that favored members could procure flowers there. His informant could not tell what the flowers went, but knew they didn't go to the members' wives. (Laughter.)

Mr. McComas (Md) offered an amendment increasing the clerical force of the civil service commission. He called attention to the fact that there had been no published report of the commission since August, 1-86. At that time the president had confided civil service reform to the care of congress; but now there was no better way for the gentlemen to earn the applause of the other side than to throw up his hat and cry "To the victors belong the spoils." The president himself seemed to be so much concerned in other matters that unless the republican party took care of civil service reform it would be wound up to death by the present administration.

Mr. Clements (Ga) suggested that it was a great disappointment to the republican politicians and leaders that Mr. Cleveland had not trampled under foot the civil service law as had been done under the republican administration. The last republican administration, within twelve months before the incoming of the present administration, had made more removals than had been made in any one year since.

Mr. McComas declared that in a whole century there had never been such a clean sweep of the federal offices as there had been under Cleveland, and now this sweep was made under the guise of the most colossal hypocrisy that had ever graced the office of the lord high executioner. The man who would stand on the civil service plank of the republican platform would carry out the law in good faith. The democrats would deceive nobody but the morally dyspeptic muggwumps, who for free trade had dickered away civil service reform. The president was committing every day and week the mortal sin of tinkering with the tariff to the destruction of American labor and American industry.

Mr. Hopkins (Ill.) asserted that throughout the country Mr. Cleveland's federal office-holders had captured the democratic state conventions and elected the delegates to St. Louis regardless of the wishes of the people.

Mr. Herbert (Ala.) contended that the provisions of the bill for the support of commission were ample. He contrasted this action on the part of the democratic committee on appropriations with the failure of the republican committees during Grant's administration to make any appropriations to carry out the civil service law.

Mr. Butterworth suggested that the democrats were always satisfied when their best came up to the republicans' worst.

Mr. Reed said he could remember how the gentlemen on the other side, in season and out of season used to point out the melancholy spectacle of federal office-holders participating in the nominating conventions. He remembered that they used language of violent reprobation at the appointment or removal of men for political purposes. They asserted that if they ever came into power they would end that thing, and declared that it was to the interest of the republic that it should be ended. Carrying out the sentiment of this virtuous orator, Cleveland, begging his term, proclaimed that he intended to stop the federal office holders from participating in nominating conventions—not having a prophetic eye on the recent Pennsylvania or New York conventions. (Laughter.) What the republicans pointed out was that the gentlemen on the other side after as soon as they got into power did precisely the same thing about which they were so indignant before they got into power. They retorted by saying, "You did it." That was just what they had said before the election. That was precisely the gravamen of their charge. That was just the fault they were going to correct, and now, when they committed this fault themselves, they repeated what they said before the election, forgetting that the conditions had changed. The accusation made against the gentleman was, and he hoped that he was not unparliamentary, that their conduct, compared with their previous declarations, savored of hypocrisy. (Laughter.) That was the gist of the charge and the gentleman could not get rid of it by repeating their old speeches, because their old speeches had been accompanied by promises of correction—promises, the non-fulfillment of which were pointed out. That was the whole matter.

Pending a vote upon Mr. McComa's amendment the committee rose.

On motion of Mr. McKenna (Cal) the senate bill was passed increasing by $50,000 the appropriation for the erection of a public building at Sacramento.

The house then took a recess till 8 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The house at its evening session passed fifty private pension bills, and at 10:30 adjourned until to-morrow.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

PAID THEIR RESPECTS.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Cardinal Gibbons and others who took part in the ceremony at the placing of the corner stone of the Catholic university yesterday called upon the president at the White House at noon to-day by special appointment and paid their respects.

SENATE TARIFF COMMITTEE.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The tariff sub-committee of the senate committee on finance held its first meeting to-day, at which a general discussion of their plans and purposes took place. The sub-committee will probably hold daily meetings hereafter. From the developments in to-day's meeting it appears probable that there will be a substantial agreement upon the administrative features of a tariff bill—in short, that the senate under valuation bill will be added to any tariff bill that may be sent over from the house; also that the two sides will substantially agree in respect to the removal of the incongruities and inconsistencies in the present custom laws, many of which have been called to the attention of congress by the secretaries of the treasury. It is also thought probable that both parties will assent to the putting of a number of new articles on the free list, but beyond this point it is expected that the sub-committee will divide upon strictly party lines—that is in respect to the new rates to be established upon the dutiable articles.

Colonel A. H. Markland, who was superintendent of the army mails under General Grant, died here this morning.

CAUCUSES CALLED.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—A republican caucus is announced for to-morrow immediately after the adjournment of the house, and a democratic caucus will be held to-morrow evening at 8 p. m.

The senate spent several hours again to-day in secret session discussing the fisheries treaty. Senator Morgan was the principal speaker. The discussion was on the motion of Senator Sherman to proceed with the consideration of the fisheries treaty with open doors. No action was taken and the treaty, though under discussion, has not been formally taken up. The United States treasurer has paid out $12,500,000 during the present month on account of pensions.

The conference on the part of the house on Representative O'Neills bill creating a department of labor reached an agreement by accepting the senate amendments, which were merely formal.

A special meeting of the house committee on education was held this morning to consider the Blair educational bill, but adjourned without action.

A VERY SICK MAN.

General Sheridan Said to be Better, Heart Failure the Trouble.

THE LAST BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—One of General Sheridan's aides, in reply to-day to an inquiry said the general, who has been unwell for several days, was no better; that, in fact, he had lost about what he gained yesterday. To prevent any accident there has been a physician constantly in attendance since Tuesday, while Dr. O'Reilly visits him several times a day. It is further stated by the same authority that his serious attack Monday evening was due to heart failure and that there was a slight recurrence of that trouble this morning.

At 3:45 o'clock Colonel Sheridan said there had been no perceptible change in the general's condition.

The doctors had a consultation this evening. At its conclusion the following statement, which was concurred in by all of the physicians, was given to the press: "The patient is sitting up. He is strong, bright, cheerful and hopeful. Oedema of the legs has diminished. His pulse is 110—normal pulse rate 100—firm and regular. Heart sounds are clearer. Respiration 30, regular. The general has improved since the morning visit." The house is closed and no further information in regard to the patient will be given until morning.

Glass Workers' Convention.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 25.—The annual convention of the Flint Glass Workers' union to be held at Canton, Ohio, July 9th, will be the largest ever held. There will be 180 delegates in attendance, an increase of 10 over last year. They will represent over 6,000 men. The committee which is preparing a new scale is still at work and will continue to consider the questions which may be brought before it until the time of the convention. But few changes are being made, and there will be no demand for an advance.

PROHIBITIONISTS ARE PROVOKED.

The Failure of the Local Option Law Excites Their Ire.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The New York Voice, prohibition organ, out this morning, reviews the recent decision of the Michigan supreme court and considers the local option law a republican trick to prevent prohibition. It has a special from Samuel Dickie, stating that the result demonstrates either the dishonesty or the incompetency of the republican party. The republican politicians had expected to capture the prohibition vote in the dry counties, but are now embarrassed at the miscarriage of the plan. The decision clears the decks for an out and out prohibition fight.

The Voice says it is another instance in which the infernal duplicity or stupidity of the old party leaders has been ridiculed. In democratic circles here this prohibition attitude is regarded with much satisfaction.

'ITS SUCCESS ASSURED.'

Is What a Panama Merchant Says of the Great Trans-Isthmian Canal.

CHICAGO, May 25.—Signor Abarrio, a Panama merchant, was at the Palmer House yesterday. He is on his way to Europe. "I am not a shareholder or contractor," said he, "in the Panama Canal company, but I am able to say its success is assured since the last concession by the French of $120,000,000 of lottery bonds. On the Atlantic side fifteen miles of the canal are docked. The digging and dredging are being rapidly advanced from the Pacific side. Nine locks, crossing the mountains, are being constructed. The first vessel will be sent through before the end of 1891. Fifteen thousand laborers, natives and Yamacra negroes chiefly, are at work. The stories of the mortality among them are for the most part sheer and unmitigated falsehoods. The canal company pays out one million dollars a month in wages. A considerable portion of it is dispersed into the pockets of the owners of public gaming houses in Panama, which pay the government in the aggregate $200,000 a month for the privilege."

In a Bad Fix.

BLACK RIVER FALLS, May 25.—Many of the Winnebago Indians around here have come through the winter in a very destitute condition. They have no ponies left, being obliged to sell them or let them starve. In consequence, their land will be uncultivated this season. They are living, no one knows how, until the blue-berry season opens. They will not get their annuity until August.

CONDITION OF BUSINESS

Unsatisfactory in Volume—Ascribed to Unfavorable Weather—Money Plentiful.

DUN'S REPORT. NEW YORK, May 25.—R. G. Dun & Co. in their review say: Gold has begun to go abroad in large quantities, $5,850,000 having been shipped since May 8th.

The volume of trade is almost universally unsatisfactory but unfavorable weather is in most cases accepted as the chief cause and some improvement is reported at Cleveland and Memphis.

The tendency of prices has been downward, both for securities and products. The average for products was temporarily lifted by speculation in grain, but has fallen again to a point 5 per cent below the highest for the year.

Wheat has declined 3 cents with more favorable crop prospects. Corn has fallen 2 1/2 cents for the week. Hogs and lard have advanced 15 cents but cotton and sugar do not gain, and oil is 3 1/2 cents lower than a week ago.

The decline in wool since May 1st has averaged 30 cents per 100 pounds. The boot and shoe trade is inactive and iron is very irregular. Definite, though not great, improvement appears in the dry goods and grocery trades.

The stock market has been depressed about a dollar per share by gold reports and liquidations in some prominent stocks, but a vigorous reaction began Friday morning.

The business failures during the last seven days number for the United States 213; for Canada 12; a total of 225; compared with 189 last week and 175 for the corresponding week of last year.

On the Fat of the Land. ST. Bollander, a real estate agent, was discharged this morning, it having been shown that she had been betrayed by Bollander and that she had not shot with the intention of killing him, but merely to frighten him into providing for her support.

Had a Walk-away. RICHMOND, Va., May 25.—The municipal elections yesterday passed off quietly. The democrats had it all their own way, there being no regularly organized opposition.

IRELAND. CAUSED A SENSATION.

DUBLIN, May 25.—Bishop O'Dwyer, of Limerick, has sent a letter to the mayor of Limerick giving warning that the Catholics who attend the league meeting announced to be held Sunday, will be guilty of a grievous sin in view of the admonitions of the papal rescript. The letter has caused a sensation.

The emperor had a good night. He was somewhat fatigued on account of the extra exertion caused by his attendance of the wedding of his son yesterday, but this evening feels very well.

The emperor spent the afternoon in the park, remaining until 7 o'clock. He went to bed at 8:30. He continues to improve.

ENGLAND. DENIES THE REPORT.

LONDON, May 25.—Cardinal Manning denies the report that he has been offered a peerage by Lord Salisbury at the instance of Queen Victoria, and declares that it would not be consistent with the policy of the church of Rome for a Catholic bishop to occupy a seat in the house of lords. His views on the subject are in entire harmony with those entertained by his predecessor, Cardinal Wiseman, who, singularly enough, like Cardinal Manning, was an Englishman and as much venerated by the royal family and the nobility as Cardinal Manning is.

The bishop of Green Bay, Wis., has arrived in Rome. Matthew Arnold's will is made public to-day. He leaves an estate valued at $50,000 to his wife.

A BRUTAL MURDER.

The Horrible Murder of an Old Couple and Two Small Children. VIRQUA, Wis., May 25.—Information was received here to-day of the murder of four persons last night in the town of Kickapoo. Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Drake, an old couple, were shot dead in their house by unknown parties and the throats of their two little grand-children were cut from ear to ear. Their lifeless bodies were found this morning when the neighbors made an investigation because of the unusual quiet about the house. The old couple lay on the floor and the children were stretched in their beds. Everything was turned upside down inside the house, and it is supposed that the murder was the result of an attempt at robbery. The old man had been known to receive pension money and it is supposed the robbers were in quest of this. As Mr. and Mrs. Drake were fully dressed it is thought the murder occurred early in the evening. The neighborhood is greatly excited but there is no clue to the perpetrators.

CRUMBS FROM THE COURTS.

Doses of Negaunee Justice Dispensed Yesterday - Religious Dram To-Night - A String of Local Items of Assorted Sizes.

Justice Court Jottings.

John Gately & Co., dealers in jewelry at Chicago, recovered judgment yesterday in justice Primeau's court on three notes, amounting, in all, to some $900, against H. H. Marston. The defendant in the action was Gately & Co.'s traveling salesman for a time, and on receiving various goods gave notes for them to the amount mentioned above. He failed to pay the notes, and Gately & Co. put the case in the hands of attorney McClear, who secured judgment, Marston failing to appear.

This morning the case of Theodore Kruse vs John Gurrins will be heard in justice Primeau's court. The suit is to recover possession of the upper story of the saloon building occupied by Gurrins and owned by Kruse. A number of changes hinge on the result of the suit, as John Perlo wishes to occupy the premises, and Vivian Prince is waiting for Perlo to vacate the quarters he now occupies.

The usual number of garnishe suits keeps the justice court machinery lubricated.

Daniel Among the Lions To-Night.

This evening members of the Methodist church congregation will render the religious drama, "Daniel in the Lion's Den," at the opera house. The dramatization of this Biblical story is very interesting, and at the same time it teaches valuable lessons. The drama has been successfully produced here twice before. In addition to the drama, which consists of five acts, there will be selections of vocal and instrumental music. The entertainment deserves to be attended by all. The performance will begin at 8 o'clock. Admission 25 cents.

Smith, the photographer, is preparing some views of the city and its finest public and private buildings. He will soon have them on sale. The work will be executed in the fine style that has given this artist such an enviable reputation here, and the views will form interesting souvenirs of the town's attractions.

With the advent of spring the small boys have resumed the practice of killing, or attempting to kill, the innocent birds that are to be found about the city. There is a stringent law in regard to the wanton destruction of birds, and unless the practice is discontinued some mother's darling will be made an example of.

James Ross & Co. is the firm that will do the work on the D. S. S. & A. extension to Palmer. PURIFY YOUR BLOOD.

Impurities in the blood produce disease. Bodily and mental health depend upon a healthy condition of the blood. The blood, particularly in the spring and during the hot summer months, becomes clogged with impurities, which poison it and generate disease. A harmless blood purifier, without a particle of mineral poison in it, such as mercury or potash, is necessary to remove these impurities and to restore the healthy tone of mind and body. The best purifier and tonic known to the world is Swin's Specific (S.S.S.). In regard to its wonderful purifying and tonic powers we give a few testimonials as follows:

Mr. Wm. A. Stebbins, with Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 10 Spruce Street, New York, writes March 29th, 1888: "I feel it my duty, for the benefit of others who may be afflicted as I was, to write you this letter, which you can use as my testimony in any way you choose. I will answer any inquiry from others in relation to the facts herein stated. In February last I suffered great pain and inconvenience from boils, all over my neck; I could not turn my head without acute pain and my blood was in poor condition. After trying all the usual remedies in such cases, and finding no relief, by the persuasion of Mr. J. W. Fears, Manager of your New York Office, I used one bottle of S. S. S., and I improved rapidly and very soon I was entirely relieved of my 'Job's Comforters.' Now not a sign of my affliction can be seen. I feel strong and cheerful. S. S. S. is a fine tonic as proved in my case. I sleep soundly and my appetite is good."

Dr. J. N. Cheney, a well-known physician writes from Ellaville, Georgia: "I use S. S. S. in convalescent fever cases with the best results. It will, in my judgment, prevent summer dysentery, if one will take a few bottles in the spring, thus preparing the bowels for the strains of summer."

Mrs. Scott Linton, 116 Zane street (land), Wheeling, West Virginia, writes: "Having used S. S. S. for the blood, I can safely say that it beats anything I have used to cleanse the blood and make a new being out of a person."

Mr. M. S. Hamlin, Winston, N. C., writes: "I use it every spring. It always builds me up, giving me appetite and digestion, and enabling me to stand the long, trying, enervating hot summer days. On using it I soon become strong of body and easy of mind."

GEN. ALGER has been doing Pennsylvania during the week, and spent a day at Harrisburg, the guest of Hon. Simon Cameron. The two subsequently visited Lebanon in company, where they were given a public reception. The Michigan candidate for the presidency hasn't been letting the grass grow under his feet since he entered the race. There is no mock-modesty about Alger—he wants the nomination and is doing his very best to secure it.

GOV. LUCE says he was not surprised at the decision of the supreme court on the local option law, as the act was "loosely drawn," but he believes that the people of the state want such a law, and he announces that he "will recommend the adoption of such a statute more carefully drafted, in my message to the next legislature." The prohibitionists will not thank his excellency for this, as they are not in favor of "local" prohibition. What they desire to see enforced is state prohibition. How does the governor stand on that?

THE Newberry News "joins the procession" with this account of an alleged discovery of an iron ore deposit in that vicinity:

Marquette, Sault Ste. Marie and St. Ignace all have their gold, silver, iron or some other kind of mines, and not to be behind the times Newberry had to have one, and she's got it too. Recent discoveries show that a deposit of iron ore lies about three miles north of the village on lands owned by the D. M. & M. Land company. Mining experts have recently looked over the field, but are quiet as to the results. Nevertheless enough is known to show that value of the find, and further developments will soon be made. It turns out as well as the News has every reason to think it will be a big thing for our burgh.

If our mines keep on falling behind their shipments of last season for a while longer, it may have a most salutary effect on the ore market. It will not take long to work off the "ore surplus" provided they do not rush ore forward too rapidly at the outset, and then a stronger demand would be sure to set in, the effect of which on prices could not fail to be in the favor of sellers. A little conservatism at this time may put money in their pockets before the season closes. It is bad policy to force food on an already overloaded stomach, and the rule applies to the industrial system as to that of the physical man.

WISCONSIN prohibitionists met in state convention at Madison this week, and placed a ticket in nomination. It is headed by E. G. Durant, of Racine, for governor. The convention was well attended and enthusiastic. One remarkable thing that it did was to raise a campaign fund, of $5,200 right in the hall. There was plenty of talking—we don't remember ever hearing of a prohibition convention where talk wasn't freer than water—but putting up hard cash for the cause gave more of an assurance that the Badger state prohibits mean business than all the speeches made at the convention.

JAY HUBBELL warned the pushers of the local option law in the legislature that their bill would not hold water, but they disregarded his opinion and drove it through. Jay is a lawyer and acquainted with the vagaries of the judicial mind, and he could look forward to the supreme court driving a beer wagon through the measure that was to down the prohibition party and save the state to the g. o. p.—Bay City Press.

If Mr. Hubbell knew the bill to be defective, why didn't he point out wherein it was so and have the fault remedied? That he was opposed to the measure, and voted for it against his convictions, is true, but it is due to the Houghton sage to explain that his opposition was to the principle embodied in the law and not to the manner in which the bill was thrown together. He sensibly believes the license system to be the only practicable way of regulating the liquor

THE TEST OF TASTE.

DECKING OF THE HEAD AND DRAPING OF THE FACE.

The Male Savage's Love of Personal Ornamentation—Dawning Artistic Taste. Masculine Attire in the Middle Ages. Boots, Gloves and High Hat.

The head has always been the test of taste. In civilized countries, where tailors obtain and millinery means more than a length of fringe and a string of beads, sleeves have run the bands hard, and skirts have made a good third. Shoes, too, have not been out of it, and ornamentation has been as a congeries of minor little imps frisking about the bigger competitors for the wreath of mingled feathers, flowers, lace and jewels, made and offered by the genius of bad taste.

From the earliest times when man first finds that he has hands and can use them he puts part of his newly acquired powers into the decking of his head and the draping of his face. Now he twists his hair into monstrous shapes, standing out from his scalp like a hunchbacked aureole; now he contents himself with a more symmetrical nimbus, whereof each snaky stiffened ray extends beyond the breadth of his shoulders. Anon he sticks a few feathers among the curls and mass, and anon he lets it hang down in greasy elf locks to his neck, taking care, however, to travesty the natural shape of his head by fillets, which bind on to it every kind of frightful and ungainly excrescence; or he paints his face in patterns of red and yellow and blue; or makes that painting permanent with tattooing needles and indigo; or he hangs heavy weights in his ears; or destroys the shape of his under lip; or does something insane with his teeth; or in some way distorts and disfigures himself under the name of ornamentation and with the idea of making himself a very smart fellow indeed.

In savage life it is the bravo who thus smartens himself up with most intention. The squaw follows humbly at a distance, walking on the same road, but in a narrower groove, and with more modest mien. The brave is the one who is "en evidence"; the squaw has simply to work for his comfort and bear children to keep the tribe alive. But he must strike terror into the hearts of his enemies, as well as make himself an object of admiration to the docile females, who accept him at his own valuation, and are woeed exactly as birds and beasts are woeed—one part by the display of masculine charms, another part by force. Hence he pranks himself out in paint and feathers in the teeth and claws and skins of the wild beasts he has overcome—in the scalps of the enemies he has slain—in this rude attempt to express a dawning artistic sense, and that both at ornamentation which is disfigurement and not embellishment—in this way and that he makes himself a love worthy object to the girls of his tribe; a model to be imitated by the boys; a terror to his foes who count his deeds of prowess by his questionable trophies; and something immeasurably hideous and disgusting to all civilized folk with whom he comes in contact.

This lavish personal embellishment of the male savage continued far into the days of civilization. When the middle ages were the wedge between classic times and modern days we had mail clad knights with plumes of portentous size and sweep, or close fitting skin dresses left nothing to be desired in the way of simple and something in the way of modesty; while the modicum of feathers in the hair, which can never be got rid of, expressed itself in parti colored legs, and shoes that were surely the design of some maniac at large. Hats and cloaks and purified breeches—points and tags and lace frills at the wrists and knees—boots which would have carried a small child in the proper gaped and curled wigs that were intrinsically as ugly as a Zulu's clay daubed nimbus—waistcoats that came nearly to the knees—breeches too tight for practicable sitting—every kind of absurdity which had taste could invent and folly consent to wear, have we poor silly humans undergone in our zeal for fashionable martyrdom; and only quite of late years have the masculine common sense declared itself once for all in favor of simplicity and democratic unity, and a costume that is useful and possible to all alike.

But even now our exquisite torture themselves in tight boots and tighter gasses, as well as in guttural collars; while the high collar hat, which will not fade down to its roots whatever the cold blast of criticism may blow on it, is the true survival of the savage's wondrous headgear. Which brings us round to the point of our paper—the test of the head—that last stronghold of bad taste and folly—that stumbling block of the aesthetically weak. Here we have it still in force. With the comfortable, useful, unfine, democratic and national body clothing of men, we have still this remnant of barbarism—this reminder of the time when the men of the world made their hair into hunchbacked aureoles, wore feathers such as you see in Albert Durer, or full bottomed wigs in the time of Queen Anne and the first three Georges of England, and wrecked themselves on this fatal rock which is to good taste what Sinbad's island of loadstone was to all the ships that sailed thereby.—New York Home Journal.

A Society Girl's Brice-a-Brac. But the room of a society girl whose name I could mention, but may not. The odd things upon the walls and lying scattered about are a wonderful mystery to the uninitiated. A variety of cigars suspended from the mantle by different beaded ribbons, or a bunch of cigarettes attached to picture frames by means of a huge ribbon bow; these are easily known for what they are; but a pretty little box on the toilet table, with the inscription: "Cramated July 12, 1887," calls for many a guess. The open lid discloses a heap of gray ashes, with another inscription: "Mount Desert, July 12, '87." It is the ashes of a cigar smoked by the fair owner during a mild flirtation of the last season. A parcel of canes, trophies won in fencing matches, occupies a prominent wall space, and a velvet plaque mounted with pipes of all kinds, from common clay through cob and briar-wood to meerschaum, are souvenirs of gentlemen friends. All sorts of riding whips rise like cat tails from a large vase, a pair of ears marked "Isles of Shoals" are crossed over the door, and a genuine fishnet is draped over a piece of statuary. These are quite common souvenirs of vacation delights and tender recollections, but many of the girls vie with each other in collecting oddities. One of them exhibits a tiny Japanese boy! Allied with shining objects of ivory white-ness, "These are the first teeth of my friends' babies," she explains.—Clara Belle in Chicago Tribune.

Called Out of Town. Citizen to little boy—Is your father in, Bobby? Little boy—No, sir; pa's out of town. Citizen—Gone on business? Little boy—I dun know. I heard him tell ma that he wouldn't be back until she had got through cleanin' house. Bobby it's business, an' nobdy it's pleasure. I dun know.—Harper's Bazar.

FOR THE SOUTH SHORE.

The Detroit Sunday Sun Describes the New Cars and Compliments James McMillan. Sault Ste. Marie, St. Ignace, Boynton, Gogebic, Houghton. These are the names of five of the most elegant sleeping cars ever turned out even from the mammoth shops of the Wagner Palace Car company. The outside is beautiful, the inside magnificent. Spanish mahogany, beautified with artistically inlaid satin wood, panels, though some parts are composed of English thorn oak imported at an immense price and entirely hand polished, giving to the view a grain equalled by no other wood on earth. Exquisitely upholstered in blue enbossed silk plush that tempts one to sit whether they will or no. Electric bells at every seat, whose tinkling summons brings a flying porter to obey the behests of the weary traveler. Inviting smoking rooms where the soothing weed can be enjoyed ad lib and conversation carried on amid surroundings whose luxury tempts to brilliancy. For those desirous of perfect privacy, handsome state rooms, marvels of elegance and completeness, where the privacy of the home bedchamber can be secured. The latest and safest invention for heating or, in summer, cooling the gorgeous interior. Fanciful washrooms whose silver and marble fittings make, of themselves, a picture of still life. Flashing mirrors on every panel. All these accessories and details make an entirety that would cause the beholder to imagine that the whole was a dream or that the magnificent structures had been erected by no earthly hand but had sprung into existence at the waving of the magic wand of some benignant and potent fairy for the behoast and the riches of the world at her command. The first and last two of these cars are named after cities situated on the route over which they are destined to travel. The remaining one is godfathered by genial Tod Boynton, captain of the car ferry steamer St. Ignace, which plies between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace, across the famous Mackinaw straits, and whose name was for many years one of the most familiar on the lakes as the jolly and competent captain of the St. Paul and other boats in the old shore line.

These beautiful cars are intended to run between Detroit and Houghton, on the upper peninsula. They will run over the Michigan Central railroad company's line to Mackinaw City and then be ferried across the straits to St. Ignace, over the straits of Mackinaw to the city of St. Ignace. There they will run over the line of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic road to Houghton, thus bringing into easy contact the upper and lower peninsulas of our great state. However this is not the only great object achieved by this railroad connection. Hitherto parties wishing to travel or ship freight to Boston, New York and other eastern ports have been obliged to do so by way of Chicago with two transfers. Now by this new route the inhabitants of the "thumb" can reach the coming east thirty-six hours sooner with only one transfer and that at Detroit. Trains with these beautiful sleepers will leave Detroit as follows: Daily (except Sunday) at 8:35 A. M. Daily (Sunday included) at 6:40 P. M.

The merchants of Detroit, if they will consult not only the interests of their city but their own best interests, will take advantage of the transfer at Detroit and by the direct route to the upper peninsula, now afforded them, put their goods at prices that will successfully compete with those given in the eastern markets and thus secure for Detroit the trade and growing trade of the northern half of the state of Michigan.

Now to whom ought our citizens be grateful for these advantages, for this opportunity of diverting to our own city this truly great trade. To whose energy, push, public spirit and unfeigned investment of capital do we owe this mighty chance? We are glad to chronicle the name of this public-spirited gentleman in the columns of the Sun, and we write with pleasure the name of one of Detroit's most esteemed citizens, the Hon. James McMillan, and we are also pleased to have an opportunity of mentioning the fact that Supt. J. A. Baynes, of the Wagner company, was one of the first to see the benefit to Detroit in this new move, and by his hearty co-operation materially assisted Mr. McMillan in his great and successful efforts to unite the upper and lower peninsulas of Michigan.

MARINE NOTES.

Last summer James Davidson, of West Bay City, constructed for Messrs. Corrigan & Huntington, of Cleveland, the steamer Bulgaria, for which they agreed to pay $140,000. The owners have brought suit against Mr. Davidson on the grounds that the boat sprang a leak on her first trip and that she has perished or is lost. They claim $43,868.89 damages.

Arguments in support of a proposed decree limiting the liability of the owners of the propeller Vernon to the value of boat and cargo, about $24,000, in decrees against her aggregate about $34,000, were made before Judge Brown in the United States district court, at Detroit, on Tuesday. The decree was proposed under a section of the United States statutes. There being other claims against the Vernon for damages sustained previous to the Detroit wreck, Judge Brown decided that he would enter a decree limiting the Vernon's liability but without prejudice to a future motion, thus practically leaving the matter open for future argument.

At Cleveland two steamers and tows and the schooner Monterey have been taken for ore. Marquette to Ohio ports, at $1.15.

A SAVAGE ASSAULT.

Ed. Kennedy Attempts to Murder Marshal Scully With an Ax Friday Forenoon.

AN OLD GRUDGE SUPPOSED TO BE AT THE BOTTOM OF IT.

Resigned His Position—Scandinavian Celebration—The Finnish Daily Suspends Temporarily—Partnership Dissolved.

Attempted Murder.

On Friday morning Marshal Scully and health officer Gourdeau started out on a tour of inspection of various back yards, closets, etc., which the owners had neglected to clean up. A number of persons whose premises needed cleaning up were notified to place them in proper shape, and all went well until Ed. Kennedy's store, at 206 South Main street, was reached.

Last fall Mr. Kennedy's windows were broken one night by hoodlums. He then published a card in the "Iron Ore" reflecting severely on the police for non-attention to duty. This card was answered by Marshal Scully, as chief of police, and it seems that since then Kennedy has held a grudge toward Mr. Scully.

The store was entered, and the marshal politely announced that Dr. Gourdeau and he were inspecting the yards, vaults, etc., for the city, and asked permission to see the yard. No answer was made, so the marshal and health officer passed through the rear door of the store, into the yard. They found that it needed cleaning up badly, and were preparing to leave when Kennedy entered the yard, and asked what they were doing there. He was given a polite answer, but began abusing Marshal Scully, calling him a number of opprobrious names. Mr. Scully made no answer to the insulting language, and started to leave, but the way was barred by Kennedy, who repeated his insults.

Mr. Scully answered him, saying, "if you were a man I would attend to you, but you're a chuckthead, and I want nothing to do with you."

This aroused Kennedy's ire to a still higher pitch, and he darted into a shed and returned with an ax before the marshal had time to leave the yard. Kennedy raised his ax and ran at the marshal, who retreated and drew his revolver. The two men were so close together that the marshal grabbed Kennedy by the coat collar, and twisted him around so that he could not use the ax. Kennedy changed the ax to the left hand, and with the right grasped the barrel of the revolver. With the left hand he brandished the ax, making ineffectual attempts to strike the marshal. Dr. Gourdeau attempted to seize the ax, but had his hand cut by the blade. The marshal called on Samuel Anderson, who was passing by, for assistance, when Dr. Gourdeau was disabled, but that lanky individual decided that it was none of his business and stood looking on. Tim Sullivan then stepped in and succeeded in wresting the ax from Kennedy's hands, and the marshal also recovered his revolver.

Kennedy succeeded in grabbing a stick after the ax was taken from him, but he was deprived of that before he could do any harm, and was marched to the lock-up, resisting violently all the way. His actions from the first were more like those of an infuriated bull-dog than a rational being. The marshal displayed rare forbearance in not shooting him when the suspended ax was held over his head. Had he done so, no one could have censured him, for he had a perfect right to assume that his life was in danger.

After Kennedy was placed in jail a friend was found who was willing to go surety for him, so he was released, the justice before whom he was taken placing his bail at $1,000. The charge preferred will be an attempt to murder, and the evidence against him will be strong. This is not Kennedy's first exploit with an ax. Three years ago he assaulted Albert and Nathan Ruthenberg in a similar manner, but both escaped and Kennedy was let off with a light fine. In this instance he will not get off so easily.

As for Mr. Samuel Anderson, the gentleman who refused to assist the officer when called upon to do so, he will be given a lecture on the law which will probably cause him to accelerate his movements in case he is ever again summoned to render a service of the kind.

Resigned.

Capt. Wm. J. Officer, who has had charge of the Detroit mine since it was first opened, and has carefully guided its development until it ranks among the best mines of the county, has relinquished its management. His resignation took effect on Thursday, and work has been at a standstill there since. A mining man named Thomas, from the Menominee range, has been engaged to take captain Officer's place, and mining operations will probably be resumed next week. It is to be hoped, for the welfare of the city, that Mr. Thomas will prove as competent and able a manager as Mr. Officer has proved during his six year's connection with the Detroit.

The members of the Young Eureka band wish it understood that all the players who were with the band last Sunday were regular members, and that their organization was not reinforced by musicians from any other city band.

The Lake Angeline & Scandinavian band has just secured an important accession in the person of William Johnston, who is a first-class clarinet player. He and his instrument will fill a "long-felt want" in the band.

RUSHING THE WORK.

The Government Building Site the Busiest Place in Marquette.

THE HIAWATHA SOCIETY DISPOSES OF UNCLE SAMS SURPLUS.

For the Season—Fall From the Mast-Head Sick Engineer—Sacred Concert—Old Soldiers, Attention—Notes.

A Busy Season.

The government lot is the busiest place in the city just now, and no grass patch can be seen there with a magnifying glass. Smith & Wilson are causing everyone to wonder at the progress which they are making. Although their contract was signed and their bids accepted only toward the middle of this week, they will be ready to start their masons at work by next Tuesday. They have seven teams and ten shovelers busy taking out earth where the building is to stand, while two teams are engaged in hauling down broken rock from the Smith Moore addition, to be used in the concrete foundations. Several men are kept busy up at the quarry smashing up the rock. Eighteen stone cutters are making the chips fly in the stone cutting sheds, and in all, over forty men are now busy about the place. James Lawrence, Jr., is in charge of the stone cutters. As fast as room can be made for more men they will be added, and when the masons are once started it will be the busiest building site on the upper peninsula. The lime and cement sheds are already finished. From the big start already made it takes no prophet to tell that Marquette's government building will be finished before the end of May, 1889, according to contract. The plan is to have the walls up and the roof on before snow flies this fall. Yesterday two saw loads of stone for the building arrived from the Furst-Jacobs quarries at Portage Entry.

Last Evening.

The Hiawatha society, to membership in which all are eligible who have ever been enrolled as students in the Marquette high school, met in the high school room last evening, seventy-five members being present. It was resolved to turn the meeting into a political convention. Miss Marsh was selected as temporary chairman, and committees were appointed on organization, resolutions, etc. The committee on organization reported the names of Robert Swaatt and Fred Kern for permanent chairman and permanent secretary, and on an examination of the credentials all the states were found to be represented by delegations. Pending the report of the committee on resolutions a good deal of speech making was indulged in and it was decided to organize a political organization and make things warm for the old parties next November. The following was the platform then presented by the committee on resolutions:

MR. PRESIDENT, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION:—The European party, in convention assembled, submits the following statement of the principles and purposes which will be the guide and inspiration of its efforts in years to come; and asks for your hearty support in putting them into practical operation.

1. We believe that our schools and colleges should be under direct control of the government and should be supported by government funds.
2. We believe plenty of fresh air and exercise to be necessary in order to preserve the health and comfort of students; therefore we advise that one afternoon of each week be provided for the use of the pupils.
3. Geography shall be studied by visiting all the places described, if consistent with convenience and comfort. Three months of each year shall be devoted to this purpose until the study is complete. History shall be studied in the same manner. Each class shall travel in a special car, provided with all the modern improvements.
4. No school building shall be considered fit for use, unless it be elegantly carpeted and provided with reclining chairs. If it have more than one story it shall be provided with elevators.
5. Carriages shall call for the pupils at their homes and convey them to school. Thus all trouble with tardiness will be avoided.
6. Ladies shall have the right of suffrage and shall be eligible to all offices of trust and responsibility.
7. Teachers shall receive, in addition to their former salaries, their board and traveling expenses. Every third year shall be allowed them for purposes of study, travel and recreation, their income to be continued during the year.
8. This, Mr. Chairman, and ladies and gentlemen of the convention, we believe to be the solution, and the only solution, of the vexed question, "How shall the surplus in the treasury be reduced?" This plan will distribute the money where it is most needed; will relieve the stringency of the money market; and the sunshine of peace and prosperity will flood our land with its gold and light.

The reading of the platform was interrupted time and again by hearty applause and the platform was adopted unanimously. The convention then proceeded to nominate candidates for president and vice-president, some very clever speeches being made in presenting the names. The names of William O'Meara, Ned Van Cleave and Milton Spencer were presented for the nomination of president, and on the third ballot O'Meara received the nomination, receiving 42 of the 77 votes cast. He was introduced to the convention and made a neat speech of acceptance. Miss Chandler was then nominated by acclamation for the vice-presidency.

The business of the convention being finished it adjourned sine die. The society is proving a source of much amusement, as well as instruction, for the young people of the school.

For the Season.

The Burtis saw mill, which started up for the season this week just as soon as the first raft of logs was towed in, is now running night and day, and will continue to do so all summer. Work at night will be greatly expedited when the Van De-poelle electric light plant for which Mr. Burtis has contracted is in place. The running of the wires in the mill will soon be commenced.

Fall From the Mast.

The captain of the schooner Kate Winslow arrived in the city yesterday by rail, bringing with him a seaman disabled by falling from the mast-head near here. The schooner was put in to the shore at the nearest point in order to reach the railroad and the injured man was brought to the Northwestern hospital for care.

For an Engineer.

The steamer Otero arrived in last night to leave her second engineer, Mr. Middlebury, at his home here on account of sickness. Capt. Frink hurried up to John Helmet's residence and aroused him to get him to take the steamer below with the first engineer, Charles Bishop. Johnnie hurriedly packed his grip and started at once.

On Presque Isle.

The Marquette City band will give a sacred concert at Presque Isle park tomorrow afternoon if the weather is favorable, playing music of a very high order and appropriate to the day.

Attention.

All members of the Grand Army of the Republic are requested to meet at the hall in the Vierling block Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock to attend divine service. All soldiers and sailors of the late war are invited to join Albert Jackson post, G. A. R., in this observance of G. A. R. rules.

Another Coming.

The bill boards in Marquette blossomed in great shape when Sells Bros' advertising car arrived here. The second car belonging to this show, and which travels about eight days in advance of the show for the purpose of re-billing the towns to be visited, is now on the peninsula and will arrive here in a day or two from St. Ignace and the Sault. The Democrat of St. Ignace says that it is not so large a car as the one here a few weeks ago, but it carries a force of eleven men, and uses on an average over 2,000 sheets of paper daily.

On the Presque Isle Road.

Mr. G. Pryor, the boat house man, will have something to say to sportsmen in a few days that will interest them. He has added three new boats to his already large fleet, and is arranging to open up a refreshment stand at his boat house on the Presque Isle boulevard, where picnic parties can be supplied with lunches, smokers with fine cigars and the thirsty will be able to procure all kinds of temperance drinks. His line of fishing tackle, baits, etc., will be complete, and he will be prepared to meet all demands that can be made upon him. Watch for his advertisement, and be governed thereby, when contemplating a day's outing.

In the Circuit Court.

The case of Lerne vs. Slattery for negligent injury was decided yesterday in the circuit court by the jury finding in favor of the defendant. The second case against Slattery, of the same nature, was given to the jury.

The Archie slander case is now on trial. The call for to-day is No. 20. Yesterday the calendar was rearranged and the court has settled down to business for a long term's work.

A Big One.

The Canadian Pacific Railway company, it is said, is about to build another boat for its line from Port Arthur to Owen Sound, to be the largest vessel on the lakes. She will be built in this country. They also propose building six immense iron boats for service between Chicago and Owen Sound.

REPORTORIAL PENCILING.

Another of the regular Masonic hops took place last night.

The rain last evening prevented the open air concert which the Marquette City band was to have given. The concert will be given next week.

Mr. Frank Weric, an operator in the Milwaukee typewriter agency, has arrived in the city to accept a position with the Iron Bay Mfg. Co. as stenographer.

Pencilings can guess now where those trout came from. The Alpha says that over 25 pounds of speckled trout have been caught each day for the past week from the dock at Munising, weighing from one to four pounds.

The temperature readings at the U. S. signal station yesterday, 7th meridian time, were: 7 A. M., 58 degrees; 3 P. M., 54 degrees; 10 P. M., 48 degrees; maximum temperature, 64 degrees; minimum temperature, 47 degrees.

St. Ignace, the Soo and Houghton are to have elegant sleepers for the South Shore line named after them, but it must not be forgotten that the king car of the whole business is the palace on wheels built for McMillan and named in honor of this city.

Last night Front street was crowded with people who wanted to see how the electric light worked. The street was well lighted although the machinery, being entirely new, is not yet working smoothly. Kaufman's, Stafford's and Neuberger's stores were brilliantly illuminated, the 2,000-candle power lights casting the big Siemens gas burners entirely in the shade.

Notice is given to parties who have been using three-arms on the plains north of the city that they will get into trouble unless they desist. Last night some one was out there using a rifle and Mr. Quarters while putting up his horses at George W. Hager's residence was slightly disturbed by hearing the "zip" of a rifle ball close to his head. There is an ordinance forbidding the use of fire arms inside the city limits, and if there were not only a man without any sense at all would fire a rifle toward the residence portion of the town for no one can tell how far a rifle is going to carry.
