FIXING POLITICAL ISSUES,

This Week Likely to See Square Alignment of House on Silver Question.

SENATORS STILL TALKING OVER PRINTING BILL.

Will Probably Spout Over It the Larger Part of This Week—Other Possible Business.

FORECAST OF CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—There are indications that this week will be notable in congressional annals as one in which political issues will be made up.

In the house there may be an alignment of members on the silver question and it is probable that in the senate will be defined the economical policy of the democrats as a sequence of the program adopted by the majority of the house.

The bill providing for the public printing and binding which is the pending business in the senate will probably be attacked on the section creating a new office, that of a superintendent of the public documents, and indeed the democratic senators are disposed to question the statements made by the majority of the committee to the effect that the entire bill is in the interests of economy. The debate on the measure is expected to occupy several days.

The Paddock bill to prevent the adulteration and misbranding of food and drugs stands next in order of the measures to be considered but it is possible that it may be antagonized by the Idaho senatorial contest of Claggett against Dubois. It is hardly possible that both of these matters can be passed upon this week but if it should be otherwise Mr. Vest will call upon his bill providing for the erection of public buildings for postoffices in towns and cities where the receipts exceed $3,000 annually.

Tomorrow is "suspension day" and there are several bills on the calendar which their friends believe can secure the two-thirds vote necessary for their passage.

Chairman Wise of the committee on interstate commerce will endeavor either by suspension of the rules or by consideration in the morning hour to pass the bill to permit railways to give special rates to commercial travelers.

It is the intention of the Indian affairs committee to call up the Indian appropriation bill early in the week and its consideration may operate to postpone all other measures as the large reductions made in the bill from the act of last congress will not be permitted to go unchallenged.

Friday will be devoted to private claims unless the subject of appropriations should interfere with the ordinary procedure.

The rules committee has several resolutions before it and the proceedings of the committee will be of special interest in view of the fact that one of the resolutions is that introduced by Mr. Bland making the silver bill a special continuing order in the house. The silver men are striving to have the order reported at an early day. As soon as this resolution is reported an interesting parliamentary struggle will begin. Should there be much delay in the rules committee the fight will be precipitated anyhow without awaiting action by the rules committee on the request to make the silver bill a special order.

GOES TO WISCONSIN.

Dr. Ely, Well-Known Publicist, Leaves Johns Hopkins University.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 14.—Dr. Richard T. Ely, associate professor of political economy at the Johns Hopkins university, has presented his formal resignation to President D. C. Gilman. It came as a complete surprise both to the academic staff of the university and the students, even Dr. Herbert B. Adams, who has been associated with him in the historical-political department, having been unaware of the fact until yesterday afternoon. The resignation is to take effect June 1. A call from the University of Wisconsin, at Madison, Wis., was received by Dr. Ely some time ago. The summons is a most flattering one, it being generally understood that the eminent Hopkins man is to hold the full professorship in history and economic science and to be the head of the department. The news caused much regret among the students of the university. Professor Ely has for the past few years devoted himself almost entirely to the instruction of graduate students, and they will feel his departure more than any one else.

FEDERATION MAKES A KICK.

Alleged Discrimination Against Union Men at the World's Fair.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 14.—The American Federation of Labor has a grievance against the World's Fair management and if it is not settled that organization declares it will boycott the exhibition. Vice-President Wm. A. Carney of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel workers returned yesterday from New York where he has been attending a meeting of the executive council of the Federation. He said some important matters were acted upon, among which was the alleged discrimination shown by the World's Fair management against labor unions. In a letter to the council President Kliver of the Brotherhood of Carpenters alleges that no man can get work on the grounds unless he is employed by the agent of the construction department. A representative of any labor union cannot get a pass admitting him to any of the buildings if he is in his at once ejected by the police.

The council instructed President Gompers to write to the chief of the department of construction to abate the evils complained of and in event of a refusal to do so he is empowered to call on all workmen's organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor to consider the advisability of withdrawing their patronage from the coming World's Fair at Chicago.

JOHN JACOB ASTOR'S LOG HOUSE.

Duluth's Historic Structure Will Soon Be Torn Down.

DULUTH, Minn., Feb. 14.—Steps are being taken to tear down the old John Jacob Astor headquarters trading house at Fond du Lac, and enough interest has been aroused in the preservation of the oldest building at the head of the lake to call out a vigorous protest. It is probable, however, that unless the protest takes the form of cash to buy the old log trading house and fort it will be torn down in a few days. This fort was built in the days when the Astor Fur company was the rival of the Hudson Bay company, and it was the headquarters of all the fur trade in the region west and northwest of Lake Superior as well as of the Upper Mississippi valley. Goods were brought here from the east up the lake in small schooners that could be hauled around the rapids at the foot of Lake Superior, and from here distributed. The voyagers reached all parts of the lake by bark canoes, and by a few portages in the Mississippi. The building has been the scene of many councils, and much of the history of northwest has been made within its walls. It is proposed to demolish it to make way for the water improvements that are being carried along the St. Louis river.

POISON IN THE FLOUR BARREL.

Family Near Salem, Ill., the Victim of a Young Jailbird.

SALEM, Ill., Feb. 14.—One death from poisoning and six more possible is the record of a mysterious affair south of here. Immediately after eating supper at their home last night James Morton and his two daughters became very ill with all the indications of poisoning. Dr. T. J. Green was sent for but despite his efforts Morton died early this morning. The two girls though still alive, were very ill. Breakfast was prepared for the doctor and friends who were aiding the sick. In a few minutes Dr. Green, ex-Supervisor John English, and two ladies, neighbors, were watching in agony.

Late this afternoon it was learned that suspicion had fallen upon Folo Parkinson, a young man of the vicinity. He is charged with having placed poison in the family flour barrel for the purpose of killing the entire family because one of the girls had refused to receive calls from him after he had served a term in the Chester penitentiary for theft. So far as learned no more deaths have occurred though the victims are not yet out of danger.

M'GLYNN MAY BE REINSTATED.

Archbishop Ireland's Visit Likely to Bring About That Result.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 14.—Dr. Edward McGlynn, in an interview this afternoon said: "When I was called to go to Rome some years ago the command was coupled with an order to make a written retraction of the political and economical doctrines which I had preached. In a word, my case had been prejudged. The United States is a missionary country and is therefore controlled by the propaganda. Cardinal Simeoni, the prefect of the propaganda, was prejudged against me. He died a few weeks ago and Cardinal Ledochowski was appointed in his place. Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul reached Rome two days ago. I expect soon to be invited to a conference in Rome. I have every reason to hope that I will be restored to the ministry without retracting the political and economic truths which I have preached and still preach."

AFTER ALDERMEN'S SCALPS.

Citizens of Minneapolis Aroused Over a Shameful Ordinance.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 14.—A monster mass meeting was held this afternoon at the Lyceum Theatre to protest against a recent ordinance passed by the city council forbidding anyone save a police officer to prosecute saloonkeepers who violate the liquor ordinance. So great is the indignation among the general public that the Lyceum Theatre was unable to hold the crowd and overflow meetings were held at Plymouth Congregational and Hennepin Avenue Methodist churches and an extra meeting in the evening. It was a meeting irrespective of creed and party. No violent speeches were made but the aldermen came in for severe censure and the people were appealed to attend the primaries.

GREAT WOLF DRIVE.

Ten Miles Square Swept Over and 22 Wolves Killed.

GERARD, Kas., Feb. 14.—The wolf drive for which preparations have been in progress for two months took place yesterday. At 9 o'clock in the morning about 4,000 men surrounded a section of country measuring ten miles square with 1,000 men on each side of the square. There were 100 to the mile or nearly one man to every fifty feet. The firing of a cannon was the signal for the final closing. The wolves were not to be killed until they were rounded up in the center. The chase began at 1 o'clock and the result twenty-two wolves were killed at 5 o'clock. The forces left the field feeling jubilant over their success.

DRUNKARD FROZEN TO DEATH.

Martin Neugard's Load Was Too Cold and Heavy.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 14.—Martin Neugard was found in the street about three-quarters of a mile from his home this morning frozen to death. He had been drunk and evidently was unable to get home.

COULTER GETS TEN YEARS,

Murderer of His Father Pleads Guilty of Perjury and Asks the Limit.

HE IS NOW BEHIND THE BRANCH PRISON BARS.

Sault Ste. Marie's Conscience-Stricken Criminal Is Now Seeking to Save His Guilty Soul.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Feb. 14.—[Special.]—William Coulter, the murderer of his aged father and the man from whom Miss Eva Cusick, the revivalist, secured a confession, was arraigned in the circuit court here yesterday charged with perjury.

He entered the court room praying to God to give him more light and expressing himself willing to submit to any sentence the court would give him to pay the penalty of his crime: The sheriff was obliged to remove him from the court room to quiet him as he was so excited and praying so loudly.

On being returned to the court room Judge Steere asked him if he was guilty or not guilty. Coulter answered "Guilty." He was then sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary.

SPANISH THRONE IN DANGER.

Revolutionary Spirit Is Rapidly Growing Among the Masses.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—Executions and edicts cannot cover the evidences that the Spanish monarchy is resting on a volcano. In cities and in the country disorder is rampant and there are plenty of intelligent leaders at work fostering the spirit of discontent among the masses. Even priests, it is said, are found leading bands of self-outlawed peasants and it may be remembered in this connection that a priest, the brave Hidalgo, started the revolution which deprived Spain of Mexico. When the revolutionary sentiment has reached the altar there is danger in the air for the throne. The executions at Xeres have only provoked a thirst for vengeance, instead of terrorizing the friends of the victims.

MADE MOONSHINE WHISKY.

Distilled Potato Spirit and Sold It in Lumber Camps.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Feb. 14.—Charles L. Fuller, aged 59 years, and his 16-year-old son were brought here yesterday from Echo township, Antrim county, to answer the charge of being moonshiners. At the examination witnesses testified that the old man had a rude still in the woods near his home and sold the raw liquor to his neighbors and in the lumber camps. The officers introduced as evidence a lot of potato and corn mush and some of the liquor. The old man was bound over and the boy discharged.

DIED AMONG HIS PICTURES.

Henry T. Gamage, New York's Artistic Recluse, Found Dead.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Henry Ten-Broock Gamage, 87 years of age, a climate of ex-Senator Everts at Yale, was found dead today in his room in the building of the University of the City of New York where he has lived among his collection of paintings for the past forty-nine years. Death was due to natural causes. The body was found with the head resting on the top of a lighted oil stove and the flesh of the face burned off to the bone. Very little was known about the man. His barn-like apartment was filled with paintings and portraits.

GEORGIA FAVORS CLEVELAND.

Hill Is a Poor Second, With German as Third Choice.

ATLANTA, Feb. 14.—The Atlanta Journal prints a poll of the state of Georgia on presidential preference. The result shows an overwhelming majority for Cleveland. Out of 1239 prominent democrats, Cleveland is the first choice of all but 390. Cleveland received 849 first choice votes. Hill is second with 270, Gorman gets 24, Grey 13 and the rest are scattering. The reports come from 87 towns and 73 counties.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES.

A number of German papers join a section of the English press in rancorous abuse of the United States for the latter power's treatment of Chile.

The cause is jealousy of the extension of American influence in South America which is leading to a loss of German trade. This trade is already diminishing wherever it has met American competition.

Senator Hill changed his mind and instead of going to Washington, as he announced was his intention, he took the early night train for Albany. Senator Bruce was in New York but so far as the hotel people knew he did not call upon Senator Hill.

Baron von Holleben, who succeeds the late Count Arco Valley as ambassador from Germany, passed through Chicago on his way to Washington. He has been German minister to Japan for five years.

Felix McClelland, under arrest at Stockton, Calif., is supposed to be the man who on two occasions robbed the Mokolanne Hill and Valley Springs stage. He protests his innocence.

Steinitz again tied the score in the chess match at Havana by scoring the eighteenth game after thirty-nine moves. The score is now: Steinitz, 7; Tschigorin, 7; drawn, 4.

MARQUETTE, MICH., FEBRUARY 15.

Entered as mailmatter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

No change has yet taken place in the ore market, according to the Iron Trade Review, and prices for this year are yet unsettled, producers not being anxious to make a market in the face of a lack of demand and consumers being indisposed to make offers that would entice them in view of the sluggishness of the market for pig. The only important sale of ore recently made consisted of some lots for the Wheeling district, which includes several river furnaces. The conditions certainly favor a strong ore market this year, but it is undeniable that the looked-for improvement is vexatiously slow about manifesting itself.

ON the fourth page of this issue of the MINING JOURNAL will be found a reply from a defender of protection to the arguments advanced in support of his free trade views and attacks on the tariff system of fostering and promoting home industries by our Calumet contributor who signs himself "A Democrat." The article will well repay perusal and the reader is invited to turn to it and scan it carefully, no matter on which side of the protection issue he has chosen to take his stand. "We live to learn," and the discussion that these representatives of different economic doctrines are conducting ought to assist some who have been in doubt on the question of the necessity for a protective tariff in this country to see how essential it is to the maintenance of the high degree of prosperity that we now enjoy.

GOVERNOR SWINEFORD is about to put his neck in the editorial collar again, this time as the editor and publisher of a democratic weekly paper at Superior. The new paper will be published at what is known as "Old" Superior, this being the original site of the city of that name and a part of the present city of Superior. The paper is said to have strong financial backing, and ought to have a fine support at Superior, where there are plenty of democrats and nothing to represent them in a newspaper way as yet but a measly little evening sheet of the plate news order, which has never had a newspaper man of any standing connected with it in any capacity. It is an easy field for the governor, now that he can publish the kind of paper that he is capable of making, and the MINING JOURNAL expects to see him make a great success of his latest journalistic venture.

NEVER before in the history of Chicago was that city so full of unemployed workmen as it is this winter. One of the daily papers published there which has been looking into the matter estimates that there are between 30,000 and 50,000 men and women whose only means of subsistence is their labor now out of work and vainly seeking it in the big metropolis. It naturally follows that the city's poor houses and police stations are kept constantly crowded, the former with applicants for shelter and subsistence and the latter with unfortunate wretches whom want has driven to crime. One cause of the unusually large army of idle men and women now congregated there is said to be the belief that prevails throughout the country that the work of constructing the World's Fair buildings has created an unusual demand for labor with correspondingly good prices. This has attracted an immense number of mechanics to the city, a large proportion of these being of the roving class that live from hand to mouth and to whom a week out of work means absolute impecuniosity. The authorities of the city are at a loss to know what to do with this helpless population, for it is equally impossible to provide for the unfortunates properly with the inadequate means for doing this at command or to find the money to return them to the places they came from.

THE DASTARD DANA. It is to the credit of the newspapers of the United States that there was but one among them which could be induced to print the false and scandalous charge affecting the reputation as a soldier of General Russel A. Alger, that one being a sheet which has long been known as the newspaper ghoul of the country, the venomous and treacherous New York Sun.

During the late war Dana, its editor, hung around the national capitol in a capacity that enabled him to gratify to the utmost his old-womanish propensity for malicious gossip, and he has busied himself ever since in trying to belittle better and braver men than himself and destroy the fame of patriots who were fighting bravely at the front while he was prowling about in the rear in search of scandals that he could use as a stock in trade when occasion served for airing them through his cheap and nasty paper.

His attempt to smirch Alger will fail as utterly as have similar attempts that he has made to defame men whom the American people had learned to honor. The gallant Michiganian's fame as a soldier and the infamous character of the hoary old reprobate who has dared to assail it are so well established that the endeavor of the latter to give vitality to a dead lie will entirely fail of effect—unless, indeed, it should have an effect the opposite of that intended in strengthening the candidacy of General Alger by bringing to his support new friends through the quick sympathy of the people with a man unjustly and cruelly attacked because of the prominence that his honorable career and varied public services have justly brought him.

Dana had before made mistakes of the same nature, but never before did he attack a man more completely entrenched in the confidence and esteem of the people against the particular assault made upon him than when he sought to bring in question the record as a soldier of General Alger.

DON'T LIKE THE MEDICINE.

Torrents of democratic denunciation are now pouring in on Hill, of New York, because of his projected "snap" convention to steal the delegation of that state from Cleveland. He is warned in language the meaning of which cannot be mistaken that if he perpetrates this outrage on the party his crooked work will avail him nothing, for the democratic national convention will put the seal of its disapproval on his conduct by refusing to give any consideration to his claims should he come before it as a candidate for the presidential nomination.

It is not very long ago since this same Hill used his power as governor of the state of New York to deprive the republicans of control of the legislature of his state and give it to the democratic party. The theft then consummated by him was a much greater and more inexcusable one than that which he expects and intends to accomplish on the 22nd of this month. But there is this difference. In the case of the legislature the "steal" was at the expense of the republican party, while in that of the "snap" convention the victims of the outrage will be Mr. Cleveland and his supporters, these constituting an important and more or less influential wing of the democracy.

We do not recall having seen in any democratic paper a word of denunciation of Hill on account of the villainous steal of the legislature that he planned and carried out just before he retired from the gubernatorial chair to take his seat as one of the representatives of New York in the senate of the United States. In fact, unless our recollection is at fault, the democratic organs defended his action in that piece of political thievery and exulted over the resultant advantage to "the party" without giving expression to any censures of the man who planned and executed it or the methods employed by him in that case to thwart the will of the people of his state.

It may be reasonably deduced from this that the democrats only object to "steals" when democrats are the victims, and that they approve of political dishonesty when it is employed against republicans. This is not a very high standard of honor for a great political party to adopt and enforce, but it appears to answer for the democracy.

Mr. Hill put himself right to the front as a presidential favorite with the democrats by his act in depriving the republicans of control of the New York legislature, but he has more than lost the advantage he thus gained as a democratic presidential possibility by undertaking to secure control of the New York delegation in the Chicago convention in practically the same manner.

He should have been wiser than to assume that the democrats would tolerate when employed within the party the methods it is ready to approve and defend when used to defraud and cheat the people at large and their republican adversaries.

WHO OWNS THE HURON?

There is evidently a big row between the management and some of the stockholders of the Huron copper mine, the nature of which the reader will be able to glean from the appended statement of facts, taken from the Boston Herald of the 10th:

A very interesting chapter in the history of the Huron Copper Mining company was enacted today. It began with proceedings in the fifth equity session of the Massachusetts superior court in the suit of Messrs. Felix Jelenik, of New York, George I. Whitney, Frank Stephenson, S. V. Trent and George Shiras, of Pittsburgh, against Messrs. John C. Watson, Daniel L. Demmon and the Huron company to enjoin the proposed sale today of the shares of said company, which had failed to pay an assessment of $3 per share; also to enjoin any transfer of stock or removal of books, etc. It ended, so far as today was concerned, in the sale of nearly, if not more than, all the capital stock of the company for the amount of the assessment, and, in case of a few shares, for a small premium. It is not the purpose of this article to give a detailed report of the legal proceedings, but some facts developed therein may be of interest. Of chief consequence was the refusal of the court to grant a preliminary injunction. It was ordered instead that the case take its course for future hearing upon the merits of the case. Want of jurisdiction was claimed by defendants' counsel, and affirmed by plaintiffs' counsel. Defendants' counsel submitted the following letter from one of the plaintiffs, and claimed that it was an attempt at blackmail:

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 21, 1891. For some time I have been a stockholder in the Huron Copper Mining company of Michigan, and at present own 600 shares. It is expressing it mildly to say that I am thoroughly dissatisfied with the present condition of affairs. Before taking decisive steps it is always my custom to afford those whom I wish to hold responsible every opportunity for explanation or settlement. Briefly, I am about to begin a series of legal proceedings against the directors, president and other administrative officers of the company for malfeasance and misfeasance in the discharge of their respective duties, unless, within five days after the receipt of this, those interested in the conduct of the mine purchase my stock at the price paid by me, something less than $3,000. It is my intention to apply for a preliminary injunction restraining the collection of the last assessment, followed by the appointment of a receiver, a committee to audit the books of the company, and proceedings subsequent thereto based upon the disclosures then made. I have already paid an assessment of $3 per share within a short period, and now propose to use the injunction at hand with some effect. My Boston brokers are Richardson, Hill & Co., in Pittsburgh, Messrs. Whitney & Stephenson; my Michigan representatives, Hon. Peter White and M. A. Maynard, Marquette, Mich. Please give this prompt attention, and in the absence of the same the bill in equity, now prepared, will be presented in court. Yours very truly, GEO. SHIRAS, 3d.

It was stated that papers were on the way to Michigan to begin proceedings for the appointment of a receiver for the company. Mr. Jelenik was given a list of stockholders last October, and in December, when he asked for the privilege of inspecting the accounts, the management declined until it could consult the company's counsel, Mr. H. J. Stevens, who was in his last sickness. Mr. Stevens died, and Mr. Jelenik failed to get what he sought. President John C. Watson said that he had been president for ten years at a salary of $300 per year. The whole salary was owed him, and some $10,000 besides, for money loaned. He had no security but the company's note. He owned about one thousand shares of stock. Treasurer Demmon told of the debt of the company and of the arrangement with the lake creditors. Their claims aggregated $80,000. The Boston creditors had agreed to forward the money received from the assessment in $10,000 blocks as fast as received. His own claim was for $40,000, money loaned. The Howard National bank had a claim for about $30,000, secured by copper at 13c. per pound, for money loaned in 1891. When the $5 assessment was levied, he (Demmon) owned rising 400 shares of stock. He bought about 120 shares at the sale of delinquent stock for $33 3/4 per share. Since the $3 assessment was levied he had bought some 2300 shares at 10c, 12c and 15c per share. He understood that it sold at 4c yesterday. Plaintiff's counsel claimed that this fact was an indication of an effort by the management to freeze out other shareholders, and questioned Mr. Watson as to whether anything had been arranged as to the purchase of the stock to be sold today. Mr. Watson knew of nothing, but allowed that it might be protected. Many other facts were developed, which there is no room to relate here. The court's decision was rendered about 11:30 A. M.

At 12 o'clock the auction sale of delinquent mining shares was begun at the company's office No. 19 Congress street. About a dozen people were present. Mr. Gustavus V. Hall was auctioneer. Counsel Charles T. Gallagher, who represented plaintiffs at the court house, read this protest:

Notice is hereby given to all parties present that any attempt at sale of stock for non-payment of installment issued Oct. 15, 1891, by the treasurer of the Huron Copper Mining company on this day at the office of the company at 19 Congress street, Boston, or at any other place, will be contested and resisted by the stockholders whose stock is attempted to be sold, as such attempted sale is illegal and unnecessary, and the same has not been prepared or conducted in accordance with the provisions of law.

Notice is further given that proceedings have been instituted and are now pending in the superior court of the state in which the legality and validity of any attempted sale will be questioned, and that proceedings have been or about to be begun in the courts of Michigan, in which these same stockholders claim to hold their stock and resist any attempt at sale for non-payment of installments.

Notice is further given that stockholders will claim their respective rights to act, notwithstanding proceedings for sale. Feb. 9, 1892. Mr. Gallagher further recited the fact of the suits begun, and Counsel Durant, representing Messrs. Watson and Demmon, told what the courts decided this morning. The selling then began. One hundred and fifty-two lots were offered, varying from 5 shares to 3000 shares. Mr. H. C. Sears bought 10 shares at 3 1/2, and Mr. Bacon bought 50 shares at 3 1/4, 2675 shares at 3. C. O. Dickey, trustee, bought 10 shares at 3 1/2, and Mr. John C. Watson took the balance at 3. It was thought that Mr. Bacon bought for the same parties as Mr. Watson. A representative of this paper, who stood by and recorded the number of shares as called off, made those knocked down to Mr. Watson 38,315 shares, and these with the lots going to others make 41,000 shares, which is more than the capital stock. As Messrs. Watson and Demmon allowed in court that they held together about 5000, it follows that this stock was probably sold with the rest. The president of the company said today that the assessment had been paid upon some shares, which further complicates the situation. If today's sale holds, the ownership of the property has gone into the hands of whomsoever the president of the company, Mr. Watson, represented in his purchases today. Other chapters of this company's history are yet to be enacted.

A SOMBER SATURDAY.

Such Was Last Saturday at Negaunee, Three Funerals Taking Place on That Day.

Outlook for Organization of a Literary Association Good—Templars and Friends to Visit Marquette.

A DAY OF FUNERALS.

The funeral of the late Mrs. M. A. Gibbs took place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from her late home on Main street.

On the same afternoon the remains of Magloire Gauthier were given sepulture in the Catholic cemetery here. The body was brought to Negaunee from his home at Spurr, on the C. & N. W. passenger train.

At the same hour the funeral of Peter Gallagher was held with services at the same church. Mr. Gallagher was an old resident of Negaunee.

Meeting Called for Tonight.

At last the much talked of and much needed literary association bids fair to become a thing accomplished. A meeting will be held this evening for the purpose of perfecting the organization.

Will go to Marquette.

The Knights Templar of this city and Ishpeming, together with invited friends, will attend the Knights Templar reception at Marquette on Wednesday evening.

LOCAL LAONICS.

Capt. Thos. Prout, of Palmer, Sundayed in Negaunee.

M. J. Artand has resigned his position as head salesman with M. C. Quinn.

The date of the Stecher orchestra benefit ball has been changed from the 29th to the 24th.

C. T. Curran is home from Green Bay. "Con" has worked on that division of the C. & N. W. all winter.

Thomas Murphy and wife, of L'Anse, arrived here yesterday and intends making Negaunee their home.

Arrangements for the Olds benefit concert are completed, and those who are to take part in it are already rehearsing.

Peck street witnessed an exciting runaway Saturday evening, a demolished cutter and damaged harness being the result.

Negaunee's own minstrel troupe will give a performance soon. The boys are practicing diligently and a good show will be the result.

The street cars were "loaded" yesterday. All afternoon the cars were well filled with people going and coming between this city and Ishpeming.

The most of the miners who came here recently from Iron Mountain have moved their families here. The cry of hard times "cuts no figure" here. The men all found work and are well pleased with the change.

Negaunee is away behind the times in one respect—she has no snowshoe club. A movement was on foot a few days ago to organize one and then seek admission to the Shin Fane club.

Negaunee's polo team came home from Marquette "crowned with laurels." The boys did up the other fellows with the greatest of ease, winning three goals. Marquette is not "in it" playing polo with Negaunee's champions, a fact which its team is probably well aware of by this time.

A Trick of the Young Men.

There are tricks and tricks, and it is said that all is fat in love and war, but here is something that has a discriminating touch of a better cause. A young man who sometimes calls at our house confessed to in a moment of confidence. All the girls know to their cost how easily a party fan is broken, and each girl will easily recall the fact that she herself did not break her fan. It was in the hands of her escort, or a youth on dancing duty, who was twirling it while uttering soft nothings, and snap—went a pearl stick! Now I am told that this is always done on purpose.

He may not do either, but he carries it off and calls with it when it is repaired, or to say that he lost it, or that it was stolen from his pocket that same evening; but there it is, a door opening to the future. It forms a flimsy society tie—but still a tie—between him and a girl he adores, and whom he could not reach without this little passport. It is worth a dozen letters of introduction, because it places the girl under an apparent obligation at the start. But who would have believed there was so much deception in—the other sex?—Detroit Free Press.

The Poor Waiter.

"People are pretty hard on us," said a waiter in an up town cafe the other night, "considering what we have to go through with sometimes. I have been in this room, and on my feet, hurrying most of the time, for nearly fourteen hours. It's hard to keep one's temper for such a stretch as that, and to be as lively and quick witted as when one begins his day's work. At that table over there where those three men are sitting they kept me standing for ten minutes before they gave me their orders. They were just talking, not discussing what they wanted to eat, but finishing up some argument. Now if I had gone away and waited until they had got through with their talk they would have called me inefficient and negligent; so I stood there, and when I finally got their orders and started away a man at the next table was angry and stopped me to tell me that I was the worst waiter he had ever seen. So you see how it is."—New York Tribune.

Saving on Rent.

A young literary man of New York, like most of his craft very impetuous, has discovered a means by which he lives respectably and yet cheaply. As he is a hard worker, he values quiet above all things except money. Consequently he always seeks a secluded spot for his abode. In winter he lives in a country where board is cheap. At the beginning of the warm weather, when most people are leaving town, he takes up his residence there in a retired street, where he is permitted to occupy a room in a house deserted by its occupants for the summer at a nominal price. He finds the town in summer as quiet and delightful as he does the country in winter, and urges all his friends who are no better off financially than he is to imitate his way of living. Yet some people maintain that literary men do not know how to spend their money judiciously.—New York Epoch.

The Intense Brilliance of Lightning.

One consequence of the short duration of lightning is an apparent diminution of its brilliancy. It has been proven that light cannot produce its full effect on the eye unless it remains at least as long as one-tenth of a second; but lightning lasts only the ten-thousandth part of a second, and it follows from that that what we see is 100,000 times less bright than it really is. When we recollect that even thus diminished its brilliancy is such as to cause temporary blindness if too closely viewed, we may feel grateful that we cannot see it in its true vividness, for our human powers of vision would be too weak to bear such a sudden and overwhelming illumination.—Electricity.

Tired Out.

"I thought I was worn out with my tramp among the shops today," said she in a Twenty-third street ferryboat, "until I met a woman carrying a baby wrapped in a large shawl, with a second child not more than two years old dragging at her skirts. She was shopping, too, for in the bare hands clasped around her heavy burden was clutched a pocket-book, and on her arm hung a satchel, evidently to hold small purchases. And when I saw her tired eyes and noted the tension of her frame with the double drag upon her, I decided my fatigue was not to be considered."—New York Times.

A Change in Electric Lights at Sea.

A remarkable change is said to be about to take place in the manner of giving the warning light to mariners. In England electric lights experimentally turned vertically toward the sky have given extraordinary results. The light given by the Eddystone lighthouse can be seen 17 1/2 miles on a clear night, but a vertical beam of light of far less power is visible twice as far and can surmount an ordinary fog.—Philadelphia Ledger.

HOWLING LOUD FOR SILVER.

Chief Contents of Congressman Bland's Long Majority Report Favoring Unlimited Coinage.

REHASH OF THE STOCK INFLATION ARGUMENTS.

Well-Known Law That the Cheaper Currency Always Displaces the Better Is Awkwardly Dodged.

FIGHT FOR HONEST MONEY IS ON.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The majority report of the committee on coinage, weights and measures recommending the passage of the Bland free coinage bill will be presented to the house tomorrow by Mr. Bland and by consent of the minority of the committee it has been made public tonight.

The report begins with an explanation of the provisions of the bill reported. Free coinage of silver is provided for and it is required that it be of standard fineness to meet the cost of the alloy used, the alloy being all the expense now exacted of depositors of gold.

"It is contended that the reason we exported silver bullion while our mints were still open to free coinage was that our ratio was such that our coin and bullion silver was worth more as compared to gold at European mints than here and that the same result would again follow our ratio remaining at 16 to 1 with the French mints open to free coinage at 15 1/2 to 1.

"The familiar warning that free coinage would cause shiploads of silver from other countries to be brought here and dumped at our mints in exchange for our gold is still urged. How can this be under the bill or proposed law?

"The shipload of silver brought to our mint by the foreigner would be coined into standard dollars and these dollars returned to him, but he could not go to our treasury and demand gold for them. Nor could he compel one of our citizens to swap him a gold dollar for a silver dollar; that is a voluntary trade that no law ought to interfere with. Should the foreigner take coin notes for his bullion instead of coin the same thing happens. He can take his coin note to the treasury and demand redemption but that note is redeemable in coin and the secretary of the treasury could hand him back the coin struck from his shipload of bullion. The foreigner then would ascertain that he had committed the blunder of bringing silver to our mints when it is worth three cents on the dollar less than it was at home and that he loses his three cents and cost of transportation besides. What will he do with his money? He must either invest it in property here or go home with it. He could not buy gold with it or gold exchange unless gold and silver were at par. In this case there could be no reason for preferring the one metal to the other. If gold went to a premium he would have to pay the premium on his exchange, thus entailing on him additional loss on his enterprise of sending us shiploads of silver. If he invests his shipload of silver money in our property and business enterprises he will at once stimulate industries, awaken enterprises and give us a healthy business and sound currency. Prosperity, peace and stagnation in the gold countries would force shiploads of their people to this country in search of their lost shiploads of money. The nations of the old world are aware of this. They will see to it that no such thing occurs. They know the advantage the free coinage of silver would guarantee us, hence their uniform predictions that calamity would be the result instead of prosperity. They are not in the habit of giving us trustworthy advice as to the course we should pursue in this matter."

WINDOM'S WORDS QUOTED.

The report then quotes from the report of Mr. Windom, then secretary of the treasury, for the year 1889 in which the secretary took the position that no danger need be apprehended of a flood of European silver. Says the secretary: "There is in fact no known accumulation of silver bullion anywhere in the world. Germany long since disposed of her stock of melted silver coins, partly by sale, partly by recoinage into her own subsidiary coins and partly by use in coining for Egypt. Only recently it became necessary to purchase silver for the Egyptian coinage executed at the mint at Berlin."

"It is plain" the report continues, "that there is no danger that the silver product of past years will be poured into our mints unless new steps be taken for demonetization and for this impro-able contingency ample safeguards can be provided. Nor need there be any serious apprehension that any considerable part of the stock of the silver coin of Europe would be shipped to the United States for deposit for treasury notes. There is much less reason for shipping coin to this country than bullion, for while the leading nations of Europe have discontinued the coinage of full legal tender silver pieces they have provided by law for maintaining their existing stock of silver coins at par. In England, Portugal and the states of the Scandinavian union there is no stock of silver coin except subsidiary coins required for change purposes, the nominal value of which is far in excess of the bullion value. Germany has in circulation about $100,000,000 in old silver thalers but ten years have passed since the sales of bullion arising under the anti-silver legislation of 1873 were discontinued. The states of the Latin union and Spain, which has a similar monetary system, are the only countries in Europe which have any large stock of silver coins and the commercial necessities of these countries are such that they could not afford without serious financial distress to withdraw from circulation silver coins which are at par with their gold coins to deposit them at our mints on payment of their bullion value in notes.

ALLEGED GOLD CONSPIRACY.

"The truth is," the majority report continues, "that the conspiracy formed in the old world, planned and successfully carried through there and here, was aimed to confine the debt-paying medium of the nations concerned to the single metal-gold. For this purpose the par of centuries was broken. Gold was decreed to rapidly rise in value, thus adding fifty per cent to the value of credits, enriching creditors, public and private, at the expense of debtors and tax payers; enormously depressing the value of labor and the products of labor as compared to notes, bonds and mortgages. The words free coinage of silver sent a thrill of terror to the promoters of this conspiracy and the beneficiaries. They know that when this great government thus throws its weight in the silver balance the world will again be restored to full faith and confidence in the future safety of silver as the money of the world. The conspiracy would be exposed and defeated. It is this phase of the issue they fear, not the swapping of shiploads of dollars. It is the restoration of the bimetallic par. It is the skeleton of defeated fraud and avarice, public and private, at the expense of the world we are called upon to meet in battle on the free coinage question. The bushwhacking warfare waged against the restoration of silver is the most potent exhibition of the weakening of the enemy."

"It is argued first that all our gold will go to a premium and be hoarded. In the next breath it is stated that the silver miners will be enriched by coining his bullion, worth 75 cents, into a dollar worth 100 cents, not stopping to think that this could not be so unless the free coinage of silver puts it at par with gold, in which case there could be no premium on gold and no hoarding for such reasons.

"The next slogan is that the billions of silver coins of other countries would immediately be brought here to exchange for our gold without stopping to reflect that today we have only $225,000 of gold in the federal treasury and even this cannot by any proposed free coinage law be drawn out in payment for silver dollars or coin notes.

"Again it is said we give the silver miner at our mints a dollar for bullion that costs only 41 cents without hesitating a moment to reflect that the gold miner, as is often done, extracts five ounces a day in gold that we coin into a $100 when his day's wages is worth only $3 to $4, thus coining his product that costs but $4 into money of $100. There are no mining statistics that can even approximate the vast outlay of labor and capital, not to say privation and deprivation, wasted absolutely in the search for precious metals, gold and silver. The old adage, 'it takes a gold mine to work a silver mine' is an illustration of the costs of such mining. Many thousands waste their labor and capital in fruitless search for the hidden treasure. As a mining question it may be fairly said that the gold miner now has a monopoly at our mints; that equality and equal justice should give the silver miner the same privilege. It is urged in no prejudicial and blind mind."

"When the utter inconsistencies and fallacies of all the other objections to free coinage is shown, we are confronted with the ultimatum that our gold will flee this country at once, contracting our currency to the amount of $686,000,000. The monthly statement of the secretary of the treasury for January 1, 1892, shows that we have in the treasury in gold coined bullion $278,246,750. The last annual report of the controller of the currency shows gold in national banks amounting to $87,675,142 and in private banks and other institutions $8,883,552, a total in banks of $96,558,694, making a total in treasury and in banks of $374,805,444.

DISAPPEARANCE OF GOLD.

"Of all the objections urged against free coinage this, in the opinion of your committee, is the only one that deserves serious consideration. That the change proposed in our currency laws, involving the complete restoration of the bimetallic standard and a return to the coinage of both metals on equal terms, will cause for the moment some apprehension and probably a disposition to hoard gold may be expected. Yet any evils that may result must in the nature of the situation be transitory. Yet it will not be contended that our laws relating to the currency or tariff or other methods of taxation need to be altered. The ultimate good to be obtained is and always has been a sufficient argument for amendments.

TO RESTORE SILVER NOW WOULD NOT MAKE THE RADICAL CHANGE THAT WAS EFFECTED IN OUR CURRENCY LAWS BY THE ACT DEMONETIZING IT. INDEED DEMONETIZATION TOOK PLACE WITHOUT A WARNING AND AT A TIME WHEN WE WERE LOOKING TO A RESTORATION OF COIN PAYMENTS AND SURELY NEEDED ALL THE SPECIE POSSIBLE.

"We have approached free coinage gradually. We resumed the coinage of the standard silver dollar in 1878 with the distinct purpose of putting this country on the gold and silver basis. At no time since then has there been a cessation on the part of a vast majority of our population of efforts for its complete rehabilitation. We have coined over four hundred millions of silver dollars and have besides over fifty millions of silver bullion and are now purchasing forty-five hundred thousand ounces every month or fifty-four million ounces annually. Our approach to free coinage has been steady and persistent. We believe silver should have been restored at once in 1878. Then the longer it is delayed the greater the injustice done to our gold.

GOLD WOULD BE FORCED OUT.

"A few timid people and a few misers might for a moment hoard gold but the gold in this country for the most part is held by a class of our citizens who are too shrewd and alive to their own interests to drop this gold into the sea or bury it in the ground whence it came and whence it will continue to be extracted. The holders of gold could not and would not bear the loss of so much dead capital. At least they would do no more with gold than they are now doing, loan it out on contracts for the return of the principal and interest in gold.

"We are suffering all the evils alleged against free coinage by its opponents without the realization of any of the benefits of free coinage claimed by its friends. The restoration of silver as a money metal by this country would at once allay all fears of its ultimate demonetization by the nations of the world. It would give confidence in silver as a safe medium of exchange, leaving no pretext whatever for the apprehensions now indulged in. There could be no hoarding of gold. The stocks of coined silver that would be added to the world's money would in the nature of things cheapen gold and render it less burdensome to meet gold contracts than now. Take $900,000,000 of gold out of our circulation immediately and before the vacuum could be supplied by free coinage it would necessarily lower prices to such an extent that gold would buy more of commodities than now, consequently gold investments here would be more remunerative than now."

The report then takes up the question of the relation of the silver question to India for the purpose of showing that silver demonetization operates as a bonus on Indian exports to our disadvantage.

ONE WAY OF ADVERTISING.

One of the meanest and most heartless of advertising tricks consists in sending round to people's houses, and especially to ladies, advertisements in telegraph envelopes, or in envelopes which imitate them so closely that no one supposes that they are anything else until they are opened. Saturday evening—it was in the evening, let it be noted, when ordinary messages are hardly expected—a lady of the Listener's acquaintance, who had been very ill, received one of these missives. She is weak and broken, and being summoned to receive what she supposed to be a telegraphic message gave her a severe shock. A worse case than this is an actual one of a sea captain's wife who lives in an outlying part of the city. The captain's ship has been long overdue, and all the people of the neighborhood sympathized with the wife in her agonizing suspense. There came a call to the door "for a message," and the lady answered it with her heart in her mouth.

She tore open the supposed telegraph envelope, only to read the message, "You are wanted immediately at — Tremont street to test the merits of the new sewing machine." Naturally everybody in the neighborhood is indignant, and such an advertisement is certainly bad policy, for there is not a family thereabout who would purchase a sewing machine of the make advertised if any other kind was to be had. Perhaps a like feeling of indignation, stirred up in many neighborhoods, will have the effect to put an end to this offensive and mischievous kind of advertising, which no reputable firm, it would seem, would engage in.—Boston Transcript.

CAUSE OF THE CHINESE TROUBLE.

Secret societies extend all over the Chinese empire, and their names legion. They are semi-religious, and have, as a rule, the power of life and death over their members. The Triad society is one of the strongest. It was the cause of a great rebellion in northwest and middle China at the beginning of this century, and its object then was to overthrow the government. This rebellion lasted eight years. It caused the devastation of the provinces in which it went on, and there was much bloodshed.

The secret societies were mixed up in the Tai-Ping rebellion, which very nearly resulted in the overthrow of the Manchou emperor. It is said that the present troubles are largely due to these secret societies. Some of them have their members in every province of the empire, and they embrace the Chinamen living at Singapore, San Francisco and all other parts of the world. Every one has heard of the Highbinders of San Francisco, who have their courts and punishments, and are the terror of the Celestial colony there.—Frank G. Carpenter in National Tribune.

A young man lost an eye the other night in Chicago by a jab from a needle-like weapon that projected from the hat of a young woman who was accidentally thrown against him.

Joseph Ransom, who died recently in Cincinnati leaving an estate amounting to $6,000,000, was the largest holder of United States bonds in that city.

A VIGOROUS REJOINER.

"Noit Cetorp" Attacks the Free Trade Arguments Advanced by "A Democrat."

THEIR FUNDAMENTAL FALLACY SHARPLY EXPOSED.

The Inaccuracy of the Alleged Facts on Which They Are Based Convincingly Shown.

SOME FACTS FOR FREE TRADERS.

CHICAGO, Feb. 13, 1892.

EDITOR MINING JOURNAL:—I have read, with much interest, the communication of "A Democrat" under date of Feb. 2nd, published in your columns, in which he announces that he will dispose of my letter of Jan. 19th. From the able communications I have seen from the same pen, I expected to find some sort of a reply to the protection doctrine contained in my letter, but to say that I was disappointed is a mild expression. I am reminded of two scenes in Hamlet:

"Horatio. These are but wild and whirling words, my lord," and "Polonius. What do you read, my lord?"

"Hamlet. Words, words, words."

I also thought of the cuttle-fish, which "has an ink-bag opening into the siphon, from which, when pursued, it throws out a dark liquid that clouds the water, enabling it to escape observation."

Cuttle-fish tactics will not work in this case. Nothing but plain, unequivocal answers to the arguments of protection will satisfy the readers of the MINING JOURNAL, or me. I take it that "A Democrat's" elaborate dodging and evasions of the points in my former letter are equivalent to an admission of his inability to reply. Hence the emulation of the cuttle-fish.

Now let's see how he "disposes" of my letter, which was divided into numbered paragraphs. He makes no attempt to answer my "first," except his allusion to the foreign ore I saw at Pittsburgh, and which he claims "testifies to the fact of an inadequate supply of native Bessemer ore at that time." Unhappily for this clever position, I am able to state that on the same visit to Pittsburgh I met several Lake Superior miners who were anxiously looking for customers for Bessemer ores then lying unsold at Lake Erie ports.

The only allusions to my "second" are the questions, "what the $50,000,000 sent abroad for foreign iron in 1890 consisted of?" "Was it wheat?" "Was it cotton goods?" "Was it gold? If so, how much of it would the workingman have had?" Poor cuttle-fish! The ink-bag does not seem to work well! Did "A Democrat" ever know of American merchants paying for iron and iron ore with wheat, or with cotton goods? I never did. The foreign iron sold in this country is consigned to those who pay gold for the goods they buy. The workingman's share of the $50,000,000 would not have been less than $15,000,000, and if the greedy American capitalist—instead of his European competitor—had secured the other $35,000,000 the American workingman would have had a "right-smart chance" at it when it was re-exported in American contraband prizes. The "fulness of my knowledge" is not sufficient to enable me to condense into a newspaper letter even an enumeration of the labor-items represented in the production and placing in consumers' hands of $50,000,000 worth of iron and steel. A bare mention of some of the items may convey to the mind of "A Democrat" some idea of the almost endless extent to which the production of $50,000,000 worth of iron and steel affects labor. I will only stop to mention the labor represented by the mining of the ore; providing fuel for steam used in hoisting and transportation; for smelting and re-working; preparing timber for the mines; making powder and applying used in mining the ore and fuel transportation by precedent water; labor at the furnace, rolling mills, foundries and workshops; building and maintenance of railroads, ships, cars, buildings, machinery; providing food, clothing, amusements, etc., etc., etc.

It is practically endless, and that is why "protection" prefers to keep the $50,000,000 paid out for foreign iron, in one year, at home and let it add to the volume of American wealth at the rate of $500,000,000 in ten years, to say nothing of the natural increase. This wealth could not be used without benefitting the laboringmen of America. Surely, it must be better to keep this wealth at home than to send it out of the country where it cannot possibly benefit any American.

No allusion is made by "A Democrat" to "silber." In this masterly silence, I believe, he has the precedent, occasionally, of so distinguished and able examples as some of the courts of his own state. It is a good rule: "When you know you cannot do a thing, do not try."

To my "fourth," partial reply is made in three short paragraphs. In the first he courts the fate of Annabias by reasserting, without attempting proof, that there is a deficiency of native Bessemer ores. The supply of iron ore in the ground, opened ready for mining, does "constitute a supply for the furnaces which use ore," and if my reckless friend will take the trouble to inform himself he will learn that the mines now opened in the Lake Superior region can supply now all the Bessemer ores required to furnish all the Bessemer steel wanted in the United States. If the miners do not choose to recklessly mine this supply of ore and throw it on the market, regardless of price, it speaks well for their judgment and indicates that they have learned something on those few occasions when they forgot to follow so wise and conservative a policy. In reply to the second paragraph, I am "pleased" to inform "A Democrat" that I do not know the exact amount of unsold Bessemer ore at Lake Erie ports at the close of 1890, but I have it from some of the miners of Bessemer ore that they had a large quantity of unsold ore at that time, and know the quantity of such ore owned by some of the companies, but I do not know how much was owned by all the miners. This ore could have taken the place of the foreign ore by being made into the forms into which the foreign ore was worked. This is somewhat simple and elementary, but "A Democrat's" questions seem to require replies out of the primer. As to his third paragraph, I dare say that my Calumet friend has heard of even so reliable a publication as the Iron Trade Review being mistaken sometimes and making erroneous statements. I had the information as to the quantity of unsold ore at the close of 1890 from people who owned a large part of it. I submit, therefore, that my information was most correct. My statement as to the quantity of unsold ore and not to the total quantity on the docks of Lake Erie at the close of 1890.

To my "fifth," no answer. More masterly silence.

To my "sixth," he advances the assumption that his random statements "tend to prove" that the removal of the duty from iron-ore would not only have no effect to decrease the home production of ore, "but would, on the contrary, increase the demand for native Bessemer ore," ending his paragraph with a laud description of the manner in which the foreign Bessemer ore would be used as a mixture with native non-Bessemer. But, why not use native Bessemer with the native non-Bessemer? Then, again: "The excess of iron produced with free importation of ore would be exported." Not necessarily in the form of pigs, but in manufactured forms, etc., "for which there is even now, under the disadvantages of the tariff, a considerable demand." "The disadvantages of the tariff" amount to $1.24 1/2 per ton of pig iron (if all foreign ore is used). This iron, if exported in the shape of pigs, must compete with iron quoted Feb. 4th in England at $12 per ton. (Bessemer pig-iron, same day in Philadelphia, quoted at $15.50 to $17.50.) If exported in the form of steel rails, competition must be met with rails quoted in England at $18.08 to $18.37. (Steel rails in Philadelphia, same day, $30.) After removing "the disadvantages of the tariff" ($1.24 1/2 per ton) where would the other reductions come from? If I enable American iron-masters to compete with these prices, why should they not ship their iron to all parts of the United States? The wide margins above quoted would pay freight for a long distance inland. If this iron came inland at prices which would enable us to sell in England, why would it not be the place of iron made from Lake Superior ores? If it did so, why would it not affect the home production of ore, and the wages of the miners?

To my "seventh" is advanced quotations of prices of iron ores at Atlantic ports. No authority is given for these prices and "A Democrat's" evident ignorance of the iron-ore trade of the United States seems to make support for his figures necessary, before much confidence can be placed in them. His corrected average price for imported iron-ore, for several years, is "about $2.25 per ton." The statistics published by the American Iron and Steel Association, show the average value of all iron-ores imported from 1886 to 1890, inclusive, to have been less than $2.12 per ton. A trifling difference, perhaps, but one amounting in the aggregate to over $500,000 in the value of the ores imported in five years. Then, too we are figuring on a business which is to enable us to "sell steel rails in London!"

To my "ninth," no answer. No answer, no "disposal!"

To my "tenth," he "repeats" a statement which was not denied by me, i. e., that "periods of low tariff have not been uniformly periods of adversity, nor periods of higher tariff periods of greatest prosperity." I repeat, "That the periods of protection have had much more prosperity than adversity." I also assert that the periods of low tariff, free trade, or of "tariff for revenue only" have had much more adversity than prosperity. In his closing paragraph he perverts one of my statements, and resorts to the desperate expedient of misrepresentation. If he will read my statement again he will see, what must have been plain to every other reader, that I said that "tariff revision" did not seem to "inure to the benefit of the laborer." When we see a man charge a shot gun at close quarters at a barn door and fail to hit either the door or the barn, the effect of the shot does not seem to be worth discussion.

So much for "A Democrat's" "disposal" of my letter of January 19th. I submit that his "words, words, words" do not "dispose" of any of my positions. To use a military simile, he kicked up such a dust in moving his forces that I expected a vigorous attack. He even replies, feebly, to some of my guns, but with a random, desultory fire, so badly aimed that I "did not lose a man." Under cover of his dust-cloud he has left the field, abandoning the positions selected by himself.

He who fights and runs away, May live to fight another day.

Having conducted this masterly retreat, he now proposes to take up a new position, on the field of American history, generously allowing me to select the period, or point of attack, intimating his own preference for the period of 1846 to 1861. This period, he thinks, was prosperous enough to enable him to maintain an argument in favor of free-trade. If the last four or five years of that period represent "A Democrat's" ideas of prosperity, his predictions in favor of free-trade are explained. I doubt not, however, that those readers of the MINING JOURNAL, whose memory reaches back to 1857, will join me in the hearty wish that we may never see that kind of prosperity again. Those who do not remember those years, should ask those who do and learn something of the kind of "prosperity" brought to the United States by free-trade. The other years of the period named, (1846 to 1847) embrace the period referred to by me in my former letter as the exceptional period of prosperity under free-trade in this country. But, for a full review of this period, see chapter IX of Blaine's "Twenty Years in Congress," referred to by "A Democrat." The exceptional and accidental causes of the prosperity during that decade would have happened under a protective tariff and the greater part, if not all, the commercial disasters of 1857-1861 would have been averted. I have no objection to taking up and discussing that, or any other, period of American history, although the antilegal "A Democrat" abandoned the antilegal "A Democrat" small bore and antiquated pattern that I may not find it "worth the powder," after all. The free-trader who can derive consolation from reading Blaine's "Twenty Years in Congress" must have the cheerful disposition of Mark Tapley. A careful perusal of chapter IX is hereby recommended to all readers of the MINING JOURNAL. A re-perusal will be found profitable reading. If "A Democrat" has any new light to shed upon the relation of the tariff to prosperity and adversity, not fully covered by the above-mentioned chapter, I shall be glad to hear from him.

Now, a word or two in regard to some of the "wild and whirling words" in "A Democrat's" last letter. If the tariff does not increase wages, it certainly does not decrease them. "Wages are controlled by the relation of the supply of labor to the demand for it." Precisely so. The free trader, by importing instead of producing, diminishes the demand for labor without diminishing the supply. Hence, lower wages under free-trade. Then he "proposes to show" that production and consequent demand for labor will not be decreased, but the unsupported statements are vagaries of a writer who has shown himself so ignorant of the iron ore business fail to "show" in a way that will carry any weight. If the United States can produce the great bulk of the iron it uses at lower cost than it can be supplied by any other country, why the difference in the market quotations in the United States and Europe, with 256 idle furnaces in this country, out of a total of 569? Of course we can produce the cheap iron for which the free-trader yearns, but the man who does the labor must work for the rate of wages which will equalize the market values with those of Europe.

"Under a lower tariff we expect to figure the labor-cost first." Why not figure the labor-cost now and see what margin there is to cut? Then cut the tariff. How much have you left for the use of capital? I commend this easy little mathematical calculation to the miners in the Lake Superior iron mines. The long sentence in which the above quotation occurs is worthy of careful study by students of political economy. Lower wages, no tariff; higher wages, prosperity, lessened cost of living; reduced expenses of production owing to greater economy compelled by foreign competition; larger product; and profit "large enough" all in one sentence. If the workingmen wish to try it, they will have an opportunity to say so next November!

NEENAH AND MENASHA, WIS.

An admirer of the Wisconsin Central Lines, at the foot of Lake Winnebago, and like other towns on or near this sheet of water, are very important manufacturing centers. The general government recognizing the value of the location for manufacturing purposes built extensive dams, the lake forming a water head of unflinching capacity, hence there is furnished water power practically unlimited in the capacity. The famous Menasha water power is the first of the great hydraulic power, and is made by a ten foot fall of the river between Lakes Winnebago and Buttes des Morts. The water is carried along two canals, one nearly a mile in length and the other one 1,700 feet long, which run parallel with the shore. On their banks are located the many prosperous manufacturing establishments, including five large paper mills, flour mills, stove works and other too numerous to mention. The Wisconsin Central Lines is the direct route from Chicago and Milwaukee, affording unequalled service.

A Heavy Blast.
One of the most terrific and effective blasts ever made in the extensive stone quarries at Glen Mills, West Chester, Pa., was made the other day. In the face of that portion of the quarries which is opened about eighty yards in length nine holes twenty-five feet in depth were drilled at equal distances apart. In these 500 pounds of dynamite were placed, and all responded to the touch of the electric button at the battery, several hundred yards distant.
Hundreds of thousands of tons of stone were raised and broken by the explosion, many of the pieces being as large as a freight car. The arrangements for the blast being generally known in that section hundreds of people assembled to see it. The amount of stone loosened by the explosion will be sufficient to keep busy the several large crushers for many weeks.—Cor. Philadelphia Ledger.
Rapid Release for the Farmer.
A practical illustration of the benefit to the farmer of the proposed system of freight service will soon be given in Maryland, where an electric road eighteen miles long is being run through a first class farming country that the steam railroads have not touched. This road will not only be used for passenger traffic, but will be equipped with freight cars that will have a capacity of five tons. No matter how muddy the highways are or how stormy the weather, the motor trucks upon which the farm wagons are wheeled will always be ready to carry their loads to the nearest market, and to bring back their return load when required.—Pittsburg Dispatch.
His Trap Carried Off by a Buzzard.
A boy living at Lewes missed one of his muskrat traps, the chain of which was broken, indicating that the trap had been carried away by something stronger than a muskrat. Two weeks afterward he found the trap in Russell's woods, and caught in it was a large turkey buzzard fastened by the leg. The trap was opened and the vulture flew away. Alongside of the bird while it was in the trap were two eels, which are supposed to have been brought to the captive by other buzzards.—Wilmington News.
A Monumental Yarn.
Of all the Munchausenlike stories that are going the rounds, this one is by no means the most trifling: "Eight years ago H. H. Bowles, of Cherryfield, Me., planted in his garden a small flowering shrub. Near the shrub grew a green gage and a cherry tree. Last year the shrub put forth cherry blossoms, but bore no fruit. This year it produced luscious fruit of the green gage variety."—Philadelphia Ledger.
The superintendent of the Pine Ridge agency in South Dakota was staggered the other day when a little Indian boy very timidly asked him if there was danger of another uprising of the white people soon.
In Camden one Sunday afternoon recently a two-year-old child sucked its father's old clay pipe and died within an hour in strong convulsions.
In St. Louis recently a large building in one of the best business streets of the city was torn down simply because it was thought to be "hoodooed," which shows that superstition still has a strong hold on some people.

GOT HER INSURANCE MONEY

Mrs. John Gleason Receives the Insurance on Her Husband's Life in the A. O. U. W. Order.

ISHPEMING'S THIRD SNOW SHOE CLUB WILL TRAMP TONIGHT.

Report Ready on Fire Alarm System Will Produce the "Huntsman" in Ishpeming—Want to See "Esther."

THE MONEY PAID.

Recorder A. W. Gibbs, of Ishpeming, Lodge No. 113, A. O. U. W., received a draft for $2,000 from the financier of the head lodge at Detroit on Saturday, the same being the death claim of the late John Gleason. The money was immediately paid over to Mrs. Gleason, wife of the deceased.

'Nother Snow Shoe Club.

The Excelsior is the name of a snow shoe club recently organized here by the members of the Catholic club. The members of this club will meet tonight in full uniform at the club room to take their first tramp for the season. The boys have extended invitations to a number of their friends and a big attendance is certain. Musical and literary exercises will be in order after the tramps return to the meeting place in the convent school building. This will be the last meeting of the club in its present quarters, as the school attendance is increasing to such an extent that it was found necessary to use the club room for school purposes. The new meeting place of the club will be in the Heine-man block, second floor, where a room is now being fitted up for its use.

Fire Alarm Boxes.

Mr. A. H. Knott, who has been here the past few days in the interest of the Gamewell Fire Alarm Co. of Chicago, looking over the fire alarm boxes of this city, finished his work Saturday and left for Marinette yesterday, where he will put in a fire alarm system. Mr. Knott has made out a report on the condition of the boxes here and left the same with Chief Routhier, of the fire department, for submission to the common council at the next regular meeting of that body, which will occur on Wednesday evening of this week. In his report Mr. Knott makes the city three different propositions relative to repairing the old system or putting in a new one. The matter will be fully discussed at the council meeting, but it is quite likely no action will be taken just yet, as two of the aldermen are out of the city, and the council will be likely to postpone final action until a full board is present.

The "Huntsman."

Messrs. W. M. Farnum and Harry Coffman, who will be remembered here as playing the leading roles as the "firemen" in the Midnight Alarm company when it gave a performance here last Thanksgiving, were in the city Saturday, and will be here again today, to make arrangements with some local organization for the production of the "Huntsman" in Ishpeming within a week or two. The gentlemen produced the play, with the assistance of local talent, at West Superior a few weeks ago and scored a big hit there, realizing a neat little sum for the organization for whose benefit the entertainment was given.

They Will Go.

If the necessary provision for seating them is made when the production of the cantata "Queen Esther" at Marquette takes place several members of the Harmonic club with their friends, will go from Ishpeming attend it, as the same cantata is being rehearsed here in about two months. The parties here are very desirous of witnessing its production at Marquette, as it will greatly assist them bringing it out here. Frequent rehearsals are being held and a fine production may be looked for.

The Lutteman Sextette.

February 27th is the date set for the appearance here of the Lutteman Sextette. The company is a good one and needs no recommendation to the musical people of Ishpeming, as it appeared here a year ago, playing a two-night engagement, and drew crowded houses. Advertising matter is at hand and will be brought to the public's notice the early part of this week. Those who appreciate charming music will not miss this entertainment, for it is not often that so good a musical company comes our way.

Light for the Engine House.

Twenty-seven incandescent lights of 16-candle power have just been placed in No. 1 engine house of the fire department. The wiring of the building is also completed and the current will probably be turned on this evening. Ten of these lights will burn all night, and the remaining seventeen till 11 o'clock. The cost of the electric lights will be about one-half what the same number of gas lights would cost the city, and the light will be much better, besides.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

Today is pay-day at the Lake Superior Iron Co.'s mines.

Miss Colina Charbonneau, of Champion, was here Saturday and Sunday.

The Ishpeming Snow Shoe club will hold a regular meeting and take a tramp tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McKutcheon left yesterday for Chicago, where they will remain a few days.

The electric street car will start on its regular route at 7:30 a. m. tomorrow.

crowded during the afternoon. Four cars were run yesterday, it being the first time that this number was put on.

What was the matter with Pete Donzereau, of Mush Rat Falls, last week? Presumably he must have had the grip or got into the Shin Fanes' tracks and got lost.

The local lodge A. O. U. W. will hold special meetings Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week to act on applications for membership to the lodge preparatory to the big initiation of new members on the night of the 25th.

Mrs. Wm. Anderson, of Belle Plain, Iowa, is here, the guest of the Misses Kate and Julia Cahill. She will leave for home in a few days and will be accompanied by Mrs. Cahill, who will visit her son William at that place for a few weeks.

The interior of the French Catholic church is fast nearing completion. Work is being pushed at a rapid rate, about fifteen men being steadily employed there. It is expected that mass will be celebrated in the church a week from Sunday next.

It will be held at the Sons of St. George hall on Division street and its object is to discuss the project generally and perfect arrangements for institution of a lodge here.

Seeing the Fair at the Installment Plan.

An organization has formed a plan whereby any one in New York may visit the World's fair, paying their expenses on the installment plan. A membership fee of five dollars is charged to pay the running expenses of the society. The remaining payments are in installments of, say, one dollar a week for fifty-five weeks.

To provide against loss of the people's savings by accident or fraud, all moneys so deposited are turned over to the New York Security and Trust company. Under the deed of trust the society gets no money from the Trust company until the members have been given their ticket and coupons providing for their transportation and board. Each member then signs a receipt, and on presentation of a number of these to the Trust company it releases a corresponding amount of money. The benefits, to be furnished at any time after the opening of the World's Columbian exposition, on fifteen days' notice, up to twenty days preceding its closing, are:

A first class railway ticket from a designated point to Chicago and return. Transfer in Chicago for self and usual allowance of baggage from station to hotel or lodgings and return.

Six admission tickets to the Columbian exposition.

Dinner at a restaurant on the grounds for six days.

An accident insurance ticket in a reliable company for fifteen days, commencing on date of departure from home, paying $3,000 in case of death by accident, or $15 per week in case of accidental injury.—New York World.

The Queen's Reporter.

The post of "queen's reporter" in parliament is vacant by the elevation of Lord Lewisham to the upper house. It is said that Mr. Balfour will undertake the duties with his new office. Both Lord Palmerston and Mr. Gladstone, when they led the house, were queen's reporters.—London Tit-Bits.

East of the Mississippi.

It is repeated very often that for the first time a Republican convention is to be held "west of the Mississippi river." It is not thus in this case. The Minneapolis exposition building, where the convention will meet, is not on the west side, but is on the east side of the river.—Lancaster Examiner.

HOW TO SUCCEED.

This is the great problem of life which few satisfactorily solve. Some fail because of poor health, others want of luck, but the majority from deficient grit—want of nerve. They are nervous, irresolute, changeable, easily get the blues and "take the spirits down to keep the spirits up," thus wasting money, time, opportunity and nerve force. There is nothing like the Restorative Nervine, discovered by the great specialist, Dr. Miles, to cure all nervous diseases, as headache, the blues, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, fits and hysteria. Queer Phenomenon at Sea.

Captain J. Roben, commander of the Lloyd steamer Neckar, has written to the German marine observatory in Bremen that when he was off Sakota, on Sept. 1, at 9 p. m., the sea suddenly became an even milk white luminous color, which at times seemed to flame up from the depths of the water, like the increased glow of an electric lamp when the current grows too strong.

No bottom was found when the lead was sunk, and at 10 p. m. the sharp edge between the bright and the dark water was reached. After twenty-five minutes quite bright water again appeared, and after 11 p. m. it decreased.

The next night the phenomenon was observed to be still more intense, but after that it was not again met with. The appearance had nothing in common with the usual phosphorescence of the sea.

During its presence the horizon was everywhere distinctly visible, except where at various changing points on the horizon the light seemed to shine brightly, at which time a thin haze seemed to lie on the water.—London News.

ENTIRELY SATISFACTORY.

W. J. Arkell, publisher of Judge and Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, writes:

"About three weeks since while suffering from a severe cold which had settled on my chest, I applied an Alcock's Plaster, and in a short time obtained relief."

"In my opinion, these plasters should be in every household, for use in case of coughs, colds, sprains, bruises, or pains of any kind. I know that in my case the result has been entirely satisfactory and beneficial."

HAPPY HOOSIERS.

Wm. Timmons, postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from kidney and liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best kidney and liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c. a bottle at H. H. Stafford & Son's drug store."

GUARANTEED CURE.

We authorize our advertised druggist to sell Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds upon this condition. If you are afflicted with a cough, cold or any throat, lung or chest trouble and will use this remedy as directed, giving it a fair trial, and experience no benefit you may return the bottle and have your money refunded. We could not make this offer did we not know that Dr. King's New Discovery could be relied on. It never disappoints. Trial bottles free at H. H. Stafford & Son's drug store. Large size 50c. and $1.00.

The following is from January, 1892, number Western Druggist.

It long experience in the wholesale drug business counts for anything; if a constantly increasing business bears witness to progress and enterprise; if a large and complete stock of drugs of guaranteed quality assures satisfaction in filling orders; if expeditious and courteous business methods attract and hold customers; then with a assurance that such conditions will continue for the future, and in a greater measure, possible, these are good reasons why druggists should give the well-known Chicago house, Robert Stevenson & Co., a trial. If not already dealing with them, they should also bear in mind that NO CUTTER is ever supplied by this honorable firm.

OFFICER HOGAN BITTEN.

A Lively Encounter Last Evening With a Huge Mastiff on Superior Street.

FIRST REGULAR MEETING OF M. S. S. C. TONIGHT IN NEW HOUSE.

Saturday Evening's Red Sky—A New Law Firm—The Masquerade Ball. What They Think About It.

WOULDN'T BE EJECTED.

Officer Hogan had an encounter with a large mastiff last night which was an intensely interesting one while it lasted and was ended by a dose of cold lead prescribed at short range. At a little after 7 o'clock Mrs. Timmons, who lives on Superior street next to the Carney block, on entering the house found that a big mastiff was following her in. She tried to drive him out but at one jump he tore her skirts off and then she decided to call for help.

Her son was the next person to tackle the dog but an instant later he was minus one coat sleeve and when another boy had his arm bitten by the dog it was thought time to call in Officer Hogan.

When he entered the house he found the dog peacefully curled up in one corner of the room while the household stood about in a state of siege. On speaking to the animal it wagged its tail in an appreciative manner and Officer Hogan started towards it. In an instant the huge creature had leaped squarely at his throat. Mr. Hogan threw up his left hand to ward the dog off—the huge jaws closing over the dog cuff on his coat and the long fangs cutting through the fur, two heavy coats and two shirts into the flesh. Throwing the dog off, "Denny" drew his revolver and fired, shooting the ugly brute in the breast.

The dog was a magnificent specimen of its breed and undoubtedly cost some considerable money. The owner of the dog is unknown, though last night the animal was supposed to be the mastiff recently purchased by J. E. Beau. Officer Hogan had his arm dressed by Dr. Youngquist and is on duty as before.

First Regular Meeting.

The Marquette Snow Shoe club will have its first regular gathering in the new club house tonight. The members will gather at 6:30 and walk out to John Stewart's for supper, whence they will strike across through the woods to the club house for a jolly evening there. Among the other features on the program will be a 15-minute paper by Archdeacon Williams, songs, stories, rope pulls, etc. The presence of as many members of the club in uniform as is possible is greatly desired.

The Rose Red Sky.

Marquette people observed a very peculiar phenomenon Saturday evening from about 6 o'clock until 7, the whole sky being lighted up as if by a great conflagration and the snow reflecting back a warm red tint. People ran out of their houses to look for a fire and the liveliest interest was aroused in the strange sight, the color varying in intensity and at times becoming a bright rose red from horizon to zenith. It would have quieted apprehension as to fires if it could have been known at the time that the same natural phenomenon was attracting notice and admiring awe over a large portion of the United States, being visible in cities a thousand miles apart. At Ann Arbor it was carefully observed from the university observatory and was announced as a rose red aurora. At Lyons, Iowa, it varied from blood-red to pink, flaming up to the zenith in great bursts of color, and at Cleveland, O., people ran out to look for fires. At St. Paul and Minneapolis it was not noticed, but at Milwaukee it was very bright and telegraphers, all except those working on east and west lines, were bothered by an "electric storm" as they usually style it, finding great difficulty in getting their lines to work.

A New Law Firm.

On April 1st Mr. Waples, now in the office of E. E. Osborn at Ishpeming, will become associated with George Arthur Brown of this city in the practice of law. The new firm will have the suite of offices on the second floor of the Nester block now occupied by Dr. Dawson, the latter having leased a suite of three rooms in the Everett block over Thies' new drug store.

The Masquerade Ball.

Great preparations are being made for the masquerade ball to be given next Friday night by the Marquette Masquerade Club at the Casino. The rink will be decorated by Nick Ritz and everything will be done to make the ball the grandest affair of its kind ever held in Marquette. The committee will see to it that perfect order is maintained, and everybody who attends is assured of a good time. Costumes are coming from outside and a large number of up-the-road maskers are expected.

The New Opera House.

To give an idea of Marquette's new opera house to its upper-penninsula contemporaries, the MINING JOURNAL mailed copies of the program for the opera house opening to them. The following are a few of the responses: The Marquette Opera House was opened with great success and we congratulate our neighbors of the Queen City that they have at last a place of amusement in which they can enjoy themselves and not feel, hear and smell that they are in a stable or barn. In commemoration of the event the MINING JOURNAL company issued a souvenir program of the three opening plays, and distributed them to the audience free of cost. The program, one of which is before us, is a beautiful specimen of the printer's art, printed in colors on heavy book paper, with the finest specimens of new type. It gives a fine view of the exterior of the building, and interior of the auditorium, and a short sketch of the enterprise from the inception to the opening night. As a work of the printer's art we have seen no better issued from any printing office in the state; and the people of Marquette certainly have reason for going to outside print shops for fine artistic work.—Ontonagon Miner.

Marquette's $100,000 opera house was dedicated on Monday evening with great eclat. The play was "Hazel Kirke," by the Edie Ellsler company. Boxes sold as high as $130 for the performance, and seats in the "nigger heaven" were $1.50 apiece. It is said to be the finest furnished opera house in the northwest. The programs issued by the MINING JOURNAL company, were elegant specimens of typography and colored printing. The Democrat acknowledges receipt of a program.—Menominee Democrat.

The Mirror acknowledges the receipt from the Marquette MINING JOURNAL of a handsome program printed in colors for the opening of the new Marquette Opera House, which was dedicated this week by the Edie Ellsler company. The program is a very handsome affair, and shows the good taste of the MINING JOURNAL'S force.—Escanaba Mirror.

Marquette's new opera house, the only first-class one in the upper peninsula, was successfully opened Monday night. Artistic programs were issued from the MINING JOURNAL presses for the occasion.—Soo News.

From the Sault.

Three prisoners were brought up from the Soo yesterday and turned over to the state authorities at the Marquette prison. Two, A. St. Peter and James Bell, were short term men, while the third was William Coulter, the man who killed his father, stood trial successfully and was acquitted only to make a sensational confession later through the influence of a series of revival meetings at the Soo. As he could not be tried for murder a second time he was arrested on a charge of perjury, and pleading guilty, was sentenced by Judge Steere to ten years at the branch state prison.

The "Marquette" Sold.

E. D. Chilson of Tecumseh, Mich., and Moore & Barstow, of Cleveland, are the parties interested in the purchase of the steamer Marquette from the Republic Iron Mining company. Mr. Chilson was managing owner of the steamer Oscar Townsend, lost last season, and the Townsend's consort, the Kelly, will now tow with the Marquette. The Marquette was formerly the steamer Republic and was built in Cleveland in 1881. She rated A2 and was valued at $80,000 in Lloyds last season.

A Stock Company.

C. H. Schaffer has turned his great charcoal business into a stock company, which has just filed articles as the Onota Charcoal company with a capitalization of $100,000. Mr. Schaffer and his brother-in-law, J. W. Belknap, remain the principal owners of the business.

The Aeolian!

[WHAT]

BILL NYE

Thinks of it.

"While in Chicago I had the pleasure of hearing one of your Aeolians, and the melody is still ringing in my ears. If you could see me since I heard that wonderful and accurate music, you would see a different man. I am more hopeful. My victrols and my wife both agree with me, and in my once sad heart the little pee wees are singing. Seriously it is a most wonderful instrument."

Mr. Nye is only one of the many who are surprised by this wonderful instrument. If the Aeolian had no other qualities than its beautiful tone and wonderful orchestral effects, it would be a marvelous instrument, but when to these are added that simplicity of operation that enables anyone to play it with a few days practice, it becomes phenomenal.

Herr Anton Seidl, leader of the German opera, New York city, has an Aeolian for his personal use and endorses it highly. You are earnestly invited to call and hear this wonderful instrument at
