SILVER VOTE POSTPONED.

Senators Given Until 3 O'Clock Monday to Air Their Views on the Pending Silver Bill.

SENATOR REAGAN ACCUSES OPPONENTS OF SILVER OF TREACHERY.

Mr. Morgan Advocates Free Coinage—The House Devotes the Time to a Consideration of Sundry Appropriation Bill.

THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The resolution offered yesterday by Mr. Edmunds appointing Edward K. Valentine sergeant-at-arms of the senate was taken up and agreed to, an amendment offered by Mr. Harris substituting the name of Henry W. Well of Tennessee having been first voted down.

Mr. Paddock said he had received several telegrams from Montana in regard to outrages by the Cheyenne Indians in that state and asked the chairman of the committee on Indian affairs whether any action was being taken by that committee in relation to the matter.

Mr. Dawes had begun to respond to the question, but on the suggestion of Mr. Plumb that there were only a few hours left for the discussion of the silver bill, the matter was allowed to go over till to-morrow. The senate silver bill was then taken up and Mr. Morgan resumed the floor; but suggested that the time of senators in discussing amendments after the close of the general discussion should be extended from five minutes to ten or fifteen minutes.

Mr. Jones (Nev.) in charge of the bill thought it might be better, as several senators still desired to speak on the subject, to extend the time for general debate until 3 o'clock Monday and he asked unanimous consent for that proposition.

Mr. Teller said that Mr. Morgan should go on with his speech. He had no doubt the time would be extended.

Mr. Morgan therefore went on with his remarks. His speech was mainly an argument for free coinage. He objected to the proposition to limit the act to ten years. Mr. Aldrich next addressed the senate. He recognized the disastrous effects that had resulted from a contraction of the currency, but said that an abnormal inflation of the currency would be equally injurious. There was no substantial difference between senators as to the evil effect resulting from the outflow of silver. The only question was as to the remedy that would be found effective. A complete remedy could only be found, he believed, in such action as would open the mints of all nations to the free coinage of silver. By that means silver would be added to the permanent fund of the world's money.

Mr. Stewart was on the floor replying to some of Mr. Aldrich's statements when the presiding officer called attention to the agreement that the general debate was to close at 3 o'clock. It was now ten minutes after that time. Various propositions were made and finally it was agreed, by unanimous consent, that the senate bill should be laid on the table; the house bill as amended by the finance committee, substituted for it; and the general debate be extended to 3 o'clock, Monday.

The session to-morrow being for the consideration of bills on the calendar. Mr. Stewart resumed the floor said: "If the secretary of the treasury had bought four millions of silver a month instead of two million, we not only would have had a double standard, but silver would be on a parity with gold. The present law is good enough for me if its spirit were carried out."

Mr. Blair—Would the present law, if executed to its maximum, be better than any of the pending measures?

Mr. Stewart—Yes; better than any of them.

Mr. Blair—Then why not a substitute for the pending bill offer a proposition making it compulsory to execute, to its maximum, the existing law?

Mr. Stewart—I would be satisfied with that at present.

Mr. Platt—Does the senator from Nevada believe that if the maximum amount of silver authorized by the law to be coined were coined, the result would be to restore the equivalency between gold and silver dollars? If that be the senator's belief and if it be correct, then it seems to me that it is a ground on which we might all meet together.

Mr. Stewart replied that that was his belief, and concluded by saying that congress should either take a step in advance or else do nothing.

Mr. Reagan addressed the senate in advocacy of the unlimited coinage of silver and compared the pretensions of its enemies, who now claimed to be in its favor, to the Irishman who was hunting for work but was praying to God that he would not find it. That was the position, he said, of the president of the United States, the secretary of the treasury, and of the senator from Rhode Island (Mr. Aldrich). They pretended to be shouting for the free coinage of silver but they hoped never to find it and were devising all sorts of schemes and plans to avoid it.

Mr. Daniel next addressed the senate. He stated that in his judgment, the absolute free and unlimited coinage of silver was the only solution of the question. If that was not to be the final solution of the question, it would seem to be an essential and indispensable step toward its solution. It could not be anticipated, he said, that anything less than the free coinage of silver would bring silver to par.

Without concluding his speech Mr. Daniel yielded for a motion to go into executive session, and after a brief secret session the senate adjourned.

THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The house after the reading of the journal went into committee of the whole, Mr. Burrows of Michigan in the chair on the sundry civil appropriation bill. Mr. Cannon said that the amount of appropriation carried by the measure was in round numbers $28,000,000. This was $1,000,000 less than the regular estimates, and $13,000,000 less than the regular and special estimates. The sundry civil law for the current year provided for an expenditure of $25,000,000. The apparent excess in this bill was largely more than accounted for by certain extraordinary items. The fourteen regular appropriation bills, as reported to the house, aggregated an expenditure of $206,000,000, showing an excess of $35,000,000 over the appropriation for the current year. This excess was nearly all accounted for in three bills—pensions, $18,000,000; postoffice, $12,000,000; and naval, $15,000,000. The other $3,000,000 resulted from the expansion incident to the growth of the country. Mr. Cannon then gave a statement of the attitude of

THE APPROPRIATION BILLS.

The only bill not reported to the house was the general deficiency bill, and this would be reported before the close of the fiscal year. There was pending the sundry civil and the Indian bills. In the senate committee on appropriations were the agricultural and diplomatic and postoffice bills; and in the senate committee on commerce, the river and harbor bill. Pending in the senate was the legislative bill. The fortification bill had passed both houses with a senate amendment. The army and military academy bills were in the hands of the president. This was a favorable showing compared with the condition of the bills two years ago.

Without completing the consideration of the bill the committee rose and took a recess, the evening session to be for the consideration of private pension bills.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE

In Central New York by a Severe Storm Thursday Night.

URICA, N. Y., June 13.—The storm through this section of the state did great damage to crops, roads and bridges. At Norwich a large portion of the town was flooded and the water was several feet deep in a portion of the town that had never been overflowed before. At Oneida the entire eastern part of the town was submerged, the water being over four feet deep on the first floors of residences. The Ontario & Western track for a distance of several miles was under water and it is reported that much of it is washed away. A large quantity of lumber was washed away and people were obliged to leave their houses in boats. The damage will be very large. At Solville, in Madison county, a saw mill, planing mill, horse barn and several sheds were washed away, as was also 20,000 feet of lumber. The loss is large, as most of the buildings were nearly new and valuable. The Erie canal in several places overflowed its banks. The Central Hudson's track at West Rome were submerged this forenoon causing a delay of some hours. Every town in the central counties reports some damage from the storm.

WAITING FOR REINFORCEMENTS.

Cheyennes in Montana Only Waiting to be Joined by Their Allies.

MILES CITY, Mont., June 13.—The attitude of the Cheyenne Indians continues to be menacing though no overt act has been committed since the killing of Ferguson. Owing to the fact that the Indians have left their reservation and are scattered over the country in small parties, settlers are alarmed and are sending the women and children into the towns in large numbers. Indian lookouts are on all high points and are constantly signaling by mirror flashes and the blanket code. Friendly Indians have reported to the whites that there is to be an outbreak and that they are now making medicine, which is generally accepted to mean that they are waiting to be joined by allies from the Standing Rock, Sioux and Pine Ridge Cheyennes to which messengers have been sent. The Northern Cheyennes of themselves only number about 250 bucks.

COWBOYS SLAUGHTER EACH OTHER

Rival Factions Engage in a Free Fight. Three of the Warriors Slain.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., June 13.—There was a free fight Wednesday among a number of cowboys in Socorro county resulting in the death of John and Garret Davis on one side and Fred Groslette on the other. This is the second of the Groslette boys who has come to a violent death in the county. Owing to the isolation of the point where the affair took place, particulars cannot be given. There are two factions in that county.

Sixteen-Year-Old Parricide.

ELMIRA, N. Y., June 13.—Frank Warren was shot and instantly killed by his sixteen-year-old son about 5 o'clock this morning at his house in this city. He went away yesterday morning telling his wife he would be gone ten days. He returned home about 10 o'clock last night and commenced quarreling with his wife. The quarrel continued for some time when his son Herbert arose from bed and interfered. During the trouble Herbert produced a revolver and shot his father in the right breast. Warren died almost instantly.

Twenty-Nine Horses Burn.

TOPEKA, Kas., June 13.—Fire in this city early this morning destroyed a lumber yard, a lively stable and several other buildings. Twenty-nine horses were burned. The total loss is about $30,000, about one-half covered by insurance.

Miners Get an Increase.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 13.—The strike of the coal miners at the Clayton mines for an advance of 2 cents per car of ten bushels has ended favorably to the men; the operators conceding the increase.

AN UNPLEASANT SURPRISE.

Temperance People of Armstrong County, Pa., Greatly Nonplused.

County Judge Holds That Original Packages of Beer and Liquor May be Sold Without a License.

PITTSBURG, June 13.—A profound sensation was created in this portion of the state this afternoon by the decision of an Armstrong county judge in an original package case. Some days ago, Charles Silverman, a resident of Allegheny county, opened an original package store in Leechburg, a local prohibitory town in Armstrong county, which is also prohibition. Silverman claimed to be acting as an agent, under power of attorney of the Cincinnati Brewing company, of Hamilton, Ohio. He made sales and was promptly arrested and placed on trial before Judge Rayburn, at the county seat of Armstrong county. The temperance people were up in arms, and strongly, claiming that Silverman was violating the laws by selling liquor without a license; also that he had sold to minors, and to men of known intemperate habits. Silverman, who was backed in his defence by the brewing company, admitted that he had sold beer in kegs, half barrels and barrels, but denied, and proved it, that he had sold to minors and claimed he had not knowingly sold to men of intemperate habits. The defendant also claimed he had not violated the local liquor laws by selling these original packages, and proved them to have been duly sealed and stamped as required by the United States law. He claimed that there could be no conviction in his case as under the constitution and laws of the United States relating to commerce between states he was fully protected in selling original packages, shipped from Ohio into Pennsylvania.

THE JUDGE'S CHARGE.

Judge Rayburn in his charge refused to consider the evidence of the prosecution in regard to the local prohibitory law and affirmed that relating to the United States interstate commerce law. He said it was a mere question of fact for the jury to decide whether the packages were the identical and unbroken cases shipped from Hamilton, Ohio, to Silverman. If the jury were satisfied, the judge's charge continued, that they were original packages, then Silverman had a right to make the sale according to a recent decision of the supreme court, and did not violate the Pennsylvania liquor law in selling without a license. But if he was found guilty of selling to minors, and intemperate men, he would come under a clause of the Pennsylvania law prohibiting such sales; for while the state might not prohibit the sale of original packages, it could protect its citizens, as the minors and intemperate classes came within the police regulation of the state. This charge was most and to the hundreds interested who thronged the court room. The jury remained out about two hours and a half, and acquitted Silverman of the charge of selling without a license and to minors, but found him guilty of selling to persons of known intemperate habits. Silverman is overjoyed while the liquor people, who have been in a hopeless minority in Armstrong county, are jubilant. Silverman says original packages can now flood every town in the state and the high license paid by local liquor dealers is practically money thrown away. The decision is believed to be the first rendered in a high license state and the outcome is awaited with interest by both temperance and liquor people.

PRICE OF REPEATERS.

It Cost Alderman McCabe of Chicago Just Fifty Cents a "Repeat."

CHICAGO, June 13.—Alderman McCabe and Mike Corcoran, politicians under indictment for corruption in connection with the late aldermanic election in the Twenty-fourth ward, were on trial in the criminal court to-day. Steve Collins, a political hustler, testified that in accordance with an arrangement with Corcoran, he got a band of twenty-five repeaters to vote for McCabe. They voted three times each at the Seventeenth precinct and several times at other precincts. After voting each time the gang was marched to a saloon, and there Corcoran paid them 50 cents each. The witness testified that he saw McCabe give Capt. White some money and White gave the repeaters the names under which they were to vote.

TEN THOUSAND AFFLICTED

Gather at Father Mollinger's Church in Allegheny City To Be Cured.

PITTSBURG, June 13.—At least ten thousand afflicted people from all parts of the country gathered at Father Mollinger's church in Allegheny City to-day to hold and take part in the celebration of St. Anton's Day. It was a curious assemblage of the lame, deaf and blind, drawn together by the reports of Father Mollinger's miraculous cures. The afflicted began to arrive yesterday, and last night five thousand were camped about the church, sleeping on floors, doorsteps, porches and the ground. The services began at daybreak and were continued all day until late this evening. Thousands were unable to gain admission to the church, and all day they stood in the hot sun awaiting their turn to be cured. Father Mollinger is a physician as well as priest, and does not claim any miraculous power; but is a firm believer in faith coupled with works. He charges nothing for his prescriptions, but few left without giving to the church 25 cents to $5.

THE GREAT CANAL.
 The chances of the scheme to connect the Mississippi and the great lakes by a ship canal improves every day. The river and harbor bill as passed by the lower house provides for the appropriation of $500,000 to begin the work on the Hennepin canal and the senate committee decided to retain the provision, only Senator Vest, the champion, of St. Louis and Chicago's relentless foe, voting against it. Then, the Chicago drainage law, under which $30,000,000 is to be spent in accomplishment of this great scheme of improvement, has been declared constitutional and vigorous work will be begun at once. For the purposes of the works of peace this canal will be a wonderful incentive to commercial enterprise and in time of war its value will be incalculable.

A FEDERAL ELECTION LAW.
 The democrats are raising their familiar howl over the proposition of the republican majority in congress to pass a federal election law. If there is anything that is more odious to the democratic party than another, it is any measure which tends to secure a free ballot and a fair count in elections in the south. And they are justified in their protests. Nobody can blame them. Under like circumstances who would not "tear a passion to tatters—to very rags?" For if there should be one election day in the south where every voter was at liberty to cast his ballot according to his choice and have it counted as it was cast, the democratic party would vanish in thin air as readily as did the ghost in Hamlet at the crowing of the first cock. When this bill comes up for discussion the flood-gates of democratic oratory will be raised and the immediate ruin of the country foretold in tragic accents. But the firmness of the republican majority can be depended upon to do something to right the greatest wrong that exists under the American flag to-day.

NAMELESS WRETCHES.
 In the fifth enumeration district of Pennsylvania the census takers meet with an extraordinary difficulty. They find Hungarians, Poles and Italians who are so far beneath the ordinary level of humanity that they have no names and are designated and known by numbers. The enumerators have asked permission to take the census by numbers, as far as these men are concerned, rather than to get no information at all.

This circumstance is indicative of a state of affairs which is such as to awaken the apprehensions of every thinking man for the safety of the free institutions of this country. The miraculous power of our republic to receive various motley races and nationalities into its bosom and mould the incongruous masses to the purposes of Anglo-Saxon liberty has reached its limit. As long as the immigration which reached our shores was English, Irish, Scotch, French, Teutonic and Scandinavian in character all was well. But when this deluge of Slavonians and the bad class of Italians, said to be from southern Italy, reached our shores, measures should at once have been taken to check so undesirable an influx of population. They form

"A savage horde among the civilized, A servile band among the free. Congress has begun to investigate this matter with a view of putting some restriction on immigration, but much time must elapse before investigation can ripen into legislation, and, in the meantime, we must bear, with patience the presence of indefinite hundreds of thousands of these barbarians.

MINNOMINEE MINES.
 The following items are clipped from the Iron Mountain Range:
 There is but little more stripping to be done at the Chapin cut, and we should think (we have nobody's word for it) that a week or two more will see the job completed. Ground has been broken for the foundation of the new warehouse near the Chapin machine shops. Work on the foundation at D shaft is progressing favorably, but of course rapid progress cannot be made with work of this character. When blocks of stone weighing from five to ten tons have to be handled it takes both time and patience to get them properly placed.

The Lake Chicago mine is looking well, not only in the main shaft but in several exploratory pits recently sunk by Capt. Wood. S. S. Curry visited the mine recently and expressed himself well satisfied with the outlook. He is so well satisfied that he has opened negotiations with both the C. & N. W. Ry Co. and the Schlesinger syndicate to get a spur track to the mine. The first company that starts to building will get the handling of the ore.

The Lumberman's Mining company will put in probably the largest joisting plant in the iron regions of the upper peninsula at their B shaft. The plant will comprise two 16-foot drum hoists run by two engines 30x72, and a 16-foot timber hoist run by two engines 22x60 each, all direct hoist.

The plant is being built by E. P. Allis & Co., of Chicago, and the equipment of B shaft will cost in the neighborhood of $70,000. The underground prospects of the Ludington are improving every day. At the 13th level, which is now nearly reached in A shaft, the Hamilton vein will extend about 100 feet north and west of the shaft and as it is 150 feet in width, it will open up a big piece of available stoping ground. From the pitch of the vein there is every indication that at the 14th level a much greater length of rich ground will be found. The management expect to achieve this year the largest output ever made in one season, notwithstanding that six months time has been lost in the extensive improvements made the past winter. The Ludington has shipped this season 26,000 tons and expect to ship 140,000 tons before navigation closes. This will exceed their best record by 20,000. The force now employed is 450. Next year the Ludington will place its stake at 300,000.

A man who has practiced medicine for 40 years, ought to know salt from sugar; read what he says:

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 10, 1887.
 Messrs. F. J. Cheney & Co.—Gentlemen:
 I have been in the general practice of medicine for most 40 years, and would say that in all my practice and experience have never seen a preparation that I could prescribe with as much confidence of success as can Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by you. Have prescribed it a great many times and its effect is wonderful, and would say in conclusion that I have not yet seen a case of Catarrh that it would not cure, if they would take it according to directions.

Yours Truly,
 L. L. GORSUCH, M. D.

 We will give $100 for any case that can not be cured with Hall's Catarrh Cure. Taken internally.

THEY STRUCK IT RICH.
 Three Men Each Draw $15,000 from The Louisiana State Lottery.

Fortune continues to smile upon Philadelphians. Several have been fortunate enough to draw large prizes in the Louisiana State Lottery, but the present month breaks the record, as three comparatively poor men were suddenly made rich, each holding one-twentieth of ticket number 5132, which drew the capital prize of $500,000. The lucky men are W. Condingly, of 2932 Fairhill street; J. S. Aman, 2912 Thompson street, and Joseph Goodman, a salesman in the well known clothing house of N. Snellberg & Co at Fifth and South streets. —Philadelphia (Pa.) Item, March 24.

CATARRH.
 Catarrhal Deafness—Hay Fever—A New Home Treatment.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proven this to be a fact, and the result of this discovery is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby catarrh, catarrhal deafness and hay fever are permanently cured in from one to three simple applications made at home by the patient once in two weeks.

N. B.—This treatment is not a snuff or an ointment; both have been discarded by reputable physicians as injurious. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent free on receipt of stamp to pay postage, by A. H. Dixon & Son, 337 and 339 West King street, Toronto, Canada. —Christian Advocate.

Sufferers from catarrhal troubles should carefully read the above.

Self-Explanatory.
 The following letter, received a few days ago by K. A. Knupper, agent for the pianos mentioned below, sufficiently explains itself:

CHAMPION, Mich., June 4th.
 MR. KNUPPER—Pardon me for being so slow in fulfilling my intention of thanking you for the excellent Bradbury piano you furnished for our concert. I was particularly pleased with the action—it being light and very even throughout.

Am pleased to see that you are also the agent for the Mason & Hamlin piano. Having one in my home, I am prepared to speak of it as one of the very best instruments made in the United States. Mine is of surpassing beauty of case and the tone is sweet, rich and of great sustaining power. Add to this that it stands in tune and it is well entitled to the foremost place.

Very sincerely yours,
 GEORGE L. LAY,

NEGAUNEE IS EXULTANT.

Flushed With Victory Over Marquette Their Base Ball Club Longs For Worlds to Conquer.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC ADMIRER DONATES NEW SUITS FOR THE ENTIRE CLUB.

To-day the Red Men Will Welcome Friendly Warriors to Their Wigwams and Smoke the Calumet.

Base Ball Notes.

The once-victorious Negaunee base ball club returned from Marquette Thursday evening to find themselves heroes. A regular ovation was given them. Over half of the business places in town displayed brooms, and the boys were made to feel that the people appreciated their efforts. This was of course satisfactory to the club, and it being the first chance they had had to crow, they did the thing up in good shape.

Joseph E. Sness has made the club a generous donation of a complete outfit of new suits. The boys were measured yesterday and the suits will be turned out just as soon as possible. The club's uniforms were in poor condition and Mr. Sness' kind gift is a timely one. Now, if some citizen who has the interests of the club at heart, would only provide the boys with "blazers" the uniform would be completed with a very pretty parade dress. The cost would be slight and it is to be hoped that someone will come to the front.

The Negaunee and Marquette clubs will play another league game at Union park to-morrow. That the game will be an interesting one there is no doubt. A special rate of one fare for the round trip has been arranged for the accommodation of those from up the road who wish to witness the game. They can come down on the noon train and return on the 6.37. Both trains will stop opposite Union park. At this writing the arrangements for a special train from Marquette had not been completed but in all probability a special will be run.

Thursday was the turning point in the Negaunee base ball club's career this season. Now that the boys have demonstrated that they can play ball, the average will creep up.

The splendid work of Negaunee's battery brings out favorable comment from all who have seen the games.

Red Men's Day.

Negaunee will be turned over to its original inhabitants, the red men, to-day, the occasion being the annual celebration of the various upper peninsula tribes of the Improved Order of Red Men. Special trains will bring the visiting lodges and their families and friends to the city in the morning and a few hours after their arrival there will be a grand parade, the route embracing all the principal streets. After this event, all will repair to the Teal Lake grove where the remainder of the day will be spent in feasting, dancing, listening to the speeches of the distinguished members and enjoying the musical program, which will be made a special feature. The local lodge has completed all its arrangements and the only thing that can in any way interfere with the success of the celebration is poor weather.

Mrs. Burnett's most popular work, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," has recently been read to the children in school, and now those who have thus become familiar with the characters are casting wistful glances at the pictorial paper put up by the Noble company, which is to open its week's engagement here by the presentation of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" Monday night next.

T. J. Flynn and C. B. Driscoll have been elected delegates to the Upper Peninsula Base Ball league convention to be held at Houghton this evening. They will leave on the afternoon train to-day.

From this time forward Superintendent Beneshek will have his hands full attending to the extension of water mains and the supplying of individual patrons.

The city building will be sold to-day by Mayor Anthony to the highest bidder. The structure must be removed from the site within ten days after the date of sale.

Harris & Mathews were doing business in the middle of the street yesterday, their building being en route to its future site across the street.

The high school alumni reception will be held Friday evening, June 27th, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Winter.

Prof. Williams will be here to-day with his circus and will exhibit his aggregation of tented wonders.

STONE'S BREAD KNEADER.

A HOUSEHOLD IMPLEMENT OF A NEW CLASS AND A DEVICE OF ACKNOWLEDGED MERIT.

PATENTED BY D. G. STONE, NEGAUNEE, MICHIGAN OCT. 22, 1889.

A PHYSICIAN writing to an eastern journal in condemnation of the common practice of kneading bread with the hands, supports his objection by the following reasons:

Kneading with the hands is generally practiced by cooks, and it is thought that bread, in order to be good, requires prolonged kneading. If the hands are clean it is thought that all necessary requirements have been met, and that it is a cleanly process. Kneading bread with the hands however clean they may be, is not a very cleanly process, especially in warm weather, when the hands perspire freely. Effete matters from the system are removed by the perspiration, and while the hands are in the bread the perspiration goes into it, to form a part of the staff of life. If the person who makes the bread is diseased, poisonous matters and diseased products may be incorporated into the bread. The process of baking the bread undoubtedly would destroy all disease germs, but still it is not pleasant to think that the bread we eat may contain such substances as are found in the perspiration. Some other method of kneading bread than with the hands seems desirable.

Machines have been devised and put to practical use in mixing and kneading dough, the principle of mechanism in vogue being that of a rotating skeleton frame work of bars or blades of irregular form, whereby the ingredients composing the dough should be subjected to a stirring and beating action by reason of the violent movements of the frame members throughout the mass of material.

As a motor, steam or equivalent power would ordinarily be employed, through manual power could be profitably utilized to a certain extent. Any attempts at applying this principle of agitation to the mixing and kneading of dough in family bread making, by bringing it advantageously within the scope of hand power or limit of material, as found in the average family kitchen, seems to have proved futile and impracticable.

This for the reasons, not only that the machinery employed would necessarily involve a considerable expense, but that the labor required, first to its preparation and then, to the cleaning and care of the implements was, probably, detrimental to their popularity.

In the dough mixing and kneading device herewith illustrated, the purpose has been to establish movements similar to those developed in the process of hand kneading. The object of this invention is to provide an apparatus whereby the necessity is precluded of putting the hands into the dough in the process of mixing and kneading for family bread making, and a means for efficiently kneading the dough with the least expenditure of strength.

Moreover, it is to produce in an implement such combination and economy of parts as that its merits shall embrace durability of construction, ease of operation and general utility, with the least of trouble in its cleaning and care, and at a price within the limit of a modest expenditure.

Referring to the illustration, to one end of a horizontal frame, which is provided with a central vertical stud, is secured a vertical frame in which is mounted a block supported by trunnions which ride in vertical bearings. This block is centrally apertured to receive another block which is supported by horizontal trunnions riding in bearings formed in the larger block, and which inner block has a pendulous movement. Upon the horizontal frame is placed a circular table having a central aperture to receive the vertical stud, upon which the table is free to turn, and which table being removable is designed to be used as a bread board, and, as such, in the process of shaping loaves for the oven.

To one side of the table is secured a removable hook adapted to engage one edge of a bread pan placed thereon, and the opposing edge of the table has a similar hook, provided with a turn buckle by means of which the pan may be secured in place.

The combined mixing and kneading blades are supported by a lever having a handle at one end, and a projection at the other end adapted to enter an aperture formed in the central block in the vertical frame.

The face of the mixer, which is shown in the sketch, is concavo-convex in cross section, and the knoeader end of the implement is sometimes formed with a groove.

In the process of preparing the dough for the oven, the sponge, flour and water having been proportionately placed in the pan, the mixing is effected by reciprocating and turning the lever, thus giving the spoon-shaped mixing blade a spoon-like stirring motion, revolving the table as desired as the work proceeds.

When the ingredients have thus been brought to the proper consistency for kneading the lever is simply turned on its projecting pin to bring the kneader into operative position, when the kneading operation, which is like to a pump handle movement, may be carried on with ease to the extent desired.

It is not claimed that the implement will make bread automatically, and it is possible that an operator of good muscular development might prefer to manipulate the dough by hand in the usual way.

It is obvious, however, that with the kneader in use tired Mary might, without violating culinary proprieties, call on willing John or youthful Ned to share with her the fatigue incident to baking-day, while the absolute cleanliness attending its employ is a quality appreciable by all.

The object of kneading the dough being to break up into finer ones the bubbles of carbonic acid gas resultant from the fermentative action of the yeast, which bubbles have become entangled in the glutinous mass, and to distribute them evenly throughout the material, it follows that the more thorough the kneading the more uniformly light and porous should be the bread.

The lightness of the completed loaf depending on the success attained in holding these bubbles of gas at proper expansion till such time as that their cellular enclosing walls of gluten and starch should have become stiffened by the heat of the oven, and further, the object of the porous sought being that the fermented material may be the more easily acted on by the digestive fluids, it follows, also, that the more uniformly porous the loaf the more of its cellular surface is exposed to the action of the fluids, and, therefore, the more wholesome the bread.

Thus, with the aid of the kneader, the willing strength of amateur John might help to produce a beneficially healthful result, while skillful Mary had thought for the proper temperature of oven which should perfect the whole.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

Fair weather followed by rain.
The MINING JOURNAL'S Ishpeming news is conspicuous, in this issue, by its absence. The communication was duly written and forwarded by our faithful correspondent, but, in a manner in which "no fellow can find out," failed to reach its destination.

A Petrified Priest.
While breaking new ground for a farm on the left bank of the Arkansas, half a mile from Booneville, Colo., the laborers exhumed the petrified body of a man clothed in the habit of a Roman Catholic priest. The dress and the figure might have passed for the cunning handiwork of some great master of sculpture. The two hands were clasped about an ivory crucifix, which hung from a rosary suspended about the neck, while the head of an arrow, still protruding from the breast, told the story of how the worthy father met his death; and the fact, so plain to be seen, that the body was hastily buried without coffin and the grave unmarked by the smallest token, showed that he and his brethren or some faithful friend were fleeing from the Indians when he was killed.
The petrified body was removed to the Church of the Annunciation, where it was visited by crowds from all over the county. The face is that of a young man of refined and intellectual features, and the hands and feet are of elegant proportions. Those who profess to know declare that his shoes are of a fashion worn in the latter part of the Seventeenth century, at which time, as is well known, devoted Spanish missionaries visited the country for the purpose of converting the Indians.—Cor. Philadelphia Times.

Blood Drinking in Paris.
Blood drinking is rather an unvarying medication. Every morning, however, fashionable ladies suffering from anæmia go to the monumental slaughter house of La Villette, just as if it were a drinking room at Aix or Vichy. They there drink bullock's blood at thirty centimes (six sous) a glass, and observers say that the blood cure is often efficacious. In Spain, the real precursor of Pasteur, noticed that the butchers and even the women bookkeepers in butchers' shops are singularly healthy and that their blood is, as a rule, purer than that of people plying other trades. Mile. Rosita Mauri, the famous opera danseuse, once sprained her foot upon the stage. The doctor ordered her to go to La Villette every morning early and to take her dainty ankle in hot bullock's blood. The habit of blood drinking, like hot water drinking, is nauseous at first, but the patients think no more of it after a time than they would of gulping down an oyster or a glass of absinthe. The animals, ought, naturally, to be healthy; but this can easily be tested by experts. Although the practice appears to have spread in France, the "blood cure" was really invented by an English doctor.—Paris Letter.

Not All a Joke.
Two well known young couples about town engaged in a joke several evenings ago that resulted in a serious illness. The couple stopped in a certain drug store for a prescription, and while it was being prepared they went behind the prescription counter, where there was a bottle containing some quarter-grain morphine pills.
One of the girls asked what they were and was informed that they were calchus. The girl swallowed two of them and gave two to her lady friend, who actually chewed them. Then the first girl swallowed two more and was in the act of taking the fifth when one of the young men discovered her. Since a grain of morphine has proved fatal there was some talk work to keep the foolish girl from going to sleep. Several doses of ipecac made her throw up the poison, but she was kept walking until 4 o'clock in the morning before she was in condition to go home. The girls will fool with things in a drug store no more.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Richest Bostonian.
Of the millionaires of Boston Mr. Frederick L. Ames unquestionably stands at the head. Mr. Ames, though taxed only on a little over $3,000,000 in Boston, is estimated as worth $30,000,000 to $25,000,000. The Ames family is no small part in the history of state and nation. Mr. Ames is a cousin of the ex-governor of the commonwealth and is eminently a railroad magnate. He is perhaps the only one in Boston who would rank beside the very rich men of New York, his only rival being J. Montgomery Flannery. Personally connected with upward of sixty railroads, he is a railroad man in the largest sense.—Cor. Richmond Times.

Few Jail Birds Are Bald Headed.
The bald headed men furnish comparatively few to the criminal classes. Their percentage of criminals and other offenders against the law is remarkably small. In support of this statement it may be mentioned that a count was made of the prisoners confined in the county jail. This count revealed the fact that of 158 male prisoners only sixteen were bald headed. From the central prison, also, information of a similar satisfactory character was obtained. There it was learned that the total number was 231, among whom only nineteen were scant of hair.—Toronto Mail.

SKIN CANCER.
Several years ago I was called to see a colored woman who had a malignant form of cancer of the foot. The cancer grew worse under the prescribed treatment, and the toes and one side of the foot were at length eaten entirely away. The patient could not have survived much longer, but I commenced the use of Swift's Specific, and it cured her sound well. That was three years ago, and there has been no return of the disease. I regard Swift's Specific as the most excellent medicine for blood diseases, as its tendency is to drive out the poison.

CANCER OF THE TONGUE.
For three or four years I had an eating sore on my tongue that made a considerable hole in it. I became alarmed at its progress, and went to Atlanta for treatment. The result was that I commenced the use of Swift's Specific, and the sore was soon gone, without a trace of it left.

Kabo, Kabo, Kabo—that sounds like an African name. It means a corset "bone" that can't be broken—if it can't be broken, it doesn't stick into you—so it means a "bone" of comfort, not of contention. It means a corset "bone" that doesn't kink—if it doesn't kink, the corset can't roll up in the middle as corsets are apt to do—so it means a "bone" that stays where you put it. It isn't a "bone" at all, but Kabo, Kabo, Kabo; and Kabo means a corset you wear a week or two or three, till you make up your mind about it, and then go back to the store and get your money, if you'd rather have money than Kabo.

There's a primer on Corsets for you at the store.

INCREASING DEMAND.
In 1872, and for several years previous, there were annual shipments into New York a half million bushels of peanuts, the greater part of which came from Africa and the rest from Spain. The American farmers gradually awakened to a perception of the profits to be made by raising the nuts. Melon patches were turned into peanut fields, and in 1878 the seed of the Spanish nut was planted in Virginia. The product was found to equal that of the foreign nut, and as it cost two or three cents a pound less to market the crop, it was not long before the imported nut was driven from the market. At present Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee count "gouber raising" as one of their chief industries.
In 1880 the consumption of peanuts in the United States was less than two million bushels. In 1887 the amount had increased to four and a third million bushels, all of which was eaten in the United States and Canada. The demand for peanuts has tripled in the past few years, and the crop has never been sufficient to supply the demand. The price of peanuts varies according to the supply. The average price last year was five cents a pound. America's average crop, which is estimated at three million bushels, represents a value of three million three hundred thousand dollars at wholesale price. The peanut is a more useful product than people in general think it to be. We all know how eagerly it is sought after in the roasted state to help boys enjoy a baseball match or a circus; but its use in the roasted form by no means measures the extent of its value, or the variety of uses to which it is put. The nuts contain from 42 to 50 per cent of a nearly colorless, bland, fixed oil, which resembles olive oil, and is used for similar purposes. The oil is principally employed in the manufacture of the finer grades of soap. In 1883 Virginia began to manufacture peanut flour, which makes a peculiarly palatable biscuit, and North Carolina has long made pastry of pounded peanuts. It is also eaten for dessert, and it is roasted as a substitute for coffee. The peanut is very nutritious. The negroes use it in very many places in making porridge, custard, and prepare from it a beverage. The vine forms a fodder as good as clover hay, and hogs fatten on what they find on the fields after the crop has been gathered.—George B. Spear in Montreal Star.

CULTURE OF THE PEANUT.
PARTICULARS ABOUT AN EATABLE BOYS AND GIRLS ARE FOND OF.
How the Little Nut Grows and Yields a Large Crop—Its Culture in America—The Gouber is a Great Favorite with the Colored People—A Substitute for Coffee.
The peanut, sometimes called ground pea or ground nut, is known in the southern states as the pindar and gouber; and the French call it pistach de terre. It is generally believed to be a native of Africa, where it is the principal food of some of the Congo tribes; but four or five species of the nut are now growing wild in Brazil. Its cultivation has been successfully introduced into Spain.
In this country it is raised principally in the states of Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee, and has been more recently cultivated in California.

The culture of the peanut is not difficult. Land suited to the raising of corn or melons is generally selected, and care is taken that there is nothing in the ground that would stain the shells. Planting time begins when the danger to plants from frost has passed. The ground is plowed five or six inches deep and then harrowed. Two nuts are taken from the shell, breaking the sides, and are planted two or three together in rows about three feet apart and twenty inches from hill to hill, and are covered with two inches of earth. When in a short time the vine is eight or ten inches long and begins to blossom it is covered with an inch of soil, care being taken to leave the tip end uncovered. The vines blossom profusely with small yellow flowers, and as the flower fades away a sharp pointed stem grows out from its base, turns downward and buries itself in the ground; on the end of the stem a thick shelled pod forms and enlarges rapidly. All the care that is necessary after the stem returns to the ground is to keep the land free from weeds. In October, when the nuts are ripe, the farmer loosens the earth and pulls up the vines, to which the nuts adhere, and turns them over to dry. He performs this work only in pleasant weather, and when the ground is dry. After the vines have lain in the sun for a week, which is generally a sufficient time for drying them, the grower stacks them around a stake about five feet high.

HANDLING THE CROP.
The vines remain in stack from three to five weeks, after which the nuts are picked off, placed in sacks and shipped to market. A vine under favorable conditions often bears more than a hundred nuts, and the yield per acre averages forty bushels. Most of the Virginia and North Carolina crop, which is about two-thirds of the whole crop of the country, is marketed in Norfolk and Petersburg, Va.; the rest, with the whole crop of Tennessee, is carried to St. Louis or Cincinnati. In each of these cities are factories where the nuts are shelled, and the shells are bought. The nuts as they appear at this stage, with earth and their stems still clinging to them, are hardly to be recognized as the bright nut we afterwards see on the corner stand. To polish them, and to remove the earth and stems, the nuts are scoured in large iron cylinders from which they pass through blast fans, in which a strong current of air separates the fully developed nuts having sound kernels from the imperfectly filled, and from empty pods. The sound nuts fall through the fan upon picking tables, where those which are discolored are taken out, and the bright ones are passed into sacks which will each hold about one hundred pounds of nuts. Each sack is marked with the brand which indicates the grade of its contents. The dark and the partially filled nuts are shelled, and the kernels are used by confectioners in making peanut candy. The work of picking over and separating the nuts is performed by little girls, about twenty of whom are employed at every table.

Three varieties of peanuts are grown in this country, the white, the red and the Spanish. The white, which is the most important variety, has a nut with two kernels with pink skins; its vine spreads along the ground, in its respect unlike that of the red variety, which grows more upright and in a bunch. The pod of the red nut holds three and sometimes four kernels, and has a deep red skin. The Spanish is a much smaller nut, with a lighter skin and milder flavor than either of the others possess. The entire crop is shelled, and used especially in that rich confection known as nut cake. The history of the competition between the home product and the imported peanut is interesting and gives one some idea of the importance of the peanut trade.

Our worthy brewer and ex-president is not that character of a man whose name will ever appear connected with the above charge. No doubt the man who was fined drank Bosch beer, and perhaps the Journal's correspondent did also.
OPESCHEE.
Superintendent John Danell, of the Temarack, Osceola and Kearsarge mines, left Friday noon for the mining camps of Arizona and Montana. He was accompanied by Capt. Alex. P. Thomas, of the Conglomerate Mining company, Keweenaw county.

Miss Gertie Rullison, an enterprising young lady of this city, took up the study of short hand and typewriting about a year ago. She has now gone to Ishpeming as stenographer and typewriter to David M. Ford, managing director of the Michigan gold mine.
H. S. Swift, former editor of the Copper Journal, was in the city this week.

QUEEN CITY DAY'S DOINGS.

William Lowrey, One of the Oldest Colored Residents of This Region, Meets a Horrible Death.

PINNED UNDER A FALLEN TREE HE WAITS FOUR DAYS FOR RESCUE.

City Should Take in Hand Improvement of Beautiful Presque Isle—Homestead Country Wants Better Mail Facilities.

Pinned Beneath a Tree.

William Lowrey, a resident in this region for many years and one of the best known colored men in Marquette, met with a horrible accident near Onota recently resulting in his death soon after his arrival here. Last Monday he was chopping in the woods and was caught by a falling tree. He was badly hurt and pinned down by the trunk so that he was unable to move. He lay thus imprisoned, death from his injuries or starvation staring him in the face, from Monday until Thursday morning, when he was discovered by some woodsmen. Life was almost gone when he was found but he was put on a train and brought to the hospital of Dr. Hopkins in this city for treatment. Rescue came too late, however. In spite of all possible efforts to save his life the old man died a few hours after reaching medical aid.

Lowrey was over 80 years of age and had been in the Lake Superior region for a quarter century or more. He was noted for his size and strength and the remarkable preservation of the latter even at his advanced age. He had been for years in the employ of the Lake Superior Powder company as a wood-chopper and in other capacities. He was reputed to have won some distinction in the "squared circle" in his earlier days. He is said to have accumulated some little property but left no immediate relatives.

Improve Presque Isle.

Though the generosity of private citizens Marquette has secured a fine drive to Presque Isle and that beautiful spot has been given to the city by the federal government for park purposes. The drive to this public pleasure ground was somewhat damaged by the severe storms last fall and the council should see to it that it is put in order once more. The drive cost nearly $10,000 to construct in the first place and a small sum spent annually in repairs will suffice to keep it in condition. The cost of its construction was defrayed by private liberality. The city having accepted the road thus made the municipal government owes it to all citizens to see that the drive be not destroyed by neglect.

A small sum each year might also be spent to advantage in clearing away the underbrush and improving these public grounds. With the ground clogged as at present with vegetation picnic parties are almost impossible and the mosquitoes render even driving uncomfortable. If the undergrowth were cleared away and the lake winds given free course among the trees these pests would soon vanish. A correspondent well suggests:

Through the generous aid of Mr. Peter White the island has been secured for our summer picnic grounds. It does seem that the city might spend enough on this, its greatest beauty and attraction, to put it in such shape that all might enjoy it. It would have gladdened the eye of any one driving about Presque Isle on a pleasant Sunday last summer to have seen family groups and parties taking advantage of this lovely spot. If only a portion could be cleared each summer it would be of great benefit and soon drive away the mosquito nuisance.

In Presque Isle, Marquette has a site suited by nature and easily made into one of the loveliest parks in the land. A small sum spent annually will not be felt as a burden and will in a few years accomplish wonders in beautifying this public pleasure ground for both rich and poor.

Another Cry For Postal Service.

All through the homestead country west of Nestoria petitions for better postal service are being circulated and extensively signed. The country is filling up rapidly and its postal facilities are by no means equal to its needs. That whole district is supplied by "locked pouches" only, no mail car going west of Nestoria. There should be a mail car put on the train to and from Duluth at once.

Another place where improvement is needed is on the mail route from St. Ignace to Houghton. There is but one man on this run and he has to work the mail not only for all towns along his run but also to throw it into pouches for points west of Nestoria. The great bulk of mail coming from the south to the iron and copper regions and going between the towns of those districts is more than one man can handle. Very often he has only the eight miles between Michigamme and Nestoria in which to throw all the mail and make up the pouches for points west of that point. This is simply an impossibility at times and annoying delays are the result. The St. Ignace-Houghton run should have another man and there should be mail cars put on the Duluth and Bessemer trains.

"Romeo and Juliet."
The tender tragedy of the lovers of Verona was well enacted by the Van

Cortland company at the Casino last night. Miss Van Cortland and Mr. Butler won successes of estimation at least in the leading roles. This was the first time, so far as can be learned, that the play has been presented before a Marquette audience. The city is fortunate that the first presentation of the great master's greatest tragedy of love was so acceptably made, though it were overpraise to say it was a great performance. Miss Van Cortland's Juliet is a clever and conscientious piece of work and one which that talented actress will undoubtedly make better. The really great Juliets may be counted upon the fingers of one hand. It is hence no small encomium upon Miss Van Cortland when the critic can truthfully say that her rendering of the part was very good and but barely escaped greatness. The piece was well set and costumed and the capable company gave an even and pleasing performance throughout. The audience was the largest of the week. This afternoon "Pygmalion and Galatea" will be repeated and to-night the engagement of this very meritorious company will close with the striking melodrama, "Dens and Palaces."

Demler's Body Found.

Alex. Demler, a homesteader near Ewen, disappeared on May 2d. It was feared that he had been drowned in the river or had committed suicide. Persistent search was made for the missing man, but it was vain until day before yesterday, when the fatal river yielded up its dead. The body was discovered some miles below Ewen and a party has set out to bring the remains to that place. Whether Demler committed suicide or was accidentally drowned is not known.

The drive has passed Ewen and logging business at that town is over for the season.

New Music House.

The well-known Fohrman Bros. have opened elegant music rooms at 112 Washington street, over Preston's restaurant. The firm carries a large assortment of all the standard makes of pianos and organs, which will be sold at the lowest prices for cash or on easy monthly installments. Those desirous of purchasing a fine instrument should consult Fohrman Bros. Violins, guitars, and brass instruments, the celebrated "Royal" edition of sheet music and instruction books of all kinds are also handled. Prof. James N. Fohrman, the popular instructor of music, has his studio in the same building.

Great Clothing Sale.

Neuberger, "The Clothier," has recently returned from the east where he has made extensive purchases of men's, youth's, boys' and children's clothing from the closing out sale of two large manufacturers. He has secured over 1,200 suits which he will to-day place on sale at less than half price, thus inaugurating a great slaughter sale. Shoes, shirts and underwear are also included in the sacrifice. Intending buyers will find it to their advantage to consult Mr. Neuberger's advertisement appearing elsewhere.

Zera Semon.

The clever magician and sleight-of-hand performer, Zera Semon, will open a week's engagement at the Casino Monday evening. He is supported by a company of clever specialty performers and the entertainment contains nothing that could offend the most fastidious. Zera Semon and company have appeared in several towns of the upper peninsula, and proved their popularity by drawing full houses every night of a week's engagement.
