N. M. KAUFMAN FOR MAYOR. The Mining Journal is well pleased with the selection for mayor made by the Citizens' convention last evening.

It is not necessary for us to say much about Mr. Kaufman to the people of this city, for he is a Marquette man born and bred.

Mr. Kaufman is a liberal gentleman, enterprising and public-spirited, and has a knowledge of men and affairs that admirably fit him for the position which his fellow-citizens ask him to accept.

His nomination is a clear case of the office seeking the man, for he has neither sought it nor had knowledge of the movement to place him in the field.

FOR SELF-DEFENSE. In its issue of this week The Railway Age and Northwestern Railroader will publish a strong article from James F. How, vice president of the Wabash railroad.

tion of the property, excessive expenses may greatly reduce the net earnings, or competitive rates may leave but scant margin between gross earnings and operating expenses.

In conclusion, Mr. How says: "Let the public clamor which charges railroad management with an attempt to put onerous rates on the transportation of freight and passengers be answered by facts and figures showing the yearly downward tendency of charges for such services."

The bill to prevent the taking effect of the McKinley tariff on block tin passed the 52d congress in its winding up of the last session, and that commodity will continue on the free list.

Is the Age of Steel correct in its statement that the duty on block tin was repealed by the last congress? THE MINING JOURNAL has understood that the bill providing for its repeal was not passed, though it certainly should have been.

In Praise of Anna Dickinson. There could be nothing more interesting than to hear Lucy Stone dilate on the energies and talents of Anna Dickinson. Not long ago at a dinner party she related an experience of Miss Dickinson in the mountains of Tennessee, during the civil war, when she had one of her curls shot off. Miss Dickinson never wavered, so Lucy Stone says, but rose to such a pitch of eloquence after the result that the men forgot they had their guns with them.

A Few of Her Good Deeds. Mrs. Sarah Ann Barnum of East Meadow, N. Y., whose death at the age of 79 is announced, is said to have been the best known woman in Queens county. She appears to have been one of the strong characters associated with earlier times.

Coeducation in America. Miss Emily Faithfull, writing in England of coeducation in America, says: Even in 1872 Professor Coit Tyler, in taking me through the University of Michigan, observed that while the question of coeducation was being discussed in the eastern states it had practically been settled in the west, and I shall never remember the splendid address given there by the president of Cornell on "The Battlefields of Science," and his sturdy maintenance during a discussion at President Sarge's respecting the effects of work on women, that it "was far less disastrous to them than frivolous, aimless lives," and it was asserted by the president of the University of Michigan that "any woman who could endure the strain of modern dress and modern society could endure any college course of instruction."

A Happy Family. Mrs. Lucy Stone has a beautiful home in Dorchester, and is the "pink of the New England housekeepers." Her relations with her husband have always been peculiarly happy--in fact, the family life in that household is a very good argument for the "equality of woman."

A Recent Court Decision. The right of a woman to be well dressed has been established by a recent decision of a French court. In delivering the verdict in a suit against Mme. Bernhardt for the disputed payment for a gown the court held that "no one is bound to take an ill fitting garment."

KAUFMAN IS NOMINATED.

Fully Attended Caucuses and Enthusiastic Convention Name Him for Next Mayor.

MAYOR ADAMS GOT FIVE VOTES IN CONVENTION.

All the Other Twenty-Six Were for Kaufman—Meads and Machts Renominated—Ward Candidates.

CITIZENS' TICKET NAMED.

Mayor Nathan M. Kaufman.
Recorder Thomas Meads.
Treasurer August Machts.
Justice of the peace (3 yrs.) S. E. Byrne.
Justice of the peace (4 yrs.) L. P. Cray.
Constables Jacob Dolf, J. M. H. Foard.

Nathan M. Kaufman was nominated for mayor of Marquette by the non-partisan citizens' convention in Armory Hall last evening. The hall was packed with interested spectators and when an enthusiastic by-stander proposed "three cheers for Kaufman, the next mayor of Marquette," they were given with a will that nearly lifted the roof. Faithful service in the past was recognized by nominating Thomas Meads for recorder and August Machts for treasurer by acclamation, as were also the candidates for justices and constables.

The convention was called to order by Chairman Frank M. Moore of the city committee at 8 o'clock sharp. E. J. Mapes was nominated for temporary chairman and John J. Meehan for temporary secretary without opposition. On motion the chair named Michael Hennessey, George Barnes and Peter Dolf a committee on credentials. The "fighting Seventh" had not yet shown up and a recess of ten minutes was taken to wait for its delegates. Still the Seventh ward did not appear and another recess of ten minutes was taken. Meanwhile the crowd of spectators had grown larger and larger and those who came late found the "standing room only" sign out. Finally the Seventh ward delegates appeared amid cheers and the committee on credentials reported the following delegates entitled to seats:

First ward—J. J. Donovan, John Connors, J. H. Bice and Martin Gorman.
Second ward—Michael Hennessey, H. E. Bittner, J. H. Lewis, Eugene Laroche and J. J. Carroll.
Third ward—George A. Royce, E. J. Mapes, M. J. Sherwood, W. S. Hill and M. H. Foard.
Fourth ward—William H. Green, George Barnes, Joseph F. Neidhart and John J. Meehan.
Fifth ward—Albert Heineman, William McCormick, William A. Ross and Dr. Alfred Desjardins.
Sixth ward—Peter Dolf, Josiah Giles, John Berg and Will C. Brown.
Seventh ward—L. H. Stafford, George Arthur Brown and A. M. York (proxy to J. P. Patterson).
Eighth ward—L. F. Perrett and E. A. Moye.

The report of the committee on credentials was accepted and the temporary organization was made permanent without opposition. Then Justice Meads swore the officers of the convention as the law requires, the call was read and nominations for mayor declared in order. Mr. George A. Royce was recognized by the chair and in his usual eloquent manner presented the name of Mr. Kaufman. Mr. Royce said in substance:

"MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION:—In nominating the candidate for mayor whom I am about to name I wish to make no criticism upon the present incumbent of that office. The candidate whom I shall name has not sought this honor—for it is an honor to be mayor of the Queen City of Lake Superior [applause] and I think the honor all the greater which comes to a man unsought. You all know the candidate whom I shall name. He was born and reared in this city. He has lived all his life among you. There is no word can be said against his character or his ability. You know him as one of the ablest young men of our city, a man of whom Marquette is justly proud [cheers]. Tonight, on the anniversary of my own birth, I take pleasure in nominating for mayor of Marquette a man younger than myself—I nominate N. M. Kaufman for mayor of Marquette" [continued cheers].

When the cheering subsided Chairman Mapes asked for further nominations but there was no immediate response. Aldermen Hennessey and Desjardins were on their feet with motions to make the nomination by acclamation when Peter Dolf interposed and nominated Sidney Adams. There was an attempt at a cheer but it was very weak. The chair appointed George Barnes and Will C. Brown tellers and a ballot was taken, which resulted—Kaufman, 26; Adams, 5. The nomination of Kaufman was made unanimous. An enthusiastic spectator roosting on the piano waved his hat in the air and called for "three cheers for Kaufman" and they were given with a will that showed the sentiment of the four hundred spectators very plainly.

The delegates and spectators finally quieted down and nominations for recorder were called for by the chair. Half a dozen delegates got up at once but no name but "Meads" was heard and the nomination was made unanimous with a howl. Then there was a call for "speech" and as Mr. Meads was in plain sight he had to get up and return his thanks.

The delegates were in high good humor by this and all the rest of the candidates went in by acclamation—August Machts for treasurer; Samuel E. Byrne for justice of the peace for three years and Leonard P. Cray for the same office for four years; Jacob Dolf and M. H. Foard for constables.

The following city committee was named by the several wards: First, John Connors; Second, Joseph Fay; Third, Gad Smith; Fourth, Frank M. Moore; Fifth, Thomas Anthony; Sixth, Hampson Gregory; Seventh, L. H. Stafford; Eighth, Charles Van Iders-tine. Then after some more cheers for Kaufman and the ticket the convention adjourned.

The Ward Caucuses.

More than usual interest was taken in the ward caucuses which preceded the city convention and in every ward the turn-out was large. In nearly every ward there was a contest of some kind, though it did not in every case crop out in the actual voting. In some wards the contest was over the delegates to the city convention which would have the naming of the mayor; in others it was over the ward offices. In the First ward Alderman Kearney declined to be a candidate for re-election and there was little opposition to Martin Gorman for supervisor. It is reported that the Adams men managed to run in one delegate to the city convention but owing to the manner in which the vote was taken this is not certain.

The Second ward got into something of a wrangle but sent what was reported to be a solid Kaufman delegation. It is believed, however, by some that Adams got one of his five votes from this ward. There was a big turn-out in the Third ward but Adams men were conspicuous by their absence. The only contest was on alderman, for which H. O. Pearl defeated J. E. Sherman more than two to one.

In the Fourth ward the Kaufman men declared they wanted all the delegates and got them without visible opposition. There was an attempt to nominate Henry Siegel for alderman but it did not even get a second. No contest over the mayoralty was apparent in the Fifth ward but E. E. Homier gave A. F. Agnew a lively pull for alderman for the short term, getting twenty-eight votes to Agnew's thirty-one.

The Sixth ward maintained its old reputation as a "fighting ward." The caucus, after turning down Alderman McGregor very decisively, was called upon to choose between Messrs. Jammerson, Peterson and Otterson for the long-term alderman. Otterson was withdrawn. Jammerson defeated Peterson and Julius Zerbek was nominated for the short term without opposition, as was Hampson Gregory for supervisor. The ward gave a divided delegation for mayor.

The Seventh ward had its usual hot caucus and after a wrangle over the delegates George Arthur Brown, much to his own surprise, was sprung as a candidate for alderman against L. H. Stafford and nearly nominated before he could explain that he was about to move out of the ward and must therefore decline the honor.

The mill men were out in force in the Eighth ward but beyond balking an alleged aspiration of Captain Smith Moore to have the long term instead of the short and declaring emphatically for Kaufman the caucus was not eventful.

The full ward tickets are as follows:

First ward—Alderman, E. W. Vandenberg; supervisor, Martin Gorman.
Second ward—Alderman, Michael Hennessey; supervisor, Joseph Fay.
Third ward—Alderman, B. O. Pearl; supervisor, S. M. Billings.
Fourth ward—Alderman (long term), Henry Hoch; alderman (short term), Charles Schoch; supervisor, Frank M. Moore.
Fifth ward—Alderman (long term), Dr. Alfred Desjardins; alderman (short term), A. F. Agnew; supervisor, W. A. Ross.
Sixth ward—Alderman (long term), James Jammerson; alderman (short term), Julius Zerbek; supervisor, Hampson Gregory.
Seventh ward—Alderman (long term), L. H. Stafford; alderman (short term), Walter A. Ward; supervisor, Francis Finley.
Eighth ward—Alderman (long term), J. W. Putnam; alderman (short term), Smith Moore; supervisor, M. E. Asire.

Little talk of "stump" tickets was heard last night but it is possible that some will appear.

Ideal Orchestra Concert.

Fraternity Hall was well filled last evening with an appreciative audience at the first concert of Hughes' Ideal orchestra, assisted by Miss Josephine Gaffney, and the well-selected program was excellently rendered throughout. The orchestra showed remarkable correctness of time and a precision of attack, delicacy of shading and breadth of tone that cannot be too highly commended. The first number, Mendelssohn's "Roman Carnival March," was entirely new here and was beautifully given. Other numbers which gave opportunities for delicacy of expression that were admirably seized were the waltz by Rosas and the serenade by Silva. The selection from Auber, the always pleasing "Poet and Peasant" overture and the "Hunting Scene" by Bucalossi were also finely done.

Mr. Hoelscher's flute solo, airs from "Rigoletto," was played with admirable technique and evoked an enthusiastic recall to which he responded with Ascher's lovely air, "Alice, Where Art Thou?" Mr. L. K. Luff showed himself a very skillful accompanist in this number and those who have heard him in private hope that he may be induced in the near future to let the public enjoy his skill on the piano.

Miss Gaffney first sang Robyn's "Answer" (violin obligato by Mr. Hughes) with exquisite taste and in response to a recall gave the familiar "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls." Her second number, the "Serenade" by Neidlinger, was even more pleasing.

Mr. Hanck's xylophone and bell solos were extremely fetching and were roundly applauded. The program follows:

Concert March, "Roman Carnival"..... Mendelssohn
Ideal Orchestra.
Selection, "The Pirate's Daughter"..... Auber
Orchestra.
Flute Solo, "Rigoletto"..... Verdi
Mr. A. Hoelscher, Mr. L. K. Luff, accompanist.
Song, "Answer," (with violin obligato)..... Robyn
Miss Josephine Gaffney, Mr. George W. Hughes.
Waltz, "Ensueno Seducator," (Impassioned Dream)..... Rosas
Overture, "Poet and Peasant," (by request)..... Suppe
Orchestra.
Song, "Serenade"..... Neidlinger
Miss Josephine Gaffney.
Spanish Wedding Serenade..... Pedro Silva
Orchestra.
a. Xylophone Solo, "Yankee Doodle,".....
b. Solo for Bells, "Suwanee River,".....
Mr. Chas. J. Hanck with Orchestra
Accompaniment.
Hunting Scene..... Bucalossi
Orchestra.

Mr. Hughes feels extremely grateful for the public appreciation so clearly shown last night of his efforts to build up a good orchestra in Marquette and is much encouraged to keep on in that direction.

It is to be regretted that some of the more delicate effects were rather spoiled by the somewhat defective acoustics of the hall. It is believed that this defect can be overcome by some small and inexpensive alterations in the room.

There is no one instrument, unless, indeed, it be a large pipe organ, capable of the variety of effects that are obtainable on the Aeolian. Unlike the pipe organ, however, the Aeolian is adapted to all classes of music; overtures and symphonies can be rendered on it with all the softness and delicacy of the flute and violin and cello and all the snap and brilliancy of the piano. See and hear them at Conklin's.
