Will gladly direct neutrality of United Ireland meanwhile if controversy is considered.

"As to the recapture which is reported to have followed I can only surmise that some kind people of Dublin who had not altogether forgsten me in my absence and who had not forgotten the record of United Ireland allowed their natural feelings to outrun their forebearance, I am sorry to have been compelled to say even this much on a topic so inexpressibly painful to me. I spent the best years of my life in founding United Ireland. For ten years it has, often almost single-handed, borne the brunt of three consecutive coercion acts. Words cannot tell how mournful it is for me to think that after weathering so many years of a continuous life and death struggle with Dublin castle the paper should, in my absence and while my hands were tied, experience such treatment at the hands of the leader I all but worshipped. But I am quite willing and eager to forget this and all other personal considerations if by any possible, nonorable means patriotic men on both sides can even yet succeed.

O'BRIEN TALKS ON PARNELL, twelve months. All that was necessary to secure the triumph for which our people had waited so long at d made such incalculable sacrifices was that we should raise the necessary funds to pre-serve the evicted tenants from des ruction and keep their organ zat on un-crushed so as to force the coercion government to face the general election in the same condition of abject and con-fessed failure in which the gallentry of the Irish tenantry had kept it through out five years of incessant conflict with o ercion. An evicted enants' fund that would bridge over the interval was a hat was demanded. The Irish race in America was enthusiastically supply ing it. In less than two weeks nearly $100,000 was subscribed in response to our appeals. It was certain that a suf ticient sum would be subscribed to put an end to the last hope of coercionists and enable the Irish people to await the general election with unbroken ranks and confident hearts. is it that has dashed the hores of six weeks ago? That is the question the world asks every Irishman to answer calmly to his own conscience at this solemn hour What has occurred in the interval to make every Irish heart now tremble with forebodings at the prospect of the general election loathe to speak on what is to me in any aspect a heart-breaking subject, but there are some misstatements in the particular of the general election which six weeks ago they longed for as the assured hour of victory? Mr. Parnell asks us to believe that the change is due to the treachery of Mr.

> the true explanation of the sudden and woeful eclipse of our cause." In conclusion the manifesto says "Our cause once rescued from its present deadly peril, our race may rest as-sured that nothing which the tender-ness of devoted colleagues can do will be left undone to heal whatever wounds may have been inflicted in the heat of strife and do justice to Mr. Parnel's genius and his work so that Ireland may drop a tear over the errors of a passionate hour and may remember on ly the Irishman and born leader of men who found the Irish cause plunged in helplessness and despair and whose arn has lifted that cause to the pinnacle of power and of triumph."

SIX PERSONS SHOT.

Charles Joplin Completes His Murderous
Work by Suicide.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Dec. 11.—Charles Joplin shot and killed five persons today at the Jenny lead mine twelve miles from here and then committed suicide by shooting himself. The killed were John Miller, his wife, his grown daughter, Lou Miller, Dr. Stewart, a prominent physican and a man whose name is not known. The shooting occurred late in the day and details are meagre. The only clew to the cause of the killing lies in a report that baugh and Waldo Emerson of St. Joe, Mo., while stealing a ride with them in a box car, was to-day found guilty of nurder in the first degree. His attorney will move for an arrest of judgment and apply for a new trial.

A Second Enjoyable Entertainment for the

A Pleasing Entertainment. The entertainment last night, given under the auspices of the ladies who Japanese. Small tables were arranged about the north walls for serving ice cream and other delicacies to the large crowd in attendance. In the center of the hall near the stage was erected a stand for the orchestra, for which a this a lish pond tempted the adventurous to try their luck, and did a rushing business. Shortly after 8 o'clock the floor was cleared for the ladies' broom brigade drill. The pretty misses appeared, under the captaincy of Miss in line in the center of the hall. The orchestra struck up a lively march and the command to march was given. For over half an hour the squad of youthful beauties occupied the floor and went through the movements of a tegular cadets' drill with an ease and grace that surprised all who witnessed their performance. It is not known yet what the two entertainments netted, but it is probable that the proceeds, with the amount received from other sources, will be sufficient to pay for the organ, and that it can be got here and put in position in time for the opening of the church.

In the afternoon Mr. Parnell started for Cork. A large crowd was at the Kingsbridge depot and when he made his appearance to take the train he was loudly cheered. The large and enthus-astic meeting held in the Rotunda last night and a speech then made by Mr Parnell has had the effect of influencing public opinion in favor of him through out Ireland and the number of his ad herents is growing rapidly. His sup-porters in Limerick are making prepar-ations for a great popular display in his honor upon his arrival there. His constituents in Cork are also preparing to give him an enthusastic welcome.

When the train reached Mallow Station a majority of the assembled crowd hooted and jeered, only a few cheers being raised by Parnell. At Cork an immense crowd had gathered and the arrival of the train was the signa for an extraordinary outburst of en-

Gold ane silver are taxable and certificates of tressury notes redeemable in gold an-silver ought to be placed on the same the country is too small. Nearly everyone admits that. But we could get along as we did before if confidence could be restored and we hope to do that and to increase circulation some-what by the bill we call up. The banks banks have more money in their vaults than they ever had before. All the western members concur in that. Our little banks have twice as much money in their vaults as they formerly carried The big banks won't re-discount ou bills and we have to protect ourselves. Then a great deal of money has been taken out of banks by people who have become alarmed at the course of legis ation and have locked their money u m safe deposit vanits. A great deal of money has been sent abroad to buy consols. Only the other day a man told me he had put $1,000,000, about all ad, in English consols. by Mr. Cullom and passed.

The resolution offered yesterday Mr. Plumb for daily meetings of the senate at 10 A. M., and for rec.ss from 5.30 to 8 P. M., was taken up. Mr. Cockrell suggested that if 11 A. M. were fixed for the hour of meeting there would be an opportunity to attend to some commitee work; whereas if the senrte met at 10, no committee work could be done. He also questioned the advisability of night sessions and the pro-ity of an attendance of a quorum. Mr. R gan thought that senators might just as well be frank with one another the object of the proposition was to choke off debate on the elections bill and to prevent its full, free and deliberate consideration. If that were purpose of the majority it had the power to carry it out. Messrs. Mor-gan, Harris and Vest opposed the reso-lution. While the latter was speaking the hour of 2 o'clock arrived, when the solution went over till to-morrow without actio and the consideration of the elections bill was resumed.

ROYAL BACK NUMBERS.

AND UNHONORED

Retired Gentlemen and Genteel Deadbeats All Claiming Thrones-A King Who Is a Waiter-Genuine Blue Blood in Hard Luck-An American King.

A full list of royal and imperial pretend ers would include all sorts of people in all sorts of sortiety, from the retired and wealthy nobleman, such as the Comte de Paris, to Orelle, the self styled king of Arancania, who is a sort of genteel deadeat, and Francesco, the titular king of Armenia, whose royal predecessor was a waiter in Milan, who himself pursues the waiter in Milan, who himself parsues the same honest, if not kingly, occupation in a restaurant at Versailles. As a rule nearly every king nowadays outside of the dark-est part of the Dark Continent has a saug sum to his credit in English or American securities, so that in the event of being put out of a job he may have the wherewithal to keep the wolf of poverty from the door.

The Comte de Paris, Bourbon pretender to the throne of France, and now an exile, is worth about two millions of dollars. The bulk of his fortune is in British con sols, and he also draws interest 60 United Prince Jerome Napoleon, the leading representative of the imperial house of Bonaparte, lives in luxurious exile at Prangins, Switzerland. He has a splendid residence there, and owns among his treasures various relics of the Bonaparte family, including an Egyptian saber which the great Napoleon carried in the first of his Italian campaigns. Prince Napoleon is wealthy and ambitious. The Bonapartes as a rule are not in good financial circumstances, and the purse of Prince Jerome is taxed to keep his friends and relatives

The ex-queen of Spain, Isabella, takes life comfortably, even luxuriously, residing in fashionable style in Paris, with oc-sional trips to Nice and Boulogne. Italy has a host of pretenders deprived of their toy crowns by the union of the Italian peninsula. Of these the house of Tuscany is the most fortunate, as Austria takes care of them, and the Archdake Francis Salvator has recently married the flower of the imperial family, the Arch-duchess Valerie. The heir of Bomba's crown of Naples is a quiet, harmless young man, strictly devoted to religion, and with out any apparent design upon his ancestral dominions. Indeed the deposed Italian princes generally acquiesce in their fate, as hopeless of any change. All, without ex-ception, are fairly well provided for.

Dom Pedro, the deposed emperor of the Brazils, is the most unhappy of ex-rulers. The death of his wife was a terrible blow to him, and he hungers to be permitted to go back to Brazil to die. As he has never formally renounced his claim to the crown he can fairly be called a pretender. Dom Pedro is far from wealthy. While in cir. cumstances that should dictate close econ omy, he is so tender hearted that he hes tates to dismiss the retinue that is eating grows poorer every day. RAILROAD 'ELEGRAPHERS USED TO GET A LITTLE SLEEP.

A Possible Explanation of Some Terrible Wrecks-Most Men Realize the Grave Responsibility Which Is Upon Them-A Boy's Costly Sleep.

The most undesirable work and the least remunerative among telegraphers is that of night operator at some lonely station on a railroad. On regulate the movement of their trains. On double track roads their presence at their posts is of great importance only in emergencies, and to be sure they are always on hand. A system of signaling is in vogue on most roads by which every operator is required to report by wire to headquarters every half hour during the night.

On the Central Railroad of New Jersey fifteen years ago the headquarters of the night dispatcher was at Elizabeth, the wire signal of the office being "K I." Every half hour in the night the dis-Front street was a very stirring one as

The string was tied to the rail again. m. The string was tied to the rail again, another loop made, and the operator soon was dreaming once more. If the left foot fell it was a north bound train; if the right one, a south bound—a glance at the clock showing what train was due according to the schedule. the schedule.

Another operator used to fill a coal scut-tle with coupling pins, old scraps of iron and tin, and fasten it high from the floor to a string tied to the rails. When a train came along the scuttle would fall with a crash loud enough almost to be heard at the dispatcher's headquarters.

Paul also gives it up again this year, as appears from this morning's dispatches.

A BOY'S NEGLIGENCE.
On the Belvidere Delaware division of the Pennsylvania road, where balloon signals are used, such devices are not available, and the operators must remain awake every moment of the long night. The "Bel. Del.," as it is called, is a single track road, and orders are frequent during the night to regulate the movement of trains. It is over this division that the Pennsylvania's heavy coal traffic is brought down to Trenton and to Perth Amboy. At night a white lantern is hung under the balloon, which when lowered shows a red light through the red flannel. If raised the white light shows, signaling that everything is "all right."

The orders of the company are that the balloon must be kept down at all times. balloon must be kept down at all times, day and night, showing the red signal, and the article is a staple, and thousands are only raised when a train approaches for turned out, but the purposeless relics of which no orders have been received. Thus a terrible responsibility falls upon the New York Sun. operator who has complete control of the signal. If he receives an order for a train and forgets it, or becomes confused and raises the signal, the result is sure to be a toollision. Fortunately the operators on that division are faithful men, who evitea room is the most primitive of institudently never sleep on duty. Perhaps a sense of the responsibility keeps them awake. Fixing Boundaries of the City Wards-A Good Financial Showing-Election of Society Officers Firemen's Meeting.

Going to Lansing.

Mr. Aubrey D. Garner, cashier of the Peninsula bank, has accepted the position of deputy state treasurer, offered him by Mr Fred Brastaad, state treasurer-elect, and will leave Ishpeming for Lansing the latter part of the present month.

Mr. Garner is a young man of exemplary habits, and has the confidence and esteem of those who know him best. He has been cashier of the Peninsula bank since its organization three years ago, and has managed the affairs of that concern with prudence and success. He will take with him to the state capital the best wishes of very many friends in this city and county. The directors of the bank have not yet decided who will take Mr. Garner's place as cashier, but a decision will be arrived at soon.

Ward Boundaries.

A meeting of the special committee of the common council was held at the council chamber yesterday afternoon at which the matter of re-districting the city into wards was brought up and tuily discussed. It is probable that the committee will be able to report to the Cold weather is sure to that body, which will be held next Wednesday evening.

Mildon having removed to Chicago, his place on the board was Chicago, his place on the board was filled by the election of Joseph Mitchell, of Champion.

The regular 6 per cent dividend of the bank was declared, and $1,500 was added to the surplus fund. The earnings of the bank for the year were slightly over 11 per cent.

Annual Elections.

At the annual election of Superior legion No. 4, Select Knights of the A. O. U. W., the following named officers were elected for the term of one year,

F. A. Rosier, post commander; T. F. McNamara, commander; O. B. Robinson, vice-commander; C. P. Schjolan son, vice-commander; C. P. Schlolander, lieutenant commander; C. J. Byrns, recorder; John S. PUSHING THE POLLY PLANT.

The dinner pail brigade which comes in on West Washington street forty strong from the Michigan Polygonal Turning works every evening at half four is a sight worth seeing and is evidence of the new departure in Marquette. The work is being rushed with Glynn Lumber company, assumpsit, all the vigor possible in order to get the was tried yesterday in the circuit court buildings ready for the machinery so that the twin manufacturing con-cerns can start up by March. cerns can start up by March. The thick stone walls of the engine house are nearly up to the required heighth while the engine beds are in and the big 150-horse-power engine, purchased from the Republic Reduction company through John R. VanEvera, is being set up. The timbers of the second story of the huge building are in place and the roof timbers are now being raised. Some idea can now had being raised. Some idea can now be formed of the size of the structure and it is already noted as the largest for man-ufacturing purposes in the iron country. The boiler house is now being connected with the city water mains while another connection is being whistle to be used as a fire alarm on the made to afford fire protection for the water works building. yesterday from Grand Rapids. Mr. of the ward where the fire is located.

Andrews, who has just returned from It will probably be arranged so as to London, states that it will be several months yet before the great verde antique deal which means so much to Marquette is finally closed, as the London money market has been so dis-turbed by the recent financial events which have been common talk all over the world, that the English purchasers of the qurrries find it difficult to raise at this time the great sum of money needed to successfully handle the deal. Though there is, therefore, not much which can be said at this time, Mr. Andrews seems to appreciate the interest which the people of Marquete take in the matter, and states that they may rest assured that the deal will go through. assured that the deal will go through.

The day which sees it successfully closed will be a red-letter one in the history of Marquette and the MINING JOURNAL hopes that it is not far distant.

Culver, to look at the buildings which have been suggested as suitable for the company's new mill here. A decision will be reached in the matter either to-day or to-morrow, it is expected, and will probably be made public at once. The people of the city are showing great interest in the matter and are assisting Messrs. Lillibridge and Culver in every possible way in their search for suitable quarters. Meanwhile orders are pouring in for the plaster and if Marquette's boom continues a good share of the product of the new works will be used right here at home.

Na Correction Made.

Major Quinn, U. S. engineer for this district, has posted in the government building a notice to the effect that in estimates for materials for the improvement of Grand Marais harbor the items under "ballast" should read: "Stone, 316 cords; rubble stone, 707 cubic yards; brush, 10 cords."

An interesting Letter.

The following letter recently received by Capt. C. D. Blanchard, county agent of the state board of charities and corrections, from a lad in the M chigan Calls Attended To Day and Night State Reform school at Lansing, will be read with interest by all as illustrative of the work of that institution. It must be remembered that it is essentially a school, not a prison:

Mr. Blanchard:
