THE CONDITION OF BUBINESS.

The business of the country is in a healthy condition according to the showing made by Bradstreet's latest compilation of failures occurring in all parts of the United States excepting the Dakotas during the nine months of the current year ending with September, these including all those of a strictly mercantile and industrial character, not omitting banking institutions. Sept. 21. The president pro tem of the senate laid before the senate the amendatory thereof or supplementary thereof or suppleme strictly mercantile and industrial character, not omitting banking institutions. The exhibit, which shows that within the first three-quarters of the present year the total failures were 7,378, is on the whole a decidedly favorial able one, as the number is less than any corresponding period since 1881, when it was about the same, excepting only that of 1887, when the business disasters of the country aggregated 6,958, and in 1888, when they were 7,330. The improvement over 1891 is very marked, as there were 1,428 fewer failures in this year than in that.

The fayorable character of the exhibit is further made manifest by the difference between the aggregate liabilities of failures of business concerns in 1892 and 1891 and 1890. The number occurring within the nine months of this year was 17 per cent less than that of last year, and less than 3 per cent of the year preceding, and the aggregated (. See page 2044).

Robert E. Frazer of Detroit spoke to a crowded house here last evening. Mr. Frazer was warmly welcomed and upon being introduced by Mr. Adams took up the tariff question as his principal theme. His speech, although upon a topic that has been gone over by every campaign speaker who has thus far visited Negaunee, was very interesting, and he held the close attention of his hearers throughout. His talk lasted for something over an hour and did not once become flat or tedious, the frequent cheers testifying that his arguments were fully appreciated. Mr. Frazer made a most favorable impression upon his hearers and will be pleasantly remembered in Negaunee.

People Anxious to Know Who Will Be in It Advised to "See a Clairvoyant."

HIS HEALTH THE FIRST THING. NEW YORK, Oct. 17 .- Mr. Blaine arrived at the Fifth Avenue Hotel at 1 o'clock this afternoon. He was met by his son-in-law, Walter Damrosch. The arrival of Mr. Blaine interested the politicians who loiter about this place. It has been reported that Mr. Blaine would write another letter here. The second communication was intended for the Irish-American vote, it is said. When Mr. Blaine heard of these stories he laughed and to a reporter for the Associated Press he said:

"I am in New York waiting for Mrs. Blaine. She will probably be here tonight or tomorrow. Soon after her arrival we will journey to Washington where I will spend the winter. That's all the politics there is in my visit to New York."

Cleveland's Answer to Inquiries About His Probable Cabinet.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 .- Grover Cleveland arrived at the Victoria hotel at 9 o'clock this morning from Greenwich, Conn., and went directly to his rooms. He did not come near the office for he knew that early as it was there would be a few callers. He was anxious to begin his work. Even the clerk did not know Mr. Cleveland was in the house until an hour or so later, when he sent down the following message to the information bureau:

"I have returned from my Sunday rest and am attending to the letters which came in my absence. I will see some of my callers later in the day.

The ex-president was in the midst of his correspondence when an Associated Press reporter called and handed him the following dispatch, dated at Indin-apolis this morning: "It is stated here that Governor Gray will be a member of Cleveland's cabinet in the event of democratic success and that his position in the president's advisory family will be that of postmaster-general. A friend of the governor said that he had re-ceived information that Cleveland had tendered Gray the place if he was elected and that in commenting on his Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, on account of his election as captain of the Marquette Rifles. CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—The big stained glass ceiling on Change seemed in imminent danger today from the combined dashing up of prices. Short ribs made a leap of 62½ cents, pork 40 cents and lard 35 cents. Oats closed with a gain of ½ to 1½ cents, corn is up ½ to ¾ cent and wheat ¾ cent. The provision market opened strong on the small receipts of hogs and the good demand for them reported from the yards.

The pursuers ranged themselves in a long line about half a mile to the leeward of the thieves. Then the few men left on the windward side set the prairie grass afire.

The hunted men started for a distant gulch in an attempt to escape the double danger that threatened them. Three of their number were wounded and these the other rustlers left to perish.

The Raisin Industry in Victoria

The raisin industry is being gradually developed in Victoria, and promises shortly to be sufficient to supply the requirements of the colony. So says Mr.

J. Knight, who writes on the subject in the new Bulletin of the Victoria Department of Agriculture. Extensive planting, he says, is going on in various parts of the colony, from the extreme west of Mildura along to the east as far west of Mildura along to the east as far as Wangaratta, the largest plantation being in the well known Goulburn valley. In this locality not only has the manufacture of raisins received attention during the last six years, but the products of the currant vine also are now being placed on the market.

Too Profitable a Fire.

The following is a copy of a letter from a town in New Hampshire received at the office of the Hartford Fire Insurance company one day last week: "I inclose $100 in this letter, which I want paid to the Hartford Fire Insurance company of Hartford. I thought I got more insurance than my right." Inclosed was a $100 bill of the First National bank of Concord, N. H. The writing is identified as similar to two previous communications received by the company, inclosing, respectively $56 and $100, making a total of $250 already received from this one source.

It is evident that some beneficiary received more than his due, and is endeavoring to quiet his conscience by returning in installments the amount overpaid. Several thousand dollars have been received by the Hartford under similar circumstances.-Hartford Courant.

A Petrified Corpse.

At Hazlewood cemetery, near Monteof his wife, who died eight years ago, opened her grave. He found it full of water and was astonished at the weight of the coffin. The combined strength of five men finally brought the coffin out of the grave, and when opened it was found that the action of the water had turned the body to solid stone, preserving its natural appearance to a remarkable degree. Even a bouquet of flowers held by the dead woman was perfectly petrified. The skin was fair and the hair as black and glossy as in life.— Chicago Inter Ocean.

Saved by a Dog's Bark.

The noise made by a dog saved several persons from being burned to death in a fire which broke out in Brooklyn on a recent morning. A woman was awakened by the yelping of a dog and found the whole place in flames. She roused her husband and children, and inside of five minutes after they were out of the house the building was a mass of flames.

The Summer.

The beautiful summer is almost done, Though long it seemed when the noontide sun Of jubilant June streamed clear and high

The beautiful summer is almost gone, It seemed not so when July came on; When the sun with a heightened splendor

When the rivulet hummed in a drowsy tone, When blade and bud fast waxed complete Neath the brilliant beams and the fostering

When the grain fields teemed with a mighty throng, And I said, "Oh, the summer is bright and

The beautiful summer is almost o'er,
The rivulet sleeps, and it sings no more;
The heart of the universe pulses strong
Through the hidden arteries vast and long;
The ripened seeds in their cells expand,
The golden grain waits the harvest hand
'Neath the glowing gleams of the August sun,
And I sigh, "Oh, the summer is almost done!"

Summers of life, how ye come and go!
But whence or whither, what soul may know?
For ye flee away, as the shadows pass,
Like a silent wave o'er the growing grass.
Ye burn in the vigor of manhood's prime,
Ye burn with an energy sublime;
But ye wane, and ye darken, your warmth is gone.

And the winter, the winter comes surely on!

Oh, glorious center of living flame! On, glorious center of living flame!
Oh, radiant source whence existence came!
Withdraw not thy luster of loving light,
Lest I shudder and perish in chill and night!
Let my spirit within thine effulgence float,
Upborne aloft to thy spheres remote;
Let it poise and soar through realms of day,
Unshadowed, unshrinking, away, away!

A Quarter's Worth

Not long ago I was in a New York store buying cloth for a new cloak when a tall and elegantly dressed lady entered and asked to see some cloakings. She told the clerk she wished to match irnary surgeon who attended him that a cloak and had no sample, but she the horse was poisoned by something thought she'd know the stuff when she makes Payne's friends believe it to be a saw it. That poor clerk pulled down saw it. That poor clerk pulled down roll upon roll of goods for her inspection, and at length she found what she

"How much a yard is that?" she inquired.

"Five dollars, madam," he replied. "Very well; I don't wish much-just enough to finish a cuff on my cloak. Let me see-five dollars-I think a quarter's worth will be plenty.'

The clerk fumbled in his pocket a moment, produced a quarter, put it on the cloth and cut out exactly the size of the Marquette, quarter, and before the astonished woman could say a word he put her quarter with the piece of cloth and sent it to the Isaac Burgan left Sunday noon to desk. She waited for the basket to reattend the grand lodge I. O. O. F. at turn and then quickly left the store. The clerk spoiled the cloth, but he

Alderman Powell wanted more time and moved the reference of the ordinance to the railroad committee, the mayor and the city attorney.

Alderman Desjardins disclaimed any intention to attack or cripple the street railway company and thought that a conference between the proper council committee and the representatives of the company would result in a settlement satisfactory to all. Alderman Desjardins' idea of a friendly conference to adjust all differences ultimately
