made a century ago. There were neither railways, iron bridges nor buildings; no petroleum pipes, for there was no petroleum; no gas pipes, for there was no gas lighting even in Europe until later. Washington lived in an age of darkness; instead of the electric light, the people had candles costing about two cents apiece. In all the departments and applications of chemistry the century has simply created a new world. American pressed glass, which has completely revolutionized the supply of table and house ware, is an invention of the last sixty of darkness; instead of the electric ware, is an invention of the last sixty years. Farmington in Washington's day knew nothing of machinery; even the first iron plow, tented in 1797, was a failure. New Jerusalem farmers thought it poisoned the soil. The immensity of the system company will appear at our town hallon is apparent. It runs over and about a big third of the United States, and if the total railway milage of New England were placed under one manage. WINES, - LIQUORS - AND - CIGARE land were placed under one management, the aggregation would be of little more than half the statue of this southwestern giant.

In this connection it may be stated that more than half the mileage of the United States is operated by about twenty-five companies. Next to the Atekison comes the Richmond ferminal, operating 7,700 miles; then comes the Pennyslyania road which from a road less than 500 miles long in 1861, has grown into a system of 7,000 miles. The Union Pacific company operates 6,200 miles; the Southern Pacific, 5,900; St. Paul, 5,600; Burlington & Quincy, 4,900; Chicago & Northwestern, 4,200; Northern Pacific, 3,400; Missouri Pacific, 3,100, and so on. At the present rate of progress twenty-five or thirty companies will probably within twenty years be operating nearly the whole railway mileage of the country.

The Cumberland Nail and Iron company's of this singular plant was growing, and, inworks, at Bridgeton, N. J., have started up advertently falling asleep, awoke to find again. The nail mill has been idle for sevevery effort made to extricate him perished in its deadly embrace.

An officer of the Standard Oil Co. gives the following companies as among those who had hidden in the swamp, and whose bones had been found in the folds of the sagenas only a short time before Mr. Dunstan's visit. These stories, remarkable as they may seem, are firmly believed in by the people, but the only three specimens which Mr. Spring Co., Crane Bros. Mfg. Co., Fowler Rolling Mill Co., and the Pullman Palace ably, if extended in a straight line, measure nearly, if not quite, 100 feet. He was able to discover very little about the nature of the plant, owing to the difficulty of handling it, for its grasp can only be torn away with loss of skin and even of flesh, but, as near as Mr. Dunstan could ascertain, its power of suction is contained in a number of infinitesimal mouths or little suckers, which, ordinarily closed, open for the reception of food.

The gum exuded seems to serve the two-fold purpose of increasing its tenacity and of overcoming a victim by its sickening odor. The plant is found only in low, wet places, and usually beneath a large tree, and while dormant seems only a network of dry, dead vines covering the black earth for several feet, but coming into contact with anything will instantly begin to twist and twine up out with the gumlike substance spoken of be fore, and enwrap the object with a celerity that is almost incredible.

If the substance is animal the blood is drawn off and the carcass or refuse then dropped. A lump of raw meat being thrown it, in the short time of five minutes the blood will be thoroughly drunk off and the mas thrown aside. Its voracity is almost beyond belief, it devouring at one time over ten pounds of meat, though it may be deprived of all food for weeks without any apparent loss of vitality. use. The s'eamboat was practically unknown, and the railway entirely until forty years later. The cost of transportation by wagon confined the area of possible production with profit, as to most crops, to the margin of navigable waters. A singular traditional usage was carried out at Lisbon after the funeral of the late king. At three principal places in the city platforms were erected covered with black cloth. A procession passed from one place to the other. The chief municipal officers of the city and the chief personages of the late royal household, all clad in deep mourning, the control of the city and the chief personages of the late when the city and the chief personages of the late when the city and the chief personages of the late when the city and the chief personages of the late when the city and the chief personages of the late when the city and the chief personages of the late when the city and the chief personages of the late when the city and the chief personages of the late when the city and the chief personages of the late when the city and the chief personages of the late when the city and the chief personages of the late when the city and the chief personages of the late when the city and the chief personages of the late when the city and the chief personages of the late when the chief personages formed the procession, which was preceded and followed by cavalry in mourning, the colors draped with black. Military bands accompanied the march, and four shields, on which were painted the royal arms, were borne aloft on long staves. A multitude of people, all dressed in mourning, were present. Arrived at the platform, all the principal persons took their places upon it, and one of the shield bearers, advancing to the front, cried out in a chanting tone: "Weep, Oh, Portuguese, for your King Dom Luis I is dead." He then dashed the shield to the ground with such violence that it was shattered. This ceremony was repeated at the other platforms. Then the procession moved to the Church of Sante Antonio da Se, where a solemn requiem service was held. the whole ceremony all the bells of the city tolled.—Exchange.

A Spiteful Cat. In a family in Renfrew, Canada, there is a cat which is much petted. One day the lady of the house sat down for a moment, and either to relieve her feelings or as a bit of innocent diversion, gave vent to a little whistle. Immediately the pet cat sprang up to her lap, and with its sheathed paw struck her a blow in the face. The lady thought this strange, but at first hardly connected it with the whistling. However, a little time afterward, in another room, she happened to repeat the whistle, and immediately the cat sprang up and struck her again. This time the lady thought it must be the whistling which was giving pussy offense, and so, with "malice aforethought," whistled again. Sure enough, the cat chastised her with another blow, square in the face. About the only possible explanation is that in the whistle it fancied a call was being given to the pet dog and was jealous thereat.—Rochester Demo-

Overcrowded Cemeteries.

In his address on "The Sanitary Disposi-tion of the Dead," Dr. C. A. Harvey, of New This remedy is becoming so well known York, gave some very interesting information as to need no special mention. He stated that many of the old bury ing grounds of Europe have received so great a number of human remains as to raise the top soil from one to four feet above the surtop soil from one to four feet above the surrounding ground. Many of such burial places have been the fruitful source of epidemics and devastating plagues which have well nigh depopulated the regions about them. Notable among them was the Cemetery of Innocents, in Paris, the ground of which had been so filled with buried dead as to raise it some three feet above the normal level. The result, was the breaking out of a level. The result was the breaking out of a terribly devastating plague.

ATTEMPTED MURDER.

James Daily, a Resident of the "Patch," Tries to Kill His Better Half With a Gun.

The Red Men Will Have a Big Pow-Wow and Picnic on Saturday Next-Miscellaneous Notes.

Attempted Murder.
That suburb of Negaunee designated as "the patch" furnished Monday evening its customary sensation. As usual the Daly family, which seems to have a monopoly on all the rows which occur in that neighborhood, was implicated. The husband, James Daly, and his wife have not got along well together for some time, and their disagreements culminated Monday night in his attempting to shoot his wife- Officers Choquette and Lentz were on hand promptly and disarmed Daly of a wicked-looking revolver of the "bull dog" variety, with which he had threatened to take the life of his wife. The officers took him to jail. Yesterday afternoon he was brought befort Justice Primeau who remanded him to jail until this morning, at which time his pre liminacy examination will take place. The whole family bears an unsavory reputation, some one of them being in trouble from one end of the year to the other, and it would doubtless be a good thing for some of them to be cooped up for a while

Red Men's Pow-Wow.

The Red Men of this county will have a grand pow-wow in Negaunce on Saturday, June 14th. There will be a cel ebration in which all the tribes of the district will participate, and a picnic will be given in Teal Lake grove Bands have been engaged, and the program of music, speeches, etc., has been nearly completed. The Red Men will have a big time here one week from Saturday or know the reason why.

STONE'S BREAD KNEADER.

A HOUSEHOLD IMPLEMENT OF A NEWCLASSAND A DEVICE OF ACKNOWLEDGED MERIT.

PATENTED BY D. G. STONE, NEGAUNEE, MICHIGAN OCT. 22, 1889.

PHYSICIAN writing to an eastern journal in condemnation of the common practice of kneading bread with the hands, supports his objection by the following reasons:

Kneading with the hands is generally practiced by cooks, and it is thought that all necessary requirements have been met, and that it is a cleanly process. Kneading bread with the hands however clean they may be, is not a very clean type rocess, especially in warm weather, when the hands perspire freely. Effete matters from the system are removed by the perspiration, and while the hands are in the bread the perspiration, and while the hands are in the bread the perspiration goes into it, to form a part of the staff of life. If the person who makes the bread is diseased, poisonous matters and diseased products may be incorporated into the bread. The process of baking the bread undoubtedly would destroy all disease germs, but still it is not pleasant to think that the bread we eat may contain such substances as are found in the perspiration. Some other method of kneading bread than with the hands some seems desirable.

Machines have been devised and put to practical use in mixing and kneading, the principle of mechanism in hand kneading.

The object of this invention is to produce in the dough in the process of mixing and kneading to dough in the process of mixing and kneading the dough in the process of mixing and kneading the dough in the process of mixing and kneading to dough with the least expenditure of strength.

Moreover, it is to produce in an implement such combination and economy of parts as that its merits shall the lever is simply turned on its projecting pin to bring the kneader of the time of the propers of on the propers of on the more proper consistency for other within the least of trouble in its cleaning with the least of trouble in its cleaning and care, and at a price within the propers of operation and general utility, with the least of trouble in its cleaning the devise of the propers of the propers of the propers of mixing and wh

Machines have been devised and put to practical use in mixing and kneading dough, the principle of mechanism in vogue being that of a rotating skeleton frame work of bars or blades of irregular forms, whereby the ingredients composing the dough should be subjected to a stirring and beating action by reason of the violent movements of the frame members throughout the mass of material.

by horizontal trunnions riding in bearings formed in the larger block, and which inner block has a pendulous movement. Upon the horizontal frame is placed a circular table having a central aperature to receive the vertical stud, upon which the table is free to turn, and which table being removable is designed to be used as a bread board, and, as such, in the process of shaping loaves for the oven.

As a motor, steam or equivalent power would ordinarily be employed, through manual power could be profitably utilized to a certain extent. Any attempts at applying this principle of agitation to the mixing and kneading of dough in family bread making, by bringing it advantageously within the scope of hand power or limit of material, as found in the average family kitchen a handle at one end, and a projection

This for the reasons, not only that the machinery employed would necessarily involve a considerable expense, but that the labor required, first to their preparation and then to the cleaning and care of the implements was, probably, detrimental to their popularity.

In the dough mixing and kneading device herewith illustrated, the purpose has been to establish movements similar to those developed in the process of ed by reciprocating and turning the

The combined mixing and kneading blades are supported by a lever having a handle at one end, and a projection at the other end adapted to enter an aperture formed in the central black in a porous the loaf the more of its collular. porous the loaf the more of its cellular surface is exposed to the action of the fluids, and, therefore, the more whole-

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER.

Coroner's Jury Places the Blame of the Oakland Disaster on Engineer Dunn.

San Francisco, Cal., June 3.—The coroner's jury has concluded its labors in the Oakland disaster. An effort was made to have Engineer Dunn present to relate the circumstances of the accident, but he could not be found. Conductor T. A. Davis testified that he knew nothing about the drawbridge being open until the engine and car went into the water. He did not think the train was running more than two miles an hour at the time. The jury rendered a verdict finding that th rendered a verdict linding that the victims of the accident came to their death by drowning caused by criminal negligence on the part of Engineer Dunn. The verdict further recites: "We find Engineer Dunn guilty of manslaughter. We also find guilty of manslaughter. We also find that the railway company does not take sufficient caution to signal trains when approaching the drawbridge.'

Very Heavy Wind Storm Passes Over Glenwood, Near Council Bluffs, Iowa.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia, June 3 .- A special from Glenwood, fifteen miles southeast of here, gives news of the disaster wrought in that city by a storm | Prince Bismarck Visits Hamburg as the Guest early this morning- The special states that a terrific storm passed over that city last night. Shortly after midnight heavy black cloud advanced upon the city from the west and the low rumble that preceded it was suggestive of danger. The blackness of the night was frequently dispelled by vivid flashes of lightning. The threatening object moved with great rapidity and about 1 o'clock it reached the city. The rain fell in torrents and was lashed about by a strong wind. The hissing of the lightning was followed by deafening clay of thunder.

by deafening clap of thunder.

In a few hours the storm spent its In a few hours the storm spent its fury and the first evidence of the awful gale was the state institution for the feeble minded. The storm struck the institute at right angles and the large smoke stack that towered above the engine room tottered and fell with a crash. The roof of the building was too weak to support the weight and the smale conduct to the story. smoke conductor tore its way through and in its descent claimed for its victims Willie Cline, of Clark county, and Wesley Emery, of Monroe county, they being instantly killed and their little bodies crushed almost to a pulp. Six others were more or less injured. Several other buildings were wrecked. The storm was the most severe that ever visited that section. Specials from Creston, Atlantic and other points show that the storm was equally severe in those places.

CHICAGO, June 3.-An ex-judge committed to jail, was a scene presented in the probate court to-day. The exjudge is Henry S. Austin, a venerable old settler of 79 years, with a kindly face, gold-bowed spectacles and silver hair and beard. He will remain in jail until discharged by due process of law, or until he pays $6,954.64 belonging to the estate of Henry L. Hall, to William E. Hall, the present administrator of the estate. The ex-judge was made administrator of the Hall estate in 1876.

OLD WORLD AFFAIRS.

President Carnot Pardons the Young Duke of Orleans.

of the Burgomaster-Another Nihilist Plot Against the Czar.

ENGLAND. London, June 3.—An urgent Par-nellite whip has been issued calling upon the nationalist members of the house of commons to be in their seats tion will be made to adjourn the house in order to censure the government for proclaiming the meetings at Tipperary.

President Carnot has granted a pardon to the Duke of Orleans, who was sent to prison in February last for violating the decree of exile issued against the members of his family. The duke will be conducted to the frontier during the night.

The governments of Germany, France, Russia and Switzerland have signed the treaty for the repression of anarchy.

The Times declares that the order to dispatch American cruisers to Behring Sea smacks too much of the methods of the first Napoleon in dealing with weak statesmen, and that if the order is executed British men-of-war must follow. "We can only imagine," the Times continues, "that pressure from Irish-Americans has induced Mr. Blaine to withdraw from his apparent desire for a diplomatic settlement."

RUSSIA.

St. Petersburg, June 3.-It came to the knowledge of the police of this city to-day that nihilist in France are engaged in a fresh conspiracy against the life of the Czar.

The activity of the French officials in arresting the nihilists who are conspiring against the Czar, in France has made a favorable impression in political circles here and is likely to remove the last vestige of opposition to an entente between Russia and that country.

GERMANY.

HAMBURG, June 3.—On the invitation of Burgomaster Peterson Prince Bismarck, accompanied by the princess and their sons, visited Hamburg to-day. The party inspected the harbor and afterward took luncheon at the office of the Hamburg American Packet com-pany. They met with an enthusiastic reception everywhere. Prince Bismarck's manner was hearty and cheer

Emperor William to-day received a deputation from the German unions In a sympathetic speech, the emperor declared that it was his most earnest wish to see handicraft again on the same basis as in the fourteenth century.

CATARRH.

Catarrhal Desfness-Hay Fever-A New Home

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result of this discovery is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby catarrh, catarrhal deafness and hay fever are permanently cured in from one to three simple applications made at home by the patient once in two weeks.

DOG SENSE.

Framps Discuss the Subject and Two Good Stories Are Told.

A little crowd of seedy men were gathered the other night about one of the ugly fur-naces that defaced City Hall park while the contractors were covering the plaza with as-phaltum. They were warming their bodies in the tarry smoke that streamed out of it, and had deserted the seats under the trees where they had slept most of the summer.

"I saw a queer thing happen here yester-day," said one of them. "A big Newfound-land dog, with a muzzle on him, was following a boy along Mail street when a little bull ing a boy along Mall street when a little bull terrier made a dash for him and got a death grip on one of the big fellow's long ears. It was all done so quick that the Newfoundland was being well chewed before he knew what had struck him. He gave a howl and a snap at the little brute, but his muzzle would not illow him to open his jaws, and the bull terier chewed away like mad. All he could do was to turn tail and run, but the terrier did not loosen his grip and went along They dashed through the crowd, past the fountain and out on the plaza here, where the big fellow nearly ran over a pail of smok ng hot tar that was standing for a moment by the side of a workman, who had stopped light his pipe.

"Qnick as a flash the big dog stopped and hrew his head as high in the air as he could This dragged the little terrier well off his feet, and nearly tore the ear from the head of the Newfoundland, but when the little brute came down again he lit plump in the pail of burning tar. He let go of the ear puick enough then, you bet, and as the big fellow trotted off, shaking his head, I felt like giving him a cheer for his smartness,

"Oh, give us a rest," said another man, "you don't suppose it was anything but an accident, do you? Dogs ain't got half the sense they get credit for."

"Well, I ain't so sure of that," said another. "I ain't got no love nor no use for logs anyway, but some of them has certainly got more sense than others. I was cramping in Pennsylvania, and was crossing a field full of green corn, when suddenly two big dogs take after me that I hadn't seen be-fore and wasn't prepared for. They were ugly looking brutes, and I thought the best thing for me to do was to make for a tree, about a dozen rods away, ncross a little gully. I'm a good sprinter and soon reached the gully, but in crossing it I slipped, twisted my ankle badly and fell flat, howling with the pain and unable to go a step further.
"In balf a minute the two brutes were at the top of the gully, barking like mad and ready to tear me to pieces. I thought my goose was cooked sure, but I did not seem to are, for I could only hug my ankle and fairly cry with the pain. The smallest dog of the a big collie, reached me ahead of the other, but to my great surprise, instead of sinking his long, sharp teeth in my flesh, stopped and looked me all over for a second, and when the other dog, a huge mongrel brute, came and made a dive for me the colie shoved himself between us and pushed nim off. The mongrel could not understand this and evidently resented it. He gave a suap at his companion and made another dive for me, but the collie got him by the ear and dragged him off. Then the mongrel turned on the collie, but he had no show there at all, and soon withdrew a little way and looked at us in growing amazement.

"The collie sniffed at me a little, evidently seeing that I had hurt myself badly, and then went over and apparently consulted with the mongrel, for they both disappeared over the edge of the gully and presently came back at the heels of a man, the farmer who owned them. He was not much better than the mongrel, however, though he let me lie there in peace for an hour or two, and by and by I was able to limp away with a whole skin and no more rags than I brought thanks to the collie."—New York Tribune.

"'Why, Uncle John!' calls out Carrie, 'you lon't mean to say you've been fishing and didn't take me!'

"'Fishing—for squab? says I.
"'How many did you catch? says she. I aw she meant it." Here the old squire laughed heartily. "'Yes," says she, 'I think it's pretty mean o go fishing and not take me.'

"Wish you could have seen her face when I went out and brought in those birds! she was equal to it. 'We might boil them,' said she, and then we would have a pretty kettle of fish!" "-Youth's Companion,

He Was Frightened.

I once saw a very amusing incident in Hong Kong that gave me an insight into the Chinaman's keen sense of humor. I was sim ply a spectator in this case, but the story wil bear chronicling. This was in 1878. I had finished a season at the Theatre Royal, and by special invitation gave an exhibition at the swell Chinese theatre, the Polok. There were a number of mandarins and rich mer chants in the auditorium, and as I had an interpreter we got along swimmingly. a committee on the stage when I did my cabinet trick. One of the committeemen was very inquisitive. After each test he insisted upon examining my hands to see that I was mrely tied

While he was bending over, a fellow committeeman, a portly mandarin, took from the chair a tambourine and hit the stooping Celestial a sharp rap on the head. Then putting the instrument behind his back be gazed into space with that imperturbability of counter nance that only a Chinaman can assume. Of course the audience saw the trick and roared with laughter, but the poor fellow did not see it. An expression of unutterable horror spread over his face, and with a cry of terror he rushed from the theatre at a pace that would have enabled any one to use his pigtail for a clothes line.-Kellar in St. Louis Post-

Cure for Stomach/Troubles.

To Whom IT MAY CONCERN:
In the summer of 1870 I was first afflicted with that most dreaded disease, dyspepsia, and for over fifteen years I suffered terribly at times. In the meantime I tried ev ry so-called remedy imaginable, without finding relief. Having been in the drug business since 1868. I determined to help myself if it lay in the power of medicine? Two years ago I succeeded in discovering a remedy. It cured me. Until have given ample time for possibility of doubt, however, I kept my secret almost to myself, putting up the medicine for only a few of my sorely troubled friends, every one of whom was cured. I now know the medicine to be a positive cure, and have decided to put it on the market, that my discovery may do humanity all possible 200d. It will be known as "Bruske's Positive Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Cure," which is guaranteed to cure all allments of the stomach, liver and kidney. I have a number of testimonials which afflicted parties may be interested in.

for April was smaller than in any previous month for a half year, on account of the breaking down of machinery and an enforced idleness while waiting for necessary repairs, but the May product shows that the mine is steadily forging ahead and increasing its pro duction of the precious metals.

Returns received from the government branch mint at New York give the value of the bullion product of the 500 Gogebic Iron Syndica first fifteen days of May as $1,948.71. This was estimated at $1,850 by the as sayer of the mine, all estimates made being below the real value of the bul-

If you have stock for sale, or day, and its assay value is given at $5,000, though it will run over that amount. Six corloads of concentrates, estimated to be worth $2,500 were also produced in May, thus bringing the total gold and silver product of the month up to $9,500 at the lowest estimate, and distancing the best previous record of production.

For the last half of the month of May the product was $5,000 in bullion and $1,500 in concentrates, which is considerably more than has been produced in any half month before.

The net value of the concentrates for May will be about $1,000, making the net gold and silver production of the month over $8,000. The actual operating expenses of the mine, mill and oftice, allowing for taxes, insurance and all contingent expenses are, at a liberal estimate, not over $5,000 a month. This means that the actual cash profit of the Ropes for May was $3,000-$100 a day. Even in April, when the mill was idle 15 days, more than expenses were made, though there was no stoppage of work in the mine.

The rock milled in May was from the second level east and west, and from the east and west drifts of the 8th and 9th levels. The rock in the lower part of the mine is richer than in other workings of the property and were this rock to be milled exclusively a monthly production of $15,000 could be achieved with the present mill.

The new 5-foot Huntington mill is being put in position, and will be runmill is guaranteed to do the work of 4th, for the erection of an ten stamps and two vanners, and costs but half as much as the stamps and additional story on Hook the refractory rock of the Ropes mine more of them will be ordered for that Plans and specifications

Points About Horses.

A Gazette reporter was in the stables of M. A. Maupin on the South side recently, and while there engaged that gentleman, who is one of the best posted men on horses in Texas, in a general conversation about the different

"A horse is an intelligent animal general ly," said he, "but, like some men, some horses have but little brains; unless a horse has culty in getting the water out of the de-pression in his lot at the corner of Division and First streets. The work of laying pointing to a tall bay, a fine looking animal, fifteen hands high, which was standing in a stall, "You can't teach that horse anything.
"Why not?"

"Well, I will show you the difference in heads, but have a care of his heels. Now, look at the brute's head, that rounding nose, that tapering forehead and that broad, full place between the eyes. You can't trust

"Now look at that other animal in the stall next to him. That's an awful good mare—as true as the sun. In her you can see breadth and fullness between the eyes and ears. You couldn't induce that mare to act mean or hurt anybody. In a horse the eye should be full, and in color a hazel is good. "Now as to the ear. I like a small, thin ear, and want a horse to throw its ears well forward. Look out for the brute that wants to listen to all the conversation going on be-hind him. The horse that turns back his ears till they almost meet at the points, take my word for it, is sure to do something wrong. See that straight, elegant face.

"A horse with a dishing face is cowardly, and a cowardly brute is usually vicious. Then I like a square muzzle with large nostrils to let in plenty of air to the lungs. For the under side of the head a good horse should be well cut under the jowl, with jawbones bread and wide vest water that he the state of the stat broad and wide apart under the throttle.

"The next thing to consider is the build of an animal. Never buy a long legged, stilty horse. Let him have a short, straight back and a straight rump, and you've got a gentleman's horse. The withers should be high and the shoulders well set back and broad, but don't get them too deep in the chest. The fore leg should be short. Give me a pretty straight hind leg with the hock low down, the pastern joint of good length, and a me dium broad foot."—Forth Worth Gazette.

The Hawks Held the Fort. We saw a good many fish hawks through the woods we traversed, and examined with interest their nests of broken sticks. Many Jersey farmers hereabouts regard the fish hawk with superstitious awe, and money will not tempt them to shoot a hawk. Near Cape May court house, within a stone's throw of the waters of the bay, in a stunted pine treetop, is a fish hawk's nest built in 1862. Several times either the male or female bird has been killed by some adventurous gunner, but the fittest surviving bird soon got himself another "crest" and another mate, and began punctually in the spring restoring and rebuilding the old nest, multiplying promptly and replenishing the broad of young hawks. At Fishing creek one of these fish devourers built its nest years ago in the chimney of a fisherman's two story cabin. The smoke did not annoy the birds, young or old. But the hawks were a nuisance to the family of the jolly fisherman. Every device save a loaded shotgun was used to get rid of the nest and its owners. The fisherman was too super-stitious to kill the birds, and the unequal constations to kill the birds, and the unequal con-test between the fisherman and the fish hawk ended by the family deserting their cabin home, and the birds still rear and feed their young in the old chimney top of the deserted cabin year by year.-Forest and Stream.

"Tipping" Waiters.

A correspondent of The New York Tribune avers that a decent meal cannot be obtained in many places in New York unless the waiter is "tipped." in the beginning. He adds: "The waiter will not trust you. You must not only pay dearly for what you have to eat, but the landlords allow you to be subjected to the insult of unfeed waiters. There are hotels and restaurants in New York which are shunned by many people because they will not voluntarily subject themselves to such abuses. And this feeling of opposi-tion to the extortion of waiters is rapidly to such abuses. And this feeling of opposi-tion to the extortion of waiters is rapidly growing, and will continue to grow. Rights of a Chinese Husband. In an article by Dr. Faber in a Shanghai periodical on the "Status of Women in China," he writes that the Chinese laws, while they are intended throughout for the defense of marriage as a sacred institution, are as one sided as all laws relating to women are in oriental countries. If a man beats his wife, but does not break her limbs or maim her, the law takes no notice of it; if a wife beats her husband, she is liable to receive 100 blows and her husband may separate from her. Those who have been shocked by the sale of women in the famine regions by the sale of women in the lamine regions will be interested in knowing that the law provides that "he who from poverty sells his wife shall not be heavily punished; let the woman revert to the last husband (that is, to the man she was sold to)."—Pall Mall Gazette.

HOUGHTON.

The trial of Napoleon Trudeaux, of Chassell, for the murder of his step-child by administering paris green is not attracting much attention outside of those specially concerned in it, the attendance at the court house being quite small. Shortly after 2 o'clock Monday afternoon the jury panel was filled. The jurors are as follows: Gottleib Hartman, Joseph Strodel, A. Hanauer, H. Halvorsen, Emil J. LaPlant, Wm. Wagner, Henry Fliege, Thomas Curtis, John H. Pascoe, William Peters, Michael Messner and Charles Linder.

The first witness sworn was Deputy Sheriff James Thomas, who testified to the taking the body of the child to Crawford's undertaking shop in Hancock; that he was present when the mother and Peter Destramp identified the body, and that he was

Prof. I. Peakand of the Mishigan Min.

Prof. R. L. Packard, of the Michigan Mining school, who made the chemical analysis, testified as to its results and explained to the court the manner of making it. He exhibited the sealed glass tubes containing the arsenic recovered from the stomach and intestines also a platinum cone upon which was deposited by electrolysis the copper which the paris green or arsenite of copper contained.

copper which the paris green or arsenite of copper contained.

Drs. A. J. Lawbaugh, A. David, H. W. Jones, J. P. Mason, A. M. Wheeler and A. Overfield testified as to the poison's effects and fatal dose of arsenic and paris green. Yesterday forenoon was also spent in hearing further medical evidence from the physicians who were on the stand Monday. After them came Deputy Sheriff Thomas who testified to going to the house at Chassell with Mrs.Trudeaux and finding two boxes of paris green one of which he brought with him. He stated that when he told Trudeaux in jail that evening that the paris green was found in the house that he colored up and seemed to be considerable embarrassed.
