First—It insures good feeling and better digestion.
Second—It makes you think more of your own affairs and less of your neighbors.
Third—It makes your husband feel better, look handsomer and live longer.
Fourth—It makes him get up earlier, make better fires and go to church without grumbling.
Fifth—It makes him come home early in the evening and forget to go to the lodge or club.
Sixth—It makes the baby cry louder, cry less and grow fat.
Seventh—It makes the cold weather warmer, the rain seem a blessing and the mud a necessity.
Eighth—It makes dinner easier to get, makes the roast juicier, the bread lighter and the desert delicious.
Ninth—It makes everybody happier and better, healthier and wiser.
Therefore do it and make us happy and you will never regret it.

REPORTED A SUBSTITUTE.

The Judiciary Committee Hands In to the Senate Its Report on the Anti-Trust Bill.

DISCUSSION OF THE MONTANA ELECTION CASE BEGUN YESTERDAY.

Idaho Admission Bill Claims the Attention of the House—Democrats Attack the Mormon Clause of the Constitution.

THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Mr. Edmunds, from the judiciary committee, reported back the anti-trust bill in the form of a substitute, and said there was one section in the bill which he thought went further than it ought to go. Owing to a little necessity of health he would probably not be in town when the matter came up, but some other member of the committee would take charge of it. The resolution offered yesterday by Mr. Hale to change back the daily hour of meeting to 12 o'clock was taken up and passed. The conference report on the urgent deficiency bill was presented and agreed to. The senate then proceeded to the consideration of the Montana election case—the majority report being in favor of Wm. F. Sanders and Thomas C. Powers; the minority report in favor of William A. Clark and Martin Maginnis.

Mr. Gray, representing the minority of the committee, made a statement in support of the claim of Clark and Maginnis to be seated as the members of the senate from Montana. He commented upon the finding of the canvassing board of Montana which declares that no abstract of the votes had been received from Silver Bow county; that they had "exhausted the authority" given them by the statute in endeavoring to obtain it, and he argued that the canvassers had no authority to act on any information obtained from any source other than the election officers of the county, declaring he had never known such a bold and flagrant act of usurpation and that the members of the canvassing board of Montana (the governor, chief justice and secretary of the territory), should have been whipped at the cat tail in every county and town in the territory. The title to a yellow dog, he said, should not be decided on such a statement, much less the title to a seat in the United States senate.

Mr. George—Does that paper on which you have been commenting constitute the only credentials of the Silver Bow delegates?
Mr. Gray—I answer, most positively and on knowledge, that there is no other paper or writing of any kind whatever, pointed to by anybody as a credential, except that.

Mr. George—Is there any evidence in the record that the legislature, of which this iron hall house (the republican house) claimed to be a part, performed any legislative act or passed any law?
Mr. Gray—None whatever.

Mr. Teller—I must correct the senator from Delaware. There were various communications between the iron hall house and the senate.
Mr. Gray—Half of the senate.
Mr. George—Did they ever pass a law?

Mr. Teller—They did pass an appropriation bill.
Mr. Gray—The governor never recognized this iron hall house of representatives, but refused to recognize it and recognized the house which met at the court house, (the democratic house) as the lawful and rightful house of representatives.

Mr. Hoar—There is no other lawful evidence of the title of the governor or of any other state officer of Montana except this very canvass which the senator from Delaware says has no validity whatever.

Mr. Gray went on to denounce the "sneaking haste" with which the territorial canvassing board made its report and adjourned, with the full knowledge of the fact that a court of competent jurisdiction had issued a peremptory mandamus ordering an abstract of the votes in Silver Bow county to be made and furnished. Without concluding his argument Mr. Gray yielded the floor and the death of Representative Wibaux being announced the senate adjourned.

THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—After passing several public improvement bills the house proceeded to the consideration of the Idaho admission bill. Mr. Dorsey (Neb.), in charge of the bill, opened the debate with a speech in its favor. The only opposition to the admission of Idaho, he said, came from the Mormons. They protested against the provision in the constitution which disfranchises bigamists and polygamists and persons who are members of any association which encourages bigamy. Mr. Mansur (Mo.) disclaimed any sympathy with the institution of polygamy, but criticized the provision of the constitution disfranchising the Mormons. He said the real reason for disfranchising the Mormons was that the Mormons of Idaho voted the democratic ticket. It was not a question of principle but of expediency.

Mr. Dubois (Idaho) earnestly advocated the admission of the territory he represented into the brotherhood of states. Criticizing the minority report, he said that it proposed that bigamists and polygamists should vote in Idaho. What right had the members of the minority to impose upon Idaho conditions which never before had been imposed upon any state coming into the union. There was, he said, in Idaho a genius homo known as the "Jack Mormon," who, while denouncing polygamy and bigamy, obeyed all the behests of the Mormon priests. Were the gentle-

KAUL'S RECORD.

The Priest who Went into the Episcopal Ministry at Milwaukee Showed Up.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 2.—A few days ago the announcement was made that William J. Kaul, formerly a Catholic priest, had entered the Episcopal ministry. It caused much comment among the local Catholic clergy. Kaul, it was said in the reports, had left the Catholic church because he had lost faith in the tenets of the church. Sunday a priest arrived from Minnesota, who claimed to know Mr. Kaul very well. He said: "I am surprised that Mr. Kaul dared come to Milwaukee when there is a priest here who knew him in Pennsylvania, and is certain to recognize him. He had to leave his parish in Minnesota and fled with a girl of whom he became enamored. He took the girl to Chicago and when he told her he was going to join the Episcopal church she returned to Minnesota. She told an acquaintance that she had discovered his utter lack of principle." Archbishop Ireland, who is in the city, says Kaul committed the grossest immorality in Minnesota. He pocketed $1,300 of money belonging to his parishioners, and was driven from the ranks of the Catholic priesthood. The exposure by the Catholic priests causes a great sensation among the Catholics in this city.

Mr. Smith (Ariz.) earnestly denounced the action of the committee on territories in failing to report the bill for the admission of the territory he represented. His people had been unfairly treated. Arizona had every qualification for statehood which Montana, Dakota or Washington possessed. But the bill for her admission was to be smothered in committee, simply because she had seen fit to send a democrat to this congress. It was unfair treatment and he voiced the republican sentiment of the democratic sentiment of his territory in protesting against it. He was reminded of the invocation of the child who was going west. In concluding her prayer she said: "Good bye, God; I am going to Arizona in the morning." [Laughter.] The committee on territories said to him: "Good-bye, Smith, you are going to Arizona to stay simply because you are a democrat." [Laughter.] If he had a thousand votes he would cast every one of them for the admission of Idaho and Wyoming; but he appealed for fair play for the people he represented. The territory of New Mexico, with a population greater than that of Idaho and Wyoming combined, was also kept in the background. Was it because poor Joseph (the delegate) had started wrong in his youth and become a democrat?

Mr. Chipman (Mich.), while favoring the admission of all the territories, criticized the proposed constitution of Idaho as an invasion of sacred individual and religious rights. Polygamy was a crime which should not be tolerated, but the constitution closed to the accused the courts, the only sure asylum against passion and corruption. He was not an apologist for Mormonism. But there was a demagoguery of virtue, just as there was a hypocrisy of religion. To stand here and condemn Mormonism seemed to him to be a mean piece of business. There was no risk and no bravery. It was cheap and easy. He condemned polygamy, root and branch. If a Mormon was convicted of that crime he should be punished. But Mormons were American citizens and should be accorded the same rights as other citizens.

GENERAL GOSSIP.

The pan-American conference to-day unanimously adopted the following resolutions: "First, that an international American monetary union be established; second, that as a basis for this union an international coin or coins be issued which shall be uniform in weight and fineness, and which may be issued in all countries represented in this conference; third, that to give full effect to this recommendation there shall meet in Washington a commission composed of one or more delegates from each nation represented in this conference, which shall consider the quantity, the kind of currency, the uses it shall have and the value and proportion of the international silver coin or coins and their relations to gold; fourth, that the president of the United States invite this commission to meet at Washington in a year's time, or less, after the final adjournment of this conference."

A bill establishing a load line for vessels on the great lakes has been acted upon adversely in committee.

It is understood that the attorney-general will take an appeal from the decision of the court of claims, which makes the government responsible to the members of congress for the loss of salary through the Silcott defalcation.

NEGROES REFUSE TO WORK.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 2.—The condition of the flooded district on the Mississippi side, between Tunica and Greenville, remains unchanged. Prominent planters deprecate the sensational reports which have been sent out relative to the suffering of the people. They are able, they say, to take care of their hands without assistance and are offering them large wages to remain and work on the levees. But the negroes, with the prospect of being fed and cared for by the government and various relief expeditions, are indifferent and in some cases refuse to work at any price.

THE LOVES SURRENDER.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 2.—A letter to the American from Savannah, this state, says: Henry Love and his son, aged 10, have surrendered themselves to the sheriff for killing George Hodges, a blacksmith, living at Clifton, Wayne county. According to Love, Hodges came to his house about midnight, called him out and made a violent assault on him, knocking him down; when he called to his son to get a gun and shoot, which the boy did with fatal effect. The coroner ordered Em Mevey, Love's housekeeper, and her mother to jail.

CRUSADERS ON A CRUSADE.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 2.—A dispatch from Farmington, Mo., says: This morning the crusaders, headed by Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Foster, opened their campaign. Armed with sledge hammers they stopped Thomson's beer wagon and smashed six barrels, emptying the beer into the street. The women then took possession of the wagon and started for Delassus, four miles south, where a carload of beer, belonging to the Klausmann Brewing company, was side-tracked. They intended to destroy it. The saloon men are expecting a visit from the crusaders.

A FAST STOCK TRAIN.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 2.—A new schedule for a special stock train between Omaha and the East Liberty stock yards in this city has been arranged by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago railroads. The train will be made up of palace stock cars and will make the run in seventy-one hours, leaving Omaha every Thursday at 5 p.m. and arriving in this city Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. It is claimed that it will be the fastest stock train in the world.

SUCKERS BITE EASILY.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., April 2.—A young Englishman named James Potter arrived here yesterday. He had started for Walker's Station on the St. Clair branch of the Michigan Central railway, but discovered he was the victim of a fraudulent London agent, who, after receiving £50 of his money, secured him a position at Walker's Station on a farm to learn the business. Potter had Birchall's advertisement in his pocket and intended to correspond with him but made arrangements first with the firm which sent him out. He states that four or five others will follow him in a few days.

FATAL BOILER EXPLOSION.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 2.—A Sentinel special from Marshall, Ill., says: At Hutsonville, three miles south of here, yesterday morning, Hussong's heading mill was destroyed by the bursting of a boiler. Engineer Wilson was instantly killed. Mr. J. B. Hussong, the proprietor and one of the most prominent citizens of the place, was mortally hurt, as was also Alfred Jarrett. Six others were terribly injured, among them the son of Mr. Hussong.

CONFIDENCE OPERATOR ARRESTED.

BOSTON, April 2.—A man giving the name of W. H. Hodgson was arrested here to-day charged with attempting to obtain goods by false pretenses. He offered in payment a check on the Fort Dearborn National bank, of Chicago, where he claimed to have $3,000 deposited. Several letters were found on him which indicate that he is wanted in Chicago for forgery.

MARQUETTE, MICH., APRIL 3

UNDER date of April 1st Mr. M. F. Hannon, superintendent of ore docks for the Duluth & Iron Range R. R., notifies the MINING JOURNAL that his company opened its season on the ore docks at Two Harbors that day. The docks, possessing 40,000 tons capacity, will be filled prior to the opening of navigation. The company expects to ship 1,000,000 tons from its docks this year, or 200,000 tons more than last year.

THE current number of the North American Review represents the same unwearied care and liberal expenditure which have made the Review what it is. Among the most interesting features we note Admiral Porter's discussion on "Discipline in the Navy," Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott's paper entitled "Flaws in Ingersollism," Madame Adam's "Society in Paris," Bishop Whipple's account of his experience among the Indians, Hon. W. P. Breckinridge's continuation of the Gladstone-Blaine tariff discussion and Mr. Powderly's "Plea for Eight Hours."

MAYOR GRANT, it seems, can, like many another man, ascribe his downfall politically and socially to "a woman scorned." In his humbler days he was affianced to a young lady in New York city upon whom he turned his back when, largely through her father's financial aid, he achieved position and distinction in Tammany Hall. The old gentleman now gets back at him by revealing the secrets which have led to the investigation of his administration of the office of sheriff. The daughter seems to have relented after the full effects of the rumpus became apparent and induced her worthy sire to leave the city so that he would not be called upon to testify against Grant personally. Enough has been brought to light by the investigating committee, however, to end the Honorable Hugh's public career permanently and also to demonstrate the fact that "reformed Tammany" is the same corrupt organization it has ever been in the past.

THE Florence mine has 70,000 tons of ore in stock, against 22,000 tons at the opening of navigation one year ago. A large amount of new ground has been opened up this winter, and more work of this kind has already been planned for the ensuing summer. Drifting is rapidly progressing at the three or four levels of new No. 7 shaft, and No. 5 shaft has been sunk to the seventh level. An average of 1,000 tons is being hoisted daily, from the various Eagle and Florence shafts, and the average daily output will be materially increased before long. The new dry house is approaching completion, as is much of the other surface work at the big plant. The company intend to erect a mammoth new engine house during the coming summer, the building to be located in the vicinity of No. 7 shaft. Superintendents Porter and Beattie are personally conducting the extensive operations. The Florence 1890 output can safely be placed at 350,000 tons, indeed this is an exceedingly modest estimate.—Florence News.

NEWBERRY is rejoicing in the prospect of becoming a railroad center at an early date. The News gives the particulars of the plans by which the place will be given a direct route by rail to Lake Michigan by the extension of the Newberry narrow gauge to connect with the line leading up from Nubinway, a gap of only six or seven miles remaining to be filled. A new engine is being built for the road and rolling stock for both passenger and freight business will be ordered. Another aid to the growth of the town will be the extension of a branch of the same road to Monistique Lake, opening up a large tract of fine farming land which is naturally tributary to the Luce county metropolis. The News also states that the mill at Dollarville is to be converted into a manufactory for making hardwood furnishing and finishing material by the capitalists interested in the D. M. & M. land department and that it will be made one of the most complete plants of the kind in the state. The refuse will be used for charcoal.

WE have received the initial number of "The Peninsular State," a Detroit publication in magazine form which is devoted to the resources and enterprises of Detroit and Michigan. If the first number is a promise of future issues the Peninsular State will become a valuable agency in acquainting outside capitalists with the great natural resources of Michigan. It is very neatly gotten up, well edited and in its illustrations shows both talent and good taste. I. R. Stanford, the editor, says: "The object of this journal is to encourage the development of not only the city of our home, but every ambitious town and city in the state. We shall place ourselves in communication with all public improvement organizations, with enterprising men in every city, keeping our readers informed of all new enterprises projected or established, of all public improvements in our various cities, and as often as possible, every month we hope, present illustrated articles descriptive of our thriving towns. We shall give this journal not only a wide circulation within our own state, but at least equally so throughout the land. Our aim is to tempt capital and men of brains to come here, and we shall go after them."

THE SUPREME COURT.
The April term of the supreme court will convene next week Tuesday with 179 cases on the docket. Charles C. Hopkins, the clerk, has sent the MINING JOURNAL a list of those cases from the upper peninsula, which is given below.

At the opening of term the resolutions of the bar of the state upon the death of the venerable and beloved Judge Campbell will be presented, and eulogistic remarks made by the members of the bar and of the supreme bench. An unusually large attendance is expected. Governor Luce's appointment will probably take his seat at that time.

THE DECEMBER BOOM.
The Evening Wisconsin takes a very lugubrious view of the iron situation just now, judging from the appended editorial. Those nearest the eastern markets are much more cheerful in discussing the outlook.

There never was a business boom that was not followed by a reaction; business men know this so well that only speculators who thrive when business is abnormally active welcome even the semblance of a boom. The man who is in business to stay would rather have his trade spread out evenly than experience rushing seasons of activity with intervening periods of stagnation.

The vessel man who built his hopes on the basis of things in December last will undoubtedly find that he will have to lower his estimates of return on his floating investments. The boom which existed during the closing month of 1889, and which had strength sufficient to cause the marketing of 6,500,000 tons of ore, has been flat for several months, and iron ore has dropped in price, and buyers are dropping out of the market. A Cleveland correspondent of the Chicago Tribune says there are 800,000 tons of iron ore on the docks at Lake Erie ports which manufacturers have been unable to use, and the owners of mills seem to have no disposition to force business. This being the case, the vessel owners who placed their carriers at the season rates which prevailed in December last have exercised wise judgment; and the vessel men who failed to secure charters may be commiserated; while those who had an opportunity to charter their property at good rates, and refused to do so under the delusion common during booms that there is no top, may simply stand aside and hate themselves.

The iron market upon which so much depends is in an unhealthy condition, owing to the boom mentioned. Manufacturers so raised their views in regard to the season of 1890, that it seems like absolute surrender to lower them even to the beck of reason, and they are holding up their rates with a slender wand of hope. Pittsburgh dealers have been fighting against any admission that rates are weakening, and when circumstance has forced any such admission they have held their advertised quotations without change. It is only within a fortnight that they have permitted themselves to discuss the lowering market. Yet one of the leading brokers has the temerity to say: "I feel that we are now close to bottom, and that any future changes must be toward higher prices." But consumers are still buying sparingly, and the inclination on that side seems to be to wait for something favorable to turn up.

The general view of the iron trade is not satisfactory, and the attempt of the iron manufacturers to bolster the market against the reaction from the boom of last December will fail. The penalty must be paid. A wiser policy would be to accept the natural fluctuations, and cultivate healthful confidence on a lower level.

A FEW PLAIN QUESTIONS.
Do you want to get rid of that Headache that bothers you so much? Do you want to drive away that Incipient Catarrh that is settling itself in your head? Do you want to change that Sallow and Blochy Complexion for a skin that is bright and clear? Do you want to keep your mind clear, your breath sweet, and your blood pure? Then Pe-ru-na is the thing you need. Now is the time of the year when you need something that will make your blood pure and keep you free from those many Spring Complaints to which all are so subject. Of course, if your Catarrh has become Chronic, or the Impurities in your blood have developed into a Disease, then Pe-ru-na should be taken, and taken at once. Otherwise Pe-ru-na is all that you need, supplemented always, however, by Man-a-lin, to keep the Bowels in good condition. These three medicines—Pe-ru-na, Le-cornin and Man-a-lin—no household can afford to be without. $1 a bottle. For sale by H. H. STAFFORD & SON.

EPOCH.
The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health to the use of the Great Attractive and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing, you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50c and $1 per bottle at H. H. Stafford & Son's Drug-store.

NOTED AT NEGAUNEE.

McClear's Eloquence Convinced the Jury That White Was Indeed Shooting at the Dog.

Extensive Improvements to be Made at the Gas Works - New Photograph Firm. Odd Fellows' Celebration.

White Acquitted.

The examination of Thomas White, charged by Mrs. Elizabeth Jennings of an attempt to murder her, was set for yesterday morning, and at the hour appointed all interested parties, together with a large number of spectators, were on hand.

The various members of the jury put in an appearance with the exception of Charles Muek, Jr. An officer went for him a couple of times but he would not appear, claiming that his business interests would not permit him to be absent that day.

The trial then proceeded and occupied nearly the entire day. The prosecution presented a fairly strong case, but White's claim that his threatening language was addressed to a dog and not a woman, seemed to have considerable weight, judging from the outcome of the case.

Though acquitted of the charge White should profit by the lesson, for he was not wholly blameless in the affair.

Improvements at the Gas Works.

Mr. H. C. Higgins, of Negaunee, is expected to arrive in the city in a few days to superintend the putting in of a complete new plant of gas making apparatus at the works of the Negaunee Gas Light company.

Messrs. Smith & Steckbauer have secured the photograph gallery and business of Mr. Ed. Smith, and will conduct the business at the old stand.

The Odd Fellows.

The local lodge L. O. O. F. will entertain its upper peninsula brethren on the anniversary of the organization of the order April 26th.

Captain McNally, of the D. B. club has detectives at work to ferret out of conspiracy which it is believed exists in the camp.

The Breitling House boys came out on wheels yesterday. It was the first wagon of the season.

Miss Clara Sues, of Milwaukee, is visiting at the residence of her brother, Joseph E. Sues.

Miss D. A. Kruse arrived home yesterday from a three months' visit in Chicago.

The ward caucuses will probably be held to-night—the indications all point that way.

George J. Maas is confined to his house by a severe attack of quinsy.

Miss Nellie Yates returned to Marquette last evening.

The common council will be in session to-night.

Bargains! Bargains! Bargains!

I am closing out my entire stock of groceries, provisions, crockery and glassware, and now is the time for the people of Negaunee to buy goods in these lines at wholesale cost prices.

Interested Listeners.

An American lady who traveled alone through Europe, conversant with no language but her mother tongue, was asked on her return, "Did you really spend fourteen months in all sorts of foreign places and speak nothing but English?"

A traveler in Morocco gives, in "The Land of an African Sultan," the following account of a little occurrence which took place in the Sok, or principal street of Tangier, and which goes to corroborate the evident opinion of the American tourist, that it is a serious disadvantage not to be a linguist.

A well disposed elderly gentleman was visiting Tangier some years ago, before the country was opened as it is now. He, of course, went to the Sok and was overcome at the ignorance and bigotry of its inhabitants.

The guide, who knew the danger of such a proceeding, kept his own counsel, but pointed out the risk which he himself should run in interpreting the discourse. He demanded a proportionately large sum of money in payment, and this the benevolently inclined gentleman at once promised him.

Arrived in the Sok, the preacher mounted an empty case and began his sermon, and great was his delight to see the crowd gather quickly about him, as the guide interpreted his fervent sentences. Larger grew the crowd, and no one uttered a word, in breathless silence they listened to the end, and then departed, followed by the old gentleman.

Not many weeks later, a leading English paper published a long article on the missionary question in Morocco, and described the patience with which this crowd listened to a sermon on the Christian religion.

But the kindly old gentleman who preached that sermon, and afterward wrote the newspaper article, never knew that what the interpreter really delivered to these delighted Moslems was a story from the Arabian Nights.

One on "Old Hatch."

Whenever anything occurs over on the board of trade involving the name of B. P. Hutchinson, familiarly known as "Old Hatch," innumerable anecdotes of himself and his doings are raked up out of the misty past and banished about for the sake of the amusement they may create.

One of the best stories of Hatch relates to his presentation of a carpet to the Century club. It happened a long while ago, but is still fresh in the memory of all who know of it.

At the conclusion of the chat the millionaire speculator asked his humble friend what he could do for him. The man retorted his head and considered a while, and then remarked that if Mr. Hutchinson would buy him a carpet for the front room of his little flat he would be extremely grateful.

"Carpet!" echoed the old gentleman, "what's the matter with this carpet? Here, take it," and the philanthropic speculator proceeded to tear up with his own hands the somewhat shabby floor covering of the club.

The delighted dandy, fearful, perhaps, of a change in his benefactor's mind, sped away with his prize, and Mr. Hutchinson, calling a carriage, sped with even more rapidity up to his residence on Michigan avenue.

English Law. When Aaron Burr was in England, the Spanish minister asked for his extradition on the ground that he had been guilty of undertaking an expedition against the Spanish-American colonies.

Mr. Burr was summoned to appear, and was given an opportunity of making his own defense. He boldly declared and claimed his rights as a British subject under Magna Charta to remain unmolested in the country to which he owed allegiance.

THE PULPIT AND THE STAGE. Rev. F. M. Shroton, Pastor United Brethren Church, Blue Mound, Kan., says: "I feel it my duty to tell what wonders Dr. King's New Discovery has done for me. My lungs were badly diseased, and my parishioners thought I could live only a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery and am sound and well, gaining 25 lbs. in weight."

Arthur Love, Manager Love's Funny Folks Combination, writes: "After a thorough trial and convincing evidence, I am confident Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption beats ten all, and cures when everything else fails. The greatest kindness I can do my many thousand friends is to urge them to try it." Free trial bottles at H. H. Stafford & Son's Drug Store. Regular sizes 50c. and $1.00.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Fair weather. J. M. Underwood, the contractor, says he will begin work on the last section of the Dead River railroad next week and rush it through.

Phillip Pettit was drunk to the verge of seeing snakes in his boots. Recorder Meads yesterday gave him ten days in jail to sober up.

County Clerk Gad Smith left for Detroit and other points in the lower peninsula yesterday and will be absent about one week.

The homesteader who salted himself in a barrel of pig's feet was let yesterday on condition of returning to his pine farm at once. He went.

E. E. Stafford and Harry Mitchell have purchased lots in the Longyear property on Arch street and will, it is reported, erect residences there.

Thirty passengers for the Pacific coast went through on the South Shore yesterday. They traveled in one of the Great Northern's most elegant sleepers.

The chief for George Preston's new restaurant has arrived and the place will open up as soon as the carpenters and painters can be persuaded to get out.

Mrs. A. M. Adams, the Harlow block milliner, has returned from below with her stock of spring bonnets and trimmings. Her stock is the most stylish obtainable, as usual.

Miss Carrie Schwalm, the artistic trimmer at Miss Howard's millinery rooms, has returned from the east with plenty of 'new ideas, the latest styles and all the fashionable wrinkles in that line.

The St. Paul and Minneapolis passenger association has decided not to issue a new rate sheet until the present war is settled. A man can practically travel now for the size of his pile, be it large or small.

It is reported that Robert Peters, of the firm of Hathaway & Peters, will run for alderman of the Fifth ward and expects to secure the regular nomination. Alderman Dul desires to retire and will support the candidacy of Mr. Peters.

Already eighteen Neguevne ladies have secured tickets to the lecture in Odd Fellows' Hall, April 9th, by Mrs. Jenness Miller, and a number of tickets have also been sold in Ishpeming. The complete success of the lecture is already assured as only a few tickets remain to be sold.

Miss A. L. Stone has secured the services of Miss Florence Hopkins, who for the past year has given her full attention to millinery and has for the spring season been under the auspices of Mademoiselle Lucia Des Placis, direct from Paris. New goods are arriving daily, and the latest designs will be ready for inspection as fast as they arrive.

Junior Camp No. 7, Mystic Circle Degree Knights of Macabees, will give a grand ball in the newly decorated Armory hall on Easter Monday. Invitation tickets can be had at Helmer's fruit stand, of E. T. Drew, Chas. Giel, E. E. Homeier, F. L. Hurlick, Jack Smith and G. Hallstrom's stores. The Knights will lead the grand march in full dress uniform, beginning at 9 o'clock.

Professor Homeier's orchestra will furnish music and Dan Sullivan the supper. Committee of arrangements: Chas. Giel, John Helmer, E. E. Homeier, reception committee, Joseph Crawford, E. T. Drew; floor managers, D. Lambert, A. M. Allen, W. B. McLean, Chas. Giel and John Helmer.

Patronize Home Industry. To The Moving Journal: Many of our well-to-do citizens seem to forget the above rule, for yearly thousands of dollars worth of dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes, hats and caps, other household furnishings, goods, jewelry, hardware, groceries, provisions, wines, liquors, beer, cigars, etc., are ordered from below, under the delusion that money is thus saved, which is really not the case, when they figure up express charges, freight cartage, etc. Our local dealers are here for the accommodation of the people residing in this city. They have fitted up their places of business regardless of expense, giving employment to mechanics, clerks, teamsters, etc., who all earn their living and spend their money in this city; and carrying stocks to select from that for quantity, style, variety and cheapness are unsurpassed in the northwest. These stores are taxed the same as other properties, many of our merchants this year paying from $300 to $800 taxes on their stocks alone, to say nothing of their other expenses. Is it not a great injustice to our dealers to ignore them, and order goods from outside our city? If there were less dealers, and those here with small, limited stocks, would not the tax on small property holders fall much heavier than it does now?

So it is with every industry in our midst. They should all be supported by the resident population, else decay and failure will be the result. One of our growing industries in this city is the Marquette Brewery under the management of the deservedly popular firm of Meeske & Hoch. They are the pioneers in this branch of our industry and their products are well known for their liberality and straight forward dealing with the public. They certainly deserve our support in preference to outside concerns in their line of business. They have lived twenty years in our midst. Marquette county is their home. They have spent on an average from $15,000 to $20,000 or more, saying nothing of the taxes, on buildings, improvements, labor, etc. They employ the year round nearly thirty men at good wages. This money all remains at home. In addition they make the best beer in the northwest; using no drugs or chemicals, nothing but pure malt and hops. Traveling men assert that no better beer can be found in the United States. Why then should not the people that use and handle beer patronize our home brewers in preference to outside concerns?

'Patronize home industry in all branches' should be the motto of every good citizen, and our city will thrive and grow in prosperity, other industries will be attracted to our beautiful city if assured of our home support. So let every good citizen ever bear in mind the above motto, and if they drink or use beer, use only Meeske & Hoch's.

WHAT DREAMS MAY COME.

DO THE VISIONS THAT COME IN SLEEP FORETELL THE FUTURE?

Remarkable Instances Pro and Con—How a Cleveland Man Thought He Was Warned—A Queer Case—Concluding Consequences of a Dream.

Campbell says that "coming events cast their shadows before." There is but little doubt that there is a prophetic instinct in man, that at times his mind is the sensitive plate upon which futurity throws its reflection.

From time immemorial he has believed in visions. From Joseph to Lincoln there has been a conviction that in dreams the curtains of to-morrow are momentarily parted and a glimpse into its mysteries vouchsafed.

There is certainly a degree of reason for believing that there is a relation between some dreams and coming events, but it is nevertheless true that there are countless dreams which never come to pass, and that in a host of dreams and a host of events there could hardly fail to be some coincidences.

It is likewise true that dreams are to a great extent governed by digestion, and good or bad dreams may be manufactured to order with the proper viands, and that recent impressions made upon the mind are the seeds from which most dreams germinate and grow into luxurious extravagance.

A SINGULAR INCIDENT. A singular incident comes to us. Business recently called a gentleman away to an adjoining county for a number of days. He was peculiarly a home man, and could not feel wholly at ease when sundry miles stretched between him and those he loved. It was necessary that he should go and he went.

The second night after he reached his destination he fell rather homesick. Vainly he strove to overcome this feeling by a walk about the place. Returning to his hotel in good season, he sought to drown his loneliness in the Lethe of sleep.

But sleep was destined to disturb his equanimity. It would have been better for his peace of mind if he had not slept at all. He was very supple before, and especially concerning dreams. He had a dream—an ominous one. He dreamed that he was walking on the street in the dark and all alone, when he saw, low down in the sky and in the direction of home, the words, in letters of red, "Go home."

He awoke about as scared as one can be by superstition. He was sure that something terrible had happened or was about to happen to his family, and that this dream had been sent to give him knowledge of it. Sleep was out of his eyes for that night. He lit the lamp and dressed himself, and sought to pass the night by reading, but he could find nothing in book or paper of sufficient interest to drive away his anxiety. He made up his mind that, business or no business, the first train in the morning should take him home.

The first train went at 8, and he was at the depot at half past 7. He had in sight of his residence, and before noon, especially concerning dreams. He walked into the house. All his folks were alive and well. His wife was greatly surprised to see him. When he saw how foolish had been his fears he was ashamed of his weakness. His wife was a very matter of fact woman, and he feared her scorn.

"What in the world brought you home so soon?" said she. "I thought you weren't coming home until Friday."

"Unfortunately," said he, "I forgot some papers it was absolutely necessary I should have, I had to come back for them, and as the train started before noon, I had to start home I would take dinner with you."

His conscience smote him for this terrible lie, but he didn't propose to tell why he came home, even if he had to sacrifice his self respect.

THE EXPLANATION. He went back to the place to which he had so abruptly the afternoon reaching it in the early evening. His faith in dreams as prophets was badly shaken. Yet why should he have had such a strange dream?

That evening he and one of his new acquaintances in the place took a walk. Of course, a man who was so full of the subject of dreams as he was, did not talk very long without broaching it.

"Do you take any stock in dreams?" inquired he of his friend.

"Not a particle," was the reply. "They have nothing to do with the future. You never had a dream in your life that did not start from some little impression made upon your mind in your recent waking hours. Do you believe in them?"

"Well, I used to," he answered, "but I don't so much as I did."

This was said mechanically, as he was busy wondering what had happened to him recently which could have been the germ of the dream which he now so superciliously and stiffly had so snowed. San Francisco Examiner.

As he was pondering, his eye fell upon the sign of a clothing store across the street. Quicker than a flash he remembered standing where he was the night before and of seeing that sign. Quicker than memory it dawned upon him that the sign was the nucleus of his dream. There was pointed upon it in large letters "G. O. Holme."

He did not tell his friend about his dream, but during the remainder of his conversation he agreed with him that dreams have no significance whatever. He changed the subject as soon as he could, and, though he had many a dream since that time, none of them had disturbed him. His emancipation is complete.

But it is not every dream that can be accounted for so honorably and sensibly. There have been dreams in almost every one's experience which have come to pass, and which seem wholly unexplainable on any other basis than that some dreams do foretell future events.

Such an one is related by a gentleman who could not be called a superstitious person. He dreamed of seeing a young lady—one whom he had never seen in his waking hours. She was very beautiful, and he was so fascinated with her that the dream made a deep impression upon him. A few days after he was walking upon the streets of a distant place, and whom should he meet but the identical young lady of his dream. He made inquiries as to her, sought an acquaintance, and she is his wife. By a comparison of their pasts it was all out of the question that he had ever caught a glimpse of her previous to his dream about her by which an impression could have been made upon his mind.

It is not best to draw the cloak of omniscience about us and assert that there is nothing to be superstitious about. It is well to remember that "there are more things in heaven and earth than are dreamt of in our philosophy."—Cleveland Sun and Voice.

Got an Answer. Congressman (at home, among his constituents)—Gentlemen and fellow citizens! I want you to tell me what, in your opinion, this country most needs!

The Crowd (with astonishing unanimity)—Shorter sessions of congress!—New York Weekly.

SOME TIME.

Last night, my darling, as you slept, I thought I heard you sigh. And to your lips I cried I love you. And watched a space I saw you; Then, bending down, I kissed your brow— For, oh! I love you so— You are too young to shall know, But some time you shall know.

Some time, when in a darkened place, Where others come to weep, Your eyes shall see a weary face Calm in eternal sleep. The speechless lip, the wrinkled brow, The patient smile may show— You are too young to know it now, But some time you shall know.

Look backward, then, into the years, And see me here to-night— See, O my darling! how my tears Are falling as I write; And feel once more upon your brow The kiss of long ago— You are too young to know it now, But some time you shall know.

—Eugene Field in Chicago News.

Old Clothes Made New. Old clothing may be made to look nearly as good as new by pursuing the following plan:

Take, for instance, a shiny old coat, vest or pair of trousers of broadcloth, cassimere or diagonal. The scourer makes a strong, warm spongy and plunges the garment into it, soaks it up and down, rubs the dirty places, if necessary puts it through a second sud, then rinses it through several waters and hangs it to dry on the line.

When nearly dry he takes it in, rolls it up for an hour or two, and then presses it. An old cotton cloth is laid on the outside of the coat and the iron passed over that until the wrinkles are out, but the iron is removed before the steam comes to rise from the goods, else they would be shiny. Wrinkles that are obstinate are removed by laying a wet cloth over them and passing the iron over that.

If any shiny places are seen, they are treated as the wrinkles are; the iron is lifted while the full cloud of steam rises and brings the nap up with it. Good cloth will bear many washings and look better every time because of them.—St. Louis Republic.

Black Paper and White Ink. It is suggested that newspapers should be printed in white letters on black paper, instead of white paper printed in black letters, as now. The change is one to be desired by the public, for the reason that a white letter on a black ground possesses greater contrast and distinctness, and is, consequently, easier on the eyes. The change will give at first an odd appearance to printed matter, but the merit of it will eventually result in its general adoption, and in time the black letter will be as rare as the white letter now is. Sign painters and showcard printers recognize the superiority of the white letter and are rapidly adopting it, as is evidenced by the numerous white lettered signs now to be seen on the streets and in the shops. The change would be comparatively inexpensive to publishers, and as black is cheaper than white paper, a saving could be effected. With our newspapers thus printed, reading on cars and in dimly lighted places would be not only practicable, but easy.—Anconia Standard.

It's Hard to Hit a Man. A crowd of revenue officers were talking yesterday, when one of them remarked: "Do you know it's a heap harder to hit a man, shooting at him, than it is to hit a squirrel the same distance?"

"Of course," was the general assent. "It was a harder question to decide why this was so."

"One time," resumed the first speaker, "I shot eleven times at a man, not fifty yards away from him. He shot ten times. Neither of us hit the other. Both were dodging behind trees, but all of mine were pretty fair shots. I'll give you my word, I wasn't frightened until after the whole thing was over. I aimed like I was shooting at a target, and I'm not a bad shot either. They tell me that fellow could hit a nickel at a hundred yards nine-tenths times out of a hundred, and I don't believe he was scared. But it's a fact—you can hit a man once."—Atlanta Constitution.

New Way to Sell Coal. Two industries impatiently have recently been working the coal wagon track to advantage in this city. Their wagon is a decrepit affair, but their method is stalwart enough to carry itself through. Purchasing a load of cheap, sulphurous steam coal they start out into the residence portion of the city and come to stop in a rat of a populous street. After some shouting and apparent effort to get along they abandon the attempt and go from door to door, saying to the housewives: "We have broken down with a big load of Wellington coal. As we cannot get away with it, we'll sell it to you for $8.50 per ton. It's a bargain." A woman is soon found who will take the bait, and the condition of her looking the coal is more sulphurous and stiffer than a snowball.—San Francisco Examiner.

To Home Seekers and Land Lookers

The Mobile & Ohio Railroad runs from St. Louis, Mo., to Mobile, Alabama, through the States of Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Alabama.

LONG LEAF PINE LANDS ACCESSIBLE TO RIVERS AND RAILWAYS.

The Mobile & Ohio Railroad now have more than 700,000 acres ranging in price from $1.25 to $4.00 per acre. Situated along the line of their railway, for sale in tracts to suit purchasers. Oak timber of the best quality in large tracts from $1.25 to $4.00 per acre. There is also millions of acres of fine Government pine subject to homestead entry and preemption along the line of the M. & O. R. R. These lands are situated a strip about thirty miles wide, along the line of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, from North-eastern Mississippi to Southern Alabama.

BUY NOW! Why? Because the price for good pine is lower to-day than it ever was in the past. These Long Leaf Pine lands are accessible to water and are advancing with the increasing southern immigration faster than pine land ever did in Michigan. This is not wind, but a plain statement of facts susceptible of proof. More than four million acres of Long Leaf Pine was purchased by Northern Capitalists from 1860 to 1880 principally by Michigan men—which has nearly doubled in value in that time.

Thousands of acres of cheap grazing, Farming and Fruit Lands, values increasing more rapidly than any portion of the United States. Situated in a fine, healthy climate—less than six weeks moderately cold weather and free from excessive heat, within easy access of all the large cities of the country, good water and plenty of timber. Why settle way out west on the treeless prairies, among the pine trees and bizzards, where the railroads dictate the price you shall pay for fuel and lumber, and compel you to take starvation prices for your farm produce?

Settle where the rivers will always rival the railroads and the prevent excessive rates of freight on all products. Freight rates an item of importance to every farmer and mill man.

Many navigable streams traverse the land grant of the Mobile & Ohio railroad. The prairie lands of Eastern Mississippi—no finer agricultural lands in the world. High rolling hills, fertile soil, fine timber, deep, alluvial soil, good water, and very healthy. These lands, before the war, found a ready sale at from $20 to $50 per acre, and can now be purchased at $2.50 to $10 per acre.

The great decline was caused by the freedom of the slaves. They are rapidly increasing the attention of northern capital, and will soon be brought back to their former price.

Clear and fine game grounds, fine crops of Good corn country, and all small grain does as well here as in more northern latitudes.

A man with a few hundred dollars will be given an equal chance with the largest capitalist. Our main object is to settle the country.

Correspondence is solicited from all classes of persons wanting any kind of land, whether it is one wanting forty acres for a homestead, or a capitalist wanting a hundred or four hundred acres of timber; we can furnish both without delay, and with the utmost satisfaction to all parties.

MOBILE AS A HEALTHY RESORT. Mobile is on a plain shut in by slight hills at her back, washed by Mobile river and bay at her front, and the Gulf of Mexico at her side. The climate of this City of the Gulf is her pretty bay, looking out to the limitless sea.

The city itself, from its abundance of various trees, its beautiful gardens at all seasons in bloom and abounding in semi-tropical plants, its quiet and noiseless streets, and its broad avenues, is always captivating to the stranger. Then, the climate, the pure air, the refinement, courtesy, and refinement of its people, it becomes a truly lovely one to the visitor.

Dr. William H. Anderson, one of the oldest and most esteemed physicians, of very extensive practice, Professor of Physiology and the Medical College of Alabama in a pamphlet in relation to the health of the ocean, says: "There are many climates in the world that are positively benefited by the balmy air that blows from this tropical sea. It has long been known that this atmosphere is entirely free from miasma in any of its forms, gives to salt air in winter the tonic properties which we find in the mountain atmosphere of summer. It is sweeter than many parts of the southern country hold forth inducements to invalids from the colder latitudes, and thousands flock to Florida every winter. But these resorts, although furnishing the requisite temperature, cannot boast of that freedom from malaria for which the coast of the Mexican Gulf is justly noted. What is wanted by such invalids is a dry, sandy soil and a mild, southern sea breeze. These requisites are found in the city of Mobile and its vicinity to a greater extent than they can be found anywhere else, either in this country or on the shores of the Mediterranean."

For consumptive patients, however, exercise in the open air, in a location free from malaria, is all-important. The atmosphere of a city mansion with closed windows and doors is a positive poison that aggravates any disease. A far better life in a canvas tent, if the outer air is mild enough to allow it, than to remain shut up in a house. The blood wants free oxygen, and it cannot get it in a closed apartment. Now, I claim for Mobile and its vicinity this advantage, that the patient can be out in the open air nearly every day during the winter and spring season. If this open air, therefore, is mild and not poisoned with malaria, it fulfills all the indications necessary for consumptives. The very nature of the soil and around Mobile is opposed to the generation of malaria."

Mobile is a delightful city of some forty thousand inhabitants, peaceful and happy people. It has good schools, fine churches, ample library good theatre and the law faithfully administered. The principal points of interest in and about the city are the Barton Academy, the Medical College, the Spring Hill College, and Spring Hill, which can be reached by the new dummy line, the Custom house, the new Court house, the market, the gardens, the famous Bay Shell-road, Fort Moultrie, the scene of Farragut's great naval battle, Spanish Fort and Blakeley, the scene of the last battle of the civil war, etc.

Of the hotels, the oldest and most renowned is the Battle House. Its reputation is as extensive as the limits of this great continent. Guests can expect the best service and a bill of fare unequalled anywhere in the United States.

LAST NIGHT'S PRIMARIES.

Ishpeming Voters Given a Chance to Nominate Ward Candidates Last Evening

THE CITY CONVENTION WILL BE HELD THIS AFTERNOON.

Improved Mail Service for the Hematite City Via the Milwaukee & Northern Air Line.

Result of the Caucuses.
The ward caucuses were called late yesterday afternoon and were held in the evening in pursuance of the call. The four wards named the following candidates for supervisor, the names being given in the order of their wards: John H. Quinn, Mathew Dennison, George J. Fisher and James Lerrigan. For aldermen the following were named, observing the same order as to wards, Henry Routhier, W. H. Johnston, John Jones and Timothy McNamara, and for constables, Charles Archie, Robert Woolcock, Gustaf Peterson and Andrew Anderson.

Delegates to the city convention were chosen as follows: First ward—T. J. Dandon, C. P. Sodergren, James Kinney. Second ward—Thomas Walters, James McCutcheon, Frank Jenkins and Richard Smith. Third ward—Patrick McGinty, P. H. Devine, E. G. St. Clair, R. J. Waters, John Jones. Fourth ward—Frank P. Mills, Michael Ready, Ole Kraft, Henry Willis, A. P. Wahlstrom, J. J. Voelker and James McDonald.

The city convention will be held in the council chamber in the fire engine house at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Quicker Mail Service.

Yesterday the morning papers published in Chicago were received at the Ishpeming postoffice at 5:25 p. m. Heretofore they have arrived at 8:20 p. m. The saving in time was accomplished by sending the papers via the Milwaukee & Northern.

The railway postal clerks now run from Milwaukee to Iron Mountain on the M. & N., and from Iron Mountain pouches are sent to this office. An effort will be made to have the postal run extended from Iron Mountain to Champion. Ishpeming receives pouch mail from the terminus of the run, at Iron Mountain, and will pouch on that office in a short time.

When the time of the fast express and passenger train running from Chicago to Champion is amended so as to make close connections with the morning trains of the South Shore, the business men of the iron and copper country should make a united and determined effort to get the Chicago and Milwaukee mail by that route.

The saving in time would be very great, and the financial value of the time so saved would amount to many thousands of dollars annually to the people of Marquette and Houghton counties.

Base Ball Notes

The envious base ball enthusiasts of the copper country, and more especially of Calumet, whose discontent with the magnificent preparations being made here found vent in Tuesday's copper country department of the MINING JOURNAL, are hereby informed that three hundred shares of stock in the Ishpeming base ball association have been placed, and that a 20 per cent assessment, amounting to $1,500, has already been levied. There is money behind the Ishpeming base ball club, and plenty of it. Any one who doubts the correctness of the figures published in this paper will be at liberty to examine the accounts of the association. The hematite city isn't in the habit of boasting.

A meeting of the directors of the association was held at the office of the president Tuesday evening. The application of Mr. Jas. Bray, of Bay City, who was manager of the club that won the championship of the state league in 1889, was presented, and it is probable that Mr. Bray will be chosen manager of the Ishpeming club.

The owners of Union park want twenty-five per cent of the gate receipts for the use of their grounds by the ball clubs this season, and want to build the grand stand on the wrong side of the grounds. These and other matters are yet to be settled between the owners of the park and the directors of the base ball association.

Gov. St. John's Speeches.

The committee in charge of the visit of ex-Gov. John P. St. John to Ishpeming has decided to have the meeting at the city opera house this evening for men only. It was intended to admit ladies also but such wide-spread interest has been manifested in the visit of the champion of prohibition to this city that the committee decided that the hall would not be large enough to accommodate all who would desire to attend, and as the principal object of the governor's visit here is to make prohibition votes, the ladies will be compelled to stay away this evening. At the meeting to be held at the salvation army barracks at 10 o'clock to-morrow forenoon, at which Gov. St. John will speak, the ladies will be cheerfully welcomed. Voters of all political beliefs are cordially invited to attend the meeting at the opera house to-night.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

The billiard table at the rooms of the fire company has been put in running order.

There are several new advertisements in this morning's paper that will bear reading.

The spring opening of millinery at J. H. Quinn's store will take place on Saturday and Monday.

Miss Ella McDonough wishes to secure the services of several girls. See ad. in business notices.

A meeting of the common council was held at the new council chamber last night. It was the last meeting of the present board.

Steps have been taken to improve the poor carrier service that has annoyed Ishpeming subscribers of this paper for the last few days.

The suggestion of the MINING JOURNAL that the six or seven candidates for the recordership play off the tie was not favorably received, and it will be a free-for-all race.

Local subscribers of this paper are notified that the Ishpeming office of the paper is open evenings for the reception of those who wish to call and pay subscriptions, etc.

Uncle Tom's Cabin, a new and startling melodrama in four acts, with several tableaux and a number of live dogs, donkeys and "coons," will be presented at the opera house to-morrow night. Secure seats at Tillson's early.

The bullion run at the Ropes mine for last month was one of the largest in the history of the property. The exact figures will not be obtainable for some time yet, but interested parties needn't worry about how the figures will look in cold type.

Alex. Nelson, the ice dealer, points out to the people of the city the propriety of making contracts now for the delivery of ice during the coming season. Mr. Nelson has a large supply of fine ice, and will make reasonable rates for the season to all residents of the city.

The monthly meeting of the Ishpeming Building and Loan Association was held in the directors' room of the Peninsula bank Tuesday evening. Loans were made to the amount of $4,000, good premiums being paid. The association is now the largest in the upper peninsula, and stockholders are satisfied that it is a mighty good thing. It has certainly done much already in the way of adding substantial dwellings to the city, for the use of workmen of moderate means.

The popularity of the Ishpeming business notices as a medium for making known the small wants of the day, is rapidly growing. If the thing wanted is to be had it can be procured by advertising in this column. Rates are reasonable, and returns always satisfactory. Payment for these notices, for the future, must be invariably in advance. Those who can't pay the small sum demanded for a local advertisement will find a board at the post office, where they can post written notices.

PERSONAL.

INTERESTED PEOPLE.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds does is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle free that they may try it before purchasing. The Large Bottles are 50c and $1.00. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption.

FIFTH POINT

You should read The Chicago Daily News because it is a family newspaper. This is an age when everybody reads, and the paper you bring into your family should have something of value for all. The special interests of women are not overlooked in The Daily News. You don't want to put interesting reading into your family. You don't want to put interesting reading into the hands of your children. You will never make a mistake on this score if you take home The Daily News. The newspapers are the great educators of this nation. The strength of the nation lies in the purity of its press.

Remember—its circulation is over a million a week—and it costs by mail 25 cents a month, four months $1.00, one cent a day.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Scott's Specific has cured my little niece of white swelling of the worst type. More than twenty pieces of bone came out of her leg. She was not able to walk for eight months, and she now catches a year. The doctors advised amputation, but I refused, and put her on S. S. She is now as well and playful as any child.

A MESSAGE.
She wasn't on the playground, she wasn't on the lawn. The little one was missing and bedtime coming on. We hunted in the garden, we peeped about to see if sleeping under a tree or in a bush might be. But nothing came in answer to all our anxious call. Until at length we hastened within the darkening hall. And then upon the stillness there broke a silvery tone—
The darling mite was standing before the telephone. And softly, as we listened, came stealing down the stairs:
"H'o, Central! Give me heaven. I want to say my prayers."
—Sidney Dayre in Independent.

THE STRANGE FLUTIST.

Last January, on the first evening that a light snow carpeted the roofs of Paris, a closed carriage rolled along the boulevards, spinning like a zebra. It was so loaded with trunks that you would have thought an actress was setting out on a journey. The driver was a valetudinarian, large and fat, one of those whom a trifle disturbs, and who think their final day of reckoning is near when they have a cold in the head. This one imagined he had weak lungs. So at the approach of cold weather he bundled himself with furs and fled to Nice.

He was bachelor. Although he could have married at any time, for he had 100,000 francs in stocks, and therefore suited many young ladies, he had been unwilling to dispose of his right hand. Next to himself, the one he loved best was his cook—not for herself, but for her cooking. It was no cook better cure of No. 1. Under no circumstances would he have disturbed himself to do a favor. He would not have lent five sous to his father in the street, for it would have been necessary to unbutton his overcoat to take out his purse.

He was indeed the most extravagant crank to be met with. His most insignificant acts were on a system; he slept, rose, ate, smoked and took medicine with his watch in hand. Many curious stories were told at his expense. For instance, he was so nervous, so irritable, that he detested the songsters in the courtyard. The porter had to drive them away with the broom. To persons who persisted in singing in the street he quickly threw a half franc on condition that they would leave. Now, every time the porter lacked the price of a drink he put on a false beard and a red waistcoat and went under the window, tapping on a pan as a prelude to a dance. Immediately a half franc was forthcoming.

The neighbors had to hold their sides, for there was a person who could not help laughing. At Nice he always put up at the great United States hotel, where for fifteen years the same magnificent room, well exposed to the sun, had been reserved for his use. It was the only one he fancied, and he occupied it until April 2 at noon precisely, the hour at which he set out for Paris.

His name excited mirth. I will not attempt an explanation, but everybody smiled whenever he was introduced. He was known as M. Jaume.

Now M. Jaume arrived at Nice the day after leaving Paris at 6 o'clock in the evening. He partook of an excellent dinner—a bouillabaisse aux langoustes, a fillet marine, a quail, asparagus, and a bottle of Chateau la Rose. With this he hoped not to die with hunger. Then, after having smoked a cigar to settle his coffee and champagne, he retired to rest.

It was 9 o'clock when he encountered himself in bed. He extinguished the light, and stretching himself out, anticipated sleep like a dormouse.

But scarcely had he dropped into a doze when a flute was heard in the next apartment playing the air from Faust:
"Let, oh, let me gaze upon thy face!"

The tone was sweet and silvery, so the first impression was charming; but the flutist cut short the melody at the fourth measure and repeated it several times, then rested for five minutes and resumed in like manner, stopping at the same point.

"What is the matter with him?" said M. Jaume to himself.
The other continued without a sign of trouble.
At the fifth rehearsal, as there is nothing so agreeable as not to worry in the end, M. Jaume tapped on the partition wall. The flute was silent. Satisfied, he took a potato from his night table and closed his eyes. It was 10 o'clock. The hotel was almost empty, the greater part of the guests not having yet come in. Suddenly the peaceful silence was broken by the flute.

"Let, oh, let me gaze upon thy face!"
M. Jaume groaned excitedly.
"Where? He is getting to be a nuisance. If this is for an extra attraction I will dispense with it."
He tapped loudly and cried out:
"Will you stop! If you don't I'll gaze upon your face pretty soon!"

When M. Jaume got angry he forgot the dictates of politeness. There was silence again, and he began to get drowsy.
Suddenly:
"Let, oh, let me gaze upon thy face!"
"Fie! The mean scamp!"
He rang for the chambermaid.

"Who is this idiot of a flutist whom I have for a neighbor?" he asked.
"A flutist?" she exclaimed, with a vacant air. "Why, M. Jaume, you are dreaming. The chamber is empty."
M. Jaume dared not reply. The surmise outraged itself that perhaps he was beginning to have delusions. Besides, so long as the chambermaid was at hand the flutist could not be heard. But scarcely was she gone, crack:
"Let, oh, let me gaze upon thy face!"

And so on about once a minute. M. Jaume dozed and dozed and sank under the bed coverings exhausted.
At 11 o'clock he heard some one enter. Under the partition door he saw a gleam of light. He heard the rustling of garments and preparations for bed. Afterward quiet reigned, and he slept, as usual, until the next noon.

On this second day, after having taken a walk on the Promenade Des Anglais for a sun bath, passed a little time at the club and dined composedly, he went up to retire at 10 o'clock.
He commenced undressing. Suddenly—just so—you have it:
"Let, oh, let me gaze upon thy face!"
Forgetting his grotesque appearance in his nightmare, half undressed, he rushed down to complain to the master of the house.

"M. Favioi, why do you furnish lodgings to musical artists in a house which I thought so commendable?"
"Truly, M. Jaume, I do not know what you mean. I beg you to believe that I have regard enough for my interests to refuse those people."
"Then you have one without knowing it—a flutist—at No. 10, next me."
"I beg your pardon, M. Jaume, at No. 10 is a most sedate lady, Mme. Kissimicouk, of the United States, and at No. 6 is Miss Whitehouse, of London."

"I repeat that there is a flutist at No. 10. Perhaps the lady thrusts him into the wardrobe when any one goes in."
"I beg your pardon again, M. Jaume. Mme.

Kissimicouk enjoys an irreproachable reputation. No landlord in Nice would be willing to receive a doubtful character. Mme. Kissimicouk is a mature widow. If she flirted it would be seriously, and as she weighs some 200 pounds it would not be with a flute. She would take at least a clarinet. This lady goes every evening into the best society, and returns at 11 o'clock."

M. Jaume, disconcerted, went back to his room. However, his head was scarcely on the pillow—crack! you have it:
"Let, oh, let me gaze upon thy face!"
"Flute again!" exclaimed M. Jaume. He rang for the chambermaid.
"Ask your master to come here."
M. Favioi hurried up.
"Listen, sir," said M. Jaume.
M. Favioi endeavored to hold his breath. Of a sudden two philandering cats set up a caterwauling on the balcony.

"I hear only two cats talking love to each other," said M. Favioi.
"I hear them, too," M. Jaume chimed in. "Be patient! The flute will begin again."
M. Favioi held his breath.
Suddenly, crack, the flute!

"Let, oh, let me gaze upon thy face!"
M. Jaume, in agitation, struck against the wall, while M. Favioi burst into loud laughter.
"I have it, M. Jaume—I have it. I will present you to the artist. Please follow me."
He took a light, and opening Mme. Kissimicouk's door with his pass key, he pointed to a cage on the table, in which a bird similar to our blackbirds was moving his head about and singing without a semblance of fear.

"That is Mme. Kissimicouk's flute, M. Jaume—an Australian nightingale. These birds learn an air perfectly and in the night charm the neighbors."
"Somewhat calmer, for it was folly to get angry with a bird, M. Jaume said:
"I propose to the lady to sell it to me. Go as high as 500 francs, that I may have the satisfaction of wringing its neck."
"Well, M. Jaume, I will speak to her this evening."
M. Favioi complied with his promise, but Mme. Kissimicouk's first refusal.

"Five hundred francs!" she cried. "I think as much of it as a Chinaman of his pigtail. Say to that fellow that I will not sell my bird for $50, for it is a souvenir of my husband."
The word "fellow" touched M. Jaume's sensibility; he grew red in the face and threatened retaliation.
Mme. Kissimicouk was accustomed to sleep from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, he scraped on a violin, 200 times in succession, the first four measures of "Returning from the Review."

Unfortunately for his plan Mme. Kissimicouk was deaf of one ear. She lay on the other and slept with the serenity of a married woman.
In the evening, still in a perspiration, delighted with having silenced the bird, if not the mistress, he promised himself the next day to have. "Suddenly in the silence, crack! you have. No, you don't have it."
The bird, which had, it appeared, a prodigious memory, began to sing "Returning from the Review" without prejudice to "Let Me," first one, then the other; so that instead of one annoyance M. Jaume had two.

Under such provocation he stole with the tread of a wolf to Mme. Kissimicouk's door. By chance she had not locked it. He hurried to the cage, and with heart full of bitterness threw into it a biscuit dipped in arseniate of potash and tripe, and took again to his room.
But, far from making away with itself, as the cruel lordling hoped, the bird sang twice a minute instead of once, and then, as though it had two throats, it warbled the two airs together, "Let Me," and "The Review."

Furious, M. Jaume ran again to the door of the American lady. She had now come in and locked it, but it gave way under the impact of his shoulder.
"Madame," cried he, "your conditions, no matter what they are!"
"Indeed, sir," she replied, her face suffused with blushes, "you have broken into my domicile with a high hand. Save my honor! Marry me!"
"Bezebbub may take you first!" exclaimed M. Jaume, without any French courtesy.
"Then I shall appeal to the law."
Pestered by the endless troubles which pursued him M. Jaume was finally brought to say:

"I consent if you let me kill that miserable parrot."
"I will hand him over to you willingly on the day of the nuptials, dear M. John." She thought that his name was John instead of Jaume.
M. Jaume led Mme. Kissimicouk to the altar a few days afterward.
"I will be so disagreeable," said he to himself, "that she cannot endure me, and will hurry off to her own country."
Now, on returning from the review—excuse me, I mean from church—he promised himself the inhuman satisfaction of having the nightingale crucified and served with his dinner. Nevertheless, Mme. Jaume-Kissimicouk graciously handed him the cage.
Zoum! What a surprise! It was a stuffed bird from a Parisian artist had mounted as a singing bird. In order to keep the wheels from rusting the lady wound it up every evening before going out.

The other nightingale, which M. Jaume had taken to him, "The Review," was that of Miss Whitehouse at No. 6.
In fact of such contempt M. Jaume had entered a complaint to annul the marriage for error of person—or rather for error of bird. —Translated from the French for the San Francisco Call.

No Flower Language Now.
The fact that fashion has found its way into the flower garden and decrees what flowers shall be favored and what flowers shall be cut, or rather remain uncut, has of course wiped out what was known as the language of flowers. And that language is now much more of a dead language than either Greek or Sanscrit. It is one of the very few things that fashion has ever blotted out. The usual process is for fashion to build silly things up. It may have been all right a number of years ago for the fond lover to proclaim his devotion by means of a bunch of heliotrope and for a few sprays of golden rod. But as heliotrope and golden rod are very cheap and inexpensive flowers, and as fashion is absolutely ignorant of their existence, it is now considered to be in much better form for a young man bubbling over with devotion and a yearning for matrimony to use pen and ink and heavy white paper if he is afraid to use the English language personally, and for the young girl to respond after the same fashion.—New York World.

Chicago Precocity.

GRANT THORNTON AT A FUNERAL.
Obsequies of George Werten Attended by Hundreds of Persons—Bishop Vertin, Brother of the Dead, Celebrates Requiem Mass. Republican Nominees for Township Officers at Hancock—Players Signed by Houghton Ball Club—Officers Hurontown Fire Company—Receiver of Stolen Goods Jailed. Personal and Miscellaneous Notes.

HANCOCK.
The funeral of George Werten, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Werten and a brother to the Rt. Rev. Bishop Vertin, of Marquette, was held at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. The members of St. Joseph society attended in a body to pay the last tribute to their brother. The funeral services were held in St. Joseph's church. Rev. Bishop Vertin assisted by Fathers Atfield, Languer, Krogulski, Faust, Menard, Otis, Zolliker, Marceau, Caviechi Regis and Kospel, officiated in the celebration of requiem high mass. Since the day of the burial of the Rev. Fr. Jucker not such a concourse of people has attended a funeral service here. Over three-fourths of those attending had to remain outside as the church could not accommodate them. All the stores in the city were closed to permit the clerks to attend the funeral.

At a republican township caucus held in the fire engine hall Tuesday evening the following ticket was nominated: Supervisor, Thomas Coughlin; clerk, Charles Fichtel; treasurer, Daniel Crawford; school inspector, George W. Bullen; commission on highways, Frank W. Anthony; overseer highways, district No. 1, H. H. Hallace, district No. 2, Nels Birkman; justice of peace, Edward Mack; constable, Nicholas Smith; coroner, John Schuler; Dan McDonald and John Erickson; board of review, Chas. D. Hanchette and Wm. H. Roberts.

At an adjourned meeting of the Northern Michigan Building & Loan association held Tuesday afternoon $2,500 was lent in amounts from $50 to $4,000 each. An amendment was passed which changes the lending of money from the deduction system to the installment mode. A person borrowing a thousand dollars now receives that amount instead of $750 as before.

HOUGHTON.
The product of the Atlantic mine for March was 210 tons, 30 pounds.

The Houghton base ball club has all the players signed for this season. Among them are some of the best of the copper country affords. The first nine is composed of Charles Ingram, E. J. Hocking, Will Reutemacher, James Shields, Will Berriman, Frank Wether, Wally Ormsby, Sylvain Land and the Wagner brothers of Huron town. The first game in the copper country will be played on Decoration day and those interested say there will be a lively time when the Houghton and Hancock clubs cross bats.

A township caucus will be held in Hush Hall this evening.
M. J. Dillon is a candidate for overseer of highways.

At the annual meeting of the Hurontown fire company held Tuesday evening the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Charles Mayworm; vice-president, Michael Michaels; secretary, Michael Finze; treasurer, George Nancarrow; foreman, Theodore Sibilski; first assistant, Fred Gagin; second assistant, Theodore Wagner; third assistant, Peter Driscoll.

August Kirvi slashed Peter Malmuquist with an axe last Saturday so badly that his victim will die. Kirvi is in jail at Houghton and will have an examination next Wednesday.

RED JACKET.
"Jack England," in whose house the quintette of juvenile burglars hid the plunder, was arrested on complaint of Marshal Schroeder for complicity in the robberies committed. Sheriff Bowden took him to county jail yesterday morning. He will have a hearing before Justice McDonald next Monday morning.

A large number of business men went to Hancock Wednesday morning to attend the funeral of Mr. George Werten. Many of them were on a trip to the Pacific coast. He will be joined at Duluth by Otto Beebler.

The item on the copper transportation for the season 1899 should have read the "Lake Superior Transit company" instead of the "Union." This line of boats will carry all the copper from Torch Lake and Portage Lake ports next season.

LAKE LINDEN.
At the annual meeting of the township board held Monday evening, John H. Wilson was appointed as supervisor during Mr. H. C. Guck's absence.

Supervisor C. Guck left Tuesday noon for a month's trip to the Pacific coast. He will be joined at Duluth by Otto Beebler.

ONLY ONE LITTLE BREEZE.

Last Business Meeting of Present Common Council Passes Off With All Usual Harmony.

MAYOR CLARK CASTS THE DECIDING VOTE FOR THE SECOND TIME.

Electric Railway Franchise Officially Buried Alderman McGivern Breaks His Record Organizing Builders' Exchange.

Mayor Had to Vote Once More.
Mayor Clark voted in the common council last night for the second time in two years, unless his memory be at fault. The last business meeting of the present council was sweetly harmonious, save for one little breeze. On one question the aldermen divided equally and Mayor Clark voted "aye" in support of the fire warden on the matter at issue. The Marquette City & Presque Isle railway franchise was knocked out in one round and is now dead.

T. C. Winter asked leave to add a second story to his frame barn. It stands in the rear of the federal building and adjacent to Hoch & Thoney's bottling works. The fire warden reported adversely to the petition and the question came up on accepting their report and rejecting the petition. Alderman Dolf spoke in favor of the petition. The fire limits ordinance was a dead letter anyhow, he said. The council had driven the school board to put up a fire proof building and then allowed frame houses to be erected alongside of it. All citizens should be treated alike. Alderman Palmer explained the situation and favored the petition. Aldermen Hennessey, Pendill and Mack made speeches against the petition, saying the locality was a fire trap and dangerous to the neighborhood. The vote stood five to five and Mayor Clark voted "aye," and thus the council refused Mr. Winter permission to enlarge his barn and sustained the judgment of the fire warden.

The assessment for the eastern district of the trunk sewer was extended to May 5th. An ordinance providing for the grading, guttering and macadamizing of Fourth street from Hewitt avenue to the north line of Palmer's addition No. 2, with sidewalk on the west side of the street, was introduced by Alderman Palmer from the street committee.

At this point Alderman McGivern, who always attends and rarely opens his mouth save to vote, got in his oar very effectively. The mayor asked him, as a member of the street committee, if he approved the ordinance and profile. Alderman McGivern shifted uneasily in his chair, opened his mouth with a visible effort and said:

"Aldermen Palmer and Hennessey are the street committee."

The council exploded into a laugh, while Alderman Palmer blushed to think that he had forgotten to consult his colleague.

"Very well put, Alderman McGivern," remarked the mayor and the municipal mill ground the ordinance through.

The finance committee was authorized to open a new set of books for the recorder's office, entering therein the live accounts. The council was satisfied that though the recorder's books were very much mixed no money had been lost and that to check back for twenty years or so simply to produce books that would not give an expert accountant the dyspepsia would be a useless expenditure of time and money. The old books will be closed up and a statement of facts entered in them for the information of future generations.

Mr. Timothy Nester's electric road is as dead as a herring. Alderman Mack introduced a resolution revoking the Marquette City & Presque Isle railway. It excited no discussion and was passed by an unanimous vote. The aldermen knew that the time for constructing the road under the ordinance had long since elapsed and evidently desired to clear the dead franchise out of the way of anyone who might desire to come in and build a road. The opinion was privately expressed that it would be a good thing to refuse any further franchises to street railways, that intramural transportation was a service that the city should render for itself and not turn over to any private corporation.

The usual bills were passed, amounting to $1,975.22, of which $601.50 is chargeable to the general fund and $1,373.72 to the highway fund. The finance committee was authorized to secure some capable man to prepare the statistics asked for by the census bureau.

To Organize a Builders' Exchange.
The contracting and master builders and building material men of this city will hold a meeting in Wilson & Moore's office this evening to discuss the project of organizing a builders' exchange. Favorable action will doubtless be taken as nearly or quite all those interested have been seen on the subject and all expressed themselves as favorable to such an organization.

The objects of the exchange will be to promote closer relations between the members of the trade and afford a common place of meeting for the interchange of ideas and information. A room will probably be secured where building periodicals will be kept on file and meetings held. In this room each member could have a mail box where orders could be left. Workmen in search of employment will also find the exchange a convenience as there it can be at once ascertained what contractors need men. The organization of a builders' exchange will mark a step forward in Marquette's change from a town to a city and the project should meet with hearty support.

Now For Easter Bonnets.
Easter is near at hand and the souls of the ladies rejoice in new spring bonnets. Miss Howard, the enterprising Washington street milliner, will to-day hold her spring opening and display a large line of the latest and most elegant designs in feminine headgear. Her rooms have been elaborately trimmed for the occasion and she desires all the ladies of Marquette to call and view her stock. Many orders have already been received and her force of trimmers and skilful workwomen is busy in turning out work of the best and newest styles. Those who desire to appear in new hats and bonnets on Easter should place their orders to-day.

Citizens' Mass Meeting.
A mass meeting of citizens and taxpayers has been called for 8 o'clock this evening at the Casino rink. The hand bills distributed on the streets are signed "Citizens' Committee" and the purpose of the meeting is stated to be the discussion of municipal affairs. Public and free discussion of public affairs is always a good thing and the meeting this evening should be well attended by the citizens of Marquette generally.

Not Responsible For That Counter.
An unintentional injustice was done by the MINING JOURNAL'S account of the receipt of the new furniture at the custom house in Tuesday's issue. Mention was made of the changes and cheapening of the great counter in the land office under the impression that the contractors now at work furnished that article. This is not the case. The Ketcham Furniture company of Toledo, of which R. P. Worrall is the representative, was contractor only for the movable furniture, chairs, desks, etc., and had nothing to do with the criticised counter. There is no claim that the articles supplied by the Ketcham company are not up to the specifications.

Beautifully Lighted.
L. Vierling's place is now lighted by electricity and is one of the most marked illustrations of perfect lighting in the city. He has four electroliers, of four 25 candle power lights each, and these with the bar lights make the place resplendent at night.

Great taste was shown in the selection of the electroliers which are of burnished brass while the etched glass globes add much to the effect. By a conveniently placed switch all the lights can be turned on or off at pleasure. Dec & La Due did the wiring and Mr. Vierling is very highly pleased with it.

Place of Holding City Convention.
It was discovered yesterday that Mack's Hall could not be obtained tomorrow evening for holding the city convention, as it will be occupied by a secret society. Chairman Moore has accordingly changed the call, which appears in another column. The convention will be held in Grieninger's Hall, 219 Washington street, at 8 o'clock. The Fourth ward caucus will be held at the same place at 7:30 o'clock.

Death of Mrs. H. C. Taylor.
Mrs. Hannah G. Taylor, wife of Mr. H. C. Taylor one of the pioneers of Marquette died yesterday afternoon of consumption, after a long illness. The time of the funeral will be announced later.

CITY CONVENTION.
A city convention will be held at Grieninger's Hall, Washington st., Friday, April 4th, at 8 P. M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for municipal offices to be filed at the charter election to be held on Monday, April 7th. The several wards will be entitled to representation in the convention as follows:

First ward.....	3 delegates
Second ward.....	6 "
Third ward.....	4 "
Fourth ward.....	6 "
Fifth ward.....	3 "

Ward caucuses to select delegates to the city convention and place in nomination candidates for the ward offices will be held at 7:30 P. M., at the following places: First ward, railroad freight depot; Second ward, city hose house; Third ward, Hodgkins' livery barn; Fourth ward, Grieninger's Hall; Fifth ward, Third street school house.

By order of the committee.
F. M. MOORE, Chairman.
Marquette, April 1, 1890. 4-243

CATARRH.
Catarrhal Deafness—Hay Fever—A New Home Treatment.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result of this discovery is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby catarrh, catarrhal deafness and hay fever are permanently cured in from one to three simple applications made at home by the patient once in two weeks.

N. B.—This treatment is not a snuff or an ointment; both have been discarded by reputable physicians as injurious. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent free on receipt of stamp to pay postage, by A. H. Dixon & Son, 337 and 339 West King street, Toronto, Canada.—Christian Advocate.

Sufferers from catarrhal troubles should carefully read the above.
