TURPIN TURNED OUT.

Alabama Contested Election Case Settled by Giving the Seat to the Contestant.

CORRECTION ORDERED MADE IN THE CUSTOMS ADMINISTRATION BILL.

The Senate Passes the Fortifications Bill After Amending It—Republican Caucus on the Silver Bill.

THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The house this morning took up the Alabama contested election case. Mr. Wilson (Mo.), in advocating the claims of the contestant, said that this case was intended to pave the way for a federal election law. The verdict in this case would stain the record of the house for all time. It was a monument which would stand forever of the greatest injustice ever wrought on this floor since the foundation of the government.

Mr. Turpin spoke briefly in his own behalf. Mr. Rowell (Ill.) summed up the case of the contestant. In the course of his remarks he said that the time was coming when all over the United States it would be as much a crime to stuff a ballot box or falsify a return as it would be to commit a felony. The time was at hand when it would no longer be a decoration of honor that a man was fruitful in resources to falsify returns. In conclusion he said that the committee on elections had done its duty faithfully and well. It had found the district honeycombed with fraud. An act of justice was about to be done in reversing the wrong perpetrated in a district where certificates of election were obtained by the counting and not by the vote of the people.

The first vote was taken on the minority resolution declaring Turpin elected and it was rejected—yeas, 114; nays, 130. The majority resolution seating McDuffie was agreed to—yeas, 130; nays, 113; and Mr. McDuffie appeared at the bar of the house and took the oath of office.

Mr. McKinley (Ohio) presented a concurrent resolution directing the enrolling clerk to enroll in the customs administrative bill what is known as the senate amendment in regard to the abandonment of goods to underwriters and seafarers. Although there was no opposition to the correction being made, the democrats carrying out their program of making the administrative bill a test measure as to the power of the speaker to count a quorum were unwilling to give even their tacit assent to any feature of the bill. They therefore ordered the yeas and nays and refrained from voting. The resolution was agreed to—yeas, 127; nays, 5; the speaker counting a quorum. The house then adjourned.

A republican caucus was announced to take place immediately.

THE SENATE.

A resolution was agreed to for an inquiry into the management of the fish commissioner's office. The presiding officer announced as the selected committee on the bill for the establishment of the university of the United States, Messrs. Edmunds, Sherman, Ingalls, Blair, Dolph, Harris, Butler, Gibson and Barbour. The fortification bill was then taken up, the pending question being on striking out two items for the Watervliet (N. Y.) arsenal, $248,743 for the election of the south wing and $780,000 for machinery for 12-inch guns, and insert in lieu of them the following: "For boring and turning lathes, rifling machinery and 80-ton traveling crane fully equipped for the manufacture of 12-inch guns at the Watervliet arsenal, $285,000. After discussion the amendment was agreed to—yeas 22, nays 18.

All the amendments recommended by the committee on appropriations were agreed to and the bill was reported to the senate. There was a separate vote taken on the amendment increasing the appropriation for rifled sea coast mortars from $250,000 to $400,000. The amendment was agreed to—yeas, 32; nays, 15. All the other amendments were agreed to and the bill was passed.

The current resolution of the house authorizing the enrolling clerk to insert in the administrative bill a certain proviso, agreed to by the conference committee but omitted by error in the enrolled bill, was presented, explained by Mr. Allison and agreed to. It has reference to the duties on imported goods saved from wrecked vessels.

A communication from the secretary of the interior in reply to Mr. Stewart's resolution as to the diversion of the funds for irrigation to topographical surveys, denying that there was any such diversion was presented, read and ordered printed and referred to the committee on irrigation. Mr. Stewart asserted, nevertheless, that the money had been "squarely misappropriated," and that the whole legislation on the subject of irrigation had turned out to be an unmitigated evil, it having been turned over to Major Powell, who controlled the whole business.

Mr. Reagan said that he had occasion to look into the question and had come to a very different conclusion from that arrived at by Mr. Stewart. He believed that Major Powell had acted in strict accordance with law. Mr. Frye offered a joint resolution to authorize the president to form alliances with foreign countries for the suppression of the liquor traffic. Referred to the committee on foreign relations. The senate then adjourned.

WASHINGTON INTELLIGENCE.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—There was a caucus of republican representatives called immediately after adjournment this afternoon to consider what order should be made with respect to the silver bill. Owing to the deficiency in the amount of the funds in the hands of different pension agents, many pensioners will be compelled to wait until July 1st for the payment of their pensions. The final payments by the pension agents will not be completed until about June 20th, and those who have not been paid by that time will be compelled to wait only a few days as the appropriation for the next fiscal year becomes available on July 1st.

IMPRISONED BY A GALE.

Wind Storm Forces People to Spend the Night in a College Chapel.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 4.—A special from Pierre, S. D., to the Pioneer Press says: A big wind storm, accompanied by a drenching rain, came upon this locality last night at about 9 o'clock and continued until 10 o'clock this morning. It was impossible to walk in the streets during the whole time, and over three hundred people who attended the commencement exercises at one mile east of town, were compelled to remain until a late hour this forenoon in the college chapel. A venturesome hackman was blown from his hack and badly injured. The rain still continues to fall in torrents although the wind has subsided. The pontoon bridge is wrecked and the Missouri is fifteen feet above low water. The steamer Choska is at the landing and is being badly pounded by the gale.

DECLINED A NOMINATION.

Congressman Bayne Wants Rest From Public Service.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 3.—Col. Thomas M. Bayne to-day refused the renomination for congress by the republican county convention. He represents the Twenty-third district in congress. Two thirds of the delegates were for Colonel Bayne. Upon his declination Col. William A. Stone, ex-United States district attorney, was nominated. Colonel Bayne's excuse for refusing the nomination was that he was worn out and unable to work. He says he decided on this course several months ago, but told no one but his wife. His popularity was shown by the manner in which his withdrawal was received by the delegates. The Hon. John Dalzell was renominated in the Twenty-second district.

LAUNCH OF A WAR SHIP.

The Bennington Goes Into Water at Chester, Pa.—Her Dimensions.

CHESTER, Pa., June 3.—At noon today the United States gunboat Bennington was launched at Roach's shipyard. The Bennington is a twin companion of the Concord, launched a few months ago. Her dimensions are: Length, 230 feet; extreme breadth, 36 feet; displacement, 1,700 tons. Two triple-expansion engines developing 2,200 horse-power with forced draughts, will supply motive power. The cylinders are 29, 31 and 50 inches in diameter, with 30-inch stroke. The Bennington's armament will consist of six six-inch breech-loading rifles and a secondary battery of eight rapid-firing guns and revolving cannon on rail and tripod mounts, and eight torpedo guns.

Wright's Body Recovered.

DEPERE, June 3.—The body of Charles Wright, a highly respected Free Mason of this city, who was drowned on Sunday by the capsizing of his skiff at Little Rapids, five miles up the river, was recovered to-day by the rock tender at that point. An inquest will be held to-morrow. On their arrival here the remains were taken in charge by the Masonic fraternity, under whose auspices they will be interred with the honors of the order. Wright was 36 years of age and leaves a wife and child.

Dunn Keeps in Hiding.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—Sheriff Hall, of Alameda county, and several deputies have been keeping up a search for Engineer Dunn in order to serve the warrant charging him with manslaughter which was issued by Coroner Everts, of Oakland, after the inquest into the cause of the drawbridge disaster last Friday. All efforts to locate Dunn have been fruitless so far, and the officers have concluded that he is attempting to escape. Sheriff Hall has sent a telegram to all parts of the state asking for the arrest of Dunn.

Two Fatal Mine Accidents.

LEADVILLE, Col., June 4.—Engineer Falk, while repairing the pump in the Gallagher shaft of the Alkado company's mine fell 200 feet to the bottom and was crushed into a horrible mass. At the Antioch mine, Thomas Flanagan was blown to atoms by a premature explosion, and James O'Donnell was badly injured. The latter's recovery is doubtful.

Struck For Better Pay.

ST. PAUL, June 4.—Some two hundred laborers on the Selby avenue cable line extension in this city struck to-day for an increase in wages and all work is suspended. They have been getting $1.00 a day. A committee was sent to the men at work on the University avenue line to get them to join the strikers, but at last accounts the mission was fruitless.

Hawkins Saves His Bacon.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—Dan Hawkins and Fred Bogan fought at the Golden Gate Athletic club last night for the bantam weight championship of the Pacific coast. Hawkins was nearly knocked out in the nineteenth round, but recovered, and the fight was declared postponed at the end of the seventy-third round, no fighting having been done for about forty rounds.

Whole Family Slaughtered.

TUCSON, Ariz., June 4.—A Mexican brought word here to-day of the killing of a man and wife and two children at Pantana, thirty miles east of Tucson, to-day. He reports going to the ranch and finding the family murdered and the house burned. He came to the city to give an alarm. The ranch is on the direct trail from the San Carlos Indian reservation and Mexico.

THE BENNETT LAW.

German Lutherans of Wisconsin Show No Signs of Surrender.

Large Convention Held in Milwaukee—Address of Prof. Anderson, Ex-Minister to Denmark—The Resolutions.

MILWAUKEE, June 4.—The German Lutheran anti-Bennett law convention was called to order at West Side Turner Hall shortly after 1 o'clock, by Christian Koerner, editor of the Germania, who represents the head and foot of the Lutheran party. After the appointment of a committee on credentials, Mayor Peck appeared on the platform and made a pleasant little speech of welcome. He was followed by F. W. Cotzhausen, a prominent German lawyer, Collector of Customs, and ex-minister to Denmark, and Aug. Ross, another attaché of the Germania. All spoke of the Bennett law as unnecessary and as an infringement on civil and religious liberty.

Perhaps no address of the conference was looked forward to with more general interest than that given by Prof. Anderson, the celebrated Norse scholar and author, and during Cleveland's administration United States minister to Denmark. Prof. Anderson discussed the Bennett law, section by section, and took the ground that the law was unnecessary and therefore ought never to have been enacted. He declared himself to be in favor of the objects sought to be accomplished by the Bennett law, but denounced the methods there employed as extraordinarily harsh. "Whoever directly or indirectly opposes the American common school," earnestly exclaimed the speaker in closing, "is an enemy of education, of liberty, of progress. Opposition to the common school is treason to our country."

The resolutions protest against the Bennett law because it unnecessarily and unjustly curtails civil and religious liberty; offers the school board an opportunity of declaring arbitrarily that a child during the period of enforced attendance must attend a school in the city, town or district in which it resides, thus depriving parents of the right to send their children to a better and more suitable school outside the district; compels parochial and other private schools to observe the time or times of attendance fixed by school boards, without regard to the rights and customs of churches or the schools; prescribes certain studies and also the medium of instruction therein; affords school boards ample opportunity to usurp powers not given them although the state and its officers have no right to interfere with the management of parochial and other private schools. The resolutions fully declare that regardless of former party affiliations German Lutherans shall vote for such candidates only as pledge themselves to work for the repeal of the Bennett law.

THEY READ THE PAPERS.

The Journeymen Builders of Wisconsin Keep Abreast of the Times.

MADISON, June 3.—Out of 538 workmen who have made reports of their earnings at their trades for the year 1889, to the bureau of labor and industrial statistics, 283 are subscribers to daily newspapers, 468 take weeklies and 131 take monthly magazines or trade publications. Only 73 report having no paper at all. Some of the men have both daily and weekly papers, and some even three and four. In other words, 882 publications are patronized by the 538 workmen, or three papers for every two families. The fact that the report embraces only journeymen engaged in the several branches of the building trades speaks very well for the general intelligence of the Wisconsin workmen. The report of the bureau, which is in the hands of the printer, will be issued about July 15, and is especially devoted to statistics of the building trades.

Royal Arcanum Meeting.

MILWAUKEE, June 4.—The thirteenth annual meeting of the Supreme Council of the Royal Arcanum began in this city today and will continue for ten days, during which a large portion of the time will be given up to social entertainments provided by the citizens of Milwaukee. The Supreme Council went into session at the Plankinton house at 2 p. m. The opening services were conducted according to the ritual of the order. After the report of the committee on credentials and other preliminary business the annual reports of the supreme officers were submitted. Secretary Robinson reported the membership of the order at the close of the year '89 as 97,957 as compared with 86,991 members in '88. The total number of councils is 122, an increase of 98 during the year.

Burned by Molten Metal.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 4.—A ladle of molten steel was accidentally overturned at the Allegheny Bessemer works at Duquesne, Pa., this forenoon and five workmen were burned. One of them, Thos. Holland, will die. The injuries of the others are painful but are not expected to be serious.

Attacked By Indians.

TUCSON, Ariz., June 4.—Two Mexicans have just come in saying they were driven into the city by Indians who attacked them nine miles from Tucson, near the San Miguel mine. They secreted themselves in the rocks and escaped. They fear the Indians have attacked a ranch near there, killing the inmates.

No One to Work On.

MILWAUKEE, June 4.—Officer Malone, stationed near elevator A, discovered the body of a new-born babe in the Menominee river. The police are working on the case, but have almost nothing to start on.

MARQUETTE, MICH., JUNE 5

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

In a speech at his home, Lowell, the other day, General Butler boomed Alger for the presidency. Ben always did have a tender spot for Michigan.

SUPERINTENDENT VAUGHAN, of the Mackinaw division of the Michigan Central, has resigned and will leave the road on the 25th of June to become general manager of the Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia. About twenty Michigan Central engineers will also leave and will follow the gentleman who has looked after the M. C.'s upper peninsula business and smashed ice at the straits winters, to the south-land.

ACCORDING to the Iron Trade Review the outlook for iron is becoming much brighter. In the general trade it doesn't see so much, perhaps, of its favorite bugbear just now "frozen stockpiles." It says: "The market at Pittsburgh is firm and quite active. The advance before reported in Bessemer iron is well maintained, and other kinds are stronger than at date of last report. Manufacturers generally report a large amount of work on hand, and many have orders booked that will keep them running at least two months, and consider the situation satisfactory. The large railroad earnings, and increased value of stocks based upon these, have lent additional encouragement, and it is felt that the market is in excellent condition. At a meeting of the Wrought Iron Manufacturers' association, held in Pittsburgh the past week, present prices and conditions were reaffirmed, and measures were taken, it is reported, for limiting present production, the market being overstocked."

The Boston Transcript gives the following notes concerning copper:
The Boston & Montana produced 2,450,000 pounds of copper in May, against 2,290,100 pounds in the same month last year, making the total for the fiscal year to date (July 1 to May 31) 23,827,163 pounds, against 21,690,553 pounds for the previous year.

The Santa Fe Mining company is not expected to resume production of copper for some three months. It will take that time for the concentrator to be erected and put in operation. The company received a proposition from an English firm in which the latter offered to erect a concentrator and to take a royalty in the shape of a certain amount per ton of rock treated therefor or to sell it to the company for a fixed price if it should prove satisfactory and the company desired to do so. Samples of Santa Fe rock have been sent to London, and if these are satisfactory the arrangement probably will go through. Possibly this may mean a London interest in Santa Fe stock by and by. An American copper mining stock at four shillings per share may attract the speculative English. Advice from the mine continue to be favorable and encouraging.

"LITTLE JAKE" has dared to tackle Uncle Luther and for once has been knocked out. The News says:
Mr. Seligman, of Saginaw, has had his little tussle with Uncle Luther Beecher, of Detroit, and Mr. Beecher knocked out Mr. Seligman is the second round. Mr. Seligman was willing to buy, or rent, or lease, or do anything in order to get control of the Biddle house. Mr. Beecher, on the other hand, was willing to do anything but lose his grasp of his idol. He would sell, or lease, or rent, providing a proviso was interpolated giving him the power to upset the business whenever his liver urged him to begin a row. As "Little Jake" does not want an uncle for a business partner, the negotiations were broken off, and he returns to Saginaw with his money. While Mr. Beecher hugs the Biddle house to his bosom. The only thing that will separate the two B's is death, with a big D. Mr. Beecher's love of the Biddle house is stronger than his love of money. He prefers to sacrifice $20,000 a year rather than let this object of his affections out of his control. And as no sane business man is willing to risk his money, or time or experience with Mr. Beecher as a partner, there is no likelihood of the Biddle house being used for business purposes until the owner has been gathered to his fathers. There are times when funerals and firms greatly advance the prosperity of a community.

PENNSYLVANIA republicans have had a little surprise. Great interest was taken in the primaries in the Twenty-third district because upon their result depended the renomination of Congressman Thomas M. Bayne. There was a hot fight and Bayne went into the convention Tuesday with two-thirds of the delegates in his favor, but being assured of the nomination he came forward and made an address withdrawing in favor of Col. William A. Stone, ex-United States district attorney, who was nominated. Col. Bayne's excuse for refusing the nomination was that he was worn out and unable to work. He had worked for the honor of the nomination as a vindication, had succeeded, and was satisfied. Congressman Bayne says he decided on this course several months ago, but told no one but his wife. He certainly did keep the secret well, for nearly everyone in the convention was surprised, and dismayed, too. His popularity was shown by the manner in which his withdrawal from congress was received by the delegates. Much interest was felt here in the issue in this Pittsburgh district, as George Shrias, 3rd, son-in-law of Hon. Peter White and almost a resident of Marquette himself, had a strong support for the nomination. He telegraphed, however, two or three days ago that Bayne was certain to have the convention.

The Cleveland Iron Trade Review, which has been wandering about in the mails somewhere since Saturday, has this to say about the iron ore situation:

The first ripple of the breeze of prosperity that agitated the market last week has not died away as yet, bidding fair, on the contrary, to stay awhile and grow in volume. The first advance in pig iron last week was immediately followed by inquiries for Bessemer ore, resulting in the sale this week of some 20,000 tons of that material, mostly hematite. While the quantity sold is so small as to cut no figure whatever, the sale itself stands in evidence of the returning confidence of furnace-men and as a precursor of better things to come. The price obtained was up to the full quotation, which is another confirmation of the wisdom exercised by the iron interests in maintaining the price of their commodity. The reports current in the Lake Superior country that the railroads and docks could not handle the large output predicted for '90, are hardly in keeping with the facts. The railroads tapping all lower lake ports are amply able to take care of all the ore brought down and the dock facilities are being constantly increased. The shortage, if any there is, will be due to the inability of the mines to furnish cargoes as fast as required. Up to this date, vessel-men complain that the stock piles, being still a solidly frozen mass, cannot be moved, and considerable delay may be encountered on that score.

LOOKING FORWARD.
Around the World in Sixty Minutes—The Diary of a Traveler.

Chicago, Jan. 14, 1900, 11 a. m.—Am just starting for a trip around the world. My baggage consists of an opera glass, a couple of oranges and a ten cent cigar.

New York, 11:02—Reached this city by pneumatic tube. Only special feature of the whirl across the country was a momentary smell of coal oil while passing through the state of Pennsylvania.

London, 11:00—Lost nineteen seconds in New York. I came to this city by the well known Skyrocket route. Got here four seconds behind time, having had to dodge two cyclones and a pair of trousers belonging to an English tourist. The trousers had dropped from a rocket train just ahead of us, and were gyrating wildly through the air on their way down from the clouds.

Paris, 11:19—Am four minutes and a half behind time. The "lazy tongue" tramway that runs to this city by tunnel under the English channel and overland the rest of the way was not sufficiently greased, and it took us nearly five minutes to make the last fifty miles. This lack of grease shows that the French couldn't run a political campaign in Ohio to save their lives.

Rome, 11:27—Nearly ten minutes behind time. The passenger bomb in which I traveled to this point scraped against the sides of the sheet iron vacuum rainbow it was fired through, and we had to put on brakes to prevent hot boxes. I have just hired an Italian brigand to go out behind the Coliseum and swear as long and as hard as he feels justified in doing for $2.65.

Calcutta, 11:30—My time is half gone, and I am not yet half way round. Came from Rome by the Electric Inclined Plane route. The cars are huge lignum vitae balls that roll down the hollow tube, through which a blast of air is forced by powerful dynamos. The sensation of traveling in this way is novel, but not particularly enjoyable.

Hong Kong, 11:40—Ten minutes behind schedule time. Came from Calcutta to this place by the famous Catapult line. There was a delay of several minutes in cutting the cable that held the spring down at the western end of the line. A sacred white elephant was standing on the trap and nobody liked to take the liberty of asking him to move off.

Sitka, Alaska, 11:50—The Chinese at Hong Kong have their old time hatred of foreign devils. They fired me out of there by the Projectile route to Kamschatka, where I took the Electric Toboggan slide. Came from Peking to this place in a large hollow cylinder, the slide being laid across Behring strait, which is, fortunately, frozen over. The icicle was very much worn and haggard by the time it got here. Only ten minutes now to get to Chicago.

Sitka, 11:50—Haven't got away from here yet. Went out and caught a seal and a bad cold while waiting. Have just made a bet of $100 I'll go through on time.

Chicago, 12 M.—Was delayed at Sitka till 11:50 in consequence of a slight change in the time table. Stepped into the air tight tube of the Great Overland Rubber Band Air Line route at that exact moment, the catch was loosened, and the gigantic elastic rope, made of the best Para rubber, and stretched to its utmost tension, whisked me across the country, more than 3,000 miles in a direct line, in the twinkling of an eye. Reached here with more than half a minute to spare.

It isn't a difficult job to go around the globe in sixty minutes. All you need beside your tickets is a fan, an overcoat and a bottle of lung balsam.

Anybody can go round the world in sixty minutes.

In the old foggy days of 1890, two hundred years ago, it was thought a wonderful thing to make the trip in seventy-two days, six hours and eleven minutes. This only shows that the people of that bygone age were not really sensible of their misery. They thought they were pretty smart. Let us regard them, my countrymen, with feelings of sincere compassion, rather than contempt.

My little jaunt has made me hungry. I must go to lunch.—Y. Knott in Chicago Tribune.

Chicago's First White Child.
Hampton, Ia., is the present home of the first white child born in Chicago, or, rather, on the site of the present city. Sarah Jane Harris was born in old Fort Dearborn on the 11th of January, 1832. She was the daughter of Benjamin and Sarah Jane Harris, who located at Fort Dearborn in the spring of 1831, being driven into the fort by the Indians. They came originally from "York state," going down the Kanawha river in a canoe to Hennepin, from Hennepin back to Ottawa and from Ottawa to Fort Dearborn. During the summer and fall of 1831 Mrs. Harris did washing for some of the few families at the fort, among them being Thomas Hartseil, an old bachelor, who kept a small trading post there at that time. In 1833 the family left Fort Dearborn and subsequently lived at different points in Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa, the father, Benjamin Harris, dying at Waterloo, Ia., in 1863, after having served some time in the army as a member of the famous Graybeard regiment. The daughter was married Jan. 18, 1852, to Samuel A. Holmes, who is at present proprietor of a dray line here. They have had fourteen children, ten of whom survive and all residents of Hampton.—Chicago Herald.

The National Prototypes.
A recent brief telegraphic item relates that two boxes arrived at Washington from Paris containing "the national prototypes," the new standards constructed by the co-operation of the principal governments of the world. The history of these standards began with the action of the French government in 1870 in inviting the delegates at Paris to form an international commission for the construction of a new meter for an international standard of length. Professors Henry and Hilgard represented this government in that commission. Six years later an international bureau of weights and measures was established at Paris, which, by the aid of experts, succeeded in evolving the new system, and of manufacturing the exquisitely perfect standards which have just been distributed by lot among the countries interested. The French set is kept in a cave to prevent molecular changes by fluctuations of temperature and locked by three different keys, which are kept by three different individuals.—Boston Transcript.

A Farmer's Luck.
We were within about a mile of Findlay, O., and the train had just begun to slacken speed, when we felt a jar and knew that the locomotive had struck some considerable object. In the seat next ahead was a farmer, and he threw up the ash, shoved out his head, and exclaimed:
"By gum! but I'm in luck!"
"Why, they have killed a horse!" shouted a man behind us as he looked out.
"Yes, and it's my boss!" added the farmer.
"But you said you were in luck?"
"You bet I am! I've been riding up and down this line for five years on a pass they gave me for killing an old cow which wasn't worth $5. The pass expired yesterday, and now my old boss, who ain't worth skinning, gets in the way and is knocked over. Luck! Why, gents, that means a free family pass for five years more, and there are fourteen of us in the family!"—New York Sun.

NEGAUNEE NOTES.

The Proceedings in Police Circles Yesterday—Justice Primeau's Daily Round-Up.

J. C. Dougherty Quits Railroad to Go Into Business With S. P. Kline—Married at Calumet—A Sudden Death.

The Justice Mill. The case of The People vs James Daly, reference to which was made yesterday morning, ended as almost all domestic difficulties do—by the payment of the husband's fine and costs from the hard-earned funds of the wife.

Mrs. Daly appeared in Justice Primeau's court yesterday morning when the case was called and sought for the release of her husband, pleading as an extenuating circumstance for his action that he was drunk when he had abused her at various times and finally had threatened to shoot her. The magistrate released Daly on payment of the fine and costs, after administering to that individual a much-needed reproof.

The case against Frank Paul, which occasioned considerable excitement at the time Gauthier lost his money, came to a sudden termination yesterday in the same court. Prosecuting Attorney Young was down and examined the witnesses in the case. It appeared that it would be impossible to hold Paul on the charge of grand larceny under which he had been arraigned. The evidence went to show that Paul had simply found the money and failed to return it to its rightful owner, and as the complaining witness was satisfied to secure the return of his money, the case was dropped.

Several civil suits had a hearing before Justice Primeau yesterday. The police took down five men to Marquette yesterday, the lot comprising vagrants and plain drunks who had not the where-withal to pay their fines.

Will Go Into Business. Mr. James C. Dougherty, who was for a number of years station agent of the Chicago & Northwestern road at place, and who has for the past couple of years been traveling freight agent for the same road on the upper peninsula, has resigned, and will be relieved by S. S. Miller, until now station agent at Marinette. Mr. Dougherty has secured an interest in the coal and wood business carried on by S. P. Kline and will devote his attention to it in the future.

Married at Calumet. Thomas F. Cole, of this city, was married at Calumet yesterday to Miss Elsie Hoatson, a beautiful and accomplished young lady of the latter place. Mr. Cole is the superintendent of the operations in this city of the Schlesinger syndicate, a position which he has attained by dint of hard work and perseverance, having placed his foot on every round of the ladder, and it may be safely said that no man stands better in the estimation of his fellow citizens than does Mr. Cole. His bride is not so well known here but is highly spoken of at her home. Mr. and Mrs. Cole left yesterday for a tour of the principal cities south and will be "at home" in this city after July 1st. The MINING JOURNAL extends its most hearty wishes for their happiness and prosperity.

A Sudden Death. Andrew Nelson, aged 55 years, died very suddenly about 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon of heart failure. The deceased was boarding over Ola Johnson & Co.'s place, and though he had not been well and was not able to work for about a year past, he was feeling much better Tuesday. At 4 o'clock he was walking about the room and soon afterward sat down on the bed, and within a few minutes life was extinct. The deceased was a native of Denmark and was a good citizen. The funeral will take place this afternoon and the Danish Brotherhood will turn out in a body.

At their meeting held last Sunday, the Chevaliers de Lafayette of this city decided to accept the invitation of the Ishpeming branch of the St. Jean Baptist societies and participate with the various French societies of the upper peninsula in a grand celebration to be held at Ishpeming on the 24th inst. The lodge will secure band, and so far as numbers and general appearance will hold its own with any of the local unions present.

Lovers of the national game should bear in mind that the Negaunee and Houghton unions will play a league game at Union park next Sunday afternoon. The Negaunee club will have been materially strengthened by that time and the members now here will have had the benefit of practice, so a good game may be relied upon.

A. C. Seass, who is now a gentleman of leisure, contemplates taking an extended trip to Chicago and other cities south as soon as he gets the assessment roll off his hands. He thinks he has worked hard enough in the past to entitle him to a few years' rest.

Between the boys' bicycles and the girls' tricycles there is not much room left on the walks for pedestrians.

Christ. Sporley has secured the union depot dining rooms and is renovating them preparatory to moving in.

The city dads meet to-night.

STONE'S BREAD KNEADER.

A HOUSEHOLD IMPLEMENT OF A NEW CLASS AND A DEVICE OF ACKNOWLEDGED MERIT. PATENTED BY D. G. STONE, NEGAUNEE, MICHIGAN OCT. 22, 1889.

A PHYSICIAN writing to an eastern journal in condemnation of the common practice of kneading bread with the hands, supports his objection by the following reasons: Kneading with the hands is generally practiced by cooks, and it is thought that bread, in order to be good, requires prolonged kneading. If the hands are clean it is thought that all necessary requirements have been met, and that it is a cleanly process. Kneading bread with the hands however clean they may be, is not a very clean process, especially in warm weather, when the hands perspire freely. Effete matters from the system are removed by the perspiration, and while the hands are in the bread the perspiration goes into it, to form a part of the staff of life. If the person who makes the bread is diseased, poisonous matters and diseased products may be incorporated into the bread. The process of baking the bread undoubtedly would destroy all disease germs, but still it is not pleasant to think that the bread we eat may contain such substances as are found in the perspiration. Some other method of kneading bread than with the hands seems desirable.

Machines have been devised and put to practical use in mixing and kneading dough, the principle of mechanism in vogue being that of a rotating skeleton frame work of bars or blades of irregular forms, whereby the ingredients composing the dough should be subjected to a stirring and beating action by reason of the violent movements of the frame members throughout the mass of material.

As a motor, steam or equivalent power would ordinarily be employed, through manual power could be profitably utilized to a certain extent. Any attempts at applying this principle of agitation to the mixing and kneading of dough in family bread making, by bringing it advantageously within the scope of hand power or limit of material, as found in the average family kitchen, seems to have proved futile and impracticable.

This for the reasons, not only that the machinery employed would necessarily involve a considerable expense, but that the labor required, first to their preparation and then to the cleaning and care of the implements was, probably, detrimental to their popularity. In the dough mixing and kneading device herewith illustrated, the purpose has been to establish movements similar to those developed in the process of hand kneading.

The object of this invention is to provide an apparatus whereby the necessity is precluded of putting the hands into the dough in the process of mixing and kneading for family bread making, and a means for efficiently kneading the dough with the least expenditure of strength.

Moreover, it is to produce in an implement such combination and economy of parts as that its merits shall embrace durability of construction, ease of operation and general utility, with the least of trouble in its cleaning and care, and at a price within the limit of a modest expenditure.

Referring to the illustration, to one end of a horizontal frame, which is provided with a central vertical stud, is secured a vertical frame in which is mounted a block supported by trunnions which ride in vertical bearings. This block is centrally apertured to receive another block which is supported by horizontal trunnions riding in bearings formed in the larger block, and which inner block has a pendulous movement. Upon the horizontal frame is placed a circular table having a central aperture to receive the vertical stud, upon which the table is free to turn, and which table being removable is designed to be used as a bread board, and, as such, in the process of shaping loaves for the oven.

To one side of the table is secured a removable hook adapted to engage one edge of a bread pan placed thereon, and the opposing edge of the table has a similar hook, provided with a turn buckle by means of which the pan may be secured in place. The combined mixing and kneading blades are supported by a lever having a handle at one end, and a projection at the other end adapted to enter an aperture formed in the central block in the vertical frame.

The face of the mixer, which is shown in use in the sketch, is concavo-convex in cross section, and the kneader end of the implement is sometimes formed with a groove. In the process of preparing the dough for the oven, the sponge, flour and water having been proportionately placed in the pan, the mixing is effected by reciprocating and turning the lever, thus giving the spoon-shaped mixing blade a spoon-like stirring motion, revolving the table as desired as the work proceeds.

When the ingredients have thus been brought to the proper consistency for kneading the lever is simply turned on its projecting pin to bring the kneader into operative position, when the kneading operation, which is like to a pump handle movement, may be carried on with ease to the extent desired. It is not claimed that the implement will make bread automatically, and it is possible that an operator of good muscular development might prefer to manipulate the dough by hand in the usual way. It is obvious, however, that with the kneader in use tired Mary might, without violating culinary proprieties, call on willing John or youthful Ned to share with her the fatigue incident to baking-day, while the absolute cleanliness attending its employ is a quality appreciable by all.

The object of kneading the dough being to break up into finer ones the bubbles of carbonic acid gas resultant from the fermentative action of the yeast, which bubbles have become entangled in the glutinous mass, and to distribute them evenly throughout the material, it follows that the more thorough the kneading the more uniformly light and porous should be the bread. The lightness of the completed loaf depending on the success attained in holding these bubbles of gas at proper expansion till such time as that their cellular enclosing walls of gluten and starch should have become stiffened by the heat of the oven, and further, the object of the porosity sought being that the perfected material may be the more easily acted on by the digestive fluids, it follows, also, that the more uniformly porous the loaf the more of its cellular surface is exposed to the action of the fluids, and, therefore, the more wholesome the bread.

Thus, with the aid of the kneader, the willing strength of amateur John might help to produce a beneficently healthful result, while skillful Mary had thought for the proper temperature of oven which should perfect the whole. For any information regarding prices, terms, supply, etc., address the inventor, as above.

The Kneaders are now being manufactured in an Eastern City and will be in the market in a few weeks. May 17th 1890.

KEEFE IN GOOD TRIM.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Keefe was in the best of trim to-day and succeeded in holding Boston's heavy hitters down to eight pretty well scattered hits. Golden Wedding Bells.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—Tessie Fair, daughter of ex-Senator James G. Fair, of this city and Nevada, last night became the bride of Herman Oelrichs, the noted New York club man and millionaire. The event has been the talk of fashionable society for months and while the invitations taxed the capacity of Mr. Fair's palatial mansion on Pine street, fully 2,000 people had assembled on the outside. The maid of honor was Miss Birdie Fair, sister of the bride, and the best man was Surgeon McL. L. Ruth, of the United States navy. Archbishop Riordan, assisted by Vicar-General Pendergast, performed the ceremony. Senator Fair, who was divorced from his wife a few years ago, was present. The bride was attired in a magnificent gown of silk net made in Paris with the tulle and costing $15,000. The elaborate embroidery of silver and duchess point lace alone is valued at $5,000, and the pearls upon the elbow sleeves, at as much more.

B. Rowell's agricultural implements at the depot and carrying it along a mile and a half when it came to a stand still in a badly wrecked condition. The loss will probably amount to $1,000. No one was hurt. The train was delayed about four hours.

Kayser was discharged on a habeas corpus by Judge Tuley, the police producing no evidence on which to hold him. The judge at the same time rebuked the police. Kayser says that he was arrested without a warrant and was illegally imprisoned for one week without being booked.

Burned to the Water's Edge.

AMHERSTBURG, Ont., June 4.—The steamship Westerner, owned by J. H. Palmer, of Cleveland, bound up from Cleveland to Chicago, coal laden, burned to the water's edge one and a half miles from the dummy light in Lake Erie last night at 10 o'clock. The crew probably escaped. Nothing further can be ascertained at present.

COMPLETELY WIPED OUT.

Bradshaw, Nebraska, Blotted From The Map By a Terrific Cyclone.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 4.—The little town of Bradshaw, fifty miles west of here was struck by a tornado at 10 o'clock last night and wiped from the face of the earth. The wind made a clean sweep wrecking every building in the village except two. One child was killed and twenty-five persons were injured, some seriously.

LINCOLN, June 4.—The State Journal party returned from the scene of the tornado in Bradshaw, York county, this evening and brought a confirmation of the worst reports received of the storm of Tuesday night. Bradshaw is a town of 500 people, situated on the Nebraska railway, about sixty miles west of Lincoln. The storm struck the town at 8:30 Tuesday evening, coming from the southwest. Scarcely a moment's warning was given. The roar of the whirlwind was the first notice that the terrified people heard. It struck the town fairly and there was not left a single building. Every business house was made a total wreck and the principal street was filled with the ruins. In the extreme northern part of the village a few houses are left with a semblance of their former appearance, but they are without windows and doors and their contents are scattered broadcast over the prairie.

The depot building was crushed into kindling wood and every car standing there was wrecked except one that was loaded with stock and which was blown without leaving the track to York, a distance of nine miles. The telegraph wire was prostrated and when the car arrived at York it was feared that some disaster had occurred. A messenger went up the track at midnight and returned with the news of the disaster. The fire bells were rung and in a short time large numbers of the people were on their way to give assistance. At the same time a special train left Lincoln with physicians and other relief.

It was found that a Russian settlement near the town was struck, and the report is that nine persons were killed there outright. The physicians say that in all twelve are dead, eight mortally wounded, and perhaps twenty or more are hurt more or less seriously. The killed are John Miller; a child of J. Bronsmy; wife and child of Isaac Enner, living in the country; a child of Mr. Chapin; two members of Mr. Shaw's family, living in the country; wife and child of Mr. Minke and hired man.

Governor Thayer to-day ordered the York militia to the scene to assist in caring for property. He also sent sixty army tents and other supplies on a special train, which left Lincoln this evening. The State Journal has opened a subscription list for the sufferers and the contributions are very liberal.

The Lobster at Home and Abroad.

A broiled live lobster is an unknown quantity in Lewiston restaurant, but out in Chicago, thousands of miles from the coast, the "broiled lob" is a living presence. A Lewiston dealer was speaking of it and he said, "Did you know that one strong point that operates to keep lobsters high in the market is the shipment of them to the west? For instance, that lobster which is shipped in a suitable weather, thousands and thousands of them go there every month. They are a big delicacy there, and half a dollar or so apiece is insignificant for them. Many are boiled there and shipped to other places. After this season, the lobster will go down in price. It seems funny for Lewiston to be paying for Chicago's delicacies, but we do in a certain way."—Lewiston Journal.

Three Classmates in the War.

The Waterville (Me.) Mail tells a sad war story of three members of one class at Waterville college. One after graduation and admission to the bar had gone south. The other, after attending the same law school with the first, was serving as an especially intimate friend, went west. After the battle of Mission Ridge a third member of the same class, then a Union captain, was detailed to bury the dead. On the field he found the bodies of two officers, the colonel of a Tennessee regiment and the colonel of a Union regiment, lying side by side, with their right hands clasped and both dead. They were his two classmates. He buried them in one grave, and there they lie now, side by side.

OPENING DAY, JUNE 7.

A Lesson in Love.

Tourgenieff, the Russian writer, says: I returned home from the class, and wandered through an alley in my garden. My dog bounded before me. Suddenly he checked himself, and moved forward cautiously, as if he scented game. I glanced down the alley, and perceived a young sparrow with a yellow beak, and down upon its head. He had fallen out of the nest (the wind was shaking the branches in the alley violently), and lay motionless and helpless on the ground, with his little unfledged wings outstretched. The dog approached it softly, when suddenly an old sparrow with a black breast quitted a neighboring tree, dropped like a stone right before the dog's nose, and with ruffled plumage, and chirping desperately and pitifully, sprang at the opening, grinning mouth. He had come to protect his little one at the cost of his own life. His little body trembled all over, his voice was hoarse, he was in agony—he offered himself. The dog must have seemed a gigantic monster to him. But, in spite of that, he had not remained safe in his lofty perch. A power stronger than his will had forced him down. The dog stood still, and turned away. It seemed as though he also felt this power. I hastened to call him back, and went away with a feeling of respect. Yes, smile not! I felt a respect for this heroic little bird and for the depth of his paternal love. Love, I reflected, is stronger than death and fear of death; it is love that supports and animates all.

Messenger Boys and the Museum.

Ned Kohl, the museum man, has more trouble with messenger boys than probably any other man in town. His office is up on the second floor of the museum, and in this office there is a messenger call. When he wants a messenger he rings the call and writes patiently. In the course of time the messenger appears. The ticket is made out and the boy leaves with the note or telegram, that is, he leaves the office. On his way to the stairs he is obliged to pass in full view of the freaks and he usually is tempted to pause and inspect them. If he does this he is liable to forget a strong desire to see the stage shows, and the chances are that he spends a half hour or so in the museum before he does the errand. One day Kohl wrote an important telegram and called a boy to take it to the office. An hour later he had occasion to go out into the museum and there he saw the same boy admiring the albino lady. Grabbing him by the collar Kohl asked him if he had brought an answer to the telegram. When he learned that he had been in the museum all the time he did not know whether to throw him down the stairs or feed him to the man eating gorilla. He finally sent him by the stair route, after scaring him out of a three years' growth. Now that he has passed the museum on the opposite side of the street.—Chicago Herald.

TALK OF THE TOWN

One of the workmen on No. 4 dock was slightly hurt Wednesday evening by a plank falling on his head.

A fine lot of plants for setting out in the garden have just been received by Delf & Son. The plants are direct from the gardens at Green Bay.

The common council will hold a special meeting this evening to canvass the vote on the electric light and power bonds and to finish up the routine business left over from Monday's session.

John S. Murphy and company gave a competent rendering of "Shann Rhue" before a fair sized audience in the Casino last evening. The company's work was hardly as good as in "Kerry Gow."

Quite a thunderstorm passed over the city last evening, accompanied by heavy rain. The storm was probably heavier to the southward as telegraphic communication was slow and interrupted after midnight, the opening of the atmospheric disturbance here.

Very many seats have been sold for the performances of "Richard III" and "Richard III" by Mr. Keene and company in this city next Friday and Saturday evenings. Those who desire to secure the best seats should do so to-day. The charts are at Vanier & Bigelow's.

The public should not confound the Ida Van Courtland company, which appears here next week, with the recently departed "Tavernier" organization. Owing to an error of the management it was announced that Miss Van Courtland would appear in the recent performances. Such is not the case and this is a much better company than the other.

The advantages of location were well illustrated yesterday. A boy appeared at the MIXING JOURNAL office with a basket of toothsome sandwiches and insisted that they had been sent there. After a cyclone of compositors had passed over the basket, leaving it a total wreck, it was discovered that the sandwiches were intended for the Y. M. C. A. rooms, next door. The printers are that much ahead.

Mrs. J. R. Johnston, of Iron Mountain, is in the city visiting friends.

Miss Jean Robbins returned from an extended trip through eastern cities yesterday.

Not Sugar, but Meat. It was settling day at a general store in a Louisiana hamlet. Between sixty and seventy negroes were on hand to see how their accounts stood, and the proprietor and his clerk were very busy with the books. As the name of each was called he came forward, and the conversation ran about thus: "Well, Henry, you have had 100 pounds of meat, 200 pounds of meal, 50 pounds of flour, 30 pounds of sugar, a pair of shoes, a pound of tea and a hat. Deduct this from your cotton, and I owe you $10."

"Yes, sah."

"They had got to the tenth man before any one kicked, and then it was an intelligent looking black who had a memorandum book in his hand, and who said: 'I ain't dun had no sugar on you, Mars' Thompson.'"

"You haven't?"

"No, sah. What's de date of it?"

"The 17th of last month."

"We all was dun gone away from home from de 15th to the 20th, an' dat charge hain't right?"

"What! Do you dispute my books?"

"I has got to, sah."

"Then I'll—! Hold on, William; I am wrong. Yes, I have made a mistake. It isn't sugar, but meat. That makes—let's see—that makes forty pounds of meat, instead of twenty pounds of sugar, and you owe me $5."

He had scratched out the false charge, and falsified the amount of meat to offset it, cheating the man out of $4, but William turned to his companions and proudly waved the book on high and said:

"Haven't I dun stuck to it dat edecashum puts money in yo' pockets?"—New York Sun.

Too Familiar by Far. Cassius or "Cash" Cologne, as he is usually named, a well known resident of Fauquier county, Va., recently paid his first visit to New York. Wishing, unlike so many men, to show his thought for his wife when out of her sight, he entered a leading dry goods store for the purpose of buying a dress pattern or some such suitable article. Walking up one of the aisles, he was more than surprised to hear some one in the dim distance loudly yell out "Cash!"

Naturally surprised, he looked in the direction whence the voice came, supposing its owner to be a friend or acquaintance, and that Gotham's proverbial looseness of habit permitted this manner of salute. Still he could see no one that he recognized. Wandering more and more, astonishment grew to boiling point when, as if by a preconcerted signal, from all quarters of the room came persistent cries of "Cash! Cash! Cash!" This was more than the Virginian chivalry in the person of Mr. Cologne could bear, and as at that moment a clerk with a locomotive whistle, standing at the back of him, capped the climax by shouting the name in his very ear, he turned round and remarked:

"Look here, young fellow; you folks may think you're having a lot of fun with me, but if you use my name that way again I'll break your neck."

It took the proprietor and six floor walkers half an hour to convince him as to the facts of the case and that no harm was meant.—Exchange.

Funny Kind of Business. A thrifty but obtuse German, who owns a small farm out in Jefferson, has decided recently that he will only deal with his own people in the future. Not long ago a Connecticut man purchased a farm next to his, and one day he bought a sheep of his German neighbor, agreeing to pay him for it in thirty days. About two weeks later he called on the German and traded him the sheep for a hog. At the end of the month the German went around after his money. "Money for what?" asked the Yank. "Y, fer de sheep," replied the German. "Why, you've got your sheep?" said the Connecticut man. "I traded him with you for a hog, didn't I?" The German nodded and then asked for pay for the hog. "Why should I pay you for the hog?" asked the Yankee. "When I traded you the sheep for him?" The German looked bewildered and said he must have pay for the sheep. "Now, why should I pay you for what I haven't got?" asked his neighbor. "Well, den I vant pay yer my hog." The Yankee smiled compassionately. "Didn't you trade me the hog for the sheep?" he asked. The German nodded, looked stoned, and said: "Dot's a funny way to do bizness!" Hereafter he will deal with his own people.—Chicago Herald.

NO FOURTH IN OURS.

Ishpeming Does Not Expect to Go In
For a Big Fourth of July
This Year.

To Fit Graduates For the State University.
Zenith Division Will Drill—An Inhuman Father—Other Notes.

Fourth of July Talk.

It is not at all likely that Ishpeming will celebrate Fourth of July this year. The only parties financially benefited by such a celebration—and Independence Day is usually celebrated from motives of interest rather than patriotism—are the saloon-keepers and proprietors of candy and cigar stores.
The state law provides for the closing of saloons on legal holidays, and the liquor dealers here are law-abiding.
They have in previous years contributed most of the money that has put up to assist in making a big spread on the Glorious Fourth, but they are not likely to contribute very extensively if they can have no chance to realize on their investment. The candy and cigar men alone cannot furnish the amount of cash required for a big display, and for these reasons it is likely that a formal celebration of the day will not be held here this summer. There are few who will regret the failure to so celebrate, except the small boy and those who usually do a driving business on such holidays.

A Good Move.

A committee of the board of education, appointed for the purpose, has submitted a report advising that the curriculum in the high school be amended so as to allow graduates of the high school here to enter the University of Michigan on their diplomas.
This report will be acted on at the next meeting of the school board and there is little doubt that the changes advised will be decided on. This will necessitate the introduction of a number of new studies, notable among which will be French and German, into the high school. It will be a step forward, and as such will be hailed with delight by all who wish to see our public school system made as good as money and skill can render it.

Drill Meetings.

Zenith division of the U. R. K. P. will turn out in full force to the Milwaukee encampment next month, but as the division at present is but two days of age, and many of its members are as ignorant of drill and tactics as they well can be, every effort will be made to do as much drilling as possible within the next four weeks. Every Sir Knight who expects to attend the Milwaukee gathering in July owes it to himself and the division to turn out and drill, in order that the local division may hold its own when marching with the older and larger divisions that will be in the Cream City then. A drill meeting will be held at the armory in the Heinemann block on Friday evening at the usual hour—8:30 o'clock. It is of great importance that there should be a full attendance of Sir Knights.

The first regular meeting of Zenith division will take place on Wednesday evening of next week, at which the rank will be conferred on several applicants, and other business of importance will be transacted.

An Inhuman Father.

There is a Frenchman living at the Barum location who will get himself into trouble with the law unless he mends his ways, and quickly too. This man has a small piece of ground which he cultivates, and being too poor or too stingy to buy or borrow a horse he compels his little children to drag the plow, while he guides it. The fact would seem incredible were it not that it has been witnessed by a number of trustworthy residents of the locality. The children who are compelled by their father to drag the plow, and do the work of horses, are of tender age, and the authorities should see that a stop is put to the abuse at once.

CATARH.

Catarrhal Deafness—Hay Fever—A New Home Treatment.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result of this discovery is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby catarrh, catarrhal deafness and hay fever are permanently cured in from one to three simple applications made at home by the patient once in two weeks.
N. B.—This treatment is not a snuff or an ointment; both have been discarded by reputable physicians as injurious. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent free on receipt of stamp to pay postage, by
A. H. Dixon & Son, 337 and 339 West King street, Toronto, Canada.—Christian Advo-

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

Oscar Hart, of Champion, was here on business yesterday. The census enumerators are making good progress in the work of counting noses.

Mr. R. J. Watters, who has been confined to his house by sickness, is able to be out again, although not entirely recovered. Every hotel and boarding house in the city is crowded.

Chase S. Osborn, editor of the "Soo" News, passed through here Tuesday on his way home to the city by Ste. Marie's falls. The road leading out of the city from Division street to Clarksburgh is sadly in need of repairs.

There will be large delegations from Ishpepping to listen to Keene at Marquette on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. No one who goes will ever regret the expenditure of the small amount of time and money required.

The new sidewalk to the Lake Angeline mine location from the present terminus of the walk at the Lake Superior office on South Pine street, is being laid. It will be a great benefit to the people of a large and rapidly growing section of the city.

A long program of sports has been arranged for the celebration of the Foresters, which is to take place at Union park on Saturday, June 21st. Base ball, Cornish wrestling, throwing the dumb bells and other athletic sports, will help to make the day pass quickly.

Fancy and staple groceries in foreign and domestic goods, fancy and staple glassware and crockery of home and foreign manufacture.

A Grecian Romance.

A Greek merchant of Alexandria, in Egypt, who made a great deal of money, unable to return personally to his country, but intent upon choosing a Grecian maiden for his wife, writes to his correspondent in Corinth, at the bottom of his usual business letter.

"Finally, I request you to remit me, by returning steamer, a young lady who might feel inclined to be my wife. She need not be in possession of any money, with which I am sufficiently blessed; but a good reputation, good looks, health and temper and middle sized figure. If the lady will bring the enclosed note with your kindly acceptance, you may feel assured that I will honor the same and make the bearer my wife."

Although somewhat astonished at this singular order of his Alexandria correspondent, the merchant at Corinth, as a good business man, thought best to fill it like any other received from so reliable a customer and to send the merchandise demanded at short notice.

As soon as the boat anchored in the harbor of Alexandria the matrimonious Greek boarded it, to hear himself called by name and see a pretty young damsel stepping up to him, saying: "I have a check signed by you and hope you will duly honor it."

A fortnight later the note was redeemed and the payer a happy husband.—Akron Intelligencer.

Franklin Murphy brought sympathetic tears to the eyes of his hearers at the dinner of the Leather Manufacturers' association by relating a story of benevolence. A friend of his, he said, was walking down to business one morning when he saw a young woman with baby in her arms sitting on a church step and weeping.

"I walked into town," she replied, "to have my baby baptized, and now it will cost $3 to have the service performed. I haven't the money and I don't know what to do."

THE COPPER COUNTRY.

Houghton Base Ball Team Secures Three New Players—Arrangements for St. Jean de Baptiste Societies' Celebration on June 24th—Personal and Miscellaneous Notes.

Manager E. F. Douglass of the Houghton base ball club returned Wednesday with three new players. They are Mat Homan, catcher from the Whiting club of Chicago, Mart Scanlan, first baseman, from New York, and Pete Gallagher, third baseman, from the Garden City's of Chicago.

The arrangements for the celebrations of St. John's day, June 24th, by the St. Jean de Baptiste societies in the copper country have been completed. The prospects are that they will have the grandest celebration that they have ever had in this country.

County Clerk Primeau has issued marriage licenses to Fred Miller and Miss Josephine Arbour, both of Lake Linden; James H. Barkell and Miss Mary M. Rentebach, both of Hancock; Thomas F. Sone and Negunee, and Miss Elsie Houston, of Calumet.

The 50th anniversary of the organization of the German order of Hermann's Sons will be celebrated by the copper country lodges in this city on Saturday, July 30th.

Willie Klein, whose father had him arrested for stealing money, had an examination before Justice Wilson Monday. On promise of reform sentence was suspended. His father paid the costs.

Young Men's Christian Association Holds a Very Pleasant Reception to Old and Young Members.

ISHPEMING SLUGGERS POUND PITCHER JONES OUT OF THE BOX.

Why Are Those Iron Bay Shops Not Reopened? Hack Line is Needed—Police and Their Pay.

Y. M. C. A. Reception.

The members' reception of the Young Men's Christian Association last evening was a very pleasant affair and largely attended. Song and recitation, light refreshments and conversation filled the evening very enjoyably. On their arrival, passing in through the gymnasium, the members were met in the parlor by a reception committee consisting of Mrs. J. M. Longyear, Mrs. J. M. Wilkinson, Mrs. W. S. Hill, Mrs. George N. Conklin and Mrs. T. Johns. They then took seats in the large hall or dispersed in groups about the various rooms.

Mr. George L. Johnson and Miss Jones opened the musical program with a piano duet and then the favorite Gooding Quartette sang "Robin Adair" and of course had to respond to a recall. Mr. C. A. Maffit gave a very amusing recitation entitled "How we Hunted a Mouse," evoking shouts of laughter. Miss Lord rendered a soprano solo in a very pleasing manner and was recalled. Mrs. B. O. Pearl read the tender and stirring lines of "Kentucky Belle" to the appreciative audience and then the Gooding Quartette sang "Under Thy Case-mat" and for an encore the jolly ballad of "The Cannibal Maid and the Missionary." During all these proceedings coffee and trimmings were being served in the secretary's office and parlor and the gathering dispersed at 10 o'clock voting the "members' reception" a very successful one.

Jones Jumped On.

The Ishpeming base ball sluggers came down to this city yesterday and for five mortal innings jumped all over Pitcher Jones' delivery. Then Crout went in and did somewhat better, managing to strike out one man in two innings. Sinclair for Ishpeming made but one strike-out. Errors were more numerous on either side than base-hits. The cold weather seemed to chill the life out of both teams. The only distinguishing features of the game, besides errors and rocky pitching, were Welch's work behind the bat, Carney's clever stops at third and Dobson's fine throwing to second. Jones was literally batted out of the box in five innings. The attendance was about 150; batteries, Jones, Crout and Welch; Sinclair and [Dobson]; time, 2 hours; umpire, Utz. Score by innings:

Start The Iron Bay Shops.

The MINING JOURNAL is never a grumbler nor a kicker but on diligent inquiry through its reporters no good reason can be found why some active steps are not taken to reopen the old Iron Bay shops. The property is going to rack and ruin and business that it might be doing is steadily going to other quarters. Every day of delay makes this business harder to recover. A well-appointed foundry and machine shop is needed here and needed now. Mr. Taylor is doing all he can at the Lakeside Iron Works and is kept constantly busy but restricted capital and narrow quarters compel him to let go by much work that might be done in Marquette and thereby give employment to mechanics and advance the city's prosperity.

There is a large field naturally tributary to Marquette both for the manufacture and repair of machinery. For years the Iron Bay shops prospered. If in the latter years certain reasons induced Mr. Merritt to remove to Duluth it is certain that he was prompted by no restriction of his field or by decline of attainable business. He undoubtedly believed it to his present advantage to make the change and his other reasons need not be inquired into here. The property passed into the hands of those whose now hold it and who have frequently declared that in a few weeks the works would be started again. Of course it is the privilege of these gentlemen to let their property lie idle and depreciate in value if they wish but nevertheless the public is deeply interested in seeing that no opportunity for the city's advancement be neglected.

The buildings and grounds, the boilers and engines are here. Every day orders for work, old and new, that should and would be done here did facilities exist, go to other cities. The South Shore road has most of its car wheels and castings made in Duluth. Would it do so if this work could be done within a mile of its shops? The Northern Furnace company is spending $10,000 in new machinery. The MINING JOURNAL has the word of one of the directors of that company that this work would have been ordered here had there been a shop to order it from. Certain smaller castings are being made here but the orders for two new boilers and for the blowing engine had to be sent abroad. Mining companies are continually ordering machinery from outside that could and should be built here. These are only a few instances, but they show that Marquette is allowing to slip away from her that which every day makes harder to recover. In the name of the people of Marquette the MINING JOURNAL once more asks why the Iron Bay works are not reopened?

Hack Line Needed.

One thing that strikes the traveller as strange on his arrival in Marquette is the entire absence of public conveyances to take him to his hotel or elsewhere. Those arriving may be accompanied by ladies and children, or ladies may be travelling alone. No matter how weary they may be they must either walk or wait until a conveyance can be brought from some livery stable. Marquette is a city of ten thousand or more population. The time has passed when all residents can easily walk from the railway to their homes and strangers would generally prefer to ride. A hack or cab line is needed in this town and if properly managed would be a great convenience to the public, obtain liberal patronage and be a financial success.

The reason for this absence of public conveyances plying the streets for hire, is not far to seek and lies in the senseless rivalry and idle competition of the various liverymen. On several occasions sundry liverymen have put carriages on the streets. No sooner did an enterprising man seem to be making a success of such a scheme than his business rivals stepped in, put on carriages also, divided the trade and made it profitless to all. The city was not and is not large enough to support eight or ten public vehicles. So the carriages were taken off and things relapsed into their old state.

This state of things might be remedied by the organization or combination of the liverymen to perform this public service. Let them pool issues in the matter, put on the carriages and divide expenses and receipts. Or they might organize among themselves the Marquette Hack & Cab company and individually agree to keep out of that field. With a reasonable scale of prices and good service such an undertaking ought to be financially successful. The public would appreciate such a convenience and patronize it accordingly. Then there is the theater business. Many persons who will not go to the expense of ordering a carriage in advance would ride home after the play if a conveyance stood ready at the door. Public vehicles are needed in Marquette and needed now. Will the liverymen avail themselves of their opportunity to increase the income of each and accommodate the public?

The Police and Their Pay.

The other night the aldermen spent considerable time in discussing the pay of the police force and the question of raising it. One or two aldermen objected to an increase because there were many applicants for the positions. Others objected to raising the pay of one officer without raising all, counting service and experience as valueless.

The truth is that while the police force of Marquette is individually efficient the system under which it works is antiquated and should be abolished. An ordinance governing the force should be passed, making the holding of positions dependent on good behavior only. Only the chief should be appointed by the mayor and should hold during good behavior and be removable by the mayor and council on charges duly preferred. The chief or marshal should have the sole power of appointment and removal of his subordinates and be held strictly accountable for their conduct. This is substantially the plan adopted in all large cities. By making retention of office dependent on good conduct only both chief and men are obliged and encouraged to do their duty without fear or favor.

It would seem but just that pay should be graded and be increased for faithful and continued service. This is also the plan adopted in other cities. In Milwaukee, for instance, which is admitted to have one of the most efficient and best-disciplined forces in the land, the patrolmen are paid $700 the first year, $800 the second year and $900 the third year. This makes an ascending scale of $58.33, $66.66 and $75 per month. The men are appointed by the chief and removed by him for cause.

Don't forget Gordon's D. F. cigar, when you want a good smoke.
