The Iron Mountain Journal was not dead but merely in a trance, or hypnotized. The Journal has been resurrected and asserts with apparent sincerity that it is alive and will soon be kicking.

There is a rumor that Ironwood has a daily paper, but no copy of the alleged diurnal record of things that happen in the big Gogebic iron town has reached our table.

EVEN though England has ceded Heligoland to Germany there is no reason for the British to despair. They still have St. Helena, Helvellyn and Ireland, which will be able to furnish all the pandemonium that the empires needs for the next century.

CONGRESSMAN WILLIAM E. MASON, of Chicago, has been renominated by the republicans of his district. Mr. Mason will certainly be re-elected, to the great satisfaction of his colleagues, for "Billy" is one of the most amusing clowns of the present house, being able to "stand off" Allen, of Mississippi, a democrat.

SENATOR PETTIGREW introduces many numerous signed petitions from his constituents, the South Dakotans, asking for laws to keep liquor out of the state. This is perfectly consistent, for a good-sized trunk will hold as much whisky as any one man need drink during the short sojourns the senator makes in Dakota, so that he can readily carry what he needs as part of his personal baggage.

It is reported that Hon. Byron S. Waite, of Menominee, is struggling manfully these sultry days with the subject assigned him for the Press Association meeting, at Iron Mountain, July 22, to-wit: "The Newspaper Men." Mr. Waite is supposed to be in a painful state of uncertainty between a strong desire to express his real feelings towards the press gang and an overpowering impression that it is hardly politic to provoke the power that rules the world.

FERDINAND SCHLESINGER is a man of penetrating intellect. He has an eye that easily selects points of superior commercial advantages. His remark, chronicled some days since, that he considered Marquette's facilities for shipping ore superior to those of Escanaba, was addressed to General Manager Fitch, of the South Shore railroad, who, of course, agreed with Mr. Schlesinger, being a man of long head himself. The Escanaba Mirror is referred to Mr. Fitch for support of its assertion: "Schlesinger never said it."

TWIN CITY CENSUS. ST. PAUL and Minneapolis are now eyeing each other like tigers crouched for a spring. The rivalry and hatred of years is intensified by the late census quarrel. Each looks upon the other as a miracle of atrocity and ransacks the whole vocabulary of abuse to find terms to describe such unusual wickedness.

BLAINE AND SUGAR. The manner in which Blaine's expression of opinion on the free sugar clause of the McKinley bill has been exaggerated and distorted is absurd. It has been interpreted as an abandonment of all his theories of protection, and he has been praised to the verge of adulation by some democrats for his conservative stand on the tariff, and reproached by others as a fickle or unprincipled man, who never hesitates to abandon any position he may have taken, either from whim or to serve the selfish impulses of the moment.

Now Mr. Blaine's position on the question of free sugar is so plainly consistent with all his former declarations on the tariff that it is strange that anybody should have misunderstood him. He simply objects to the free sugar clause on the ground that it gives a most valuable concession to the South and Central American countries without exacting anything in return. "Nothing for nothing," says Mr. Blaine and plain business common sense repeats his words.

AN ANGLO-GERMAN ALLIANCE. There is strong evidence that there is the best of understandings between Germany and England. The amicable division of Central Africa between the two powers and the sentimental presentation to Germany of a bit of German soil long in England's possession, the island of Heligoland, are significant of a perfect accord; not with regard to any mere local detail of policy; not to serve the temporary purposes of the emergency of a moment; but with reference to a policy of English and German co-operation reaching round the globe and descending to future generations.

If this is the proper interpretation of this late friendship of Germany and England it means many things. It means that Russian aggression upon Turkish weakness will be curbed by a stronger hand than ever and that Russian conquests in Asia have reached their practical limits for our times.

But these great world-powers are envious not only of the Great Despotism, but of the Great Republic. The evident purpose of the United States to act as the lord of most of the Western continent and the guardian of the rest, is looked on with great dislike by both the Germans and English. The successful assertion of American rights in the South Pacific in the Samoan affair was a bitter pill to Bismarck, Germany, as well as England, has built up great commercial interests in South America, which are threatened by the establishment of Blaine's Pan-American system. England has been obliged by weakness to dissemble her resentment at the assertion of American supremacy in Behring sea, but the wound rankles just the same. The danger that British America will become a part of the United States by means of war or peace is ever present to English statesmen.

Taking these things into consideration, the big nation with no navy may naturally expect to note a gradual stiffening of the spine of English diplomacy.

A man who has practiced medicine for 40 years, ought to know salt from sugar; read what he says: TOLEDO, O., Jan. 10, 1887. Messrs. F. J. Cheney & Co., Gentlemen:—I have been in the general practice of medicine for most 40 years, and would say that in all my practice and experience have never seen a preparation that I could prescribe with as much confidence of success as I can Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by you. Have prescribed it a great many times and its effect is wonderful, and would be happy to conclude that I have yet to find a case of Catarrh that it would not cure, if they would take it according to directions.

Yours Truly, L. L. GORSUCH, M. D. Office, 215 Summit St. We will give $100 for any case that can not be cured with Hall's Catarrh Cure. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c.

CATARRH. Catarrhal Deafness—Hay Fever—A New Home Treatment.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result of this discovery is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby catarrh, catarrhal deafness and hay fever are permanently cured in from one to three simple applications made at home by the patient once in two weeks.

N. B.—This treatment is not a snuff or an ointment; both have been discarded by reputable physicians as injurious. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent free on receipt of stamp to pay postage, by A. H. Dixon & Son, 337 and 339 West King street, Toronto, Canada.—Christian Advocate.

Sufferers from catarrhal troubles should carefully read the above.

MERIT WINS. We desire to say to our citizens that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. H. H. Stafford & Son, druggists.

THE CUSTER MASSACRE.

The Days That Followed the Slaughter of the Little Big Horn.

From settlement to settlement along the frontier flew the rumors, and there came thronging into Fargo, the nearest telegraph and railway station, a crowd of anxious and excited citizens who had left their harvest fields half reaped, their cattle wandering on the prairies, their daily tasks unaccomplished and almost unthought of.

When the worst was confirmed, when it was known to be a certainty that on that distant plain lay every member of that gallant band—Custer and his brave young brothers—Calhoun, Yates, Crittenden, Cook, Smith, Reilly—no words can picture the gloom that settled upon us. In every home, from the few pretentious mansions then erected to the humblest cabin of the pioneer, there was grief and hot indignation.

I cannot enter into the much mooted question of Reno's lack of courage or Bennett's disobedience to orders. I can only say that from that day forth, in the eyes and on the head of every frontiersman, was Marcus Reno branded "coward," and had he then, in the first wild outburst of his grief and anger, fallen into the hands of those sturdy settlers, who would have been his shrift. Neither do I express any opinion on the vexed question of the Indian problem. But even now, if you attempt to justify the action of the Indian bureau to those frontiersmen, you will discover ideas of right and wrong, unhampered by legal technicalities, and be met with the reply, "Custer and his brave band were here in defense of our homes and families. They were shot down with bullets from Winchester rifles furnished to hostile Indians by agents under the authority of the United States government."

The day that brought the bereaved women, wives and sisters from Fort Lincoln through Fargo will hardly be forgotten by those who witnessed the scene. As the train drew near the station (hotel and station in one) it seemed as though the incensed steel and iron were conscious of the freight of grief and woe—so silently revolved the wheels, so noiselessly glided the cars along the rail. Within those cars were sheltered twenty-six bereaved and desolate women!

They had said good-by to the fort, with all its memories and associations, and now on their way to such semblances of home as might still be spared them. Many a time has the iron horse sped swiftly by bearing to eastern friends all that remained of some loved son or brother, but surely never before or since has it swept over bowed and broken spirits laden with such freight of human sorrow.

The train stopped, and as the sad procession left the car and moved slowly across the wide platform, densely packed with citizens and settlers, men stood with bared and bowed heads, as in the presence of the dead. A vast throng was there—men, women and children packed. Men and women called by no idle curiosity or morbid love of excitement, but swayed by a sympathy so intense it seemed utterly irrepresible, yet knew well no word of comfort was possible.

Despite the crowd the deepest silence prevailed, save now and then among the lookers on a woman's sob was heard, while over many and many a manly face tears streamed unchecked and unheeded. Slowly the bereaved ones entered the hotel and passed up the staircase. Mrs. Custer came first with drooping head, her slender figure bowed and her perfectly colored hair so little strength left she could scarcely reach the top of the stairway.

Years have passed, and upon those bleeding hearts kindly time has laid his healing balm. On the battlefield where the conquered heroes lay heaped, with upturned faces and unfastened forms, the green grass grows and wild flowers bloom. Where once we dwelt with only canvas walls between our faces and the blue skies now rises a populous city with stately churches and spacious mansions. But so long as men glory in deeds of valor and chivalry, and hearts thrill with pity at the human pain and sorrow, so long shall live the memory of Custer and his brave battalion.—Sara Clarke in Denver Republican.

The Day of Big Things.

There is a notable tendency in industrial enterprises in recent years not only to concentrate capital into large concerns, but to have structures and machinery of the largest possible kind, and to drive it with extreme rapidity. This is pre-eminently the day of big things, using the word in its ordinary sense to mean large, massive, heavy and bulky. Ocean steamships are growing larger and more powerful. Locomotives, cars, railway tracks, bridges, are all made heavier. Blast furnaces have increased in size and their output has increased enormously, so that a product of 300 tons a day is no more uncommon than one of 300 tons a week with twenty years ago. A Bessemer steel works has recently made the record of 30,000 tons of steel in one month. Open hearth furnaces are now erected with a capacity of 30 tons, or three times the capacity of those of ten years ago. In rolling mills the same progress has been shown. A plate was rolled in Pittsburgh 30 inches wide by 35 feet long, 3/4 inch thick, weighing 7,480 pounds.—Engineering and Mining Journal.

An Important Man in the Town.

It is reported that there is a man in Somerset county who is a selectman, assessor and overseer of the poor in his town. He is also school agent and highway surveyor in his school and highway district. It is said that the town pays him one dollar per day for the board of his mother-in-law, and that he has hired his own daughter for the school teacher. An ex-soldier, he draws a nice sum each month as a pensioner. He carries on a farm and speculates some in farm produce and stock. He also owns a building that is the headquarters of a club and he is a leading as well as a successful member thereof. It should be added that he does not teach a class in Sunday school.—Lewiston Journal.

Left Handed People.

No purely left handed race has ever been discovered, although it is said that fully 70 per cent. of the inhabitants of the Punjab use the left hand in preference to the right, as do also the Hottentots and the Bushmen of South Africa. Dr. Marro, as a result of his study of criminals, has discovered that from 18 to 22 per cent. of those who have been convicted of crime were left handed, the highest ratio among people of all classes being but nine to the hundred, and in some countries less than five in the same number of persons.—St. Louis Republic.

Lawyers in England.

The English and Welsh are the most litigious people in the world. They have a lawyer or lawyer's assistant to about every 650 of them. The Americans manage to settle their differences with one to every 650, the French with one to every 2,000, and the Belgians with one to every 2,700.—Chatter.

All trains are suspended and it cannot now be said when traffic will be resumed. More rain threatens, and another storm will do great harm.

BRUTAL MURDER.

Traveling Man Decoyed to an Ottawa, Ill., Park, Killed and Robbed.

OTTAWA, Ill., June 24.—A bloody and brutal murder was committed last night. The deed was done just outside of the light of the electric light, in Allen Park. It was probably committed early in the morning. The victim was David Moore, a traveling man, representing the Scott Lumber Co., of Merrill, Wis. He was probably decoyed to the park and there brutally beaten to death with a coupling pin, and then robbed. The body presented a horrible appearance. The pockets of the clothing were turned inside out. In the inner pocket of the vest, which was securely fastened with a safety pin, was $140 in currency. This afternoon it was established that Moore was decoyed to Allen Park by a woman named Mrs. George Ford and a man named Garry. These people, it is charged, are the murderers.

The woman was seen at an early hour this forenoon walking nervously about the streets. After the discovery of the body, she made numerous inquiries about the affair. State's Attorney Blake got a clew and ordered her arrested. She was taken to the state's attorney's office and after a brief examination was taken to jail. During the morning she was seen to tear up a memorandum book and throw it away. The cover and pieces of the book were gathered up and identified as belonging to Moore. When confronted with these evidences the woman broke down and made a confession. An hour after, Ford and Garry were arrested.

Moore's body was found in the park this morning by a boy doing chores. The head and face were a mass of bloody cuts. Near by lay an old-fashioned coupling pin covered with blood and hair. The pockets were turned inside out. Jewelry, consisting of a diamond pin and ring, was missing. Lying near was a brown Dunlap Derby hat. This was soaked with blood and broken and dirty. No such deliberate and bloody crime has taken place in this city in thirty years. The citizens are determined that justice shall be done. Moore was about 53 years old and has a home in Omaha, where he has a wife and one son.

DUNBAR DISASTER.

The Rescuers Expect to Get Into The Hill Farm Mine To-day.

DUNBAR, Pa., June 24.—The report that the rescuers had broken into the Hill Farm mine this forenoon was false. The report arose from the fact that the rescuing party broke through a heavy "gob" into a small opening. From this cause the course of ventilation was changed and nearly an hour and a half was spent in bracing up so they could go ahead. The carefulness with which the miners are working is shown from this. Mr. Keighley would not permit the men to advance till the air had been thoroughly tested. During the day good progress has been made, and the inspectors think they are where the line of coal should be. W. Orman, who for years was boss of the Mahoning mine, and under whose direction the coal in this part of it was mined, says that the working party is very near the coal. "And then," he added, "when we strike it we can go at the rate of six feet an hour." This will probably bring them into the mine during early morning hours. All hopes of finding the men alive has been abandoned.

O'Connor Claims a Foul.
SIDNEY, N. S. W., June 24.—O'Connor, the oarsman, who was beaten by Stansbury yesterday, has protested against the payment of the stakes to the latter. O'Connor claims the race on the ground that Stansbury took his water a quarter of a mile from the start and that a foul ensued. The umpires deny that there was a foul. The Sydney Herald states that O'Connor has claimed the championship because Kemp would not accept his challenge. O'Connor will not row in Australia again. He will challenge Kemp to row on the Thames for £500 a side.

Sullivan-Jackson Fight.
WASHINGTON, June 24.—The Sullivan-Jackson fight, when it comes off, it is said now, will take place very near the national capital. The fight, it is said, is to take place under the auspices of the Virginia Athletic association on the Virginia shore of the Potomac, near Washington.

The Adams Reaches San Francisco.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—The United States steamer Adams arrived in port today from Honolulu, having left there on June 9th. The Charleston was still there when the Adams left, but the Nipsic had gone on a cruise about the islands in the Pacific Ocean until July 3d. Affairs are reported quiet at Samoa.

Prohibits in Convention.
ST. PAUL, Minn., June 24.—The prohibitionists held their Fourth congressional district convention in this city today, nominating W. J. Dean, of Minneapolis, by acclamation. Their state convention also met and perfected its organization, and a state ticket will be nominated to-morrow.

Forest Fires in Colorado.
DENVER, June 24.—Timber fires are raging in Boulder county and immense damage to forests and ranches has been done. The fires are beyond control and several mining properties are threatened with destruction.

Forecast of the Weather.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—8 P. M.—The signal service reports the following as its forecast for the next twenty-four hours: For Michigan and Wisconsin: Fair; continued high temperature; except slightly warmer in eastern upper Michigan and northern lower Michigan; southerly winds.

Hannon Named for Congress.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 24.—The republican congressional convention for the Thirteenth district today nominated Capt. Jesse Hannon, of Christian county, for congress.

Will Accept The Scale.
YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, June 24.—There is no probability of a shut down here of the rolling mills on July 1st, by reason of the scale question. The sentiment among the manufacturers is that if there are no changes in the scale presented aside from those already reported it will be accepted.

A STRANGE STORY.

Frank Collier, The Chicago Lawyer. Tells The Story of His Insanity.

CHICAGO, June 24.—Frank Collier, the well-known Chicago lawyer, who as the special delegate of various British American societies journeyed to England and presented to Queen Victoria the felicitations of her former Chicago subjects on her jubilee, told a strange story to-night in narrating his recent experiences. Mr. Collier was today released from the state insane asylum, where he declares there has been a conspiracy to keep him. The release was made after an extended examination in court, which was conducted with decided skill by Mr. Collier in person and in which dozens of prominent people, lawyers, physicians, school teachers, judges and others testified that in their opinion he was not insane. Mr. Collier stated that for a time he had been demented but that he had long since recovered.

Mr. Collier, in conversation, went into the remarkable details of his case. He began, he said, to be irresponsible on the 5th of August, 1889. "I remember that on that day," he continued, "I tried to remember where I was on the night of the Cronin murder. A fear seized me that I would be charged with the crime. I was known to be anti-Irish and I had relations with British societies and with the British government, that if they were brought out in court would be very dangerous." Mr. Collier related at length how such thoughts haunted him and how in desperation he went out one night and followed over the whole track taken by the Cronin assassins, and on the spot in Lincoln park described so minutely by the suspect Woodruff attempted suicide. The revolver failed to discharge and Mr. Collier, according to his own story, thereupon threw the weapon into the lake at that point. Mr. Collier declares that as a matter of fact he knew nothing of the Cronin murder and that he never fully recognizes the insane character of the fear that he would be tried for the crime.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Three Men Badly Hurt by the Premature Discharge of a Cannon.

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 24.—A horrible accident occurred at the fairgrounds today, during the firing of a salute at the democratic meeting. By the premature discharge of a cannon, Olin Barber, of Lexington, lost both arms and both eyes, and received a gaping wound in the chest. John Stoke, of Columbia, was badly wounded in both arms, and one has been amputated. W. H. Casson, of Columbia, had his hand shattered.

WOMEN ON CANAL BOATS.

LIFE IN THE CABINS THAT ARE FOUND NAVIGATING THE ERIE.

Women Who Feel That They Are Just as Good as Their Sisters on Land—Nestly Furnished Homes—How the Women Pass Their Time—A Prodigy of Nine.

There are few among the many who watch the long lines of canal boats entering the Erie canal locks at West Troy that have the faintest idea how the women aboard these boats live and what class of people they are. The prevailing impression seems to be that none but the roughest of women would or could live on board such craft, and that the life and surroundings must be of the hardest sort. Bright and early one morning our artist climbed aboard one of a long row of boats that were awaiting their turn to pass through the weighing lock on Grand Island, and almost the first step he took after getting aboard he met an elderly woman in a neat print dress and white apron, who smiled in a quiet way when the visitor's business was made known. "Well, I for one am right glad you have come, and that you hear and see will be printed, for I realize more than you do how great a prejudice exists against us as a class and also how widespread are the false ideas entertained in the public mind relative to our life along the canal."

A HOME LIKE CABIN.
She directed the visitor to stoop low as he began the descent of the cabin stairs, for the stairways are low and steep, with no head room to spare. But once inside the cabin it was quite another matter, for a considerable portion of these big boats is allotted to living quarters. This cabin was especially roomy and homelike, for the floor had been scrubbed and rescrubbed until it was as white as snow.

In the center of the room a large square rug left but little of the floor boards to be seen. It was of a pretty, bright pattern, and a little white dog lay fast asleep in the center of one of the big roses that graced the pattern. Over this several other hair carpet mats had been placed at the foot of the stairs or by the lounge that stood to the right of the door. Thin curtains of some sort of dainty white stuff fluttered with the morning breeze as it swept softly in over a bunch of "love" entangled that grew in a little flower pot on the window ledge.

Furniture were everywhere about the paneled sides of the cabin, and a canary bird in a gilded cage sang sweetly in the window near the pretty flower. The doors of the staterooms stood open, and disclosed a pretty picture of snowy bed spreads and fancy pillow shams, while the kitchen, with its shining pots and pans, was an ideal place for a good cook.

"We do most of our cooking up on deck during the warm weather, and the men put awnings up to shield us from the sun. It keeps the smell of the cooking away from the cabin and leaves it in a much cooler condition," the woman explained, as she kindly offered a cup of warm coffee to her visitor.

HOW THEY SPEND THE WINTER.
During the winter months most of the boats tie up in the Erie or Atlantic basins at New York city, and through all these long winter days the women aboard the 200 or 300 boats go visiting and give parties and dances pretty much the same as their sisters on land whose abiding places have rather more stability. Through the summer, of course, there is less opportunity for social intercourse while the boats are on the move, but when they tie up for orders or to load at the principal points the women get together and often organize a party to go off on picnics and excursions on land, the men being busied in loading their cargoes.

When the artist boarded the second boat a tall, broad shouldered man, evidently the captain of the boat, seemed to be in especially good humor, for he laughed over the mission the artist had stated to him before entering the cabin. The man explained, as the boat, which, as the captain explained, was their special "stamping ground." While going up he stopped the newspaper man suddenly, and after an inquiry as to whether he were married, explained that he had two good looking daughters in the after cabin, and that he would, after discharging his calling, call on the single man, and would consult their mother before he would run the risk of letting him see them. This he did in a good natured way by calling down the hatch of the cabin: "Say, there, Jennie, here's a young dude that wants to make pictures of how ye live; think it's safe to let him down there among the gals."

TREATMENT IN THE STORES.
In answer his wife came up the companion way and welcomed the reporter to the cabin helm, with instructions to make himself "at home." It would have been a most beautiful young man, indeed, who would not have felt at home among this jolly party. The girls, with their rosy faces, came right up to the interviewing scratch, and told everything they knew about canal boat life, and how they were treated by clerks in the stores when they went shopping in town if they asked that their purchases be delivered on a canal boat.

"Why," explained the youngest of the two, "our clerks were very nice to us for any use until they discovered, as we were paying our bills and giving orders for delivery of goods, that we were living on a canal boat. It was just too rich to see how their jaws fell when they thought how nice they had been to ordinary canal people."

Then the two told of how they had spent the winter in the Erie basin—of the dances and parties and weddings and the fun they had had roaming over the 300 boats. On another boat there was a good organ and a young woman, who boasted that she was the captain's daughter, could steer a boat, cook a dinner and play the organ, and was only 9 years old. And together, the women of the canal have quite as nice a life and are just as nice people as the average of their sex who reside on land.—Troy Press.

Why the Story Was Not Finished.
We were in the smoker of a train from the north and were listening to a good story from a companion when suddenly the laugh died away and a grim silence and soberness crept over the jovial party. A glance from the window explained the sudden change. There lay before us the soft, green surface of the Sixter cemetery. Gravel stones, slabs and monuments thrust their cold, hard surfaces into solid relief. Stretched at full length upon a neat by mound was the figure of a girl in black. Not ten feet distant were three young women in mourning kneeling beside a newly made grave. The train whizzed past, but the story was never finished.—Albany Argus.

Not All of Them.

Have we not noticed within the last few years a change in the demeanor of "society" girls toward the other sex? How shall we define it? A kind of brusque audaciousness in conversation, with a sponson of slangy chatter, an affectation of assuming to know more of what is what than their mothers and grandmothers were ever permitted or supposed to know. Do they not often go peeringly near to the border line which convenience prescribes shall not be overstepped?

We do not mean this last in the sense in which it is alleged, and truly, that our ancestors of the last century thought it no shame to call a spade a spade, and when young demoielles of sensibility and vivacity used to sigh over the misfortunes of Clarissa Harlowe or divert themselves with the adventures of Tom Jones and Sophia Western. It is something quite different from that that the present race of young women affect. It is rather a total want of sentiment that prevails. In former days the sex were wont to appeal to men from their softer, gentler, weaker side. Now it is the reverse.

They appear to attract meeting men on the same plain, and consorting with them as like to like—from a man's standpoint rather than from a woman's. A girl nowadays will, unabashed, chaff her male partner, rally him, amuse him, in his own coin, in his own manner, and in the way he would her. This is what we understand the female emancipation so noticeable in the present mode of today, and we may add, so unlovely. It seems to be forgotten that what man desires in a woman is contrast, not a caricature of himself.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Good Fare for Night Workers.

Continued attention to the requirements of their needs indicates that the following scheme of living is calculated to meet the situation: As much sleep should be secured as is possible, especially before the daytime world becomes active.

Upon rising, which generally is between noon and mid-afternoon, a hearty breakfast should be eaten, and the interval between that and dinner occupied out of doors. The dinner should be eaten before beginning work between 6 and 9 o'clock; and if work lasts until dawn a light but nutritious repast should fortify the system for the ten months of the day. The most trying hours for labor of the entire twenty-four, because the vital powers are at their lowest ebb. When all work is done, just before retiring, the system should be recruited and prepared for sleep by some simple food like hot broth or milk, beef tea, or a glass of good wine and stout. This will frequently induce sleep by withdrawing the blood from the brain, where it has been concentrated by mental efforts. In ordinary sleeplessness this light repast will prove a remedy; if it fails, consult an intelligent physician. Living judiciously thus, and securing sleep, the night-worker can do much to preserve health despite his trying occupation.—Juliet Corson in New York Star.

How One Man Proposed.

I was very much amused at the article published on "How Girls Are Proposed To." I think the way I proposed was just as unique, and the time and method a little novel than the methods the fellows in that article adopted.

It was a case of love at first sight, but the girl didn't know how I felt, neither was I sure that she cared a continental for me. She was a modest, retiring, bashful little thing, and while I wanted to tell her how much I thought of her I was afraid. One night, the fourth time I had called, I made up my mind fully that I would have her. But she was so shy I thought it would frighten her away if I spoke. About 10 o'clock I proposed a game of cards, and, in a joke, suggested that we play for a wager, and that she put up herself against me. She modestly consented. I thought I was going to lose, and I knew if I did it was a last chance, even if it was a joke. Well, I won, and told her with a laugh that she belonged to me. After sitting and looking at each other a few moments I took her hand and said she must always pay her losses, and that the hand I held was mine. She looked at me with a smile and said quietly: "Well, if you want it you can have it."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Too Much for Him.

There is a young Englishman from York at the Richelieu who believes that Chicago is the juching off place and that wild Indians can be found within a few feet of the city hall. He walks about the hotel with his trousers rolled up several inches, and unfavorably compares this wild city with gentle York. His hardest labors are retiring at night and getting up in the morning. Yesterday afternoon he asked the clerk if a stylish English rig could be rented for a few hours.

"If I sawy I'd like a bit of a drive," he added, "and 'ave the man put in some warm rugs." The clerk turned around to the telephone and rang up the hotel stables. "Hello!" he yelled "send a cart right up here for Parlor D. He'll be gone some time, on to the suburbs, and you'd better put in a buffalo!" "Hi there!" interrupted mildred, "blow it all, I can't manage a buffalo. Never drove one in my life. Send just a commonplace beast."—Chicago Tribune.

E. R. R. can but meet the approval of our citizens and secure their patronage for this enterprising line. 1761

THE DAY WAS CELEBRATED

And in Royal Good Style, Too, by the French Canadian Societies of Marquette County.

THE BIGGEST ST. JOHN'S DAY CELEBRATION YET SEEN IN MICHIGAN.

Particulars of Ishpeming's Big Holiday Yesterday, With Some Reference to Those Who Made It Such.

St. John's Day.

The showers that Sergeant Dent predicted for a thirsty earth did not arrive yesterday and in consequence of this oversight on the part of the signal service office, the day was as hot as one as could well be imagined. Luckily there was a slight breeze during most of the day, and it was possible to keep moderately comfortable if in the shade where the breeze was to be felt.

Early in the morning the streets assumed a holiday appearance, which was made more striking by the lavish decorations to be seen on every hand. The American colors, and the tri-color of France were to be seen on every hand. Boughs of trees were also numerous, and gratefully cooling.

Owing to the failure of some of the French societies to arrive at the time expected, the program prepared for the day was slightly altered. The societies from outside the city were received at the South Shore depot by L'Union Francaise, of this city, and when all were here, proceeded to St. John's Catholic church, where the solemn high mass appropriate to the day was celebrated by the Rev. Father Vermaere, assisted by Fathers Hann and Bordas, Father Manning acting as maitre de ceremonies. The sermon, which was a thoughtful and eloquent one, was preached in French by Rev. Father Bourion, of St. John's church.

Shortly after noon the ceremonies at the church were concluded, and the societies defiled from the sacred edifice, passing under a large triumphal arch, beautifully decorated with bunting and green boughs, which stood in front of the church. The line of march was formed on the large vacant space south of the church, and after all were in their respective places the parade was begun. The line of march was through several of the principal business and residence streets, and the procession was over in less than three-quarters of an hour. The order in which the societies were placed was as follows:

Marquette Cornet Band.
Marshal Zepher Meier.
Societe St. Jean Baptiste de Marquette.
Eureka Band of Ishpeming.
Marshal Jos. Meunier.
Chevaliers De Lafayette de Negaunee.
Marshal A. E. Gourdeau.
Red Men's Band of Ishpeming.
Societe St. Jean Baptiste de Negaunee.
Republic Cornet Band.
Marshal Alex. Glendeau.
Societe St. Jean Baptiste de Republique.
Champion Cornet Band.
Marshal Pierre Constantineau.
Societe St. Jean Baptiste de Champion.
Wentworth Drum Corps of Marquette.
Societe St. Joseph & St. John of Marquette.
Marshal Aug. Jacob.
Assistant Marshals J. B. Tibor and A. F. Liberte.
Lake Angeline and Scandinavian Band of Ishpeming.
L'Union Canadienne Francaise of Ishpeming.
Carriages with Mayor and Common Council.
Presidents of the Societies in Carriages.

Friends proceeded to the Lake Superior grove, south of the city, in carriages and busses, and on foot. At the grove there was a bountiful spread of good things, an acre of ground having been enclosed, and impromptu tables set up within it. Though at least fifteen hundred people were fed the supply of edibles did not run short. After dinner was served there was music by the various bands, and at three o'clock the platform was occupied by the leading men of the various societies, and speeches were made for two hours. Hon. Henry Routhier began the talking with a fifteen minute speech, reviewing the religious and historical significance of the day, and embodying some sound, patriotic advice to his auditors in the speech. He was followed by Fathers Bourion, and Ternare, and by Albert Proulx, president of the Societe St. Jean Baptiste de Marquette, Theophile Ross of the Societe St. Joseph, Recorder Joseph H. Primeau, president of the Negaunee St. Jean Baptiste society, Amable Boyer of the Chevaliers De Lafayette de Negaunee, Joseph Rivet of the Champion society, Theophile Garipey of the Republic society, and others.

There were over six hundred men in line, all clad in the full regalia of their respective societies. The line was bright with American flags and the French tri-color, and the banners of the various societies represented. The parade was not only by far the finest that was ever held by the allied French societies of Marquette county, but it was one of the largest and most creditable that has ever been given in this city by any order.

After the parade was over the men in line, with their families and No intoxicants were allowed on the grounds, and the vast assemblage was as orderly and apparently as happy as any one could desire. Many who were not members of the societies were on the grounds and enjoyed the fine music and cooling breezes to be found there. In the evening there was a ball by the French Independent club. Although this was not given under the same auspices as the celebration as a whole, it was attended by many who took part in it, and proved a very enjoyable affair.

Those who planned and executed the celebration are to be congratulated on the successful working of their plans.

AN OPEN LETTER
From a Well-known Druggist - "Positive Cure for Stomach Troubles."
To WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
In the summer of 1870 I was first afflicted with that most dreaded disease, dyspepsia, and for over fifteen years I suffered terribly at times. In the meantime I tried every so-called remedy imaginable, without finding relief. Having been in the drug business since 1858, I determined to help myself if it lay in the power of medicine. Two years ago I succeeded in discovering a remedy. It cured me. Until I had given ample time to the possibility of doubt, however, I kept my secret almost to myself, putting up the medicine for only a few of my sorely troubled friends, every one of whom was cured. I now know the medicine to be a positive cure, and have decided to put it on the market, that my discovery may do humanity all possible good. It will be known as "Krusk's Positive Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Cure," which is guaranteed to cure all ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys. I have a number of testimonials which afflicted parties may be interested in.

How the Swedish Home Society Celebrated "Midsummer Day" at IshpeMING Yesterday.

We Have It.
The petition for improvement in the mail service between IshpeMING and Milwaukee, signed by IshpeMING business men, and referred favorably to the postal authorities by Postmaster Tucker, has borne good fruit. Mr. Tucker was notified Monday that on and after to-day pouch mail will be sent from Milwaukee to IshpeMING direct, on the night train of the Milwaukee & Northern. Mail from Chicago and eastern and southern points that has arrived in Milwaukee will be included in this pouch and forwarded direct to IshpeMING. This means that mail that leaves Chicago at 7 p. m. will arrive in this city at 8:19 a. m. IshpeMING is the only city on which Milwaukee will pouch over the Milwaukee & Northern, and the improved facilities given the public here by Uncle Sam are rendered because IshpeMING people asked for them and were assisted by the recommendation of the postmaster here.

The local mail between Milwaukee and IshpeMING will continue to come over the Northwestern, but by the pouching that is to be done over the Northern much of the letter and paper mail that has come in at a few minutes before 1 p. m., will arrive at this office, and be distributed before 8:30 p. m., or at the beginning of the business day. This will effect a saving of one day's time in the answering of much of the mail received by IshpeMING people, and the chance is a step in advance of anything heretofore given this city in the line of postal facilities.

Base Ball Game.
The exhibition game between Marquette and IshpeMING played yesterday was a good game. The visitors were outplayed at every point, but, notwithstanding, put up a very creditable game. The feature of the game was the elegant pitching of Gibbs, IshpeMING's new pitcher. He had every point on the field under his eye constantly. Nothing escaped him, and his coolness and good playing were noted by all. Truby's big hit over center field fence—by far the cleanest and largest hit yet made on the grounds—was a specially noticeable feature. Blair made two elegant hits, and the fielding of the IshpeMING club was well nigh perfect. The score was as follows:

Marquette..... 2 1 0 0 0 0 0 0-4

In the Deer Lake Grove.
The picnic of the Swedish Home Society in the Deer Lake Grove, yesterday, was a big affair. The attendance was even larger than was anticipated, and considering that the grove was two miles from the city, the turnout was extraordinarily large. There was no set program, the principal effort made being to keep cool and have a good time. There were a few short speeches by prominent members of the society, and refreshments were served on the grounds. Temperance drinks and good, old-fashioned water were the beverages partaken of, and those who were present returned to the city in the evening tired but happy in the remembrance of a day well and profitably spent.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.
Fair weather.
M. M. Gillett, of Fond Du Lac, was in town on business yesterday afternoon, Sergeant Dent came to IshpeMING yesterday and apologized for the weather. Mr. Dent really intended to give us a few cooling showers in the afternoon, but the weather got away from him just as he supposed it to be well in hand, which accounts for the lack of rain, notwithstanding the promise of the government to give it to us.

The uniform rank of the Knights of Pythias of the upper peninsula will go to Milwaukee over the Milwaukee & Northern. The upper peninsula divisions are temporarily part of the Second Michigan Regiment, and as such will not take a band, as the regimental band from Hastings will accompany that regiment.

The commencement exercises of the IshpeMING high school will take place at the high school building on Friday afternoon of this week. Owing to the very distressing lack of space in the IshpeMING department this morning the program cannot be published to-day, but will be given in full tomorrow morning.
May-be a street railway wouldn't pay here? The busses running between points in the city yesterday took in about three hundred dollars for rides at 10 cents a head, and thousands were compelled to walk because they could not get a ride. Oh no, a street railway wouldn't pay. Some of Noah's neighbors were very incredulous about the veracity of the signal service predictions until after the rain came on.
Fourth of July Excursions.
On July 3rd and 4th the Milwaukee & Northern railroad will sell tickets to and from all stations on their line, also Chicago, at one fare for the round trip, good returning until July 7th inclusive.

"THE OLD WEATHER VANE."

"There's many a year has passed along The broad highway of time, Since Jim an' me fixed good an' strong Upon the old barn's topmost ridge That old red arrow made of pine, The wind's bravely blown, rain an' shine, The wind's direction true."
"But wind an' rain has done their work; The old vane swings no more; Jes' sways and trembles in the gale, Instead of veerin', as of yore, Now east 'r west, now north 'r south, A warnin' us of rain 'r drought, Jes' as it happened so."
"An' like that poor, old, worn out vane, Has Jim an' me played out, We've braved life's changes, time again, An' stood the tempest an' the rain, But now we're sittin' here, Until the broad life shall veer, An' send us heavenward."
—Philadelphia Ledger.

How to Make the Strongest Cement.
Professor Alexander Winchell is credited with the invention of a cement that will stick to anything. Take two ounces of clear gum arabic, one and a half ounce of fine starch and one half ounce of white sugar. Pulverize the gum arabic and dissolve it in as much water as the laundress would use for the quantity of starch indicated. Dissolve the starch and sugar in the gum solution. Then cook the mixture in a vessel suspended in boiling water until the starch becomes clear.
The cement should be as thick as tar and should be kept so. It can be kept from spoiling by dropping in a lump of gum camphor or a little oil of cloves or sassafras. This cement is very strong, indeed, and will stick perfectly to glazed surfaces, and is good to repair broken rocks, minerals or fossils. The addition of a small amount of aluminum will increase the effectiveness of the paste, besides helping to prevent decomposition.—Jewelers' Weekly.

Insuring Debtor's Lives.
The fashion of insuring the life of a debtor in favor of his creditor, at the latter's expense, of course, is just beginning to take hold in New York. In England it has been known for a couple of hundred years. When a trading vessel, in the olden times, was about to sail on a perilous voyage, not only was the ship insured in favor of the owner, but the captain's life as well. The captain himself was, in such cases, a partner in the venture, and to the extent of his partnership a debtor of the owner.

Color in Diamonds.
"While no one knows positively what caused the carbon to crystallize into a diamond, it is thought that the first crystallization is absolutely white. Then by the action of nature in alternate heat and cold the diamond was sent through the whole gamut of color; the darker it is the harder it gets. Some black diamonds have been on the wheel for years without making any visible impression on them. The stones are found in all colors. I will show you," and taking from the safe a little package of tissue paper Mr. Farham unrolled them, and with forceps laid on a piece of white paper first a perfectly white diamond, and then in succession a blue-white, a pink, a green, a tan, a straw, a marigold, an olive, a brown, and a black.—New York Herald.

Pigeons at a Quarter a Dozen.
"Thirty cents for a pigeon," said an up-town man to a dealer in game, "that is a big price for a few ounces of fowl. Do you know that I have sold pigeons for twenty-five cents a dozen many a time? That was when I was a boy and lived on the Sawkill. The birds were caught with a net, hundreds of them at a haul. They were handsome birds, with beautiful plumage. I have often felt as though it was a shame to kill them. Part of my work was to bring the game to Kingston and sell it. The going price was twenty-five cents a dozen, and glad I was to get even that. Often the pigeon market would be overstocked. Some seasons so many were caught that we were forced to keep them in coops for a time. Wild pigeons do not do well in Kingstons and are apt to refuse food."—Kingston Freeman.

Poison in Water.
A physician expresses the opinion that in many cases of nervous debility, which have been ascribed to overwork, insufficient nourishment, etc., the real cause may have been lead in the drinking water. Among the symptoms of lead poisoning are anæmia, debility of the bowels, a dull hue of the skin, digestive derangements, a coated tongue, fretful breath, nausea, colic and partial paralysis. Water should never be drunk in the morning without first having been allowed to run freely.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

She Was Glad.
New Englanders are given to saying that they have no need to travel to get a change of climate, and the same seems to be true of dwellers in some other places as well.
Old manny lived in North Carolina, very near the line. When the boundary between that state and Virginia was changed she was told that now she lived in Virginia.
"Well," she answered, "I am powerful glad. I always heard that Virginia was a healthier state than North Carolina."
—Youth's Companion.

A Living Proof.
Young Mr. Freshly (conversing with an elderly friend of the family)—When I see how we have things now, electricity, telegraph, telephone, and I think how people lived sixty years ago, I can't help thinking that our grandfathers must have been fools.
Mr. Oldboy (obviously nettled)—When I see some of their grandchildren I can't help thinking the same.—Boston Times.

Hadn't Been Introduced.
Clara was 3 years old when she went on a journey, and a gentleman who sat behind her in the railroad carriage asked her what her name was. Clara straightened herself and threw a frown at him.
"Please don't speak to me," she said, "I'm not tequeinted wid you."
The gentleman had no choice but to apologize.—New York Press.

And the Cat Disappeared.
Two Tennessee men saw a cat on the fence. One said she was yellow and the other declared she had an orange hue. The lie was passed, each was cut with a knife, and when separated the cat had fled and no one could prove that she was not black or white. Catch your cat before fighting.—Detroit Free Press.

STRIKE UPON STRIKE.

Quincy and Franklin Men Go Out, But Settlement Probable—Details of Kearsarge Strike—Personal and Miscellaneous Notes.

HANCOCK.
The miners and trammers in the Quincy mine struck for a 15 per cent raise Monday night. The strikers did not interfere with any of the surface departments. There will probably be an adjustment of their grievance to-day and the men return to work Tuesday night.
The trammers and miners at the Franklin mine struck yesterday morning for a 15 per cent raise. The surface men are all at work and the strikers will not interfere with them.

The Hancock and Houghton base ball clubs played a league game at the Driving park Tuesday afternoon. The score was 9 to 4 in favor of the Hancocks.
HOUGHTON.
Mr. Joseph Hennes returned last week from a business trip to Chicago, St. Paul and West Superior.
Miss Louise Pomeroy and Miss Gertrude Colton, of Calumet, arrived yesterday on the steamer China from Lockport, New York.
Rt. Rev. Bishop Vertin administered first communion to 37 postulants and confirmed 78 candidates at St. Ignace's church on Sunday morning.

LAKE LINDEN.
Dr. George W. Orr's horse made a spirited runaway on Saturday. The horse was not injured but the buggy was pretty well demolished.
Miss Dalley returned yesterday from Dowagiac.

RED JACKET.
The Kearsarge miners and trammers did not avail themselves of the 10 per cent raise offered them last week by the mining captain, J. D. Hoskins, at the time they struck. They were anticipating a strike in the Calumet & Hecla, when the matter of Saturday morning hours was expected to be made one of the grievances to be settled. When they heard that the strike did not take place, and the Tamarack strikers had gone to work, they concluded to take the 10 per cent offered them by the mining captain and go to work. There was genuine surprise depicted on their faces when they read the notice on the changing house door that there would be no raise of wages in the Osceola and Kearsarge mines until Superintendent Daniel returned. They collected in a group, discussed the situation for a few minutes, then made for the compressor house. Captain Hoskins was there and asked them what they intended doing. The strikers said "Nothing," that they would not interfere with the engines or pumps. The captain then requested them to go to work until Superintendent Daniel returned when their grievances would receive attention. They refused to go to work, and went to the blacksmith shop, carpenter and machine shop and told the men there to quit. After the men were out they worked on the doors and got out through the windows. This being done they marched through the mine location and started into the woods for the test pit being sunk on the Calumet & Hecla conglomerate. They missed the path and when the reporter saw them they were jumping over the brush and logs like so many rabbits. When they arrived at the pit the men working in the bottom refused to quit work, so after some talk one of the strikers jumped down into the pit, picked up the shovels, threw them out, and then wrenched the pick from the hands of Tim Harrington, who was working in the bottom. The strikers then ordered the men to go home, and they went, it being supper time. The supply of rock in the Kearsarge rock house is exhausted, so no mineral is being sent by rail to the stamp mill.

Williams' show arrived here Tuesday morning.
The north shaft of the Centennial mine continues to look well. The drift in the ninth level between No. 3 and No. 2 shafts is as rich in copper as those of its neighbor on the south.

DID THEY STEAL THE GOLD?

Henry and William Varcoe, Alleged Michigan Gold Mine Thieves, Battling Hard for Freedom.

MARQUETTE HIGH SCHOOL IS UP TO STATE UNIVERSITY STANDARD.

Mr. A. B. Eldredge Appointed General Attorney of South Shore—Building and Loan Association Meeting—City News.

Alleged Gold Thieves on Trial.
Henry and William Varcoe, father and son, were on trial in the circuit court yesterday on the charge of stealing several thousand dollars worth of free gold and gold-bearing rock from the Michigan Gold company. The sensational arrest of the Varcoes at the instance of Mr. David M. Ford, managing director of the Michigan, as they were about to leave Ishpeming, will be remembered. There was found in their possession some $3,000 or $4,000 of gold rock.

Mr. E. E. Osborne appeared for the defendants. There were several technical grounds of defence set up by the ingenious and learned counselor, the most important being the absence of proof that the Varcoes actually took the property in question. The case is still on trial and is being stubbornly contested at every point.

Is Up to the Standard.
Hereafter graduates of the Marquette high school will be admitted to the University of Michigan on diploma and without examination as candidates for degrees of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Philosophy, Bachelor of Letters and to any of the courses in engineering. This is the only high school in the upper peninsula possessing this privilege and the fact is no small compliment to the thoroughness of the work here and to Miss Anna M. Chandler, the accomplished superintendent, to Principal McCracken and their able assistants.

During the past week a committee, consisting of Mr. V. B. Cochran and Judge Claudius B. Grant, both alumni of the university, has been engaged in examining the work of the high school. Their report was duly submitted, and yesterday Miss Chandler received the official notification from President James B. Angell, of the university, that the faculty had voted as above stated. The degree of A. B. is that given for the classical course, that of Ph. B. for work in Latin and modern languages, and that of B. L. for work in modern languages without classics.

Legal Department of the South Shore.
Some important changes in the legal department of the South Shore road will take effect next month. The removal of Mr. Arch B. Eldredge to this city from Ishpeming has already been noted and the reason therefor are set forth in the following:

DULUTH, SOUTH SHORE & ATLANTIC RY
Office of the General Manager,
MARQUETTE, Mich., June 24, 1890.
On and after July 1, 1890, the office of Mr. W. P. Healy, general counsel of this company, will be located in Chicago.
Mr. A. B. Eldredge is hereby appointed general attorney of this company, with headquarters at Marquette, appointment to take effect July 1, 1890.
Mr. A. E. Miller will still have office at Marquette with the general attorney.
All legal department communications will be addressed to Mr. Eldredge, at Marquette.

W. F. FITCH,
General Manager.
Mr. Healy, as stated above, will retain the title of general counsel of the South Shore. Mr. Healy's plans are at present uncertain. After active work for between twenty-five and thirty years he justly feels entitled to a rest of six months, or a year. He will probably travel for some time. It is to be hoped that Mr. Healy will retain a residence in Marquette, for should he remove to Chicago, this town will lose one of its most prominent citizens.

Mr. Arch B. Eldredge, who now takes up the work of the South Shore legal department, is known as one of the most astute and learned legal practitioners in the upper peninsula. The city welcomes his accession and his numerous friends both here and elsewhere will wish him every success and abundant prosperity.

Mr. Miller has been known in this city for some time as an exceedingly conscientious and hard-working attorney. Though young in years he has already made a record that many an older man might envy. As assistant to Mr. Eldredge he will continue in the line of work in which he has already made a distinguished success.

With Mr. Eldredge as general attorney, assisted by Mr. Miller and reinforced by the ripe experience of Mr. Healy, the legal department of the South Shore becomes noted for its strength and ability. All of the gentlemen named are citizens of Marquette, and the Queen City of Lake Superior is gratified by their success and prosperity.

Building and Loan Association Meeting.
A special meeting of the stockholders of the Marquette Building and Loan association has been called for next Tuesday evening, July 1st, to act upon two proposed amendments to the by-laws submitted by the board of directors. These are:

First—To increase membership fee from 10 to 25 cents per share.

Second—To permit the association to make loans upon the cash premium plan as provided by act No. 247 of the laws of 1889.

The meeting will be held at the city recorder's office, on the date given above and every member should be present in person or by proxy.

Clark-Hughes Marriage.
Miss Myrtle L. Clark and Mr. George W. Hughes were united in marriage at 11 o'clock yesterday morning at the bride's home, 238 West Michigan street, Rev. Dr. Wyllys Hall officiating. After the ceremony the newly wedded pair left for Toronto, via Sault Ste. Marie, and will return by way of Niagara Falls, Buffalo and Detroit.

The bride is a sister of Mr. M. E. Asire, and both the contracting parties are well known here. They have hosts of friends who join in wishing them a happy and prosperous future.

City School Commencement.
The closing exercises in the various departments of the public schools will take place next Thursday afternoon at the several buildings. The commencement exercises of the high school will be held at 10 o'clock Friday morning in the Methodist church. The public is cordially invited to attend. No tickets will be issued nor further invitation required than this announcement. An interesting program has been prepared, and the young people hope to see a large audience present.

Standing of the Teams.
The standing of the various teams of the Upper Peninsula league, as published in Monday's MINING JOURNAL, was somewhat erroneous. The mistake was caused by an incorrect inference as to the result of the last Houghton-Calumet game. The correct standing to-day is as follows:

Teams.	Played.	Won.	Lost.	Percent
Calumet.....	7	5	2	.714
Hancock.....	7	5	2	.714
Houghton.....	8	5	3	.625
Ishpeming.....	8	4	4	.500
Negaunee.....	7	2	5	.286
Marquette.....	5	0	5	.....

Revenge is Sweet.
The Y. M. C. A. took a glorious revenge yesterday in their return match with the Mascots. The latter could not hit Shaw at all and the eight-inning game went to the muscular young Christians by a score of 23 to 1. With due notice, so that they can get out their full strength, the Y. M. C. A. claim to be the best amateur team in the upper peninsula.

An Appreciative Visitor.
The Grand Rapids Eagle has lately had a special correspondent through this region. That he appreciates the beauties and industrial advantages of Marquette is shown by the following extracts from his last letter:

There is a road which runs from Sault Ste. Marie to Duluth, Minn., and from St. Ignace to Houghton, known as the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic. This road, under its present management, has been lifted from obscurity to a place in the railroads of the west. * * * The South Shore is one of the best equipped roads in the country. All the coaches are marvels of neatness and would put many of the older roads in the south to the blush. * * * Something of the equipment may be learned from the statement that 500 locomotives are required to handle the immense traffic of the road and its branches.

It was my good fortune to strike this road for a trip over its entire length of 404 miles from St. Ignace to Duluth, one perfect morning in early June. * * * The first stop was made in the beautiful city of Marquette. Here we stopped for three hours, and spent the time looking about the city. There are about 10,000 inhabitants in this town, and I must say that it is as handsome a place as ever I saw. Built on a hill which overlooks the blue waters of Lake Superior, the view is simply magnificent. Many fine residences can be seen on every hand, and they show that the city has its full quota of rich men who make their homes here.

The government owns a fine building, which contains the postoffice, United States court rooms, custom house and other United States offices necessary at a port of entry. Splendid school houses stand in convenient portions of the city, while the churches are an ornament to the place and evidence the fact that while the citizens are a busy, bustling lot, they take time to attend to spiritual matters. One of the churches—the Catholic building—is one of the finest I ever saw. At Marquette are the largest ore docks in the world, with one exception, and that exception is Ashland, Wis.

The Eagle's correspondent is mistaken in stating that the Ashland docks are larger than those of Marquette. No. 1 ore dock at this place is the largest of its kind in the world.
