

"WELL-BRED" STATIONERY.

The good breeding and good taste of a lady—much abused word—are subtly yet conspicuously shown in the stationery she uses.

It may seem strange to speak of stationery as "well-bred" but we take the liberty to employ the phrase as a compact one to designate the kind of writing materials used by well bred people in their correspondence.

We have just received a full line of Hard & Pike's correct styles in paper and envelopes. The prices vary but it is all "well-bred."

SENSE FROM SHERMAN.

Ohio's Senior Senator Talks on the Issues of the Campaign.

DEMOCRATIC PRETENSES SHARPLY EXPOSED.

SOUND AMERICAN DOCTRINE.

NORTH FAIRFIELD, O., Sept. 30.—Senator John Sherman spoke here today. It was his opening speech in the campaign and he came into this, the Fourteenth congressional district, where there is a bitter fight with Congressman Harter, democrat, on one side and E. G. Johnson, republican, on the other. About five thousand people were at the meeting.

Senator Sherman first reviewed the material progress of the United States under a protective tariff since 1861, claiming that all the prosperity was due to the republican policy. Then he said: "We stand by this policy. We maintain and defend it as constitutional and right, as beneficial to all classes of our people and as one of the best results of republican policy."

He then read the republican and democratic tariff planks and said: "They say it is a fraud upon labor for the benefit of the few. The best answer to this is to compare the position of the laboring men now and in the old democratic ante-bellum times. While there are now, as there ever will be as long as human society exists, great differences in the condition of industrialists in any country or time, yet the conditions of the laboring man in our country are confessedly better in every respect than in any other country in the world in ancient or modern times.

"In the wages of his labor, in the enjoyment of civil and political rights, in the education of his children, his social standing and position and in the possibilities of his future, there is no laborer of any race or of any time that compares with the American laborer.

"The poor of today are the rich of tomorrow. The fluctuations of human life make this unavoidable but wherever the law or public opinion can in any way promote or advance the interests and condition of the laboring man that will surely be done in a government like ours, founded upon the free choice and vote of the people. To say that this policy of protection, the principle design of which is to promote the interests of the laboring man, is a fraud upon him is a falsehood which every reasoning being can detect.

"But it is said protection is for the benefit of the few. This also is equally erroneous for there is not a single industry where any discrimination is made in favor of the employer as against the laborer. There may be a difference of opinion between them as to the just rate of wages, but here the laborer is as free to choose his mode of employment as the employer. The disputes between them no doubt often lead to evil results and it is the hope and aim of good men of all parties to point out some way of adjusting a fair division in the results of production between labor and capital and to secure to the laborer fair wages and prompt pay for honest services. But as yet no scheme has been adopted except to leave the matter entirely to the free will of both the laborer and the manufacturer and to protect each in the enjoyment of his undoubted rights."

Senator Sherman then discussed the democratic declaration that protection is unconstitutional and said he could quote the opinions of Jefferson, Madison, Monroe and Jackson in favor of protection by tariff laws. John C. Calhoun, he said, first promulgated the doctrine that protection was unconstitutional in the days of nullification in 1833 and General Jackson said that if Calhoun tried to carry out his idea he would "hang him as high as Haman." The modern democratic party, the senator said, had thrown off all disguises and declared openly for the doctrine proclaimed in the confederate constitution and first announced by John C. Calhoun.

Mr. Sherman said he had noticed that Senator Hill had insisted in his recent speech that the democratic party still stands on the old doctrine of a tariff for revenue with incidental protection. Senator Hill's position was not tenable for the reason that the democratic convention had not only rejected the incidental protection idea but had substituted for it the provisions of the old confederate constitution.

"It is for you, fellow citizens," continued the senator, "to say whether a public policy which has been maintained so long and so successfully, which has produced such wonderful results upon the history and prosperity of our country, which has already advanced us to the richest farming country and the greatest manufacturing country in the world, shall be abandoned in order to carry out their ideas of a confederacy of states and free trade notions of commercial cities and of professional duties whose only idea is that 'It is English, you know.'"

He said the people of Ohio ought to take great pride in the now ascertained beneficial results of the McKinley law, largely the work of citizens and people of Ohio. In the light of successful experiment it was acknowledged to be a measure certain to produce the highest benefit to all the producing classes.

He then quoted from the report of Labor Commissioner Peck of New York to show that wages and products had been largely increased by the McKinley tariff. It had also decreased the price of sugar in every family. It had enlarged our foreign imports to $827,000,000 in a single year, an increase of $73,000,000 more than any previous year, and in the same period had increased our exports to a figure $132,000,000 greater than was ever reached before.

"If the republican party succeeds," the senator said, "this policy will be maintained. If the democratic party succeeds you must prepare for radical changes in your tariff laws which will seriously affect the wages of labor and of capital employed in manufactures."

The senator said that while the democratic and republican parties occupied about the same position in their national platforms on the silver question it must not be forgotten that a majority of democrats in both senate and the house of the present congress frequently voted last winter for the free coinage of silver. He said the result of free coinage would be disastrous to all industries and would be especially severe upon the laborer and the poor.

The senator next took up the democratic declaration in favor of the repeal of the tax on state bank circulation and went over the history of wild-cat banking in the west. He said our currency was every dollar of it as good as gold. On September 1, 1892, there were outstanding in treasury notes or certificates and bank notes $1,076,000,000, all secured by government or the credit of the government.

"We have in the treasury $537,000,000 in gold and silver coin to redeem these notes, as well as about $300,000,000 of United States bonds belonging to the national banks to secure the redemption of their notes. This is the kind of money which is to be superseded by the rag tag and bobtail, red-dog and wild-cat money of the olden time."

Senator Sherman closed by referring to the importance of republican victory in the Fourteenth district of Ohio and in the state as well as the nation and asked all to vote the republican ticket.

CLEVELAND IN NEW YORK.

He is Making Strong Effort to Recon- cile Democratic Factions.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Mr. Cleveland arrived in this city this morning and was driven to his hotel. There were many callers during the day and the reception did not end till midnight and his time was occupied almost constantly from the time of his arrival till then. Throughout the evening William C. Whitney never left the room but remained with him materially aiding in the entertainment of the callers. To add to the interest which kept Mr. Whitney in constant attendance was the fact that the action of the state committee had been foreshadowed and the fact that a crisis in New York state politics had been reached, a state whose electoral vote it is so important to secure. During the evening representatives of the regular state organization and of those who sympathize with the leaders in the Syracuse movement called.

CONCILIATING ANTI-SNAPPERS.

The democratic state committee did not nominate a candidate for chief judge of the court of appeals at its meeting in the Hoffman House last night. The committee remained in session but little more than half an hour and at the conclusion Secretary De Freest announced that the only business transacted was the appointment of a committee of three to pass upon the eligibility of presidential electors.

Previous to the regular meeting the executive committee met and mapped out a program. It was agreed that the question of nominating a candidate for chief judge of the court of appeals should not be discussed. The obvious reason for this was that the committee was awaiting the outcome of the anti-snappers' movement. If harmony is established between Mr. Grace's followers and Tammany Hall the state committee will probably nominate Judge Rufus W. Peckham as a concession to the anti-snappers. If, on the other hand, Mr. Grace refuses to fall into line and call off his opposition to Tammany Hall the choice of the committee will fall upon an outsider. The committee tonight adjourned to meet at the call of the chair.

DEMOCRATS HOPE FOR IOWA.

The situation in the state of Iowa was the principal question considered this afternoon at democratic national headquarters. Mr. J. J. Richardson of Iowa, the national committeeman of that state, has been for several days in the city explaining how matters look out there and urging that special attention be paid to that state as one of the northwestern group to be captured for Cleveland and Stevenson.

Today Mr. Richardson, Charles D. Fuller of Des Moines, chairman of the state committee, N. W. McIver of Cedar Rapids, chairman of the state league of democratic clubs and Henry Stavers, editor of The Des Moines Leader, called upon Mr. Cleveland at his hotel. After the call they addressed the democratic national committee at length.

During a protracted session the campaign committee considered the matter in all its bearings and exhaustively examined the political statistics of the state for the past ten years.

The conclusion reached was that with proper effort the state of Iowa can be carried for Cleveland and Stevenson and the campaign committee, believing in the practicability of such a result, resolved to aid, by the general distribution of documents and the assignment of speakers, the energetic campaign which is already being conducted in Iowa by its leading democrats, foremost among whom in the speaking canvass is Governor Boies. The delegation called in a body upon Senator Hill at his hotel today.

TEN MEN HAVE PERISHED.

Only One Man Escapes Alive From the Great Norrie Mine Cave-In.

RESCUED AFTER THIRTY HOURS IMPRISONMENT.

Remaining Ten Miners, Timber Men and Trammers Were Undoubtedly Crushed to Death Instantly.

UNDER TONS OF ROCK.

IRONWOOD, Sept. 30.—All through the long hours of last night the work of the rescuers of the entombed men at the Norrie mine progressed, the men being spurred on to greater effort by the distant sounds which came from the cave-in rooms in which eleven men were imprisoned.

At 5:30 o'clock this morning a faint voice was heard from the dark recesses at the farther end of the first room and the efforts of the diggers were directed to the direction from which the sound seemed to come.

At 8:30, nearly four hours after the man's voice was first heard, he was rescued by his fellow workers, carried to the shaft and taken to the surface in the ore bucket from a depth of 400 feet.

Abraham Thompson, a Norwegian miner, was the man, and he was taken to the hospital. Thompson is greatly exhausted but passed through his thirty hours imprisonment without injury. He says he has not heard of any of the other ten men. He was standing alone when the crash came and thinks most of the others were in the second room which, he says, caved in first. Almost immediately the ground fell in the room where he stood.

No sounds have been heard from the cave-in chambers since Thompson was taken out and it is feared that the other ten men are lost. The rescuing party has reached No. 2 room and finds it intact, but none of the missing ten men were in it. It was expected all along that part of the men would have been found in No. 2 room.

Although the rescuing party will continue operations it is certain at this hour that Thompson is the only one who will escape.

A roll call of the men was had and those who are missing and whose bodies undoubtedly lie beneath the debris of No. 1 room and the drift leading to it are: Frank Danham, Samuel Danham, John Johnson, all miners; Simon Vechb, John Bloomquist, Herman Erickson, Jacob Sandquist, timber crew; Matt Mather, John Hermanson, trammers; Michael Downs, skip tender.

NO NEWS FOR TWO YEARS.

Remarkable Voyage of the Whaling Steamer Mary C. Hume.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 31.—The whaling steamer Mary C. Hume, Captain Tilton, some details of whose remarkable voyage in the Arctic have already been telegraphed, arrived in port today, fourteen days from Oonalaska. The steamer has been gone over two years and a half and for two winters was penned in the ice. She came back with only six men forward. Two of her crew were drowned at Oonalaska, one died in the far north and a number died before the Arctic ocean was reached. Her catch for the cruise has been thirty-eight whales whose bones and oil represent a value of $400,000.

The Hume was out about one hundred days when the first accident occurred, resulting in the loss of two of the crew. A small boat in command of Third Mate Hogg was capsized off Oonalaska and two sailors named Driscoll and Paul were drowned. Steward Myers died from inflammatory rheumatism the first winter spent in the ice.

Both winters the steamer was quartered at Herschel Island and in the spring went to Cape Bathurst and McKenzie river. The health of those on board was good during the first year but the second winter proved less fortunate. Scoury broke out on board and there were seven men down in the forecastle at one time.

A lad named Raymond la Pierre was taken to the Marine hospital in this city almost a wreck, his legs and arms being destroyed and his body full of sores from the effects of scurvy. Boat Steerer Ned Halstrom had his left foot frozen and it became necessary to amputate the member.

The Hume left here April 18, 1890, and from July of that year until August, 1892, those on board did not receive a word of news from home. Once Mate Hogg went three hundred miles to the southward in the direction of the Porcupine River in British America. The people there told him Queen Victoria was still alive and that was the last they had heard.

HE SAVED MANY LIVES.

Patrick Mitchell's Gallantry May Cost Him His own Life.

DENVER, Sept. 30.—The Buena Vista Hotel was destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock this morning. Gustave Kearse, a lodger, perished in the flames and Anna Gunterston, A. McDougall and Tom Arnold were severely burned. The latter may die. The flames appeared simultaneously in several parts of the building and only the brave work of Patrick Mitchell, who first awoke, saved those who escaped. The forty lodgers had to jump from windows as the stairways were impassable. In twenty minutes after the fire was discovered the structure was in ruins. Mitchell, whose bravery saved a score of lives, broke both arms and both legs in leaping from a veranda when his work had been accomplished. The hotel was an old landmark. The loss will amount to $10,000.

An interesting question is before congress and the American Bar association arising out of the unfortunate massacre of the Italians in New Orleans.

The issue in the controversy arose from the conduct of the mob that broke into the New Orleans jail and killed the Italian who had been arrested for the murder of the chief of police.

The question before congress and the Bar association's international law committee is clear. What remedy is there for a condition of law, international and domestic, under which the United States is responsible to a foreign government?

LIVING ON AIR. The Remarkable Survival of Three Entombed Miners in Bohemia.

The teaching of experience as illustrated by several instances of prolonged abstinence, though it may afford some idea of human endurance in this particular under special conditions, has yet provided no certain criterion of the vital resistance possessed by the average man when suddenly deprived of every form of sustenance.

It is the narrative of three Bohemian miners, who, after being entombed by a fall of sand in the pit where they were working, were finally rescued alive, though of course in an utterly prostrate condition, seventeen days later.

We can have no difficulty in understanding generally why this holds true if we bear in mind the fact that not only does water constitute by far the greater constituent of every tissue, but that without its due proportion the circulation and nutrition of the blood and that needful if costly chemical change upon which all tissue repair depends would be alike impossible.

In endeavoring to trace the rationale of a life persisting, as in the case of the buried miners, in spite of the absence of every natural condition, we must notice one or two significant points. In the first place, their condition was that of rest, their functional metabolism being proportionally less active, their output of tissue diminished and their waste of carbonic acid not so likely to overcharge the surrounding atmosphere.

Much depends in such cases on the amount of nitrogenous matter stored up, for the most part in the muscular tissue, and available for destructive changes. We may safely assume that the amount of reserve nitrogen in the case of these men was not meager.

A very interesting question is before congress and the American Bar association arising out of the unfortunate massacre of the Italians in New Orleans.

The issue in the controversy arose from the conduct of the mob that broke into the New Orleans jail and killed the Italian who had been arrested for the murder of the chief of police.

The question before congress and the Bar association's international law committee is clear. What remedy is there for a condition of law, international and domestic, under which the United States is responsible to a foreign government?

THE TRUTH OF IT. Is There Any Limit to Human Endurance?

A REVELATION WHICH WILL ASTONISH MOST PEOPLE. And Yet It Is In Reality of Every Day Occurrence.

The following communication is from one of our correspondents, Mrs. Carrie E. Martin, a lady well known and highly respected and who occupies a position of the highest social distinction in West Leyden, Mass.

"Last summer I was all run down, had chills, no appetite, very little sleep nights and none days, faint spells, trembling feelings and was so weak I could hardly walk around the room.

"I sent for our town physician and he came a good many times. I soon had to give up any more of the doctor's medicine did me no good. I tried to ride out one morning, but went only a few rods and had to come home. My husband then went to church, leaving me with the hired help and my children.

"When my husband came in from church I told him I was worse and that I would die if I did not get help soon; that I would not take any more of the doctor's medicine but try Dr. Greene's Nerveura Blood and nerve remedy, if he thought best.

"He advised me to try it and went immediately to get a bottle, which I began to take; up to this time we knew nothing of its value except as we had seen it advertised.

"In the course of two days our family physician came in and saying that he found me about the same finally told me that he had concluded to ask for counsel. He informed me that I might choose any doctor I preferred to meet him in consultation.

"I said to him, 'then you consider me pretty badly off?'" "He answered, 'I certainly do and shall not prescribe for you again until some other doctor sees you, as I do not know what to give you next.'"

"He then said to him, 'perhaps you will be offended, but I have not taken any of your medicine for two days, but am taking Dr. Greene's Nerveura blood and nerve remedy.'"

"He answered, 'I am not offended; if it will help you I shall be very glad. You may continue its use a week and if no better, then we will have counsel.'"

"But at the end of the week I was better. In two weeks I was a good deal better, no chills, no faint feelings, could eat some and sleep quite well. In three weeks I was around and about the house. In four weeks my hired girl left me and I went to doing my housework alone, and have since continued to do so with seven in the family.

"Since that time our family physician has advised its use from time to time, saying that it would keep up my strength better. He has advised others to take it, telling them of the good it did me, and today I have reason, yes, great reason, to thank God for my recovery, and through the use of Dr. Greene's Nerveura blood and nerve remedy. I am only too glad to testify to its merits. God bless Dr. Greene and his wonderful medicine."

This remarkable remedy is purely vegetable and harmless, and can be procured at any drug store for $1 per bottle. Like the above able and excellent physician, all doctors of high standing recommend the sick to use it, for it cures. Doctors prescribe and recommend it because it is not a patent medicine but a physician's prescription, the discovery of the eminent specialist, Dr. Greene, of 35 W. 14 street, New York, who is so wonderfully successful in curing all forms of nervous and chronic diseases, and who can be consulted free, personally or by letter.—Editor.

EVICTED IRISH TENANTS.

English Ministry Very Seriously Considering What to Do With Those Unfortunates.

COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE THEIR CASE.

Temporary Grant of 250,000 Pounds Is Proposed by Chief Secretary Morley for Their Relief.

COURSE OF ENGLISH POLITICS.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—[Copyrighted.]—The Irish eviction question and the evacuation of Uganda were the main matters discussed at yesterday's and today's cabinet councils.

Mr. John Morley, chief secretary for Ireland, is understood to have advised a temporary grant of money on the ground that a commission to examine into the evictions cannot complete its inquiry in time to prepare a bill to be introduced at the opening of parliament.

The Irish Evicted Tenants' association asks in the interim a grant of £250,000 with due representation on the commission.

The representative of the Associated Press has learned that the ministers are inclined to concede a moiety of the evicted tenants' demands but to refuse to immediately sanction any portion of the proposed grant.

IRON MARKET IMPROVES.

Such Is the General Judgment of The Cleveland Iron Trade Review.

WESTERN MILLS ARE CROWDED WITH ORDERS.

Dun & Co. Report Money Easy and Business Heavy in All Parts of the Country.

STATE OF THE IRON TRADE.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 30.—The Iron Trade Review, commenting on the iron market for the week, will say:

Putting it briefly the situation as to iron is an improved one in the pig iron market without any transactions of note at advanced prices and in manufactured iron and steel a firmer attitude, accompanied here and there by prices from $1 to $2 a ton higher than ruled in the past two months.

In the east there is a slackening of the pace maintained through the western shut-downs. Demand is fair but prices are irregular with no gain in firmness.

In the west mills are crowded with accumulated work and there is such a steady supply of new orders that it will be weeks, in some cases two or three months, before the books can be cleaned up.

The improved feeling in the chief selling centers for raw iron has held for two weeks. Large buyers will not contract largely at the 25 cents advance which southern iron makers have made on the strength of the September furnace figures but the plentiful supply of small orders indicate that a good many mill and foundry stocks of pig are running low and that it only remains for buyers to be fully convinced that bottom has been touched to bring them to the front with large requirements.

Furnace men count on the October report of stocks to do the convincing but there were a good many resumption in the last days of August and other furnaces have gone in blast in September while banking and blowing out has not been much of a feature in the furnace news of the month.

Something like 20,000 tons of ore have been sold in this market the past week at prices the same as have prevailed for some time, a reduction of from 25 to 40 cents from last year.

With a continuance, week after week, of the condition immediately following the shut-down, namely, mills crowded with orders and new orders coming in faster than old ones were filled, manufacturers and dealers have advanced prices in this market from $1 to $3 a ton on finished iron and steel. The mills represented here have found buyers so urgent in some instances that they have had to go into the market and buy to fill their orders.

DUN'S REVIEW OF TRADE.

Money Plenty, Collections Improving and Iron Market Stronger.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade will say: Business continues larger than ever at this time of the year and the commercial sky is without a cloud. Money is everywhere in ample supply and collections have very rarely been so generally satisfactory. The outgo of money from western centers for purchases in the country is larger than usual and yet there is no embarrassment. Crop reports are uniformly favorable and the promise is distinctly better than it was a few months ago.

Large sales of pig iron are reported, especially at Cincinnati. All works making structural irons are very busy, though bar iron is still weak and rails inactive. Copper is unchanged at 11 1/4c.

The business failures occurring throughout the country during the past seven days number 308 as compared with the total of 211 last week. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 230.

ENGINEER AND FIREMAN.

Both Are Instantly Killed by Locomotive Boiler Explosion.

DUNOIS, Pa., Sept. 30.—At 12:10 o'clock this morning the boiler of engine 72 exploded near Grove Summit, on the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh railroad, and Levi Wise and Charles Flynn, engineer and fireman of this place, were blown to pieces. All the parts of their bodies cannot be found.

He Fought at Waterloo.

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—Gen. Carl Muller, the last surviving German officer who took part in the battle of Waterloo, died today in Hanover. He was 90 years old.

It is an interesting fact that out of sixteen cities of over 200,000 population in the United States, fourteen, or over 87 per cent., are using the electrical railway system or equipping roads with the system.

Air guns were first made by Guhr, in Germany, in 1656, and the invention is also accredited to Shaw, of America, in 1845.

Perilous Riding on the Iron Horse.

"Did you ever ride on a locomotive?" asked O. G. Haskins. "I tried it once and have no desire to repeat the experiment. It was out in Colorado, where you sometimes run so close to bottomless chasms that you could drop your hat into them, and make turns so short and sudden that it nearly disjoins your spinal vertebrae. The master mechanic was an old friend of mine and gave me permission to ride over the road on the engine of the lightning express. The engineer did not appear to fancy my presence much, but treated me civilly. We were behind time, the night was black as Erebus, and a terrific thunderstorm was raging. The engineer was determined to go on time, and the way he rushed around those curves and across canyons was enough to make a man's hair turn gray.

"The peculiar thing about these mountain engines is that they do not take a curve like any other vehicle. They go plunging straight ahead until you feel sure that they are clear of the track and suspended in midair, and then shoot around and leave you to wonder by what miracle you have been saved. The trucks take the curve in the orthodox manner, but the superstructure is so arranged that it consumes more time in making the turn. With the lightning playing about the mountain peaks and half disclosing the frightful gorges and swollen torrents, the great iron Leviathan swaying and plunging along that slippery, serpentine track, I first realized the perils of railway travel and the responsibility of the sullen man who kept his hand on the throttle and his eye on the track. I stood with my heart in my throat, admiring his nerve, but not envying him his job. At the first stop I clambered back into the coach and staid there."

Bright Old Men in Essex County.

Essex county, Mass., has been noted not only for its legal lights like Rufus Choate, Caleb Cushing, Judge Story and others, but also for its deputy sheriffs, some of whom have served many years.

Of one of these men, Daniel Potter, many amusing stories have been told. At one time he entered a newspaper office in Salem, and addressing the only scribe who was in sight said:

"I thought I would tell you that tomorrow I shall go where I never went before and can never go again."

The scribe, knowing his call, promptly "gave it up," and then Mr. Potter said:

"It is into my eightieth year!" Some years ago these old deputies had a gathering at the home of a certain one of their number in Gloucester. While they were roaming about the house the host called the attention of his guests to an old clock, a great favorite of his.

He told his friends of his great attachment to this ancient timepiece and grew quite pathetic at certain points in his remarks, which he brought to a close by saying in a voice full of emotion:

"Gentlemen, I have wound up that clock every night for more than forty years."

He had evidently made an impression on his visitors, when one old deputy, who had been carefully examining the clock, turned the tide of feeling evoked by the story by saying dryly:

"Well, I always did think you were something of an idiot! That's an eight day clock!"—Youth's Companion.

Religious Differences.

In the greater concerns of life there are wonderful illustrations of the conflicts of opinions. There are something over 1,300,000,000 of human beings in the world. Among these are six varieties of religious belief; three of these are said by one class to be false, and by others three are said to be the true religion. And yet every religionist, every sectarian claims that he and she alone are right. What our Chinese neighbors say is "true" we say is "false." We call them "heathens"—they class us as "outside barbarians."

What we English speaking people think is the right and the true religion is in a startling minority in human belief or religious creed—for there are only some 350,000,000 Christians in all the world. There are some 6,000,000 Jews, and they have clung with singular persistency in all ages to their religious belief; it is seldom a Jew renounces his faith; it is more seldom that a Christian embraces Judaism. There are more than 400,000,000 people who are pagans and Mohammedans.—Detroit Free Press.

Scarfs That Demand a Pin.

The scarfpin should always be worn with the flat, madcap scarf. There is a place for its insertion, and by seeming to hold it together it attains a utilitarian phase, in that it is an aid in glossing over the percentage of madcap suggestiveness that is always more or less associated with the imitative article.

The madcap flat or puff scarf, if worn without a scarfpin, discloses its artificiality in all the baldness of its mechanical inferiority. It is a curious paradox in the fashions, therefore, that the scarfing that does not actually need the scarfpin in reality requires it most of all.

In the self tied De Joinville, or its madcap reproduction, the scarfpin must pierce the cross folds at the intersection.—Clothier and Furnisher.

REPORTORIAL PENICILLINGS.

L. F. Perrett welcomed a new boy at his home Thursday.

I. Neuberger's store will be closed until 6 o'clock this evening.

"The Flower Queen" at the Marquette Opera House again this afternoon and evening. Popular prices.

Dr. C. O. Boyce has arrived home from Chicago and will at once open his offices in the Savings bank building.

Hon. George Wagner and George A. Royce left yesterday for Iron Mountain to attend the republican senatorial convention.

Born, yesterday, to Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Fitzgerald, a son—and the boys at the Lake Shore works are informed that he is a bouncer, too.

O. R. Tredway, of Pendell's drug store, has gone to Grand Rapids to become a Benedict, Miss Ella Van Wyck being the fortunate young lady.

Rev. L. M. Waterman has returned and will occupy his pulpit at the Baptist church tomorrow. His subject in the morning will be "The Development of the Divine," and in the evening, "A Glorious Guest."

Secretary F. H. Clark will conduct the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon. It will be his farewell meeting and the committee and members of the association are especially asked to be present while the usual cordial invitation is extended to others.

The semi-annual meeting of the stockholders of the Marquette Valley Milling company will be held at the city office of the company in the Savings bank block this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock to hear the reports of the officers after which the stockholders will go out to inspect the property.

Third ward citizens are experiencing some of the benefits of having a colony of bachelors established in their midst. The other night the cow which has caused so much profanity in that vicinity in the small hours of the night with her cathedral bell, was champed enough to kick out the lawn about Bachelors' Ranch for a parade ground. She had not rattled that bell very long when the tocsin was answered, the inmates pouring out in such strange and wonderful attire that the bovine breast was filled with wild alarm and she went tearing down Ridge street with the whole colony after her. A fleet-footed bank cashier ran the rest, overhauled the enemy in front of St. Paul's church and seized upon the bell as a prize of war. The trophy was borne back to the ranch with due pomp and ceremony and its mellow (?) notes now rouse the members of the colony from their dreams each morning.

A gentleman well known in Marquette and who, besides being entitled to the prefix "Hon." from his political achievements in the Keystone state, has won distinction in upper peninsula forests by his prowess with the rifle, had an experience the other day and one which gave him a shock from which he has not yet recovered. He had been fortunate enough to knock over a magnificent buck and was bringing in the head to have it mounted, when he ran across another hunter whom he discovered was a member of an Indiana party encamped in the neighborhood. The Hoosier came running up to him quivering with excitement and announced, with an air of pride which was simply irresistible, that he had killed a porcupine! Mistaking the look which spread over the Pennsylvanian's face for one of amazement he reiterated his statement and pulled out a bottle filled with quills which he brandished wildly in the air and announced that he was going to take it home to show his friends. He finally recovered sufficiently to ask the other what luck he had had, whereupon the Quaker, so to much overcome to trust to speech, simply turned around and displayed the splendid set of antlers in his pack straps, then left the astounded Hoosier to his thoughts and made a bee line for the railroad track to find room to laugh.

A MEAN TRICK ON TIM.

But It Secures a Vote for Harrison. Provided the Voter Sticks.

TO THE MINING JOURNAL.—Although a republican, I cannot endorse the "job" that was put up on our fellow townsman, Hon. Timothy Nester, as developed at the joint debate on Wednesday evening last. It seems, as the story goes, that somebody had told Nester that under the provisions of sections 24 and 25 of the McKinley law, the tariff on iron ore was practically taken off so as to leave but one-fourth of a cent duty per ton. A friend (?) "steered" Tim to Hon. F. O. Clark, for an "opinion." Clark read the sections referred to and in reply said, very solemnly, "Mr. Nester, there can be no doubt but that those sections authorize a rebate of 99 per cent of the duty." Of course Clark did not explain to the credulous inquirer that the sections referred to related only to importations made for the express purpose of being manufactured by American workmen, and then to be exported so as not to compete in our home markets.

Nester was elated—thought he had a mare's nest, whispered it to the Times, told Tim about it, and then went into the streets, alleys and other places to numerous to mention, and urged his friends to attend the debate and witness the blowing up of the McKinley law as part of the fireworks, he (Nester) was to introduce and discharge.

The friends came; the Casino was crowded. It was Nester's time for the discharge of his fireworks. The vast audience sang "We will rally round the flag boys," while Nester was dancing on the platform, waving his long, bony arm over his head, keeping time with the music. When the music ceased Nester stepped forward and deliberately "set up" his fireworks.

After firing a few small squibs he announced his program to the audience, and begged them to be prepared for the grandest display ever witnessed in this country. He thereupon opened the United States statutes containing the McKinley law, and laid it upon the table before him; and then with the grandest solemnity and assurance made the charge that by the provisions of this law all imported iron ore is admitted by paying one-fourth of a cent duty, and then exclaimed, "That is the infamous law that paralyzes our industries and has produced stagnation in the upper peninsula. I dare Judge Brown to read the law! I will vote for Harrison if the law is not as I say it is." [Cries: Read it! Read it!]

"I won't take the time to read it. I am too old a bird for that; I can't spare the time but Lawyer Clark says that is the law, and he knows quite as much about the law as Judge Brown does." And then he howled and belloved and stamped and shouted, "Judge Brown dare not read the law. I defy him! Oh! Uh!—das't, das't, das't!"

And then he pounded the statute with both fists until he tore out the leaf on which the awful alleged free trade section was printed.

Judge Brown in reply stated briefly what the sections contained, but did not at first read them, calmly waiting for Nester to swallow the hook. He, however, stated the substance of the law, and showed from the treasurer's report that the amount of duties collected by the government on imported ores at 75 cents per ton was as follows:

In 1891.....$716,637.75

Six months in 1892.....379,705.50

Nester was re-assured, and again taking the floor commenced to "dare" his opponent to read the law. "Friends you will see he da-r-r-e not read it! He da-r-r-e! I defy him! I defy him!" He claims it would take too much time. If he did not want to take his time to read it he may take it out of mine." As he said this, Brown instantly arose and "called him."

Then came a flash of lightning quick, and Nester—where was he? Ask of the free-trade heretics.

Whose fragments strewed the sea.

Brown read the two sections and triumphantly exclaimed: "Who is the preparator?" and pointing to Nester said, "There sits the man who deliberately attempts to insult your intelligence by pretending to believe that the McKinley law practically places iron ore on the free list, when he knows better. He knows that the democratic party is doling out a deal of the duties upon all raw materials, including iron ore."

"The Times in referring to the catastrophe assures its readers that Nester made a mistake in taking so much time in 'daring' the judge. Several others seem to think the same way.

Now I do not mean to say that Clark and Brown put up this job—they both claiming that they did not—but it is very evident that someone did. It couldn't have 'just happened' that way. Whoever the guilty parties are they should be punished for cruelty to Nester.

THE RESCUE AT THE NORRIE

Senator Stevens Tells the Story of the Ironwood Disaster Very Graphically.

SHALL MARQUETTE HAVE THE PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD IN '93.

At the Casino Last Night—"The Flower Queen"—Work of Construction Commenced—Other City Notes.

ONLY ONE FOUND.

Senator J. H. D. Stevens, who arrived from Ironwood yesterday afternoon, described to a MIXING JOURNAL reporter the awful scenes of excitement about the Norrie mine where the eleven miners were entombed by a cave-in at 4 o'clock Thursday morning. Fully a thousand persons remained about the shaft all Thursday night, while the streets of Ironwood were as well filled with people as at mid-day, each man asking of his neighbor "What's the latest?" When he took the train yesterday morning over 2,000 people were gathered about the shaft whence the one who is undoubtedly the sole survivor of the eleven had just been raised.

Within an hour after the accident a force of skilled miners were at work driving a drift to the room where it was supposed their comrades were imprisoned. They had not worked long before knocks were heard. It was at first thought that it was ground falling above them but trial soon showed that the knocks answered theirs and cheered with the knowledge that there was life in the ruins before them they redoubled their exertion.

One hundred and fifty miners, the pick and flower of the 1,500 employed at the Norrie, took part in the labor of mercy, each couple working at the breast five minutes and then falling back exhausted as time was called, two others catching up the picks as they dropped them. Four shovellers, working in turns of 15 minutes, removed the loosened ground and in hard "pick ground" a record of 4 four feet an hour was made in this way.

During the night the "sounding" ceased. Signals were made repeatedly but no response came and every one gave up hope, but yesterday morning at 4 o'clock the signals were suddenly resumed and a shout of joy went up from the little band of workers in the drift. At 8 o'clock the sounding was very near and then suddenly and to the amazement of the workers it came from a place almost behind them. Work was stopped and when the sound was definitely located at the side of the drift a break was made there and an open space reached under some timbers, out of which crawled Thompson, the sole survivor. Hearing the party coming toward him he had succeeded in crawling toward them and fairly around them under the net work of timbers. He speedily explained the absence of soundings during the night. Satisfied that they were working toward him and reasoning that it might be a day or two before they reached him, this man of nerve had calmly laid down on a piece of plank and gone to sleep.

From his story and the story of the men who left that part of the mine just before the accident, it would appear that the timber gang must have been right under the falling mass when the crash came.

The Presbyterian Synod.

The synod of Michigan meets in the lower peninsula in a few days now and it is probable that the Presbyterians of Marquette will extend an invitation to that body to hold its meeting next year in this city. It is known that the synod is rather anxious to visit the upper peninsula, which has only within the last few years come under its jurisdiction, having previously been attached to the synod of Wisconsin, and the only question is whether Marquette can entertain its two hundred members or not.

A number of prominent citizens have been consulted in the matter and all seem of the opinion that if Marquette can win the honor there need be no fear as far as entertainment is concerned as people of all denominations will cheerfully throw open their homes to the distinguished divines and the business men who will make up the delegates. The MIXING JOURNAL would be pleased to see Marquette selected for such a visit would serve to spread the fame of the city throughout the state and would increase the number of those returning here each summer for rest and recreation. This was the effect of the meeting of the Michigan Bankers' association here and such gatherings of representative men always result in benefit to the city in which they are held. If the Presbyterians succeed in drawing their synod this side of the straits it will encourage the Methodists to make a pull for the general conference while the Episcopalians would then have a precedent to offer their convocation and the Baptists would not be far behind in missionary work with their state convention. By all means let the thing be tried next year.

Last Night's Meeting.

A large crowd assembled at the Casino last evening to listen to speeches by Mark H. Barnum, the "old man eloquent," editor of the Wausau, Wis., Torch of Liberty, G. E. Gjertson, of Chicago, Hon. K. S. Markstrum, of Bessemer, and Senator J. H. D. Stevens, of Ironwood, the occasion being a union meeting of the Marquette and Scandinavian Republican clubs, the presidents of the two clubs presiding.

Mr. Barnum made the principal address of the evening and devoted himself chiefly to the financial policy of the two parties in this campaign. He is witty as well as eloquent and carried his audience with him from start to finish, the laughter and cheers being almost constant. He was followed by Mr. Gjertson who spoke directly to the large number of Scandinians present and made a splendid impression. Mr. Markstrum and Mr. Stevens spoke only a few minutes each, owing to the lateness of the hour, but both got in sledge hammer blows for their party.

"The Flower Queen."

Root's beautiful cantata, "The Flower Queen, or the Coronation of the Rose," was presented for the first time in Marquette at the opera house last evening under the direction of Prof. E. L. Bailey. There was a good audience present and the beautiful costumes and fine music made the applause frequent throughout the evening. When all the choruses were assembled upon the stage together the result was a perfect mass of color, only a small space being left vacant in the center. Outside of the kirmess no stage picture yet seen in the opera house has presented such a brilliant contrast of colors as that seen in the closing numbers of last evening's cantata.

The duet numbers between Mrs. Johnson and Miss Annie Meads were generally considered the finest of the evening though all of the solos were finely rendered. As in the kirmess the chorus of very little girls tickled the audience immensely, the cuteness of the little ones proving irresistible.

The cantata will be given as a matinee this afternoon and again this evening.

The following were the personifications:

The Street Railway Extension.

The street railway company commenced the work of construction on its new Third ward line yesterday and Supt. Guy made a record for the day which surprised the natives. The start was made on Hewitt avenue at the end of the Front street curve and by night the excavating for the ties and rails had been completed for a whole block, and a good start had been made upon the second block. At this rate the line will soon be in.

The rails have been delivered along the streets to be built over and Sambrook is delivering the ties from his Chocolate mill as fast as possible, the Hewitt avenue ties all having been distributed along the street next to the curbing. The wire for the electrical circuit has already been shipped from Boston.

A Dangerous Wound.

The little nine-year-old son of Fred Miller, living at the corner of Spring and Fifth streets, was dangerously shot last evening while fooling with a .22 calibre revolver. The ball struck him in the inner corner of the right eye and crushed through the bony socket next to the nose. Dr. A. Desjardins was called at once but found the boy so restless and excited that he could not attempt to trace the course of the bullet. After giving him medicines to quiet him the doctor left him to recover from the shock. At this writing the doctor is with him again and he will endeavor to ascertain the position of the ball, which will enable him to decide upon the probable chances for his patient.

Fruit at Wholesale.

The Ontario, Cal., Observer of Sept. 24th contains this note regarding a former citizen of Marquette: "A. S. Parks has for some days been engaged in drying at Pomona thirty-five tons of prunes belonging to an eastern friend. Though a novice in the art of curing prunes Mr. Parks did a handsome job."

Bridge Burned.

The bridge on the South Shore road at Driggs station, near Seney, was burned last night. The wrecking train was started out a little after midnight while a little later a train-load of timber with twenty-five or thirty timbermen was started after the wrecking train.
