THE M'KINLEY BILL.

Will Be Taken Up By The Senate Af- ter The Idaho Bill is Out of The Way.

TARIFF FIGHT BEGINS ABOUT THE FIRST OF NEXT WEEK.

Debate Over The Federal Election Bill Con- tinued In The House—Decrease of The Public Debt During The Year.

THE SENATE.
WASHINGTON, June 30.—Mr. Everts gave notice that on account of the absence, owing to illness, of Mr. Voorhees, who desired to take part in the commemorative exercises in respect to the late Mr. Cox, of New York, these services, which had been fixed for tomorrow, would still further be postponed until Tuesday of next week.
The house bill in relation to oaths in pension and other cases was taken from the calendar and passed, and the house bill for the admission of Idaho as a state was taken up for consideration.
The bill having been read Mr. Morrill gave notice that he would, at the earliest practicable moment, move to take up the tariff bill.

Mr. Platt said that he could not consent to any suggestion that interfered with the Idaho bill. Much as he believed in the tariff bill, and anxious as he was to see it passed, he would not consent to its being taken up until the Idaho bill was disposed of. Mr. Gorman said that there had been no understanding arrived at, as was usual, as to the order of business, and that he facilitated if the senator from Vermont would fix a time when the tariff bill could be considered—the latter part of this week or the beginning of next week.

Mr. Morrill said that it was not his purpose to interfere with appropriation bills or with conference reports, but he repeated that at as early a moment as practicable, the tariff bill would be called up.
Mr. Platt—We ought to get through with the Idaho bill to-morrow.
The reports having been read the bill was temporarily laid aside and the agricultural appropriation bill was taken up. After which a further conference was ordered on the legislative appropriation bill.

Then the consideration of the Idaho bill was resumed and Mr. Cullom addressed the senate in favor of its passage. He said the Idaho and Wyoming bills had been reported from the committee on territories out of a sense of duty to the people of those territories and of the United States. The committee had been charged with seeking political advantage because it had not already reported bills for the admission of Arizona and New Mexico. He assured the senate that the committee was entirely innocent in the matter. The fact was that the committee had scarcely been asked to report a bill for the admission of either of these territories.
Neither of them had presented itself in such a manner as to justify the committee in placing them alongside of Wyoming and Idaho.

The bill having been laid aside, Mr.
Jones (Ark.) from the committee on territories, reported a bill to authorize the board of supervisors of Maricopa county, Arizona, to issue certain bonds in aid of a railroad. Mr. Stewart said there had been no meeting of the committee to order the bill to be reported.
Mr. Platt said that he did not concur in the report. The bill was placed on the calendar. The house joint resolution containing the annual appropriations for thirty days after the close of the fiscal year, if the appropriation bills have not then become law, was reported by Mr. Allison and passed.
The conference report on the District of Columbia appropriation bill was then taken up. It went over without action, and the senate adjourned.

THE HOUSE.
WASHINGTON, June 30.—Mr. Breckinridge (Ky.) presented the credentials of W. Dickinson as representative-elect from the Sixth congressional district of Kentucky to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr.
Carlisle. Mr. Dickinson appeared at the bar of the house and took the oath of office.

The debate on the election bill was then resumed, Mr. Herbert (Ala.) being accorded the floor. He referred to the reconstruction laws and said that by them the negro had been taught to distrust the southern white man and during the reconstruction period the southern states had been represented in congress by republicans. Now they were represented in congress by democrats, and hence the necessity for a national election law. In the south the era of peace and prosperity had come. The negro was learning that it was not for his interest to array himself solidly against the white man, and the white man was doing everything in his power to teach the negro. If the south were allowed to work out the problem for itself, the time would come, and soon, too, when the negro, being educated as the white man was, would be able to take care of himself both as a taxpayer and as a citizen. This bill would have the effect of arraying race against race in the south.

Mr. Houk (Tenn.) said that his advocacy of the national election law did not grow out of any supposed emergency or necessity, notwithstanding that there were a variety of reasons now that the power of the government should be asserted. In his district there was an absolutely fair election.
The democrats of his country did not want a dishonest election. False counting or stuffing of ballot boxes in the Second district of Tennessee would confine the perpetrators within the walls of the penitentiary. A stranger listening to this debate might think that the object of the measure was to arrest the whole democratic party. What harm would a federal election law do? What harm would result from an honest election? Had the democrats from the south practiced

DISHONEST ELECTIONS
so long that it would break their hearts to have to stop them? He then proceeded to quote from the report made by Mr. Springer (Ill.) from the committee on elections in the Forty-fifth congress in the contested election of Dean against Field in which he asserted that Mr. Springer laid down the exact principle involved in the pending bill, namely, that the laws of every state of the union should conform to the law of the land. He undertook to say that there was no race prejudice involved in this bill. It was not race prejudice that the democrats were combatting; it was political prejudice. The objection was not that the colored man was black, but that he voted the republican ticket. He wanted this government to be so strong that it could reach out its hand and punish every crime against the rights of the nation.

Mr. Burrows (Mich.) said that the question whether a man did or did not exercise the right of suffrage was not involved in this legislation. The question was whether those upon whom that right had been conferred should be permitted to exercise it; should every lawful voter residing in this republic be entitled to participate in the election of a representative to the national legislature have the opportunity to cast his vote and when counted to have it counted and when counted to have it lawfully declared. That was all there was in the bill. Where was the man who would say "No"? If there was one let him rise, "for him have I offended." There was but one answer to the question. When

THE POPULAR VOTE
was tampered with, representative government existed but in name. Referring to the small vote by which many of the southern representatives were elected to congress, he admitted that the elections were quiet; so was a cemetery quiet. He hoped that the future historian would not be compelled to declare: "You made a solitude and called it peace." He had rather the government had been taken by force in 1861 than that it be taken now by fraud.
He could forgive a man who in the moment of passion or the hour of revolution fired on his flag. But that man who crawled to the ballot box where reposed the late born offspring of the sovereign will and took its life was an assassin. In the presence of

SUCH A CRIME
as that, treason itself whitened into a virtue. Some gentlemen said, "Do not pass this law, but let us go home and cry 'liberty, liberty, liberty.'" For what? Liberty to stuff ballot boxes, to falsify returns, to overthrow the will of the people. He wanted to pass a measure which would proclaim to the people that the government had at last made true the declaration of the martyred Lincoln, that this was a government of the people, by the people and for the people.

Mr. Mills (Tex.) said that his republican friend reminded him of the prohibitionist in Texas who drank himself but wanted the law enforced against the Irish and the damned nigger. The Republicans wanted this bill to apply to the Irish and the damned nigger.

WASHINGTON NEWS.
WASHINGTON, June 30.—It is estimated at the treasury department that there has been a decrease of about twenty million dollars in the public debt since June 1st. This will make the total decrease for the fiscal year ended to-day $87,800,000, as against $114,000,000 for the previous fiscal year.

NO "HELLO" FOR DAYS.
Wheeling, W. Va., Visited by a Hard Electrical Storm—Lightning Plays Havoc.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 30.—A special from Wheeling, W. Va., says: One of the most terrific electrical storms ever witnessed here visited this city this afternoon, at 5 o'clock, and lasted about one hour. The storm came from the southwest, and accompanying it was a tremendous rain fall. The lightning played havoc all through the city, but no lives are reported lost. Lightning ran into the telephone exchange, in the fourth story of the Peoples Bank building, and set the tower on fire. The entire fire department was called out, and soon what bade fair to be an ugly fire in the heart of the city was under control. All telephone connections in the city will be stopped for ten days, pending repairs. Lightning struck other points in the city but no serious damage was done. At Wheeling Park the annual picnic of the American Glass Workers' union was in progress, and nearly 10,000 people were exposed to the fury of the storm. Owing to telephone connection being shut off, it cannot be learned what damage has been done in the outskirts of the city.

Grand Trunk Continues The Fight.
CHICAGO, June 30.—The Chicago & Grand Trunk road to-day gave notice that it would make a rate of 27 cents per 100 pounds for dressed beef by way of its Montreal line to Boston, taking effect July 3rd, the same date on which the 30 cent rate of the other roads becomes effective. This shows that the Grand Trunk has decided to continue the fight for its differential, notwithstanding the general expectation that a halt would be called when a 30 cent rate was reached.

To Give the Ladies Voice.
CHICAGO, June 30.—The world's fair committee on permanent organization reported a resolution creating a board of lady managers consisting of one delegate and alternate from each state to be recommended by the state commissioner and appointed by the president and to be known as the Woman's Department of the World's Columbian Exposition.

FIVE ACRES OF FIRE.

Standard Oil Refinery at Louisville, Ky., Catches Fire From a Tank of Crude Oil.

FOUR PEOPLE FATALLY BURNED AND OTHERS SERIOUSLY INJURED.

The Flesh of The Victims Peels off When Their Clothes are Removed—Proper- ty Loss Quite Heavy.

AN EXTENSIVE BLAZE.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 30.—Five acres of fire was the awful sight witnessed at the Standard oil refinery at Fifth and C streets this morning. The immense structure was blazing at every point and the heat was so intense that even 200 yards away persons were overcome. Four men were fatally burned and several others were seriously injured. The fire broke out at 8:45 o'clock and was in many respects a remarkable one. The refinery is on the east side of the Louisville & Nashville track but the tanks are situated along it on both sides. Last Saturday a tank of crude oil came in on a flat car from Cleveland and it was to be turned into the refinery vats. Some of the workingmen thought the

IRON TANK WAS TOO HOT
for such a thing to be done with safety.
After consultation it was postponed in the hope that the weather to-day would be cooler. It did not prove to be, however, and it became necessary to run the oil out of the car tank into another one in the yard. Inspector Skene took John Petigo and another workman, whose name could not be learned, and they climbed onto the car. They mounted the manhead and were about to unscrew the cap when they felt that there was a tremendous pressure from the inside against it. At first they decided not to open it, but finally they changed their minds and did so. In an instant there was a dull puff as the vapor escaped, filling the air all around.

THE GAS SANK TO THE GROUND spreading out all over the locality and moving with the wind. Almost in a twinking it reached one of the sheds under which there was a fire. There was a flash as the inflammable vapor ignited and immediately afterward there was a tremendous explosion.
The tank was blown to pieces and hundreds of gallons of burning oil were scattered all over the great works. A wall of fire, 300 feet high and nearly 900 feet long, moved with lightning rapidity to the buildings. In less time than it takes to relate it the canning house, filled with thousands of gallons of canned oil; the cooper shops, carpenter shops, pump and engine houses, the filling house, the storage houses, the paint and glue houses and 900 feet of platform were in a blaze

AND BURNING FURIOUSLY.
At the first intimation of the explosion all of the workmen who could do so started to run. John Chine stumbled and fell and his clothes caught fire.
The men bravely returned to his assistance, but the fire that enveloped him could not be extinguished and he was frantically burned. Three little boys were walking along the railroad track when the explosion occurred. They were slightly to the east of the tank and the wind blew the blaze directly down upon them. Shrieking with pain they impulsively jumped backward into the clear space on the western side of the track.

THEIR CLOTHES WERE ON FIRE and they ran down the track with the bright blaze streaming after them. As soon as the bystanders recovered from the horrified shock occasioned by their awful condition they pursued the three boys. Covering them with coats, they soon extinguished the flames and laid them under a tree near by. In an attempt made to remove their clothes a great part of their flesh peeled off. The loss is from $30,000 to $40,000.

TWO OF THEM DEAD.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 30.—John McDonald and Daniel O'Neal, two of the boys caught in the Standard oil fire, died to-night. Andrew McDonald will probably recover. The others burned are better and will all probably recover. The loss is much less than was at first estimated, probably not being over $40,000. There is no insurance.

Half Covered by Insurance.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 30.—At half past 4 o'clock fire was discovered in George Huhn's drug store, No. 123 Nicollet avenue. It was fully two hours before the flames were entirely extinguished. Marder, Luse & Co., the type foundry, occupied the upper stories of the building. Their loss will exceed $50,000. George Huhn's stock of drugs is almost a total loss, and the building is badly damaged. He estimates his loss at $50,000. The entire loss is about half covered by insurance.

Japan Dye Explodes.
ELMHURST, N. Y., June 30.—About 11 o'clock this morning at the store of Barker, Roose & Grey, jobbers and retailers of hardware, an employee spilled some Japan dye near a lighted lantern. In a moment there was a frightful explosion. Levi S. Eilson, the clerk, who was drawing the dye, was terribly burned. The entire store and stock was burned. The insurance is $13,000.

Still Digging For Hill Farm Mine.
DUNBAR, Pa., June 30.—This morning Mine Inspector Heighley changed the course of the rescuing party. The same general direction is maintained but the digging will be turned to the left.
There is no telling when the Hill Farm mine will be reached.

LOOKING AT THE ANIMALS.

THE SMITHSONIAN "ZOO" AND THE CROWDS THAT VISIT IT.

The Strange Fascination of the Jaguar—An Owl from the District Jail—Keeper Weeden's Fight with a Vigorous Bear Cub. The 'Coons and Porcupines.

That living things possess an interest for the public which inanimate things do not is nowhere better illustrated than at the little zoo just in the rear of the Smithsonian institution. There seems in some way to be a sympathy existing between the human being and the animals in the cages, a sympathy which is not felt for the species as many people fill the museums, and doubtless as many people visit the little zoo in a day as stroll through the big museums close by.

Many prominent people from all over the country are represented by gifts at the garden, and the little white painted signs tacked to the cages bear some great names. Four golden eagles in a cage outside the building are from Tate Springs, Tenn. The glorious bird of freedom, which Americans are so proud of, does not appear to the best advantage in a cage, and he sits all day on his perch as if brooding over his wrongs and hatching schemes for vengeance on his captors.

The raccoons attract a great deal of attention, especially from visitors from the north, who have heard and read so much about the pleasures of 'coon hunting, and they stand before the cages and wonder where all the fun of the thing comes in, for from the precious light of a cage the 'coon is certainly not very game. There are a number of varieties and they are all so fat that the eye of the colored citizen from the country glistens as he looks and his lips come together convulsively as he thinks of by-gone feasts and in memory eats them over again.

The old colored man was right, as many a dog who has tried it knows to his sorrow. The quills rise threateningly, and had luck to the dog who gets a mouthful of them.

AN OWL FROM THE JAIL. One of the most interesting specimens on exhibition is a monkey faced owl, born and bred at the district jail. Truly he is a genuine jail bird. He first saw the light of night in the caves of the big old building, but was arrested for disturbing the quiet of the establishment, and now crows out a miserable existence in a cage. His face is almost an exact counterpart of a monkey's; so much so, in fact, that were the rest of his body covered it would be difficult to distinguish the difference. The bird has a cage all to himself, and is the only one of the kind on exhibition. He sits all day quiet and unblinking, but at night, so the reporter was informed, he has a high old time, and makes the building resound with his piercing shrieks.

The collection of birds is not a very extensive one, and is made up for the most part of native birds. Outside domestic fowls are in abundance, and in the various cages inside are some gorgeous plumaged birds of the south, including parrots, paroquets and macaws. There is a very fine macaw. The collection of carrier and other pigeons is fine. Keeper Weeden let a gentleman from Philadelphia have one of the birds for breeding purposes the other day, and one evening last week he heard a fluttering of wings outside, and going to see the cause he found that his bird had escaped and returned home again.

The collection of buffaloes at the zoo has increased to a half dozen magnificent specimens of the great American animal which is fast becoming extinct. The first of the herd was given to the museum by Col. E. G. Blackford of New York city, who has from the first taken a great interest in the formation of the gardens. The others are recent additions. The herd presents a fine appearance and artists are frequently making studies of them.

Buffalo Bill is represented by a splendid specimen of the American elk, which has a stall in the large inclosure south of the main building. In an adjoining cage is a mild-eyed mule deer from Colorado. The only remainder of the vicious mule about this little animal is its immense ears, over which it has not much control.

One of the few cages marked "dangerous" is that occupied by a jaguar from Texas. It is strange what a strong fascination this animal has for the average crowd. Some of the visitors who crowd about the cages marked dangerous are exceedingly reckless and are constantly putting themselves in danger of having a hand or arm torn off. So far the garden has been singularly free from serious mishaps. One can easily leap over the rail running along in front of the cages, and many foolish people put their fingers between the bars. Some day a pair of cruel jaws will snap together and some one will go through life minus a couple of fingers.

At the bears' cage there is always a large crowd, for the half dozen varieties are among the most popular exhibits. They are all in the same cage, which has a back yard, and are as playful as kittens, sometimes rolling and tumbling over each other in their play; but this is not always the case, as Keeper Weeden can tell. They get in a bad humor now and then, and those who are acquainted with their antics give them a wide berth. The entire party were in just this humor the other day when Keeper Weeden went into the cage to give them their breakfast. He generally carries a slender club with him and playfully taps them on the nose just to let them know that he has it with him. He tapped once too often this particular morning, and one of the bears rebelled. He was a cub, young and hot blooded, and didn't know any better. He was not used to being tapped on the nose, which is a tender spot with young bears, and he protested by trying to bug his keeper. They had a hand-to-hand fight for some minutes, but luckily the other bears did not join in. They all retreated to the yard, leaving their companion to fight his battle alone. The keeper called loudly for help, which was forthcoming in the person of his assistant. Together they succeeded in subduing the unruly beast, but they were glad enough when they got a chance to get out of the den, and now when they go in a sharp lookout is kept.—Washington Star.

NEGAUNEE NOTES.

An Adulterous Couple Have a Chance to Meditate on Their Folly Behind Prison Walls.

An Ingenious Negaunee Invents a New Horse Shoe—A Death—Base Ball Talk.

An Unnatural Husband. Marshal Cunningham succeeded in arresting yesterday afternoon a man named Sanders, who has for the past week been living with his step-daughter near the Lackawana mine and claiming her to be his lawful wife. Before his sudden departure last week he lived with his legal wife on Iron street. But one morning the woman found both her husband and daughter had suddenly left. It was supposed that the guilty pair had left town, but the vigilant officer succeeded in locating them as has been stated. Both the man and his step-daughter are now lodged in the city jail on a charge of adultery. In explanation of his crime the man avers that Mrs. Sanders never was his lawful wife, and at the time he took her she was living with other men. The prisoners will probably have their examination this morning.

A Valuable Invention. Dr. C. F. Cochran, of this city, has received letters patent on an invention that promises to be a valuable and a remunerative one. The invention is a horseshoe which requires no nails or other such device to secure it to the hoof of the animal. The shoe consists of a hinged section of a horseshoe. This is very nearly like the ones ordinarily in use. On top, or rather on the portion of the shoe that goes nearest the hoof, there is a flange which encircles the hoof. The shoe is kept in place by a rod and spring connecting the hinged portions of the shoe. Besides being so easily applied to the hoof the shoe has the advantage of being especially available for horses that have cracked or injured hoofs. Another feature of the invention is the calks, which slide into slots and may there be secured, thus making it possible to easily take them out and sharpen them or to substitute new calks. The doctor has given the shoe, which it may be remarked, was at the time of the test imperfectly made, a practical trial and has found it entirely satisfactory. The advantage of having the securing device made with a spring is that it permits the hoof to spread and yet will not allow the shoe to come off. The improvement of the calk device of itself bids fair to become a valuable invention. Doctor Cochran spent a great deal of time on the invention and now that he has it perfected and has secured his patent it is with pleasure that the MINING JOURNAL states that he has received a very flattering proposal from a prominent manufacturing firm to buy the right of manufacture.

Died at Colorado Springs. The sad intelligence was received here at noon of the death yesterday at 7 o'clock at Colorado Springs, Col., of Mr. George E. Cornell, a brother-in-law of Mrs. A. C. McKenzie, of this city. The deceased had for a number of years been a sufferer from consumption, and had with his family gone to Colorado Springs in hopes of regaining his rapidly failing strength. It was the intention of Mrs. Cornell to leave there this morning with the remains for the family residence in Chicago, where the interment will take place. The deceased has spent several summers in Negaunee, and all who knew him will mourn the death of the good man who has gone.

There are those who say that the Sunday excursion to the copper country "hoodooed" the ball players, but be that as it may, the club did splendid work and Negaunee is proud of them. If the boys continue to play ball as they did last week they will soon be near the top of the heap. As it is they are about even with Ishpeming.

The new league schedule makes the following dates for the Negaunee club in July: At home—with Ishpeming July 4 and 6; with Marquette, 16; Calumet, 9; Houghton, 20. At Ishpeming, 4, and at Marquette 20. The club leaves here on the 25th inst. for a copper country tour.

M. C. Quinn has just opened his new carpet room, which the extension of his building has given him space for. The department is stocked with all the latest kinds and grades of carpets and the room is well worthy of inspection whether one wishes to buy or not.

A. C. Seass and wife returned home Sunday from Chicago, where they have been sojourning for the past few weeks. Andy says he nearly melted in the Garden City, (though his friends notice no diminishment in his portly form) and is glad to get back to Negaunee.

The rain came down in torrents yesterday afternoon, and the gutters being unable to carry off the water the streets were flooded.

All city prisoners will from this time forward be confined in the city hall jail.

TALK OF THE TOWN.

There will be a series of horse races at Union Park, Ishpeming, on the afternoon of July 5th. Cards are out for a masked ball to be given by Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Fitch at their residence on July 11th. Mrs. I. D. Hanson gave a very pleasant progressive euchre party Saturday to a number of lady friends. Last night brought on another thick fog and the frequent walls of Captain McGuire's pet sang the residents of Marquette to sleep. General Newberry will inspect the Marquette Rifles next Friday evening. It is possible that the Sullivan prize medal may be awarded at the same time. "Has the mascot come to stay and will Marquette be able to keep on winning?" This is the general theme of converse among the call cranks. The opera house directors will hold a meeting to-day. It is probable that bids on the building will be advertised for the latter part of this week. Sergeant Dent's predicted rain storm materialized in good shape yesterday. In fact it began shortly after midnight and continued at intervals until evening. The establishment of the Marquette County Savings bank was a frequent topic of conversation yesterday and was generally hailed as an institution that would be of substantial benefit to the city. No particular preparations for celebrating July 4th are making in this city. The indications are that the small boy and the fire-cracker will have the day to themselves. Taking of testimony in the case of the Hartford Mining Co. against the Cambria Mining Co. was concluded yesterday and arguments will be heard to-day. Only some minor matters remain to be disposed of and court will adjourn for the term on Wednesday or Thursday. There will be a meeting held in Knights of Pythias hall to-morrow evening to organize a council of the National Union. Mr. John Kidd, of Chicago, senate deputy, has been in the city some days and has secured the signatures of a number of well known citizens who will become members of this excellent beneficiary order. A party of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth newspaper men passed eastward over the South Shore yesterday morning. They will visit the Pictured Rocks and visit Sault Ste. Marie and Mackinac Island. The party will reach here on the return trip Thursday and will spend half a day in this city. C. P. Flatley, representative of the South Shore at St. Paul, escorted the tourists, and the party was joined here by George Watson, of the general passenger office. In the Forum for July the series of autobiographical articles by a number of the greatest men of letters and of science is continued, and the contribution this month is by Prof. John Tyndall, who writes of the formative influences of his own life. Another article is a study of Hamlet, by James E. Murdoch. The political articles in this number are "Obstacles to Civil Service Reform," by Mr. Walter M. Ferriss; "Gerrymandering," by Mr. Walter C. Hamm; "The Perplexities That Canada Would Bring," by a Canadian writer, Mr. A. R. Carman; "A Defense of The Veto Power," by Mr. Edward C. Mason. Rev. D. Lyman Abbott reviews the wages system. Mr. Noah Brooks, a journalist of long experience, forecasts the newspaper of the future. Commander E. M. Barber, of the United States navy, writes an explanation of the development of gunpowder and other explosives. Col. Richard J. Hinton explains the political, economical and commercial problems, that the very rapid development of the western states presents.

MY HAPPIEST DAY.

You ask the happiest day of all my life, and I answer you with a low bow. Not so. "Was crowned with victory of war?" Ah, no! "The conquering of foe in mortal strife?" Nay, friend! Why hurt me with these questions. In treason to our noble selves? Why know we not within the heart of man does glow a source of joy above the love of wife. Most helpful to mankind to win success, denied to none, no matter how uncounted. The surest means to lasting happiness? I've been its votary since early youth; Its graces now are all but numberless - My happiest day was spent in finding truth. - Jackson Boyd in Louisville Courier-Journal. Twelve Million Occultists. It is said that the Occultists have become so powerful that the Spiritualists have been forced to come to terms with them. On this point one of the high priests of the faith has furnished me with some curious details. According to him there are no fewer than 12,000,000 Occultists in the world, of whom 10,000,000 are to be found in America, 50,000 in France and as many in other countries, not excepting England. The French capital alone possesses 35,000. All these believers in the mysterious science are connected together by a secret psychic force which on the 27th day of the month in every country unites them at the same minute, calculated in conformity with the various latitudes. In Paris the moment of this universal communion of soul is comprised between 8:20 and 8:35 p. m. - Cor. London Globe. A Small Testing Instrument. Dr. Zwardenaker, of Utrecht, has been experimenting with a simple arrangement he has devised for measuring the sensibility to smell. It is simply a glass tube, turned up to enter the nostril, and containing a sliding cylinder of a material that allows the passage of odors. The extent to which the cylinder is projected beyond the tube - that is, practically, the amount of surface of it exposed to an odor - would measure the keenness of scent of different people, or the relative strength of odor from different sources to the same observer. Trying one tube in each nostril, each exposed to a different odor, it was found that only one could be perceived. In some cases one odor seemed to equal the other in effect, and then there was no sensation of smell at all. - Montreal Star. A Story of a Bohemian. I think Cliff Sanders was the most perfect type of the bohemian in his early days I ever saw. He has, so I am told, settled down and is doing well. Sanders was working on a morning paper in St. Louis once when he had an offer to go on an afternoon paper. He called on the city editor and the following dialogue ensued: "How much salary do you want, Mr. Sanders?" "More than I am getting where I am." "We will pay you $15 per week, Mr. Sanders." "I can borrow more than that," said Mr. Sanders as he bowed himself out. In that remark is the essence of the philosophy which makes a bohemian happy. - Chicago Tribune. As to Eating Cold Food. Eat all cold food slowly. Digestion will not begin till the temperature of the food has been raised by the heat of the stomach to 98 degs. Hence the more heat that can be imparted to it by slow mastication the better. The precipitation of a large quantity of cold in the stomach by fast eating may, and often does, cause indigestion and indigestion, and every occasion of this kind results in a measurable injury to the digestive functions. Ice water drunk with cold food of course increases the mischief. Hot drinks - hot water, weak tea, coffee, chocolate, etc. - will, on the contrary, help to prevent it. But eat slowly, any way. - Leeds (Eng.) Mercury. She Had Burns' Works. A gentlemanly book agent who canvases the territory adjacent to Chicago recently spent a day out in the fashionable quarter of Hyde park with an expensive edition of Burns' works. He made a grand impression and finally called at a house where he was met by an elaborately dressed lady who appeared interested. "Whose works are they?" she inquired. "Burns' works, madam," replied the gentleman, as he prepared to show his sample copy. "But tell me," interposed the lady, "which of his works they are. We have some already. Are they his poetical or his prosaic works?" The agent fled. - Chicago Herald. The Olive Tree. The height of an olive tree is usually twenty feet, but it is sometimes as high as fifty feet, and it reaches an almost fabulous age. One recently destroyed at Beaulieu had a recorded age of five centuries, and it was thirty-six feet in circumference. The olive tree is exceedingly prolific under cultivation. The fruit yields about 70 per cent. of its weight, exclusive of kernel, in oil. Italy is said to produce 33,000,000 and France 7,000,000 gallons of oil annually. The tree does not vegetate readily beyond 2,000 feet altitude or 45 degs. latitude. - Exchange. Modern Shopping. Customer - Neckties? Where'll I find 'em? Floor Walker (in a Sixth avenue ladies' store) - Go to the end of this alley, turn to your right, go to the end of this building, turn into the annex up one flight - Customer - Up one flight? Then I can't take my cab? I'll drive to some place where I can get a necktie in the same country I'm in when I ask for it. - Chatter. Wink or Twinkle. A famous astronomer denies that stars twinkle, and declares that the poet who wrote "Twinkle, twinkle, little star" was off his head. The stars stand up there like hard brick in a wall, and all the twinkling is done by your eye. It is one of those optical delusions which don't cost a cent and are always on hand when wanted. - Detroit Free Press. Vermont Girls Know Rats. A man at Bennington, Vt., offered a prize to the one catching the most rats. A girl filled a barrel half full of water, put some chaff on top and sprinkled cheese on that, and in one week had 321 drowned rats to show up for the prize. She now wears a silk dress to reward her shrewdness. - Detroit Free Press. First Catch Your Dower. A dower chest to hold the bride's trousseau is coming to be looked upon as the proper thing, the chest to be carved antique, if possible. The old longing for a dower to get the trousseau with is also continued. - Philadelphia Ledger. Discoverers. Tom - Where is Nambly now? Jack - Haven't you heard? He was sent to Africa to find Man'y, the explorer. Tom - Pambly, where is he now? Jack - He's gone to find Nambly. - Yankee Blade.

A VETERAN.

was wounded in the leg at the battle of Stone River, Dec. 31st, 1862. My blood was poisoned from the effects of the wound, and the leg swelled to double its natural size, and remained so for many years. The poison extended to my whole system, and I suffered a thousand deaths. Nothing did me any good until I took Switt's Specific, which took the poison out of my system, and enabled me to feel myself a man again. S. S. S. is the remedy for blood poison.

A working woman said she would walk ten miles to get the Ball corset, if she couldn't get it without. She had had experience with it.

That corset is just as easy the minute you put it on as it is when half worn out.

You can go to your store and get it and wear it two or three weeks, and then you will know what comfort is in a corset. If you are disappointed in it in any way, go back to the store and get your money within three weeks or so—you'll get it. The maker pays the merchant to do that.

There's a primer on Corsets for you at the store.

SHOULD BE INSPECTED.

Urgent Need of Fire Limit Extension and the Appointment of a Building Inspector at Ishpeming.

IT IS TIME TO STOP BUILDING ON THE MUSHROOM PLAN.

An Exciting Foot-Race For July 4th—Notes of a Day's Doing in the City of Homattite.

Building Inspection Needed. Ishpeming is casting off its swaddling clothes. It is growing in every direction, and the number of new buildings in process of construction was never so great before as at the present time. There are more business blocks going up this year than in any previous season, and the sound of the mason's trowel and the carpenter's saw and hammer are heard in all parts of the city from morning to night.

The activity that prevails in building circles at the present time is gratifying to every resident of the city who is here to stay, and who believes that the foundations of the city's industrial prosperity are as firm as the rock-ribbed hills that surround us. It is gratifying to note the progress being made in building, but there are some things about the matter that are not so pleasant. In all large cities, and in most towns of ten thousand and even less, the city government exerts control over building matters much as all municipal governments do over the sewers, alleys and sidewalks. Improvements and repairs on these must be made at the expense of the property owner on whose frontage they abut, but it is important to the city as a whole that there be some general system to such improvements. In Ishpeming the only attempt ever made to regulate building matters was the passage by a council, ten years or more ago, of an ordinance defining the fire limits. This ordinance was spread on the records, and remains there today. No one has ever attempted to take it off, or to enforce it in any manner. It is being violated almost every day.

The city should have a building inspector whose duty it would be to examine the plans of all proposed buildings to be erected within the city limits, and issue permits for their construction in case the plans were found satisfactory and legal. A moderate fee should be charged for this. In addition to issuing a permit, it should be the duty of the inspector to examine from time to time buildings in course of construction, and satisfy himself that they were being properly built. The office could easily be made self-sustaining and the cost of fees paid by persons building would be more than made good to them by the salutary supervision exercised by a proper official.

As an example of the bad effects of letting things take care of themselves, the wooden buildings erected or remodelled within the fire limits since the passage of the ordinance can be pointed out. The fire limits should be extended, as the business portion of the city has overgrown the limits assigned to it ten years ago.

F. C. Hefer's new building on Canada street has been set altogether too close to the street line. The street is a narrow one and the sidewalk barely wide enough to accommodate the travel on it. Mr. Hefer has but his building up to the line, and expects to put a step or two into the sidewalk, making an awkward break at that point, and a stumbling point that will be responsible for sore shins, torn dresses and swear words. With a building inspector this would not be allowed, and Mr. Hefer would be unable to use for his exclusive benefit the property of the public.

Numberless other instances, ancient and modern, of the abuses to which lax municipal laws and lack of supervision has led in building operations could be pointed out. With the throwing into the market of the lots on Division street by the Lake Superior company, an extraordinary number of business houses will be put up within the next eighteen months. It is high time that some steps were taken to have them built in a manner that would be conducive to the convenience of the public and safety to occupants, as well as to the convenience of the proprietor, the fire limits should be immediately extended and a building inspector appointed. If this is not done the city will continue to grow in a haphazard way totally foreign to that of any well-built and well-governed town, and in a manner that will make those after us a few years hence wonder whether their predecessors were civilized or partly barbarous.

A Foot Race. Arrangements are being made for a foot-race of 100 yards, between H. Downing and James Amberson, of Ishpeming, to be run at Association park on the morning of Friday, July 4th, before the ball game.

Amberson is to allow Downing five yards start in the above distance, and the race is to be for $50 a side. It will no doubt be an exciting affair, as both men are fleet of foot. Downing and Amberson were matched to run last fall, but owing to some misunderstanding about the park it was declared off.

THE COPPER COUNTRY.

Developments at Central Mine—Fourth of July Races at Lake Linden—Personal and Miscellaneous Notes.

HOUGHTON.
Secretary and Treasurer Stanton of the Alliance, Atlantic and Central mines returned Monday noon from the Central mine, which he reports looking very well. The reported new vein which was cut in the bottom of the shaft is not new but simply a shifting of the old vein 240 feet west, which brings it nearer to the shaft. When the shaft is one level deeper more can be known as to the amount of copper it is carrying.

In addition to the grand celebration on the Fourth, the league game of base ball between the Hancock and Houghtons at the park here will bring quite a number of strangers to the town.

The Houghton Silver Cornet band played for the steamer Dove's excursion, Sunday. The Atlantic Mine Finnish brass band made its first appearance in this city Sunday morning, clad in new uniforms of bright blue with gold braiding trimmings.

Lewis A. Richardson, of Champion, spent Sunday at Ripley and took his family away with him Monday noon.

HANCOCK.
Eleven to sixteen was not much of a score for professional teams. Rentenbach, of the Houghtons umpired the game yesterday between Hancock and Negaunee. The Hancock team plays a league game at Red Jacket this afternoon with the Calumets. These two teams have been playing very good games with each other this season and draw quite a crowd.

Next Saturday, July 5th, the Marquettes play a league game with the Hancock at the Driving Park here.

The steamer Dove, of Detroit, made an excursion trip from this port and Houghton to Lake Linden and Portage Entry Sunday afternoon. In going through Portage river she ran on the beach, but succeeded in getting off in about twenty minutes.

Dr. J. Watry, of Chicago, will be at his office in the Scott block to-morrow and will remain during the entire month. His specialty is diseases of the eye, ear and nose.

REB JACKET.
Mr. and Mrs. Dehey of Calumet left Monday morning for Buffalo.

Mrs. Henry Powers of Ontonagon, left for home Monday morning. Miss Emma Jaehning, of Franklin, accompanied her. The Hancock team plays a league game with the Calumets at the park here this afternoon.

LAKE LINDEN.
Among the attractions offered here on July 4th, are a series of races at the driving park open to all horses in Houghton and Keweenaw counties at this date. The races will begin at one o'clock sharp. Following is the program: Three minute race, mile heats, best three in five; first $50; second $25, third $10. Running race, half mile heats, best three in five. First, $30; second, $10; third, $5. Free for all, mile heats, best three in five. First, $100; second, $50; third $10.

The product of the Calumet & Hecla stamp mills for the week ending Monday was 317 tons 300 pounds.

Mrs. Paul Ferrault died of consumption Sunday evening. Her funeral will be held this afternoon.

The steamship Sparta is discharging a cargo of soft coal at the Calumet & Hecla coal dock. The Sparta's consort, the Soudan, had her lumber brought up in St. Clair river, and was obliged to go into dry dock.

SOUTH LAKE LINDEN.
The steamers Empire State and United Empire took on cargoes of refined copper at the Calumet & Hecla smelting works Monday.

Dr. J. W. Young returned Monday morning from his visit to friends in Canada.

DOLLAR BAY.
Considerable building is still being done here.

The wire mill, rolling mill and smelting furnaces are all working to their full capacity.

T. D. Handbitt, telegraph operator with the Mineral Range and Hancock & Calumet railroad companies has accepted a position in the warehouse of the Tamarack-Oscoda Copper Manufacturing Co.

Baraga Downs Ontonagon.
Baraga's crack base ball team went to Ontonagon Saturday and laid out the team record. The score was 13 to 7.

The public schools closed here last Friday.

Typoid fever is again becoming prevalent here.

The reception room of the convent school at the Catholic mission was filled to its fullest capacity last evening with the friends and relatives of the pupils of St. Joseph's academy. The commencement program, which was quite lengthy, reflected credit on pupils and teachers.

If you want anything in the line of flooring, ceiling, siding, sash, doors, blinds and moulding, writing to Hager & Johnson, Marquette, Mich. Estimates furnished on all kinds of building material.

QUEEN CITY DAY'S DOINGS.

Postal Authorities Seem to Know but One Marquette and That This Queen City.

SMALL BOYS DISCOVER HANDY PLACE FOR SCRUB BALL GAMES.

Saturday's Row Pats Bullet in James Rowe's Log—Mayor Longyear Talks about Isle Royale.

This Is the Only Marquette.
There are four Marquettes in the United States, including one in California, one in Kansas and one in Wisconsin. All these are postoffices but in the judgment of the postal officials, both of the United States and of Canada, there is only one Marquette. That is the Queen City of Lake Superior.

This fact was well shown by a recent experience. There was received here by a prominent railroad official a letter addressed simply "Marquette." It bore a Canadian postmark. The postal authorities of both Canada and this country disregarded all the other Marquettes and fired it straight to the only and original Marquette.

The pains which the frequently abused postoffice people will take to send a letter to its destination is well illustrated by an experience of that same official. A correspondent in New York addressed him by name and title and then, in some moment of forgetfulness added simply "City." Instead of returning the letter to the sender, whose card appeared on the corner, for better address, the New York postoffice ascertained by some means that a certain office door on Broadway bore the hieroglyphics "D. S. S. & A. Ry." The long suffering carrier was instructed to "try" that number. In that room there dwells a contracting freight agent who does not directly represent the South Shore road but who occasionally does some business for it and hence had its name on his door. He was able to supply the missing address, the letter sped to its destination and the envelope now lies before the writer, a striking testimony to the patience, perseverance and fidelity of Uncle Sam's postal servants.

Base Ball in a Cellar.
The small boys of this town have made a great discovery in the yawning pit that awaits the stone masons who will lay the new opera house foundations. They have discovered that it makes an excellent place for scrub games of base ball. The sides supply and deficiency of fielders and if any juvenile slugger chances to welt the sphere out of the cellar and into the adjacent door yards he is certain of a home run.

The "Bullet Stoppers" played the "Street Arabs" there yesterday and it was a great game. "Corkey," pitcher for the "Bullet Stoppers" was at his best and his contortions in delivering an out-curve would have put Markler to the blush. The grand stand, that is the sidewalk above, was filled with an admiring crowd of spectators. The first umpire proved unsatisfactory so both teams jumped on him and buried him in the sand. The game was an exciting one and when called at the end of the third inning, on account of rain the score stood, "Bullet Stoppers," 19; "Street Arabs," 14.

Shot in the Leg.
The half dozen reckless young men who raised the disturbance around the Swedish boarding house on Spring street early Saturday morning, have received a lesson which will probably last them some time. As related at the time they raised such a terrific row that it seemed they must have broken in the front of the building. Marshal Maloney collared one, Jack Cunliffe, and the others ran away. The marshal ordered them to halt and on their refusing fired two shots after them.

Marshal Maloney had no intention of hitting the fugitives, and only fired to frighten them into stopping. It now appears that one bullet took effect, striking James Rowe in the fleshy part of the leg, inflicting a wound that will not have any serious consequences, but will confine the young man to the house for some days. His peace-disturbing frolic had a painful ending.

Marshal Maloney arrested four more of the same gang and Recorder Meads gave the quintette $5 and costs each as a gentle reminder that Marquette is not a cowboy town.

New Summer Resort.
Mayor Longyear has returned from a two week's fishing trip to Isle Royale. He is more than ever delighted with the beauties of that remotest part of Michigan's territory. He was accompanied by his brother, Dr. Longyear, of Detroit, and by Dr. Jennings, of the same city.

of famous Bar Harbor. It is a perfect cluster of islands, an archipelago. Deep fiords run far into the land between steep and wooded ridges. I think there is at least 100 miles of inside water for boating about the immediate neighborhood, past beautiful and constantly changing scenic pictures. The fishing is fine and superb mineral specimens may be had for picking up. I obtained some splendid agates as large as my two fists. Then the historic interest is something. The island has been more or less occupied for many years. On the islet on which we camped we found graves with headboards dating from 1851 and 1853. We named it Cemetery Island from the circumstance. Over across the bay could be seen the tall brick chimney and ruins of an old copper mine, dating I believe from the '40s. The island can be reached in about six hours from Houghton and to me at least is the most attractive place for a summer vacation I know of."

Railroaders Will Play Ball.
The Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad ball team, chiefly made up from the employees in the general offices here, goes to Hancock July 12th to play a team composed of Mineral Range railroad employees. The players, positions and batting order of the South Shore team are as follows: Gorman, 2b; Maney, ss; Shaw, p; Fitzgerald, 1b; Hearn, rf; Kinney, 3b; Spencer, c; Stack, cf; Perrine, manager.

The team will travel in a special car and would be glad to have enough of its friends along to fill up the coach. Good rates for the trip will be made which can be learned on application.

Sailed for Home.
According to a cablegram received yesterday by Mr. J. M. Longyear, Mrs. Julian M. Case sailed Sunday night from Southampton for New York with the body of her husband. The steamer is expected to arrive in New York on Sunday next. The dead will be brought to this city for burial, but the date of the funeral cannot yet be fixed.

Standing of the Teams.
The standing of the various teams of the Upper Peninsula league is to-day:
Teams. Played. Won. Lost. Percent Hancock..... 8 6 2 .750
Calumet..... 8 5 3 .625
Houghton..... 9 5 4 .555
Ishpeming..... 9 4 5 .444 Negaunee..... 10 4 6 .400 Marquette..... 7 1 6 .143

The notable features of the above are the facts that Marquette has at last a percentage and the closeness with which Negaunee is pressing Ishpeming. Houghton, which tied Calumet for first place after her victory here, has fallen again into third place. Hancock has passed Calumet in the race but whether she will be able to hold the lead or not remains to be seen. Houghton has spent much money on her team, starting out with the avowed intention of beating Hancock, but has not been able to keep in the lead of her sister city. Practically one-fourth of the season has been played, Negaunee having appeared in ten games and Marquette in seven. Strict attention to business may yet give Marquette the pennant but the games she can afford to lose are precious few.

A Badger in India.
I. L. Hauser, a former resident of Wisconsin but now in engaged in cultivation of ramie fiber in northern India, has been spending some days in Marquette. Mr. Hauser had not been in this city for seven years and expressed himself as much surprised at its progress. In his far distant home he still remains a citizen of the United States, though he is enrolled as a volunteer in the Anglo-Indian militia under the cross of St. George. Mr. Hauser is an entertaining talker and converses pleasantly upon the strange scenes of his present home where his wife and daughters now are. Mrs. Hauser, by the way, is editor of a well-known and widely circulated annotated edition of Sir Edwin Arnold's famous poem, "The Light of Asia."

"Little Lord Fauntleroy."
The Noble Dramatic company gave a fairly capable performance of Mrs. Burnett's famous story, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," at the Casino last evening. The story is such a pretty and touching one that it is always attractive. The part of the little lord was cleverly done by the child actress, Myrtle Mills. The company carries its own band and orchestra. This evening "Uncle Dan," better known as "The Messenger from Jarvis Section," will be given.
