WASHINGTON GETS PRIZE

National Capital Chosen as Place for Holding Next Encampment of Grand Army.

ONLY BEATS LINCOLN BY TWENTY-SEVEN VOTES.

General Veasey Opens the Sessions—Fullest Attendance of Delegates Ever Known.

OLD SOLDIERS ARE TALKING.

DETROIT, Aug. 5.—The Twenty-fifth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic met in formal session this morning in the mammoth hall that has been set apart for the business deliberations of the veterans. All that art and cultured taste could do to make the building attractive had been exerted in the decorations which adorned the interior in emblematic order. At the head of the hall, over the platform, was a large Grand Army badge flanked on either side by American flags and in the rear the great seal of the United States, also set between flags. From the ceiling hung clusters of the flags of all the republics in the world. The side walls were draped with cream-colored bunting, and the windows bore curtains with lambrequins of silk and lace. Despite the immensity of the hall it was crowded to its utmost seating capacity by the multitude of veterans attracted by the momentous questions to be settled at this encampment of the order. It was fully understood that the race question might be precipitated on the deliberations at any moment and become the subject of acrimonious discussion and this impending problem, together with the projected revision of the constitution, combined to heighten the general interest in the proceedings.

A few minutes before the hour of opening General Veasey and his staff entered the hall and were escorted to the rostrum. The appearance of the commander-in-chief was the signal for general applause, and a minute later the two bands burst forth in an inspiring military air in harmony with the martial scene. Rapping the assemblage to order, the commander-in-chief announced the formal opening of the Twenty-fifth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic and directed the adjutant-general to call the roll of departments. Every state and territory in the union—not even excepting far-off Alaska—was represented, and the roll showed the fullest attendance of delegates in the history of the organization.

GENERAL VEASEY'S ADDRESS.
The opening address of the commander-in-chief was listened to with close attention. In regard to the disability pension bill passed by the last congress, General Veasey said that if it is not the wisest certainly it is a liberal measure. The work of the members of the Grand Army pension committee was also renewed. The commander-in-chief urged this encampment to renew the effort to procure an amendment to the revised statutes giving preference in appointments to civil office, in the case of union veterans, "to persons discharged from the military or naval service by reason of disability resulting from wounds or sickness incurred in the line of duty," in order that honorable service shall count for something in appointments when all other things are equal. The only new department chartered the past year was that of the Indian Territory.

WASHINGTON GETS NEXT ENCAMPMENT.

The afternoon session of the national encampment was devoted almost entirely to the discussion regarding the selection of the place for holding the next encampment. After a long and heated debate the matter was settled on the first ballot by Washington securing a majority of 27 votes over Lincoln.

WANT REDUCED RATES.

Resolutions were unanimously adopted requesting congress to pass a law authorizing the inter-state commerce commission to permit railroads to give reduced rates to all soldiers and sailors of the war of '61-'65 attending national encampments.

The committee on seniority of departments was continued another year at the request of certain departments, which wanted to furnish further evidence before a final report was made.

PALMER AHEAD FOR COMMANDER.

The location of the next encampment having been settled the interest is now chiefly centered in the election of the commander-in-chief. Capt. John Palmer of New York, A. G. Weissert of Wisconsin and Col. W. R. Smedberg of California are the leading candidates and it is safe to say that one of these will be elected. Together it promises to be a very interesting three-cornered struggle with the chances somewhat in favor of Palmer since he is to receive the united support of the New York delegation. Only once in the history of the order has New York had the commander-in-chief and had it been known a week ago that the New York delegation would be able to unite upon a man his election would have been conceded as an obligation due to the Empire State.

NEGRO VETERANS MAY STAY.

The "Race question" still remains unsolved but will be settled by the encampment tomorrow. The whole matter is temporarily in the hands of the special committee appointed today and it is understood tonight that a majority of this committee will oppose the relegation of the colored comrades to separate departments.

EX-PRISONERS OF WAR MEET.

The national convention of ex-prisoners of war met today. Mayor Pingree, an ex-prisoner, welcomed the ex-prisoners to the city. President E. H. Williams of Indianapolis read his address. He urged the importance of the claim of ex-prisoners to increased pensions on the attention of members. Ex-Senator T. W. Palmer, president of the World's Fair, presided at the picnic this afternoon.

BIG DISPLAY OF FIREWORKS.

This evening a grand display of fireworks, arranged by H. B. Thearle & Co., Pain's American representative, took place at the lower end of Belle Isle. The display ended with a representation of Perry's victory on Lake Erie.

CAMPAIGN WILL BE LIVELY.

People's Party Is Preparing for a Hard Fight in Ohio.

Republicans and Democrats Will Strain Every Nerve—Farmers After Sherman and Foraker.

OHIO'S FOUR-CORNERED FIGHT.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, Aug. 5.—The state convention of the new people's party was called to order this afternoon by Dr. H. F. Barnes of Tiffin. Hugh Cavanaugh of Cincinnati was chosen temporary chairman. It is intended to put a full state ticket in the field. The campaign will be an active one, and will be largely directed toward legislative districts with the object of defeating the senatorial ambitions of Sherman and Foraker. All the lights of the new party from the west, south and east will be brought here to take an active part in the campaign. It is an open question whether the republicans or the democrats will suffer the most from the new party in this state. Several presidents of county alliances said today that it was proposed to give the two old parties the liveliest fight in this state that they have ever had. J. H. C. Cobb of Wellston, Jackson county, the acknowledged leader in the race for the gubernatorial nomination and a brother-in-law of Governor Foraker, says the Cincinnati platform will be adopted with possibly a few additions such as the free coinage of gold and silver. Quite a strong contingent is here advocating a woman's suffrage plank and the prospect is good for lively discussion. The matter of a prohibition plank is exciting much talk this afternoon, but it will not figure largely as the principal prohibitions have given assurance that their ticket will continue in the field no matter what this convention does.

At a love feast held last night W. E. Farmer of Texas was cheered to the echo when he said: "If the government can take 75 cents worth of silver, stamp it and make it a dollar, it can take a piece of paper, stamp it and make it worth 100 cents, and that's what we propose to do."

The delegation in the Sixteenth district disagreed on the 2 per cent loan plank proposed for the platform and will go into the convention divided. The Twenty-first disagreed on the question of a rule regulating the casting of votes for delegations. Some wanted to cast the entire vote, others only the representation.

Bert John, of Huron, for the committee on credentials, reported at 3:40 p. m., no contests. Dr. Tuckerman, of Cleveland, reported for the committee on rules and order of business the rules usually governing conventions. Nominating speeches were limited to five minutes.

Tonight Eva McDonald Vaiesh addressed the delegates. The committee on resolutions has been wrestling with the platform since 3 p. m. and at 10 o'clock adjourned until tomorrow morning without having reached a conclusion.

DOES POYNTER HOLD NEBRASKA?

Alliance Man Said to Be in Charge of the State.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 5.—Governor Thayer of Nebraska is at Detroit at the G. A. R. encampment. Lieutenant Governor Majors' whereabouts are not known. He is not in Lincoln and is supposed to be in Detroit. Under the constitution President-of-the-Senate Poynter is acting governor in that case. Poynter, who is a strong alliance man, slipped down to Lincoln yesterday afternoon and announced his intention of ascertaining whether Majors was in the state. He said he would assume the duties of governor and "run things" if Majors and Thayer were both absent. He added that he probably would call a special session of the legislature to pass a maximum freight bill. The republican officers at Lincoln are panic-stricken and the wires are kept hot calling on Thayer and Majors to return and save the state from alliance usurpation.

MAJESTIC'S FAST TIME.

White Star Liner Breaks Record, Queenstown to New York.

New York, Aug. 5.—The White Star Line steamer Majestic, which left Liverpool July 29, arrived here this morning, thus breaking the record for Queenstown to New York. Her time was 5 days, 18 hours and 8 minutes. The Majestic passed Roche's Point at 2:12 A. M. Thursday, July 30 and arrived at Sandy Hook at 3:20 o'clock this morning. She beat the record by 57 minutes. Previous to the performance of the Majestic the record was held by the White Star steamship Tonic. It was 5 days, 19 hours and 5 minutes.

FATHER AND SON PERISH.

Their Boat Swamped While Crossing Large Vessel's Bows.

CHATHAM, N. B., Aug. 2.—While Alex. McFarlane and his son, who were out in a row boat, were attempting to cross the bow of a large vessel they were thrown into the water by the boat swamping and both were drowned.

FIENDS IN HUMAN FORM.

Grand Rapids & Indiana Express Train Ditched by Wreckers Near Kalamazoo.

TWELVE PERSONS HURT IN OVERTURNED SLEEPER.

Sunday School Excursion Wrecked. Two People Killed and Many Injured Through Disobedience of Orders.

HANGING TOO GOOD FOR THEM.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Aug. 5.—The Grand Rapids & Indiana express bound south was wrecked three miles north of this place at noon to-day, evidently by train wreckers, as spikes, bolts and nuts were found withdrawn from the rail. The baggage and express car, day coach and sleeper were thrown from the track and rolled down the embankment. The sleeper turned completely over and was badly wrecked. Nearly all the injured, twelve in number, were taken from the sleeper. None of them are fatally hurt, however. The list of the injured is as follows: Mrs. MYRA RIPPON, Kalamazoo, W. S. BRATT, Grand Rapids, LUTIC WATERMAN, Lowell, T. C. PHELPS, home unknown, HENRY G. DYKHOUSE, Grand Rapids, A. CONWAY, Fort Wayne, Ind., Miss MAUDE HAYNER, Plainwell, Mich., M. B. WILLIAMSON, Trenton, N. J., Mrs. J. J. EARLE KEY, Grand Rapids, C. L. HOLMES, Appleton, Wis., B. B. SMITH, Mackinaw, Mich., C. G. SHELLMAN, Baltimore, Md. Several of these are seriously injured and one or two may die. The injured are being cared for at the Burgess hospital, this city.

The engineer says the rail appeared like an open switch. He immediately applied the brakes but it was too late. The section foreman had inspected the track but an hour before and found everything all right.

EXCURSION TRAIN WRECKED.

Two Passengers Are Killed and About Twenty Hurt.

CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., Aug. 5.—A train conveying a Sunday school excursion from Ellenburg, Rouse's Point and intervening stations on the Central Vermont railroad, ran into a mail train, which had the right of way, just east of this station at 6:40 o'clock tonight. The excursion train had many persons on board and was returning from Wellsborough Point. Those killed outright were: WILLIAM ANGELL, aged 17, son of a merchant of this place. SIM VENNETT, a laborer of Chateaugay Lake.

Some twenty people were more or less injured. The more seriously injured are:

HENRY LA MOUNTAIN, Champlain, both legs cut off below the knees; will probably live.

SIMONEY WILLIAM MOORE, both legs broken.

HENRY SWETT, Ellenburg Centre, arm fractured and body and limbs bruised.

JOHN PATTERSON, Perry's Mills, leg broken.

Mrs. LEWIS, Mora, head and limbs bruised.

Mrs. A. BATEMAN, Perry's Mills, hip dislocated.

D. LEVY, Albany, wrist broken and seriously bruised.

Several other passengers were more or less injured. The excursion train had orders to meet the mail here and should have gone on the siding a few rods back of where the accident occurred. The engines telescoped and two cars were badly smashed up, one on each train.

RAN AGAINST A LOG.

One Man Killed and Several Hurt in Train Wreck.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Aug. 5.—An engine on the Whitmore narrow gauge road struck a log near Elk Garden yesterday and was wrecked. John McKenzie was scalded to death by the escaping steam. Six other workmen, who were crowded on the engine were badly burned. All but one will recover.

BILLY MAY COME TO THE FAIR.

German Kaiser May Visit Us—Kicking on McKinley Bill.

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—A paper of this city says that Chancellor von Capripi has told Mr. Phelps, the American minister here, that Emperor William will perhaps visit the World's Fair at Chicago. This statement, however, lacks confirmation.

The Vossische Zeitung says: "The idea of holding a World's Fair in a country bound by McKinleyism is grotesque. German manufacturers cannot hope to obtain a market there. Only Americans will profit by the experience gained in inspecting the exhibits and they will probably then increase the duties." The Tageblatt expresses similar views but in a milder tone.

WELL SAID. This is the comment of the Torch Lake Times, of Lake Linden, on the action of Governor Winans in denying the upper peninsula representation on Michigan's World's Fair commission.

The Times regrets exceedingly that the governor, in appointing the World's Fair commissioners, failed to name an upper peninsula man for a place on the commission.

The Times is a democratic paper but, unlike the Escanaba Mirror, it does not carry its partyism to the extent of attempting to defend the action of the governor in the matter of these appointments.

What we need up here is some more of this kind of independence. Because we have failed to manifest it on occasions when a display of proper indignation over injustice that we have been subjected to would have had a healthy effect on the greedy politicians and insatiable place-seekers of the lower peninsula.

It is time that an end be put to insults and outrages such as the refusal of Governor Winans to give just recognition on the World's Fair commission.

The upper peninsula is not a conquered principality, or a beggarly province belonging to an imperial state, to be taxed to the limit of endurance and then treated with contempt and studied disregard of its natural rights.

It is a part of Michigan which contains within itself all the elements of statehood, and if its people are grieved to that extremity they will find a means to convince the granger constituencies of Lower Michigan, and the lawmakers and state officials which so faithfully serve these, that the upper peninsula is not to be forever imposed upon with impunity.

The action of Governor Winans in the matter serving as the text of these remarks has furnished the people of the upper peninsula with a most excellent opportunity to demonstrate that they are able, as the Lake Linden paper puts it, "to go it alone."

Let them place an upper peninsula exhibit at the World's Fair that will tell of the resources and productive capacity of this region, of the boundless energy and self-respecting character of its people, and of their competency to manage their own affairs and protect their interests.

They will thereby give the people of lower Michigan a lesson that will not be lost upon them in the future, even if it should not prove to be the initial step toward securing for us what upper peninsula people of all parties are beginning to ardently long for—Independent statehood and the blessing of "home rule."

AN UNPRECEDENTED SHRINKAGE. That there has been a marked falling off in the production of iron in this country during the first half of the current year is something that we have been made aware of in the Lake Superior region by the slack demand for ore and the low prices obtainable for it.

But it is doubtful if many of our readers have knowledge of how vast the shrinkage has been. The facts and figures given in the article here reproduced from the Engineering and Mining Journal of the 1st inst. will enable the uninformed to get an idea of how production has fallen off during the first six months of 1891, and to understand why it is that furnacemen seem to have so little use for ore this season.

The unprecedented decline in the production of pig iron during the first six months of this year is shown in the following table of production for each year since 1873, with the annual increase or decrease.

Pig iron production. Year. Net tons. Increase. Decrease. Net tons. Net tons.

1873... 2,868,278... 179,865... 1874... 2,689,413... 422,882... 1875... 2,996,581... 178,945... 1876... 2,063,236... 291,949... 1877... 2,314,383... 262,776... 1878... 2,577,361... 408,514... 1879... 2,070,875... 1,224,339... 1880... 4,256,314... 346,150... 1881... 4,541,364... 336,558... 1882... 3,178,122... 31,150... 1883... 3,146,972... 567,350... 1884... 4,529,613... 59,744... 1885... 4,329,869... 1,588,459... 1886... 6,365,328... 721,878... 1887... 7,187,306... 81,301... 1888... 7,268,507... 1,247,372... 1889... 8,516,079... 1,790,949... 1890... 10,307,928... 5,199,253...

In 1873 the maximum production was reached as the culmination of the period of speculation following the war, and leading to the panic of 1873. For the next three years the production decreased each year. The slow recovery from the panic produced a slight increase in 1877 and 1878. In 1879, the country realized that the panic was over, and the "boom" of that year gave an extraordinary impulse to production, culminating in an increase of 40 per cent. in 1880, and a continued increase for two years following; making six consecutive years in which the statistics showed a continuous advance.

Another reactionary period of three years set in, the worst year being 1884, the year of the partial panic following the Grant & Ward failure, when production decreased about 11 per cent. The partial panic had spent its force in 1885, and in 1886, as if to make up for the losses of the preceding year, an extraordinary increase of 40 per cent took place, and for the five-year period, 1886-1890, inclusive, an increase was shown every year, the production in 1890 being more than double that of 1885, and almost double that of 1882, the last year of maximum production.

The years 1889 and 1890 presented the exceptional spectacle of two consecutive years each showing an increase of 30 per cent over its predecessor, and a total increase of 42 per cent. In the two years over the production of 1888, itself a year of greater production than any that had preceded it. This extraordinary increase was an indication that a reaction must take place, even had there been no outside cause, such as the financial collapse in Europe, which took place in the latter part of 1890.

In the Engineering and Mining Journal of Sept. 27, 1890, there was published a diagram and table of the statistics of the iron trade for 30 years, in connection with an article by Mr. William Kent on a thirty years' retrospect of the iron trade. In that article the following words were used concerning the outlook at that date:

"Judging of the future by the past, the diagram of pig iron production would indicate that the iron trade is now at a pinnacle of prosperity from which there must be a decline in a very short time; but judging from present indications of the actual condition of the trade and of the general prosperous condition of the country, together with the low prices now prevailing, there is not the slightest indication of any decline. The present outlook is one of continued increase in production and general prosperity."

Within less than two months after these words were written the financial panic appeared in London, and immediately the consumption and consequently the production of pig iron began to fall off. The event thus tends to prove that it is safer to make prognostications of the future of the iron trade from past history than from existing indications. The judgment of the future by the past, made in September, 1890, was strictly correct, while that made at the same time from the apparent condition of the country was altogether wrong.

At the present time, prognostications of all kinds are hazardous, for there has been at no time in the past history of the trade just such a condition as now exists. There never has been so sudden or so great a drop in production as at present. Past experience shows that a moderate decrease in production following a period of great activity lasts for three or four years; but we have no experience which will enable us to predict what will happen after a sudden decrease in six months which is nearly double the amount of any previous decrease in three years. The great decline in production in 1874 was followed by a continued but smaller decline in 1875. The great decline of 1884 was followed by a still further, but slight, decline in 1885. If the decline of 1891 should be followed in 1892, not by a further decline, but by an increase, it would be altogether unprecedented. But the decline itself is unprecedented, so that we are left without any statistical basis upon which to form a judgment.

Judgments based upon the present business outlook are, of course, quite uncertain. In favor of continued depression we have the still unsettled condition of finances in South America and Europe, the great exports of gold from this country, the stoppage of investments in new railroads and in new projects generally, and the uncertainty as to silver legislation. In favor of reaction from the depression we have the promise of abundant crops and greatly improved exports, the somewhat improved condition of general domestic business, and the apparent financial soundness of our mercantile firms. At the present time the latter seems to be the stronger element.

It seems to the MINING JOURNAL that the next encampment of the G. A. R. should be held at the National capital and this paper sincerely hopes the "vets" will vote to have it take place there. The time is not so far distant when the Grand Army will exist only as one of the glorious memories of the war in which it had its birth, and each succeeding year sees the grand old boys who stood between the Union and its threatened disintegration, when a senseless rebellion menaced its integrity gathering with rapidly thinning ranks at their annual reunion. Let them have one rouser before too many of those yet with us pass away, and at the seat of the government for whose preservation they suffered and risked so much. Washington is the place above all others for the next grand rally of the Grand Army, and if that city is chosen for it congress will be justified in straining its conscience a bit, and making an appropriation of a million or so to render it one to be forever remembered.

Hon. M. J. Doyle has quit the "Soo" and will be joining a resident of Iron Mountain, the seat of government of Dickinson county. The MINING JOURNAL thought it was madness on Doyle's part to dip into the Dickinson county fight so deeply last winter, but now sees that there was "method" in it. He has this paper's best hopes for his success professionally at Iron Mountain, but if he has political aspirations he would have done wisely to have remained at the "Soo." Dickinson county is going to prove that there's not much in a name when it comes to politics.

It is quite refreshing to hear a chap who palms off "plate" editorials on his handful of deluded readers prate about editorial dishonesty and mendacity. Why, the cub is so lacking in newspaper ability that he can't even lie in a gentlemanly, newspaper way. He ought to be sawing wood instead of newspaper plates, and would be if there were not a certain proportion of extremely "gullible" newspaper readers.

And still we are waiting to learn where Governor Winans will find his authority to appoint that "extra" World's Fair commissioner, by selecting whom from this peninsula he will fix things all right. Couldn't the fake daily afford to get out an "extra" containing the information, and thereby get a great, big double-leaded "scoop" upon all its contemporaries?

DETROIT is covering itself all over with glory in the splendid entertainment it is giving the G. A. R. veterans. If it were not a lower peninsula city we could almost be persuaded to feel proud of the state metropolis.

Curative Value of Hot Water. Even savages, whose point—not of civilization but of the want of it—is far below the boiling point, know the assuaging and comforting power of hot water. Long before America was trodden by other feet than theirs the various hot springs had been frequented by the Indians for the cure of their ills and ailments, and it is they who have often taught us the whereabouts of these Bethesda, and there are few more interesting sights today than one of these hot springs, where the steaming stream gushes from the mountain side, where the sick and the lame are brought on litters and go away dancing. It seems, in the case of the natural outflow of hot water from none knew what sources, as if old Mother Earth herself knew what was best for her children, and cooked at her central fires a life giving broth which puts to shame that broth with which Medea would have made the old young again.

Those who make use of such waters get to fancy that beyond the mere thermal benefit there is a tincture or magnetic or planetary force in them which makes them of double efficacy, but for our own part, heated though these waters be at fires born of the sun's own sacred fire, we doubt if the firstborn of man's ingenuity, kindled by the spark struck from his own brain, is not equally potent, and if the water that is boiled at home be not of quite as much worth to the ordinary individual as that of these upgushing superheated springs, and in the meantime we are sure that the household is the healthiest and safest, as well as the cleanest and sweetest, where there is always on hand a full supply of hot water; although far be it from us to advocate anything tending toward a support of domestic differences and contentions in the shape of "hot water."—Harper's Bazar.

Moltke and Bismarck. The memory of their joint past certainly ought to have brought Bismarck to the tier of Moltke, apart altogether from personal feeling. Of that, in the sense of friendship, there was not much between the two men. Often their relations were very much strained, and there was a period at Versailles when they were not on speaking terms, and communicated by letter. The king and Bismarck often differed from them, and when he put down his foot he was the master man. Wilhelm and his general were set on entering Vienna after Koniggratz, but Bismarck overruled them, and concluded the convention of Nikolsburg.

They were keen to go to war with France then, because of her officious interposition and heated threats; indeed, the order went to Roon to mobilize 350,000 fresh troops. "One at a time," was Bismarck's fiat, and he prevailed. Again in 1867 he overrode the joint eagerness of monarch and general to have it out with France. When it was necessary, as on the night of Sedan, when poor Wimpfen was the tool under the harrow which the pair dragged backward and forward, Moltke and Bismarck joined hands. Bismarck's book is full of expressions of irritation against Moltke on Bismarck's part during the Versailles period, and the latter never forgot nor forgave Wilhelm's words to Moltke in the Galerie des Glaces, that to him he owed the imperial dignity.—London World.

No Bids for the House. The ancient house at Jedburg, in which Mary Queen of Scots resided for several weeks during her visit to the border counties in the autumn of 1566, was offered for sale at Edinburgh last week, but there were no bids for the quaint and interesting dwelling, which was reserved at £2,300.—London Truth.

MILES' NERVE AND LIVER PILLS. An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. # SHOT HER LITTLE SON.

A Negaunee Woman Fools With an Old Revolver With the Usual Result.

MINE INSPECTOR BROAD SUDDENLY CALLED ABROAD.

A Much Esteemed Citizen Passes From Earth—Ore Cars in the Ditch.

THE REGULAR THING.

It was a woman this time who "didn't know it was loaded," and if the life of a child to whom she stands in the relation of mother does not prove the price of her folly she can count herself very fortunate.

The woman in this case (it is a shooting case, of course,) is Mrs. Rogers. Yesterday afternoon she happened to find an old, rusty revolver in the back yard of her dwelling and began toying with it, her children surrounding her in eager curiosity as she handled the dangerous plaything. Suddenly the weapon was discharged, sending a bullet into the head of her son Thomas. A surgeon was at once summoned, and succeeded in extracting the bullet, which entered over the eye. The lad was unconscious at a late hour last evening, but will probably recover. Mrs. Rogers is distracted over the outcome of her performance with the pistol, but she can consider herself very lucky indeed if nothing more serious comes of it than the fright it gave her to see her son fall, apparently slain by her hand, and the scar that will show what a close call he had.

Gone to England.

Mine Inspector A. Broad received a cablegram from his wife in England stating that she was very ill, the climate of the country not agreeing with her. Mr. Broad left for abroad on the afternoon train yesterday, and will bring his wife home. He will be absent about thirty days. There has been some talk among the mining men of this district of introducing the system of mining iron ore in vogue in the Lancashire mines of England as it is believed to be the most economical. Mr. Broad will examine the English mines before his return to learn if this is true and if so how far it would be advisable to make the change for the new system.

David Hooper Dead.

There has not a death occurred in this city in years which has been the cause of such regret to the working people and sorrow to the community as that of David Hooper, who departed this life Tuesday afternoon after a lingering illness of nearly three years duration. Mr. Hooper was a victim of dropsy, which disorder confined him to bed for the last year. Sunday he appeared to be feeling quite well, but toward evening a change for the worse set in and he died the next day.

David Hooper was born at St. Ansell, Cornwall, in 1824 and was consequently 67 years of age at the time of his death. He worked in the mines of that country, where he had every opportunity to learn the miner's trade, until he had attained his majority. In 1859 he removed to this country and one year later came to this place, which was then a mere hamlet with the old North Jackson pit as its leading industry. Mr. Hooper secured employment in the mine and gradually worked himself up until he became one of the company's most trusted employees. He continued to work for the company from year to year until taken with the ailment that caused his death. It is said of him that he taught more men the methods of practical mining than any man in this section, and his death is deeply deplored by those who have worked under his charge. He leaves a wife and three grown up children, all of whom are married, to mourn his demise. The funeral will take place this afternoon from the Methodist church and will no doubt be one of the largest ever seen in this city.

Ore Cars Ditched.

While a string of ore cars were being backed down a track in the C. & N. V. yard yesterday, a brakeman threw a switch the wrong way, and a collision ensued, the moving cars bringing up against a train standing on a side-track. Six of the cars went into the ditch, but nobody was hurt and the damage done was not serious.

A Skeptic About Color Photography.

A Boston expert says: I, for one, do not believe that the photographing of colors will ever be successfully accomplished, notwithstanding the reports circulated periodically to the effect that tints have been reproduced with permanence by the camera. Why not? Simply because there is no such thing as an effect produced by certain light rays upon the eye. The most beautifully iridescent mother of pearl, showing every hue of the rainbow, has no colors of its own. They are made solely by the wave like surface of the material, which decomposes the light as a prism does. Parallel lines scratched close together—a thousand or more to an inch—on ordinary glass will obtain the same result.

Indeed, it is not true to say that anything is red, or blue, or green in itself; it is simply that the surfaces of the objects in question are respectively of materials so constituted as to reflect rays in certain wave lengths. Upon the length of the light waves depend the tints. The most distinguished authority on this subject that ever lived, Dr. Helmholtz, is of the opinion that the eye actually receives but three primary color impressions, which by an ingenious internal arrangement of the organ are differentiated into a multitude of variations. There is no possibility of reducing such phenomena to a mechanical basis; and therefore color photography will never become a realized fact.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Unconquerable Foes.

The time is near when gunpowder shall have rid this planet of man eating mammals, but ages may pass before science will devise any protection against the attack of carnivorous sea monsters. A few days ago Senor Garcia and his mulatto servant were standing on the beach of San Lazaro, near Havana, Cuba, when a steamer entered the bay to treat his horses to the luxury of a cool bath. While the two men were watching the horses the rider was seen to disappear, and in a moment the water was discolored with his blood. The water was agitated for a short time, and then all was still.

There is no doubt that the man fell a victim to one of the numerous sharks which infest the bay. He was about thirty yards from the shore when a huge fish seized him, and the tragedy was so sudden and unexpected that it was impossible for the two observers on the beach to render the doomed man any assistance. The harbor of Havana is not the only tropical seaport infested with man eating sharks. They are exceedingly numerous in the Bay of Aden, of Bombay, Auckland and Batavia, and make bathing in the shorewater of Singapore almost impossible.—Philadelphia Times.

Bathing in the Park Fountain.

The policemen in the City Hall park have their hands full now that the warm weather has arrived, and with it the consequent flow of water in the fountain. About noon each day forty or fifty youngsters, mostly newsboys, gather about the pool and amuse themselves by sticking their heads and feet in the water, while others with sticks, strings and bent pins endeavor to snare the fish which some of them believe exist beneath its surface. One youth was sousing his head while, as he thought, the policeman was patrolling the opposite side of the park.

Another boy seized the bare legs which stuck up in air and pushed the bather's head about a foot under water. He was so engaged in this pleasing homicidal effort that he did not see the approach of the gray coated guardian until a rattan descended with telling effect. The immersed youth got a similar tanning, to the intense delight of the other boys. The officer says that it is a common thing for these boys to bathe in the fountain at night. As they have only two garments to get into, they can take a plunge, dress and get away before the guardian, who may be a block away, can reach them.—New York World.

Jockey Superstition.

For some reason or other the average colored jockey is so brimful of superstition that he can hardly get down to weight. Jack Crittenden, the well-known colored jockey, now living at Gloucester, would rather lose every race for a year than see a snake or a bullfrog. The stable boys discovered this the other day and one of them placed a dead snake in Jack's bunk. The poor little fellow, when he touched the clammy reptile, grew ashy in his terror, flew out of his stable into the night and no inducement strong enough has been found for his return. He firmly believes that the dead snake was an evil omen, and that he is hoodooed. Yesterday somebody slily placed a dead frog in Jack's pocket. The jockey firmly believes that the frog jumped into his pocket and died. To prevent a recurrence of this kind he crt every one of his pockets out yesterday afternoon and sewed up the openings.—Philadelphia Record.

Earrings and Bracelets in the Daytime.

Earrings worn in the daytime are said to be, and have been said to be for some time, hopelessly out of fashion. It takes more strength of mind than the average woman possesses, however, to leave her diamond solitaires at home when she is dressing for a day among the shops, and in consequence one sees a great many fashionably appearing women wearing earrings by daylight. Bracelets are really not worn while the sun shines any more, but when the innumerable lamps—are lighted, milady's slender wrists will scarcely hold the innumerable jeweled manacles with which she loves at the moment to adorn them.—New York Times.

A Big Alligator.

A large specimen of the alligator tribe was killed near Sylvan Grove, Kan. It measured nine feet in length and weighed 630 pounds. A farmer named Williams discovered the animal while working on his farm. The huge monster slipped at his leg and bit it off just above the knee joint.—Cor. Salt Lake Times.

Lost in the Colorado Desert.

John McGrath has received a letter under date of May 19 from Walters, on the Colorado desert, telling of the terrible fate of a miner who had lost his way on the desert. From the letter it is learned that two parties of prospectors, Miller and Masters and Bowen and his partner, were together, and that on May 4 Miller, as he was known, started from Cottonwood Springs for Walters to hunt his burro, which had gone astray. He had with him five quarts of water and provisions for one day.

Nothing was thought of the matter, and no one dreamed but that he got through all right. On the 11th the balance of the party went to Walters, and reaching there learned that Miller had not been seen. They immediately put back to search for him, and found his tracks where he took a cattle trail which would lead him to the Colorado river, in a direction directly opposite to Walters. As they had no provisions they could not follow the trail and returned to Walters. He has been given up for dead, as since the 4th of the month, if he had reached the river, he would have had time to return or to have written back to his companions.

Bowen sent to Los Angeles to Miller's friends to have them come and search for the missing man, but up to the date on which the letter was written no word had been received from them.—San Bernardino Times-Index.

A year ago only the fastest train between London and Aberdeen, 543 miles, ran in fourteen hours. Last autumn it was reduced to twelve hours and fifty minutes. This year it will cover the 543 miles in twelve hours, or a little over forty-five miles an hour.

MARINE MATTERS.

WHALEBACK AGROUND AND RELEASED.

SAULT STE. MARIE, August 5.—[Special.]—The whaleback steamer A. D. Thompson grounded yesterday afternoon on the Canadian side near the first red stake below Topsail Island. On shifting a portion of her cargo from forward aft she succeeded in releasing herself this morning without injury. On arriving at the canal she was found overloaded and was compelled to lighten 40 tons or more before passing the lock.

PASSED THE CANAL.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Up—Northern Wave, Republic, Langell Boys, Iron Age, Kirby, Winslow, Northern King, Ward, Sibley, Twin Sisters, A. L. Hopkins, A. D. Thompson, Sheriffs, Gawn, Tower, Wadena.

Down—Minneapolis, San Diego, Red Wing, Whitaker, Watson, Unadilla, Newark, Frankcomb, City of Duluth, Little, Pringle, Harrison, Sweetheart, Sunshine, Moran, Italia, Tacoma, Alberta, North Star, Tom Adams, Superior, Sandusky, Western Reserve.

PORT LIST.

Cleared—R. J. Hackett, H. H. Brown, S. E. Sheldon, S. P. Ely, Cleveland, Griffin, Buffalo.

REPORTORIAL PENICILLINGS.

Attend the band meeting tonight. Ishpeming vs Marquette today—'Ladies' Day.'

The Nester block is climbing along at an astonishing rate.

Hughes' party at Armory hall is the attraction for this evening.

Joslin is building a fine fruit stand on Washington street for Mrs. John Helmer.

The North Ends accept the challenge of the Union Stars for a game on August 9th.

New fences have made a decided improvement in the appearance of the powder mill location.

The foundation is now being built for E. O. Stafford's new residence at the corner of Arch and Cedar streets.

A very pleasant dancing party was given by some of the young business men of the city in the old Masonic hall last evening.

It is stated that parties recently carried a deer across the track at Sand River station in broad daylight. Here's a chance for Game Warden Ford to teach someone a lesson.

Louis Vierling has greatly improved the appearance of his place on Spruce street by removing his front fence. The council did a great act when it sat down on the cows.

Mr. and Mrs. Mulvihill lost the second of their twins yesterday, less than a week after the death of the first. They have the sympathy of the entire community in their terrible double bereavement.

The street cars were stopped about twenty minutes yesterday morning while a particularly violent electrical storm was passing over the power station. The heavy thunder storm later did not affect the machinery and the cars made their regular trips.

Hallstrom's beautiful double store in the Opera House block is now open to the public though his formal opening will not take place for several days as his goods are still arriving, a large contingent being expected today. The new store is a beauty in every way.

The city should remove the street lamps which are in seven different states of dilapidation from long disuse since the reign of electricity commenced in Marquette, and are far from ornamental to street corners. Boys have broken and battered them with stones, and they should be removed to some convenient store house.

PERSONAL MENTION.

D. H. Merritt arrived home yesterday.

G. H. Steiner, of Escanaba, is in the city.

W. E. Tyler was in town on railroad business yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Cowles, of Cleveland, are visiting the city.

R. J. Watters and F. A. Ely, of Ishpeming, were in the city yesterday.

W. K. Stafford came up from Milwaukee last evening for a short visit.

O. W. Johnson, formerly of St. Ignace but now of Racine, Wis., is in the city.

E. M. Stapp, representing the firm of E. H. Chase & Co., distillers of the celebrated Chase barley malt whisky, Louisville, Ky., is at the Clifton.

Miss Nellie Murray, of St. Ignace, a sister of J. H. Murray of the Mining Journal, is visiting in the city as the guest of the Misses Meahan, of West Ridge street.

SIMPLE CURE FOR COLIC.

"During the first ten months of my baby's life, she was troubled badly with colic, writes Mrs. E. D. Libby, of 18 Atlantic street, Portland, Me., 'but since we have used lactated food for her, she has been perfectly well.' Don't use dangerous drugs or medicines for the baby. Colic is indigestion and can only be cured by pure food. Experienced physicians recommend lactated food, and mothers and nurses fully endorse it.

"Marquette Illustrated"—For sale at Stafford's and Vanner's and Bigelow's. Price 50 cents per copy.

VOICE AND VIOLIN.

My stay in the city proving to be somewhat longer than I anticipated I have decided to take pupils in the branches named, and in sight-singing. I guarantee to teach anyone who has an "ear" to read music at sight. For the present lessons will be given at residence of pupil. E. L. BAILEY [7-16-17]

REMARKABLE FACTS.

Heart disease is usually supposed to be incurable, but when properly treated a large proportion of cases can be cured. Thus Mrs. Elmira Hatch, of Elkhardt, Ind., and Mrs. Mary L. Baker, of Ovid, Mich., were cured after suffering 30 years. S. C. Linburger, druggist at San Jose, Ill., says that Dr. Miles New Heart Cure, which cured the former, "worked wonder for his wife." Levi Logan, of Buchanan, Mich., who had heart disease for thirty years, says two bottles made him "feet like a new man." Dr. Miles New Heart Cure is sold and guaranteed by H. H. Stafford & Son. Book of wonderful testimonies free.

During the six months from May to December last 13,000 foreign immigrants entered London with an intention to remain, and out of 4,000 arriving during the course of last year by the line plying between Hamburg and Tilbury 80 per cent. were entirely destitute.

The spats are now worn to match the waistcoat by the swaggiest men. A buff colored spats and waistcoat is just about the snappiest thing the season has yet divulged.

Judge Sloan's Magnetic Pony.

Rather an interesting contest is in progress at the Santa Fe Land office, entitled the United States against O. F. Perry, and involving the latter's entry of 100 acres, which includes Monument rock, and is said to cover the Breeden mine, upon which J. M. Breeden has been at work for the past six years. It is the old conflict between agricultural and mineral lands. Judge Sloan on the witness stand said he originally located the Breeden mine in 1883, and afterward it was located by Breeden in 1885, who has since worked it almost continuously. Attorney Seward wanted to know if the judge rode his "old roan pony" when he first discovered the mine, and was answered in the affirmative.

The case will be on for several days yet and is being warmly contested on both sides. Reference to the "old roan pony" is of local interest because of the "magnetic influence" as frequently in times past claimed by Judge Sloan for this humble representative of the equine family, now supposed to be dead.

It is related that this pony was a veritable magnet for the discovery of gold, silver, lead or copper deposits; in fact, it is said that whenever, in going along any street, road or mountain path, he crossed ground beneath which was pay mineral, his hair would immediately stand erect, quite on end, "like the quills of the fretful porcupine," and that his rider, Judge Sloan, would receive a shock which warned him of the presence of mineral wealth beneath that ground, and this, it is said, is the secret of the judge's numerous mineral locations all over northern New Mexico.—Santa Fe (N. M.) Special.

Curious Instinct of the Horse.

It is not an uncommon thing in the Argentine pampas—I have on two occasions witnessed it myself—for a riding horse to come home or to the gate of its owner's house to die. I am speaking of riding horses that are never doctored nor treated mercifully, that look on their masters as an enemy rather than a friend; horses that live out in the open, and have to be hunted to the corral or enclosure, or roughly captured with a lasso as they run, when their services are required.

I retain a very vivid recollection of the first occasion of witnessing an action of this kind in a horse, although I was only a boy at the time. On going out one summer evening I saw one of the horses of the establishment standing unsaddled and unbridled, leaning his head over the gate. Going to the spot, I stroked his nose, and then, turning to an old native who happened to be near, asked him what could be the meaning of such a thing.

"I think he is going to die," he answered, "horses often come to the house to die." And next morning the poor beast was found lying dead not twenty yards from the gate, although he had not appeared ill when I stroked his nose on the previous evening, but when I saw him lying there dead and remembered the old native's words it seemed to me as marvelous and inexplicable that a horse should act in that way as if some wild creature—a rhea, a fawn or dilochotes—had come to exhale his last breath at the gates of his enemy and constant persecutor, man.—Longman's Magazine.

An Unhappy Family.

John Regan has among his collection of animals two most remarkable specimens, viz.—a cat and a dog. The latter is a small fox terrier, and some six months ago gave birth to a litter of pups which are now well grown. Puss some five days ago gave birth to three kittens. All went well the first day, but on the second Nellie, the dog, seemed to take an unaccountable fancy to the kittens and very calmly took possession of them, driving puss away.

Nellie watches over the kittens with jealous care, and snaps and snarls at their mother whenever she approaches. The dog is taken away from the kittens in the evening to give puss a chance to become acquainted with her offspring. Nellie keeps up a constant howling during the night, and when released in the morning is with the kittens in an instant, and puss is obliged to vacate the cherished post of wet nurse and betake herself to a chair, which she occupies all day with the air of a policeman on duty.—San Francisco Alta.

Over and Over with His Parachute.

The most thrilling balloon ascension ever given in southern Illinois was that given at Duquoin by Professor Ned Hathaway. Ten thousand people witnessed the start, which was made in the face of a strong wind. Fully 2,500 feet high did the balloon go before the very professor cut loose, and down he came at a mile a minute gait, the parachute not working at all. The lad tumbled over three times. Gaining a fresh hold, he straightened out 500 feet from the ground, which he struck with terrible force. Every one thought him dead. He was taken to the Tingley House with only a severe shaking up.—Cor. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

It is reported that the observers at Mount Hamilton have lately kept a sharp eye turned upon the shadow of one of the moons of Jupiter. This shadow seemed double, indicating that the tiny moon which cast it is also double. Since the first hint of the discovery many observations have been made through the Lick glass, all tending to confirm the original impression, to wit: That this particular satellite of the greatest of planets is double—a dot of a moon revolving around the main moon.

THE PATEK, PHILIPPE & CO. WATCH.

No watch in the history of horology has ever attained to such prominence as the "Patek, Philippe & Co." It has been awarded the highest premiums at all the great national expositions of the world. The great reputation it now enjoys has not been accorded to it from any one watch specially made by Messrs. Patek, Philippe & Co. for exhibition purposes, but from their general uniformity of excellence and superiority. The most prominent jewelers of the United States now carry the Patek, Philippe & Co., as their best watch.

Skeleton and Corpse Side by Side. Muncie, Ind., is enjoying a sensation attendant on the opening of a house which has been closed up for years and the discovery of a freak perhaps as remarkable as ever entered a human mind.

His health in a few years became wretched, and one day the unhappy man sought a prominent lawyer of Muncie, and announcing his intention of traveling for the restoration of his strength.

Recently, however, his heirs, concluding he was dead, had the house entered, and found in one of the upper rooms the embalmed body of Mrs. Mutterhorn, elegantly attired and reclining on a sofa.

Mutterhorn is known to have been a fine amateur chemist, and it is supposed that he privately exhumed his wife's body, embalmed it and kept it continually in his sight, till, feeling himself about to die, he resolved to shut himself up with his treasure and meet death at its side.

There is no way of identifying lost coin, and the person in this instance who shipped his gold in a flimsy wrapper probably never be able to prove his claim to the money now held by Uncle Sam.

A Plea for City Playgrounds. City children are undoubtedly happy in their play, but I cannot watch them without sadness and a regret that the fuller pleasures of a country life will never be theirs at the time they are best fitted to enjoy them.

We cannot give all these children homes in the country, we cannot give them all even an outing there; but we can give them playgrounds in the city; a very little plot here and there will do.

What better investment could our cities make than to purchase small plots like this at intervals throughout the city, tear down the buildings, fill up the cellars, and leave them, with no forbidding sign, open to the children.
