"WELL-BRED" STATIONERY.

"The good breeding and good taste of a lady—much abused word—are subtly yet conspicuously shown in the stationery she uses."

It may seem strange to speak of stationery as "well-bred" but we take the liberty to employ the phrase as a compact one to designate the kind of writing materials used by well bred people in their correspondence.

We have just received a full line of Hard & Pike's correct styles in paper and envelopes. The prices vary but it is all "well-bred."

HOW A CANINE EXPRESSES PLEAS-URE OR HUMILIATION

The Important Part That the Tail of a Hunting Dog Plays in the Chase-All Dogs Seem to Wag Their Tails When Pleased-Why Dogs Wag Their Tails.

There are many reasons for the tail being the chief organ of expression among dogs. They have but little facial expression beyond the lifting of the lip to show the teeth and the dilation of the pupil of the eye when angry. The jaws and the contiguous parts are too much specialized for the serious business of seizing prey to be fitted for such purposes as they are in man. With dogs which hunt by scent the head is necessarily carried low, and is therefore not plainly visible except to those close by. But in the case of all hunting dogs, such as foxhounds or wolves which pack toand whispers of surprise and disapproval gether, the tail is carried aloft and is very free in movement. It is also frequently rendered more conspicuous by the tip being white, and this is almost invariably the case when the hounds are riot. That was the moment when the lad appeared with his little "plug" hat of mixed color.

When ranging the long grass of the prairie or jungle, the raised tips of the I pitied him from the bottom of my tails would often be all that an individual member of the band would see of his fellows. There is no doubt that hounds the finder is at once set in motion, and It was to reclaim lands for which the the warmer the scent the quicker does it whimper is heard.

a very interesting one. All dogs wag the part of the gracious hostess. Quite their tails when pleased, and the movement is generally understood by their human associates as an intimation that they are happy. But when we attempt to discover the reason why pleasure should be expressed in this way the explanation appears at first a very difficult one. All physical attributes of living beings are, upon the evolutionary hypothesis, traceable to some actual need, past or present. The old and delightfully conclusive dictum that things put forward seriously outside the pulpit or the nursery. No doubt in many cases-as, for instance the origin of human laughter—the mystery seems unfathomable. But this edge of data upon which to build the corporations and scrippers the cream, reach it, and almost daily we are able leaving the settlers to take what was to account for mysterious and apparent. to account for mysterious and apparently anomalous phenomena which utterly baffled our predecessors. Probably the Mr. Finn should accommodate him or get off the ticket as a candidate for conthe the forfeiture bill passed it is also true the forfeiture bill passed it is also true pleasure is owing to some interleable or predecessors. Probably the manner in which domestic dogs express pleasure is owing to some interleable or predecessors. pleasure is owing to some interlocking of the machinery of cognate ideas. Owing to some inoculation of the nervous mechanism, which at present we cannot unravel, the association of pleasure and wagging has become so ineparable that the movement of the tail

An explanation of a similar kind can be found for the fact that dogs depress their tails when threatened or scolded. When running away the tail would be the part nearest the pursuer, and therefore most likely to be seized. ESCAPE FROM SIBERIA'S MINES. He was then invited to go to the parlor of the house, where he was shown the piano. The first piece he played was a selection from Mendelssohn, and never before, and probably never again, was such music heard inside the walls of the station. After he had played numerous fine selections the officers and doctors became greatly interested in him, and began questioning him. As a result he tool a story, which was as follows:

He was born in St. Petersburg, Russia, and was a student in a medical college in that place. One day the rooms of the students were raided and a lot of inflammatory documents and seditious papers were found in his room. However, he would not admit that they belonged to him. He was arrested and sentenced to Siberia, where he was put at work in the coal mines, from which he managed to

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Heaviness in grain and buoyaucy in provisions tell the tale of today's markets. Wheat is 3/@lc lower and corn 1/2@1/sc. The wheat receipts were a depressing weight, the arrivals here for three days footing up 1,026 cars and there were nearly 3,000 cars in the northwest. A reported failure of a large concern in Paris with a branch house at Antwerp made the trade here nervous and helped to weaken prices, although it did not appear to have much effect on the market which would naturally be most affected if the failure had been important. But there was very little demand and holders were generally disposed to sell, so that the feeling was easy during almost the entire session. The exports from the seaboard for the past two days were fair, but the movements from both coasts for the week were smaller, being only 3,270,000 bushels of wheat and flour, against 3,625,000 bushels for the corresponding week last year. Hog products were easy early, but soon turned strong and sold higher. The receipts of hogs were light and prices at the yards higher and the manipulators again got in their work. The gain at best figures over the close Wednesday was 15c. for pork, 10c. for lard, while ribs were pushed up 35c. for October and 10c. to 20c. for other months.

J. E. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, president of the Pastine dathetic editor of The Sporting Times, writes:

"For years I have been actively connected with athletic sports. I always found it to my advantage to use Allcock's Porous Plasters while in training, as they quickly remove soreness and stiffness; and when attacked with any kind of pains, the result of slight colds, I always used Allcock's with beneficial results. I have noticed that most athletes of the present day use nothing else but Allcock's Plasters."

One of the young men who composed the fishing party which discovered Corbett's dead body testified that about five minutes before the report of the gun had been heard he saw Corbett sitting on a log with his gun by his left side. It was near this log that the body was found. It appears from the evidence given that Corbett sat on the log to take a rest and in getting up leaned on the gun, which slipped in some manner and was discharged. The bullet entered Corbett's breast and took bullet entered Corbett's breast and took play ta-ra-da-bum-de-a. an upward course in the direction of people in Ishpeming that hunting in the woods in this vicinity at the present time is very dangerous sport. The game this season is more plentiful than it has been for several years, and consequently the woods are alive with men, boys, dogs and guns. On Columbus day there were hundreds of hunters in the woods in all directions within from the woods in from one to ten miles of Ishpeming, while the same thing is true almost every Sunday. Of course the more hunters there are the more shooting and danger. A gentleman who had oc-casion to drive from Ishpeming to the Dexter mine on Friday last told the reagain.

Returned From a Trip.

This morning George Hageman, Andy Anderson, Archie Barnhardt and Charley fishing trip to Lake Independent, situated thirty miles below Marquette. At hunting this party was not successful, but they brought back with them about one thousand pounds of pickerel and wall-eyed pike. Deer was sighted and a few shots obtained, but a carcass could not be secured.

One of the gentlemen composing the party mentioned desires the MINING JOURNAL to state that the above is not true and is considered by him and his companions a gross insult. The gentleman says his party killed 42 rabbits, 37 partridges, 17 duck, took 1,000 pounds of fish, and also shot a deer just before they left for here but covers. they left for home, but owing to the limited time they had to catch the train that brought them home they couldn't follow the deer into the woods to secure it. The also desire the MIN-ING JOURNAL to extend their thanks to J. X. McDonald for the courtesies shown them by that gentleman.

It has been remarked in the past few days—and truly, too—by a great many

The explanation is that two of the Bickwells died, leaving widows, and Mr. Young, who had two of the sisters before, took one of the widows. Then Mr. Livermore took the other. So that there were seven weddings in the family, and only five men and five women concerned in them. Mr. Young had lost one wife before he began on this family. -Manchester Union.

Man's Two Reputations.

I am always interested in what may be called the two reputations which each | man has; one is his public name, the other his personal or private eminence; the one is the distinction which he has Dexter mine on Friday last told the reporter that ne was afraid of his life while making the trip. He said he met a man or a boy with a gun every few rods, and that the bullets could be heard striking quite frequently in the bushes along the side of the road. He got through in safety, but he says he like one is the distinction which he has among people, the other the regard paid to him by his own immediate set or following. Archdeacon Farrar has a great reputation among the ordinary people of America and Great Britain, but scholars look upon him with much of suspicion as an accurate and profound excepte.
Bishop Westcott, however, has a great got through in safety, but he says he doesn't want to run such a gauntlet Bishop Westcott, however, has a small reputation among the people. Green Soldiers on Sentry Duty. Early one morning when in camp two Seventh regiment men had adjoining posts. Instead of walking in the same direction, as they should have done, they were plodding toward and from each other. Suddenly the sentry on post No. 5 bawled out as he saw some one approaching from post No. 6: "Who comes there? Halt?"

A story of a Florida man who married three wives from one family is going the out, you darned idiot, I'm the sentinel."

Then a whispered held, the result being that the matter was to go no further.-New York

Before You Tell a Secret.

If you are just on the point of making a confidence it is a good plan to pause before doing so to note the proportion between the times you have regretted giving a confidence and the times you have regretted withholding it. If after this you decide upon making your friend a confidant you must have weighty reasons for thirking him worthy of it .--Murray's Magazine.

The majority of people die sooner than they should. George E. Waring, Jr., says: "Disease is not a consequence of life; it is due to unnatural conditions of living-to neglect, abuse and want. And Dr. Stephen Smith says: "Man is born to health and longevity; disease is abnormal, and death, except from old age, is accidental, and both are preventable by human agencies."

HOUGHTON.

The Mining School students were favored with sup-rbly beautiful weather for their first field day, held in the Hancock Driving park last Friday. They were also favored with a very large attendance including many ladies. The exercises of the day began promptly at 9:30 o'clock with Mr. F. N. Bosson of Calumet as field manager; A. A. Abbott, general manager; judges, C. L. Hoyt, Dr. P. McNaughton and B. T. Judkins; timers, R. Cranson and B. Barry; starter J. R. McLauglin. The executive committee consisted of A. A. Abbott, '93; D. Gillies, '93; M. E. Kirk, '93; F. P. Burral, '94; I. Stringham, '94; W. Wraith, '91; C. Davis. '95; R. S. Rose, '95, W. Wearne, 95. Music was furnished by the Houghton Silver Cornet some good ones were made. Undersheriff Mayotte left Sunday noon for the Travers City insaneasylum with Ed Steimel of Red Jacket, who shot his brother a few weeks ago.

HANCOCK.

Jerry McCarthy of Newtown, who was so brutally assaulted by Paddy Mansfield in Anderson's saloon Friday noon, is still in a critical condition. Mansfield is in jail and so is Ed McKendrick, who kept the crowd back so that Mansfield would not be interfered, with in field would not be interfered with in his brotal work. It is reported that drivers. the affair is the result of an old grudge held by Mansfield and McKendrick against McCarthy. McCarthy's injuries are about the head and chest, caused by the heels of Mansfield's boots. When Marshal Lee entered the saloon to make the arrest McCarthy lay unconscious in a large pool of blood. His face was pounded to a jelly.

LAKE LINDEN.

AMERICANS WHO LIVE LONGEST.

Occupations That Are Conducive to Long or Short Lives.

"What occupation tends most to prolong life?" asked a reporter of the chief mathematician for one of the great life insurance companies

"That is a difficult question," he replied. "I can only answer it by referring to the occupations of persons whose lives are and have been insured by us. Inasmuch as they number several hundreds of thousands they will afford a pretty good basis from which to draw conclusions on the subject. According to this evidence it appears that commercial travelers and agents live longer than men in any other kind of business notwithstanding the hazards which attend transportation by rail and water. Next to them come dentists, teachers and professors, including music teach-

"And who after them?"

"Next to them in point of longevity are hatters, clergymen and missionaries. The last may occasionally furnish food for the larder of untutored savages, but they are a first class risk nevertheless. Next come bankers and capitalists, who seem to live just a trifle longer than gardeners, laborers, civil engineers and canvassers. Perhaps the treatment which canvassers are apt to receive in the ordinary course of their business shortens their lives."

"Where do newspaper men come in?" "Oh, they don't live as long as any of the people I have mentioned. Even bookkeepers and bank cashiers, as well as artists and architects, are ahead of them. They come in next, with the printers, physicians and gentlemen who are not engaged in any active employment.

Take, for instance, the election of aldermen under the charter as it now stands: By reason of the bungling work done by the legislature toward the spring of 1891, in the hurry of passing the last revision so that the city election of that year might be held under it, the revision submitted by the council was butchered so that we now elect three aldermen one year and thirteen the next. The plain intent of the framers of the charter and the city was incorpor-

This is tically compelled to wait two years be-fore they can effect a change in each that the republicans of Marquette have succeeding council should they desire this, thirteen of the sixteen members holding together for two years.

In many other particulars that might be pointed out the present charter is crude, defective, and not what the people want and should have. But if the council waits to the last minute before taking action to have a proper revision prepared there is dapper that, the next that the republicans of Marquette have had an opportunity of hearing either of the distinguished gentlemen who are their candidates for the two first places on the state ticket, and the Mining state of "Royal Ruby Port Wine" and you will know why we call it "Royal." There is no one Instrument, unless, indeed, it be a large pipe organ, capable of the variety of effects that are obtainable on the Acolian. Unlike the pipe organ, however, the Acolian is adapted to all classes of music; overtures and symphonies can be rendered on it with all the softness and delicacy of the flute and violin and cello and all the same and brilliancy of the plane. See and bear them at Coulding snap and brilliancy of the piano. See and hear them at Conklin's.
