Mr. Plumb—The question as to responsibility of the senator from Vermont is, of course, of no consequence except to himself; but when he says

CLEVELAND, June 17.—Every railroad here is held up by the switchmen's strike. Only passenger trains are running. Six hundred men are out. What except to himself; but when he says that we are going to deliver over to the democratic party, the finances of the country I ask what he is going to do with the republican platform. Is he going to consent or agree that the platform of the republican party adopted in Chicago in 1888 shall be the platform of the democratic party? If he is, is he going to claim for the republican party the platform at St. Louis in 1888 when Mr. Cleveland was nominated? Names are sometimes things. I prefer to be lieve that in this ebulition of objection the senator from Vermont does not represent either himself or the republican party.

Mine Passengers Injured.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., June 17.—An accident occurred on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railway five miles east of this city this forenoon in which the engine and all the cars of the train due is sufficient.

mr. Edmunds—I stand by the republican party platform fully and in all its implications; but our friends, the demindren the other side of the chamimplications; but our friends, the democrats, on the other side of the chamber and their deluded followers and coadjutors (Laughter) have abandoned that republican platform and transformed it into a platform which no democratic convention ever dared to make and which no democratic administration and no democratic house of representatives ever dared to propose, because they knew that although it might take some year or two, the people of the United States would find out that they had been deluded and misled by getting up a cry on behalf of the

that they had been deluded and misled by getting up a cry on behalf of the people who have something to sell and of the people who have something to pay—a cry of expansion.

Mr. Vest—The senator from Vermont has made an assertion which is contradicted by the record and is historically untrue. The house of representatives in 1877, with a large democratic majority, did pass a free coinage act pure and simple. It came to the senate and was mutilated here The free coinage feature of it was taken out of it by the republican party. That is the record.

REED ON RIVERS AND HARBORS.

In force of will and quickness of intellect Thomas B. Reed is probably inferior to no man in public life to-day. Those qualities which fit a man to control a turbulent legislative body seem o be developed in him to an extraornor James G. Blaine held such a rein | ible over the house of representatives as the present incumbent of the speakership. If it is true, however, that Mr. Reed has announced his deliberate purpose to defeat the river and harbor bill unless all appropriations are cut down he is going a step too far. Mr. Reed's course, hitherto, has been denounced ship are coming in rapidly. as arbitrary and revolutionary by the opposition, but its object and its effect has been to give free course to the will of the majority over the filibustering tactics of a factious minority. In attempting to dictate what shall be the amount of money devoted to the improvement of rivers and harbors it would seem that the speaker is endeavoring to thwart the expressed wish of the majority and he should think twice before taking so decisive a step. CLEVELAND AND SILVER. It is scarcely possible for a man to be four years president of the United States and to make a second canvass, even though defeated, without coming out of the turmoil a wiser if not a better man. But Grover Cleveland is a man, according to the representations of his friends, who did not learn the true theory of silver money during his busy official career as mayor, sheriff, governor and president. The democratic platform of 1888 was silent on silver because the candidate's ideas or the subject were still tinctured with the subtle sophisms which New York bankers had infused into the presidential mind. Now, however, it seems that the ex-president sees the silver question as it is, not "through a glass, darkly," but in the full light of the noonday sun, and sees that the democratic theory of unlimited carnage is the exact thing. Since his retirement from the presidency his law practice, his controversy Painters' Supplies with the New York Sun, and his process of avoirdupois reduction have not so fully occupied his time that he has not had leisure to meditate on public questions and, among other results of national importance, is his discovery that he was wrong and the democratic

> It is evident thas Cleveland is being carefully trained for the Presidential Derby. He is being groomed with the most scrupulous diligence, and rubbed down daily by skilful hands. His antifat treatment is succeeding beyond expectation, and his backers are to be congratulated that he has so readily gotten rid of such an obese impediment to speed as a silver theory not in accordance with democratic ideas.

COPPER STOCKS. The Engineering and Mining Jour-

The boom in copper stocks continues, and the demand for this class of securities is growing daily. Almost every one is desirous of taking a hand in the speculation, and prices advance with apparently little effort. There is good reason for the activity, as ingot copper is growing stronger every day, and the demand is unabated, while the production hardly keeps pace with the demand. This means large dividends to holders of the producing mines and stimulates efforts of the numcrous other mines to put their several properties upon a paying basis. Calumet & Heela with its enormous production, with copper at 16c. per pound, must inevitably pay larger dividends than ever, and it is no wonder that the stock is wanted even at $320, which is the price it sold at this week, and there is not much to nal prints the following for June 13: Stockholders' Meeting.

After Fort Fisher's Capture. The Union loss at Fort Fisher in January, 1865, was 184 killed and 749 wounded. The Confederate loss in killed and wounded has been placed at 500 in all. Gen. Terry reported over 2,000 prisoners, some them re-enforcements which reached work on the last day. The night of the 15th, after the surrender, was made by the display of rockets from the fleet and the flames from burning material fired by the retreating Confederates. At daylight on the 16th the joy of the victors was dampened by the disastrous explosion of the powder magazine of the fort, with over six tons of powder. This magazine was under a roof of sand and turf, eighteen feet thick. A portion of Col. Alden's regiment, the One Hundred and Sixty-ninth New York, encamped around and upon it. Without warning, the whole mound blew up, killing twenty-five and wounding sixty-six of the Union men. Thirteen men were missing, and were probably buried under the debris. Some wound Confederates were also in the bomb proof. Some days after the explosion Naval Com-mander Truxton, of Porter's fleet, found an insulated wire leading from the Wilmington side of the river to Fort Fisher and into the magazine, and it was believed at the time that some Confederate had exploded the deadly charge purposely. Subsequent investigation proved that some Union men entered the magazine with an open light, not knowing the danger, and accidentally fired the powder.—George L. Kilmer.

He Got the Meal.

The trampentered the diaconal council. He had on a long frock coat, fastened closely around his waist by a thorn, and from the flowing lap above cozed out the ends of a much soiled handkerchief. His closely fitting trousers, through numerous portals of which protruded his interesting self, seemed to run without any dividing line into the shoe and boot which respectively incased his feet. The deacons had time to note these peculiarideacons nad time to note these peculiarities before the stranger broke the silence. "Gentlemen," he began, "your pardon for disturbing you, but I am very sick." He paused after this announcement to note the effect. "I went to the doctor," he soon continued, "and he gave me the pills—see, the pills," and he held up to view a small bottle which he had in the palm of his hand. "He which he had in the pain of his hand. He said take the pills, three after each meal, and I would like very much to have some assistance." "Well, why in thunder don't you take your pills, then, and not come bothering here?" interposed a deacon, who was becoming tired. "Gentlemen," replied the tramp, with much unction, "I cannot take the pills; I have no meal." He got a meal.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Water and Steam Power.

A thorough examination into the relative cost of water power and steam power has been made by C. H. Manning, in a paper read before the last session of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. After making alphorate calculations as to the addition. making elaborate calculations as to the additions and abatements required in putting both in use, the author sums up the cost in each case, and says: "In the water power plant we paid $14 for the cost of the water, simply, per horse power per annum; adding simply, per norse power per annum; adding to this $8.62 for attendance and supplies, we have a total cost of water power of $22.62 per horse power per annum." Taking for steam a low pressure plant of 1,100 horse power, with compound engines run on one and three-quarters pounds of coal per horse power, with coal at $4.50 per ton, the total cost for steam is given at $21.16 per horse power per annum. "On plant," says Mr. Manning "On a 1,000 horse power cost saves an engineer's wages."-New York Telegram.

How Bucoda Got Its Name. Bucoda is the name of a town in Washington. The origin of its name is of a some-what curious nature. However, it arises from civilized sources. It may puzzle some of the commentators when they endeavor to search for its origin. You might search all the foreign languages in the world, and still not be able to discover it. This is how it was christened: There were three great railroad men in that portion of the country where the town is now, and their names were Buck-ley, Coulter and Davis. Each of them wished the town to be payed. ed the town to be named after himself. But they could not come to an agreement, and finally, as a compromise, the two first letters from each name were taken and placed together, and thereby originated Bu-co-da.-Salem (Ore.) Statesman.

A RAILROAD WRECK.

A Destructive Collision at Negaunee -Boarding House Robbery .- Jottings of Minor Matters,

A Great Wreck

Monday evening as the C. & N. W. switch engine No. 241, was coming down the heavy grade leading to the South Jackson mine it collided with a South Shore switch engine and train, which it unexpectedly met at the diaworst that has been seen here in years. The South Shore engine was standing almost precisely on the crossing, but moved off far enough to clear the rapidly moving Northwestern train. At the crossing, however, the Northwestern engine, which, by the way, had a gondola car in front of it, struck the train of ore that was standing on the diamond crossing. The C. & N. W. engine was coming down backwards, pushing down the gondola car, as has been already stated, and having in front of the engine some twenty or thirty cars of ore. Up the grade a little way the train was obliged to come to a full stop because of some cows which disputed the right of way. In order to start up the train the brakes had to be let off, and before they could be set again the cars had gained such momentum that it was im-Shore train that was standing on the morning there was a sorry looking gine 241 still held its position, but the locomotive proper instead of being headed west, as was its position when coming down the hill, was facing due east, having been completely turned around in the collision and besides was lying on its side. The South Shore Northwestern men worked all day yesterday, but it will take them until to day to get the engine on the track and the debris moved away Where the fault for the collision rests will be a matter for the railway people to settle, and the reporter does not care to ex-

Water from Trees

A maple tree of eight or ten inches diame Entire Underground Force Quit ter, well formed and growthful, has on the average 25,000 leaves on it, and it is a safe computation to say that such a tree will throw off in the space of every twelve hours 340,000 grains weight of water. Now an acre will easily contain 600 or 700 such trees, and as the weight of one pint of water is 7,000 grains, troy weight, it will be found upon calculation that from a single acre of forest land 3,875 gallons of pure water are thrown off and distributed through the body of the urrounding atmosphere in every twelve

The Oldest Observatory.

The observatory at Pekin is the oldest in the world, having been founded in 1279 by Kublai Khan, the first emperor of the Mogul dynasty. There are still in it three of the first instruments of observation. These were used for the observation of Hallands execution [222] Halley's comet in 1758, and may also be used when, twenty-two years hence, this comet again appears. The oldest observatory in Europe is that founded by King Frederick III of Denmark on the Island of Hveen, in ound, and where the famous Danish as ronomer. Tycho Brahe, carried out his cele brated observations, among others that of the "bright" star in Casiopeia. The Paris observatory was established in 1071, and that of Greenwich three years later. -- Montreal

PREHISTORIC SHARKS.

MONSTER MAN EATING FISHES ONE HUNDRED FEET LONG.

tinct Fish of the Past. If we may judge prehistoric man by his east of Front st.........$4,600 modern representatives we may assume that shark fishing was carried on at a very early shark fishing was carried on at a very early day; so very early, in fact, that not the slightest proof remains or even a remnant of the early Walton. In geological maps of America, during what is known as the tdr-tiary age, we find it occupying a much more restricted area than at present. The southern states were largely under water, and Florida was but a shoal beneath the waves. In the immediate vicinity of Charleston, S. C., from the bottom of the river bed have been taken the remains of some sharks so sugbeen taken the remains of some sharks so sug-gestive of gigantic size that the modern man eater is dwarfed in comparison. The remains consist of teeth, huge deviated specimens, in some instances almost as large as a woman's hand, many times larger than those found in large sharks of today. The writer once had the curiosity to arrange a number of these teeth after the model of a modern shark, and the result gave a fish large enough to swallow a horse entire; and as for length, 125 feet must have been the dimensions of these monsters.

If a shark fourteen feet long is sufficient at the present day to terrify any one, what must have been the effect of the appearance of this tertiary giant? Like the great whales, it required deep water to float it, and doubtless was only attacked when by accident it became stranded on the shoals

HOW THEY WERE CAPTURED. At such a time the fishermen may have put off in their rude crafts and aided in its capture—perhaps fastening it with cables—ir. driving logs of wood into its vulnerable parts. To capture such monsters by any other means must have been impossible. The largest boats would hardly have withstood the struggles that must have ensued after an attempt at capture by spear or harpoon, assuming even that such weapons were known. Once en-trapped in shallow water we can imagine that the sight must have been a striking one; the enormous fish, far more active in this condi-tion than a whale, beating the water with blows of its powerful tail, making frantic and mighty rushes this way and that, snapping the great cables like threads, capsizing the rude boats and spreading terror and destruc tion everywhere.

A man to one of these mighty sharks would be almost unnoticeable, and we can imagine that such a huge creature must have been upon a continual forage to appease its appetite. A moderate sized whale would have been legitimate prey, as our ordinary man eaters of today have been known to swallow nearly an entire horse. At this time many strange creatures thronged the ocean, and doubtless animal life was made much more profuse than at present.

Any one who has seen a shark of large size moving along beneath the surface can realize the terror they produce in all observers.

A MODERN EXPERIENCE. The writer once hooked a shark about four-teen feet in length. The brute was towing the heavy boat at steamboat speed through the water, my man crouching in the stern, which was high in air, while I was engaged at the bow, in keeping the line in the notch, a slip from which would have tipped us over. We had rushed up the channel for about half a mile at this pace, when I chanced to glance overboard, and there, about ten feet from the surface, were half a dozen man eaters of the largest size swimming along, keeping up with us, apparently determined to see what became of their friend. The appearance of these huge fishes moving along so swiftly and with such little exertion had an extremely disagreeable impression upon me—one that I metropolitan Style.

never fully recovered from, as I have never enjoysd sea bathing since, even in northern waters. The attendant sharks I judged were from ten to thirteen feet in length, and the never determined, as he finally escaped by breaking the rope

SIZE OF CAPTURED SHARKS At South Carolina, at the junction of the Ashley and Cooper rivers, thousands of these teeths have been dredged in deepening the river, not of one species alone, but of many, showing that here must have been a common feeding ground for schools of these giants that perhaps engaged in warfare among themselves, and so formed this strange grave yard of teeth that thousands of years later became through a rising of the coast dry land. Of the man eaters of today the carcharodon is the largest, a specimen having been cap-tured in Australian waters thirty-six feet in length; the jaw of this monster is now in the British museum. The largest shark, however, is the phinoden, which has a wide geo-graphical range and attains a length of from fifty to seventy feet, approximating that of the great whales; but this huge creature is not a menace to the other dwellers of the sea, having small, harmless teeth, and preying Prospect sts. Residence, Marquette, Mich., corner Pine and having small, harmless teeth, and preying upon small pelagie or floating animals. An other shark, called the "hone shark," is oc casionally found off our eastern coast, rang ing from twenty to fifty feet. A reliable fisherman informed me that his father cap-tured one off the southern coast of Massachusetts which was longer than this. The schooner was sixty tons burden, and when the fish was brought alongside and lashed it was longer than the vessel, or between sixty and seventy feet. This shark is also a defenseless creature, relying upon small animals for food.

Courting in Africa.

Marrying among the Wa-Teita, as with nost African tribes, is simply a question of purchasing the bride from her parents. The price of one of those oleaginous and bead bejeweled damsels (presumably beads and all) is three to four cows.

The cow damsel, in accordance with an ancient custom of the tribe, affecting to flee from the consummation of her own happi-ness, runs away and hides in the hut of some relative. Collecting his friends, and armed with the search warrant of time honored cus tom, the groom then enters and searches house after house where he fancies his bride may be concealed.

At length the shrinking maiden is disco ered amid much merriment, and is drawn tri-umphantly from her hiding place. Four of the groom's assistants, seizing each an arm or leg, then carry her off to her new home.-London Illustrated News.

Henry M. Stanley is in the field for "boodle." He said to a friend before he left America in search of Emin Pasha; "I'm getting on past middle life. I have not saved a cent. My books and lectures shall pay me within the next five years enough to make my old age comfortable. This African expedition is for money, not glory."

The instruction classes in laundry work in England have proved a great success as well as a great benefit and have raised the standard of the work. It is a scheme that might be copied to advantage, also to give instruction in other kinds of household work.

'Yellow" Players Weeded Out of the Base Ball Club-Important Matters Before the City Council.

Pure Water to be Imported From Deer Creek. City Hall to be Built.-The German Societies.

A meeting of the directors of the base evening, at which it was decided to release three players of the club. The three players released are Mallory, Clare and Sullivan. Mallory, "The Cyclone," may be a good pitcher, and then again he may not be, but he has certainly done very poor work for the home nine since playing with the Ishpemings. On two occasions he has been taken out of the box in the middle of the game, and Sinclair put in his On two occasions the Houghton club has made six and nine runs from him in a single inning. This sort of thing has become tiresome, and if possible it will be stopped.

The players now in the Ishpeming club and their positions are as follows: Chas. Bohn and Sinclair, pitchers, Dobyns, catcher, Tray, first base, Truby, 2nd base, Blackstock, 3rd base, Kinsley, short stop, Blair, left field, Lavin, centre field, Wilbur, right field, Burns, substitute and first base.

This gives the club eleven men, and much stronger aggregation than ever before. Bohn, the new pitcher, is said to be an excellent man, and Sinclair has proved his coolness and capability for good work in more than one trying

There will be an exhibition game at the park at 3:30 this afternoon, between the Houghton and home nines. People here will have a chance to see the work of Augustine, the celebrated pitcher of the Houghtons, and also to witness the playing of the reorganized home nine. On Friday of this week there will be a league game between Hancock and Ishpeming, and on Saturday the Ishpemiug and Negaunee nines will contest the ownership of the $100 prize offered for base base ball by the foresters at Union park.

There has been a great deal of difficulty in the work of securing a firstclass nine, and the directors of the association have had a great deal of loud talk to bother them. They have paid little attention to the sneers of outsiders, and have pursued the even tenor of their way undisturbed by the mouthwork of those who would like to run the club from outside. At the same time nothing that would strengthen the club has been left undone, and there is little doubt that Ishpeming now has a team that is the equal of any in the state of Michigan, not excepting that of Detroit itself

There is some talk that the present Marquette team will be released and the Manistee club taken in its place, for Marquette. Whether this will be done or not is known only to-the management of the Manistee and Marquette

The Common Council. There will be a regular meeting of the common council at the chamber this evening. In addition to the routine general importance that are to be con-

The first of these is the question of sewerage. The Deer Lake Falls are to be purchased by the city, pursuant to resolution adopted at the last meeting. In addition to buying the falls, and lowering the bed of the Carp River by de stroying the falls, the city must construct a sewer from the river to Lake street, to connect with the trunk sewers that are to be built in various parts of

The city hall is to be built this season or at least is to be started this summer and completed as soon as possible and it is important that no time be lost in getting the work under way. The driving of spiles can profitably be begun at once, or as soon as the livery barn at present standing on the lot is removed and it is determined where the walls of the structure are to stand.

Some of the business streets are in horrible condition. In fact they are a shame to the city. They have been in this shape since last fall and nothing has been done to make them even passable. Wagons are being broken daily by merely passing over the rough stones and the evil condition of the streets is proving a great loss to the business men of the city. It is high time that something was done to remedy the present bad condition of affairs.

To Go to Negaunee.
The "Deutscher Unterstuetzungs Verein," of this city, has just received from the makers a very handsome banner, bearing the name and address of the lodge, and an American flag from the silk of the finest quality and are handsome pieces of work, no expense having been spared to secure the very best. The American flag is, of course, without lettering of any sort, while the banner is lettered on both sides. The tricolored flag of the German empire is used as the base of the banner, but the Ishpeming, - - - Michigan. coat of arms that appears in the German flag proper is left out of the upper right-hand corner. The Ishpeming society will go to Ne-

the societies of the upper peninsula being united in one association, known as the "Lake Superior Unterstuetzungs Bund." The societies forming the bund are of various names, but are all formed on the principles of charity and mutual ball association was held on Monday aid. They have increased greatly in membership wi'hin the past two years, and now have a very strong following. The annual meeting of the bund will be held in Ishpeming in 1891. ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

Read Tillson's new advertisement in this

Mr. M. Gleason, of Republic, was here vesterday afternoon. The Foresters' celebration will take place at Union park Saturday afternoon of this Will the aldermen have pity on a suffering city this evening, and do something to secure better streets. There are now eighteen miles of water mains in the city, and extensions are being ordered right along.

Miss Dolly A'Hearn left yesterday afternoon for Denver, where she will make her nome with her parents and brother.

Prof. Williams' circus will exhibit here this afternoon and evening, and to-morrow twice again. It is said to be a very fair show, and charges but a quarter admission, which should draw good crowds here.

A new covering is being put over Partridge creek on Lake street. The old covering of three inch plank has become so rotten that it has broken through in places, and is very unsafe. Fred Fehr is in the city. Mr. Fehr is at present interested in a dry goods store at Ironwood, and like all other people who have interests on the Gogebic range, is confident that Ironwood will soon get ahead of Ishpeming in population. A. B. Eldredge is packing up law books and office furniture preparatory to moving to Marquette. It is with regret that Ishpeming loses Mr. Eldredge, but the regret s tempered with satisfaction that he is to go to no more distant point than Marquette A prohibitionist, if also averse to the use of tea and coffee, must have found life a burden for the past few days. The city water has had a very strong taste of fish, and there are few who have a desire to taste fish in their drinking water. The present bad state of affairs will be remedied in a few days, when the new pump is put at work at Section 16, and till that time all drinking water should be either filtered or boiled before using.

REPUBLIC RIPPLES.

Lo, it was a sacred hour, a new being was shered into the world; two blanched faces ushered into the world; two blanched faces watched the proceedings with interest, while the rapid breathing of the one most deeply interested showed with what anxious solicitude he awaited the outcome. The child was born and proved to be healthy as was indicated by its lusty "whoop" and was at once christened "The Republic Sun." Your correspondent had the great honor of first handling the newly born.

During Saturday night, or early Sunday morning, some despicable wretch cut the throat of Gust Nelson's cow. What motive the scoundrel could have had is difficult to surmise, as Gust is a quiet, peaceable citizen and was not aware that he had any enemies. His brother Andrew at once offered a reward of $25 for any information that will lead to the apprehension and conviction of the inhuman party or parties. Such villany is almost beyond comprehension, and it will fare ill with the perpetrator, if Marshal Glode gets on his trail, and he most assuredly will.

The re-union of the high school pupils in the town hall on Saturday night was an affair in the highest degree enjoyable. Mrs. Jarley's wax works "took," the comicalities being good hits. The poem, "The Decorative Sisters" was finely illustrated with numerous tableaux, and the ref eshments brought a broad grin to the faces of the boys as their favorite young ladies handed to them the choicest delicacies. Miss Evans descrives crops of oranges, yet it ships several thousand boxes annually. A Putnam county grower visiting at the capital estimates the crop of the state at 1,300,000 boxes, or, in round numbers, 195,000,000.

While frozen New England shivers through its annual visitation of polar blizzards, Florida's northern tier of counties is reaping wealth from its growth of sweet and Irish potatoes, beans, peas, sweet corn and onions. The schools close on Friday next for the summer vacation. Written and oral examinations have made hard work for pupils and teachers for some time. More than a hundred well-earned certificates of promotion will gladden the hearts of the receipients, and much of the childrens work will adorn the walls of the school rooms. As a fitting close to a successful school year, the parents will, undoubtedly, be present in large numbers from 3 o'clock until 4.

MERIT WINS.

We desire to say to our citizens that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. H. H. Stafford & Son, druggists. MERIT WINS.

IN THE LAND OF FLOWERS

HOMES, LEGENDS AND PROGRESS OF THE FLORAL CITY.

Rich Perfames of Dainty Blossoms That Fill the Air During the Season of Ice in the North-Sociable Tallehasseans-Pet Names of Florida's Towns.

Every place of prominence in Florica has its distinctive pet name, which is used by its patriotic inhabitants nearly as often as is its proper geographical title. Fernandina is "the Gate City," Jacksonville "the Metropolis," St. Augustine "the Ancient City," Palatka "the Gem City," Orlando "the Phenomenal City," Cedar Keys "the Florida Venice," and "the Charles of the Councillation of the Phenomenal City," Cedar Keys "the Florida Venice," and "the Gem City," Orlando "the Phenomenal City," Cedar Keys "the Florida Venice," and so on through a long catalogue. Tallahassee is "the Floral City," or, to include the full formula, "the Floral City of the Land of Flowers." Why this formula is appropriate is evident even in the depth of what by a poetic fiction is in Florida called "winter." Nearly every house in the straggling, roomy town is hidden in a tangled sub tropical maze of trees, shubbery and vines, floating from which are stringers of the gray Spanish moss.

The rich perfume of the jessamines scent the peaceful inland air, and the brilliant blossoms of the begonias and cleanders burn along the streets and in the gardens; the roses reserve of the begonias and oleanders burn along the streets and in the gardens; the roses reserve their crimson for February and the punctilious "Spanish bayonets," with their keen points, guard for the later summer the secret of their wonderful white hearts. Still, even in the winter of its discontent the Floral City gives ample indications of the glorious sumgives ample indications of the glorious sum-mer before it and the profusion of its fond, partial gifts from our generous Mother Nature HOUSES AND PEOPLE.

The stranger within the gates of Tallahassee is at once impressed with the social character of the citizens. If, as he saunters along one of the hilly highways leading out into the "back country," he chances to speak to a Floridian engaged in pruning a peach orchard, the native will leave his tree, climb the zigzag ice stretching along the road and sit in hospitable dignity on its topmost rail. The Tallahassean has his opportunity now. He imparts information in the most suave manner and will not let his victim escape for half an hour. Should the dinner or tea bell's ringing break in upon his didactic conversation, he hospitably insists upon taking his captive to the family assembly. If the cordial invi-tation be accepted, the visitor has a golden chance to view the architecture and domestic arrangements of the quaint homesteads. Some of the houses are little old style cot some of the houses are little old style cot-tages, suggestive of the green lanes and chalk hills of Kent, with queer gables and deep domed windows, hidden behind mounting masses of shrubbery. Others are brick structures of the Doric style, with spreading porti-cos and white wooden pillars. Occasionally a relic of the early French occupation may be seen, built flush against the street, with its decaying porte cochere, inner court and rear garden. Occasionally, too, may be seen a blank walled, dismal building, with an odd overhanging jalousie, the monument of its Spanish constructor.

In the realm of housewifery the spirit of laisser faire pervades. Hospitality is spontaneous and of the sincerest kind, but it is more of a pleasure than of the duty it often is among the thrifty matrons of New England, for here the supervision of servants is all that there is to the duties of the housewife. Ancient aboriginal legends and later tales of the Spanish occupation make Tallahassee a storied place. Where the state capitol, a formal structure of straight lines and prim angles, with Doric columns, now stands, the seminole and Yemassee sachems buried the hatchet and smoked the pipe of peace two centuries ago. Here the Spanish invaders of their soil built Fort St. Luis, the ruins of which are among the town's curiosities. Here Andrew Jackson, after taking formal possession, in 1821, of the newly ceded province of Spain, placed its chief military post. Four miles to the east is Lake Lafayette, lying in the midst of a large estate of 23,000 acres, given to the marquis in recognition of his assistance during the revolution. To the west is the Murat plantation, occupied until her death by the Princess Murat, the daughter in-law of the finest cavalry leader in the Napoleonic campaigns, Joachim Murat, king of Naples, and brother-in-law of the little corhe grave of the prin in the Episcopal cemetery.

FOLKS FROM THE "BACK COUNTRY." According to the census of 1880, the popu lation of Tallahassee was 2,900, about 60 per cent. being of shades ranging from indelible ink to passe cream. On Saturdays the popu-lation doubles owing to the advent of negroes from the "back country," who come to pur-chase provisions for the ensuing week. The visitors come with a little milk and honey, a few vegetables and fewer coins. After selling their produce and buying groceries, they view the urban glories. They favor a northerner with their especial confidence, and show much curiosity regarding northern politics. One Saturday afternoon recently a venerable darky with grizzled wool respect fully saluted me at a street corner and inquired if I knew Mr. Blaine personally. On receiving a negative reply, he exclaimed in injured astonishment:

"Why, boss, you done cum from de norf!" Bicycle riders will be interested to learn that in Tallahassee is located one of the three wheel clubs of the state. It is a flourishing organization of twelve members. - Though Tallahassee is a few dozen miles to the north of the counties (Putnam, Marion, Citrus, Hernando and Pasco) growing the heaviest crops of oranges, yet it ships several

The complaint is not infrequently made by New York consignees that the vegetables of certain lots are too large for the trade.—Tallahassee Cor New York Tribune.

Interesting statistics gathered by a prominent English physician indicate that co tion is very greatly promoted by a damp soil and its presence has been abated, even to the extent of 50 per cent, while suitable drainage has been introduced. Researches of other physicians, including the well known Dr. Bowditch, of Massachusetts, confirm this conclusion and determine that the amount of moisture in the soil is a fair criterion of the 30tf proportion of consumption among the resi-dents. Local causes are becoming more and more disregarded, and the infectious nature of consumption is receiving increased attention from physicians.—Good Housekeeping.
