FIELD OF STARK'S GLORY.

Battle Monument at Bennington, Vt., Is Dedicated With Appropriate Ceremonies.

THE HON. EDWARD J. PHELPS' ELOQUENT ADDRESS.

Lofty Obelisk That Commemorates the First Check to Burgoyne's Victorious Advance on Albany.

HISTORIC BENNINGTON.

BENNINGTON, Vt., Aug. 19.—Imposing ceremonies marked the dedication of the largest battle monument in the world, erected to commemorate the sanguinary battle of August 16, 1777, when John Stark, the honest old New Hampshire farmer, and the heroes under his command won what is known to history as the battle of Bennington, a victory that culminated a few weeks later in the surrender of Burgoyne at Saratoga and the ultimate defeat of the British forces and which was closely followed by the accession of Vermont to the original thirteen states of the Union.

The quaint old town is gaily decorated in honor of the day and the event, while triumphal arches span the principal streets. Thousands of strangers from all parts of the state, as well as from Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont arrived during the night and morning to give eclat to the event. Col. W. Seward Webb, accompanied by a mounted Grand Army post, escorted President Harrison, the principal guest of the day, from General McCullough's house to the Soldiers' Home, where Governor Page and all the living ex-governors of the state were waiting to greet him. The president was escorted into the house, where he remained a short time while he was introduced to the distinguished guests. He then resumed his place in the carriage which with the other vehicles took their places in the line. At 9 o'clock the boom of Fuller's battery gave the signal for the formation of the divisions and at 10:30 o'clock the procession moved with the Putnam Phalanx of Hartford in the position of honor as escort to the president in the van with a score of distinguished guests.

The camp grounds where the Soldiers' Home is situated and where the Vermont National Guard has been in camp for several days, were filled with people when the procession moved. The president doffed his hat in salute to every manifestation of applause. When all were in their places, and quiet had been secured, Wheelock G. Veazey, ex-commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. arose, advanced to the front of the platform and addressed the vast concourse. He said:

GENERAL VEAZEY'S WELCOME.
We stand at the point where Stark had brought volunteers from New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Vermont in August, 1777, to defend the military stores here collected and to operate in his discretion upon the flank of the hostile army which in its southward movement through the Champlain valley invaded the western borders of the territory of Vermont. Measured by consequences and the verdict of history, it was a battle of surpassing importance. It is this fact that accounts for the erection of this massive structure a century after Burgoyne had the sudden attack of heart failure when he heard of the result at Bennington. It is this fact that accounts for the presence of president and cabinet, governors and statesmen, from so many parts of the broad land that now constitute our country. To each and all of her sons and daughters immediate and remote, here and beyond her borders, Vermont extends her hand and heart with one universal acclaim of deep, sincere welcome. In the arrangement of the long program it is appointed that the first part, which will pertain more especially to this monument, shall be here enacted, and with becoming reverence, the exercises will be opened by prayer.

The Rev. Charles Parkhurst, LL. D., of Boston, editor of Zion's Herald, then offered prayer. At the conclusion of the prayer, Gov. C. S. Page was introduced, and delivered the address of welcome. The governor's remarks were handsomely applauded and ex-Governor Prescott of New Hampshire, president of Bennington Battle Monument association, was received with enthusiasm as he stepped forward to transfer the monument, the result of the association's many years of effort. Mr. Prescott spoke as follows:

PRESENTED THE MONUMENT.
"YOUR EXCELLENCE: My duty on this occasion is simple and I should transcend it if I attempted to recite the events preceding and at the battle of Bennington. That duty has been committed to a gentleman whose ripe scholarship and graceful eloquence admirably qualify him for the effort and to whom this vast concourse of people will be delighted to listen. I will, however, allude to a few facts, purely historical, as this event may justify such a recital."

Then followed a statement of historical facts covering the inception of the monument, its progress and consummation. Then said the speaker: "We gather today to dedicate and to consecrate. And now, Sir in this distinguished presence, I, as president of the Bennington Battle Monument association, in its behalf and by its direction, now transfer through you, as governor, to the state of Vermont, this monument, erected to commemorate one of the most decisive battles of the Revolution and this deed conveys the title to the property."

Governor Page accepted the noble offering in an appropriate but brief speech. Music followed and the president of the day, General Veazey, came forward leading the distinguished scholar, diplomat and orator, Edward J. Phelps. A roar of applause greeted their appearance and when the last murmur had died away, Mr. Phelps delivered the oration of the day. He said:

MR. PHELPS' ADDRESS.
Vermont consecrates today her first historic monument, but not hers alone. New Hampshire and Massachusetts, who fought with her in Bennington, have joined in erecting this memorial to their common history and they are here by a splendid representation to share in the triumph of its completion and to give to the occasion, by the distinction of their presence, a higher dignity, a more generous grace. The day has a still larger significance. It is trebly fortunate. It marks not only the anniversary of the battle and happy consummation in this structure of the exertions of fifteen years, but likewise the centennial entrance of Vermont into the federal union. It unites in its suggestions the memories and the great hope in the life of our commonwealth, the expiring century and the limitless future. It is fit that we should signalize such an occasion. It is appropriate and gratifying that the chief magistrate of the nation should be at such a time our most honored guest. In this scene, party differences are forgotten. We are only Americans, and in loyalty to that great office and to respect for the incumbent who fills it so well, we are all this day on the president's side.

"T'WAS A SACRED BATTLE. All its pages are stained with blood. It would be well for history if their memory could perish. New Hampshire sent her hastily embodied militia, not the less untried volunteers in Vermont and Massachusetts it was the spontaneous uprising of a rural and peace-loving population to resist invasion, to defend the rights of the people, to vindicate the right of self-government. Lexington and Bunker Hill were in this respect its only parallels in the revolutionary war. The march of Burgoyne from Canada to the Hudson had been till then a continuous victory. He was a brave and skillful soldier, leading a well-appointed and powerful army. Concord, the key and stronghold of the northern frontier, had fallen by an unexpected attack without a blow. The Vermonters retreating thence had been overtaken and utterly defeated at Hubbardton. The advance of the British to Stillwater had been almost unopposed and there was as yet no promise of effectual resistance. Even Washington, steel-plum against despair, wrote that he saw how Burgoyne's march to Albany could be checked. The situation of the inhabitants of the Hampshire grants was most critical. The whole frontier was open to incursions of an enemy whose soldiers were savages. The people had been totally neglected by congress; not a step had been taken for their relief. Scattered sparsely through the country on their farms, without any organized state government, almost destitute of the materials of war, except the firearms in their houses, they still had.

NO THOUGHT OF SUBMISSION. They called upon God first in prayer of fasting and prayer, appointed by their convention, and not only appointed, but solemn kept. And then they called upon New Hampshire and John Stark, New Hampshire ablaze with patriotic feeling, they called upon the brave and gallant march. Stark's reply was brief, for he was not a man of words.

"I am on the way," said he, "with all the men I can muster." With the eye of a true soldier he saw that the Vermonters were right when they declared that there could be no frontier but a frontier of armed men; that the Hampshire grants were to be defended because they had resisted to whom the gates of the country were thus thrown open; and that the effectual blow against Burgoyne must be struck on his flank.

Full justice has been done in history and tradition to the bravery and the patriotism of John Stark. But his great qualities as a general have not been set forth as they deserve. In the piece of military work seen in the revolution, though he did in that brief and sudden campaign. He concentrated the scattered militia at Charleston with a rapidity that was marvelous. It was impeded by the want of the most necessary and ordinary supplies.

"Detained," he wrote, "for lack of bullet-moulds, and but one pair in town," for they had their own bullets to cast; "desperate," he wrote again, "seven of camp-kettles," striving in vain to get three or four field pieces mounted; the powder he had depended upon half spoiled.

Yet, receiving his orders on the 22nd of July, when the militia were all at their homes, he marched with the last of them from Charleston on the 3rd of August. On the 7th he was at Manchester, through the wilderness and across the Green Mountains, by the worst of roads and without any adequate transportation. On the 9th he was at Bennington with his own forces and the Massachusetts and Vermont men organized the 15th he engaged the enemy; on the 16th the battle was fought.

If there had been no battle at all such celerity and precision of movement with an irregular force, in the face of such difficulties, would alone have been generalship of the highest order.

Continuing the speaker gave a detailed account of the movements of both commands and their aims, a story familiar to all who have read American revolutionary history.

The oration was received in the most appreciative manner and applause greeted the finish as the beginning, which was renewed with increased intensity as President Harrison was introduced and spoke of his gratification at being present.

It was late in the afternoon when the president finished and the exercises, long to be remembered in the annals of the Green Mountain state, were brought to a close with music and the benediction.

THE GREAT BATTLE MONUMENT. For nearly fifty years there has been more or less preparation for the building of the monument. The first organized effort was in 1853. The cost of the monument and site has been, in round numbers, $100,000. Massachusetts contributed $10,000, New Hampshire $7,500, the national government $40,000 and Vermont $15,000. The remainder has been raised by private subscriptions. The monument stands on a commanding site, 283 feet above the Waltonsack river. The foundation of the monument is the solid rock of the mountain on the top of which was situated the Bennington of the revolution. The structure is an obelisk of native stone, and faced with Sandy Hill dolomite. The height to the top is 301 feet 11 1/2 inches. The monument at the base is 37 feet 4 inches by 37 feet 4 inches, running to a point at the top. The look-out room is 188 feet above the foundation and is reached by an iron stair case. From this look-out the battlefield is plainly visible seven miles away.

BLAINE FOR PRESIDENT.

Pennsylvania Republican Convention Endorses Man From Maine With Wild Enthusiasm.

RESOLUTIONS ARE WITHDRAWN THOUGH ACTUALLY PASSED.

Object of Blaine's Friends Is Fully Obtained Without Formal Record of Yea and Nay Vote.

SLAP AT THE PRESIDENT.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 19.—10 o'clock was the hour announced for the opening of the republican convention this morning but it was not until 10:40 that Chairman Andrews of the state central committee made his way to the speaker's desk at the front of the stage of the opera house and called the convention to order. Henry Hall of Mercer was chosen temporary chairman. Mr. Hall, after thanking the assemblage for the honor conferred upon him, called upon his hearers to get together. "There is no room for differences this year," he said. "Individual ambition should be subordinated to the public good. With a united and harmonious party the battle shall be fought and shall be won. In the presence of the common enemy let us roll up a republican majority." Mr. Hall eulogized the republican principles of protection, an honest ballot and reciprocity. He urged that the Keystone state maintain its opposition to free trade and free silver. Mr. Hall closed his speech with a brilliant peroration. His reference to "That republican of republicans, that leader of leaders, James G. Blaine, of Maine," called forth vociferous applause and waving of flags.

ENTHUSIASM FOR BLAINE. The platform formally endorses the administration of President Harrison, the administration of the postoffice department and advertising to the administration of international affairs says:

"It has been with especial gratification that the republicans of this commonwealth have observed the brilliant administration of the state department by one of Pennsylvania's native sons, whose superb diplomacy has electrified the hearts of all Americans, exacted from foreign peoples a degree of respect and admiration for the United States flag hitherto unequalled, and opened wide to us in other lands commercial gates heretofore barred. These magnificent achievements justify the confidence and furnish new occasion for us now to reaffirm the loyalty and devotion of the republicans of Pennsylvania to her most distinguished son, the Hon. James G. Blaine."

The action of the late republican congress in passing the McKinley bill in conformity with the national pledge to protect the interests of American labor and its action in providing for the purchase and coinage of all the silver produced from all American mines is endorsed and the party's unbending devotion to the welfare of the ex-union soldier and sailor is affirmed. Touching state affairs the democratic administration of Governor Pattison in vetoing the apportionment bill passed by the late republican legislature and in negating other legislation having in view the material and moral interests of the people of Pennsylvania is denounced.

BLAINE FOR PRESIDENT. There was some opposition to the Blaine plank in the platform as reported by the committee. As originally prepared the plank endorsed Mr. Blaine as the most available candidate for the presidency in 1892. The committee struck out this, but Mr. Culbertson of Millin, moved its re-insertion as an amendment as follows:

"In view of his magnificent achievements in diplomacy and statecraft we earnestly express the hope that the republican national convention of 1892 may place in unanimous nomination for the presidency—which nomination we feel assured will be followed by a triumphant election—the Hon. James G. Blaine of Pennsylvania and Maine."

Mr. Culbertson made an impassioned speech to the effect that Mr. Blaine should be endorsed. Mr. Willard, of Lackawanna, declared that no man had done more for James G. Blaine than himself yet he did not consider that this was the proper time for the passage of such a resolution. The question on the adoption of the amendment was put and amid some confusion and much cheering declared carried, but the decision was reconsidered upon protests from various parts of the house. Just as a demand for the yeas and nays was about to be complied with Mr. Culbertson withdrew his amendment and the platform was adopted.

The following ticket was nominated: State auditor, H. D. McM. Gregg, Berks county; state treasurer, John W. Morrison, A. Lehigh county.

MINES RESUMING WORK.

Feeling of Increased Confidence on the Gogebic Range. ASHLAND, Wis., Aug. 19.—The Trezona and a number of other mines on the Gogebic range have resumed operation. The fact is considered significant in mining circles and will increase the season's output 20 per cent. The feeling was never better. Over twenty options are now under way and the capacity of the range will be increased by fully one third next year.

A SITE for Ashland's $100,000 federal building has been decided on and purchased by the government, and the people there expect that work will be started on the building this fall and that it will be completed during the present fiscal year.

AMONG the brightest of the bright papers printed in the northwest are the Leader of Superior city and the Herald of Duluth.

A MOVEMENT has been started in Minnesota, and has gained some headway, to have a special session of the legislature called to consider the advisability of having the appropriation made last winter for the exhibit from that state at the World's Fair increased from $50,000 to $150,000.

THE Grand Rapids Telegram-Herald has this comment on the MINING JOURNAL's presentation of Mr. White's name in connection with the place on the World's Fair commission, made vacant by Burt's declination, and its argument in support of the proposition that he is the right man for the place.

THE MINING JOURNAL, a republican paper, remarks: "If Gov. Winans will name Mr. Peter White, of this city, to take Mr. Burt's place, the MINING JOURNAL feels sure there can be $50,000 raised in the upper peninsula counties to render the exhibit from this region one of which the whole state will have reason to be proud.

THE Superior Leader resents this paper's assumption that the "boom" (we are unable to coin any other term that would properly apply to it) which has been running there for the past three years is sustained to any appreciable extent by the expenditure of money raised by taxation and the sale of bonds in carrying on municipal improvements, such as grading and paving streets, building sidewalks, constructing sewers, etc.

MINING JOURNAL's opinion that if the city work now under way, to pay for which municipal bonds are being issued at the rate of $150,000 or over per month, were to be suspended for any considerable interval there would be an exodus from Superior that would tell perceptibly on its population and business.

Yesterday's News in and About the City Briefly Chronicled.

The reporter visited the Johnson saw mill yesterday afternoon and found a large force of men busy at work about the mill. On his arrival he was kindly taken in hand by Mr. Neeley, who is running the mill again this year, and was shown through the entire concern. The mill has never been run during the winter months and was started up this season a few weeks before the opening of navigation. It is now being run to its utmost capacity so as to have all the logs on hand cut up and the lumber remaining unsold stocked before the winter sets in and the lake freezes over. Over 2,000,000 feet of logs are now stacked at the landing near the Cambria location and the lake in front of the mill. This far exceeds the supply on hand at the corresponding date last year. Logs are also being received by the car load every day from Gauthier's camps and other logging stations down the road, and the supply from this source alone would keep the mill running. The mill has for the past four weeks been turning out 60,000 feet of lumber every day, and thirty-five men, not including boys, are constantly employed. A road was put through this spring to the log-landing half a mile above the mill and most of the logs are now hauled down to the mill instead of being towed down on the lake. The mill is being well handled, is doing good work, and is one of the best of our local industries.

A good time is promised to all who attend the '92 dance at McDonald's hall this evening. The club has spared no pains to make the dance a success and everything in the way of music and refreshments will be provided. Three bus loads will come down from Ishpeming.

An interesting fight between a hawk and a flock of sparrows over Teal lake was witnessed by the waterworks engineer yesterday afternoon. The hawk after a hard battle was forced to take refuge in a clump of bushes on the shore.

The part of Gold street south of the D. S. S. & A. depot is now about the best piece of street which this city can boast of. It has been dressed with pulverized rock, which is the cheapest and most lasting material procurable.

The Blind Boone Concert Co., will give a concert at the Methodist church next Thursday evening. The company is one of the best now touring through the northwest and is highly praised by the press.

The funnels of steamers. Few people have any idea of the size of the funnels on the great ocean steamers. If you ask the first half dozen people you meet for their estimate it is not likely that one of them will name a figure one-half the actual size. Most persons would say that the diameter of the largest steamer funnel is four to six feet and would wag their heads as if they were not to be trifled with. How far from the actual size such guesses are may be understood when it is stated that the funnel of the Etruria measures a little over eighteen feet in diameter. At even a short distance away this can hardly be believed. It gives an idea of the enormous size of the big steamers. We have grown so accustomed to them nowadays that we accept them as a matter of course.—Blakely Hall in Brooklyn Eagle.

Experiments with Dry and Moist Air. A series of experiments has been made with regard to the familiar fact that not only dry high temperatures are more easily borne than moist, but dry cold causes much less discomfort than moist cold. Dogs, fasting or fed, being observed in an air calorimeter, it appeared that in all cases moist air increased the loss of heat by conduction and radiation.—New York Times.

Honiton, the royal lace, is made upon a pillow. Each spring is worked separately, then all joined to the clear net ground. Making it employs the women and children of half a dozen counties. There are lace schools in several of them, to which children go as early as three years of age as well as girls, but seldom practice the art after the age of fifteen.

The sweet and luscious grapes are eaten with great relish by horses, cows and sheep. Deer are fond of grapes, and often do much damage in California vineyards. Hogs fatten upon grapes, rabbits love them and a number of the wild animals, as the elephant and camel, will eat them.

STARTLING FACTS. The American people are rapidly becoming a race of nervous wrecks, and the following suggests the best remedy: Alphonso Hempling, of Butler, Pa., swears that when his son was speechless from St. Vitus dance Dr. Miles' great restorative nerve cured him. Mrs. J. R. Miller, of Valparaiso, and J. D. Taylor, of Logansport, Ind., each gained 30 pounds from taking it. Mrs. H. A. Gardner, of Vista, Ind., was cured of 40 to 50 convulsions a day, and much headache, dizziness, backache and nervous prostration by one bottle. Write for free book of marvelous cures, free at H. H. Stafford & Son's who recommends and guarantees this unequalled remedy.

When Births Occur. There is no question that, in common with deaths, births occur more frequently by night than by day. This question has been often disputed, and was authoritatively settled by Dr. West, who kept a record of 2,619 cases which he attended, with a result that they were found to have taken place as follows: Seven hundred and eighty from 11 p. m. to 7 a. m., 692 from 7 a. m. to 3 p. m., 577 from 3 p. m. to 11 p. m.—London Tit-Bits.

SOME WOMEN'S WAYS.

How They Exasperate Passengers by Their Inconsiderate Conduct.

Woman, with child, ascends the first flight of stairs of the "L" road station at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and Eighth avenue. Meets colored porter sweeping the stairs in search of a nickel, with a firm determination not to kick at anything of a larger denomination. Woman to Porter—To which side should I go to take a downtown train? Porter to Woman—The uptown side, ma'am—this way.

Woman to Porter—Well that's queer; the uptown side to take the downtown train. Porter to Woman—Curious, sho', ma'am; dat's what fo'ks all says, ma'am; but— Woman to Porter—Are you sure? Porter to Woman—Sho's I'm a niggah. She eyes the porter scrutinizingly. Woman to Child—Guess the man must be right. Come, deary.

Woman and "Deary" ascend the second flight of stairs. "Deary" is but a tot, and must wait till he has both feet on one step before putting another foot forward. They block the stairs. Several men in a hurry (they abound in Harlem) try to dodge and pass them. Fools that they are! They can't have traveled much on the "L" roads. Woman and "Deary" eventually reach the door. Woman holds the door for "Deary" to get in and slams it on next man's nose. It all goes. She goes to the ticket window and asks: "Is this the right way to go down town?" "Yes'm," answers the urbane and garrulous ticket agent.

"Well, that's queer." Then she gets out a search warrant for her pocket. It reminded her of the search for the hoodlum alderman of 1888. But she finally accomplishes a feat I would never attempt. She finds it. She delves into it, inserts her entire plump forearm into it. To her amazement it is empty. She is suddenly struck by an idea which is whispered to her by an impatient man in a hurry, and becomes conscious of the fact that she holds her pocketbook in her left hand. Oh, dear! How stupid of her! She opens her pocketbook, does out four pennies to the ticket seller, one at a time, but to save her soul she can't find the fifth one. She finally gets a two dollar bill changed. She has no sooner received her ticket than she finds that truant penny and wants to get her bill back. The urbane and garrulous ticket agent pays no attention to her request, and exchanges ticket for a nickel with the next man in a hurry. She finally reaches the ticket chopper's box.

"Is this the right way to go down town?" she presently asks before putting her ticket in the box. "Yes'm." "Come, Deary. This man's mighty curt" (sighing).

A train is at the station. Scores of men in a hurry shove or jump over Deary's head and stampered for that train. The going rings, the greatest stockholder of the road slams the gate with a grin, and scores of men in a hurry get left and have to wait for at least a quarter of a minute for the next train, which they employ in bestowing blessings upon the heads of Deary and his cicerone. The woman finally reaches the man who owns the station platform and inquires: "Is this the right way to go down town?" "Yes'm."

Another train thunders by. The woman and "Deary" soon find themselves opposite the gate, blocking it. To me assuredly sure she inquires of the conductor: "Is this the right way to go down town?" "Yes'm—be lively—both gates," is the official reply, in Susan Nipper style. Woman and "Deary" are bundled into the first car by the impatient passengers, and as she takes her seat hesitatingly I hear her soliloquize, "That's queer!" It was.—New York Herald.

Going to See His Sister. There arrived at the Union depot a boy of thirteen, who told a most interesting story of his life while waiting for a St. Paul train.

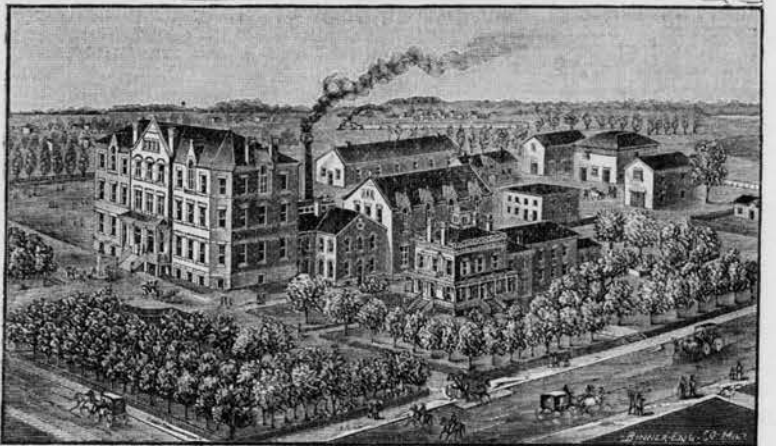

He is a bright little fellow, and his dress and bearing indicated careful rearing. In telling his story to the depot master he said: "My parents died when I was quite young. I resided with my parents in New York city. When I was eight years of age I was playing with some strange boys in Central park, and they lost me just for a joke. I wandered about until dark, and then became so frightened that I could not tell the policeman who found me what my name was nor where I lived. I was kept at the station that night, and the next day I started out to find my way home.

"The officers did not see me go, and as I was afraid to go back there I would not ask anybody to direct me. Two days later I was picked up and sent to the Children's Aid Mission, and there I went to school and helped about the place as much as possible. They made several efforts to find my sister, but I could not remember the number or street.

"Two months ago the priest in charge saw an advertisement in one of the papers offering a reward for Eddie Cook, and then giving a description of me as I looked five years ago. The answer was to be sent to Minneapolis, and this the priest did. It turned out that it was my sister, who had married and gone to that city. I wrote several times to her and she answered the letters, and now I am going to meet her."—Chicago News.

Opening Safes Is Easy Work. An expert not long ago chagrined the treasury officials by opening the vaults without a knowledge of the combinations. Now here is a method by which any ordinary burglar with a slight knowledge of electricity can "crack" the strongest safe built with dispatch and without noise. Let him connect the safe with one pole of an electric machine and putting a carbon point on the other pole, place it against the safe at the spot desired to work upon. In a few minutes the action of the current will soften the iron or steel to such an extent that it will be comparatively easy to cut. If the burglar is an electrician he can utilize the electric light wire for the purpose.—Boston Transcript.

FLOREORIS.

If you would have your house plants blossom as blooms the garden rose, then use FLOREORIS.

A Correct Analysis

Of Floreoris will show: Nitrogen 4 to 6 per cent. Ammonia 4 to 5. Soluble and Available Phos. 4 to 5. Total Phosphoric Acid 8 to 10. Potash (K₂O) 4 to 5.

This will make apparent to the agricultural chemist and to the scientific horticulturist that this article of plant-food contains in combination, and in the right proportions, the chemical elements entering into the composition of plants, thus making it an incomparable.

FLOWER FOOD

Cleanly, innocuous, harmless to handle, capable of producing better results than the organic, disease-breeding manures usually applied to house plants, and equally well adapted for use upon parlor plants and with plants in the conservatory or garden. One package of this plant-food will suffice to fertilize fifteen plants for four months.

Price, by mail, postpaid, one package 20 cents. Price, by express, not prepaid, one package, 30 cents. Four packages for $1.00.

CRACK NEW YORK CREW WINS A HARD FOUGHT RACE.

Events of Closing Day of National Association of Amateur Oarsmen Regatta—Base Ball

BRAWNY OARSMEN CONTENT.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The second and last day of the regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen opened with beautiful weather, smooth water, a clear course and everything essential to good racing. The main feature and one in which the most interest was centered was the last on the program—the eight-oared race by the Atlantas, Varunas, Fairmounts and Columbias. This race was the most exciting of the day and though the press boat was unable to be nearer than half a mile at the finish for want of sufficient steam power it is said the finish was intensely close and interesting and the time made shows that all crews started from the beginning to the end. No amateur record was broken in the day's contest but the average time made was good and oarsmen say that in every respect the meeting was the most successful ever held.

TEUTONIC BEATS THE RECORD.

White Star Line Flyer Cuts Down Western Passage

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The White Star Line steamer Teutonic, which arrived here this morning from Liverpool, beat the record for western passages. Her time from the bar at Queenstown to Sandy Hook was 5 days, 16 hours and 31 minutes. This is 1 hour and 37 minutes faster than the time of her sister ship, the Majestic, on her last trip from Liverpool, and then made the fastest westward passage up to that time. One day the Teutonic steamed 517 miles, which also beats the record.

CRUSHED AND CREMATED.

Horrible Scenes at German Railway Wreck—Ten Persons Killed.

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—Two passenger trains going at full speed collided at a point between Ostrowo and Loswitz, in German Poland. Ten persons were killed and many injured. The coals from the locomotive set fire to the wreck and terrible scenes were witnessed, some of the injured being burned to death before the eyes of the rescuers.

Tired of Life's Struggles.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—This morning the dead body of George E. Melcher was found in bed in a hotel here. He was asphyxiated and from the appearance of things it is thought he committed suicide. From papers found on his person it was certain that he lived in this city and had been agent for the Northern Steamship line but was out of work and money.

ACCUSED OF SWINDLING.

Charges Against Hugh McLaughlin, Postmaster and Prominent Citizen of Iron Mountain.

ALLEGED EMBEZZLEMENT OF CONSIDERABLE SUMS.

Civil Suits Have Been Instituted and Criminal Charges Will Be Preferred Against McLaughlin.

HUGH McLAUGHLIN'S FALL.

IRON MOUNTAIN, Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Hugh McLaughlin of this city is charged with swindling his partner, Henry Devere, and of being a defaulter in his accounts with E. G. St. Clair of Ishpeming and several insurance companies which he represented here. Papers are being prepared in several suits against McLaughlin and a warrant for his arrest on a charge of embezzlement will be sworn out. McLaughlin is not in the city but is supposed to be somewhere on the range. McLaughlin was postmaster of this city during the Cleveland administration and has since been a prominent insurance man and real estate dealer. He took a very prominent part in the movement for the establishment of the Iron Mountain lobby at Lansing during the recent session of the legislature. McLaughlin was very popular and held a high place in this community and the exposure of his crookedness has created an intense sensation.

COMMON COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

A special meeting of the common council of the City of Marquette was held in the council room on Monday the 17th day of August, A. D. 1891. Mayor Longyear presiding.

There were present Aldermen Agnew, Hennessey, Johnson, Kearney, McGregor, Moore, Pendill, Powell, Seigel, Stafford and Todd.
The regular order of business was on motion dispensed with.
Alderman Desjardins appeared and took his seat.
The time for the collection of the following special assessment tolls was extended to the 24th day of October, A. D. 1891, to wit: For grading and macadamizing Fifth street from Superior street to the north line of Fisher street, and for grading, curbing and macadamizing Fairview from Presque Isle road to Powder Mill road.
The time for collection of the following special assessment tolls was extended to the 14th day of September, A. D. 1891, to wit: For grading, curbing and macadamizing Morton street from Fourth street to Lee street, and for grading, curbing and macadamizing Washington street from station "3 plus 8" to station "13."

Mrs. Oscar Wilde's Dining Room.

A new scheme for dining room decoration is to carry a shelf round the room from fourteen to sixteen inches below the ceiling. Blue and white plates, of the willow patterns, arranged on this at short distances apart make a most effective frieze. Mrs. Oscar Wilde's home near the Chelsea embankment is said to be one of the most original. The dining room, instead of being like any other, is in white, with the shelf spoken of filled with small plates, mostly Limoges, in white, with tiny flowers scattered over them and gold scalloped edges. Only such pieces of furniture as are absolutely necessary are allowed here. The study is a decidedly Pompeian, with blocks of marble bearing inscriptions let into the wall. In the drawing room etchings take the place of the marble tablets. Quaint settees, with high, white backs and sage green cushions, are conspicuous articles of furniture.
Mrs. Wilde herself is quite original in her dress as in her home. She is one of the disciples of Mrs. Hancock's "coming dress" theory and may be seen in that peculiar garb, which is a sort of combination of the divided skirt and Turkish trousers, made of soft India cashmere, worn with a short full under bodice and sleeves of terra cotta silk. Over this she wears a little jacket of black velvet resembling the Eton, with sharp pointed fronts. Black silk hose and black buckled slippers complete her costume.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Where Energy Comes From.

"All the energy in the world," said Dr. C. F. Chandler, in a lecture before the Columbia School of Mines, "comes from sunshine. Even the energy in the electric battery that rings the doorbells of our homes has its origin in the light of the great solar system. The force in the copper wire that sets the bell ringing comes from the zinc plate in the battery jar. The energy in the zinc plate comes from the sunlight that with which it was burned when taken from the mines, and finally, the energy in the anthracite coal was put there by the sunlight that fed and nourished it when it existed, ages ago, as trees and plants."—Exchange.

The Countryman Was Slick.

A well dressed man attracted a crowd of gaping onlookers round him by a number of ingenious and skillfully executed tricks with a pack of cards, and at last shuffling the cards several times and slapping them down on his knee, he said:

"I'll bet any man that I can cut the knave of diamonds at the first attempt!"

Every one hung round him as a crowd, until a green, gawky looking individual pushed his way forward.
"Mister," he questioned, "may I take a squint at them keards?"
"Certainly," replied the professional as he handed them over. The countryman inspected them suspiciously, and then, apparently satisfied, returned them, but did not take the bet.

"The cards are all right, aren't they?" the professional asked.
"Yas," the countryman said, hesitatingly.
"Why don't you take my bet, then?"
"Well, I don't know; I ain't much of a betting man."

The professional saw that the countryman was more than half inclined to take him up, and to make sure of his game he said:

"Come, I'll bet you ten shillings to five shillings; fifteen shillings to five shillings; one pound to five shillings.

"Hanged if I don't take ye!" exclaimed the countryman after a moment's hesitation, and diving into his pocket he drew out a slip of calico (apparently a sample to show his girl), some cheese, a plug of tobacco, several horsehoe nails, and lastly, a dyspeptic looking leather purse, from which he extracted two half crowns, which he placed in the hands of a bystander. The professional speedily covered the deposit with a bright sovereign, and then, thoroughly shuffling the pack as a prelude, he grasped the cards firmly in one hand and producing a sharp pocket knife he cut every card in two at a stroke.

"There," he exclaimed triumphantly, "haven't I cut the knave of diamonds?"
"I'll be eternally blamed if you have!" the countryman replied, producing that veritable card from his sleeve, whither he had dexterously conveyed it while pretending to examine the cards. The countryman quietly pocketed the stakes and the professional slunk off.—Pearson's Weekly.

Hymns to Quiet Stomping Herds.

"There is one peculiarity in reference to cattle on the range that is known to few save cattlemen," said R. S. Carlton, of New Mexico, "which helps us greatly in handling a large herd on the trail. When a lot of cattle are gathered up there is always danger of a night stampede, and if this occurs it is a very serious matter, for not only will the herd become greatly scattered, but also many of the steers will die. More timid animals than stamped cattle it is difficult to imagine, and once thoroughly stampeded scores of them will run until they drop dead in their tracks. The signs of an approaching stampede are familiar to every man who has been much on the trail. First a few cattle will begin to low, or rather to utter a sort of roar. All through the herd single animals will get up and begin to move around. The others become restless, and if something is not done to check them the whole herd will within a short time be rushing headlong over the plain.
"The most soothing influence that can be exerted is the human voice, and when these ominous mutterings are heard every one on night watch begins to sing. It may well be imagined that cowboy music would have anything but a quieting effect upon musical ears, but it amply satisfies the cattle. As soon as songs are heard the nervous animals become quiet. One by one they lie down and soon all are at rest, fairly sung to sleep. A peculiar feature of the singing is that every cowboy, no matter how rough and lawless, knows a variety of hymns, and it is with church music that the stampede is prevented."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Alger County and the Board.

The brief of Judge Charles R. Brown, for use in behalf of Alger county before the state board of equalization, is a unique document and contains much that is worthy of preservation. The MINING JOURNAL quotes the portions following the bare statistics:

POPULATION-The population of the county, including about 100 Indians at Old Munising, is reported at 1,238. It will thus be seen that we have but one horse for every 35 persons; one sheep for every 296 persons and only hog for every 56 persons-a less number, according to population, than in any other county in the state. Even cultured, aesthetic Wayne, in which is located the great metropolis of which we are all so justly proud, has 8,006 hogs, or one for every 32 of her population-bogs, too, that live on corn, and its various excreta-sleek, fat hogs that, dead or alive, will dress more than any of our long-legged, long-nosed pigs that feed upon roots with a realizing sense that with them it is "root hog or die."

MOST IMPROVED FEED. All our flour, corn and fruit must be imported. The 200 bushels of oats would last our thirty-five horses, when at work, only twenty-two days. Our people raise turkeys for themselves and cattle, but no Alger county cow ever enjoyed the luxury of a bran mash (although a little "sour mash" is sometimes smuggled into the county by summer resorters and hunters from "below." No Alger county chicken ever ticks its crop with anything like the screenings or corn but contents itself with scratching gravel in the summer and resignedly surrenders its emaciated carcass in the fall and winter as a flavoring for our best meat, venison and imported pork.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS. Alger county, although settled for more than thirty years, has not yet developed any wonderful demand for agricultural machinery. We have but one mowing machine and one hay press, and they (the hay presses) are operated by hand power. We have no gang plows, seed drills or threshing machines, except such as are provided us by nature. When we compare the things we have not got with the things we have, the balance is largely in favor of the heaven!

SOME THINGS THAT WE HAVE NOT GOT. We have no iron ore, except a little bog ore, which the owners abandoned twenty years ago, permitting the lands on which it was found to be sold for taxes. No gypsum; no copper; no silver; no gold; no butter dish factories; no cheese factories; no furniture factories; no breweries; no furcuses; no comeries; no flouring mills; no cider mills; no woolen mills; no rolling mills. But as it is much easier to name the things we have got, we may mention some of the things we have got.

We have one saw mill that suspended operation five or six years ago and has ever since remained idle, and one that closed its doors a year ago. We have in operation one shingle mill and one gin mill, one brick yard; a stone quarry just opened; a goodly number of coalkinds, the only things that give any value to our hard wood and render it possible for our people to earn enough to pay their taxes and procure ammunition. We have five stores of general merchandise whose united stocks would be valued at about 6,000. All the people have fish-hooks, and some of them have firearms, with which they protect themselves when attacked by the deer, whether in or out of the "game season."

Among the virtues for which the people of Alger are noted may be mentioned their strong and abiding faith that the state board of equalization, adopting the rule that all property should be assessed at its true cash value, will fix and determine the value of Alger county at $1,106,915; the same to be made up as follows: Real estate... $1,155,215 Personal property... 11,700 $1,166,915

And if the board shall find that other counties in the state have been valued and assessed at less than their true cash value, the people and property owners of Alger county will, with commendable energy and fortitude, submit to a corresponding reduction, provided that such reduction shall not place us below a valuation of $500,000.

REPORTORIAL PENCILINGS.

Hon. Peter White gave an informal reception last evening for the officers of the Michigan. The mob which makes the corner of Third and Superior streets its hangout should be given a hard whirl by the police.

Albert Jeanlan peeled bank on Presque Isle yesterday and when Recorder Meads assessed him $0.50 he began to think he had been larking up the wrong tree. D. Hazard has purchased the Drouette place, 1321 North Third street, and is now occupying it. J. E. Sherman is moving into the Fraser house on Prospect street just vacated by Mr. Hazard.

The Presbyterian Sunday school picnic at Presque Isle yesterday was a grand success. The street railway handled the crowds well, three hundred excursion tickets being taken up while all told over five hundred people were at the park during the afternoon.

A WHOLE FAMILY. Rev. L. A. Dunlap of Mount Vernon, Mo., writes: My children were afflicted with a cough resulting from measles, my wife with a cough that had prevented her from sleeping, more or less, for five years, and your White Wine of Tar Syrup has cured them all.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Hon. M. J. Doyle, of the Soo, is in town. W. A. Brown left yesterday on a business trip to Chicago. Miss May Smith left yesterday for Fond du Lac to visit friends. The Nelson and Lawrence party has returned from camp at Sand River. W. J. Ellison leaves today for a short visit at his old home in London, Ont. Senator Joseph Weiss, of Detroit, is in the city accompanied by his sister, Mrs. W. F. Sawyer, of Ontonagon, and Miss Carrie Sawyer are in the city. Dr. J. H. Dawson is entertaining his brother-in-law, Dr. Elliott, of Bay City, for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vail, of Ravenswood 10, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Fraser.

How Painter Lawrence Got His Start. Sir Thomas Lawrence was one of the great portrait painters in England. His parents were poor, his father being a country innkeeper. One day Lord Shaftesbury's father and mother stopped at the inn, having their young son, the future lord, with them. In conversation the innkeeper spoke of the genius of his boy in drawing, and wished them to test it by a picture of their son. They assented, thinking to gratify a father's pride, but not looking for any evidence of superior talent. The boy came in modestly, with chalk and paper, and in a few minutes had drawn a picture of their son, on which the parents looked with wonder. They recognized the genius and promise of future greatness, and befriended the young artist, giving him the help needed to develop his wonderful gift.-New York World.

Electric Pinnace. The electric pinnace designed for the English government for the conveyance of troops is likely to effect a revolution in crafts used for the purpose, for the propulsion of which steam has heretofore been used. The new launch is 48 feet 6 inches in length by 8 feet 9 inches beam, with an average draft of 3 feet 3 inches, and will carry forty soldiers fully equipped. Her speed will be eight knots an hour, and she is so fitted as to be either sailed or propelled electrically. The actual cost of propulsion is not greater than that of steam vessels with similar carrying capacity, and there is to be taken into consideration the great advantage that no skilled hands are required for stoking and engineering purposes.-New York Telegram.

Can't Fool Him and His Compass. "Give me a room with a southern exposure," said a drummer at the Seventh Avenue hotel. "If you don't think this instrument will tell me," he added, as he laid a round brass case on the counter. "What's that?" asked Chief Clerk Perdu. "It's a compass," "I am a great believer," the commercial man continued, "in sunlight, and I have always made it a rule to sleep in a room where the sun shines for a part of the day at least. You know how people are bewildered with the directions in strange towns and new hotels. Often when I call for a southern room the affable clerks give me one on the north or some other side, as it happens to suit their convenience. I never could be sure about it, and I hit on this little compass. As soon as I go into the room I put it on the table, and I can tell in an instant where I am.-Pittsburg Dispatch.

How Letters Are Used. The ratio in which the different letters are used in the language is shown by the numbers of each letter supplied in a "bill of type" to the printers; the proportion is: z, x and j, q, k, s, v, l, b and g, 20, p, 24, w and y, 25, m and f, 30, c, e, o, u, 45, d and h, 60, r, n, o and s, 80, a and i, 100, t, 100, and e, 140.-Current Literature.

THE CAPTAIN'S BABY. "When my baby was in a very feeble, almost dying condition," writes Capt. R. K. West, of the U. S. Army, from Fort Niobrara, Neb., "I procured food for my child. He is now up and about and grew plump. He is now, after having lived on acetated food for a year and a half, one of the most healthy and active of children."

SHORT TIME TO DETROIT AND EAST. Leaving Houghton at 8:20 A. M. and Marquette at 1:25 P. M. you now arrive at Detroit for breakfast next morning. The direct connections are made with limited trains for the East. Buy your tickets for Detroit via D. S. S. & C. A. and Mackinac and save time and money. For rates, time tables, etc., call on any ticket agent or address C. B. Hibbard, general passenger agent, or E. P. Wilbur, northern passenger agent, Marquette.

THE PATEK, PHILIPPE & CO. WATCH. No watch in the history of horology has ever attained to such prominence as the "Patek, Philippe & Co." It has been awarded the highest premiums at all the great national exhibitions of the world.

The great reputation it now enjoys has not been accorded to it from any one watch specially made by Messrs. Patek, Philippe & Co. for exhibition purposes, but from their general uniformity of excellence and superiority. The most prominent jewelers of the United States now carry the Patek, Philippe & Co., as their best watch.

PILGRIMS VISIT ISHPEMING. Yesterday morning a large party of well-dressed, pleasant-faced gentlemen, each one decorated with a yellow badge inscribed 'Marquette Pilgrimage, Saladin Temple, N. M. S.,' alighted from the 8:50 train from Marquette and proceeded to take in the town. Conveyances were procured and the party spent several hours very profitably and pleasantly in inspecting the mines and other points of interest.

At the council meeting held last evening the matter of putting in a dam at the outlet of Lake Sully for the purpose of getting a better head on the city mains and a resultant increase in the water supply came up for consideration. The council referred the matter to the water commissioners and city attorney, with power to act. This means that the dam will be built, and that our water service, already excellent, will be made better yet by this improvement.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF. L. W. Harrington has returned from the east. Miss Mary Beyne of Mt. Clemens is in the city for a brief visit.

Wm. Hummel of Michigamme was in the city yesterday afternoon. H. O. Rose, of Petoskey, was among Ishpeiming visitors yesterday. W. H. Williams, of Champlin, greeted Ishpeiming friends yesterday.

T. D. Ryan, of Hancock, spent a few hours in the Hematite city yesterday. N. L. Mowick, of Marquette, spent several hours in Ishpeiming yesterday. T. C. Lanton and daughter, of Providence, R. I., are in the city for a brief visit.

S. R. Kaufman, of the Savings bank at Marquette, was in the city on business. Mr. and Mrs. N. Morrow, of the Deer Lake location, are happy over the birth of a son.

S. H. Holley, superintendent of the Lake Shore Iron works, Marquette, was in the city yesterday. Voters should not fail to register next Saturday for the special election to be held August 29.

Wm. Andrews has the contract for building a dwelling house for M. J. Griffin on West Ridge street. Messrs. John N. Weldon and Edward LeValley, of Escanaba, strolled about the streets of Ishpeiming yesterday.

The Gospel Temperance band will accompany the Temple of Honor excursion from this city to Iron Mountain next Saturday. Plans for the new French Catholic church, now being prepared by the architects, are almost finished and bids will soon be advertised for. The estimated cost of the church is $12,000 or $13,000.

Prof. Geo. L. Johnson, of Marquette, one of the best musicians in the upper peninsula, was in the city yesterday afternoon. He contemplates starting a class for musical instruction in this city, and will do so if sufficient encouragement is given. He gives lessons on the pianoforte, organ, vocal culture, harmony and composition and is a complete master of all branches of music.

Saved a Cool Thousand. Wife (proudly)—I saved you $1,000 today. Husband—Saved $1,000? We haven't that much to save. We haven't $100 we can call our own. Hang me if we have over $10, come to think.

Wife—But you have always said that if you ever had money enough you would build a house. Husband—Of course. 'Well, for $3 I bought a book showing how to build a $10,000 house for $9,000.—New York Weekly.

Check. 'Is the lady of the house in?' asked a tramp of the servant, who rang the door bell of one of the stately mansions in Austin. 'No lady of the house don't come to do to talk wid de likes ob you.'

'Then,' said the tramp, elevating the remnant of a hat with a grace Chesterfield might have envied, 'tell the lady of the house a gentleman wishes to speak with her in the parlor.'—Texas Siftings.

In ancient times the people worshipped the images of gods, valiant soldiers and saints. From some of the most important of these came the names applied to the different days of the week. There's a patent medicine which is not a patent medicine—paradoxical as that may sound. It's a discovery! The golden discovery of medical science! It's a medicine for you—tired, run-down, exhausted, nervous, weak, and ailing; for you sufferers from diseases of skin or scalp, liver or lungs—its chance is with everyone, its season always, because it aims to purify the fountain of life—the blood—upon which all such diseases depend. The medicine is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The makers of it have confidence enough in it to sell it on trial. That is—you can get it from your druggist and if it doesn't do what is claimed to do, you can get your money back, every cent of it.

Henry Torrance, also an experienced tailor and cutter of Chicago. The firm name will be Torrance & Conway. Mr. Torrance will arrive in the city tomorrow or Saturday and if a suitable location is secured the firm will be ready for business in a few weeks. Mr. Conway is now engaged in looking for a location and already has the refusal of several. The old friends of Mr. Conway are glad to see him and wish him success in the business for which he and his partner are so well qualified.

Brakeman Breaks a Leg. About 10 o'clock Tuesday night while Crawford Wilson, a Chicago & North-western brakeman, was attempting to board a moving freight train about sixteen miles north of Ishpeiming he was caught between the cars in some way and the result was a broken leg and several minor injuries. He was brought here and taken to the Ishpeiming hospital, where the fractured limb was set. He is still at the hospital and is doing fairly well.

Was Referred. At the council meeting held last evening the matter of putting in a dam at the outlet of Lake Sully for the purpose of getting a better head on the city mains and a resultant increase in the water supply came up for consideration. The council referred the matter to the water commissioners and city attorney, with power to act. REFUGE FOR CONVICTS. DISCHARGED PRISONERS AIDED TO RESPECTABILITY.

The Criminal May Now Find Aid Upon Leaving Prison, and if So Disposed May Find Work That Will Enable Him to Become a Respectable Citizen. A new life dawns on discharged convicts. They need not despair of again becoming respectable citizens. Plenty of employment is offered them. For those who cannot work there is a free home. Released criminals need not be obliged to resort to their former habits of life for a livelihood.

At 1,115 First avenue is the Home of Industry and Refuge for Discharged Convicts. The institution occupies a plain four story red brick building. This home of refuge is for the purpose of offering to discharged convicts a secure anchorage and a field for a new beginning. Not only released convicts from the state of New York come here, but returned prisoners from every quarter outside of the state are welcomed.

The home encourages discharged prisoners to return to correct lives, boards and lodges them and secures honest employment for them. It does this without charge. In securing the discharged prisoner employment the officers of the institution make personal efforts, and advise the men how to proceed for themselves. In indicating to the men in what manner to proceed for themselves the officers of the home advise with them in the fullest and friendliest way possible, furnish them with practical suggestions and place the large experience of the refuge entirely at their service. The inmates of the home are anxious to be helped—the home is anxious to help them.

WORK IN THE FACTORY. There are 20 per cent. of the inmates who get outside work. The rest remain in the institution in the service of a factory established by the refuge. The factory manufactures brooms and scrubbing brushes. The discharged prisoner well employed in the factory receives about the way from one dollar to eight dollars per week and his board and lodging. This is as long as the inmate's good conduct. The profits of the institution are sold and the proceeds applied to the support of the home.

The financial results of the labor of the men average $3,000 yearly. The expenses of the home are $8,000 a year. The contribution to the support fund from the public is $3,500 in 1907. The factory is on the ground floor of the building and opens directly upon First avenue. In the workroom is seen industry and application. A spirit of harmony prevails among the workmen. Rarely, if ever, does any disturbance occur among them. The influence of the home is mild and wholesome, and the inmates respond satisfactorily to that influence. They are neither fractious nor ill tempered.

The inmates rise at 5.30, attend morning prayers, get breakfast and report for work at 7. They work until 12, and go to dinner. At 6 they have supper. The evening is spent in reading, playing checkers and other harmless games, and in conversation. Ten o'clock is bedtime.

The returned prisoners come principally from Sing Sing and from Clinton, while many come from other prisons in the state. As has been said, they are also welcome, and come from outside of the state. THE OLD LIFE GONE. There are many in the refuge who have lost all traces of their former lives. They have reformed and become honest, industrious and respectable citizens. Some of the later arrivals still bear the suggestion of the prisons. These, however, show willingness and adaptability. They soon learn to lose the sense of their past confinement. They become upright and honorable.

Returned men—those who left wives and children in New York when they first yielded to crime—have returned from their prisons and earn good livelihoods through the aid of the home of refuge. Thus they have been enabled to permanently rejoin their families. Young men who have just served out their first term have returned to a reclaimed life through the home.

All of this is admirable testimony to the virtues of the institution. Mr. Charles Stewart, the superintendent of the home, was asked by a reporter: 'Do you ever have men go from the home back to their old habits of crime?' 'Ten per cent, perhaps, do so to our knowledge,' was the reply. 'The number is really very small. But we can't keep track of more if more really return to their old ways. We give ourselves the benefit of the doubt and say 10 per cent.'

'Is permanent re-establishment of the discharged convict in public confidence practicable?' 'Yes.' 'WHO ARE RECLAIMED. 'How many become good members of society?' 'So far as we are at present able to determine we would say 20 per cent. We think this very gratifying, and see constant indications of increase. We hope finally to do away with a great part of prejudice and realize success in the work of restoring former criminals to useful positions in society.'

'Some die. Some become shiftless, without becoming actually criminal again, while others drift out of our knowledge.' 'Can you specify any particular instance of an ex-convict who has returned from prison and acquired prosperity?' 'Yes, indeed! There is one in this city now who is as solid a business man as anybody. He is looked up to and respected by all he has dealings with.'

There are instances of released men who, for various reasons, have grown discouraged in the home and have started to leave. They have decided to return to their evil courses. They will no longer continue the fight to be respectable. These men have been almost invariably persuaded to return to the home.

The Home of Industry was established in 1879 by Michael Dunn, an ex-convict. He made a humble beginning in a very small way at first on Water street. The home was then removed to Bleeker street. From Bleeker street it was changed to Mulberry. Thence it was removed to Houston street, thence to its present location at 1,115 First avenue. The organization has withstood time and change, and is to be congratulated upon its continued prosperity.—New York World.

Figurative Zoology. Little Harold for the first time saw a tame rabbit twitching its lips as it munched a cabbage leaf. 'Oh, look mamma!' he cried. 'The rabbit is winking at me with its nose!'—Kate Field's Washington.

MY IDEAL. He must be dark and handsome, He must be tall and strong, He must be brave and dashing, He must not hate too long, He must be kind and loving, He must be honest and true, He must be loyal in his love, Or else he will not do, In friendship he's unwavering, And has a social air, Whether in war he's serving, Or love, he must be fair. A woman's face he should respect, Although he does not love it, And as for any crime he should, Why he should be above it. I do not wish him too extreme In any of his ways, Should answer yes wherever he came— Be gentle in his ways. His mind should be alert and bright, His heart be pure and free, To labor, wait, command, obey, He should do readily. In fact, he must be all a man, Be earnest, free and brave, As any who have ruled the land, Or die the weak to save. 'Tis true that my ideal is high, And I must never see him, If I had only been a man, I'd try, I'm sure, to be him. —Brooklyn Eagle.

The Terrible Camera. The day cannot be far distant when it will become necessary for the lawmakers of the land to legislate against the camera upon the same lines and upon the same principle that it has already been found necessary to legislate against the carrying of concealed weapons. There is always a theory that the general good sense of the community will regulate these things, and very likely in the long run the good sense of the community—or the indifference of the community, which comes to the same thing, by allowing a thing to slip out of sight altogether—fulfills the function thus optimistically allotted to it; but in the meantime the irritation of the nuisance demands some more speedy and drastic remedy.

It is the opinion of the editor, reached after a careful study of the situation, and a temperate and dispassionate review thereof, that for an amateur to be found going about with an ordinary camera should be made a misdemeanor punishable by confiscation of the instrument and a fine to be regulated according to circumstances. To be found with a detective camera should in an amateur be punished by imprisonment for life; in a professional by instant death. Could these precise but mild laws be passed and rigidly enforced, there would be a very notable change in the comfort and in the moral tone of the community. It is impossible that there should be any high average of ethical feeling in the land as long as the camera is daily and hourly allowed to trample upon every feeling of individual liberty and freedom; and unless something is done to check this rapidly growing evil, who knows whether civilization will be able even to last out the century?—Boston Courier.

THE POTENCY OF S. S. S. makes itself felt. Rev. L. B. Paine, of Macon, Ga., writes: 'We have been using S. S. S. as a remedy for blood complaints and as a general tonic, and have had remarkable results from its use with the children. It is such a potent tonic and keeps the blood so pure that the system is less liable to disease. It has cured some of our children of scrofula.'

COPPER COUNTRY BASE BALL

The Marquettes Won an Errorless Game Tuesday but Lost One Yesterday.

WORK IN PROGRESS ON THE SHIP CANAL CHANNEL.

A Great Wad Distributed Saturday Jevone and Lauer Called Back. Excursions to the Canal.

HOUGHTON.
The Marquettes had their batting clothes on Tuesday afternoon but the Houghtons did not realize it until the game was about half done. In the opening Jevone got a base on balls, Connors died at first, Hudson walked and then Traynor sent the sphere rolling up the hill along the right foul line to the fence, giving him time to get to second while Jevone and Hudson crossed the plate. From this time on to the end of the game the home team went out in one, two, three order. Jevone in the fifth had his cap knocked off by the ball without hurting his cranium in the least.

The visitors went out in one, two, three style in the first, but in the second Pedroes got first on balls, stole second, got to third on a wild throw and crossed the plate on a hit to right by Houseman. No more tallies were made until the fireworks opened up in the sixth inning. Doc Shepherd got to first on an error of Connors' Tanner made a fine two base hit; Cull sent the ball way out into center field but Hill was under it when it got there; Rathbun made a three base hit and Shepherd and Tanner came home in good style. With two strikes on him Pedroes hit Rathbun and made an elegant three base hit, sending Rathbun across the plate with the dubit tally. The balance of the game brought only blank to both sides. It was a fine game all through and there was no kicking on either side. Hillock's up-irping was considered very fine.

Of all the mean contemptible tricks that have been attempted on the Houghton base ball association that of Jevone and Lauer on Tuesday noon sticks the cat. Owing to the association their advance money and having only three more games to play on the home grounds they went to the South Shore depot to skip out on the 2 p. m. train. Manager E. F. Douglass heard a rumor of their intentions and put the officers on their track; just as the ball players were about to step on board the train three deputy sheriffs invited them to return. There was some kicking, but it went for nothing and they went back to the hotel, put on their ball suits, went to the ground and played good ball.

The dredges at the ship canal, which began outside at a depth of eighteen feet to deepen the channel, have excavated a great deal more sand from the bottom than it was calculated they would have to. The estimate made being 6,000 cubic feet. This is due to the quick sand in the channel which ran in from the sides almost as fast as it was dredged out for a time. The government engineers are making a study of the currents and action of the sea at the mouth of the canal and expect to prevent the formation of sand bars by the extension of piers either on the east or west side of the channel.

RED JACKET.
The Marquette base ball team will play the Calumets at the park here this afternoon and on Friday and Saturday afternoons. As this is the last trip of the Marquettes and the ball season is so near ended just turn out and give the association a chance to square itself.

The excursion of the Congregational Sunday school and church, held yesterday, was very largely attended. The weather was just right for a ride on the water and old and young enjoyed themselves.

Arrangements have been made for a wrestling tournament at the driving park here on Friday and Saturday, August 25th and 26th; $250 will be distributed in prizes.

The six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rule, Sr., died of diphtheria on Tuesday night.

The propeller Fountain City discharged on Tuesday a cargo of 2,000 barrels of cement for the Calumet & Hecla company.

Capt William Harris is confined to his home by sickness.

HANCOCK.
Con Kelly, a local thug, went into the California restaurant on Tuesday night and ordered a meal which he dispatched in short order and then started to walk. The Chinese proprietor requested his pay and got a sassy answer in return not content with this Kelly ran his fist through the glass in the door and ran away.

Supt. Dunn returned from Chicago last Sunday evening; the prospects are that the Peninsula mine, which has been doing so well under his able management, will continue to work all winter as some English capitalists are negotiating for a controlling interest in the mine.

CALUMET VILLAGE.
Mr. E. T. Henwood is pushing the work of laying the village water pipe.

I have been troubled with chronic catarrh for years. Ely's Cream Balm is the only remedy among the many that I have used that affords me relief.—E. W. Willard, druggist, Joliet, Ill.

My son has been afflicted with nasal catarrh since quite young. I was induced to try Ely's Cream Balm, and before he had used one bottle that disagreeable catarrh smell had all left him. He appears as well as anyone. It is the best catarrh remedy in the market.—J. C. Olmstead, Arcola, Ill.

DEER LAKE PARK.
The beautiful natural scenery of this picturesque spot has been greatly enhanced by a large expenditure of money by the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic R'y., and it is now one of the finest picnic grounds in the country, situated on the banks of Deer Lake from which it derives its name, a charming sheet of pure spring water abounding in all the species of fish native to upper peninsula lakes and streams. Especially low rates are made to this park from all points. For further information address:

DR. SPEER,
—OF THE FIRM OF—
Dr. Speer, Emslie, Hubbard & Co.,
OF SAGINAW, MICHIGAN.

Is now in Marquette and has established a branch office in the Mining Journal building at 144 West Washington street.

Dr. Speer is a graduate of the medical department of Harvard University, and is registered both here and in Saginaw.

They are old and reliable specialists of 15 years' standing and will show anyone testimonials from all over the globe. Piles, Fistula cured without knife or caustic. They can tell you your disease without asking a question and warrant a permanent cure in all cases pronounced curable upon examination. All chronic, nervous and special diseases of men and women successfully treated.

TO THE LADIES.
This firm, after many years close study on the subject of female diseases, feel competent to treat them with entire success.

YOUNG MEN
Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretions will do well to avail themselves of this chance.

Will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases of weakness or private disease of any kind or character they undertake or forfeit $250. They will therefore say to the unfortunate sufferers who may read this notice that you are treading on dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedies for your complaint.

There are many of the age of 30 to 50 who are troubled with too frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting sensation and weakening the system in a manner which the patient cannot account for. On examination it will be found that the urine deposits aropy sediment and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear or the color be of a thin or milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many who die of this difficulty ignorant of the cause which is the second stage of weakness.

Will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases and a healthy restoration of the organs. Examination and advice free to all. Remember the place, 144 West Washington street, Marquette.
P. S.—See our testimonials in the different papers from well-known people.

Flattering Indeed—Kind Words, Unsolicited, From Our Own People Prove That is Accomplished Daily by Good Physicians.
George H. Thompson, operato and ticket agent at the Michigan Central railroad depot, Court street, Saginaw, west side, makes the following statement regarding the skill of a local medical firm whose marvellous cures have won them a high reputation as successful physicians. To whom it may concern:
For a long time I have been a constant sufferer from catarrh of the bladder, accompanied by pain in the back, loss of flesh and, what is worse, that feeling of lassitude which overcomes sufferers from this disease, rendering them wholly unfit for work and making life a complete burden. I treated with several different physicians without obtaining any relief and had almost abandoned hope when I was prompted to seek the advice of a specialist. Accordingly in June last I consulted Dr. Speer, Emslie & Co., placed myself in the care of the physician in charge and now am happy to say that I am completely cured, thanks to his skillful treatment. Any further information will be gladly furnished to all who may feel interested.

MEETING OF THE COUNCIL.

A Brief Business Session of the Municipal Legislature Held Last Evening.

SAM LEE AND AH UN SETTLE THEIR DIFFERENCES.

The Fats Capture a Great Second Base man and the Leans Take a Brace. Other News Notes.

BY THE COUNCIL.

The common council held a short meeting last evening to attend to a few matters left over from Monday night's meeting.

The attorney of the Marquette Valley Milling Co. was requested to return the lease that was signed by the mayor and recorder.

Wilson & Moore and others petitioned for a sewer on North Front street and the matter was referred to the street committee.

Euclid Largeness asked to be allowed $50 for extra work on the Hewitt avenue sewer which was allowed and the recorder instructed to return the special assessment roll to the assessor to have the amount added to the roll.

The special assessment roll for the Washington street sewer was approved and September 7 set for the final confirmation. It was moved by Alderman Stafford and carried that Col. Osburn be instructed to put the sidewalk back to the hydrant on Third street by the government building, in accordance with the recent communication from him as custodian of the government building.

Euclid Largeness was allowed $527.85 on his Lincoln avenue sewer contract. On motion of Alderman Seigel the street commissioner was instructed to widen Third street from Ohio street to Hewitt avenue as soon as possible. It was voted to allow the city attorney fifty dollars per month for his services for the coming year and the meeting then adjourned.

Compromised.

The great Chinese case ended in a compromise. Yesterday morning Sam Lee produced a second interpreter, also from Chicago, to watch the first interpreter whom he feared would "talk like hell for Ah Un." The second interpreter waltzed up to Justice Crary's desk and started that dignity by spreading out before him credentials signed by States Attorney Longenecker and others of Chicago showing that his bond was "good for $100,000 and his word is as good as his bond." The arrival of Mr. Chow Chai or Chow Chow caused a compromise out of court, Sam Lee discontinuing the action and paying all costs in consideration of Ah Un's agreeing "not to prosecute him." None of the lawyers engaged understood this last expression but it shows what all have suspected from the first, that there was something back of the whole matter which was known only to Sam Lee and Ah Un themselves.

The Chinese Event.

The news that the Fats have prevailed upon Shields McCarthy to play second base for them will fall like a thunderbolt in the camp of the Leans. The MINING JOURNAL will vouch for the fact that McCarthy has signed because the reporter has seen the contract; the following is a fac simile of the signature:

HIS
J. SHIELDS X MCCARTHY.
MARK.
ATTEST: GEO. M. SACREIDER,
GAD SMITH.

There will be more witnesses to the mark that the fragile imitator of Edward J. Cull will make in a ball game.

Michael J. Scully, despite his base running propensities, has been over taken by the hustling manager of the Fats and has signed a contract. He has already invested his advance money in the purchase of Ford's broncho which will assist him in his labor in the middle garden.

The only signatures reported by the leans are those of J. E. Kehoe, who is warranted to take care of anything with whisks on it, and W. J. O'Meara, who has no particular recommendation except his sparseness and ability to "chew the rag;" he will cover Rath-bun's bag.

Blind Boone Concert Company.

The next attraction at the Casino will be the Blind Boone Concert company on Wednesday evening next, August 26. The papers in Madison, Wis., where the company appeared recently, speak in glowing terms of the entertainment. The admission will be 25 and 35 cents; reserved seats, 50 cents, now on sale at Vannier & Bigelow's. Mr. Boone carries his own Chickering grand piano.

To say that those who attended the concert given by the Blind Boone company at the M. E. church last evening, were pleased would be stating it too mildly. The entire audience was captivated and its frequent and enthusiastic applause gave abundant evidence of the fact. The delicacy of touch and brilliancy of execution shown by the blind musician charmed his hearers and more than fulfilled the highest expectations. While it is impossible to speak of the merits of each individual piece, yet the entire program gave the highest satisfaction. The rendering of Last Hope, by Gottschalk, was especially fine. The solo singing of Miss Stella May was well delivered. A local musician played a piece and Boone immediately replied it note for note. The imitating of a drum and fife, a music box, an old countryman tuning up his fiddle, and the approach of a railway train called forth a storm of laughter and applause. Altogether it was as creditable a concert as has ever been given here and every one went home well satisfied with nature's musician.—Madison (Wis.), Democrat, July 28, 1891.

The Y. M. C. A. Team Wins.

The game yesterday afternoon between the Y. M. C. A. and Business college teams was a fine contest up to the sixth inning when the college team began to go to pieces and in four innings crowded in seventeen errors, having made only three in the first five innings. The feature of the day was Spencer's stick work. He dropped the ball over the fence twice, one of the hits being a terrific drive, and also distinguished himself in base running, stealing third once base and second once and bringing in five runs. The work of Anderson and Maguire at second was worthy of note while Shaw, the Y. M. C. A. pitcher, was "out of sight." He struck out ten men and was hit for three singles only while he fielded his position beautifully, having three put outs, three assists and only one error. Jacobs misjudged a fly in right and got it fair in the mouth. The game was not without amusing features, one player making one strike at the ball and then digging for first for dear life. The following is the score:

Dame Rumor at Fault Again.

Mrs. Camille Quartiers informs the MINING JOURNAL that the report that her husband asked for money in the letters which she has received from him was incorrect. He has always borne the reputation here, as the MINING JOURNAL is well aware, of being a first-class workman and kept his wife and family in very comfortable circumstances, while he had purchased a lot in the Nester addition on which he expected to build. His trip seems to have been taken while he was a little the worse for liquor and was not fully aware of what he was doing. On reaching Chicago his sister-in-law immediately left for New York on her way back to Belgium (she came over only in May) and Mr. Quartiers returned to the upper peninsula where he found work and started at once to overcome the effects of his bad break by making a fresh start. It is probable that Mrs. Quartiers will soon join him and that they will make their home at some place where the tongue of scandal has not wagged quite so freely.

Given a Reception.

The Shriners were given an impromptu reception in Masonic hall last evening by Lake Superior commandery No. 20, K. T. The affair was an exceedingly pleasant one, though gotten up on such short notice and although an early "30" was called because of the arduous labors in store for the visitors tonight. Six belated members of the Saladin Temple joined the party yesterday morning, bringing the number up to 81. The day was passed in sight-seeing about Marquette and Presque Isle while quite a number also took a flying trip up to the mines.

Hallstrom's Opening.

Hallstrom's beautiful double store in the Opera House block was thronged with visitors all day long yesterday and in the evening, when the Hughes orchestra was present to render an excellent musical program. It was crowded and all of the clerks were kept on the jump. Every lady visitor received a souvenir ticket to the county fair, while for the gentlemen a box of cigars stood conveniently near the proprietor's elbow. The store is a beauty in every respect and is filled with a carefully selected stock of goods which would do credit to any city store. Mr. Hallstrom can take pride in inviting those who patronized him so well in his former quarters to call at his new store and see for themselves that he is at the front again in spite of the fire. Having bought for cash he is prepared to sell for cash at reasonable prices as in the past and the people of Marquette and of Marquette county will always find a warm welcome and prompt attention at "Hallstrom's Emporium."

Russell-Patterson.

Miss Minnie Russell and Mr. Joseph R. Patterson were married last evening at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Russell, on High street, by Rev. J. B. Bonar. Mr. Patterson has long held a position in Superintendent Philbin's office while the bride is widely known and liked in the city. The MINING JOURNAL extends congratulations.
