AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

The Government Forced to Refund Millions to Importers of Silk Charged Excessive Duty.

WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE LISTENS TO ARGUMENTS OF SUGAR MEN.

Less Than a Quorum of Senators Present at Yesterday's Session—Many Bills Introduced—Senator Plumb's Resolution.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Judge David A. Brewer was sworn in as an associate justice of the supreme court of the United States at noon to-day, and he immediately took a seat upon the bench. The ceremony was performed in the court room in the presence of a large audience, immediately after the assembling of the court at noon.

In an opinion rendered in the well-known Edliff customs case, the supreme court holds that silk and cotton ribbons used exclusively for hat trimmings are dutiable at 20 per cent under the provision in the tariff act of 1883 for "trimmings for hats, bonnets and hoods," and not at 50 per cent under the provision for materials of which silk is the component of chief value. The government will, by the decision, be compelled to refund about $6,000,000 to importers in Philadelphia, New York, Boston and other places. Mr. Wanamaker is interested to the extent of several hundred thousands.

Mr. Call offered a long preamble and resolution in the senate to-day in regard to the island of Cuba. It states that there is reason to believe that German bankers have secured control of the Cuban debt, $124,000,000, and thus secured a mortgage on the revenues of the island. The resolution states that this is contrary to the spirit of the "Monroe doctrine" and the best interests of the United States and must be protested against. The resolution calls on the president for such information on the subject as may be in the possession of the state department. On motion of Mr. Sherman the resolution was referred to the committee on foreign affairs.

TARIFF HEARING.

At the tariff hearing of the ways and means committee to-day John Dymond, president of the Sugar Planters' association, read a memorial of that association asking protection, sufficient to the sugar industry to enable the United States to produce its own sugar. Governor Warmouth, of Louisiana, was before the committee. He said it was strange to find the representatives of the protected interests of the north and west crying aloud for a "free breakfast table," which "does not mean free pork to us." "I speak feelingly upon this subject," said he "because I have conducted some political campaigns in my state. Everywhere I went I was met with representative and so-called speeches from Pennsylvania, Ohio, or Michigan, in favor of a reduction of the 50 per cent tariff on sugar. I must say that in the face of these speeches I have not been as successful in converting my democratic friends as I could have desired. Excuse me for indulging in this lecture." (Laughter.)

Mr. La Follette—Would not a bounty suit you?

Governor Warmouth—The effect of a bounty after years of experiment would be the destruction of the sugar industry.

Mr. La Follette—Why so?

Governor Warmouth—For reason that the country can see that the bounty is a tariff, and if we are singled out for the reception of a bounty, a demand will arise for its abolition that cannot be resisted.

Mr. McKinley—Is the sugar crop of Louisiana increasing?

Governor Warmouth—Yes. It was 30,000 tons heavier last year than ever before. If you want friends in Louisiana, you must not touch the sugar tariff. We cannot stand a reduction of half a cent a pound.

Mr. McKinley—Will you increase your acreage if we reduce the tariff 50 per cent. Governor Warmouth—Yes, sir.

Mr. McKinley—For how long?

Governor Warmouth—Until I am busted.

Mr. McKinley—And how long will that be?

Governor Warmouth—Not a great while, I assure you.

Governor Gear—But you don't stand on the same ground with other industries. You do not produce anything like enough to supply the demands of the country.

Governor Warmouth—But we bid fair to give the encouragement extended to other industries. What we want is to be let alone. Every year, for the past fifteen years, especially in every democratic congress, a proposition has been introduced to put sugar on the free list. In consequence capital has been afraid to invest and the progress of the industry has therefore been slow.

Mr. Flower—And yet you are worse scared about what this republican congress is going to do?

Governor Warmouth—I am not afraid that a republican congress will interfere with any industry in the country. (Applause.)

Mr. Flower—Have you read the senate bill?

Governor Warmouth—Oh, that was a presidential year. (Laughter.) The Mills bill was introduced to elect Mr. Cleveland, and I've no doubt that the senate bill was instrumental in bringing about the election of Mr. Harrison.

Representative Peters, of Kansas, said he was interested in silk, sugar and salt. The discussion which followed was very lengthy and interesting. The committee adjourned till to-orrow, when the representatives of the tobacco interests will be heard.

THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—When the senate met there was less than a quorum of senators in the chamber. Among the numerous petitions presented and referred were two from Kansas and Texas, the former urging the selection of Chicago, the latter St. Louis as the place of the international exposition of 1892. Mr. Platt presented a copy of the constitution adopted at Boise City for the proposed state of Idaho, and it was referred. Among a large number of bills introduced and referred were the following: By Mr. Frye to promote ocean mail service between the United States and foreign ports and to promote commerce; by Mr. Reagan, to prevent the transportation of merchandise in bond from into the republic of Mexico, and to restore that privilege when the free zone along the boundary between the two countries is abolished; by Mr. Cullom (by request) authorizing the secretary of the treasury to loan money to farmers at 2 per cent; by Mr. Chandler, proposing an amendment to the constitution so that if any state fail to enact or effectually to enforce laws against murder and other felonies, congress may provide for punishing those crimes within such state.

Mr. Plumb offered a resolution, which was agreed to, directing the managers of national soldiers homes to consider and report upon the advisability of establishing a hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., to which all disabled ex-union soldiers shall be admitted under proper recommendations. Mr. Plumb also offered the following, which was laid on the table:

WHEREAS, The secretary of the treasury has, by public advertisement, invited bids for leasing the islands of St. Paul and St. George in the territory of Alaska for a period of twenty years, and

WHEREAS, The law under which the said proposal is issued was passed about twenty years ago, in circumstances and conditions existing in Alaska with reference to the said industry being materially changed during that period, and

WHEREAS, It has been charged upon the authority of the late governor of Alaska that the Alaska Commercial company now occupying the said islands, under a lease from the government, has exercised its privileges oppressively and against the interest both of the natives and the government, and

WHEREAS, said company claims that it is the only person or organization which can successfully compete for the lease invited by the secretary of the treasury aforesaid; and there is every reason to believe that under the present legislation and conditions the lease proposed will be made to said Alaska Commercial company substantially without competition, therefore,

Resolved, That the secretary of the treasury be and he is authorized to make a new lease of said islands until further action by congress, or until the latest period made necessary by the existing law and that meanwhile he make a full report to the senate of the manner in which the said Alaska Commercial company has discharged its duties and obligations under the present lease, and also what additional legislation, if any, is necessary in order that the interests of the government and those of the natives and citizens of Alaska may be more fully protected.

Mr. Davis offered a resolution, which was agreed to, calling on the postmaster-general for information as to the proposed connection of the postoffice department with the telegraph companies and the probable cost of the erection of a government independent telegraph line between the cities of St. Louis, Chicago, Philadelphia and New York. The senate then passed the bill to amend the census act increasing the pay of supervisors from $500 to $1,000. The bill to increase to $75 per month the pensions of certain soldiers and sailors who are totally helpless from injuries received or diseases contracted while in the service of the United States was passed. After an executive session the senate adjourned.

THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Mr. Carlisle, of Kentucky, offered a resolution, which was adopted, authorizing the speaker to administer the oath of office to Mr. Randall at his residence in Washington; and further authorizing Messrs. Wilber of New York, and Winthrop, of Tennessee, to take the oath of office before the proper officers. Mr. Dockery, of Missouri, offered a resolution directing the superintendent of the census to ascertain the number of farm mortgages in the United States. Referred. A very large number of bills were introduced and referred and the house adjourned.

On Fire for Four Days.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—A combination of mice and matches started a fire in one of the fire proof vaults of the council chamber on the top story of the city hall Friday and it burned until this morning without being discovered. Fortunately only some unimportant papers were destroyed, but the authorities are scared when they discovered that the city hall had been on fire for four days.

Another Reduction in Rates.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 6.—Another reduction in the through rates to New England and Canadian points was announced by the Burlington road this afternoon to take effect January 9th. The basis of the rates are the same as those quoted by the "Soo" line which are to become effective to-morrow. The new rate is $25.00 first class and $20.00 second class to Boston. Following upon this action of the Burlington, the "Soo" road also gave notice to-day that it will put into effect January 8th a still further reduced schedule of rates on the basis of $20.80 on first class and $19.00 second class tickets to Boston. This will make the first class fare from St. Paul to Boston only $1.80 higher than from Chicago to Boston.

The Jackson, Miss., Election.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 6.—The Times-Democrat's Jackson, Miss., special says: The municipal election passed off quietly without disturbance. General Hucy, the democrat candidate for mayor and all the democratic aldermen are elected. Only fifteen or twenty negroes all told presented themselves and asked the privilege of voting, but on being told that men were stationed near the polls to see that there was a peaceable election, and that their voting might cause trouble, they quietly withdrew, none insisting on voting.

THE GRIP HAS THEM.

The Russian Plague Has a Firm Hold on American Noses.

The Epidemic of the Increase in New York City—Boston School Children Down With It—Everybody Sneezes.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 6.—La grippe is creating a profound sensation in the Mohawk Valley. At Amsterdam there are 2,000 cases, among the sufferers being three of the principal physicians. At Fort Plain, 500 persons are ill from the disease, including Dr. Burnett. At Canajoharie there are 300 sufferers, including United States Commissioner Van Steenburgh and Henry Joy. The latter is seriously ill. Several hundred cases have been reported at Fonda, Fultonville and St. Johnsville. One death has occurred at Tribes Hill.

NIAGARA FALLS HAS IT.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Jan. 6.—La grippe has broken out here. Over 100 cases are reported, principally railway employes. The men on the Michigan Central and the Grand Trunk roads have to work double time.

INCREASING IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The number of cases of influenza reported in this city is constantly increasing. A large number of the nurses in the hospitals, doctors and clergymen are prostrated with the disease. The epidemic continues to spread among the police.

SECRETARY WINDOM SNEEZES.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 6.—Secretary Windom is suffering with a severe cold and it is feared that he has la grippe. Congressman Charles H. Gibson, from the First Maryland district, is seriously ill at Baltimore, suffering from pneumonia, which followed an attack of the grip.

DOCTORS ALL DOWN.

COHNWALL, Ont., Jan. 6.—There are 300 cases of influenza here. All the doctors except two are down with the disease.

DECREASING IN PARIS.

PARIS, Jan. 6.—The influenza in this city is decreasing.

THE SQUADRON OF EVOLUTION DID IT.

GIBRALTAR, Jan. 6.—The influenza has made its appearance here. There has been no interruption of communication between the American squadron of evolution and the shore.

THE GRIP HAS THE QUAKERS.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 6.—Two hundred and thirty-one policemen in this city are sick with the grip. The force is seriously crippled. Three deaths, due to the malady, were reported to-day. There were 162 deaths from pulmonary difficulties last week.

ONE IN FIVE SICK.

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—From twenty Boston schools with 9,269 pupils, 1,909 are away with influenza.

PORKOPOLIS HAS ESCAPED.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 6.—The academy of medicine to-night, after a full hearing from all its members, voted that there was not and had not been in Cincinnati a single well-defined, clearly developed case of the present Russian influenza.

ALMOST FROM DEATH ITSELF.

Five Plymouth, Pa., Miners Saved From a Horrible Fate by Two Brave Men.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 6.—At the Nottingham mine in Plymouth, where the disastrous cave-in occurred last week, about 7 o'clock this evening, a terrific explosion of gas occurred. There had been a heavy fall of coal and this forced the gas towards the shaft. On its way it was ignited by the naked lamps of the miners and exploded. The brattice work and timber at once caught fire and burned furiously. Five men were caught between the cave-in and the fire with all manner of exit cut off. A report spread about the town that the men were dead and in a few minutes hundreds of men, women and children gathered at the mouth of the slope waiting to see the dead bodies of the miners hoisted to the surface. The wives and children of the imprisoned men lost all control of themselves in their grief, and sorrowful scenes were witnessed. About half an hour after the fire broke out John D. Humphreys and John Richards were lowered into the mine to ascertain the true state of affairs. When they reached the fire they heard cries and shouts on the other side. Putting their hands before their faces they rushed through the fire, dragged the five imprisoned men out, one by one, uninjured. When they reached the anxious crowd above, the rescued men and their heroic rescuers were received with shouts of welcome. Thomas Richards, who was in another part of the mine, was severely injured by the explosion, and it is feared that he cannot recover.

Deimel Bros. go Under.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Simon Deimel applied to the circuit court to-day for a receiver for the furniture house of S. Deimel & Bros., the most extensive manufacturers of parlor furniture in Chicago, if not in the country. The business has been conducted by Rudolph, Joseph and Simon Deimel, the latter having charge of the New York branch. The assets and liabilities are not stated. Frank A. Helmer was appointed receiver with bonds of $100,000.

The total liabilities will probably exceed $300,000 while the assets at the most liberal estimate cannot exceed $250,000 and may not reach $200,000.

Pettus' Murderess.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Mrs. Southworth, the murderess confined in the Tombs, had for company in her cell last night her mother, Mrs. Martin. Her condition is somewhat improved. The trial, which was set down for this month, the doctor thinks, will be adjourned until the woman is entirely convalescent.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Swift's Specifics has cured my little niece of white swelling of the worst type. More than twenty pieces of bone came out of her leg. She was not able to walk for eight months, and was on crutches a year. The doctors advised amputation, but I refused, and put her on S. S. S. She is now as well and playful as any child.

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich. SOUTH DAKOTA has got prohibition in its constitution, but there is precious little of it in practice in that state, according to the reports that come to us from that new-born sister. The saloons are running wide open, and the authorities are powerless to stop them in the absence of statutory law empowering them to take action to that end.

It was known to the MINING JOURNAL before that the editor of the "Soo" News is a master of the art of being crushing sarcasm, but it never suspected him of such elegant proficiency in that line as he displayed when he christened Dead River Dead creek. If he should happen to get a source in that stream he would come out (if he came out at all) with a larger conception of its volume and power, and possibly with an improved complexion.

If the reports from Spain are to be credited, the leaven of republicanism is working results in that country which may have fruit before long in the establishment of a Spanish republic. It would be a surprising thing if the most conservative of the monarchies of Europe should be found to be so honey-combed with progressive sentiment as to tender this possible, but very unexpected things are happening in our day, and it is not impossible that the creation of the Spanish republic may ere long gratify the friends of human progress and send cold chills down the spinal columns of despots the world over.

WHEN some benevolent capitalist is persuaded to put anywhere from one to three millions of dollars into completing the water power canal at the "Soo," that great improvement may become something of a factor in the promotion of the growth of the side-tracked town on the American side of St. Mary's river. But the anxiously-sought capitalist has not shown up yet, and the great canal is "ditched" for an undetermined interval. It will be a big thing when it is developed, but so will many an acorn that has not yet sent its tiny shoots above the bosom of mother earth. The people of the "Soo" have need of patience, but that is a virtue that they possess in an eminent degree.

A CIRCULAR sent out by the Thomas Iron company to its customers makes this announcement: "For what iron you may require for your use up to July 1, 1890, we are ready to contract for at $20 for No. 1; $19 for No. 2, f. o. b., Perth Amboy, on usual terms. B. G. Clarke, president." The prices for these grades last year were $18 and $17 respectively. In May and June they were $15.50 and $16.50 respectively. Mr. Clarke says that the company has all it can do for five or six months ahead. For years this company has made the selling price on pig iron in the east, and the above quotations may, therefore, be taken as indicating what iron will bring at eastern centers for the period covered by its circular announcement.

"WANTED—immediately, $100,000,000, for 100 years. Good security. Apply to water power company," is the announcement that appears in a conspicuous part of a "Soo" publication. The security is the 750,000 horse power that the company will develop when it gets the $100,000,000, we presume. Great town, that. All it needs to be greater is 100,000 population, all the manufacturing industries that it has to get, the government surplus expended in improvements on its canal and creek, paved streets, buildings to comport with its metropolitan aspirations, and a pulp mill. It has got for a beginning a site and the "Soo" News, whose mechanical equipment is run by a two-horse electrical motor. Won't someone be good enough to come to its rescue with the $100,000,000, and help it out of the mire?

SHOULD the colored people of South Carolina persist in the course they have pursued thus far in relation to the Barnwell outrage, they will have, and deserve, the sympathy of the whole country in the disagreement that has arisen between them and the whites. Although their provocation has been great, they have refrained from acts of violence since the brutal lynching of several of their number, and appeal to the law for protection against the murderers of their friends and kindred. The whites of South Carolina claim to be the superior race, but in this affair they have shown themselves wanting in the qualities that go to sustain the proud prerogative that they assume to be their heritage. Color does not ennoble brutally, nor does it detract from the value and significance of praiseworthy conduct. In the Barnwell affair the whites have been the aggressors and the negroes the victims, but the latter have manifested a willingness to leave vengeance to the law that contrasts strongly with the lawless methods of the whites, and raises the presumption that the more the latter pattern after their colored neighbors the more nearly will they approach the standard of true American citizenship.

A GOOD many people in this country entertain the opinion that the Canadian Pacific railroad is only able to continue in operation through aid received from the government, and that it has never yet paid operating expenses. How much at fault those holding that belief are is shown by what the Railway Age here reports concerning its business for 1889.

The Canadian Pacific railway makes a remarkably favorable showing for the past year, the gross earnings—December being estimated—reaching nearly $15,000,000 and the net earnings about $7,000,000, showing an increase of $1,800,000 in earnings and a decrease of $925,000 in operating expenses. The latter result is due largely to the fact that the present winter has been much more favorable than the previous one, and the increase of earnings indicates in part the natural development of the Canadian country and in part the results of increased aggressiveness in taking business from railways in the United States. As the great north-west develops under the stimulus which this grand system of railways will give, under the liberal and far-seeing management of Mr. Van Horne, the Canadian Pacific will doubtless look more and more to its own country for its revenues and less to competition in so remunerative rates with the roads in this country. Meantime it is only fair to say that the company has shown increased disposition to comply with the conditions of our interstate commerce law and that its traffic management of late does not seem to have been characterized by the tendency to rate cutting which justly called forth complaint from other roads not long ago.

A SAMPLE OF "SOO" WIND. It is confidently expected by the people of the "Soo" that work on the water power canal at that point will be resumed in the spring, and that the great improvement will be completed next year. Meanwhile Marquette has a water power already developed and ready for use, and is prepared to furnish power to manufacturing enterprises that are seeking a first-class location and are willing to accept as a "bonus" cheap power and lots of it.—Marquette Mining Journal.

Marquette has at last obtained electricity for street and store lighting. It is the first stroke of enterprise that very pretty, but very unenterprising, place "has been guilty of." The plant is the Brush system and it is operated by a small water power developed on Dead creek, near there. The MINING JOURNAL is untruthful when it says "cheap power and lots of it," as they have no electrical power circuit whatever and very little developed water power and a questionable quantity of undeveloped. The Edison Soo water power canal, at this point, though very insignificant in comparison with our greater enterprise, develops more than twice the power Marquette has ready for use on Dead creek and also has a power circuit and supplies motors. This correction is made in the best of spirit, with the hope in addition that Marquette will utilize what power it has. If it ever does and wants more the Soo will send a portion of its 750,000 horse-power down on a wire.

The "Soo" News, in which we find the above, affects to sneer at the water power owned and developed by this city on Dead River, but finds it necessary to underrate its capacity in order to do this. The water wheels put in at the Marquette lighting station have power enough to drive four times the electrical plant installed there as a starter, although the machines now in operation have a lighting capacity far beyond the installation at the "Soo," and furnish the current for an incandescent as well as an arc lighting system. It has not been found necessary to supplement the Dead River power with a steam plant for the generation of power, either, as has been done at the Edison station at the "Soo." As for the "Soo's" big canal, it will be time enough to boast of that when it is constructed and in operation. Meanwhile the city of Marquette has developed a water power that enables it to offer manufacturing concerns cheap power on short notice, all that is required to render the power available in the city being a power circuit, which can be put in at any time it is called for within a couple of weeks, the power being ready and the pole line waiting for the wires. In addition to this, the city owns powers on the same property that can be cheaply developed whose aggregate capacity is ample to furnish energy for more manufacturing concerns than are now in operation in all the towns on the south shore of Lake Superior, and the MINING JOURNAL ventures the prediction that it will have these driving the wheels of busy industries long before the "Soo's" experiment with its canal enterprise has progressed so far as to enable the sluggish ditch party dug there to float a "Soo" bond.

Thanks for the offer of a portion of the 750,000 horse power, but Marquette is as far from needing it as the "Soo" is from having it to give away. RAILROAD BUILDING IN 1890. The Railway Register, of St. Louis, thinks there is going to be more than ordinary activity in railroad building this year, arguing that the general prosperity of the country will conduce to the extension of established lines and the construction of new. But it cautions the railroad people that it is not going to be a year of cheap construction, giving its reasons for this belief in an article from which this extract is made: But while 1890 is destined to be a period of large railroad construction, it will not be a season of cheap building. Railway supplies have advanced in price, and the indications are that they will command higher figures as the year grows. It would not be surprising if steel rails, under the expanding demand created by renewals and new track, should advance to $40 before the end of the year. This, however, will probably cut but a small figure in the item of new railroad building, for that is determined by so many matters aside from cash cost, that the latter carries much less weight than might at first be supposed.

Projectors will need to be very careful. That which is of commonest knowledge is not always the first thing remembered when the occasion requiring it arrives. None know better than railroad managers that the expense account of a new line cannot be closed with the laying of the last rail. It is a rare case in which the operation of new mileage does not involve a direct loss for a period of varying duration, and if it be branch or extension it has the effect of raising the per cent of operating expenses to the total gross earnings of the system. Many miles of new road will be needed and many will surely be built. In their construction a prudent conservatism should be exercised, for, unless it shall be, the after consequences will be perplexing and unfortunate. It is already obvious that it will cost considerably more to build road this year than it did last, the enhanced price of iron and steel having settled that, even should there be no advance in the cost of labor. The question now is, how much will the increased cost of materials affect the plans of the railroads and operate as a check on construction? To us it seems that the prices of iron and steel have about reached the point where a curtailment of consumption is likely to follow, and that the time has come for the furnace and mill owners to exercise a "prudent conservatism" if they desire to have consumption remain where it must to ensure a steady demand and a stable market. It is certainly not good business policy to take such advantage of the improvement in the trade as will inevitably set consumers to figuring on getting along without needed supplies, and thereby bring about the state of things in the iron industry that only recently rendered it so unsatisfactory to those engaged in it. The danger that now appears to threaten the iron trade is an inflation of prices that will be a disastrous reaction. If that can be prevented, all will be well with the iron business, but if it takes place a falling off in demand and a "slump" in prices will surely follow.

IRON RIVER AND VICINITY.

A Lumberman's Experience With His Shooter. Progress of a Railway Extension—Social and Personal Notes. IRON RIVER, Jan. 6.—On New Year's eve a lumberman employed at Sargent & Jennings' camp, about eighteen miles from Beechwood, while cleaning his revolver accidentally discharged the weapon, which he supposed was unloaded, the ball entering his leg below the knee. He was immediately taken to Beechwood, and next morning was attended by Dr. F. L. Bond, who found it difficult to extract the ball and on the same day he was taken below for treatment.

The grade on the C. & N. W. R'y extension from the main track nearly a mile east of Beechwood to the new mills of the Metropolitan Lumber company on the Paint River was finished last week, but the construction train will be at work for two or three weeks at least. The rails and ties are laid to within about a mile of the mill and the bridge across the Point is rapidly nearing completion. At the mill there are many men employed and daily additions to the force are made.

The last snow storm was a bonanza for the lumbermen. C. A. McRae and F. A. Morrison, of this place, have been appointed commissioners in connection with the estate of the late Robert Quinn.

The firemen's ball at the new city hall on New Year's eve was a stunning success. Some new tenement houses are being erected for the needy. Mrs. Jas. A. McRae, of the section house, eleven miles west of here, who has been very dangerously sick since Thanksgiving, is now, under the skillful treatment of Drs. F. L. and D. M. Bond, slowly but surely recovering, and is considered out of danger.

REPUBLIC ITEMS. Your correspondent on Friday last visited the Metropolitan, or, as it is now known, the North Republic, mine. He found the miners one hundred and seventy feet below the surface, working on an eight-foot vein of clean ore, the quality of which is unsurpassed in this district. The vein proper is of considerably greater width, but only one of the first grade ore will be taken out until the next level is reached, when the vein will be worked out the entire width, and as it is widening out as they go down, there is every prospect that the North Republic will be numbered among the shipping mines in 1890. There is already between seven and eight hundred tons of first-grade ore now in stock, which is being added to daily, so that by the time the shipping season opens it will certainly present a pleasing prospect to the owners. The D. S. S. & A. has extended its tracks to this mine, so that the facilities for transportation could not be better. The present managers deserve a great deal of credit for their push and energy, also for the able and efficient manner in which they have conducted the opening up and development of the mine.

Barney Levine ventured outside yesterday for the first time since his plucky tussle with burglars in the hallway of his dwelling a few nights ago. Mr. Jacob Scholten is about to erect a commodious hotel and livery stable on the McQuillen lot, corner of Main street and Kloman avenue.

A VALUABLE REMEDY. A letter from S. P. Wardwell, Boston, says: "I used Clarke's Extract of Flax (Papillon) Catarrh Cure in June last for Hay Fever with great satisfaction, and had it the only thing I have seen which would allay, without irritation, the inflammation of the nostrils and throat. Its soothing and healing properties were marked and immediate." Large bottle $1.00. Clarke's Flax Soap is the latest and best. Try it. 25 cent. Ask for them at H. H. Stafford & Son's.

FERDINAND'S ASSUMPTION OF KINGLY DIGNITY DOESN'T PLEASE THE CZAR.

West End Scandal Begins to be Aired-The Influence Decreases in Places-Increases in Others.

GERMANY.

BERLIN, Jan. 6.—Dowager Empress Augusta, who is suffering from influenza, passed a restless night. The fever has increased, but she maintains her strength.

It is reaffirmed that Russia has sent a circular note to all the powers that signed the treaty of Berlin in regard to the violation of article 24 of the treaty by the present condition of things in Bulgaria and particularly by the pretended sovereignty of Prince Ferdinand.

There is a rumor abroad that the elections for the new reichstag will be fixed for the first week in March.

The prince of Thurn and Taxis is dead. He had influenza, which was followed by pneumonia. It is denied that Prince Bismarck had a dispute with Herr Furth over the proposed addition to the socialist law giving the government authority to expel socialists from the empire.

The epidemic is rapidly abating here but is spreading in Palatinate, Franconia, Bavaria and Saxony.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Many members of the police force of Bradford are incapacitated for work by influenza. A number of the employees of the postal service in Belfast are suffering from influenza. The disease has also attacked many college students and professors.

THE WEST END SCANDAL.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The trial of Arthur Newton, solicitor, Frederick Taylorson, his clerk, and Adolphus Gall, his interpreter, who were arrested on the charge of conspiring to defeat justice in connection with the West End scandal, began before Magistrate Vaughn, in the Bow street police court, today.

Mr. Stanley has written a letter to Mr. Bruce, son-in-law of Dr. Livingston, describing the expulsion from his kingdom of Mwanza by a revolt of the combined native Christians and Mohammedans and the subsequent conversion of Mwanza himself to Christianity.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 6.—The strike on the Mackey system was amicably settled last night, both sides making concessions.

A BLUFF AT SUICIDE.

Dr. Kniffin Takes Enough Aconite Not to Do Great Harm.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 6.—Dr. Kniffin, the husband of the woman who was found smothered to death in bed last Friday morning, took an ounce of aconite and gashed his wrist and throat with a razor at his home this morning.

The news that Dentist Arthur S. Kniffin had attempted to suicide started the city. His brother-in-law, Joseph Murphy, who was in the next room, thought he heard someone retching as if very ill, and started to investigate.

While binding the wounded throat, Dr. Cooper, who is a close friend of the Kniffin family and who has been their next door neighbor for years, asked: "What is the matter, Kniffin? Why do you want to die?"

"I think it is better so. I hope I will die and if I don't succeed now—but that's no matter. Look at the prospect before me. What is to become of me?"

"No, I haven't. They have all gone back on me—all except the one on me," cried Kniffin, despondently.

Dr. Cooper then picked up an empty bottle from the floor and asked: "What was in this?" "Aconite," answered the patient. "Was the bottle full?" "Yes, every drop of it. I was afraid of the knife," returned Kniffin.

A Terrific Explosion.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6.—A special from Lima, Ohio, says: At 3 o'clock this afternoon one of the large thousand-barrel stills at the naphtha works of the Standard Solar refinery exploded with terrific force, which was felt all over the city.

The still was No. 6 and was being emptied when in some way not explained, it exploded, tearing away a portion of the roof. A number of men were covered by the debris.

There will be a grand jury in session at Escanaba this week and some sensational indictments are expected.

Third street school opened yesterday morning with the stars and stripes floating proudly over the school house door.

The city buildings were last night lighted by electricity for the first time, and splendidly lighted, too. Ward & Paton did a good job.

All who are musically inclined are reminded of the meeting of the Musical Union at Morgan memorial chapel this evening. There will be rehearsal of part songs and choruses besides the regular business.

Iron Ore wants to know what of the Shellenbarger-James wrestling match. Shellenbarger does not dare show himself in these parts again. He knows that a whole carload of frozen snowballs would greet him the moment he shows his dishonest mug around any corner here.

The MINING JOURNAL made no temperature observations last night but is satisfied that it was the coldest night of the winter. A plank was torn from the sidewalk but the mercury was found to have dropped way below that so it was not pursued farther.

In recognition of the popular demand, Landlord Deane, of the Hotel Marquette, has instituted a change in the dining room service of the hotel. The force of colored waiters has been released and girls have been engaged to perform the service. The proprietor has long felt that such a change would most contribute to maintain a high standard of excellence and best satisfy his patrons, so the change was made. Landlord Deane undoubtedly designs to do his best to please his patrons.

It was not a bonny voyage that Dave Giland, John Outerson and Jim Sinclair enjoyed on their way to bonny Scotland. They embarked at New York on board the City of Chester and during the entire voyage, the steamer's passengers were permitted only one day above deck. A fearful storm raged over the whole Atlantic and several times, our Scotch friends' wifery, they thought the brave and good ship would go down. But she weathered the gale and Liverpool was safely reached after a terrible week in mid-ocean. Letters describing the trip were forwarded to Marquette friends from Liverpool, whence the party went to Glasgow.

PERSONAL MOVEMENTS.

Mr. F. X. Brule, of Lake Linden, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bourke, of Baraga, were among yesterday's arrivals.

Mrs. C. M. Grant and daughters left yesterday for Chicago and southern Michigan.

General Manager Fitch, Supt. Pillsbury and Master Mechanic Donnelly, of the D. S. S. & A., went to St. Ignace yesterday.

Rev. C. M. Pallen, rector of Trinity, Episcopal church in Houghton, came to Marquette yesterday to attend the reception at St. Paul's rectory.

Lonie Kiedinger, Jr., left yesterday for Notre Dame, Indiana, to resume his studies in college. During his vacation, "Dove" diverted many minds from the McGinty joke by talking base ball upon the slightest provocation.

Judge Steere passed through the city yesterday on his way to Escanaba where he will hold court this week. By appointment of Gov. Luce, he will hold all terms in this circuit, intervening between the present time and the election of a successor to Judge Grant.

Stenographer George C. Higbee went to Escanaba yesterday, where Judge Steere will hold court this week. The Soo News says that Mr. Higbee expects soon to lay aside his duties as official stenographer of the 11th judicial circuit. Mr. John A. France, of Sault Ste. Marie, will be his successor.

IT'S A MIGHTY COLD DAY

In January when Pe-ru-na fails to keep you warm. When the blustering blasts of winter envelop your body in their icy embrace, and seem to freeze your very marrow; when you shiver and shake with the cold chills that creep over you and pierce you to the very bone; then it is that you will find, if you try it, that there is nothing so comfortably warming and so mildly invigorating as this same Pe-ru-na. Sending a genial glow through your chilled system, it will start your blood coursing through your veins, put new life and vigor into you, and make you feel altogether like a new man. The effect of Pe-ru-na in this respect is wonderful, and is manifested by no other medicine. As a stomach medicine and tonic it has no equal, and needs only to be tried to prove its efficiency. For record of what Pe-ru-na can do for ill peculiar to ladies, send for Dr. Hartman's "Hills of Life," sent free by the Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O. A LITTLE

So little made me glad, for I was young.

Flowers, a sunset, books, a friend or two. How little made me glad when I was young. Gray skies with sunny sunshine piercing through.

So little makes me happy, now I'm old: Your hand in mine, dear heart, here by the fire. The children grow up under our hearts' desire—How little keeps us happy when we're old.

And yet, between the little then and now What words of life and thought, and feeling keep.

'Twas spiritual depths and heights unseen. Ah, me! between the little then and now.

For little things seem mighty when we're young: Then rise and rush on through the changing years.

Testing the gamut of all smiles and tears. Till mighty things seem little, yet we're old. —Alice Wellington Rollins

OUR TANDEM.

"I say, Ben," cried Mel Howard, springing into my room at the academy, "get on your clothes quick, there's—"

"The slam of the door drowned the rest of the sentence, and his footsteps could be heard retreating rapidly down the hall.

"There's fire around here!" was my hasty thought.

With vest on wrong side out, hat hanging on one ear, collar snapping, like the Star Spangled Banner on a windy day, and my coat sticking straight out behind, I fell half way down the stairs, tore out the front door—to find my chum contentedly chewing gum on the gate post, while waiting for my appearance.

"Takes you an awful long time!" he growled.

"Where's the fire? Who's it?" I gasped.

"Nobody said anything about a fire," was the cool reply. "How much money have you got?"

I stopped, appalled at this question. Was this what he wanted when he called me in such a hasty manner?

I looked at him closely to see if he was clothed in his right mind, and, finding he was, mechanically thrust my hand into my pocket and drew forth a dime.

"Is that all you've got left out of your quarter's allowance?" he inquired, in tones of astonishment.

"I forgot I had that, or"—

"You'd have bought that jointed fish pole of David's yesterday," he finished. "Well, I know you can put up my twenty-five, and I've got twenty-two fifty. I think we can make up two and a half among the boys."

"But what's it all about?" I asked, in bewilderment.

"Didn't I tell you when I called you that there's a fellow over at the hotel with a tandem for sale?"

"A tandem?" I repeated, in dismay.

"Now, Mel, what?"

"Oh, yes; what do we want with a tandem? Maybe we want it for scrap iron! I am informed that it is a device like a tricycle, designed to carry two persons—you and I, for instance. You said last week you wished you had something to make the fellows envious. Now, here's your chance."

"Did I go into the scheme? To be sure I did, but over-look."

"While he started out to 'rake up' two dollars and a half, I returned to my room to finish my hasty toilet."

"Are you sure he'll take fifty dollars?" I asked, as I joined him a few moments later.

"He'll take it, if he sells it to us," was the wise reply. "Here, you take charge of the clock and I'll do the talking."

"Mr. Morton's not up yet," replied the official clerk in response to Mel's inquiry for the gentleman who possessed such a wonderful piece of mechanism as a tandem.

After a tedious wait of fifteen minutes, he called Mel and pointed to a gentleman standing near the dining room door as the party we wished to see.

"Well, yes; I've got a tandem for sale," he said slowly, after a few preliminary remarks had been exchanged, eyeing us with a view of making certain calculations on our complicated opticals.

"It was on the top floor."

"There it is," remarked Mr. Morton, cautiously, as he threw open the door of a small room and pointed to a fire foot concern standing in one corner, the light from the window glistening on its polished nickel and enamel.

"It's all bearing all around, with automatic steering bicycle handles, forty-two inch drivers twenty inch steering wheel," he went on glibly. "Axle is driven from the center by two detachable link chains and sprocket wheels, fitted with an automatic balance gear, composed of three level wheels and a shaft, by which the power is equally transmitted to both wheels." (Pause for breath.) "It has been used but few times; original cost two hundred and fifty; will take one fifty. What do you think of the bargain?"

We had been examining the machine, but at the mention of its price our hands came off simultaneously. One hundred and fifty dollars! If he had said $1,500 our surprise could not have been greater.

"Hem!" said Mel, cautiously, looking very comically at me over the machine. "Is that the least you'll take?"

"Oh, I couldn't take less than that," replied Mr. Morton, decidedly.

"What's the reason for selling?" I inquired, running my hands over the tires to keep up appearances, seeing he looked at us rather apprehensively.

"They were cut in a great many places, showing it had been run rather recklessly, if used but few times."

"Never mind the reasons for selling," answered Mr. Morton, sharply. "It has nothing to do with the reasons."

Neither noticed the short reply, or perhaps we would have thought twice before proceeding.

"Well, give us $50, that's the best we can do," was Mel's offer.

"Oh, he couldn't say it! Why it cost two fifty, but for twenty minutes arguing, and numerous false starts for the door, he suddenly changed his mind, accepted the $50, and we became the happy possessors of a tandem."

"Mr. Brooks, the proprietor, strenuously objected to my bringing it in," said Mr. Morton, as he counted the money before placing it in his pocket, "so he may object to your taking it out, as"—

"Oh, no, he won't!" burst in the impatient Mel. "I know Mr. Brooks."

"Oh, very well!" he replied with a peculiar smile, as he picked up a valise. "I hope you'll have no serious trouble."

"None at all," I responded, cheerfully.

And then his footsteps died away down the hall.

After a great deal of "soe sawing" we got it through the door. I carried the front, Mel the back, and down the stairs we went. All the while we were reaching the bottom flight, leading through the office, when we received a startling check.

"Hold on there!" shouted Mr. Brooks, hurrying across the office. "Where are you going with that machine?"

"Home," was our intrepid answer, in one voice.

"I guess not!" was the emphatic response. "I've got a $50 board bill tacked onto that vehicle."

I felt a sickening sensation come over me. Thirty dollars more—eighty dollars. What next? Everything swam for an instant; then I was aroused by Mel's awe struck voice from above.

"I say, Ben, can we stand it?"

Involuntarily I glanced back at the shining enamel and glittering nickel. Its silent persuasive powers were too much.

"Of course; we'll have to stand it!" I burst forth.

"Then here goes," was the mournful reply. And we once more descended.

Mel was a brilliant conversationalist, but it took our combined oratorical powers and the signing of two notes, each for fifteen dollars, before Mr. Brooks would consent to let the machine pass over the door sill.

"No wonder Morton changed his mind and let us have it!" cried Mel, indignantly, as we pushed it into the street. "Eighty dollars is all it's worth."

"And hoped we'd have no serious trouble," I added, sarcastically.

Then we mounted, I in the front saddle, Mel a foot higher behind.

"What a sensation we created, spinning down the smooth streets!"

How our hearts did beat with 16-year-old boys' pride, as we noted people stop to stare after us, but how quickly they sank when a crowd of small boys gave chase!

"Don't hit 'em wid de rock, Jimmy," pleaded a voice from an alley.

We both dodged to escape the imaginary missile, to be greeted with boisterous laughter.

Then followed a series of cries that made our ears tingle.

"Who owns 'em?" "Head 'em off from the hall, or we'll be out a clock!" "Who said it 'brent?" "Is it tagged?" "They use it to haul brick!"

"Hurry, please," cried a girlish voice. "Don't let my dog see you, or he'll have its again."

That settled it. With faces the color of an auctioneer's flag, we turned down a side street and made direct for the academy.

All thoughts of vanity had fled, leaving in their stead mortification.

David met us at the porch with a genuine stare of amazement.

"Hello!" he cried. "What have we here—a tandem? Well, now, ain't that just jolly?"

We looked at each other, but neither could see anything amusing. Evidently, David had never rode a tandem through our town.

"They're fine for coasting," he explained.

"Wouldn't it be a great scheme to try it on Five Mile hill to-morrow?" It's Sunday, you know."

"Just the thing," I cried, enthusiastically. "What do you say, Mel?"

"Same thing."

Therefore, all present being unanimous on the subject, it was agreed that we should push the tandem up five miles of steady grade for the pleasure of coasting down.

I turned out bright and early next morning, to find Mel excitedly walking round and round the tandem on the lawn.

"I say, Ben, there's something the matter with this machine," he cried, excitedly, as I came up.

"What is it?"

"That's it," was the rapid reply. "I've looked at it for ten minutes, and I can't see what it is, though there's something wrong."

I looked at it, too, with the same result.

"What could it be? Everything looked all right, yet there was an indescribable sensitive about something was wrong."

MUST MOVE ON.

Ishpeeming's Marshal Teaches a Rail-road Conductor a Much Needed Lesson.

Improvements in the Postoffice Service—Give Us an Ice Rink—A Shooting Fracas With Nobody Much Hurt.

The People Have Some Rights.

The long freight trains that daily pass through the city are a source of no small annoyance to citizens, and to a certain extent they seem to be a necessary evil. But the conductors of the trains seem to have no regard for the rights of the people, and persist in holding a crossing as long as they please. A few days ago the city authorities decided that this imposition had gone about far enough. Last Saturday a freight train pulled into the city and blocked both Main and First street crossings for about twenty minutes. Chief of Police Scully happened along just about the time of the occurrence, and pulled out his watch. During the time that he kept "tally" on the train it held the crossings there fully 15 minutes. How much longer it would have continued to do this it is impossible to say, but the officer decided that the train had blocked the streets just about long enough, and, after having the conductor cut the train he marched the fellow over to a justice court and entered a complaint against him for violating the city ordinance which prohibits blocking a crossing for more than five minutes. The conductor was inclined to stand on his dignity for a while, but when he saw it would avail him nothing he pleaded guilty and paid $10 and costs—a penalty none too heavy for his disregard of the rights of the people of the city. It is to be hoped that the lesson he received will have a wholesome effect.

Better Service.

For the benefit of those who have business to transact at the money order or registered letter departments of the Ishpeeming postoffice, the MIXING JOURNAL has been requested to state that these departments will be closed promptly at 11:30 each forenoon. They will, of course, be opened after the mail from the south has been distributed. This is the first of a series of changes that will greatly improve the service to patrons of the postoffice. By letting the money order and registered letter clerk go to dinner at 11:30, it will bring the whole office force on hand and in readiness to handle the mail from the south just as soon as it is brought into the office. Another thing that will greatly facilitate the delivery is the fact that in working the mail here the clerks will, by making up that for the principal cities in packages, greatly aid the postal clerks in their work. The postal clerks will reciprocate by "packaging" the mail for the banks, mining companies, principal business firms, etc., so that when the mail is received the heaviest portion of it can be distributed in a very few minutes. Ishpeeming gets a heavy mail, and under the old arrangement it took considerable time to distribute it. Now, however, with every clerk on hand and ready to pitch right in, and with the advantage of having part of the mail in packages, and needing only the cutting of the string that binds it, a vast amount can be handled in a remarkably short period. The new arrangement of boxes at the postoffice will greatly facilitate the handling of mail, and it is safe to say that from this time forward there will be little or no complaint of the service given at the Ishpeeming postoffice.

An Ice Rink.

A city the size of Ishpeeming certainly ought to give liberal support to an ice rink. Winter sports of all kinds are very popular, and ice skating is no exception to the rule. Then, again, a few years ago Ishpeeming had a curling club that could hold its own with any similar organization in this region, but it can do nothing without a rink. There is a chance for some enterprising man to make money for himself and furnish amusement to the people of this city this winter by putting in an ice rink.

A Shooting Affray.

The monotony of everyday life on West Division street was enlivened yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock by a little shooting affray. A lumberman came into Biegler's barber shop and began abusing Charles McCormick. The latter is the man who had his leg cut off at the main street crossing while trying to board a train last summer. At last the insults of the lumberman were more than McCormick could stand, and he drew a revolver and fired. The revolver was a 22-caliber and the ball struck the lumberman in the leg, inflicting only a flesh wound. McCormick was arrested and will probably have to answer for his offense to-day.

Now's Your Chance

To secure rare bargains in holiday goods. Though our sales were heavy during Christmas week we still have a large number of holiday goods such as toys, fancy dress goods, plush articles of all kinds, fancy trimmings, etc. We do not wish to carry them over until next season, so we will sell our holiday stock at remarkably low figures for the next week. Take advantage of the opportunity offered.

The building that Messrs. Hoch & Thoney are having erected on Pearl street for use as their bottling works is nearly ready for occupancy. Mr. Thoney has brought his family here and has become a citizen of Ishpeeming.

A flagman has been placed on the Third street crossing. A man was badly needed there, for the crossing is a dangerous one and is passed by a large number of school children every day.

Ishpeeming. He is now engaged in getting everything in readiness to begin work as soon as the building is completed. This is a good field for the sale of bottled beverages, and Messrs. Hoch & Thoney will undoubtedly be well satisfied with the patronage they will receive.

A short time ago Mr. John Lynch, who takes care of the dry house at the Barnum mine, was presented with a valuable watch, it being a token of the esteem in which he is held by the men who work at that mine. It is needless to say that Mr. Lynch was highly pleased with his present.

Those rebate checks are the bane of the South Shore passenger conductors' lives. They have to argue several minutes to induce the passenger to pay his 20 cents, and then it takes a few minutes more to issue the check. Almost every day some train has to be stopped between here and Negaunee to permit the conductor to work it.
