١,

Just fifty years ago, dear wife, Since you and I were wed. Today's our golden wedding day, Where can the years have fled? Am I that shy and awkward yeuth? Are you that maiden fair? With silver threads among the curls That once was golden hair?

I never can forget the day That made you all my own. Your lips like tempting cherries ripe, Your checks like roses blown, Your sweet eyes shining bright as stars In fancy yet I see; And you that day than all the world Wore dearne for to me. Were dearer far to me.

And yet, dear heart, I know that I Love better far today Than e'en I loved that maiden fair The wife that's old and gray. And I will pray that you and I May walk life's golden sands. Until we reach that better place. The house not made with hands. -Yankee Blade

More Comfort Less Annoyance

Such is the experience of women who use Pearline for house-cleaning, and the degree of health and comfort is largely due to the way they use it. Directions for saving labor on every package. Delicate women can clean house by its aid; children will be a help, and husbands will never know the work is going on-out of the way, and they will be ignorant of it. It is bosh to say that Pearline hurts the clothing, the paint or the hands. Numbers of people clean their teeth with it; many babes have been washed with it from their birth ; the most delicate of laces and linens have been subjected to the severest of tests. Everything washable, and everybody who must do this work, is benefitted by reason of the use of Pyle's Pearline. It's the modern soap. You'll know it and use it sooner or later. Your grocer keeps the goods.

Ware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers are offering imitations which they claim to be Pearline, or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE-they are not, JAMES PYLE, New York. 164

REPRODUCTION OF THE BEAUTIFUL SHADES OF NATURE. The Science Still Far from Perfect-Progress of the Orthochromatic Branch of Photography-Color of Hair, Eyes and Clothing Obtained. Orthochromatic or correct color photog-raphy is the nearest approach which photog-raphers have yet made toward producing the beautiful and various color shades of nature in the camera. We can photograph the color values in almost a true relation, but as yet the problem to photograph exactly the col-ors themselves remains unsolved. Perhaps no other broch of photography has received so much attention as this. No other is so interesting or so full of promise. It has been the dream of photographers to reproduce with their cameras the beautiful colors of nature as accurately as they are able to depict its form and lights and shadows ever since Daguerre, the ambitious young scenic painter of Paris, exclaimed, on success day and Friday evenings of each week, fully completing his first wonderful photographic experiments: "Why cannot I retain these inimitable wonders which the sun's rays draw to the focus of my lens? Why cannot

Experiments have been numerous and conuous in this direction ever since the birth of photography, fifty-one years ago. Often it has been announced that at last the great secret was discovered, but always to result only in disappointment, for as yet there has been found no way by which the colors themselves can be photographed. SOME ADVANCEMENT.

Much has been accomplished, however, even if the natural colors themselves cannot, as yet, be exactly reproduced by lens and dry plate. We can photograph yellow, green blate. and red so that they can easily be distin-guished in the finished picture, whereas, fornerly, no difference whatever could be seen between these colors in the photograph. In like manner, blue, violet and indigo may now be photographed so that a difference is shown in color values, instead of reproducing them all perfectly white, which was formerly the

A bright yellow color on the old ordinary plate was always photographed a dull black, and very dark and dull blues would appear clear whites, though in the natural subject they were much darker than the yellow, which appeared quite black in the photograph. This unique result was obtained on the old plate because yellow, like green and red, are non-actinic, or photographically in-active colors, while blue and the colors at the other end of the spectrum are very powerful in actinic rays. It therefore happened that the non-actinic colors, whether bright or dull, impressed the sensitive plate but feebly and in the same de-gree, because so little photographic light was transmitted from these colors; while the blue, the violet and the indigo shades, no matter how dull they might appear in nature, being very active photographically, impressed the sensitive plate to a great degree and came out in the photograph much brighter than the yellows and reds, which were in reality more brilliant colors.

HOW COLOR IS OBTAINED.

So it was that the beautiful tints of autumn foliage or the glorious colors of an October sunset could not at all be accurately depicted by the camera. For the same reason a paintwise quite perfect. The problem was to prepare a sensitive sur-

First Ball Game Saturday.

The Marquette base ball team will appear in public for the first time tomorrow, when it will play an exhibition game with Republic at the Third Street Ball Park. The Marquette players are now all on the ground save Dayton, who will be here before the league season opens. Cross and Sullivan came in yesterday.

The management has spent $200 in fitting up the grounds and has brought them into good condition. Another improvement now in course of construction is a new reserved seat grand-stand, immediately behind the catcher. The seats in the new stand will be cushioned and tickets will be put on sale down town. Purchasers buying reserved seats can be assured of getting them on their arrival at the grounds. The fence has been fixed and the "kids", both large and small, will have to bring at least 15 cents with them if they intend like pennant winners but if they only manage to put a stopper on the Ishpeming wind-bags Marquette will be reasonably satisfied.

It is too early to prophesy pennant winners but it is easy to see that the Upper Peninsula league race will be a pretty one. Ishpeming says she das a strong team and probably tells the when the latter's wind showed signs of truth. Hancock is struggling hard to maintain her old prestige, the brawny miners of Calumet are enthusiastic and Houghton and Negaunee are industriously sawing wood. Ishpeming is the only town that claims to hold a cast-iron mortgage on that pennant. Events will prove whether the Hematite City can make her title good. In any event a lively race, good ball and lots of enthusiasm and interest in the national game are certain.

Abnormal Weather. Sergeant Dent predicts that this will be a chilly summer, and advises the people of Marquette to keep their stoves in place for some time yet. May so far has averaged 8 degrees below the nor-mal temperature of that month, as shown by the records of the local signal office since May 1, 1871, or twenty years. The total deficiency in warmth since May 1st now amounts to 120 degrees. Since January 1st the deficiency is 72 degrees. This difference is owing to the fact that while January, March and April were about normal in tempera-ture, in February there was an excess of warmth. May so far has been the coldest, on the average, ever shown here by the records. here by the records.

At 12 o'clock last night the snow was coming down thick but the air was warmer than during the day and the snow seemed inclined to turn into rain. This will probably be the case by the time this issue of the MUNIC LOURNAL time this issue of the MINING JOURNAL reaches its readers, as Sergeant Dent predicts rain for to-day. A heavy rain will be welcome as a relief for not only is the moisture needed but such a down-fall will probably be followed by milder weather and bring the end of the leaden skies that have prevailed of late.

A knot of buyers had gathered and after much eloquence and some lively bidding the lot was finally knocked down to Sam Byrne for $10. A coal stove, some large document cases and more desks, chairs and tables followed Mr. Royce relieving Mr. Maynard running short. Jacob Dolf bought a large case for St. Peter's Cathedral choir to keep music in, Captain Blanchard took in a desk and Mr. Foreman became possessor of a number of miscellaneous chairs, tables and counters The sale was on a strictly cash basis and the total amount accrueing to Uncle Sam's treasury was $33.40.

Business Rooms Scarce.

Court Opens Wednesday.

Judge Stone will open his first term of the circuit court ou Wednesday next instead of Monday, as stated in yesterday's MINING JOURNAL. The error was not caused by the carelessness of a reporter, as most readers are wont to suppose, but occurred because a reporter was misinformed of the facts by a person supposed to know them.

That Rotten Sidewalk.

The MINING JOURNAL has several times spoken of that disgraceful brick sidewalk which surrounds the federal building. It was put down by the orders of certain Washington wisemen, despite the protest of everyone here, including the local supervisor of the work, Mr. Horatio Seymour. The MINING JOURNAL at that time took the matter up and proved that such a walk could not stand this climate. It now has the satisfaction of seeing its predictions verified.

About one in every fifteen bricks in that walk is crumbled and broken and should be replaced at once. By actual count, made by Janitor John Dooley, there are 1,072 bricks that are mere dust and fragments. That walk should be torn up at once and replaced by one suited to this region. It should be of good stone flagging but even sound pine boards would be better than rotten brick. The walk should be replaced this season but it will probably be three or four years before the matter can be
