THREE-CORNERED CONTEST.

People's Party Will Put a Presidential Candidate in the Field Next Fall.

NATIONAL CONVENTION WILL BE HELD JULY 4.

Alliance Joins Third Party Movement. Farmers' Platform a Curious Compound of Sense and Folly.

POLITICS WILL BE VERY HOT.

St. Louis, Feb. 24.—The most exciting and important session of the great national industrial conference was expected to take place today but a "blue and gray" mass meeting into which the convention resolved itself before grappling with the platform poured oil upon the troubled waters. Commander Vandervort of Nebraska, for the union veterans present in the convention, pledged President Polk, for the old confederate soldiers in attendance, that they would join hands to bury sectional hate and the treaty, if such it may be termed, was ratified in speeches by ex-Senator Van Wyck of Nebraska and B. F. Terrill of Texas. The "blue and gray" incident ended picturesquely by a delegate on the platform snatching up a big American flag and waving its folds over the head of Cabell of Virginia, a colored delegate.

The platform, the joint work of several committees in all-night sessions, was then read. It was as follows:

THE FARMERS' PLATFORM.

This, the first great labor conference of the United States and of the world, representing all divisions of urban and rural organized industry assembled in national congress, invoking upon its action the blessings and protection of almighty God, puts forth to and for the producers of the nation this declaration of union and independence.

The conditions which surround us best justify our co-operation.

We meet in the midst of a nation brought to the verge of moral, political and material ruin. Corruption dominates the ballot box, the legislatures, the Congress and touches even the ermine of the bench. The people are demoralized. Many of the states have been compelled to isolate the voters at the polling places in order to prevent universal intimidation or bribery. The newspapers are subsidized or muzzled; public opinion silenced, business prostrated, our homes covered with mortgages, labor impoverished and the land concentrating in the hands of capitalists. The urban workmen are denied the right of organization for self-protection. Importing paupered labor beats down their wages. A huge standing army, unrecognized by our laws, is established to shoot them down and they are rapidly degenerating to European conditions. The fruits of the soil are boldly stolen to build up colossal fortunes unprecedented in the history of the world, while their possessors despise the republic and endanger liberty. From the same prolific womb of governmental injustice we breed two great classes—paupers and millionaires.

OLD FATHER MONEY WAIL.

The national power to create money is appropriated to enrich bond holders. Silver, which has been accepted as coin since the dawn of history, has been demoralized to add to the purchasing power of gold by increasing the value of all forms of property, as well as human labor, and the supply of currency is purposely abridged to fatten usurers, bankrupt enterprises and enslave industry.

A vast conspiracy against mankind has been organized on two continents, and is taking possession of the world. If not met and overthrown at once it will bring to European conditions, the destruction of civilization, the establishment of an absolute despotism.

In this crisis of human affairs, the intelligent working people, producers of the United States have come together in the name of peace, order and justice, to defend liberty, property and justice.

We declare our union and independence. We assert our purpose to vote with that political organization which represents our principles. We charge that the controlling influences dominating the old political parties have allowed the existing dreadful conditions to develop without serious effort to restrain or prevent them. Neither do they now intend to accomplish reform. They have agreed together to ignore in the coming campaign every issue but one. They propose to drown the outcries of a plundered people with the uproar of a blind labor beats down their wages. A huge standing army, unrecognized by our laws, is established to shoot them down and they are rapidly degenerating to European conditions. The fruits of the soil are boldly stolen to build up colossal fortunes unprecedented in the history of the world, while their possessors despise the republic and endanger liberty. From the same prolific womb of governmental injustice we breed two great classes—paupers and millionaires.

We demand a national organization representing the political principles herein stated is necessary to redress the grievances of which we complain.

Assembled on the anniversary of the birth of the illustrious man who led the first great revolt on this continent against oppression, filled with the sentiment which actuated that grand generation, we seek to restore the government of the republic to the hands of the "plain people" with whom it originated.

Our doors stand open to all points of the compass. We ask all honest men to join with and help us.

In order to restrain the extortions of aggregated capital; to drive the money changers out of the temple; to form a perfect union and establish justice; insure domestic happiness; provide for the common defense; promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty for ourselves and our posterity we do ordain and establish the following platform:

DEMANDS OF THE THIRD PARTY.

We declare the union of the forces of the United States this day accomplished permanent and perpetual. May it in spirit enter into all hearts for the salvation of the republic and the uplifting of mankind.

Wealth belongs to him who creates it. Every dollar taken from industry without equivalent is robbery. The interests of rural and urban labor are the same. Their enemies are identical.

We demand a national currency; safe and flexible, issued by the general government, legal tender for all debts, public and private, and without the use of banking corporations, by payments in discharge of its obligation for public improvements.

We demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

We demand that the amount of circulation medium be speedily increased to not less than $50 per capita.

We believe that the money of the country should be kept as much as possible in the hands of the people and we demand all national and state revenues shall be limited to the necessary expenses of the government economically and honestly administered.

We demand that postal savings banks be established by the government for the safe deposit of earnings of the people.

PUBLIC LANDS AND RAILROADS.

The land, including the natural resources of wealth, is the heritage of all people and should not be monopolized for speculative purposes, but alien ownership of land should be prohibited. All lands now held by railroads and other corporations in excess of their actual needs should be reclaimed by the government and held for actual settlers only.

Transportation being a means of exchange and a public necessity the government should own and operate the railroads in the interests of the people.

The telegraph and telephone, like the postoffice system, being a necessity for the transmission of news should be owned and operated by the government in the interests of the people.

We demand that the government issue legal tender notes and pay the union soldier the difference between the price of the depreciated money in which he was paid and gold.

We hail this conference as the consummation of the perfect union of the hearts and hands of all sections of our common country.

The men who wore the gray and the men who wore the blue meet here to extinguish the last smoldering embers of war amid the feast of joy of a united and happy people and we agree to carry the stars and stripes forward forever to the highest point of national greatness.

FRIENDS OF CORPORATIONS FIELED.

The wildest excitement took place after the reading of the platform. One of the suspected "vampires of the corporations" on the floor attempted to edge in a motion amending the document and almost instantly there was a riot.

"I was requested by a delegate to make that motion" stubbornly returned the captive.

The man, who proved to be Fred. Swane, an ex-member of the Missouri legislature, was forcibly ejected.

The net result of the convention as figured tonight by the people's party, men who are chiefly from the northern tiers of states, is that they have by magnificent strategy effected a complete capture on the political strength of the farmer's alliance in the south.

On the other hand the southern alliance men, under the plea of having acted as individuals without in any way binding their organization, say that they have not altered one iota the position they have consistently held from away back.

CONVENTION JULY 4.

At midnight a committee with full authority from the convention was in session with the people's party national committee agreeing upon a date and place for a national presidential nominating convention. May 24 or July 4 were each favored.

July 4 was finally selected as the date and the place for holding the national convention was left to be chosen by a sub-committee of ten to be appointed by Mr. Taubeneck of Illinois.

HE FORGED POSTAL ORDERS.

German Fugitive From Justice Is Captured in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 24.—Herman Fughelegott Kuntzsch, a young German, was arrested Tuesday evening by the sheriff at his boarding house as a fugitive from justice. Today C. L. Hotze, an attorney representing the German government in this country, produced papers charging him with forging four postal money orders for an equivalent of $300 while in the employ of the German postal service at Croitsch, Saxony, last October. Kuntzsch is only 24 years old. He confessed his crime and has departed for New York in company with an officer to be given into custody of the German consul there. The forgeries were for the purpose of obtaining money with which to come to America. Kuntzsch is engaged to be married to Mary Nachteg, the daughter of his boarding house mistress in this city. He came to Cleveland direct from Germany after cashing the money orders and has since been employed in a stove foundry.

WILL SEAT TWENTY THOUSAND.

Chicago Will Build a Wigwam for the Democratic Convention.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—The wigwam in which the sessions of the democratic national convention will be held will be sufficiently large to seat 20,000 people. At least that is the understanding reached today by the local committee having in charge the erection of the structure. According to the agreement reached yesterday with the representatives of the national committee Chicago is to have one-fifth of the admission tickets. The original agreement called for seats for 15,000 persons but the local democrats desire more than the 3,000 tickets they would obtain under this arrangement. So they have decided to increase the size of the building. A design will be selected within a week and the erection of the wigwam commence almost immediately thereafter. It is thought it will be located on the lake front, north of the old exposition building.

CLAIM THEY ARE LAWFUL.

Lawyers Consider Kansas Fight on Trans-Missouri Association.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—A number of prominent railroad lawyers have been in conference here for two days relative to the suit brought by United States Attorney Ady in Kansas to dissolve the trans-Missouri freight and passenger association. The conclusion reached by the lawyers was that the Sherman act, on which Mr. Ady bases his main argument and hopes of success, has nothing whatever to do with the formation or control of railroad associations and that under the provisions of the interstate commerce law the railroads have perfect right to form themselves into associations for the regulation of reasonable rates.

GIRLS CRUSHED AND BURNED

Fall of Yorkshire Factory Chimney Kills and Injures Many Female Employes.

RUINS OF THE SHATTERED BUILDING TAKE FIRE.

Eight Girls Have Been Taken Out Dead and Five or More Are Still in the Ruins.

SCENE OF SUFFERING AND DEATH.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The manufacturing town of Cleckheaton in the West Riding of Yorkshire was today the scene of a frightful accident, resulting in the loss of a number of lives.

A massive chimney 60 yards high at the Marsmills flannel factory collapsed and fell on the roof of the factory just as a number of young women operatives were leaving work.

The piteous cries of those caught could be heard for a long distance. A fire broke out in which numbers of victims were burned to death.

The number all ready extricated includes eight killed and many injured by having their limbs crushed.

Five of those who were in the building at the time of the disaster are still missing and are not likely to be extricated before morning.

HORSEWHIPPED THE DOCTOR.

Mother's Grief for Her Child Drives Her Insane.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Feb. 24.—Dr. N. C. Townes, one of Chattanooga's best-known physicians, was horse-whipped in Market street today by Mrs. John Volstaat, a painter's wife. The woman stepped up to the doctor and exclaiming "You have murdered my child, now I shall kill you," struck the doctor several blows with a whip she had drawn from beneath her shawl. The doctor seized her hands but at that moment her husband sprang at him with a stick. Dr. Townes knocked Volstaat down and then the crowd rushed in and separated the parties. The cause of the affair was the mother's grief caused by the loss of an infant child whose death Mrs. Volstaat attributed to Dr. Townes' alleged improper treatment.

FACTIONS MUST UNITE FIRST.

Irish National League Officials Are Not in Harmony.

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 24.—William Lyman, treasurer, and John P. Sutton, secretary of the Irish National League of America, do not endorse the views expressed by President M. V. Gannon in his address of yesterday, to which their names were signed in good faith by Gannon, according to all precedent. They regret to be obliged publicly to dissent from the president's views but they do not believe in raising funds for distinct factions of what ought to be a united body. They think that the approach of a general election will force a union and that friends of home rule ought to raise funds to meet the emergency of a general election, the money to be used only for the support of a thoroughly united party.

SHAKEN OUT OF BED.

Several Light Earthquake Shocks Are Felt in Southern California.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 24.—The most violent earthquake shock ever experienced here roused the people out of bed at 11:14 last night. The movement continued nearly a minute. Buildings swayed so much that people were awakened from sound sleep and rushed to the street in their night clothes. The shock lasted so long that people had time to descend from third and fourth stories, look back and see the building still swaying. A loud rumbling noise accompanied the tremble. No damage was done. The shock was also felt at Los Angeles.

SANTA ANNA, Calif., Feb. 24.—Eight shocks of earthquake were felt here last night at 11:15 o'clock. The guests in all the hotels ran out. Clocks were stopped at San Bernardino. One heavy shock was felt, lasting about one minute and a quarter. The vibrations were northeast and southwest. No serious damage was done. The shock was followed by light trembling shocks all night.

FASTEST ON RECORD.

The Majestic Beats All Previous Ocean Steamer Speeds.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The passage of the steamer Majestic is, distance considered, the fastest on record. On her seventeenth voyage the time of passage was 5 days, 18 hours 8 minutes and the distance run 2,775 miles. The time of the voyage just completed was 5 days, 20 hours 22 minutes and the distance 2,865 miles, 90 miles more, equivalent at the rate to 4 hours and 28 minutes, which would make her time on the short route 5 days 15 hours 6 minutes, the fastest ever made. The average speed throughout the passage was 20.41 knots, or 23.48 miles per hour.

PROHIBITIONISTS MUST PUT UP.

St. Louis Must Raise $2,500 or Get No Convention.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 24.—The prohibitionists of this city have been notified by the national executive committee that for the national convention to come here June 29 the sum of $2,500 must be raised to help defray expenses. Cincinnati has offered to put up this amount and unless St. Louis raises the sum in ten days the committee will change the place of holding the convention to that city.

NOTE FREE TRADE FAVORABLE

Editor, Firm, of the Lake Superior Democrat, confesses that he has been for some time "carefully watching and waiting for a good chance to enter up" the Mining Journal on some of its tariff arguments, and thinks that the opportunity has come to him at last. In a recent number of this paper an article from the Manufacturer's Gazette, of Boston, discussing the causes of the decadence of the iron industry in the New England states, was reprinted and commented on, and in the statements of the Boston paper and the Mining Journal's comments thereon the editor of the Democrat seems to think he has found the opportunity for which he has been so long and patiently waiting.

The Gazette, taking the figures of the census bulletin showing the condition of the iron industry in that section of the union at the present time and the changes that have taken place during the twenty years intervening between 1870 and 1890 as the basis of its comparisons, traced the rise and fall of iron making in New England, and explained its decadence by stating that the furnaces, forges and rolling mills that did a prosperous business there "previous to the population and development of what are at present the great iron-working sections of the country" are now idle because "as these sections were developed, it was but natural that that portion of the industry utilizing or working the raw material should be attracted to the points nearer the base of the supply."

Or, to state it in other words, as the "march of empire" westward opened up new territory, revealed new resources and created new channels of trade as well as new markets, iron manufacturing found new locations, these being at points where the conditions born of the changes mentioned were most favorable to its success. These locations were, naturally, at points where the raw materials, i. e., the fuel and ore, could be assembled at the least cost and from which the manufactured product, whether as pig or in the finished forms of iron and steel articles, could be distributed to consumers to the greatest advantage. As these locations advanced to the front as seats of the iron industry that industry in the older ones where it formerly flourished fell into decay, in obedience to a natural law, and without any injury whatever to the general prosperity of the nation at large. It was simply a case of the application of the rule of "survival of the fittest" to the development of industrial centers instead of species, as the editor of the esteemed Democrat would be easily able to perceive were he not blinded to the meaning and significance of palpable and readily understood facts by his reprehensible habit of looking at everything through his imported free trade spectacles.

It is true that the decadence of this particular industry in the New England states has had the effect of diminishing the number of working men employed in it in that section of the union. Now what is this free trade editor's remedy for that misfortune to New England? Abrogation of the tariff on iron ore, so that foreign ores can be supplied to New England furnaces at less cost than domestic ores can be furnished to the furnaces now engaged in making the iron that we use at the present iron-making centers of the country. This might enable some of the New England furnaces that are now idle to continue in operation, perhaps, but only to the manifest disadvantage of the American miners who would be thrown out of employment by having furnaces running on ore mined and shipped here from abroad taking the place of an equal capacity in furnaces that would consume ore mined in the United States. There would be under this arrangement a direct and very serious loss to American labor, for which the free trade editor of the Democrat is unable to suggest any compensation whatever.

There was a time when wheat raising was profitable in the eastern states, but it is no longer. The decadence in this branch of agriculture arises mainly from the opening up of the rich-soiled prairie states of the west, where wheat can be grown at a cost precluding the possibility of competition on the part of eastern farmers. Does the editor of the Democrat hold that the gradual progress westward of the sources of grain and meat supply consequent on the development of western territory and the creation of transportation lines by means of which western wheat and pork can now be laid down in the eastern cities at a less cost to the consumer than they can be produced in New England has been an injury to the country? We are producing more wheat now than ever before in our history, and at less cost, and the same is true of iron and steel. The Mining Journal is unable to see why we have reason to lament the fact, or to deplore the causes that have led to such desirable results. We are paying out more money to men who find work in our iron mines and furnaces and factories than ever before, and the country's prosperity is the greater, because of this. But we must locate our industries to the best advantage, and they will find these locations of their own accord. Change is an immutable law of nature and the man or party who undertakes to resist it will meet with only failure and disappointment. The removal from their earlier seats of the iron and other important producing industries of our country is simply an incident in its development and is not a thing to be either deplored or prevented. The complaint paid the soundness of the Mining Journal's arguments in support of the present tariff system by the editor of the Democrat, in his admission that he has been for some time "watching and waiting" for a chance to trip it up, is appreciated. He should have waited longer, for what he thought was an opening where an effective rap at the tariff could be got in was in reality a pitfall into which he has unwarily tumbled.

The Detroit Journal has been purchased by ex-Senator T. W. Palmer and William Livingston, Jr., and it is announced that no effort or expense will be spared to make it the most complete afternoon newspaper in the west. Mr. Livingston, who assumes the active management of the Journal, is a representative republican whose experience in newspaper work and management covers quite a period of years.

Can Horses Be Branded on the Hoof.

A young man who has just written a successful play was leaning on his cane in company with an actor—an English importation—watching the passing show on the Broadway side of the Morton House when, after a silence of several minutes, the playwright said: "Do you see anything peculiar about the Broadway car horses?" "Nay, nay! Wouldst try to gny me?" said the actor. "Look at their hoofs and tell me if they are not branded."

The actor sized the animals up, and a reporter, who was standing near enough to hear the conversation, did the same, and discovered the number 369 on the forward left foot of one of the horses. The figures were about half an inch long and had evidently been just burned into the hoof. Superintendent Newell of the Broadway line, who was seen at his office in the barns at Fifth street and Seventh avenue later in the day, said in relation to the reporter's question concerning the branding of the hoofs of the horses: "Yes, we have been doing this for some time now. The idea occurred to me several years ago, and we find it very satisfactory."

"What was your object in branding them?" "Simply to keep track of what each horse was doing. We keep the accounts of each horse now the same as we do of any man in our employ. It benefits us in a thousand ways. We know just how many days a horse works, how many days it has been sick and, in short, everything it does. It enables us to keep such a minute knowledge of their work that we know just what condition they are in, and if they are not all right we keep them in the barn."

"Couldn't you do that if you gave them names instead of numbers?" "We have 2,000 horses in our employ," was the reply, "and there is a limit to names, unless you go back into ancient history.—New York Advertiser."

A plant is to be erected in Philadelphia for the manufacture of cellulose, a material to be used for a lining for ships. Cellulose will absorb eight times its weight of water.

NEENAH AND MENASHA, WIS.

Are situated on the Wisconsin Central Lines, at the foot of Lake Winnebago, and like other towns on or near this sheet of water, are very important manufacturing centers. The general government recognizing the value of the location for manufacturing purposes but extending to dam the lake forming a water head of unfailing capacity, hence there is furnished water power practically unlimited in the capacity. The famous Menasha water power is the first of the great hydraulic power, and is made by a ton foot fall of the river between lakes Winnebago and Buttes des Mortes. The water is carried along two canals, one nearly a mile in length and the other one 1,700 feet long, which run parallel with the river. On their banks are located the many prosperous manufacturing establishments, including five large paper mills, flour mills, stove works and other too numerous to mention. The Wisconsin Central Lines is the direct route from Chicago and Milwaukee, affording unequalled service. For tickets, maps, pamphlets and full information apply to A. A. Jack D. P. A. Wis. Cen. GIVING FOR LOST GOLD.

SEA DIVERS RECOVER NEARLY HALF A MILLION OF MONEY.

How the Treasure of the Alphonso XII, sunk off the Canary Islands, was secured by Captain Stevens' Clever Work—Nine Months of Toll Below Water.

Some time ago we gave an interesting account of the diving exhibit at the naval exhibition, and referred briefly to the recovery of a vast quantity of treasure from the Alphonso XII. Mr. A. D. Stevens, a son of Captain Stevens, who had charge of the expedition, now writes as follows: In February, 1884, the Spanish mail steamer Alphonso XII, belonging to the Lopez line, bound from Cadiz to Havana, sank off Point Gando, Grand Canary, in twenty-five and a half fathoms of water and about a mile from the shore. She had on board £100,000 worth of Spanish dollars, these being the only five dollar pieces bearing the year 1844, which were specially coined for the trip. The insurance was effected on the specie at Lloyds and was paid over to the insurers after the vessel foundered.

More than a year had elapsed before the underwriters organized a salvage expedition, and in May, 1885, Captain L. T. Stevens, a Lloyds surveyor of great experience in salvage operations, was intrusted with the expedition, taking with him three well known divers—namely, Messrs. Lambert, Tester and Davis. Special diving apparatus had to be constructed for the work by Messrs. Siebe & Gorman, the submarine engineers, and in the above mentioned Captain Stevens and his men left Liverpool in the steamship Niger for Las Palmas, and arrived at their destination on the 25th of May.

LOCATING THE WRECK. On the morning of the 29th Captain Stevens proceeded in the steam launch Alianza in search of the wreck, a strong trade wind from the northeast, with a choppy sea, blowing at the time. On arriving at her supposed position he steamed about, sounding at intervals, endeavoring to strike the wreck, but failed to do so. Captain Stevens then employed a boat's crew of fishermen to assist him in finding her, and after some little time the fishermen gave a signal, and on steaming up he found that they had swept the foretopgallantmast, and on looking down through the water he distinctly saw the shadow of the mast and the foretopgallantmast loose and floating in the water at a depth of six fathoms.

He then had the topgallantmast buoyed, and as soon as the weather moderated he intended laying down moorings, so as to place the vessel in such a position that the diving was to be done from directly over the wreck. The money was in the mail room, almost at the bottom of the vessel, and to obtain access to that part of the ship it was found necessary to blow up the decks. The dangers and difficulties which were experienced in these operations were of the most extraordinary nature. Not only bravery, but great patience and perseverance, had to be exercised, as testified by the fact that Captain Stevens and his plucky divers were about nine months on the island before they had completed their task. The wreck lay on a ridge of rocks, and one of the fears entertained before the explosion was effected was that the force might precipitate the vessel to almost fathomless depths. But fortunately, through Captain Stevens' great experience in the use of explosives, the fear was not realized.

ALL BUT $50,000 RECOVERED. When the explosion took place one of the masts shot right out of the water, and thousands of dead fish came to the surface. Another difficulty, and probably the greatest the divers had to encounter, was the extreme pressure of the water at so great a depth, but the gallant fellows were most enthusiastic in their work, and, although Captain Stevens had been advised to abandon all hope of recovery of the treasure, he was sanguine of success directly fine weather would set in. And his hopes were soon realized, for on Nov. 17, after waiting anxiously and patiently, he had the pleasure of wiring to London as follows: "Lambert has got both scuttles open, and succeeded in sending up first box of gold." This was glorious news to all concerned, and especially to Captain Stevens, who had charge of such a tedious undertaking.

The saving of the remaining boxes of gold was now merely a question of opportunity. Dip after dip was made by Messrs. Lambert and Tester with various success, and by Dec. 12 they had recovered between them six boxes, the lion's share being obtained by Mr. Lambert, thus leaving a balance of four boxes to be raised. In a very short time, considering the unfavorable weather, they succeeded in sending up three more boxes, making in all nine boxes, or £90,000 out of £100,000.

Unfortunately, the last box could not be found, so Captain Stevens and his plucky divers had to come away without it. No praise is too great for the manner in which Messrs. Lambert and Tester worked under such an able commander. I have noted these few facts down from my dead father's log book. As the treasure chest and the gold dollars at the naval exhibition attract so much attention I send you these additional facts.—Pall Mall Budget.

Impatient.

A doctor who was noted for his preferences rather than for his cures was called in to prescribe one day for a man who was ill, and gave him some medicine. The next day but one he called to see the patient. "How is he today?" he asked a servant at the door. "He's dead, sir—that's how he is," said the servant. "He is, eh?" said the doctor indignantly. "Well, that's always the way. People expect our medicine to work wonders, and then they get in a hurry and don't give it time to prove what it can do."—Exchange.

DETROIT REAL ESTATE. There is no investment which is more safe and none which is more profitable than that made in well located property in a growing and progressive city. This is especially true when the transactions in real estate are free from reckless speculation. The present condition of the real estate market in Detroit is one of steady demand for well located lots for business, manufacturing and residence purposes. The east side is rapidly expanding and attracting the attention of investors in real estate and purchases are being made daily. J. S. Visger, the enterprising real estate dealer offers a golden opportunity for investments of little or much, from $100 up. Mr. Visger conducts his business on a somewhat different plan from the ordinary real estate operators. At present he is offering several magnificent subdivisions fully platted, streets all laid out. Complete abstracts brought down to date, furnished with each and every lot and offers any portion of his property in parcels to purchasers at acreage prices, thus enabling investors to immediately begin realizing a handsome profit. I desire to impress on the minds of purchasers that I do not sell at retail, but at wholesale only. I can satisfy any purchaser that he can realize from $50 to $100 on each lot at once at retail prices. This is a chance of a lifetime for any one having money bearing small interest, to make a positive investment in real estate which will net him a handsome profit. It will be money in your pocket to give this your immediate attention. Any information pertaining to this or other real estate will be cheerfully furnished by JOSEPH S. VISGER, [12-25-92] Telephone 2043 417 Hammond Building, Detroit, Mich.

HAVE FOUND ORE.

The Royal Mining Company of Ne-gaunee Makes a Strike.

More Dogs Than There's Room for, Church Social Saturday Evening.

"ROYAL" GOOD LUCK

The parties interested in the Royal Mining Company were jubilant yesterday. A deposit of ore of a fine quality has been struck on a property the company has under option on section 12. The reporter, on invitation of Captain W. J. Allen, drove out to the exploration with that gentleman yesterday. The company has only three men working there at present but expects to increase the force in a few days. The deposit is at the foot of the bluff in a swamp. A small pit was sunk there and a 2 1/2 inch iron pipe was then driven to a depth of fifteen feet. The pipe was then taken out and the lower portion of the ore it contained was brought into the city. The ore in the core is pronounced by good mining men to be soft hematite and of a good grade. An analysis of it will be obtained today and it is expected to show up well in iron.

The first work done at the Royal was sinking a test pit in the side of the hill. This was put down twenty-five feet and gave good indications. The next move was to put down a pipe in this same line, but about seventy-five feet farther down, with the result above stated. Pipe tests will be made in three or four different places. The second pipe was down thirteen feet when the reporter was out there yesterday morning. The indications are that the ore is about 15 feet below the surface and that it can be reached by stripping. If this proves true the ore body will be stripped and the ore mined in open pit. That the company will develop a valuable pit mine there hardly admits of a doubt, and the outlook is that it will be one that can be wrought from the start without a heavy outlay for machinery.

Too Many Dawgs.

Negaunee has more dogs to the acre than any other city in the upper peninsula. The dog nuisance is becoming unbearable here and the sooner the city is relieved of about a thousand of its superfluous canines the better. Yesterday afternoon a child about seven years of age was attacked by an ugly brute on Gold street and were it not for the aid of some persons who happened to be passing by, the poor child may have sustained serious and painful injuries. Shoot the curs, or enforce the tax on them and thereby encourage the owners to shoot them. In that way their number may be perceptibly reduced.

Bethany Church Social

The elderly ladies of the Bethany church will give a social in the church parlors on Cyr street Saturday evening. Refreshments will be served and a number of fine articles will be offered for sale. The proceeds will go to the church fund, and all who wish to spend a pleasant evening can do no better than to attend and do something for religion while enjoying themselves.

Won't Show Here

The J. H. Browne Theatre company will not play an engagement at Negaunee this trip but since we have the street railway running that will not prevent people from taking it in. They will go up to Ishpeming to witness its performances, for Browne is quite a favorite with the theatre goes here.

LOCAL LAONICS

Mr. Henry Bellamer did business in Marquette yesterday.

Mr. C. C. Phelps, of Green Bay, transacted business in this city yesterday.

Remember the benefit ball to be given for the benefit of the Stecher orchestra on the 29th.

Mrs. Chris, Gaullier leaves today for Republic, where she goes to attend her mother, who is seriously ill.

Mr. E. Elfrandt went to Marquette yesterday to act in the capacity of interpreter at the circuit court.

The Marquette polo team will play and retrieve last night Saturday night in another contest with the Negaunee champions at the Adelphi.

These mild days are a great boon to the street railway company. It is surprising to see the numbers that have already fallen into the habit of using the street cars when they wish to go to Ishpeming.

It was a great surprise to the reporter yesterday, with three feet of snow on the ground, to be presented with an orange blossom but he got the blossom all right. It came from H. B. Bennett, formerly of this place, but who is now sojourning at Almonte Springs, Fla.

Mat Coon got his "skates" out Tuesday evening and yesterday morning found him before Justice Prineau to answer to the charge of being drunk and disorderly. Mat pleaded guilty and got off with a fine of $1 and costs, which he promptly paid and went his way rejoicing.

The committee appointed at the last meeting of the Negaunee Literary and Debating society for the purpose of looking into the matter of opening a free reading room is meeting with much encouragement. Already a number have signified their willingness to assist in the project. Of course it will take a little money to give it a start but with such philanthropic citizens as Negaunee possesses, this will be easily secured.

FAMINE OF THE FUTURE.

Possibilities of the Extinction of the Human Race by Starvation.

Mr. Ravenstein, a member of the British association for the advancement of science, has been computing the probable increase of the human race on the earth. He arrives at the startling conclusion that in 182 years the density of population upon the globe will be such that means of subsistence will be inadequate to its support. He estimates the population of the world of the present year at 1,688,000,000. He finds that the increase every ten years is about 8 per cent.

The food of the country still open to civilization comprises parts of Africa, North and South America, Australia, some antily islands, the steppes and deserts. The total area of all the habitable lands in the world is over 16,000,000 square miles. Of this area the fertile or comparatively fertile lands are over 8,000,000 of square miles, the bare grass lands or steppes 11,000,000, and the bare deserts 4,000,180 square miles.

To the steppes he allocates a population of ten to the square mile, and to the desert regions one to the square mile. The bulk of the population would, therefore, have to subsist on the 8,000,000 square miles of fertile lands. Comparing the density of population—in India 175 to the square mile, in China 235 to the square mile and in Japan 264 to the square mile—he arrives at the conclusion that a world population of 207 to the square mile in the cultivable regions would be a fair estimate.

This 207 persons to the square mile will be reached in 182 years at the present rate of increase, when the total population of the cultivable area would be 5,850,700,000, and the total number of the earth would be 5,944,000,000.

Any further increase of population must either be provided for by a diminution of subsistence made of production, or by keeping down the future birth rate below the death rate. Mr. Ravenstein's statistics do not concern us of the present generation very vitally. We can leave the solution to our great-grandchildren. We have increased and multiplied very comfortably in spite of the lugubrious warnings of Mr. Malthus, and perhaps they also will multiply and increase in spite of Mr. Ravenstein.

If my race must go to the wall, it may be confidently predicted it will not be the white race. There will be a Darwinian survival of the fittest. The weaker races will disappear before the stronger. The Indian will ultimately vanish from this continent, and the African in his native land bids fair to be decimated.

The tendency of population to the cities must also be taken into account in any comparison of people to areas of reasonable subsistence. Concentration in large towns always leads to increased production within a wide circuit around them, especially in the line of fruits and vegetables. Two hundred years hence the desert lands which Mr. Ravenstein regards as incapable of cultivation may blossom as the rose. Already irrigation is working wonders in the unproductive soil in some of our western states. Modern science will teach many ways of increasing the food supply.

Mr. Ravenstein's speculations are plausible and his statistics suggestive enough, but the figures of today may be utterly falsified by the figures of 200 years hence. Many things may intervene in the meantime to keep down population or increase the food supply. The extinction of the race by starvation is a very remote contingency indeed, and Mr. Ravenstein's 182 years bid fair to stretch out indefinitely before that contingency occurs.—Baltimore Sun.

Oil from the Porpoise.

The porpoises killed in winter are the fattest and produce most oil. The largest size measure about seven feet in length, five feet in girth and weigh about 300 pounds. They furnish a yield from six to seven gallons of oil. The blubber of a big porpoise weighs about 100 pounds and is one and a half inches thick in summer and two in winter.

The jaws of the porpoise yield a superior quality of oil. When hung up in the sun it readily drips away into cans provided for the purpose, the quantity of oil thus procured, however, being not more than half a pint to the jaw. The oil from the blubber gives an excellent light and is in demand along the coast for light-house use. It has no offensive odor.

Porpoise shooting is followed at all seasons and in all kinds of weather. On a calm summer's day the porpoise may be heard blowing a puff or two away. If you would a porpoise, and there are any sharks around, the shark is very apt to share your booty with you even if he doesn't devour it in toto.—New York Recorder.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the grippe is Kemp's Balsam which is especially adapted to diseases of the throat and lungs. Do not wait for the first symptoms of the disease, but get a bottle and keep it on hand for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to being on pneumonia. ### WITNESSED A TRAGEDY.

I don't like Menken. Undoubtedly he is a clever—almost a brilliantly clever—man, but he is, in my mind, just a trifle too unconventional in his ideas.

He is, however, very good company, and I have passed a good many evenings with him over a pipe, and will admit him of ever having bored me.

I went to his lodgings with him a few nights ago from the club, and soon found myself seated in an armchair by the fire-side, with a pipe in my mouth and a glass of most excellent whisky and water beside me. We talked of many things, till at length I forgot how, the conversation turned on murders and murderers.

Some time previous London, and indeed the whole country, had been appalled by a series of ghastly murders, all apparently committed by the same hand, though in no case was a clew discovered by which the murderer might be discovered.

Menken explained a theory of his own on the subject, as he was it was starting, when the subject turned to circumstantial evidence and the law.

"After all," I said, "the ninety-nine murders out of a hundred circumstantial evidence and motive are the only helps to conviction. No one in his senses commits a murder if there is any one looking on."

"No," said Menken slowly, "people prefer doing these things in private if possible. But sometimes they are not aware that there are witnesses."

He paused and filled his pipe.

"It is not every one," he went on, "who has been a secret witness of a murder, but I have."

"You? I exclaimed.

Menken nodded.

"Was he convicted and hanged?" I asked.

"It wasn't a 'he' but a 'she,'" said Menken smiling. "And 'she' was not convicted and hanged, or even tried."

"But surely you"—I was beginning when Menken broke in.

"My heart follow, nothing I could have said could have convinced the woman. It was a very odd case altogether, and the most interesting thing I ever heard of."

"I will tell you the story, if you like. It will be simpler than you getting it out of me by cross examination."

"About four years ago I was travelling in Switzerland. In the course of my rambles I reached Tauernwald. I was much taken with the place; the scenery was superb, the hotel old-fashioned but delightfully comfortable."

"There were several people staying there besides myself, but as I am aregarious sort of fellow, I was rather glad of it. After I had been there about a fortnight, on entering the dining room for dinner I noticed some new arrivals. Among them was a party of three English—an old gentleman, his young wife, and a daughter of the old gentleman's, by a former marriage. The daughter, poor girl, was blind. She was about twenty, and looked delicate. I cannot say she was pretty, but yet she was not unpleasing. The old boy, her father, was just like other English gentlemen you see about."

"The wife was decidedly pretty; she was about eight and twenty, fair, with gray eyes and a most undeniable figure. They seemed to be well off, but they did not hold much intercourse with the rest of the inmates of the hotel."

him as certainly as if you fired a bullet through his brain. I have just told his wife of this. All that is wanted is—sleep.

"The doctor nodded to me as he went down the steps from the hotel, smiling as if anticipating a triumph for his art."

"Monsieur," said a voice at my elbow. I turned, and saw my friend the landlord. "Monsieur knows," said he, smiling scornfully, "that Monsieur comes who was going to be so brave? Who had no fears for sickness? Well, that so brave man, he also is now frightened—he has gone home, Monsieur!"

"He went early this morning, making excuses, but he could not deceive me! He was frightened. He tried to joke, he said he could not sleep, that he had heard all night the ticking in the wall, where, he said, means death."

"That is an English superstition, too, I said.

"Bah!" said the innkeeper, with concentrated scorn; "these are not times for such foolish superstitions. Monsieur has no such foolish fancies?"

"I laughed. 'Ah, monsieur is brave! Look. The Austrian's room is that very room, Monsieur wished to leave when he first came. It looks out upon the glacier, and is perhaps my last room. Monsieur thought he would prefer one less expensive on the floor above. Monsieur remembers? Well, courage deservé to be rewarded. Monsieur shall have the room for the same price as the one he has now.'

"I thanked my friend, the landlord. It was certainly a room I had coveted. The view was superb. It was near the dining and smoking room—in every way a great improvement on the one I was occupying."

"Can I have it once?" I asked.

"Oh, certainly! Of course Monsieur knows," the landlord went on slowly and looking a little doubtful at me, "that it is the room next to the sick-room where that old man is lying ill."

"I laughed, and I think the expression of my face reassured the landlord as to my being completely indifferent to such matters, for he went on:

"He was going away, but came back quickly. Only Monsieur will pardon me for reminding him that the doctor has advised that no noise shall be made near the sick-room. He says the old man's life depends on his sleeping quiet. It would be better, perhaps, not to move Monsieur's luggage down till the evening."

"Of course I assented; but feeling desirous of seeing my new and much coveted possession, and feeling sure of my ability to enter it without making any noise, I went up stairs, quietly stole down the corridor, and entered the room without a possibility of my having been heard. It was a large, bright, cheerful apartment, in the older part of the hotel. It was wainscoted, with oak panels. The window was large, and, as I have mentioned before, commanded one of the most exquisite views to be found in Switzerland."

"I looked round the room with a sense of satisfaction. I have told you I am observant of my fellow creatures; I am not less so of inanimate objects. I have an eye in such matters a detective might envy. I soon saw a mark on the wainscoting on one side of the room. It was so small that I believe many men might have passed days in the room without noticing it. I am an inquisitive man, and I at once went to it and examined it. It was a chink in the wood; I stooped and looked through. The whole of the interior of the sick-room was visible. Three silent figures were there occupying. On the bed lay the old man sleeping, his gray hairs on the pillow at the side knelt in prayer his blind daughter; behind the daughter, close behind—was the wife. She alone seemed living. She was drawing stealthily—on, so stealthily and slowly—a small round table laden with jugs and medicine bottles across the floor."

"At first I did not realize what she was doing. I knew she had every motive to be silent in her movements, but I caught sight of her feet. It was the face of a devil! Never was eyes so hideously expressive of murderous intent as in a flash I understood it all."

"She was moving the table to a position such that the slightest movement of the kneeling figure of the blind daughter, praying for her father's life, would land it and its fragile burden to the ground."

"I dare say you think I am a callous sort of fellow, but I assure you I was horror-struck. I would have given worlds to warn the poor child, but knew not how. To have called out would have been as fatal as the catastrophe itself."

"I felt stupefied—paralyzed. The end came before my swimming brain could find any way to help. The poor girl rose, her hands still clasped. I saw the table roll, and as I sick with horror, withdrew my eyes I heard the crash, followed by a piercing shriek."

Menken paused. "Give me the whisky, old chap. Thanks."

"Did he die?" I asked.

"He was as dead as if you had fired a pistol through his brain," said Menken quietly.

"After a pause he went on: 'I slipped out of the room before the hubbub began. No one ever knew I had been in it. I had, however, to sleep in it that night, and though you know I am not a superstitious fellow at all, I assure you it was a very uncomfortable night. I long, starting out of my sleep, thinking I heard the crash and scream next door. It took me nearly a week to get over it.'

"We smoked in silence for some minutes.

"I wonder what became of that woman?" I said.

Bills Introduced to Make That Swindle Punishable by United States Law.

NOT REACHED BY LAWS AGAINST COUNTERFEITING.

Because Swindlers Only Pretend to Deal in Counterfeits—House Democrats Will Discuss Silver Tonight.

DULL DAYS IN CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Mr. Morrill from the committee on finance reported back to the senate adversely Mr. Coke's bill to amend the laws in relation to the circulation of banking associations.

Mr. Sherman from the committee on foreign relations reported a bill to protect foreign exhibitors at the World's Columbian exposition from prosecution for exhibiting wares protected by American patents and trade marks and it was passed.

HOUSE MOVING SLOWLY.

Indian Appropriation Bill Likely to Consume the Whole Week.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The Indian appropriation bill still continues to be the subject of monotonous consideration in the house and will likely absorb the rest of the week.

The spirit of investigation is still strong in the house and the first formal action after the meeting of that body today was the adoption of a resolution of Mr. Tarsney from the labor committee authorizing an investigation of the operations and effect of the eight-hour law in the government service.

Then the house went into the committee of the whole on the Indian appropriation bill, Mr. Bynum (Ind.) occupying the chair. After disposing of forty-six of the sixty pages of the bill the committee rose.

On motion of Mr. Sayers, (Tex.) the senate amendments to the census deficiency bill were non-concurred in and a conference committee composed of Messrs. Sayers, Holman and Dingley was ordered.

ANOTHER MITCHELL CASE.

Mulatto Girl Fatally Stabbed By Her Jealous Female Lover.

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 24.—Emma Williams, colored, was today charged with fatally wounding Eleanor Richardson, also colored. The case resembles that of Alice Mitchell of Memphis.

TRYING TO SAVE FIELD.

That Brazen Swindler's Friends Claim He Is Insane.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The court in the case of Edward M. Field has been occupied today with testimony as to his insanity. There is a great array of experts and the friends of Mr. Field claim that the proof of insanity is overwhelming.

"RULES CLEVELAND OUT."

Mr. Springer's Great Respect for Hill's Kodak Convention.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The presidential question still continues to be the topic of discussion at the national capital and various opinions are expressed as to the effect of the declaration of the Albany convention for David B. Hill will have upon the Cleveland supporters throughout the country.

action of the Albany convention practically rules the ex-president out of the race.

MAKES NO RECOMMENDATIONS.

President Says Nothing of For Against World's Fair Loan.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The president today sent to congress the report of the World's Columbian commission. The president says the information furnished by the report as to the progress of the work is not satisfactory but highly gratifying.

SHOULD STAY IN HIDING.

Joaquin Miller's Theatrical Sorrow Over the Son He Neglected.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—It is announced today that Joaquin Miller has become a recluse. In shame over the conviction of his neglected son of a stage robbery he has renounced the world and sought a retreat in the mountains back of San Diego.

TRAIN ROBBER SLY SENTENCED.

He Will Reside Behind Prison Bars Until 1912.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 24.—Adelbert D. Sly, the Glendale train robber, appeared in court at Clayton and was sentenced to twenty years in the state penitentiary. Hedspeth was to have been arraigned but was ill to appear.

GIVEN TO THE JURY.

Actor Curtis' Fate Now Rests in Their Hands.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—In the Curtis case today Attorney Knight closed his argument for the defense and was followed by Attorney Foote, also for the defense. Assistant District Attorney Hinkle followed and made the closing argument for the prosecution.

LICENSE BILL DEFEATED.

Absence of Two Members Saves Prohibition in Iowa.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Feb. 24.—The liquor license bill was put on its passage in the senate today. It was a strict party vote, the democrats voting for and the republicans against it.

SHERIFF OUSTS TALMAGE.

Mechanic's Lien Against the Famous Tabernacle Foreclosed.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Charles T. Wills obtained a mechanic's lien on Dr. Talmage's Tabernacle in Brooklyn and then brought an action to foreclose and judgment was rendered in his favor for $52,216 on the 10th of February.

CONCEITED KAISER BILLY.

Thinks His Royal Ideas Are Above All Criticism.

BERLIN, Feb. 24.—At a banquet given in Brandenburg at which the emperor was the guest of honor his majesty made an address in the course of which he blamed the critics of the government as enemies of the state.

Ex-President Fonseca a Dying Man.

RIO JANEIRO, Feb. 24.—The illness of ex-Dictator Fonseca is so serious that his recovery is considered out of the question.

SALEM, Ohio, Feb. 24.—As one of the Pennsylvania road trains bearing the congressmen from Chicago to Washington passed through here last night some one fired a bullet through a car window.

Chilean Captain Drowned.

VALPARAISO, Feb. 24.—The torpedo cruiser Sargenta Alda, on a voyage from Talcahuano to Valparaiso, ran short of coal and provisions.

Forecast of the Weather.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—8 P. M.—The weather bureau reports the following as its forecast for the next 24 hours:

The Dog on the Farm.

A farmer once told the Listener that there was nothing in the world that would keep crows out of a field of young corn except a living man or good sized boy with a gun.

A dead crow hung up by the feet will scare away some crows—no doubt females, of a superstitious turn of mind—but it won't keep off the canny old agnostics among them.

TRAINED HANDS.

How They Prove of Incalculable Value to Woman at Her Work.

Too much cannot be said in favor of training the hands to do whatever work they are called on to do with exactness. A vast amount of the force of the world is merely wasted because the worker has not been properly trained to work in the simplest and best manner.

As a rule American housekeepers dislike science and method as applied to their work, and with some show of reason.

As a rule American housekeepers dislike science and method as applied to their work, and with some show of reason. Grahamites and various other food cranks have appropriated good terms, full of meaning originally, and have applied them to their own ideas.

In the kneading of bread, for example, if the work is done properly and the dough turned and folded systematically.

In the kneading of bread, for example, if the work is done properly and the dough turned and folded systematically in kneading there is no waste, no sticking of bread to the bowl it is raised in, and no dust left over the board.

Age Not the Cause of Gray Hair.

The members of a family in Washington, D. C., which includes two physicians, lose the color of their hair usually between the ages of twelve and twenty years; while Mrs. Sally Davis, of Kentucky, is cited by Dr. C. H. Leonard, an authority on the hair, as possessing soft, brown, silky locks without a silver thread among them when over seventy years of age.

The Stowaway.

A very small boy stole a ride on a train running out of Jersey City the other day. When two men took their seats they heard a slight snuffle beneath them, and one of them, looking around, found a boy hardly bigger than a pound of tea lying on the floor, shielded from sight by the reversed backs of two seats, which formed a tent over him.

The Secret of His Power.

In a recent book of memoirs we find this entertaining glimpse of Lord Normanby and his theory of the influence of the splendors of masculine dress upon the female sex.

Big Cables on the Brooklyn Bridge.

The four cables of the Brooklyn bridge are sixteen inches in diameter each and consist of about 20,000 single wires. One difficulty with which the engineers of the Brooklyn bridge had to contend was the fact that the outside or exposed wires were expanded by the heat of the sun, while the inner and protected ones were not so affected.

A Shrewd Tramp.

People in Broadway enjoyed a joke on a man who was distributing "samples" the other day. He went into every store on his side of the street, leaving there a small piece of tobacco to be sampled.

A Typewriter for the Blind.

GOOD LUCK.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is often called the Good-Luck Baking Powder.

Owing to the fact that good luck always attends the use of Dr. Price's, it is not essential to use it the moment it is mixed nor is it required to have the oven always just so, as in the case with ammonia or alum powders.

It is not luck after all, but the exact accuracy and care exercised in the preparation and combination of all the ingredients of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder. Competent chemists are employed to test the strength and purity of each ingredient. Nothing is trusted to chance. Hence; it is always uniform in its work.

House wives never fail to have "good luck" in making most delicious bread, biscuit, pastry and cakes that remain moist and sweet. Only Baking Powder that contains the white of eggs.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is reported by all authorities as free from Ammonia, Alum, or any other adulterant. In fact, the purity of this ideal powder has never been questioned.

SUDDEN DEATHS.

Heart disease is by far the most frequent cause of sudden death, which in three out of four cases is unsuspected. The symptoms are not generally understood. These are: a habit of lying on the right side, short breath, pain or distress in side, back or shoulder, irregular pulse, asthma, weak and hungry spells, wind in stomach, swelling of ankles or dropsy, oppression, dry cough and smothering. Dr. Miles' illustrated book on Heart Disease, free at H. H. Stafford Son & Company's who sell and guarantee Dr. Miles' unequalled New Heart Cure, and his Restorative Nerve, which cures nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, effects of drinking, etc. It contains no opiates.

STARTLING FACTS.

The American people are rapidly becoming a race of nervous wrecks, and the following suggests the best remedy: Alphonso Hempling, of Butler, Pa., swears that when his son was speechless from St. Vitus dance Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve cure him. Mrs. J. R. Miller, of Valparaiso, and J. D. Taylor, of Logansport, Ind., each gained 20 pounds from taking it. Mrs. H. A. Gardner, of Vicksburg, Ind., was cured of 40 to 60 convulsions a day, and much headache, dizziness, backache and nervous prostration by one bottle. Trial bottles, and fine book of marvelous cures, free at H. H. Stafford Son & Company's who recommends and guarantees this unequalled remedy.

Two Historic Ships. Out in the bay stands the "dear old Hartford," and by her side the heroic Nipsic. It is to be hoped that both these historic ships may soon be repaired. All the world associates the Hartford with the exploits at Mobile bay, but besides this interesting fact she is one of the few remaining and one of the most beautiful of her type. Hers is indeed a heart of oak. She is not "dead," as an old sailor lately said with a sigh. She only sleeps. The Nipsic is still staunch and sound. A ship that could make her way home (half around the world) with a storm twisted propeller such as brought her up from Samoa after the tempest of March, 1889, is not a ship to be set lightly aside.—San Francisco Cor. Augusta Chronicle.

Not So Funny After All.

A supposed practical joker went into the Staten Island ferry slip on Saturday, and exhibiting a black bag declared it contained dynamite and that he intended to blow up the building. Everybody made a break for the door except a policeman in citizen's clothes, who knocked the man down and captured the bag, which was found to contain nothing dangerous. The practical joker had his jaw broken by the policeman's blow.—New York Letter.

A Striking Jury.

Without doubt the most unique strike on record was that which interrupted the trial of the Jones versus Gordon debt case at Burlington, Ia. The jury had arrived at a verdict but refused to report till paid their fees. The plaintiff, who had demanded the jury, was anxious to learn the verdict and paid the fees. Much to his chagrin the verdict was against him.—Cor. New York World.

The Japanese students and others, in New York city, raised a handsome sum for the relief of the sufferers from the recent earthquake in Japan.

W. R. WRIGHT, Agent, Marquette, Mich. [2-15-1w] Dated February, 16th, 1892.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

In pursuance of an ordinance passed by the common council of the city of Marquette, on Monday, the 15th day of February, 1892, for the construction of sewer "Y" and laterals in Third, Michigan, Arch and Front streets as follows: one eight inch sewer in Third street between the curb and sidewalk on the east side of said street, from the center of Michigan street to a point forty feet west of High street; one six inch sewer in the center of Arch street from the said sewer in Third street to a point forty feet west of Front street; one six inch sewer in the center of Front street from the manhole in said sewer in Michigan street to a point forty feet north of Arch street; that four inch "Y" and lateral sewers be constructed and laid from said sewers in said streets to the lot line on each side of said streets, respectively, one such lateral sewer to and for each fifty feet of frontage upon said streets, except that no lateral sewers shall be laid to the lots on said Michigan and Arch streets cornering on Third or to the lots on Front street cornering on Michigan street.

Said sewer "Y" and laterals must be constructed of best vitrified sewer pipe and be laid in accordance with the grade heretofore established therefor and with manholes and lamp holes where indicated upon the grades or profiles of said sewers and in all respects said sewers must be constructed in strict accordance with the plans and specifications of the Davis sewer system so called and be fully completed on or before July 1, 1892.

Sealed proposals will be received by the city recorder till 5 o'clock P. M. on the 29th day of February, 1892, for the performance of said work according to the profile and specifications to be seen at his office. Each bid must be accompanied by two bonds, each in the penal sum of the total amount of the bid, one running to the city conditioned for the faithful performance of the contract if awarded, and the other running to the people of the state of Michigan, conditioned for the payment of all claims for labor and material furnished under such contract. The street must be left in proper condition after the completion of the contract. The council reserves the right to reject any or all bids. THOMAS MEADS, Recorder. [2-15-1w] Dated February, 16th, 1892.

NEWS OF ISHPEMING.

The Lake Ageline Iron Company Will Postpone Filling in the Lake.

FINDING OF CORONER'S JURY IN SWANSON CASE.

School Board Holds a Meeting—Will Secure Larger Quarters—Ministrels Tonight.

ABANDONED THE WORK

Yesterday morning the Cleveland Iron Mining company abandoned the work of filling Lake Ageline near the Lake Shore mine for the present, at least, and the company's steam shovel, which was operated at the Lake Superior rock pile filling the cars, will be taken to the company's shops to undergo some needed repairs, preparatory to the big work that will be required of it next summer on the enormous stockpiles of the company. The shovel was started to work on the first day of this month and has loaded about fifty-five cars daily on an average, each car holding about ten tons of dirt, making a total of over eleven thousand tons that have been placed in the lake in that interval, besides several thousand tons that had been taken from the hill near the mine. The work of filling the lake will probably be resumed the coming summer, to provide the company with ample room for their ships-trucks.

Inquest in the Swanson Case

Yesterday morning at 1 o'clock the jury that had been impaneled the previous day to enquire into the manner of the death of the late Ole Swanson, who was killed at the Cleveland Heintze mine Monday evening, met at Justice Kennedy's court, and after hearing the testimony of the captain of the mine and Swanson's fellow-workmen rendered a verdict that "deceased met his death by an accident for which neither the mining company nor any person connected therewith could be held blameable." The men who worked with Swanson testified that he had said to them when he was coming in the direction of the shaft that "he would be first to get into the basket" and make a run and jump toward the basket. Missing his hold he dropped to the bottom of the shaft, a distance of 100 feet. Swanson was a young man of sober habits. He was industrious and well thought of by all who knew him. His funeral was held yesterday afternoon from the Swedish Mission church under the auspices of the Swedish Home society, and was largely attended by members of the lodge and friends. The procession was headed by the Swedish Home band.

School Board Meeting.

A meeting of the Ishpeming school board was held at the city building Tuesday evening last, when the teachers' salary roll and a few small bills were audited and ordered paid. It was reported that the new lot of reference books recently purchased by the city for the schools had been catalogued and are now ready for use at the High School building. The list of reference books is not yet completed, as more have been ordered, and are expected to arrive at an early date. Seventy-five dollars was reported as the total amount collected at the schools on Monday last for Michigan's school exhibit at the World's Fair. Our schools did exceedingly well, considering the fact that the greater amount of this was given by the teachers and scholars.

Will Move His Store.

Mr. T. H. Dawson, proprietor of Dawson's Bazaar, on Cleveland avenue, will move his stock of goods from his present location to the Merryweather building, in the room adjoining and directly in front, heretofore occupied by Mr. Dennis McCarthy as a dry goods store. It is not yet known if Mr. McCarthy will continue in the business, after his bankrupt stock has been closed out. At any rate Mr. Dawson will take possession of the room on April 1st. The present room occupied by the bazaar is a convenient one, but not large enough, and after the change is made a still larger stock and a better assortment of goods will be carried by Mr. Dawson. A stairway leading from the interior of the store to the upper floor of the building, where Mr. Dawson has large store rooms, will be put in. The upper floor makes a good sized store in itself. Other improvements about the rooms will be made. These will transform it into as neat and attractive a store as there is in the upper peninsula.

Here Tonight.

The Beach & Bowers' minstrel troupe will arrive in Ishpeming at noon today, coming from Escanaba, where they played last night. After dinner the company's band, in jockey suits, will parade the principal streets. The company will appear at the City Opera house tonight and as it is a first-class one it will draw a big house.

W. E. Kingsley is here, and that means that Jas. H. Brown's Theatre company will be here next Monday night when it will open a week's engagement with the presentation of "Myrtle Ferns." The company has an entirely new repertoire, and will spring no "chestnuts" on the public.

Will be Sold at Auction.

Assignee Wm. Andrews will sell the entire bankrupt stock of groceries, store fixtures and belongings of Waters & Son, whose place is on Division street, at public auction next Monday morning, the 29th inst.

Attention Sir Knights.

All Sir Knights, Uniform Rank K. of P., are requested to meet at the K. of P. hall in the Heintze block, on Friday evening, February 26, at 8 o'clock sharp, for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year and the transaction of other business of importance.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

Beach & Bowers tonight at the City Opera house.

A boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Moelder last evening.

The local lodge A. O. U. W., will do some big initiatory work tonight.

John Jones, Jr., made a business trip to Escanaba yesterday and will return home today.

The Tuesday Evening Whist club met at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Fairbairn Tuesday evening last.

The Swedish Home band serenaded Marshal Peterson last evening at his new residence in the city building.

There is a house on North Second street that needs the attention of the "cops," as it is being conducted in a loud manner.

Many of the business men on Main street applied an ax and shovel to the sidewalks yesterday, making the way of travel much easier for pedestrians.

Mr. and Mrs. Katus, of Negaunee, came to Ishpeming via the electric road yesterday and remained here during the day, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Al Smith.

Jas. Glatsey, master mechanic of the Lake Superior iron company, left the city yesterday morning for Calumet on a business trip of a couple of days' duration.

About twenty-five of the local Knights of Pythians will visit the Negaunee K. of P. lodge next Monday evening and will be conveyed home by the electric street railway line as late as 12 o'clock.

J. J. Green, whom many will remember here as being a passenger conductor on this division of the C. & N. W. railroad nine years ago, was in Ishpeming Monday calling on old friends and acquaintances.

A special car conveying road officials of the C. & N. W. R. Co., arrived in this city Tuesday on No. 1 passenger train, and after looking over the yards here for a couple of hours, returned to Escanaba on No. 2 passenger.

Mr. Duncan Kennedy, who held the mortgage on D. McCarthy's dry goods stock, returned to his home at Ironwood Tuesday afternoon. The matter of closing out the stock will be conducted by Mr. D. McCarthy, the mortgagor.

Emma, the seven-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hart, who resides at Frenehopton, in the southern part of the city, died yesterday morning and will be buried tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from St. John's Catholic church.

Plans and specifications for an addition to be built to the residence of Mr. E. H. Fowler, on Strawberry hill, are being drawn up by Architect J. S. Mennie, of E. E. Gray & Co. The addition will be commenced as soon after the plans are completed as is convenient.

The office of the local daily was robbed, yes totally robbed, Monday night last, by some person, or persons, unknown. The amount stolen was 22 cents. A large reward will be offered by the proprietor for the detection and conviction of the perpetrator, and a force of Pinkerton detectives will immediately be set to work to hunt down the thief, or thieves.

Comment the Good Points.

There was a girl a few months ago who seemed to be made a new person by just changing her school, although the school she left was, upon the whole, a very good one; but her old teacher, a strict and conscientious lady, could not be at all indulgent toward the faults and defects of this particular girl.

The new teacher bore with them easily, and thus soon discovered the good qualities hitherto concealed. From being constantly reproved, the girl found herself valued, liked, commended, and it made a new girl of her. Like the man of Frederick Douglass, whose boots were blacked, she felt that she must avoid her disagreeable ways.

Almost any observant and experienced teacher can call to mind similar instances, where the acquisition of a reasonable self love seemed to lift an unpleasing character out of the mire of low propensities and offensive habits.—Youth's Companion.

An Orchestra of Five Hundred.

Five hundred was the strength of the orchestra on the occasion of the Handel festival at the Crystal Palace at Sydenham in 1888. The festival is held at the palace triennially. The first festival in commemoration of this composer was held in Westminster Abbey on the 26th of May, 1784, on which occasion 268 persons composed the chorus, while the orchestra numbered 245 performers. In 1888 the chorus consisted of 3,000 voices and the performers in the orchestra numbered 500.—London Tit-Bits.

DISCOURAGED!

No Woman Will Be on Reading This.

A lady who for years had suffered from nervous weakness, malady, headache, backache, excessive nervousness and who could do nothing but lie in bed all the time, after heartened at reports of failures to find relief, exclaimed: "I am discouraged, and suppose I must drag out the rest of my life in a wretched and miserable way."

A sympathizing friend encouraged her with words of hope. "There is one thing you have not yet used—the great nerve and health restorative, Dr. Green's Nervura. This wonderful discovery cured me, and I am sure it will cure you."

There are thousands of women who need the same encouragement, especially in the Spring, when all physical and nervous ailments are aggravated, and if they will use this remarkable female restorative, it will certainly restore health, strength and vigor. Purely vegetable and harmless. Druggists sell. "I deem it my duty to say that I think Dr. Green's Nervura, the best medicine in the world. My kidneys were in a terrible state. I had neuralgic pains. In the back and side, and could not sleep at night. My headache was a source of great annoyance and I suffered much at certain periods. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Green's Nervura for it cured me of my terrible complaints. Why, I felt so miserable that I often thought I would take my own life. I thank God for directing me to Dr. Green's Nervura."

MRS. LILLIAN ROOF, 147 Dr. Green, the successful specialist, in curing all forms of nervous and chronic diseases, 25, W. 14th Street, New York, can be consulted free, personally or by letter. Call or write him about the case, or send for symptom blank to fill out, and a letter fully explaining the disease, giving advice, etc., will be returned free.

MARQUETTE YACHT CLUB.

The Successor of Edward Burgess Designs Its First Flyer, a Cruising Cutter.

A. J. FREEMAN AWARDED THE CONTRACT FOR CONSTRUCTION.

She Will be Full Cutter Rigged and Will Cost in Commission About Two Thousand Dollars.

IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.
Mr. A. J. Freeman, Marquette's veteran boat-builder, has taken the contract to build a first-class cruising cutter for the Marquette Yacht Club on plans prepared by Wm. E. Waterhouse, the Boston naval architect, for years the head designer for the famous Edward Burgess, becoming Burgess' successor on his death last year.

Mr. Freeman will build the hull for $1,030. The Lake Shore Iron works will cast the keel and furnish other iron-work for $245 and the famous sail firm of Wilson & Silsby, of Boston, the greatest yacht sail makers in the world, will furnish her canvas, the contract price being $160. The cutter will cost $1,800 and another $200 will be expended in completing her outfit next year. The club will furnish her hardware, rigging, etc.

Mr. Waterhouse designed this vessel as a cruiser, not as a racing machine, although she is expected to be very fast and as thoroughly modern as any yacht on the great lakes. She will be 37 feet over all and 26 feet on the water line, putting her in the 25-foot class. Her beam will be 8 feet 8 inches, and her draught 5 feet 10 inches, while she will be 4 feet 3 inches out at the bow and her overhang at the stern will be 7 ft. 3 in. The keel will be of iron and will weigh 11,000 pounds; it will be fitted onto the white oak keel, 26 inches wide and 6 inches thick, with 1 1/2 inch bolts. Her frame and deck timbers will be of white oak, her planking selected white pine. Her spars will be of selected black spruce, treated with kerosene while green to prevent checking, and thoroughly oiled and shellacked after seasoning.

The cruiser will be cutter rigged, her sail area and sticks having been cut down for the lakes, where a yacht will not stand as much as on salt water. It will be 28 feet from the deck to the top of the truck and 46 feet to the top of her topmast while to the top of her club topsail spar will be 54 feet. The main boom will be 28 feet 6 inches long, overhanging 4 feet 6 inches, the gaff 16 feet and the bowsprit will project 11 feet beyond the stem. She will have a small storm sail of heavy canvas while her three principal sails, main sail, staysail and jib, will be of No. 10 canvas. Her flying jib, and her club topsail (nearly as large as the mainsail) will be of lighter canvas.

The yacht will have a cockpit 7 feet long and 5 feet 4 inches wide with its floor 6 inches above the water line, the seats being on the level of the deck. The cabin will have 6 feet of head room and will be 13 feet long; it will have bunks something like Pullman car berths and if desired eight can sleep on board. Forward will be a galley with storage lockers, etc., below the cabin floor a storage space for supplies and below the cockpit an ice chest. The cabin will be lighted by a skylight and three deadeyes on a side. The cockpit will be fitted with two 3-inch snapper pipes with life-boat valves. The cruiser is to be adroit and maneuvered, clean, trim and perfect, before June 15th.

Mr. R. W. Gilbert, of Charlton & Gilbert, is the chairman of the club and superintendent of the yacht's construction. He is an old yachtsman and brought with him from Boston a Burgess cut-boat, the Tomuskat, which has been greatly admired here. The Marquette Yacht club is intended to become a full-fledged yacht club in every sense of the word, although organized primarily for the construction of this cruiser. Mr. Gilbert, Messrs. A. O. and J. E. Jopling, J. M. Longyear, C. H. Schiffer, D. F. Charlton, E. A. Parker, Peter White, F. J. Jenkinson, C. L. Frizelle, E. C. Williams, A. B. Eldredge, E. A. Wetmore and E. H. Fitch are already interested in the move and others expect to join. These gentlemen already own one or two sail boats and naphtha launches besides a fine fleet of smaller craft, and when the new cruiser is afloat will have a first class nucleus for a larger fleet. The move is a good one for Marquette, for a fine fleet of yachts ought to claim the Queen City of Lake Superior as their port of call and when that big summer hotel comes we will want regattas here every summer and our own yachts in them every time.

The von Schiller Recital.
An audience of music lovers assembled at the opera house last night, and for the first time in the history of Marquette the heavenly maid was received with fitting surroundings. It seemed a little too good for us to sit in a perfectly appointed room, with all the senses in repose, yet keenly alive to all that could minister to them. Let us sing Te Deum for this: The evil days, when we had to sit in a wide and draughty waste, straining our ears to catch the intent of the little people in the dim distance who were doing their utmost to voice their message through the wide expanse of cheesy fog and horsey smell, are past. Hans von Schiller, the artist who appeared last night to dedicate the magnificent Decker Bros' grand, proved himself one of the ablest living exponents of modern pianism. With him, as with all musicianly artists, technique has ceased to be the one great thing, and has assumed its appropriate function—a means to a greater end. A glance at the program appended reveals how wide a range he essayed, yet he seemed as thoroughly conversant with one style as with another and was masterly and true with all. His perfect repertoire lends a wonderful charm to his still more wonderful playing. His tone is broader than that of any other artist who has preceded him here, and his attack as certain in his fairy-like pianissimo as in the thunderous fortes. Chopin's "Funeral March" caused the utmost pleasure throughout the entire audience while nothing that he played was more thoroughly delightful than his own arrangement of a song by Jansen. It is certain that none but admirers left the opera house last night, and, also, that an announcement of his reappearance would fill the house.

Miss May Anthony, daughter of Mayor E. C. Anthony, of Negaunee, delighted all by her charming rendition of Millotti's "Night Shades are Falling," for which she was enthusiastically recalled. She has a soprano voice of beautiful, sympathetic timbre, and her method shows careful study and excellent training. The people of Marquette will be glad to see and hear Miss Anthony often. Her accompaniment was played by Miss Lela Jones in excellent taste.

Mr. Jopling has none but admirers in Marquette, and in last night's effort he was fully up to the standard that has won him such sincere regard as a musician. It is always a pleasure to listen to him and the hope is hereby expressed that the opportunity will be more often afforded. Mr. Jopling's accompaniment was played by Mr. Nicholson, choirmaster of St. Paul's, in a thoroughly musicianlike manner.

In conclusion the MINING JOURNAL has to congratulate the people of this city on having such a delightful house of music as the opera house was proven last night to be, and on there being in that house, and as part and parcel of it, such a magnificent instrument as the Decker Bros' Grand, just placed there by Manager Ross.

The program was as follows:
(a) Praeludium and Chaconne.....Lachner

A Big Deal Closed.
Mr. W. C. Brown was notified yesterday that the big brownstone deal which he has been manipulating for several months had been closed in Chicago. This means that a controlling interest in the Michigan Redstone company, 11,000 shares, has been secured by Furst, Neu & Co., as the famous brownstone firm of Furst, Jacobs & Co. is known since its annual meeting last month.

The Michigan Redstone company was organized by Jackson parties principally and in November last Mr. Brown took an option upon the stock held by A. B. Robinson, C. C. Bloomfield and G. A. W. Dodge, of Jackson. He offered it to the owners of the famous old Marquette quarry and the operators of the original Portage Entry quarry, Furst, Jacobs & Co., and at the latter's annual meeting the sale was practically closed, the transfer not being concluded, however, until this week.

By this purchase Furst, Neu & Co. have secured a controlling interest in one of the most promising quarries on the lake. The company holds a lease from Martin Messner on the main land side of the entry and commenced opening its quarries last May. It now has a dock 600 feet long, a full equipment of the latest and best quarrying machinery and has two cargoes of stone on the dock which would have been shipped last fall but for the fact that the dock was not out into deep water then. The eye is a large amount of No. 1 stone already stripped and it is the intention of the company under its new management to push the development of the property as vigorously as possible. Recent transfers of the stock have taken place at $3 and $3.50 per share; it will undoubtedly take a jump now that Furst, Neu & Co.'s connection with the company is known.

Married at Last.
At 6 o'clock yesterday morning Mr. James Roberts and Miss Clara Garceau were married at the Church of St. Jean Baptiste. Their names were "called" in that church last summer but when the wedding day came the prospective bride was taken sick. Just as she recovered the groom met with an accident on the ore docks and the marriage had to be postponed again. He was just getting around after the accident and beginning to think of marriage once more when he was taken down with typhoid fever. He had an eight weeks' tussle with that disease but finally conquered and yesterday at last secured his bride. Mr. Roberts is now in the South Shore yards at Negaunee.

Marquette's Contribution.
When the list of contributions to the fund for Michigan's educational exhibit at the World's Fair is published Marquette will be found in her usual place towards the head of the list for the contributions in the city schools on Washington's Birthday footed up to $186.80, over twice the amount given in any other city on the upper peninsula. The amount given by the schools proper was $126.30 and citizens who were interested in the entertainments and in the efforts of the scholars added $60.50, making a total of which the city may well be proud.

SPECIMEN CASES.
S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.
Edward Shephard, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well.
John Speaker, Catawba, O., had a large Fever sore on his leg, doctor said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by H. H. Stafford Son & Co.

The Aeolian!

BILL NYE

Thinks of it.

"While in Chicago I had the pleasure of hearing one of your Aeolians, and the melody is still ringing in my ears. If you could see me since I heard that wonderful and accurate music, you would see a different man. I am more hopeful. My vicinals and my wife both agree with me, and in my once sad heart the little pee wees are singing. Seriously it is a most wonderful instrument."

Mr. Nye is only one of the many who are surprised by this wonderful instrument. If the Aeolian had no other qualities than its beautiful tone and wonderful orchestral effects, it would be a marvelous instrument, but when to these are added that simplicity of operation that enables anyone to play it with a few days practice, it becomes phenomenal.

Herr Anton Seidl, leader of the German opera, New York city, has an Aeolian for his personal use and endorses it highly.
You are earnestly invited to call and hear this wonderful instrument at
