TEN MINERS SUFFOCATED.

Fatal Fire Starts From the Oil House in a Mine at Shamokin, Penn.

EXPLODED MINER'S LAMP CAUSES THE TROUBLE.

Several Miners Escape but Ten Are Caught Like Rats in a Trap and Are Suffocated.

PITIFUL SCENES ENACTED.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., April 2.—Ten miners lost their lives in a fire in the Neillville shaft which was started by a miner's lamp at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. They are:

JOHN ROBLE, married. JAMES BRENNAN, single. MIKE BRENNAN, single. JOHN RYAN, single. FREDERICK CINTER, single. JOHN BURTT, married. JOHN GARRY, married. JOE BORTREX, single. NICK DOLTON, single. FRANK SHUPIE, single.

The fire started about 25 feet from the bottom of the slope where there is an oil house, which is used by the men to change their working clothes for others before leaving the mines. About ten minutes to 7 o'clock this morning while an Hungarian was sitting in the oil house, his lamp exploded, igniting the oil about him. He rushed from the oil house and the flames spread with rapidity. Attempts were made to fight the fire, but those who started to do so were compelled to flee for their lives. They succeeded in reaching the bottom of the shaft and were hauled to the surface along with some belated miners who owe their lives to the fact that they did not go to work at their usual time. The ten men who lost their lives were at work in the Red Ash vein, located nearly 100 feet above where the fire broke out. Through the air way from the lower vein to the Red Ash vein the smoke poured, suffocating the unfortunates like rats in a trap.

Almost the entire town gathered in the vicinity of the burning mine from the air-passages of which great volumes of smoke were issuing. The scenes were most distressing. The wives and children of the imprisoned men uttered agonizing cries and appealed to the crowd to rescue their loved ones. About midway a rescuing party of six brave men went down the shaft and entered the burning vein. The smoke was so intense that they were compelled to lie down on their stomachs and the men who were in the mine tried to avoid suffocation. When they had proceeded a short distance they came across the bodies of two men locked in each other's arms. They were the Brennan brothers, James and Michael. Further on the bodies of eight more men were found making ten in all. The bodies were removed to the surface with much difficulty. They were taken to the blacksmith shop where the most pathetic scenes were witnessed. Three of the men were married and had large families. The others were young men. Only two males were gotten out alive. Five of them were found with their necks resting over each other's bodies. How they got together in this position is a mystery. There are altogether thirty dead men in the mine.

FELL FROM A DIZZY HEIGHT.

Frightful Accident Happens to a Canadian Pacific Train.

ST. PAUL, April 2.—A Pioneer Press Winnipeg special says: Word has reached here of a frightful accident on the Canadian Pacific a few miles east of Harrison on Thursday which resulted in the loss of four lives. Among the killed is Stephen White, brother-in-law of Judge Killam of Winnipeg. The engine jumped the track while on a dizzy height overlooking the Fraser river. The engineer and fireman, seeing that there was no chance of escape by remaining in the engine cab, jumped for their lives into the deep gorge. The engine at the same moment went down the perpendicular embankment. Nothing was seen of the men after they jumped from the engine. Two others were killed, one of them being Mr. White.

CHEATED THE GALLOWS.

Patrick Moran Found Guilty of Murder in the Second Degree.

CLEVELAND, April 2.—The jury in the case of Patrick Moran, charged with the murder of Theodore Blakeslee and James Fox, today returned a verdict finding the prisoner guilty of murder in the second degree. The crime was committed last Christmas night in the house of Blakeslee on Church street. Moran called on Fox, a fellow workman who roomed at Blakeslee's. Soon after he had gone upstairs a fall was heard. Blakeslee went up to investigate. Soon Moran came down stairs and was let out of the house by Mrs. Blakeslee. Fox and Blakeslee had both been assaulted by Moran with a hatchet. Both died the next day without speaking. Mrs. Blakeslee positively identified Moran as the murderer. No motive for the crime was discovered. The trial has lasted a month and it was believed that the verdict would be first degree murder.

MURDERED AT A DANCE.

Anna Woodden Kills Another Woman for Talking About Her.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 1.—Anna Woodden is locked up at the police station charged with murder and Mattie Moore is lying dead in a little house in Bellwood from the effects of a pistol shot fired by the Woodden woman. The two women were at a dance Thursday evening near the Chemical works, which is between this city and Bellwood. The dancing was going merrily along when Anna Woodman asked the woman she afterwards killed to step out of the house and the request was promptly acceded to. In an instant a pistol shot startled the dancers and Mattie Moore fell with a bullet in her side. The woman who had done the shooting then left the place and was later arrested and brought to the police station where she has since been kept. Friday night Mattie Moore sent for Policeman Barrett and told him that she knew she was going to die and wanted to make a statement about the shooting. She then said that the woman had called her outside of the house and shot her without a word of warning. Anna Woodden has made a statement and by her own admission the killing was deliberate murder.

"Mattie Moore," she said, "told stories on me, and said my character was not good and I heard about it and got a pistol and went over to the dance. As soon as I saw her I told her I would shoot her if she ever said anything more about me. In a few minutes I heard that she had repeated the story and I called her out and shot her. I was mad, but in a little while I was sorry for what I had done and started for the station house to give myself up."

NEW CABINET FORMED.

President Carnot Selects M. Meline to Form a New Cabinet.

PARIS, April 2.—M. Meline was yesterday chosen by President Carnot to form a new cabinet. He at once set to work and soon made the following selections:

FELIX JULES MELINE, premier and minister of commerce.

M. CHARLES DUPUY, minister of the interior.

M. JACQUES TRARIEUX, minister of justice.

M. RAYMOND POINCARRE, minister of finance.

M. EUGENE SPULLER, minister of education.

M. FRANCOIS VIETTE, minister of public works.

ADMIRAL RIEUXIER, minister of marine and colonies.

M. ALBERT VIGIER, minister of agriculture.

GENERAL LOZELLE, minister of war.

M. DE VELLE, minister of foreign affairs.

M. Meline is a lawyer by profession and was born in 1838. During the siege of Paris he was adjutant to the mayor of Paris in the Chamber of Deputies. He was elected a member of the Chamber of Deputies in 1872. In 1876 M. Meline was under-secretary of state in the department of justice and in 1881 he was appointed minister of agriculture. During this term of office he founded the order of merit for agriculture. In 1882 he was named president of the Chamber of Deputies. In politics he is an Opportunist.

M. Dupuy formerly held the post of minister of public instruction, now given to Eugene Spuller, the well-known writer, who in 1887 held the same post and was minister of foreign affairs in 1889.

The new minister of justice, M. Trarieux, is a senator from the Gironde. He was born in 1840 at Aubeterre, is an advocate by profession and belongs to the Republican left.

M. Poincarre, the minister of finance, is a deputy from the Meuse, born in 1856, an advocate by profession, Republican protectionist and anti-revisionist. He was for some time a chief of department in the ministry of agriculture.

The new cabinet is regarded as an ad interim ministry for the purpose of passing the budget and winding up the session.

ACCIDENT IN AN ELEVATOR.

A Well Known St. Louis Man's Horrible Death at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 2.—J. H. Mason of the J. H. Mason Publishing company of St. Louis met with a horrible death in the Commerce building late yesterday afternoon. Mr. Mason entered an elevator to go to the ninth floor to visit his Louisville branch office. When the ninth floor was reached Carl Russell, the elevator boy, opened the door before the car had been stopped. Mason stepped partly out, when the car started upward suddenly, catching his head between the rim of the floor of the car and the top of the gate. The elevator could not be stopped and Mr. Mason was drawn into a knot, breaking the door before the car had been stopped. The tile pavement in the basement, ten stories below. Every bone in his body was broken and his head mashed to jelly. The elevator boy stopped the elevator on the tenth floor and ran down stairs. He has not been seen since.

OFFICE BUILDING SCORCHED.

Temple Court Building in New York Has a Close Call.

NEW YORK, April 2.—A fire broke out this morning on the fifth floor of the Temple Court building and extended to the two floors above before the firemen were able to get it under control. The building is occupied by offices and is owned by Eugene Kelly. The damage is estimated at about $10,000, covered by insurance. The Telegraph Age publication offices were destroyed. The subscription books and lists were saved. The journal will continue uninterrupted in new headquarters. The origin of the fire is unknown.

WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Congressman Hooker of Mississippi Injured by a Cable Car.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Congressman Hooker of Mississippi was seriously injured last night by being struck by a cable car. His son, Allen Hooker, said this evening that his father was resting quietly and was perfectly conscious. "The attending surgeon," said Mr. Hooker, "stated that he could not discover any fracture nor were there any symptoms of internal injuries." With careful and quiet treatment the physician believed that Congressman Hooker would recover.

Mrs. Mackay Arrives.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Mrs. J. W. Mackay, wife of the California millionaire, arrived yesterday on the steamship Paris.

THEY FAVOR ANNEXATION.

Canadian Citizens Very Much in Earnest in Regard to Annexation Question.

UNION ASSOCIATIONS FORMED IN MANY PLACES.

Elgin Myers, One of the Leaders of the Movement, Publishes an Appeal to Canadians.

WILL BE BETTER FOR BOTH.

TORONTO, April 2.—The movement for political union with the United States is developing. Almost every town in Ontario and Quebec has its political union association through which an active propaganda is carried on. It is believed that the time has now arrived when the Canadian residents in the United States should be asked to assist in the great movement for the unification of the North American continent. An appeal to the Canadians of the west was issued last evening by Elgin Myers, one of the leaders of the political union movement in this province. Mr. Myers is the county crown attorney of Dufferin county who was dismissed from his position by Sir Oliver Momat, premier of Ontario, because of his refusal to repudiate his belief in the movement for political union. Then follows the address of Mr. Myers which contains nearly 2,000 words. After making an appeal to the Canadians who have prospered under the institutions of the United States the address says:

"We are forced to rely on Great Britain for our development but unfortunately for us that empire is in the position of an overgrown man whose heart is too small and weak to propel the life blood to his extremities which continually wither and decay." Concerning the feeling for union Mr. Myers says: "As to the feeling in favor of union among the masses of Canadians it has become so strong that the important problem now for solution is how to organize the sentiment into a fighting and prevailing force against the political party organizations that always fight shy of the questions containing a disturbing element of unknown quantity. The United States of their civil war sacrificed three billions of money and one million of lives to preserve to the United States a territory but a fraction of the importance to them that Canada is.

"The union would for all time free the people of the United States from all danger and menace of foreign wars. Canada with a population which may in time reach 35,000,000 or 40,000,000 of people, united with the rest of the British empire, in alliance possibly with another European country jealous of American supremacy, could, with its 4,000 miles of boundary incapable of defense at all points, inflict untold injury on the United States. Should this occur the people of the country would, when too late, realize the criminal folly of not having saved themselves from so great a criminal folly of not having saved themselves from so great a calamity when they had the opportunity of doing so with but little effort." In closing the address Mr. Myers makes an urgent and eloquent appeal to all native born Canadians to help the annexation movement.

LORD STANLEY'S LAST SPEECH.

Governor-General's Significant Speech in Proroguing Parliament.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 2.—The Dominion parliament was prorogued yesterday after one of the shortest sessions on record, two months. This afternoon Governor-General Lord Stanley delivered the usual speech from the throne. He apprehended a favorable settlement of the Bering sea discussion. "I feel with deep regret the period of my official connection with the Dominion is drawing towards its close and that in all probability I am taking leave of you for the last time."

NEW BUILDING SHATTERED.

An Explosion Wrecks a New Structure at Detroit.

DETROIT, April 2.—An explosion resulting in the almost total destruction of the new six-story Cleveland building, 29 State street, occurred at 4:10 o'clock this morning. The cause of the disaster was a leakage of natural gas but whether due to the carelessness of one of the occupants or not is likely to remain a mooted point. The scene of destruction here is astonishing and any one viewing it is at a loss to understand how the building still remains standing. Several surrounding buildings were slightly damaged. The total loss is estimated at from fifteen to twenty thousand dollars. Five thousand of this is the loss on the Cleveland building, the remainder being on the contents owned by the several occupants. Nobody was injured.

THREE ENGINES WRECKED.

In Smash-Up on Pennsylvania Road a Brakeman Is Killed.

MARQUETTE, MICH., APRIL 3.

Entered as mailmatter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

VOTERS should not lose sight of the fact that there is today a state election for a justice of the supreme court and regents of the University of Michigan.

It is to be regretted that the two great parties did not agree on candidates for these important positions and follow the example set by the upper peninsula of keeping the judiciary out of politics.

Voters will make no mistake, however, in voting the Republican ticket. Justice Hooker is now on the supreme bench and should be kept there and the candidates for regents are honest and capable men.

Four amendments to the constitution are to be voted on today. That providing a plan for good roads needs no argument in its favor. That enlarging the powers of circuit courts will prevent delay, expense and injustice to many persons. That increasing the salaries of certain state officers should be passed because the present compensation of these officers, notably of the superintendent of public instruction, is not an adequate reward for the time and talents of good men.

The fourth amendment is of local interest only to the city of Grand Rapids. The people of that city simply ask permission to spend their own money for the public benefit and it should be granted them. Voters should vote "Yes" on all four amendments.

The bill to repeal that portion of the militia law which exempts contributing or honorary members of the state troops from jury duty does not seem to be getting the attention in the legislature which it deserves. There is no question that the present law exempts from jury duty just the class of citizens who ought not to be exempted. In fact any law is fundamentally bad which in consideration of a money payment exempts any citizen from the duties and personal services which he owes the state.

But there is also no question that most of the militia companies will have to be disbanded unless the repeal of the present law is accompanied by a compensating increase in the appropriations for military purposes. A well-equipped and disciplined militia has been recognized as necessary since the organization of the United States. The militia of the various states have proved their usefulness many times. The Michigan State Troops were never in a better condition of efficiency than now. But the means of support provided for the organization is fundamentally wrong. The levy of an infinitesimal tax would provide ample funds and avoid this present crippling of the jury system to help the militia—thus robbing Peter to pay Paul.

RESUMING GOLD EXPORTS.

There is every indication that the cessation of gold exports recently was but temporary and due to purely local causes. These exports have a cause away beyond the vision of the free-silver and flat-money howlers. The New York Nation's comment on the present situation is so clear and reasonable that it is here reproduced:

There has been a pause of nearly three weeks in the outflow of our gold to Europe, broken only by the half-million shipment of Tuesday week, described as the fulfillment of an old contract. Preparations have been made, however, for a resumption of the exports, and at best the respite can be only temporary. The cessation of shipments this month was not, indeed, due in any sense to permanent and fundamental causes. A banker who is undertaking to ship gold must sell his bills of exchange, and the disordered money market of a fortnight ago rendered the negotiation of such bills all but impossible. The supply of bank money in this city available for the purchase either of bankers' bills or of merchants' paper was so reduced by the heavy western demand that the banks had their hands full caring for their regular depositors, whose claim was naturally first. That this situation is to be permanent nobody for a moment supposes, and the first sign of a returning money supply is greeted, as we have already stated, by preparation for renewed gold exports. It has long been a matter of common knowledge that the Austrian government, in its plans for gold accumulation, has been reckoning deliberately on our own supply of gold. Of the new 4 per cent. resumption loan (about $30,000,000 in amount), one-half has already been sold and the gold delivered. The remainder has within three weeks been subscribed for, and whether the immediate purchasers come from the east or from the west of Europe the Austrian demand for gold will be equally felt in New York city. It is highly probable, therefore, with exchange on London and Paris already practically at the gold shipping point, that new and extensive contracts for the export of American gold have already been placed. In one respect the recent check to the outward movement was an incident of no little significance. It shows that an undue restriction of the circulating medium, such as the silver fanatics profess to have discovered, would make itself known by signs that would need no congressional investigation. The very fact of chronic specie exports is a proof that our money supply is ample for the needs of trade. The trouble is that international confidence and international credit have, by our reckless silver experiments, been so far impaired that what we are losing to Europe is the very best of our coined money, and what we are getting in its place is the silver flat-money bundled out of the treasury printing offices.

There is just one way to stop this continuous outflow of gold and consequent steady depreciation of our currency and that is to repeal the silver purchase law and allow the two metals to assume their natural level. President Cleveland's reported intention to call an extra session of congress for the purpose of revising the tariff is highly satisfactory to both parties but congress can in that extra session benefit the country much more by repealing the Sherman silver hoarding act.

WORLD'S FAIR POINTERS.

There has been so much talk about the probable crowds and the alleged lack of accommodation and means of rest and refreshment and the reported schemes for swindling and over-charge at the World's Fair that the management has found it necessary to issue official assurances and opinions on these subjects of an exhaustive character. These are very neatly summarized for the guidance of visitors by the Chicago Record of Saturday:

There is an idea quite general among people not familiar with the designs of the World's Fair managers that the grounds at Jackson park will be so crowded and contain so few places for rest that women and invalids will have to take their sight-seeing in homeopathic doses, retiring from the grounds whenever in need of rest. The belief is responsible for some of the great demand for hotel room within easy distance of the World's Fair.

Such persons are advised, however, to take note of President Higginbotham's announcements that "there will be free seats in abundance for the weary" and that "free waiting-rooms are to be provided." Indeed, there is no reason for believing that those who are so disposed cannot pass entire days on the grounds without inconvenience, lunching, dining, sight-seeing and getting refreshing periods of rest without leaving the gates.

The point is important as it means that many persons whose physical endurance is limited will be enabled to see all the fair without suffering evil effects.

For more than six months one of the hardest tasks devolving upon the directors has been to meet demands that have been made upon them for assurances that visitors will not be overcharged for in a thousand and one ways which prejudice or ignorance has led people to fear. The official expressions from the World's Fair management are very exhaustive, but may be summed up tersely in paragraphs suitable for pasting in hats:

Four-mile lake water will be free; eighty-five mile Waukesha water will cost you one cent a glass.

Lavatories, with tar soap and roller towels, will be free. Scented soaps in tins, with damask towels, will cost you five cents. Washing in the lake is prohibited.

Choice may now be had of 30,000 rooms, ranging in price from $1 to $8 a day. Sleeping in the parks will come higher.

Meals will vary in price, according to where, what and how much is eaten. Ham sandwiches, with mustard, will pass current for five cents. Beware of counterfeits.

Seats will be provided free at the grounds. If your tastes demand that you be wheeled by an intellectual college student with gold-rimmed eye-glasses, that will cost you seventy-five cents an hour.

Street car fares will be five cents. Strangers may find this much cheaper than walking, especially on dark nights. Passengers on all police patrol wagons will be carried free of charge.

For the entrance fee of fifty cents you may see everything in the grounds except the Esplanade and the home of the cliff-dwellers. These people probably will not belong to your set, anyway.

We may add that the fair will be ready May 1. Come early and often and avoid the rush. Don't put anything down without getting a brass check for it, and when you go home tell all your neighbors how you were not robbed or swindled. That is the only reliable assurance that many of them will ever accept.

WIRE SHAFTS FOR STEAMERS.

Mr. Samuel P. Jerome of New York has been expounding views with reference to the utilization of wire shafts for steamers. He says:

"In view of the frequent and especially the several quite recent instances of the breakage of steamship shafts it may be of interest to the general public, particularly to sea-going travelers, to know the results of some experiments recently made with an elastic shaft constructed of steel wires of small diameter, massed and bound together so as to secure all required strength and to possess elasticity, both torsional and transverse, to a degree not possible in a rigid shaft. Rigid shafts are broken mainly because it is not possible to maintain exact and true lines of shaft bearings in ships of great length, and frequently of undiscoverable flaws and imperfections in the shaft metal. Ships bend when sailing in rough and boisterous seas, and variations of atmospheric and water temperature expand and contract the metal of the hull, causing powerful bending strains which crystallize the metal of the shaft, weaken and ultimately destroy its vitality until rupture and possibly serious disaster is realized.

"In the construction of a wire shaft every part, from the center to the circumference, comes under the observation of the expert in charge. The experiments referred to show that when the shaft is in position, and when rotating stress is applied, a tensile force is exerted upon the individual wires and their several fastenings. Each is a unit of strength and sustains its pro rata of the total amount of stress. The law of action and reaction determines the amount. It cannot be greater than the available power of the engines of the ship in any given case. The strength of the individual wires and of the fastening being known, it is practicable to ascertain the potential strength of the shaft as a whole. Suppose it to be made in five sections, its total length 100 feet, and its diameter 15 inches. The shaft will have 27,000 No. 7 steel wires, each 20 feet long with their 50,000 fastenings. Each wire and each fastening will sustain a load of 500 pounds without rupture or injury, making a total inherent strength of 37,500,000 pounds, twenty-five times greater in amount than the continuous force of an engine of 5,000 horse power. A stress of 25 pounds only upon each unit of strength, each point of resistance existing in a wire shaft as named, will more than equal the force of such an engine.

"The wires of each section are welded together at the ends, making a solid mass of steel upon which couplings are fixed for bolting the several sections together. The spaces between the couplings are enclosed in short metal bands holding the body of the wires of each section in their normal cylindrical form; at the same time permitting a transverse elastic or bending movement when the ship bends, also elasticity of torsion when powerful waves strike the propeller wheel, lessening or altogether eliminating all risk of injury to the crank and engines. An additional inherent element of strength becomes active when torsional stress is applied to the shaft, viz., the friction of the individual wires pressing one upon another. The greater the stress the greater will be the amount of friction. If built with reasonable care and skill such a shaft cannot be broken in any emergency or under the severest conditions. The cost of building a wire shaft will also be very much less than that of a rigid shaft."—Marine Record.

Chinese Railroad Officers.

The Chinese officials on the railway are mainly responsible for the delay, and they are Chinese officials, a term which to any one who has lived long in China sums up nearly all that can be said about them. The railway in all its parts and stages is to them a strange and inscrutable thing, whose mysteries they are slower to learn than their uneducated fellow countrymen, owing to their minds being already saturated with a kind of lore which has no points of contact with the novelties introduced by the troublesome foreign devils. They detest the whole undertaking, which does not even provide such means of enrichment as any purely native work would do. Custom renders it derogatory to them to handle any implement heavier than a hair pencil, and what is necessary to be done by officials is simply intrusted to their servants.

At the head office things are scarcely better. The directors are men who have been forced into an unwelcome position, who have no feeling for the substantial success of the railway and no appreciation of workmanlike excellence, but who are always ready to listen to any diktat which can talk superficially of velvet and varnish and show from illustrated advertisements in what respect the Chinese trains come short of some ideal Brighton express or Philadelphia fly, especially when the gift foreign gentleman hints at the profuse lubrication which railway promotion demands in other countries, and which is only compatible with lavish cost.—Macmillan's Magazine.

Stages of Progress.

Dr. James Freeman Clarke once went to see Margaret Fuller when she was teaching in Providence. She showed him two packages of letters which she said would give him to understand the kind of work she was doing for her scholars.

"This package," she said, "contains the letters which they usually write to me when they have been with me two or three months. 'Oh, Miss Fuller,' they say, 'we did not know till we came to you how ignorant we were. We seem to know nothing at all, and not to be able to learn anything. We might as well give up. We shall never be able to study to any purpose.'"

"This package of letters," said Miss Fuller, "I have labeled 'Under conviction.'"

"This other package," she continued, "holds the letters they write to me some time afterward. In these they say: 'We owe you ever so much for showing us how we can become something better. We are still very stupid, but we now feel as if we were in the right way and were making some progress. Pray help us to do more and better. You have given us courage and taught us how to go forward.'"

"This package," said she, "I label 'Obtained a hope.'"—Youth's Companion.

Antiquity of Wrestling.

Probably the first authentic record of a wrestling match is in A. D. 1222, when chivalry on the European continent was undergoing a change for the better. During the reign of Henry III of England a match took place in St. Giles' field, London, between citizens of Westminster and the city of London proper. Wrestling was, however, popular as a pastime in England at a much earlier period, and from that country many of the different styles originated. Every one knows how much friendly rivalry exists between schoolboys, and how they will tug and pull at a fellow scholar after the school closes in their attempts to gain the mastery. These early lessons are not lost, as they only serve to whet the appetite for the legitimate style which they indulge in when they reach a mature age.—Lippincott's.

Books Are Not Well Made Now.

Experts are predicting, and by no means without reason, that the books of today will fall to pieces before the middle of the next century. The paper in the books that have survived two or three centuries was made by hand of honest rags and without the use of strong chemicals, while the ink was made of nutgalls. Today much of the paper for books is made, at least in part, of wood pulp, treated with powerful acids, while the ink is a compound of various substances naturally at war with the flimsy paper upon which it is laid. The printing of two centuries ago has improved with age—that of today, it is feared, will within 50 years, have eaten its way through the pages upon which it is impressed.—Chicago Herald.

An Odd Fish.

One of the oddest fishes that ever swam in any sea is that known to naturalists under the unattractive name of "ophiocephalus." A species of it is found in the sea of Galilee, where it builds a nest which for beauty of design and elegance of workmanship excels the efforts of the majority of feathered nest-builders. Its favorite spot for building is in an old root or rock projecting under the water, and the material consists of seaweed, grass and leaves.—Rochester Times.

Why? Why is Strictly Pure White Lead the best paint? Because it will outlast all other paints, give a handsome finish, better protection to the wood, and the first coat will be less.

If by Barytes and other adulterants of white lead are "just as good" as Strictly Pure White Lead, why are all the adulterated white leads always branded Pure, or

"Strictly Pure White Lead?"

This Barytes is a heavy white powder (ground stone), having the appearance of white lead, worthless as a paint, costing only about a cent a pound, and is only used to cheapen the mixture.

What shoddy is to cloth, Barytes is to paint. Be careful to use only old and standard brands of white lead.

"Armstrong & McKelvy" "Beymer-Bauman" "Eckstein" "Fahnestock" "Anchor" "Kentucky" "Morley" "Southern" "Shipman" "Red Seal" "Collier" "Davis-Chambers" are strictly pure, "Old Dutch" process brands, established by a lifetime of use. For colors use National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors with Strictly Pure White Lead.

For sale by the most reliable dealers in paints everywhere.

If you are going to paint, it will pay you to send to us for a book containing information that may save you many a dollar; it will only cost you a postal card to do so.

COMMON THINGS. Give me, dear Lord, thy magic common things, Which all can see, which all may share— Sunlight and dewdrops, grass and stars and sea—

Nothing unique and new, and nothing rare. Just daisies, knapweed, wind among the flowers.

Some clouds to cross the blue sky above. Rain, winter fire, a useful hand, a heart. The common glory of a woman's love.

Then, when my feet no longer tread old paths— Keep them from fouling sweet things anywhere— Write an epitaph in graceful words. "Such things look fairer that he sojourned here."

The Minister and the Mouse. In a certain village church the minister had a great deal of trouble on Sunday evenings with "peanut row," as it was called.

Peanut row was composed of young persons who attend divine service from social motives. It was in the rear of the chapel; and next to that a large vacant space before the pulpit.

On one occasion of this sort, having exhausted his quiver of rebuke and noticed that intonation was caused by the penultimate mouse, the minister departed from the line of his notes and applied himself to address his nearest auditor thus:

"Dear Mr. Mouse, I am happy to have you so earnest and warm in your devotion that you come near the altar. You have for a number of weeks been a most attentive worshiper. You are undoubtedly a converted mouse. You are not afraid of the pulpit, the Bible or the preacher. You are fat and flourishing and seem intelligent."

"Perhaps you can exert your powers in missionary work, and going part way to the rear startle the sisters to an advance movement, much to thy propriety and interest of the service."

"Then, as a second good word, you could retire to peanut row and show how much more quickly you can eat nuts than can the refined young persons gathered there. You may have some way of conveying into their silly and vacant brains the religious instruction that you have received from the pulpit for so long a time."

"Then, as a second good word, you could retire to peanut row and show how much more quickly you can eat nuts than can the refined young persons gathered there. You may have some way of conveying into their silly and vacant brains the religious instruction that you have received from the pulpit for so long a time."

Navigation on the Nile. From the beginning of winter to the end of spring—that is, while the Nile is navigable—the north wind blows steadily up stream with sufficient force to drive sailing boats against the current at a fair pace, while, on the other hand, the current is strong enough to carry a boat without sails down against the wind, except when it blows a gale.

Peeling an Orange. If one wants to peel an orange, all that is necessary to be done is to cut with a knife a very small circle around the stem end, and then mark dividing lines from the stem to the summit—at points on the surface of the orange. MOUNTAIN MISSIONS.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE "POOR WHITES" OF THE HILL COUNTRY.

A Southern Clergyman Refutes the Charge That Ignorance and Squalor Are Prevalent to Any Remarkable Degree in the Mountain Districts.

Sectionalists who desire to create for themselves a field of operations and an income in a charming and healthful southern climate not infrequently write very touching articles for the northern press on the deplorable condition of the "mountain whites" of the south and the need of "mission work" among them.

Such persons, in descriptions of life among the mountains of western North Carolina and east Tennessee, "pile on the agony" in a marvelous manner. Sometimes they do it with an utter disregard for the truth. They represent the exception to be the rule, and picture scenes and conditions common enough in parts of the north and west perhaps, but very rare among the people of the Appalachian region of the south.

One would think from their accounts that the southern mountains were swarming with cave dwellers. The aim seems to be to perpetuate the ideas of that class of philanthropists who find a peculiar pleasure in contemplating poverty, ignorance and degradation in the south since the civil war.

Not long since The Sun noticed an appeal of this sort for aid to "mission work for mountain whites," showing that it was in effect a libel upon the people it professed to describe. Any person familiar with the Appalachian region of the south would see at a glance how absurd the whole thing was.

The Christian Union for Dec. 31, 1892, contains a letter from Rev. D. Atkins, a Methodist minister of Hendersonville, N. C., which completely demolishes the "mountain white" myth. Mr. Atkins will be conceded to know what he is writing about. He was born and reared in the alleged God forsaken region of poverty, ignorance, vice and degradation. He entered college there, entered the ministry there and spent 17 years there as minister and teacher.

"As a Methodist minister," he says, "I have gone into the most out of the way places and mingled freely with all sorts of people in 20 counties of North Carolina and Virginia and in nearly all the worst parts of east Tennessee. I have visited these people at their homes, have eaten with them, slept in their houses and seen them in every condition." Yet Mr. Atkins has not once beheld the squalid scenes Mrs. Paddock described in a recent number of The Christian Union.

"Your correspondent," he says, "must have found some secluded spot I never saw, for in all my travels I never saw the things she writes of, and it seems strange that I should not even have heard of such things in all these years. There is poverty here and ignorance, too, but neither is in that prevalent form you would suppose from the article of Mrs. Paddock. You might live here an age and never hear of such savage and weird funeral customs as Professor Bemis, another correspondent writing from the south, told your readers about."

The situation is not such as was described by The Union's correspondents. Putting it in a nutshell, Mr. Atkins says of Mrs. Paddock's picture: "She has presented the very worst possible case that could be found in the remotest part and made it a sample of all the 2,000,000 here, so that if any one should receive an impression from such writing he would suppose no other kind of people could be found here."

As a matter of fact, the "mountain whites" are not a distinct class. Their ancestors, says Mr. Atkins, were not outlaws, but pioneers from the coast country. They generally own their farms and make a comfortable living. To say they hunt for a living is absurd. There is little wealth and not as much luxury as might be, but the people live decently. There are some log houses, three-fourths of which have windows. None are plastered with mud, as alleged, or without wooden floors. But few have only one room. Generally the houses are quite comfortable. All have good open fire places. Fuel is abundant and costs nothing, so that the correspondent's story of children "covering their limbs with warm ashes to keep from freezing" is especially absurd. The people, Mr. Atkins affirms, are already religious and moral. They observe Sunday and attend Sunday school. There is scarcely a district where there is not a school for at least three months in the year. Few persons are unable to read and write, and such cases are so rare as to excite surprise among the neighbors.

As respects the girls who were described as overworked and vicious, Mr. Atkins says not one in a hundred would know herself by that description. "The common virtues," he says—"chastity, honesty, truthfulness, etc.—are rather more prevalent than in other sections I have seen. The girls are healthy, strong and full of spirit. They marry at a good age, make excellent wives and mothers, and do much less hard work than their sisters of the north and west," and Mr. Atkins spent four years in the west. They do not work in the field. "It is by no means," says the writer, "the custom of the country. Home life is as pure as it is anywhere I have been." In a word, the "mountain white," with his abysmal degradation, is a myth and needs no "mission."

Making a French Cook.

The making of a man cook in France is a lengthy and tedious process. When a young man decides to pursue a culinary career he selects his nominal instructor, to whom he pays a fee of $500. The aspirant is first assigned to the vegetable cook, who teaches him how to prepare the raw materials. When he has mastered this, he is initiated into the mystery of cooking them. This thoroughly learned he studies the way of cutting up raw meat, of preparing fish and how to stuff, dress, truss and hard game and poultry. When he has thoroughly learned this, he is placed before the range, where he receives instruction in the various processes of broiling, frying, roasting and baking.

When he graduates from this department, he passes under the control of the second cook, who reveals to him the mysteries of sauces and soups. The interest of this functionary in his pupil it is necessary to accelerate with liberal and frequent tips. The young man is now turned back to the pastry cook, to whom he serves a long apprenticeship in all that pertains to the concoction of sweets, pastries and ices. This completes his culinary education, and he is prepared to assume the role of a competent cook.—New York Sun.

John Nible's Brave Deed. An old comrade of mine, Sergeant John Nible, attached to the United States cavalry, was out with a scouting party, and they were surprised by a party of Indians four times their number. They exchanged shots with them, wheeled about and made for camp, some miles distant.

The Indians continued firing, and finally one of the white men was hit and fell from his horse. Quick as a flash Nible dismounted, dropped on his knee and fired at the foremost Indian, bringing him to the ground. Jumping up, he placed his wounded comrade across his horse, jumped up behind him, and by keeping up a continual fire at his pursuers carried him into camp. Congress awarded Nible a medal and also a certificate setting forth the facts of his heroism. He was the champion shot of the army for several years, his left breast being decorated with medals to the value of $700, but the one he prizes most is the simple one of bronze awarded by congress.

John is very modest and as brave as a lion, and as such he is regarded by his comrades at Willeits Point.—Cor. New York Press.

Few Schoolbooks in the Home. There is one effect of the law requiring towns to provide free textbooks for schools that will operate a little against the public good, though probably not seriously. This is that scholars go out from the schools at graduation without the little stock of schoolbooks as private property common to former years. In many households these schoolbooks "comprised in the main the family library," and they have doubtless in thousands of instances been sources of information and means of study to "children of a larger growth" in the home circle. Now the books have almost entirely disappeared from the country stores, and the citizen who wants one has to send abroad for it. A Maine man who tried to purchase a textbook the other day in a village containing 40 stores couldn't find one for sale.—Lewiston Journal.

The Tahitian when discovered was as uncultured as the Papuan now is, yet the former approached as near positive beauty as the latter does to positive deformity.

Wholesale Fruit and Produce House.

For the past two months A. W. Moody, a wholesale fruit and produce merchant of Green Bay, Wis., has been bringing an occasional car load of goods into the upper peninsula to ascertain what kind of an opening there was in this section for the establishment of a wholesale fruit and produce house. From the very first car he received encouragement from the merchants throughout the peninsula and he began at once formulating plans for the organization of a stock company of capitalists from Green Bay and other Wisconsin towns.

One of Mr. Moody's first moves was to secure the services of Fred Collins of this city as the upper peninsula manager of the company and the latter has already taken charge of the business. Mr. Collins has secured the Voelker warehouse on Canada street, of which he will have possession May 1. Meanwhile goods will arrive here every week and will be delivered to the local trade from the cars.

The warehouse is situated only across the street from the tracks, besides being centrally located. The building is 40x65 feet in size, two stories in height, contains a cellar the entire width and is fitted with an elevator. The cellar is a first-class one and will be just the thing for the storage of butter, eggs and fruit during the hot season. When the goods arrive they will be unloaded and placed in the warehouse, where the customers can call and make their selection, which will be a much more satisfactory way than picking them from the cars. A full line of goods will be carried in stock for the supplying of the trade at all times. Upper peninsula mail orders will be filled from here.

Where Styles in Hats Rarely Change.

Dr. Doran tells us that the Natal "fashionables" wear hats a foot high in height, made of the fat of oxen. They first gradually moisten the head with a pure grease, which, mixing with the hair, fastens the hat on during the lifetime of the wearer. The Myanmese make a hat of a board 12 inches by 6. They place it on their heads, draw the hair over it and seal it with wax. They cannot lie down without keeping their necks straight, and when they comb their hair, which they do once or twice a year, they have to spend considerable time in melting the wax before they can get their hats off.—Philadelphia Ledger.

"You see," said he, "my wife is always giving me things she wants—house furnishings and the like—for a gift. I'm going to get even with her. "I'm going to give her a year's subscription to three scientific magazines I have to take." And the gentlemen chuckled in unison, while the women going up town with drawing room bric-a-brac to present to their husbands glared frigidly at the plotter.—New York World.

Scientific Calculations.

An electrical writer has calculated that the firing of a small pistol sets free about 600 foot pounds of energy, while a watch consumes about 1-54,000-000th of a horsepower, the energy of the bullet being sufficient to keep the time for two years. An Edison telephone transmitter requires about 1,000th of the energy in a watch. It would therefore be worked for 2,000 years on the energy exerted in the pistol. A lightning flash of 3,500,000 volts and 12,000 amperes, lasting 1-91,000th of a second, would run a 100-horsepower engine for 10 seconds.—New York Telegram.

Words in the Telephone.

Long distance telephoning has become a little science on its own account and has called into existence a class of operators who are valuable by reason of the clearness and sharpness with which they can pronounce words while speaking rapidly.

It has also developed the fact that the French language is better adapted to the purposes of the telephone than the English. The ordinary business of the long distance telephone between Paris and London is carried on in the French language. It is stated that the considerable proportion of syllabic or hissing syllables in English renders it a less easy and accurate means of communication.

Certain English words are especially difficult of transmission by telephone. The word "soldier" is cited as one of these. Proper names frequently occur in the midst of an otherwise perfectly audible and intelligent conversation which the ear cannot possibly catch. These must be spelled out, involving delay.

Expert telephone operators in the press service between Paris and London have succeeded in transmitting messages in the French language at the rate of 190 words a minute. This is at a much swifter rate than ordinary speech.—Youth's Companion.

We can compete with the best of 'em as regards quality of work or low prices.

Red Jacket Saloon Keeper Leaves Cattle in the Woods to Starve.

SAME MEDICINE WOULD DO THE WRETCH GOOD.

Joseph des Roschers Sent Up for Stealing a Kit of Tools—Miscellaneous News Notes.

[All communications for copper country department intended for publication, should be addressed to A. F. Fisher, Houghton 1.]

RED JACKET.

A saloon keeper in this city has a homestead many miles out in the woods. He remained on it during the pleasant days of the summer and fall but when the severe weather set in he left his cattle to shift for themselves without food or water. The only sustenance for them was browsing on the bushes and eating snow. Several of them have perished and all will be dead before the snow is gone. Some of the lumbermen in that vicinity have been on the homestead and vouch for the correctness of the above item.

Commencing today reserved seats will be on sale at Fichtel & Rupprecht's drug store for the comic opera "Dorothy" to be presented by the Calumet Musical Union at the School Hall, Calumet, Wednesday evening, April 12, and at the Opera House here Friday evening, April 14. Secure your seats early as the presentation of this opera will be one of the finest musical events ever given here. Special new scenery, new costumes and electric lighting has been provided at great expense. Thirty-six persons take part and a full orchestra furnishes the instrumental music.

A special train leaves here at 7 o'clock this evening for Houghton to accommodate those desiring to attend the entertainment and ball to be given by the Houghton Maennerchor.

A large and appreciative audience filled the opera house Saturday evening to hear the singing of the Ariel sextet. The entertainment gave great satisfaction to all present, as the singing was undoubtedly the finest ever heard in the new opera house.

Joseph des Roschers of Dollar Bay was charged with stealing a kit of tools belonging to a young Finlander employed at Bollman's camp. He pleaded guilty and was fined $20 and costs or sixty days in the county jail. Marshal Malherbe had quite a job to find his man, the fellow having hidden in the bush.

The Hibernian Rifles will give a grand parade this afternoon and will wear their new uniforms for the first time. In the evening occurs their grand ball. Music will be furnished by the Houghton Silver Cornet band and supper will be served by the lady friends of the company. Special trains will be run from Calumet and Lake Linden.

The remains of the late Mrs. Mary Minear, who died at Traverse City, arrived here Saturday noon and were taken to the residence of her daughter, Mrs. John Slocket. Deceased has been ailing for some time and her death was not a surprise to her many friends. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon from the Methodist church, Rev. C. M. Thompson officiating. The interment was at Forest Hill cemetery.

Charles Rouleau of the Quincy location had four of his toes cut off Thursday, three on the right foot and one on the left. Doctors Downer, Holt, Fisher and Dodge performed the operation. Mr. Rouleau is an old soldier and ever since the war has been troubled with his feet. It was thought that amputation would give him relief so he underwent the operation. He is getting along very nicely.

Rev. Fred L. Walker of Dollar Bay was the speaker at the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. chapel yesterday afternoon. Mrs. C. A. Stringer sang a solo and the Misses Mamie Mitchell and Ella Walker sang a duet.

A Limit to Progress.

Old Gent—When the children of today get to be old folks, I don't see how they are going to get light enough to read by.

Friend—What's to hinder?

Old Gent—When I was a boy, we used candles, and they gave light enough for young eyes like mine; then, as I grew older, we changed to lamps and later to gas, and now we have the electric light and I'm all right yet. I can read by that as well as I used to, with candles. But what's to be done of the children who begin with the electric light, that's what I like to know? —New York Weekly.

A Story of Two Families.

A singular occurrence was that of the marriage of two young English ladies who ran away to America with two of their father's bondservants. They afterward returned and were forgiven. It is recorded that in after years a young lady who was descended from one of these bondservants refused James Buchanan because he was only a "brief" as a barrister, and a descendant of the other sister scorned the proposal of a struggling young lawyer who afterward became chief justice of Pennsylvania. —Edward Eggleston in Baltimore Sun.

Welcome Odors.

No odor of the year is fuller of homely pleasure than that of the preserving kettle. It epitomizes and embodies "all the comforts of home," the warmth of the hearth, the shelter of the roof, the brightness of the home lights, the lonely dusk, the sweet of togetherness—who does not realize them all, however unconsciously, and grow warm about the heart as the sublimated, rich fruitiness of peach and plum and grape salutes one at the opened door? —Boston Commonwealth.

A Faithful Servant.

Carlyle told me one of a lawsuit pending in Scotland affecting the succession to a great estate of which he had known something. The case depended on a family secret known only to one old servant, who refused to reveal it. A kirk minister was sent to tell her she must speak on peril of her soul. "Peril of my soul!" she said. "And would ye put the honor of an auld Scottish family in competition with the soul of a poor creature like me?" —Froude's Oxford Lecture.

Photographers have begun to use storage battery plants, which operate a ruby colored incandescent light in the darkroom, and the effect on their health has been very beneficial.

Cleaning House.

Hard work or easy work, just as you choose. If you find it hard work, it's because you won't use Pearline. You'd rather waste your time and your strength with that absurd rubbing and scrubbing. Of course it's hard—that's why Pearline was invented—that's why Pearline is a household word. You don't know how easy it can be, until you let Pearline do the work. Then house-cleaning slips right along. It is over before you know it.

POINTERS FOR ALL VOTERS.

Care Needed to Avoid Trouble From Split Tickets in Municipal Struggle.

FISTS AND BASE BALL BATS ON SUPERIOR STREET.

Upper Peninsula Failures for First Quarter of the Year—Iron Ore Statistics Worth Saving.

JUST A FEW POINTERS.

Make no mistake in marking your ticket today. If you vote straight the task is an easy one, slap a cross in the square at the head of your ticket—but if you desire to split anywhere from justice of the supreme court to alderman remember that all you have to do is to mark the cross in the square above your chosen ticket and then draw a line through the names of those on it whom you do not desire to vote for, at the same time being careful to remember that if you do not also put a cross against the corresponding names on the other ticket your vote will not be complete. Don't be in a hurry and just take pains to see to it on your city ticket that in monkeying with your ward contests you do not defeat your wish as to the head of the ticket.

On your state ticket, whether you are a Republican or a Democrat, remember to vote "yes" on all four amendments to the constitution as both parties concede that the changes proposed are all such as should be made. There is no question but that the state officers of Michigan are underpaid, especially in comparison with those holding corresponding positions in other states, and it is a blot upon the fair name of the state that it should be so. Vote for fair salaries, for good roads, and for the court amendment and then remember also to vote for the amendment giving Grand Rapids a chance to do as she pleases regarding improving her river connection with Lake Michigan.

The city attorney calls attention to the fact that under the law no one has a right enter a booth with a voter to show him how to mark his ticket and it was a failure on the part of some of the election officials in Detroit to observe the law in this regard that led to the unseating of two members of the present legislature on the ground that the election in certain precincts had been rendered invalid and illegal. Those serving on election boards today should remember this.

It Was a Great Week.

The managing editor of The Times, Mr. D. Z. Curtis, received a blow in the face Saturday for the offensive wedding notice published by him on the afternoon before and later came out with a sneaking sort of an apology for the article. The episode was a fitting ending for a week which had been ushered in by a cowardly attack on a drunken lumberman in The Times' office, in which the helpless victim of drink had his head laid open by a blow from a club in the hands of a too zealous understrapper of the managing editor, the understrapper in question seeming to have been too rattled by fear at the time to realize that the lumberman was all right if he were left alone. The poor fellow had simply made a natural mistake—he had taken The Times' office for a saloon.

In the Upper Peninsula.

Manager L. P. Witzleben of R. G. Dun & Co.'s Marquette office reports to THE MINING JOURNAL that there were sixteen failures in the northern peninsula for the first quarter of the year 1893, ending March 31, with liabilities of $362,150 and assets of $176,350; as compared with eleven failures during the same period last year, with liabilities of $92,135.30 and assets of $63,284.35.

Iron Ore Freight Rates.

The following figures prepared by lower lake papers, show the range of freight rates on iron ore from Lake Superior points to Lake Erie points during the season of 1889 and preceding years and are of value for reference:

In 1892, highest rate from Escanaba, 90c.; lowest, 65c.; average, 74c. Highest rate from Marquette, $1.10; lowest, 80c.; average, 95c. Highest rate from Ashland, $1.35; lowest, $1.00; average, $1.15.

In 1891, highest rate from Escanaba, $1.35; lowest, 55c. Highest rate from Marquette, $1.25; lowest, 80c. Highest rate from Ashland, $1.50; lowest, 90c.

In 1890, highest rate from Escanaba, $1.15; lowest, 85c.; average, 92c. Highest rate from Marquette, $1.25; lowest, $1.00; average, $1.07. Highest rate from Ashland, $1.35; lowest, $1.00; average, $1.17.

In 1889, highest rate from Escanaba, $1.25; lowest, 90c.; average, $1.13. Highest rate from Marquette, $1.50; lowest, $1.10; average, $1.33. Highest rate from Ashland, $1.90; lowest, $1.25; average, $1.53.

In 1892 9,247,217 gross tons of pig iron were consumed in the United States; in 1891 8,292,458 tons, and in 1890 8,841,461 tons.

In 1892 9,157,000 gross tons of pig iron were produced in the United States; in 1891 8,270,870 tons and in 1890 8,202,703 tons.

At the Casino.

Bills are out announcing the appearance of the Winslow Comedy company at the Casino with a 10-cent admission. The main object is to advertise medicines, but the company is said to consist of a very clever lot of people, among them several first-class musicians.

The Day Nursery.

The day nursery in the Everett residence will be open Monday morning under the supervision of Miss M. K. Malone. The object of the nursery is to take care of poor children while their mothers are out at work. Children can be taken there at 8 a. m. and left till 6 p. m. for five cents a day. There will be a matron and a nurse.

The nursery has been established by Mrs. J. M. Longyear and she hopes the ladies of the city will take such an interest in the establishment as to give it their assistance; it is open to investigation at all times. It occupies the south wing of the Everett building.

The Y. M. C. A. Service.

Yesterday afternoon a large congregation joined in the Easter services of the Y. M. C. A. which were held in the Baptist church. The services, which were mostly devotional in character, were conducted by Mr. F. W. Eply. Mrs. A. Brown presided at the organ in her usual pleasing manner. The solo, "The Last Chord" played by Mr. Hoelscher on the flute was magnificently rendered while "The Palms," as sung by Mr. Burtis, made the Resurrection a source of courage and hope to those present.

An Heir to Millions.

"Al. W. Merrill, the well known commercial traveler, who represents the American Eagle Tobacco company, of Detroit, has fallen heir to $3,000,000 through the death of his uncle, John L. Wood, a Cleveland banker. The estate is valued at $15,000,000, and only five relations are alive, four others besides Mr. Merrill. So friends tender congratulations." Says the Soo News.

Mr. Merrill is very well known here and all through the upper peninsula.

A Severe Fall.

Mrs. Pike, the mother of E. G. Pike, manager of the Marquette telephone exchange, fell on an icy walk yesterday while on her way to church and had the misfortune to break her arm. The injury was promptly attended to and it is to be hoped that its effects will not be of long duration.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

MARQUETTE, MICH.

Among the strictly truthful advertisements found in the Hotel World is one inserted by Proprietor Volk of the New Clifton, Marquette, which reads: "The best hotel in Marquette, Mich., is the New Clifton."—The Hotel World, Mch. 4, 1893. Rates $2 to $3 per day.

There is no one instrument, unless, indeed, it be a large pipe organ, capable of the variety of effects that are obtainable on the Aeolian. Unlike the pipe organ, however, the Aeolian is adapted to all classes of music; overtures and symphonies can be rendered on it with all the softness and delicacy of the flute and violin and cello and all the snap and brilliancy of the piano. See and hear them at Conklin's.
