Third—It makes your husband feel better, look handsomer and live longer.
Fourth—It makes him get up earlier, make better fires and go to church without grumbling.
Fifth—It makes him come home early in the evening and forget to go to the lodge or club.
Sixth—It makes the baby grow louder, cry less and grow fat.
Seventh—It makes the cold weather warmer, the rain seem a blessing and the mud a necessity.
Eighth—It makes dinner easier to get, makes the roast juicier, the bread lighter and the dessert delicious.
Ninth—It makes everybody happier and better, healthier and wiser.
Therefore do it and make us happy and you will never regret it.

BY A STRICT PARTY VOTE.

The House Passes the Bill Admitting Wyoming to the Sisterhood of States.

SPRINGER MAKES AN ARGUMENT IN FAVOR OF HIS OMNIBUS MEASURE.

Senate Concludes to Send the Anti-Trust Bill to the Judiciary Committee—Must Be Reported in Twenty Days.

THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 27.—Nearly the entire session was taken up with the Wyoming bill. Mr. Springer (Ill.) commented upon the small attendance of members when a bill of this importance was before the house. The position which he had taken in regard to the territories was an advanced one. In the last congress he had favored the admission of four new states. This session he introduced an omnibus bill because he thought all the territories should be treated fairly and equally. The Wyoming bill gave women the right of suffrage. The Idaho bill deprived Mormons, men and women, of the right to vote. He believed, if the Mormons would vote with the republicans, the gentlemen of the other side would railroad a bill through the house for the admission of Utah as a state.

Mr. Grosvenor (Ohio), said the democratic party, since the fall of slavery and since it had ceased to admit states in order to keep up the policy of slavery, had always opposed the admission of states. Hostility, either open and declared as now, or covert or insinuated as in the 50th congress, had always been the policy of the democratic party. On the question of woman suffrage, he called attention to the fact that there was nothing in the constitution which prevented any state from providing for such suffrage. A vote here, in favor of the admission of Wyoming by no means meant that the voter was an adherent of the doctrine of female suffrage—a doctrine which he was not much alarmed about. After various amendments had been acted on the bill passed—139, to 127; a strict party vote, except that Mr. Dunnell (Minn.) voted with the democrats. After discussing, in committee of the whole, the appropriation bill, the house adjourned.

THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The house bill to amend the census act of March 3, 1889, was reported from the census committee and passed. Among the bills reported from the census committee and placed on the calendar were the following: The house bill constituting Cairo, Ill., a port of delivery. Mr. Hawley, from the committee on military affairs, reported back the house bill authorizing the purchase of 2,500 tents by the secretary of war for the use of the people driven from their homes in Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana by the present floods and appropriating $25,000 for the purpose. After a brief discussion, the bill passed. After a number of unimportant bills had been reported and placed on the calendar the anti-trust bill was taken up and after a debate the senate voted to refer the bill to the judiciary committee.

WITH INSTRUCTIONS

to report in twenty days. The first amendment to the anti-trust bill that gave rise to discussion was the provision excepting from the prohibitions of the law combinations of workmen and farmers. Mr. Edmunds declared himself in favor of doing everything the constitution permitted congress to do in the suppressing and breaking up of trusts and monopolies, because, in the long run, all human experience had proved them to be destructive of the public welfare. The people could not shut their eyes to the fact that if capital combined, if great industrial establishments combined to regulate wages, workmen also were compelled to combine to defend themselves. Even in the city of Washington, where congress had exclusive jurisdiction, the masons, carpenters, bakers, tailors, printers, and all trades had their combinations, which were armed camps.

MAKING AGGRESSIVE WARFARE

against the rest of mankind. He had learned of a case, which occurred here only a few months ago, where a skilled printer, a citizen of the United States, a man of good character and with little money, and such things sometimes happen even in the senate of the United States, applied to the public printer for employment, and although he was just the man who was wanted to fill a vacancy, the public printer was not permitted to employ him because he was told that if he did nine-tenths of the printers employed in the office would cease work and the country would go to destruction because it could not read to-day what had been said in congress yesterday. And this was because the man did not belong to a particular combination. If that was not tyranny, Mr. Edmunds did not know what tyranny was. Taking the iron industry as an illustration, Mr. Edmunds went on to argue that if labor combinations put up the price of wages 50 per cent, the people who owned the mines and furnaces had a right to combine to protect themselves so as to get such a price as would make up for the increased cost of production. Mr. Platt made an earnest attack upon the bill as a bill that was aimed at every business in the United States. He was willing to vote for a well considered and honest bill, but the conduct of the senate for the past three days had not been in the line of an honest bill to prohibit and punish trusts. After more discussion the senate proceeded to the consideration of the senate bill granting pensions to ex-soldiers and sailors who are incapacitated for the performance of manual labor, and providing for pensions to dependent relatives of deceased soldiers and sailors. Mr. Plumb made an argument in support of the amendment offered by him on the 28th of February declaring entitled to a pension of $12 a month.

ALL WHO SERVED THREE MONTHS
or more, and who are suffering from mental or physical disability which incapacitates them from the performance of manual labor. Mr. Berry opposed the amendment. After considerable discussion the bill went over without final action. The house bill for the admission of Wyoming as a state was laid before the senate and ordered printed. The order fixing the daily hour of meeting at 11 a. m. was agreed to. The senate then adjourned.

ALL OVER A POSTOFFICE

The Successful Applicant Persecuted, Presumably by Friends of His Opponent

BERLIN, Wis., March 26.—The little village of Kingston, in the southwest part of this county, has been for several weeks in a state of excitement over the struggle for the postmastership. Bert Blotchley was appointed on the recommendation of Congressman Clark, but the friends of his opponent, Choppell, have kept things warm. Social gatherings and even the courts have not been exempt from the affair. On Tuesday evening, March 18, Blotchley was summoned to the door by a rap. No sooner had he opened it than a revolver was thrust in and fired, the ball passing between his body and arm. He slammed the door and another shot lodged in the woodwork. Footsteps were heard and he opened the door and fled at a retreating form. Other parties hearing the shooting, came to the place and succeeded in following the tracks in the light snow for a mile or more, until they were lost in the road. Parties are suspected, but no arrests have been made as yet. Two of the suspects are reported to have left the place, and are said to have confessed to Blotchley, before leaving, that they were offered $500 to swear a crime against him. Kingston people are boiling over with excitement and more developments are looked for.

PERMITS PRIZE CONTESTS.

A Virginia Statute That Permits Evasion of the Law Against Brutal Sports.

NORFOLK, Va., March 26.—A bill, passed by the last legislature, which has slept without knowledge on the part of the public, incorporates the Virginia Sporting and Athletic club and gives the president the right to demand the appointment from county judges of officials for the preservation of order, which is construed to permit an evasion of the law on the state books against prize fighting, inasmuch as it says that any law which conflicts with the privileges it gives are repealed, so far as they apply to the act. Under its provisions the company can own 5,000 acres of land in every county of the state. It can have entertainments for man or beast on enclosed grounds which can be posted and on which all persons "are prohibited and forbidden" for any purpose or in any capacity whatsoever, without the consent of the president or manager of such company to trespass.

"My Lord" Gets Out of Prison.

NEWARK, N. J., March 27.—Edward Wenton Honeywood, who claims to be a son of Lady Honeywood, of England, arrived here this afternoon from Trenton where he served 18 months in the state prison for forgery. Honeywood went at once to his wife, whom he married the day before he was sent to prison. He says he was ill-treated in prison, being forced at and called "my lord." He intends remaining here to work. The forgery, he alleges, was committed because of his wife's mother's poverty, her husband having refused to support her on Honeywood's account.

Almost a Cyclone.

ST. LOUIS, March 27.—At 3 o'clock this afternoon the sky suddenly darkened and then quickly followed sharp flashes of forked lightning accompanied with heavy rolling thunder and a perfect deluge of water, lasting some minutes, flooding the streets and sidewalks and transforming gutters into miniature rivers. From various points in the state come reports of the storm, but aside from the unroofing of houses, the overturning of barns and the wrecking of windows and chimneys no great damage was done.

A Big Deal.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., March 27.—Representatives of the great English paper mill syndicate are here making an investigation of the plant and business of the Remington Paper company, which has extensive paper and pulp mills in this city. A big deal seems about to be consummated. If the report of the experts is favorable, this and three other large plants will become the property of the syndicate.

Scott's Generous Act.

MOUNT CARMEL, Pa., March 27.—To mitigate the sufferings of his employees in this section the Hon. William L. Scott has sent his check for five thousand dollars with instructions to draw on him if more is needed. This, with the promise of a speedy resumption of work, has encouraged the two thousand miners who have been idle two months.

An Exciting Scene.

BOSTON, March 27.—Charles Cowles, who yesterday cut the throat of his wife, was arraigned in the municipal court to-day and committed without bail. The woman's father created a scene. He tried to get at the prisoner, screaming that he would give $1,000 to put a bullet through him.

Gus Johnson Instantly Killed.

IRON MOUNTAIN, March 27.—[Special.]—This morning as the cage in the Millie mine was descending the shaft, the wire rope broke and the cage fell sixty feet, instantly killing Gus Johnson, the cage-tender.

HIS ELECTION ASSURED.

Judge John W. Stone, of Houghton, Receives a Double Judicial Nomination at Escanaba.

Marquette County Stands Loyal by Gad Smith of Marquette, to the Very End.

ESCANABA, March 27.—[Special.]—Republican and democratic judicial conventions met here this evening to nominate a successor to Judge C. B. Grant, resigned. The work of the democratic convention was speedily accomplished, a conference committee favoring the nomination of Hon. John W. Stone, of Houghton, being appointed to visit the republican convention. In the latter body a different order of things prevailed. But after a long and rather stormy session the republicans found a way out of their difficulties by nominating Judge Stone, Menominee, Iron and Delta counties, voting solidly for him while Marquette county's fourteen delegates stood loyally by Gad Smith, of Marquette, to the last.

ROMAN ARRAIGNED.

The Man Who Shot Alfred Moulton Makes a Statement to the Court.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., March 27.—John Roman, the ex-driver of a Fourth avenue horse car, who shot General Superintendent Alfred Moulton, of the Steinway & Hunter's Point Railroad company, yesterday afternoon, was arraigned before Police Justice Manly this morning. Word was received that Mr. Moulton was still alive, but in a dangerous condition. William Powers, the driver who witnessed the shooting, made a general complaint, charging Roman with assault with intent to kill. When asked to plead, the prisoner began to make a statement, saying: "Moulton drove me to it. He killed my boy." His counsel interfered and told him to say nothing; but he continued: "I might as well say it now. I could forgive anything but his killing my boy." Roman was remanded until April 3d and committed to the county jail without bail.

Just In Time.

CHICAGO, March 27.—William Sullivan and Harry Parker, clerks employed in the office of the Santa Fe Elevator company, mysteriously disappeared a few days ago. They had been sent to the company's elevators with about $3,000 with which they were to pay off the employees. The police were notified and no sooner was a search begun than it was learned that they had stolen the money and fled. The detectives learned that they had been corresponding with two young ladies who lived in a small town in Maine and had gone there for the purpose of marrying the young women. Telegrams were forwarded and information was received that the messages had been received just in time for Sullivan and Parker were arrested a short time before the weddings would have occurred.

Three Brothers Killed.

SUSQUEHANNA, Pa., March 27.—Train No. 14 on the Erie road killed three men at Bedrock, seven miles west of here, this morning. The victims were three brothers named Deldrick, John and Henry Bakeslee, of New York. On the 20th of last December Henry disappeared suddenly. He was last seen in a saloon. The police and detectives of New York, Jersey City, Hoboken and Brooklyn searched for him without success. Deldrick and John gave up their positions and devoted all their time endeavoring to discover the whereabouts of their brother. They found him somewhere in the west and the three were returning to New York when struck by the train and hurled against a freight train which was passing. The bodies were all horribly mangled and death in each case was instantaneous.

Striking Miners Shoot a Policeman.

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., March 27.—Last Tuesday night some striking miners at Adrian and Walston came down to Horatio for the purpose of trying to obtain money or food for their families, who were in very needy circumstances. After going around among their fellow miners they concluded to go to sleep on the coke ovens. They were interfered with by a coal and iron policeman, Samuel Smith, who ordered them to vacate the company's premises. After the men had endured all they could from the officer one of the gang drew a revolver and fired three shots into him. Four of the gang were captured. Many miners' families are on the brink of starvation. They live in the poorest shanties and lead miserable lives.

Will Be Interred in Milwaukee.

LACROSSE, Wis., March 27.—The body of Archbishop Heiss was embalmed this morning and now lies in St. Francis hospital, where it will remain until to-morrow morning. It will then be removed to St. Joseph's cathedral, where services will be held. The remains will then lie in state there until Saturday forenoon when they will be taken to Milwaukee. The interment will take place Tuesday morning. All the priests of the state have been notified and a number have already arrived here.

Bank Official Missing.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 27.—W. J. McGeegar, teller of the Fourth National bank, private secretary of S. D. Heron, Jr., cashier of the same institution, and treasurer of a number of secret orders of this city, is missing. He has not been seen by his friends since Sunday and they are at a loss to account for his mysterious absence. The officials of the bank say there is a discrepancy in his accounts, but give no amounts. His wife is almost crazy at her husband's disappearance.

JUDGE JOHN W. STONE.
THERE will be no sore heads as the result of the Escanaba republican convention. Judge Stone was undoubtedly the second choice of nearly every man there and the first of many. If partisanship were to be desired in a judicial campaign, still the judge is "all right" from the republican point of view.

THE resignation of Attorney General Trowbridge was hardly unexpected in view of the recent reports concerning his ill-health. To fill the vacancy Governor Luce has appointed Hon. B. W. Huston, of Vassar, who will take the office March 31st. Mr. Huston was born in Rochester, N. Y., in 1891, but came to Michigan with his parents five years later. He has practiced law since 1855, except during the war, when he served as major of the Twenty-fifth cavalry. He was a member of the legislature in 1869, '70, '71, '72, and a senator in 1879. He has been prosecuting attorney of Tuscola county, and is well equipped for his new position.

THE death of James V. Campbell removes one to whom, with Judge Cooley, Michigan jurisprudence owes much. He was the latest official survivor of Michigan's original supreme court bench of judges and his decisions are found in fifty volumes of the Michigan state reports, extending over a period of thirty-five years. During his years of service he was called upon to consider more complex and significant questions than have arisen during any other period in the life of the nation, scarcely a point in the whole range of law having failed of treatment at his hands. He was born in Buffalo, February 23, 1828, but became a resident of Michigan when three years of age. He became a judge of the supreme court on the organization of that body in 1857 and had served continuously since. Justice Campbell was regarded as the ablest jurist on the supreme bench and his death leaves a vacancy to be filled by gubernatorial appointment—for which it will be difficult to find his equal.

OUR foreign trade now presents as healthy an appearance as it did ten years ago, when it helped to make the country prosper as it never had before. Our exports exceeded our imports in February by over $7,300,000, the first time since 1885 when there has been an excess of exports over imports in the month of February. The fiscal year ending June 30, 1890, will make a very different showing from that made by its predecessor, as the figures for the first eight months show. We are piling up a heavy balance in our favor, the net excess of exports over imports for the period named being $106,462,459 as compared with $30,830,296 for the same period in the fiscal year 1888-9. This year we have exported $12,988,562 in silver and $524,233 in gold as compared with $10,388,475 in silver and $18,421,593 in gold last year, making our net exports of merchandise, gold and silver $119,975,244 for the eight months of the present fiscal year against $54,640,364 in 1888-9, the difference being over $65,000,000 in our favor. Its influence on the movement of gold cannot be long delayed.

SECRETARY NOBLE'S decision in the case of J. M. Walker and others, involving the question of the assignability of the right to make soldier's additional homestead entry, which appeared in the news columns of the MINING JOURNAL yesterday, will be hailed with joy by some of the homesteaders within the M. H. & O. indemnity limits as one step more in their favor in their fight with the scrip men. It is substantially in the same line as a former decision by Secretary Vilas and is in accordance with the stand taken by the lawyers who fought for the homesteaders in the cases before the U. S. land office here—that a power of attorney in blank and the passage of the scrip through several hands in this shape, if proven, destroyed its power to hold land because it had ceased to be for the direct benefit of the soldier to whom issued. If this decision, together with one nearly similar made by the secretary some two or three months since, is upheld by the courts, where it will undoubtedly be tested, it may result in a pretty lively and general "shaking up" in upper peninsula land circles.

ANOTHER great suit resulting from the swamping of John E. Burton's Gogebic schemes has been instituted in the United States district court, of the northern division, before Judge Severens, Alfred A. Krause, receiver of the Bessemer Consolidated Iron company, asking for the transfer of certain mines on the Gogebic range, now in the possession of the Newport & Lake Superior Land company, back to the Bessemer company. The judge has the matter under advisement, and will allow the defendant company time to appear and

THE NOMINATION.
Again the 25th judicial circuit visits Houghton for its judge and by a singular coincidence finds its choice in the same law firm from which Judge Grant was called to the bench, and thus a second time will Mr. Stone become the successor of Mr. Grant. We speak assuredly for Judge John W. Stone will be the next judge of the 25th circuit unless he refuses to run and we do not for a moment believe that he will not heed the call of the two Escanaba conventions.

That history repeats itself is again shown by the fact that Judge Grant received his call to the circuit from an Escanaba republican convention and that in his case, too, the call was seconded by the democrats. A better selection could not have been made at either time. There are able men in the circuit who would have honored the place—Marquette county stood loyally by one of them—but there has been all along a strong undercurrent in favor of Judge Stone and several days ago the MINING JOURNAL stated that it would not be surprised if this feeling found voice in the action taken by the convention.

Judge, twice congressman, United States attorney for the western district of Michigan, the gentleman asked to come over and help us out of our judicial perplexities will, we believe, make a judge who will honor himself and the circuit; he is an able lawyer, a thorough gentleman, an honest, upright man, thoroughly liked and admired by everyone who meets him. THE MINING JOURNAL warmly congratulates the people of the 25th judicial circuit upon his nomination.

THE particulars set forth are, in brief, as follows:
The range containing the Iron King, Bonnie and Blue Jacket mines, is owned by the Newport & Lake Superior land company, but some years ago the property was leased to John E. Burton, of Milwaukee. He failed and the lease passed into the hands of the Bessemer Consolidated Iron company. This company began to develop the Iron King mine and operated it for some time, but in spite of the best of prospects, it began to go to ruin. The royalty due the Newport & Lake Superior company was not paid.
The Newport company, finally became tired of waiting and took possession. The property at this time was estimated to be worth about $1,500,000 and $8,000 worth of ore a day was being mined. After the Newport company took possession, the Bessemer company's affairs were put in the hands of a receiver.

The stockholders, upon looking into the matter, made up their minds that there was a deep laid plan on the part of the directors of their company to wreck it. They claim that the Bessemer directors were in collusion with the Newport company, intentionally allowed the royalty to accumulate, and gave up possession without cause or excuse. An order has been issued to the Newport & Lake Superior company to appear and show cause why such transfer should not be made.

He led the German and his dusky dress was the admiration of the assembled fair, but his stout partner slipped on his favorite corn. Salvation! Salvation! Oil to the rescue. Happiness again! I feel like a new man. J. W. Gardner, Hardware merchant, same town, says: Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c. a bottle, at H. H. Stafford & Son's Drugstore.

HAPPY HOOSIERS.
Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that arising from Kidneys and Liver trouble. John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made by me like a new man." J. W. Gardner, Hardware merchant, same town, says: Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c. a bottle, at H. H. Stafford & Son's Drugstore.

IN NEGAUNEE'S HOTEL.

Mr. Sanderson, the Hancock Boniface, Assumes the Management of the Breitung House.

Anthony for Mayor and ??? for the Rest of the Ticket - Seass Suffers a Loss.

In Charge of the Breitung. Mr. Sanderson, until recently a member of the firm of Sanderson & Shute, proprietors of the Northwestern Hotel at Hancock, arrived in the city with his family Wednesday evening, and yesterday morning assumed the management of the Breitung House.

Warming Up.

Political matters are beginning to warm up somewhat, though thus far there are only three avowed candidates in the arena. These are Mr. Nicholas Laughlin, the present incumbent, for treasurer, and Messrs. J. H. Primeau and Frank M. Beney for recorder.

A Hospital.

A movement is on foot to provide a hospital for the care of employes injured at the east range mines. While the primary intention is to provide proper care for the miners who work in the Schlesinger group, arrangements will doubtless be made so that its scope will be broadened somewhat.

Matchmaking at the Capital.

When the Chamberlain-Endicott courtship began it was by the design and deliberate management of other people. Mr. Chamberlain and Miss Endicott met at the Chinese minister's ball and took a turn or two, arm in arm, about the ball room.

The Kind of Women We Want.

THE PILOT.

"See there! The ship's high on the waves, She's steering to the shoals! Unless she turns her head aloft's lost With all those hapless souls."

"Cast off my load, give me the oars, They seem to call to me." "Why, pilot, what chance would you have In such an angry sea?"

"Perhaps but I may save them yet; They'll hear my warning cry And save the ship with all her crew - I could not better die."

"Hand me the trumpet! Little boat, For God's sake do your best! And like an arrow from a bow It mounts each foaming crest."

The shoal is passed. "Sheer to the left!" Along the breakers sounds his cry, Keel upwards comes his boat to land While the ship glides safely by. -Philadelphia Times.

PLAIN AND PRETTY WOMEN.

Why the Latter So Often Make Matches That Are the Saddest of Failures.

The question is often asked, "Why is it that so many plain women marry well while pretty girls either do not marry at all or make matches that are failures from a mental, social and pecuniary standpoint?"

The fact is, that the woman's idea of a man is of a creature differing but little from the domestic quadruped with which she surrounds herself in the home circle.

A pretty girl in her early youth is surrounded by a set of vapid boys. Naturally she forms her judgment of men from them.

Therefore her idea of manhood is not an exalted one. She finds that to look pretty and to dress tastefully, to dance and chat upon the most frivolous subjects is all that is required in order to be a success.

Pretty women, as a rule, do not give as much thought to the cultivation of their intellect as they would devote to the manufacture of a new bonnet.

For a brief space, while youth lasts, her friends apparently find satisfactory returns. Men praise her pretty face; they seem to enjoy her society; she is, therefore, satisfied.

But after youth has fled, carrying with it her bright eyes, her rosy cheeks and roguish dimples, when mind and not matter is to be weighed in the balance, how grievously is she then found wanting!

There was no soul behind the bright eyes to keep them forever brilliant, nor mind to illuminate the pale face and keep it forever fair. With her youth has passed away. All that she ever possessed or cultivated she finds it then too late to avail of.

She lacks the energy to bestow her care and attention upon graver matters, and thus embittered by the cold looks and colder words of her quondam admirers she sinks into a state of apathy, drifting aimlessly with the tide, and finally ends a life of dreary maidenhood without having made better or brighter one for her living.

A plain woman, on the contrary, cultivates all the best gifts of mind and soul with which she has been endowed. In the early part of her life perhaps her prospects would seem dim compared with those of a beautiful associate; but in later years, when the frivolous boys have, with long contact with the world, with serious thought and study, become earnest men, the plain woman becomes a necessity, the pretty one a pestifer for an idle moment.

Pretty women have less opportunities, because as it may seem, than plain ones, for becoming what they were originally intended to be - sweet, noble, patient, helpful - simply because men on whom the fault should rest have caused women to entertain the idea that life is neither a serious nor an earnest thing, but simply a journey to be jested and danced through.

Is it any wonder that our girls think men puppets to laugh and sing at their will? -Cor. New York Commercial Advertiser.

Matchmaking at the Capital.

When the Chamberlain-Endicott courtship began it was by the design and deliberate management of other people. Mr. Chamberlain and Miss Endicott met at the Chinese minister's ball and took a turn or two, arm in arm, about the ball room.

Their friends at once began to discuss and little maneuvers, at which Mr. Chamberlain and Miss Endicott were invariably guests. They were thrown together daily in this way by the people who gloried in making such a "good match."

One hostess gave a luncheon to young women and asked Mr. Chamberlain. He was the only man present among twenty or more ladies. Even the husband of the hostess was not asked. I need hardly say that Mr. Chamberlain's seat at table was next to Miss Endicott's. A thousand and one well planned social affairs favored and urged along the acquaintance to friendship and friendship to courtship. -Washington Cor. Springfield Republican.

Girls Not So Anxious to Wed.

One of the most striking features of the century now drawing to a close is that those who can remember clearly the last thirty years is the changed attitude of the fairer sex toward the world and its affairs.

Then the ambition of every young woman was to be married. Marriage was success in life, spinsterhood was a failure. Nothing but some pronounced and approved mission in life could excuse single blessedness in women. Today our young girls are more likely to show a desire to be self supporting and independent.

The term "old maid" is no longer obnoxious to them. They pant for practical education. The girls of the family are often more earnest students than the boys. They think more of making their own living than they do of making an advantageous match. They envy those of their own sex who make good incomes by the work of brains and hands, instead of disparaging such work. -Detroit Free Press.

The Kind of Women We Want.

I tell you this is the sort of women we want. We want women who are going to make the home better, the husband better, and whose name will not be written in brass, but in the great life book by him who knows the heart, and who judges, not severely, but justly.

You think there are no women like this! Plenty of them, my friend. But they hang out no sign to tell you of their virtues and their learning unless you can call a sign a sweet manner, a womanly presence, and a sympathetic word. They are to be found everywhere. In the shops, among the workers, and even, strange as it may seem, among the off quoted four hundred; for to be born fashionable does not always mean to be born bad. -Cor. Louisville Courier-Journal.

Victoria's Change of Name.

It is not generally known, I think, that the parents of the queen intended to christen her "Alexandrina Victoria," and it was only just before the baptism took place that a change was made in favor of "Alexandrina Victoria." The reason was that there had been much talk in connection with the Queen Caroline scandal of M. Bergani's daughter, who was generally spoken of as "La petite Victoria," and it was therefore decided that it would be inadvisable to give the young princess a name which would recall events it was much better to forget as soon as possible. -London Figaro.

THE LIVERPOOL STRIKE.

The Striking Dockmen's Demand for the Discharge of the "Scabs" Rejected by the Employers

AND THE NEGOTIATIONS FOR THE SETTLEMENT OF THE TROUBLE ARE OFF.

Further Details of the Fight at Irkutsk Between the Exiles and the Troops—Allowed no Word of Defense.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, March 27.—The American ship Glendon, Captain Thatcher, from New York November 20th, for Yokohama and Higo, before reported ashore, is a total wreck. No lives were lost.

RUSSIAN STUDENT AGITATION.

LONDON, March 27.—There has been a renewal of the disorders at the St. Petersburg university. On Monday and yesterday there were riotous demonstrations by the students, which were suppressed by the police. There has also been further rioting at the Charloff and Kasen universities. No particulars of the disturbances have been received.

LIVERPOOL STRIKE ON AGAIN.

LIVERPOOL, March 27.—A delegation of striking dock laborers called upon the employers to-day, and demanded the discharge of the men who were brought here to fill the place of the strikers. The employers declined to accede to the demand, and the negotiations for a settlement of the strike, based upon Mr. Davitt's recommendations, have been interrupted.

ALLOWED NO DEFENSE.

LONDON, March 27.—The Daily News publishes a series of extracts from letters to Russian refugees in Switzerland giving details of the fight at Irkutsk between exiles and troops. The letters describe the trials of the survivors of the fight, the object of the authorities being to discover who among the exiles were guilty of using revolvers against the soldiers. The officials, the writers say, gave false evidence against the exiles. Impartial witnesses declared that the smoke from the soldiers' rifles made it impossible to see anything. The exiles were not allowed to utter a word in their own defense. The result of the trial was three of the prisoners were sentenced to be hanged, while the others were sentenced to various long terms of imprisonment at hard labor. Subsequently the sentences of imprisonment were slightly modified by order of the czar. The victims recount the erection of the scaffold and send touching farewell messages to their friends. Bernstein, one of the three condemned to death, was ill and was carried on a bed to the scaffold. When the noose had been adjusted the bed was withdrawn. Sotow and Caussan, the two others, would not allow the hangmen to touch them. They adjusted the noose themselves and died heroically.

GERMANY.

BERLIN, March 27.—The conservatives in the lower house of the Prussian diet will present a congratulatory address to Prince Bismarck on his seventh birthday, which occurs April 1st. The address will express the signers' fervid appreciation of the services rendered by the prince to the fatherland. A committee of Hessian national liberals and the leaders of the other parties in Hesse will join in an address to Bismarck on the same occasion. The strike of the coal miners of Essen is spreading.

FRANCE.

PARIS, March 26.—Advices from the west coast of Africa state that fighting occurred on the coast between the French forces and the natives. Three were killed and twelve wounded.

Frank Conner Appointed Guardian.

ROCHESTER, Ky., March 27.—In the surrogate's court this morning, letters of administration were issued on the estates of Edward E. Stewart and Hannah L. Stewart, who were killed in the Bay View wreck. Frank Conner, who rescued the little orphan from the wreck, and who has since cared for her, was appointed administrator of the estate, and guardian of the child. The documents recite that the infant has $4,000 due on an insurance policy held by its father, and two causes of action for $5,000 each against the Lake Shore road.

Severe Wind and Hail Storm.

CAIRO, Ill., March 27.—A wind and hail storm passed over Cairo at 4 p. m. Hailstones weighing three ounces fell. Considerable damage is reported from Birds Point, Mo., where it is reported the storm blew down several buildings. All the wires from the city are down and there is no chance to obtain further information from the surrounding country.

Blizzard in Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 18.—The first blizzard of the season is raging here to-night. The weather is comparatively warm and the snowing entailed is not considerable. The wind is blowing heavily, and the drifts are piled so high that the street car lines have suspended operations.

Found Dead in His Office.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 27.—G. Gordon Adams, a prominent attorney of this city, was found dead in his office this morning with a bullet wound in his temple. The shooting is believed to have been accidental.

A Dismal Fire.

ST. LOUIS, March 27.—A special from Higginville, Mo., says that place was visited by the most destructive fire in its history this morning. The loss is about $20,000.

Forecast of the Weather.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 27.—8 p. m.—The signal service reports the following as its forecast for the next twenty-four hours: For Michigan and Wisconsin: Snow; northwesterly winds; lower temperature.

A "Connt" Sent to the Pen.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Stanislaus de Borkowicz, claiming to be a Russian count, was tried and convicted to-day of grand larceny. Recorder Smythe sentenced him to the state prison at hard labor for five years.

SLUGGED WHILE TIPSY.

J. H. Franke, of Milwaukee, Claims That He Was Robbed at Markesan.

MARKESAN, March 26.—There is still a mystery surrounding the case of J. H. Franke, the Milwaukee traveling man, who claims to have been snatched and relieved of over $700 in currency and checks, on the main street here last night. Franke, owing to his condition, was unable to give a clear account of the affair. He claims to have been slugged by the bartender of a local saloon and to have been deprived of his purse by a short, thick-set person, exhibiting a severe scalp wound as evidence of the truth of his statement. Franke and the bartender referred to engaged in a fist encounter to-day over the allegation made, but so far no definite denouncements are made and no legal action has been taken. Franke travels for Peter Barth, a Milwaukee wholesale liquor dealer.

The Sheehan Will Case.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 27.—The famous Sheehan will case is up before the court again, and testimony to prove the daughter's identity is being taken. The claimant, who is being fought by the supposed heirs, has presented strong marks as to her identity as the daughter of Thomas Sheehan, chief among them being a peculiar birthmark. In spite of this, an old man, named Gibbons, swore that he had taken Julia Sheehan when nine weeks old to Hamilton, Iowa, where she died and was buried. The records of the family show that a child died, though whether a male or female is not stated. The records of the Hamilton graveyard are equally puzzling as Gibbons certainly buried a child there without, however, mentioning whether it was a male or female child. The court is so impressed by the testimony on both sides that it has ordered them to secure all possible proofs as to the death of the child referred to. Julia Mitchell is firm in her belief of her parentage and is making a determined fight for the large property and cash which Thomas Sheehan left to numerous heirs under the supposition that his daughter was dead.

AN UNPLEASANT EXPERIENCE.

An Insane Patient Attempts to Murder His Nurse—A Desperate Struggle.

MILFORD, Mass., March 27.—H. W. Eames, of Milford, narrowly escaped death early this morning at the hands of W. G. Reynolds, an insane patient whom he was watching. Reynolds unexpectedly attacked Eames, first with a brick, and then grappling him. After an hour's desperate struggle, upsetting a burning lamp and wrecking the furniture, Eames got the patient into bed. Reynolds had two sharp knives hidden in two bottles of medicine. He told the physician he intended to kill Eames, who had detected him, attempting to burn the bedding. Eames, who is a powerful man, was badly bruised and moves now only crutches.

No Lack of Friends.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 27.—A tremendous sensation was caused by the official announcement that State Treasurer Stephenson Archer had disposed of state bonds and devoted the proceeds to his personal business. Archer is ill at home and is reported to be at death's door. Every one believes the amount involved is small. The intimate friends of Mr. Archer have known of his troubles since Monday and any amount needed to make good his shortage was offered. One man tendered $25,000 in cash if necessary and without security. He rejected all offers of aid, saying he could settle the affair alone.

General Crook's Estate.

CHICAGO, March 27.—The estate of the late Major General George Crook was brought into court this morning. The general left personal property, consisting chiefly of war papers, worth only $1,000 and no real estate.

A Temperance Temple.

CHICAGO, March 27.—At the annual meeting of the Chicago branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance union to-day it was stated that plans for the erection of a woman's temperance temple had so far progressed that the corner stone of the building would probably be laid this spring. The edifice will be 190 feet by 96 feet and will be twelve stories high. It will cost over $1,000,000. The site is on the corner of LaSalle and Monroe streets.

Cost of the Perrin Trial.

ASHLAND, Wis., March 27.—The Perrin trial cost Ashland county over $4,000. Perrin's examination on the charge of embezzling $1,630 of the funds of the Iron Exchange bank has been set for Monday.

Lathers Threaten to Strike.

CHICAGO, March 27.—The lathers of the city have sent notices to the boss lathers to the effect on and after April 1st they will demand three dollars per day. Unless their request is complied with they intend to strike.

A Secret Petition.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 27.—The death of Archbishop Heiss has developed the fact that the English-speaking priests of Milwaukee and the rest of Wisconsin have very generally signed a petition asking Archbishop Ireland, of St. Paul, and Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, to use their influence to secure the appointment of the Rev. Father Cleary, of Menasha, to the Milwaukee archbishopric.

A Warm Reception.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 27.—A special from Larimer Station says a gang of burglars broke into the residence of an old man named Wern last night. The old man seized a shotgun and fired both barrels into the gang. One man fell, but he was picked up and carried away by his companions. Tracks and blood traces were followed a long distance, but no captures have yet been made.

Gang of Counterfeiters Arrested.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 27.—The police have arrested William Slatery and wife and Edward Spaulding, formerly of Akron, Ohio, on the charge of making and passing counterfeit coin. They have been flooding the city with bogus ten cent pieces, large numbers of which, newly made, were found in their possession and mounds, ladies and metals, etc., were found in their rooms. The counterfeiters were very good ones.

ST. IGNACE GETS THERE.

The Citizens of That Place Thoroughly Aroused to a Spirit of Activity.

Five Thousand Dollars Raised in a Few Hours—A New Saw Mill and a Barrel Factory Secured.

ST. IGNACE, Mich., March 27.—[Special.]—St. Ignace has awakened at last. By hustling together $5,000 in about six hours to-day she secured a patent barrel factory that will ultimately employ one thousand men. By contributing another five thousand dollars she has induced J. B. Wanouse & Co., of Bay City, to build a modern saw mill to run winter and summer. The Martel furnace with its two hundred employes commences operations within ten days. The ice moved out of the bay last night. Hurrah!

WILD WITH JOY.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Frantic Over the News of the Passage of the Wyoming Bill.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 27.—Never in its history has there been such rejoicing in Cheyenne as took place to-day over the news that the house had passed the Wyoming admission bill. The Associated Press brought the first news to town and it spread with the rapidity of wild fire. In an almost inconceivable short space of time the entire business portion of the city was lavishly decorated with flags and streamers. Fire bells and church bells were rung and the roaring of cannons added joyous thunder to the celebration. This evening there were bonfires and speeches on the public squares by citizens, many of whom have not voted for a president in twenty-four years. Everybody is wild with joy.

Nebraska Catches It Also.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 27.—A storm extends throughout the state and is of extraordinary severity. The wind is very high and the snow is falling so rapidly and is so heavy that it causes much delay to travel.

Trains Abandoned.

STOKE CITY, Ia., March 27.—A storm extends over the state and is in the nature of a blizzard. Trains are badly delayed and many are entirely abandoned.

A Triple Drowning.

VILLA RIDGE, Ill., March 27.—A triple drowning occurred on the bottom lands south of here Monday night. John Meyer, a farmer, occupied a cabin with his wife and two grown daughters. Friday the overflow from the river covered the farm with water. The family refused to leave although importuned by the neighbors. Monday night the house collapsed and Mrs. Meyer and her two daughters were drowned.

To Lease the Wisconsin Central.

NEW YORK, March 27.—The executive committee of the Northern Pacific railroad is now at work on the formal lease of the Wisconsin Central, to take place at the close of the present temporary agreement. A meeting of the full board has been called for Tuesday next to ratify the lease.

MAPLE SIRUP AND SUGAR.

TALK WITH A DEALER ABOUT METHODS AND POSSIBLE PROFITS.

A Larger Output Than Is Generally Supposed—How to Care for and Tap the Trees—Apparatus for Cooking the Sap. Old Time Methods of Sugar Farming.

There are a good many interesting features about the maple sugar product, the dealer said to a reporter. It is a deal more extensive than most people imagine. Although the foolish people of the country are cutting for firewood every year thousands of trees that would yield a handsome revenue if rightly managed, the product is still more than 60,000,000 pounds a year, or say nearly one-fourth as great as the product of cane and sorghum sugar of the whole country. Vermont alone produces about 4,000,000 pounds yearly, of which the largest part comes to New York city. Although no record of the amount handled in this city in a year is at hand, it is safe to say that more than 12,000,000 pounds is received here every season.

Next to Vermont comes New York as a sugar producer. Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin and New Hampshire follow. The hard or sugar maple flourishes best in a cool climate, the Western Reserve in Ohio being the best sugar region of Ohio. Taking one thing with another the Western Reserve people have the sugar business in better shape than any other people in the country, for they have learned how to cultivate and improve the sugar bushes. New trees are planted as fast as the old ones die. Care is taken in planting these trees to place them so they will produce the most and the best quality of sap, and when the sap is obtained it is boiled in an apparatus especially well designed to produce clean and pure sugar.

If farmers only knew they could get more money out of an acre of sugar trees than out of any grain crop raised on the same land, the best sugar bushes are on fairly good land that slopes to the south. An acre of land will support thirty healthy trees. A much larger number will thrive on an acre, but the larger number will produce less sugar than thirty will. I am not sure but twenty-five would be a more profitable number to put on that space, for it is well known that the quality of the sap from trees standing too close together is thin. Even when trees are thick, if the soil is most abundant sap may be had, but the sap is like the milk from sloped cows. It takes between four and five gallons of good sap to make a gallon of sirup in a proper apparatus, and a gallon of sirup will make eight pounds of sugar. But where the sap is thin it will require double the amount—sometimes more than double—to produce the same quantity of sugar.

In a well ordered bush of thirty trees to the acre the product, taking one year with another, will run not much below ten pounds of sugar to the tree. The ordinary bush that receives no care and is tapped in ignorant fashion, will produce no more than three pounds to the tree. The product of the well ordered bush can be set down, therefore, as 300 pounds of sugar to the acre, for which the farmer can get at the very least ten cents a pound right on the ground where it is made. If he got $10 or $12 an acre for hay from the same ground, or say $15 for oats or wheat, he would think he was getting rich hand over fist. At the same time the labor of tapping the crop of sugar would be much less expensive than the work of making a crop of oats.

The best apparatus for making maple sugar from the sap is the modern condenser used in making condensed milk. On the Western Reserve they have a condensed milk factory where milk is handled in the same regular milk season. Formerly this factory stood idle in cold weather until say the 1st of May. But now along at the end of February the farmers begin to tap the trees in the sugar bushes. The taps are iron spiles driven into a half-inch hole. The sap runs into covered pails made for the purpose. It is gathered from the pails into a bucket and driven from the bush to the factory, where it is weighed in as milk is. The sap is then boiled in a vacuum condenser. It comes out the most beautiful sirup imaginable. The farmer gets his proportion of this sirup less a percentage for the boiling. The sirup sells readily at the factory at $1.50 a gallon. Ordinary sirup from the pails averages $1.10.

The modern sugar bush, if of any extent, requires quite a little capital. The spiles are steel tubes, and the pails are useful for nothing else. A house must be built to cover the boiling pan. The boiling pan must be set in a brick furnace in such a way that no direct fires reaches it—in fact it ought to be set in a tank of water, so that the sirup will be cooled by the water. There must be a big tank in this house to hold the sap, and a number of tin pipes should be laid from it to other tanks at convenient points in the bush, so that the sap can be run, instead of carried, into the house. It is customary to gather the sap in barrels placed on a sled, which a horse draws through the bush, but this is wasteful, for much sap is spilled by the jolting and frequent rehandling. One inventor proposed to run pipes lines to all the trees, but that scheme was a failure.

There are trees that yield as high as twenty pounds of sugar in a season, and that average for many years at a stretch from twelve to fifteen pounds. There is one tree at Preston, Pa., that has been tapped regularly every year since 1790. Sugar from it was sent to Gen. Washington, and the family owning it have made a like present of it to every president since his time. It is the patriarch of maples. The ordinary maple, however, is good for twenty-five seasons, after which it should be used for firewood. Meantime a tree to take its place should have been raised.

Of course, the manner of gathering the sap and boiling it has been greatly improved since the days when trees were tapped by gashing them with an ax and allowing the sap to flow from the gash over a chip into a trough made from a log. There are no spruce and birch and hemlock sawed up twigs in the modern sap, and no sap bugs and flies to be skimmed out. The sirup is now well high as colorless as the sap itself, but sometime the old heads like me do not find it quite so much to our taste as it was in the old days. The marketable value of the old sort is less, but there was something about the leaves and twigs that are so carefully excluded now that did not hurt the flavor a cent's worth.—New York Sun.

More About the Boomerang.

Horace Baker, who studied the subject carefully in Australia, describes "The Black-fellow and His Boomerang" in Scribner's. "This curious and unique weapon," he says, "about which so much has been written and so little is really known, is a curved piece of wood, slightly convex on one side and nearly flat on the other. It is cut from a natural bend or root of a tree, the hardest and heaviest wood being always selected, and its curve follows the grain of the wood. Thus it will vary from a slight curve to nearly a right angle, no two ever being the same shape. It is about three-eighths of an inch thick, and from two to three inches wide, tapering toward the ends, which are either round or pointed. The edge is sharpened all around, and the length varies from fifteen inches to three and a half feet."

BURIAL TREATMENT.

A Remarkable but Seemingly Successful Remedy for Rheumatism.

"I saw that man buried forty years ago." The remark was made by Sergt. Curtright a few days since, and as he spoke he pointed to a sturdy looking man of middle age who was walking down the street.

"How was that, sergeant?" "Well, it is a curious story. On a farm adjoining the one on which I was born lived old Uncle Billy Christian, a good man and true as ever lived. Uncle Billy had a son who was a good deal older than myself. This young man was unfortunately afflicted with acute inflammatory rheumatism. All over his body his flesh was just like a boil, and he suffered agonies and tortures untold. Old Uncle Billy owned a woman called Aunt Betty, who was famous all over the community as a weaver. One day I was sent over there to get some weaving that she had done for our family, and while there I saw young Christian buried.

"Somebody told the family that if they would dig a hole and bury young Christian in the earth for forty-eight hours, first putting on him a mixture of turpentine and other home-brewed medicine, it would cure him. Like anybody else, they decided to try the remedy as a last resort, and they went to work to carry out the heroic treatment prescribed. Well, sir, when I got there they had dug the hole and placed the poor fellow in it, all but his head, which was above ground, and after packing the dirt around him, they remained to watch the effects of the cure. He endured the confinement for the prescribed period, although suffering intensely during the whole time, and when they took him out he hardly looked like the same man. But from that day forward he began to improve. The rheumatism disappeared, he began to fatten up, and finally became as sound and hearty as any man in the community."

"That is the man!"

"That is he. Years have passed since then, and Christian lives today, a striking testimony of the efficacy of the burial treatment in cases of inflammatory rheumatism."—Atlanta Constitution.

Petroleum for the Farmer.

The true use of kerosene oil or petroleum upon the roofs and about other parts of the poultry houses is very good for the extermination or prevention of lice. It is an excellent plan to buy a quantity of it at a time so as to have it ready at all times for other useful purposes. It can be obtained in barrels and half barrels.

A little applied to a rusty bolt, or clinging out, or a rusty screw will start them, or a drop will take the music out of a creaking hinge. Applied to tools, it prevents rust and helps to remove that already gathered. For paint to be used about farm buildings and fences, it is an improvement to mix a little with the usual linseed oil. It not only cheapens it, but makes it spread more freely and strike in more thoroughly, as it is very penetrating and acts as a preservative to all wooden surfaces to which it is applied.

There is nothing better to soften a stiffened piece of leather, and cotton cloth for hotbeds or awnings can be made nearly waterproof by giving it a coating of the oil occasionally. The crude petroleum is better than refined for all these purposes, as it is more penetrating, and consequently more lasting as well as much cheaper. For one who has to use it for any purpose like the tarring of roofs and gets it on the hands, nothing will start it like the petroleum.—New York Journal.

Sunday in Bombay.

A paper in The Harvest Field gives a remarkable account of the interest manifested in Bombay in regard to the protection of the Sabbath as a day of rest. It seems that it was proposed to change the day of the sailing of the mail steamer for England to Sunday, and the proposal has been vigorously opposed not only by the chamber of commerce, the corporation of the city and by a monster petition, but a great demonstration was made in the town hall, which was packed to overflowing by representative Christians, Jews, Parsees, Mohammedans and Hindus. A Parsee lawyer spoke of the Sabbath as "an inheritance which has worked itself into the common life of the city, and which contributes in no small measure to the preservation of its welfare."

Interesting Trees.

Which is the highest tree? The plane tree. What tree keeps order best? The birch and the elder.

Which tree doesn't like jokes? The just-ice chestnut.

Which is the most sociable tree? The tea tree.

What tree don't do to sit under and tell secrets? The peach tree.

What tree is best in a bottle? The cork tree.

What tree do you like to kiss? Tulips.

What tree requires consolation? The weep-log willow.

What tree reminds you of a smart sea-skin? The spruce fir.

Which is the nicest tree we know? Yew.

The Difference.

When things go wrong with a man he can neglect his barber for a day or two and forget the brilliantine for his mustache, and grow black and hollow around the optics, and ten to one he will simply seem in female eyes "so beyond an interesting you know." But a woman may have a thousand growing devils at her heart strings and she's obliged to put on just so much poudre de riz, and to pull out the gray hairs on her temple, and pinch the wrinkles out between her eyes just the same, or she's handed over to the world by her hundred most intimate friends as "such a wreck, my dear," and the jury on the case, and even her lawyer, begins to find excuses for the husband.—New York Mercury.

Planting Trees Upside Down.

It is sometimes said that the branches of very old trees are, properly speaking, roots, and that if planted upside down the trees would flourish. Herr Kay, a German botanist, has recently investigated the matter by planting vines and ivy with both ends in the ground and subsequently cutting them at the ground. The experiments were fairly successful, though not in every instance, and Herr Kay intends to continue them with other plants and trees, such as willows, poplars and roses.—New York Telegram.

The Origin of the Word Sterling.

The origin of the word sterling is very curious. Among the early miners of coin in northern Europe were the dwellers of eastern Germany. They were so skillful in their calling that numbers of them were invited to England to manufacture the metal money of the kingdom. These strangers were known as "Easterlings." After a time the word became "sterling," and in this abbreviated form it has come to imply what is genuine in money, plate or character.

From an investigation made by the Illinois state board of agriculture, it turns out that the farmers there have received for their corn yield of 247,980,000 bushels 10,000,000 less than the cost of production, reckoning in the latter item 7 per cent interest on the amount invested in land.

LONG LEAF PINE LANDS ACCESSIBLE TO RIVERS AND RAILWAYS.

The Mobile & Ohio Railroad now have more than 200,000 acres ranging in price from $1.25 to $4.00 per acre situated along the line of the railway, for sale in tracts to suit purchasers. Oak timber of the best quality in large tracts from $1.25 to $4.00 per acre. There is also millions of acres of fine government pine subject to homestead entry and preemption along the line of the Mobile & Ohio. These lands are situated in a strip about thirty miles wide, along the line of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad, from North-eastern Mississippi to Southern Alabama.

BUY NOW!

Why? Because the price for good pine is lower to-day than it ever will be again. These Long Leaf Pine lands are accessible to water and are advancing with the increasing southern immigration faster than land anywhere in Michigan. This is not wild, but a plain statement of Facts susceptible of proof. More than four million acres of Long Leaf Pine was purchased by Northern Capitalists from 1882 to 1889 principally by Michigan men—who has nearly doubled in value in that time.

Thousands of acres of cheap grazing, Farming and Fruit Lands, values increasing more rapidly than any portion of the land in Michigan. Situated in a fine, healthy climate—less than six weeks moderately cold weather and free from excessive heat within any year. One of the large cities of the country, good water and plenty of timber. Why settle way out west on the treeless prairie, when the railroads dictate the price you shall pay for fuel and lumber and compel you to take a long drive to your farm produce?

Settle where the rivers will always rival the railroads and thus prevent excessive rates of freight on all products.

Freight rates an item of importance to every farmer and planter.

Many navigable streams traverse the land grant of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad.

The prairie lands of Eastern Mississippi—no finer agricultural lands in the world.

High Rolling tablelands, destitute of timber, deep alluvial soil, situated along the line of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad.

These lands, before the war, found a ready sale at from $50 to $80 per acre; they can now be purchased at $2.00 to $10 per acre.

The great decline was caused by the freedom of the slaves. They are rapidly attracting the attention of northern capitalists, who will soon be brought back to their former price.

Clover and other tame grasses do well here. Good corn country, within easy reach of sea

An Excellent Example.
It will be seen from the telegraph columns what the enterprising village of St. Ignace has done toward promoting her industries. Chances were offered her of advancement and her enterprising citizens promptly availed themselves of the opportunity. If St. Ignace can do so much what cannot Marquette do?
The rational encouragement of manufacturers does not necessarily mean the payment of bonuses. Other means more legitimate, more business-like and in the end more satisfactory can be used. It is time for Marquette to wake up and show her metal.

TALK OF THE TOWN.
Snow.
The Dickens club will meet at Mrs. Markham's at 3 o'clock this afternoon.
Marquette lodge, F. & A. M. gives the ninth of its series of socials this evening. Dancing begins at 8:30 o'clock sharp.
Workmen were busy yesterday tearing down Pickard's large coal shed to make room for the approach to the new ore dock.
About half the population of Escanaba was in Marquette yesterday. The household fever seems to be severely afflicting that thriving suburb.
Now is the time for nocturnal pedestrians to look to their ice-creepers. The warm days that the snow and the chill evenings leave many sidewalks a glare of ice, so that falls are likely to be numerous.
Travelers from the Soo yesterday reported the weather to be perfectly beasting there, a heavy gale blowing and snow falling with it. Meanwhile Marquette was basking in the earliest smiles of spring.

E. P. Wilbur, traveling passenger agent of the Milwaukee & Northern railroad, now has a telephone in his office and will be pleased to furnish all desired information relative to his line. Call No. 157. 3-2823
The frame house which formerly stood on the south side of Washington near Fourth street has been purchased by Allen Cowden, an engineer on the South Shore, and was yesterday moved to the corner of Bluff and Third streets.
Bishop Vertin celebrated pontifical high mass in St. Peter's cathedral at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. There was a very large congregation. This mass cannot be celebrated by a priest of inferior degree to a bishop and requires a full complement of officers.

Fred Borchert, of the Falk, Jung & Borchert Brewing company of Milwaukee, was in the city yesterday, looking after the upper peninsula agency which will be handled by J. E. Ream. Mr. Borchert says his company will begin supplying beer to Marquette customers on April 1st.
The Russell Smith-Klingensmith contest was argued before Receiver Maynard and Register Royce yesterday, and a decision is expected next week. This case is considered by the homesteaders to involve many leading issues and a decision will be awaited with much interest, though whatever the outcome here an appeal will doubtless be taken.
Mrs. Annie Jenness-Miller, the apostle of artistic and helpful dress for women, will lecture at Odd Fellows hall on April 9th. She will exhibit a number of correct costumes, including the celebrated leglettes. During the exhibition of underwear in the latter part of the performance gentlemen spectators, if any be present, will be requested to retire.

During his recent absence in the east Sam Kaufman purchased a suit pattern with a history. It is off a piece of cloth woven by the Rock Mills of Rockville, Conn., in honor of the Washington inauguration centennial. On that occasion President Harrison and Vice-President Morton both wore suits made from this piece. It is said to be the finest piece of worsted ever turned out and is superior in texture and finish to the best English.
PERSONAL MOVEMENTS.
Mrs. Devereaux returned from the east yesterday.
Mrs. Charles E. Deane left for Chicago and the south yesterday.
E. M. Watson returned yesterday from a reunion at Orwasso of his old regiment, the First Michigan cavalry.
Mitchell De Haas, representative of the Manistique Lumber company at Bay Mills, was in the city yesterday.

THIS HEART OF MINE.
This heart of mine is sadly human,
And passion sweeps it oftentimes;
Shall earthly pleasures never fill it?
Or do I long for things sublime?
It flutters restless in my bosom,
As if it pined for salt and alone,
Is it the poet's soul within me?
That makes my spirit weep and moan?
My heart is empty of all pleasure—
Such pleasure as the world can give;
My path is shrouded still in darkness,
I've lived—and still—on hope I live.
My heart is tired with Hope's beguiling,
And Faith drops low with weary wing;
How long can Patience bear her burden?
When shall these tips of mine sing?

THE CAPTAIN'S SHAWL.
For ten years the old Midget farm house had stood empty, the snows of winter piling themselves up against the threshold in January, the tiny moss pinks peeping through the drifts of dead leaves when the bland May sunshine came; and when, one day, Capt. Ezekiel Midget was seen sitting on a wooden sidewalk, and sipping pipe, in front of the open door, the neighborhood all opened their eyes.
"Just come back from the east," said Deacon Robbins.
"Been a-lyin' with pashas and effendis," said John Jenks, who had once heard a lecture on the east.
"Makin' his fortune, I calculate," observed Billy Thaxter.
"Don't look much like it," said shrewd Mr. Munday. "He's got on the very same identical coat he wore when he went away. I'd know them brown buttons if I was to see 'em in Jerusalem. And he hasn't refused to signify and give his hat'n'y ain't been no attempt to mend the broken fences, nor patch up the sun walls on the place."
Capt. Midget had commanded the Nancy Belle, a fishing schooner which cruised from Maine to Florida, and during one of his voyages he had fallen in with the captain of a Turkish vessel, and allowed himself to be tempted into the far regions of the golden east.
After that all record ceased, except that the captain's having been seen by stray travelers, seated cross-legged on a cushion, smoking a prodigious chibouque, in the companionship of turbaned dignitaries and saluting shawls. But of all this the captain would bear no testimony.
"I did stay east a spell," was all that he would say, "but I can't say I liked it."
The captain's favorite niece, Lucy Ostrom, came down to Biddlingham to live with him, and settle his hat'n'y ain't been no attempt to mend the broken fences, nor patch up the sun walls on the place."
"I don't want things no different from what they be," said the thankless mariner.
"Oh, but you can't live so, uncle," said Mrs. Ostrom. "And Nathan would just as lief come down and live here, as to work in the shoe factory at Biddlingham."
The captain's attack of genuine Connecticut rheumatism accentuated Mrs. Ostrom's adoration, and Capt. Ezekiel made no further objection to the plan.
"Lucy's a good creature," said he. "I guess I'll let her have her own way."
"Uncle, is it true?" Mrs. Ostrom asked, one day.
"Is what true?" retorted the old man, slowly, rubbing his swelled fingers with pine scented liniment.
"About your having a genuine cashmere shawl that once belonged to a great begum in Wahwahah, in India?"
"Oh, uncle, which?" said Capt. Ezekiel.
"I left it in the bonded warehouse in New York," answered the old man.
"Was it very pretty, uncle?"
"Wal, it wasn't bad to look at."
Mrs. Ostrom's bright blue eyes sparkled.
"How I should like to see it!"
"Guess likely you would?" was the dry rejoinder.
"Uncle!"
"Wal!"
"What are you going to do with it?"
Capt. Ezekiel screwed up his face.
"Wal, I was calculatin' to hev it sold at auction at Biddlingham, Friday week," he answered slowly. "If you'd fetch a deal of money, that shawl. It'll sort o' colors, and that fine ye can drop it through a weddin' ring, if so ye've a mind to it."
"Dear me!" said Mrs. Ostrom.
The fame of the begum's shawl spread all through the place. Every woman in Biddlingham had some question to ask, or some statement to make, in regard to it. Not a soul but secretly determined to put in a bid for the treasure.
"It's too bad you've had such ill luck this in her eyes," said Mrs. Ostrom, with tears in her eyes. "I'd 'a' liked that 'ere shawl!"
"Well, well, Lucy, 'tain't everybody can have what they want in this world," said honest Nathan.
But in his secret heart he determined to draw his slender balance out of the Biddlingham Savings bank, and have a try at the prize coveted so ardently by his hard worked wife.
Her brother, Squire Samuel Gripps, also made the same resolve.
"Lucy shall hev that shawl if you'll buy it!" said he. "She's always wanted a shawl. Miss Gripps, she's too short and stout for that sort of thing, or else I guess she'd strike for the begum's shawl, too."

Printed circulars relating to the eastern treasure were tacked up on all the corner stores and upon the trees in front of the school houses, churches and toll gates, and when at last the all important day arrived, there was a crowd almost equal to that which was wont to assemble on the occasion of camp meetings and circuses.
Squire Samuel Gripps had authorized Bela Smith to bid on his behalf.
Mr. Ostrom, unwilling to be identified by his wife, engaged little Miss Peck, the dressmaker, to represent his interests.
Other householders, maidens and matrons, were there assembled, each and all determined to possess themselves of the scented Oriental treasure, which they then beheld for the first time.
A visible thrill passed through the throng as Jethro Dumbleby, the village auctioneer, held up the richly hued fabric.
"Come, gentlemen an' ladies," bawled Jethro, "here's a shawl worn by the lady of the president of our eastern kentries as worth its weight in gold! Here's the Begum Radjee's shawl! Look at it—feel it. Come, gentlemen an' ladies, who'll start the begum's shawl as it order be started."
"Fifty dollars!" bawled Dr. Drummond, who was supposed to have made a fortune in natural gas in Pennsylvania.
"Sixty!" hoarsely shouted Mr. Mudge, the dry goods man.
"Seventy!" piped Miss Peck.
"Eighty!" yelled Bela Smith.
From this the bidding ran up, after a most spirited fashion, to two—three—four hundred dollars. There it stood for a while, until Dr. Drummond, with a desperate effort, raised it to five hundred.
Mr. Mudge whispered with his wife, and nodded to the auctioneer to make it six.
Miss Peck withdrew, in obedience to a whispered signal from Mr. Ostrom.
"Seven hundred," said the squire in bold defiance of Mrs. Gripps' negative shakes on the head.

"Seven hundred and fifty," said Mr. Jenkins, of Jenkins Hall.
"One—thou—sand!" bawled Nicodemus Slose, a recently prosperous resident, who had built a rubber factory in the ravine under the hill.
"A dead silence fell on all the crowd. With one accord they stared at Mr. Slose, who stood there sleek, smooth shaven and smiling, his hat on the back of his head, his hands thrust into his pockets—Midias in a Nineteenth century costume.
"One thousand dollars is bid for this priceless treasure!" said Jethro Dumidley.
"Wal, I'll give me more! It's given away at one thousand dollars, actually given away. I'm waitin' to hear some one say seven hundred!"
But no one uttered the magic words. The begum's shawl was knocked down to Nicodemus Slose at $1,000. His rich dyes and scented wool scented folds were extinguished in a quaint eastern box, fastened together by old ivory rings, and carried off by Mr. Slose in a poudrous close carriage, drawn by two shining horses.
"I declare, it is too bad," said Squire Gripps.
Mr. Ostrom sighed and turned away.
"Wal, I've lost a thousand dollars," said he, "but I would have admired to see Lucy wearin' of that shawl."
Mrs. Slose appeared in church the next Sunday wrapped in the historic garment. Her strut was that of an overfed turkey hen; her attitude none seemed to plow the air like the tail of some aerial boat.
Mrs. Ostrom had on her faded black beaver jacket, worn shiny at the seams. She was rather low spirited when she returned home.
"Mrs. Slose did look lovely in that shawl," said she.
"Humph!" remarked Mr. Ostrom, "I can't fancy Lovely Slose lookin' lovely in anything."
"Would you like a shawl, Lucy?" asked Capt. Ezekiel, looking with a kindly regard at his niece.
Mrs. Ostrom admitted that she would.
The captain went upstairs to his trunk, and brought down a flat parcel.
"Wal, I've bid for it," cried the gnomish begum's shawl for a year. Lucy, to her shawl was one I got of a dealer in the Punjab valley—no great amount, anyway, although I allow it was cheap at a thousand dollars. This 'ere's worth five if it's worth a cent, and it's the real begum shawl, Lucy, my gal. And it's ye own!"
Mr. Ostrom put on his spectacles to stare at it. Mrs. Ostrom burst into tears.
"Why," cried she, "it's beautiful! Mrs. Slose's can't hold a candle to it!"
"I guess not," shrewdly spoke the captain.
And Mrs. Ostrom's shawl so far outshone Mrs. Slose's, that night at church, that the latter went into violent hysterics as soon as she reached home.
"To think of that Ostrom woman wearin' a handsome shawl than mine!" said she.
"I'll hev the law of 'em!" cried Nicodemus.
But he did not. His case, as Counselor Jenkins informed him, "hadn't a leg to stand on."
The only he bought was a begum's shawl, safe enough," said Capt. Ezek

Base Ball News.
A meeting of the directors of the Ishpeeming Base Ball association was held at the office of A. B. Eldredge Wednesday night. Mr. A. B. Eldredge was elected president, D. D. Randall secretary, and H. H. Mildon treasurer of the association, and the president was instructed to draw up the articles of association.

The directors are A. B. Eldredge, William Mockler, Thos. Walters, Geo. E. Voyer, D. D. Randall, E. E. Osborn and H. H. Mildon.
The capital stock of the association was increased from 200 shares to 300 of the par value of $25 each. This was necessary, as more stock than was originally contemplated had been sold, and many parties had asked for stock after all was disposed of. This increases the strength of the association very much.

It was decided to call for twenty per cent of the par value of the stock in cash, payable on or before April 15th. This will put $1,500 in cash in the treasury. It was also decided to issue coupon tickets for the season, for $3.50 each, these carrying admission to the grand stand. A large number of these tickets will be sold at once, and the club will begin the season with fully $3,000 in cash on hand.

Arrangements were made for a conference between the directors of the base ball association, and the directors of the Union Park association, at which arrangements will be made for the use of the grounds for the season.
Negotiations are now pending for the engagement of a manager. A good man will be hired, and will be required to devote his whole time and attention to the work of the club. The matter of engaging a team will be put in the hands of the manager, the directors reserving the advisory power. At least ten professional ball players will be hired, and special attention will be given to getting a battery that will equal anything in the northwest, except in the crack clubs of the large cities. The association is in such shape financially that it can afford to hire players who understand their business.

The schedule as arranged by the convention will stand. The arrangement of games is very favorable to the clubs of this city and Negaunee. Inasmuch as the games to be played by the clubs of the league will attract immense crowds the South Shore railroad should make some special arrangements for the season. Short line trains should be run between Ishpeeming and Negaunee, with a stop at the grounds, which are midway. A special rate for the clubs would also be appreciated.

Ishpeeming is after that pennant, and Ishpeeming is going to have it.
A Prohibition Speech.
Under the auspices of the Ishpeeming Prohibition club, ex-Governor John P. St. John, of Kansas, will speak at the City Opera House on Thursday evening, April 30, at 8 o'clock. At 10 o'clock Friday morning he will speak at the salvation army barracks.

Governor St. John is undoubtedly the foremost representative of the third party, and as an advocate and exponent of its principles he is equally prominent. He is a fine speaker, and the opportunity of listening to a gentleman of his prominence and ability will doubtless be taken advantage of by many citizens, irrespective of party affiliations. Ladies will be welcomed at both of the meetings, and the public is cordially asked to be present.

Planting Trout.
The fish commission, under the fostering care of the general government, has done much good, and those who scoffed at its work a few years ago are now to be found among its most earnest supporters. The work of stocking the lakes and streams near Ishpeeming was begun about three years ago, the Ishpeeming fish commission of which Messrs. W. F. Swift, G. A. Newett and P. H. Devine are the principal officers, taking charge of the distribution here.

A lot of young trout, estimated at 55,000 were received by express yesterday from the hatchery. Part of them were placed in the Escouaba river, and the balance were planted in Lake Sally. At one time Lake Sally will supply with brook trout, but they were fished out. The lake has a clear, gravelly bottom, and the young fish should thrive in it. The local commission is entitled to the hearty thanks of all sportsmen and anglers for the interest that it is taking in stocking the streams and lakes with young fish.

Elevating the Flags.
The flags received for the city school buildings are being hung to the breeze. The three flags arrived a month or more ago, but the contractor who agreed to furnish the poles was dilatory, and has just got them in place.

The flag for the Division street school was run up Wednesday, and the flag on the High school building yesterday. The Salisbury school will have its flag up Saturday.

There was no particular order of exercises observed, but young America of both sexes, and of all sizes from the smallest up, was on hand, and the yelling was patriotic enough to satisfy the most pronounced lover of his country.

The idea of flinging the American flag to the breeze from the top of every school building in Michigan was original with the Detroit Tribune, and that paper has done all in its power to have flags secured by every school. The daily sight of the stars and stripes will do no harm to the youth of the country.

Good Boy Wanted.
We want some good boys to take routes in Ishpeeming for the delivery of the DAILY MINING JOURNAL. The work is not hard, and a good boy can do it easily. Applications for places will be in order to-day. The earlier the call the better the chance of getting a job.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF
Tickets are on sale for the firemen's ball, and solicitors will call on the business public. The sale of tickets should be large.

Several good boys aged from 13 to 16 can find jobs that will pay them well for an hour's work a day by calling at the Ishpeeming office of the MINING JOURNAL, in the Peninsula bank block.

The advertisement of Mr. J. H. Quinn, in this issue, is intended for the perusal of the lady readers of the paper. It is prominent and plain-spoken enough to tell its own story.
The proposition to enlarge the fire engine house so as to afford sleeping quarters in the building for six to ten firemen meets with general approval. The idea is one that should be carefully considered by the powers that be.

Fisher & Mack, the Detroit artists, have removed their branch office in this section from 213 Main street, Ishpeeming, to 229 Superior street, Marquette. The firm has done a large business here, and Mr. Mack will continue to attend to the Ishpeeming part of it, with headquarters at the Garfield House, corner of Pearl and First streets.

REMARKABLE RESCUE.
Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption, and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottle of this Grand Discovery at H. H. An Announcement.
I wish to call the attention of the ladies of Ishpeeming and vicinity to my millinery department, which has just been reopened for the spring season with as complete a line of these goods as was ever shown by any house on the peninsula. As this is our first spring season you can depend upon finding in our stock only the latest patterns. Miss Roswell, lately of Edson, Keith & Co., Chicago, will have charge of the department. This lady has established the reputation of being a first-class trimmer, and comes to me direct from the pattern rooms of the largest millinery house in the country.

Respectfully,
J. H. QUINN.
A FEW PLAIN QUESTIONS.
Do you want to get rid of that Headache that bothers you so much? Do you want to drive away that Incipient Catarrh that is settling itself in your head? Do you want to change that Sallow and Blochy Complexion for a skin that is bright and clear? Do you want to keep your mind clear, your breath sweet, and your blood pure? Then Pe-ru-na is the thing you need. Now is the time of the year when you need something that will make your blood pure and keep you free from those many Spring Complaints to which all are so subject. Of course, if your Catarrh has become chronic, or the Impurities in your blood have developed into a Disease, then Pe-ru-na should be taken, and taken at once. Otherwise Pe-ru-na is all that you need, supplemented always, however, by Man-a-lin, to keep the Bowels in good condition. These three medicines—Pe-ru-na, La-cu-pia and Man-a-lin—no household can afford to be without. $1 a bottle. For sale by H. H. STAFFORD & SON.

THAT BASE BALL PENNANT.

Marquette Will Lose It to Ishpeming Unless She Gets On a Very Swift In-Shoot.

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY HOWELL VISITS HIS FRIEND HOLZHAY.

His Opinion on Ironwood Advocate Slayton Bureau Must Fulfill Contract—Citizens' Association Directors Begin Work.

Marquette Must Hustle.
This city has been reposing in sweet sloth and dreaming of the time when the gorgeous pennant of the upper peninsula base ball league should adorn her flag staff. Meanwhile Ishpeming has been hard at work and is exhibiting the enthusiasm and ready cash that will surely land her a winner. As will be seen by reference to that department Ishpeming has subscribed $7,500 toward organizing and maintaining a base ball team. Twenty per cent of this amount has been paid in and season tickets at $3.50 are going off like hot cakes in a blizzard.

The end of this enterprise will be that Ishpeming, having the most money, will secure the best players and win the pennant. Hancock or some other copper town where the athletic young miners play base ball for glory and with all their might will come in a good second and Marquette will fall in gloriously in the rear, the scorn of her envious neighbors.

The Marquette Base Ball association must get its hustling clothes on and this city must second heartily the efforts of the managers. Those in charge of the affair have the will to put up good ball and the ability to manage affairs to a successful issue. But it's money that makes the mare travel and likewise a base ball team. It is not yet too late to organize victory. Shall Ishpeming take that pennant or shall Marquette?

Visited His Dear Friend Holzhay.
Prosecuting Attorney Charles M. Howell, of Gogebic county, yesterday made his first visit to the branch state prison, at this place, and saw Bandit Holzhay, and some of the other prisoners who have been sent over from his county. In conversation with a MINING JOURNAL reporter, Mr. Howell said:

"I never had met Warden Tompkins, so the visit was doubly interesting to me, as I was anxious to make the acquaintance of the official who, so recently, in the discharge of duty, had displayed such admirable judgment and coolness, and such excellent marksmanship, under circumstances that were much more trying than is generally thought. Mr. Tompkins kindly devoted some time to show me through the great institution, and I must say, so far as an institution of that kind can be regarded as a credit to civilization, it certainly is one of which the people of this state may well be proud. Its modern equipment throughout, however, and its merits generally are so well known that comment is superfluous."

"You saw Holzhay?"
"Yes, I saw and talked with him, as he was lying on the couch in his cell. Warden Tompkins offered to have him brought out, as he is perfectly able to be around, but I preferred not to disturb him unnecessarily, as I dare say he has no affection for me. His quarters, like all throughout the prison, are comfortable, light and neat. Holzhay responded civilly to the few questions I asked him, but he was not, and I understand he seldom is, in a communicative mood. He has lost some flesh, apparently, to say nothing of the missing four fingers from the right hand, and he looks paler than when I last saw him during the trial at Bessemer. Of course, he is badly disabled now, but no one who has had any chance to study Holzhay's nature will entertain the thought for a moment that he will lay no more desperate plans to escape."

"How is it about the assertion in one of the Ironwood papers, and telegraphed from Bessemer to some of the Detroit and Chicago dailies, to the effect that there is a growing sentiment against Warden Tompkins for having shot off Holzhay's fingers?" inquired the reporter.

"There is absolutely no basis or foundation of any kind for such an absurd claim. Except in the Ironwood paper referred to, and the dispatches mentioned, I have seen and heard nothing but the highest praise of Mr. Tompkins for his conduct in the matter. Why, if the people of Gogebic county were to vote on the question of the justification of Warden Tompkins' action, I don't think there would be over two votes in the county against him, and even those would not be cast against him, in my opinion, if the editor of the Advocate and the other person I have in mind voted according to their real convictions. As I view the episode, Warden Tompkins is entitled to universal commendation for his course, and I think he is, practically, receiving it. I would like to have you state, if you publish anything I have said in this connection, that it is entirely unsolicited by Mr. Tompkins. He very naturally made some inquiries of me regarding the alleged sentiment against him, but he neither requested nor suggested that I say anything on the subject publicly."

An Entertaining Lecture.
Col. L. F. Copeland, of Harrisburg, Pa., delivered the fourth of the series of lectures at the Methodist church last evening before a crowded house. His subject was "Snobs and Snobbery" and he handled his theme in a manner both educational and entertaining. He defined snobbery as the attempt to establish a caste or class and took up in turn the money snob, the fashionable snob, the religious snob, the prudish snob and the would-be aristocratic snob who took for his coat of arms a lion rampant when it should have been a codfish dormant. The speaker is an impressive and interesting orator; his discourse abounded in jeweled sentences, flashes of humor and touches of pathos and was frequently interrupted by laughter and applause.

At the conclusion of the discourse Mr. Pillsbury announced that the Slayton bureau of Chicago had failed to keep its contract to furnish the Meigs Sisters for a concert. The Schubert quartette had been offered as a substitute. This is an excellent organization and was satisfactory to the managers here. Now the bureau is trying to back out of sending the Schuberts. Mr. Pillsbury said an effort will be made to secure the concert as announced. If this could not be done a proportional amount would be refunded to the ticket holders. If the Slayton bureau does not remember pretty soon that a contract must be lived up to, that institution is likely to have a lawsuit on its hands. Marquette cannot be trifled with.

Work Going Well.
The directors of the Citizens' Association held a well-attended meeting yesterday and took active steps to carry out the instructions of the meeting of last Monday evening. The work of the association in advertising the industrial advantages of Marquette was fully discussed and immediate operations agreed upon. For headquarters of the association several locations were discussed and the matter finally left to a committee consisting of Messrs. Call, Palmer and Vannier, with power to act.

It was resolved to wire Messrs. White and Burt, who are now in Washington, asking them to secure a hearing before the proper committee and set forth the needs of Marquette harbor. A series of resolutions and a memorial from the Citizens' association to congress will be sent these gentlemen at once that their efforts may be properly backed up. The secretary was authorized to secure needful books and stationery for his office at once. An arrangement is pending by which every business letter leaving Marquette shall carry with it a succinct statement of this city's industrial advantages.

Played for a Sucker.
An old and respected citizen of Marquette played upon his son yesterday a joke that would be unkind if it were not so funny. Meeting the young man on the street the father remarked:

"I just came from the train and there's a whole car-load of suckers down there, bound for the homestead country."
The young man is considerably interested in homestead matters and so rushed down to the station, hot-foot, to learn about the latest deal. On his arrival he found the "crowd of suckers" to be composed of 40,000 brook trout contained in the government fish car and bound for L'Anse, where the fish-lets will be deposited in Silver and Slate rivers. The son is now laying for a chance to play even with his dad.

Heralds of Spring.
Though Sergeant Dent predicts snow for to-day yet the air is full of signs of spring. At least numerous small boys seem to think so for a lot of them were playing ball on Pine street yesterday. The Marquette small boy has peculiarities which differentiate him from the urchin of other localities. He will play marbles when the snow is three feet deep and trace the ring in the icy slush, but he waits until decided symptoms of spring break out before chasing the flying sphere.

Untimely mosquitos, doomed to a brief existence and a chilly death, have begun to appear on Dead river. Yesterday Electrician Fitzpatrick captured two full-grown and ferocious specimens out at the electric light station. Perhaps the constant generation of powerful electric currents may have in a manner forced the spring in that vicinity.

Marquette weather has been much milder this winter than that in other portions of the upper peninsula. The prospects are that this spring, as always, navigation will be open here while the Sault Ste. Marie river is locked in ice and consequently impassible.
