ASSAULTED THE MAYOR.

Belgian Strikers Led by Socialist Agitators Continue Their Riotous Demonstrations.

MAYOR OF BRUSSELS ASSAULTED BY THE MOB.

Receives Painful but Not Fatal Injuries—Street Fights Constant. Germany May Interfere.

GREAT DISORDER IN BELGIUM.

BRUSSELS, April 16.—This has been a day of extreme watchfulness and anxiety on the part of the authorities throughout Belgium. Reports from all points indicate that the strike is spreading steadily and that the temper of the strikers is growing worse. In this city the morning passed without disturbance. Several suffrage meetings were held but they were orderly and the speeches were not violent.

This afternoon, however, thousands of workmen held a turbulent meeting on the road to the race course outside the city limits. The advertised object of the meeting was to denounce the proclamation of Mayor Buis prohibiting public demonstrations in favor of universal suffrage. Volders, the extreme socialist leader, who was arrested and released April 13, made an incendiary speech in which he appealed the most obnoxious epithets to Mayor Buis. The crowd became uproarious, shouted for revenge upon the mayor and encouraged Volders. The police ordered the crowd to disperse. The mob answered with jeers. The police drew their swords and advanced toward the platform. Some of the crowd fired revolvers and a few threw stones, but the rest retreated without show of fight toward the city. Nobody was injured.

Mayor Buis was walking home on the avenue Louise about an hour later when some two hundred socialists rushed from the meeting came down the street. They hooted and jostled him but allowed him to pass. After he had left the mob about fifty paces behind him three men ran out and one of them struck him a heavy blow with a stick on the head. As Mayor Buis turned he received another blow and was laid unconscious to the pavement. A resident of the avenue Louise, who had seen the first of the encounter and had run for the police, returned with help just as the mayor was struck down. The police charged the socialists and after a fight of ten minutes dispersed them. Two of the crowd were arrested but it has not been ascertained whether or not they are of the three who attacked the mayor. A witness of the mobbing has informed the police that just before their arrival a workman fired seven shots from a revolver at the prostrate mayor.

Mayor Buis was still unconscious when taken to his home. He recovered consciousness toward evening and probably will be able to resume his official duties within a few days. Meantime Alderman Andrew will be acting mayor. King Leopold has twice inquired by special courier after the mayor's health. It is reported that Volders will be arrested for his part in the meeting which preceded the assault. This evening turbulent crowds have fought the police in several districts of the city. On the Rue de la Bièvre, near the Maison du Peuple, the mob became so threatening that mounted police charged them with drawn swords. The rioters threw jars of Greek fire and stones among the police. Many of the mob were cut and trampled upon. Twelve were arrested. Several policemen were burned and bruised.

The city is as if in a state of siege. All places of amusement are deserted. The police and the rioters have the streets to themselves. A dispatch from Mons says that the strikers had possession of many streets there since early in the afternoon. Reinforcements of soldiers have been sent from this city. Paris, April 16.—Mr. Bouré, French ambassador to Belgium, has returned to Paris in response to a telephonic summons from the government, which wishes to confer with him as to the revolt of the Belgian workmen. The revolt has become so threatening that it is believed Germany and Austria will be justified under the treaty of 1881 in interfering to support the crown.

BLOODY WAR OF RACES.

Huns and Italians Fight a Bloody Battle Near Hazelton, Pa.

HAZELTON, Pa., April 16.—The trouble which has been brewing between the Hungarians and Italians at Milnesville and vicinity for some time terminated last night in a bloody battle. As a result two men are dead, two missing, supposed to be lying at the bottom of a mine hole, and three others seriously injured.

About 10 o'clock last night a party of four Hungarians was coming into Hazelton. They reached a point about half way down Fisher's Hill when they were attacked by eleven Italians. The latter instantly opened fire. The firing was a signal for a concerted attack by the Italians who seemed to swarm from the woods on every side. About 300 yards further down a half dozen other Huns were met at the school house and on the Harleigh road near by other Huns were met.

The fight that ensued was terrific. The Huns, who never go on the road at night unarmed, after the first onslaught prepared to defend themselves and a volley of bullets into the attacking columns served to check them for a moment.

The next instant the Italians closed in upon their adversaries and fierce hand-to-hand conflict ensued, the Italian stiletto playing havoc with the Huns. The Huns were outnumbered largely and becoming dismayed broke and fled precipitately.

The yells and whoops of the victorious Italians attracted a number of people to the scene. At each point of attack men were found lying on the ground groaning from wounds.

Joseph Christie and Michael Morantz were picked up unconscious and taken to the hospital in this city. Christie was shot in the right shoulder. Morantz's skull was fractured and he died in the hospital.

Mike Bortz was shot in the mouth, the ball coming out of the back of his neck. He was taken to Hollywood, where he died shortly afterwards.

Another man who was engaged in the battle, known as No. 408, is missing. His hat was found on the edge of a steep mine hole full of water. He is supposed to be at the bottom of the hole. Another Hungarian is also missing and he is supposed to have met the same fate.

In the several boarding houses in Harleigh, Lattimer and Hollywood there are a number of wounded men but it is impossible to obtain the exact result of their injuries or names.

BAWDEN NOT APPOINTED.

Detroit News Only Worked Off Its Habitual Fake.

Considerable excitement was caused in local political circles yesterday by a report published in the last issue of the Detroit Evening News received here that F. J. Bawden of Houghton had been appointed collector of customs for this district. At his nomination was a full list of presidential appointments sent out by the Associated Press the report was at once discredited. Additional doubt was thrown on the story by the fact that the Detroit News described the appointment as made by the secretary of the treasury, when it is a presidential appointment. Inquiries sent by THE MINING JOURNAL to Washington yesterday elicited no confirmation of the report and the Detroit Free Press answered a similar query by telegraphing: "We have no information of his appointment. Do not think he has." It seems quite clear, therefore, that Mr. Bawden has not secured the office he is seeking and that the Detroit News has either lied or blundered, as usual. The Chicago Herald publishes Mr. Bawden's name in a list of applicants for office now in Washington and this seems about the nearest that gentleman has attained to the prize he seeks.

INTERNATIONAL ARRAY.

Seventeen Men-of-War Now Anchored in Hampton Roads.

FORTRESS MONROE, Va., April 16.—The broad green, white and red bars with a snowy cross on a scarlet shield of the flag of Italy and the red, white and blue of France float today over the white-capped waves which restlessly rise and fall in Hampton Roads. Two new foreign vessels have arrived—the Giovanni Bausan and the Jean Bart—making seventeen men-of-war now in the harbor.

All this afternoon and until the setting sun caused the shadows of the protruding capons to fall like dark index fingers against the dazzling sides of the ships a brilliant picture was presented. The launches and cutters of the vessels, each displaying the showy colors of its nationality, sped to and fro across the waters carrying lively parties to the men-of-war and back again. The gold sunlight was unbroken by a cloud. There was so wonderfully transparent that the glint of the brass work upon the distant Atlanta shone like a star point in the heavens. The sky was blue and the water bluer still. Each wave created a fleecy rim of foam, as soft and dainty as the fur which encircles a woman's opera cloak. The excursion boats, thronged with spectators of the scene, were moving monuments of flags. A score of yachts, with signals and pennants as varied as a kaleidoscope, added the beauty of their graceful forms and widespread sails.

Upon the shore the bustling throngs in the hotel lobbies with the officers conspicuous in their uniforms, the gay throng of stylishly dressed women on the broad and sunny piazzas, radiant in spring costumes with huge bunches of lilacs on their breasts, and the merry chatter of conversation in half a dozen languages gave a spirit of animation to a Sunday scene that would have made the Puritan Fathers seek refuge in the bleak forest of another continent.

MURDER MYSTERY SOLVED.

One of the Murderers Gets Scared and Makes Confession.

FRESNO, Cal., April 16.—The mystery surrounding the brutal murder of William Good, the acting postmaster at Tarpey, a small station seven miles from this city, last October has been solved and William S. James and Thomas Jones are under arrest. Good came out from St. Albans, W. Va., in 1891 and joined his brother at Tarpey. Jones and James, men of unsavory record, decided to rob the postoffice and Jones stabbed Good to death. There were no witnesses but Jones fled and James stayed in Fresno, where he was recently arrested for stealing hay. Finding he was suspected also of the Good murder he became frightened and made a confession. Jones has recently been located in Texas where he has arrested and is now on the way here.

FELL DEAD ON THE DOCK.

Judge Ardagh of Manitoba Drops Dead at Hoboken.

JERSEY CITY, April 16.—Among the cabin passengers who arrived at Hoboken today on the North German Lloyd steamer Werra was W. D. Ardagh, judge of the eastern judicial district of Manitoba, who had been spending the winter in Italy. Judge Ardagh waited to have his baggage checked and then walked down the gang plank to the dock. He had hardly stepped on the dock when he threw up his hands and fell dead. The ship's surgeon gave heart disease as the cause. Coroner Parslow telegraphed to Judge Ardagh's relatives at Winnipeg and received directions to embalm the body and hold it until a messenger arrived. Judge Ardagh was seventy-one years old.

READY TO ISSUE BONDS.

Free Gold in the Treasury Has Now Fallen Below Two Million Dollars.

AUSTRIAN DEMANDS KEEP GOLD GOING ABROAD.

Issue of Gold Certificates Suspended and Secretary Carlisle May Offer Bonds This Week.

RESULTS OF THE SILVER FOLLY.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The continued export of gold from this country to meet the Austrian demand has reduced the free gold in the treasury to $1,800,000. In the belief that gold will continue to be exported for some time to come and in order to supply the demand for gold and to replenish the depleted stock in the New York sub-treasury the treasury department has been shipping gold from the treasury to New York for the past week. The amount thus shipped is not less than $10,000,000 and may be more.

Secretary Carlisle yesterday directed the sub-treasurers throughout the United States to issue no more gold certificates at present. In explaining his action on the subject Secretary Carlisle said that while the $100,000,000 gold reserve had not been reached he was so close to it that prudence dictated that no more gold certificates should be issued.

MAY ISSUE BONDS.

This announcement that, for the first time since specie payments were resumed, it was necessary to stop the issue of gold certificates was followed by the rumor at the Capitol and elsewhere that the president had decided to issue 4 per cent. bonds to protect the gold reserve in case it became necessary. Secretary Carlisle was seen at the treasury department and was asked: "Is the rumor true that bonds have been issued?" He replied: "No, bonds have not been issued." The secretary did not state explicitly that no bonds were to be issued.

It was ascertained that the measures commenced under the Harrison administration to meet an emergency by the issue of bonds had been carried a step further. Recognizing the fact that the preparation of bonds was a matter of time Secretary Foster directed the bureau of engraving and printing to prepare a large number of bonds bearing 4 per cent. interest as authorized by the resumption act. These bonds were now being advanced toward completion so that should it be necessary and proper to issue any part of them rather than to break in upon the gold reserve, the emergency could be met with the least possible delay.

GENERAL STRIKE PROPOSED.

All Dock Laborers May Quit to Support Hull Strikers.

LONDON, April 16.—Thousands of dockers and other riverside workers met in East London this afternoon to consider what attitude they might best adopt toward the Hull strikers. Chairman Edwards made the first speech. He said that he was bitterly opposed to the immediate ordering of a general strike at all ports of the United Kingdom, as had been proposed in the resolution passed yesterday by the conference of seventy-six delegates of the Dock Laborers' union. A conference of waterside delegates from all parts of the United Kingdom, he said, had been called to meet in London tomorrow and determine upon a course of action. He appealed to the meeting to await the event of this conference, not to take an independent and uncertain step, not to strike unless a general strike should be ordered. He was authorized to quote the opinion of John Burns that no strike should be instituted before the conference should have discussed the matter. If the conference should order a strike John Burns would fight with the men through thick and thin. Joseph H. Wilson, M. P. spoke for the resolution passed by the conference of yesterday in favor of a general strike of dockers to begin tomorrow. He appealed to those present that by immediate action to show their confidence in the justice of the cause of the Hull dockers.

The meeting eventually approved a resolution calling upon the executives of all the unions to ascertain the views of the men as to the expediency of a general strike, the amount of money available to support a strike and the best means of resisting the Shipping federation.

DRUNKEN HUNGARIANS RIOT.

One Man Killed and Several Others Badly Hurt.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 16.—A bloody riot took place at Plymouth, about four miles from here, at an early hour this morning. The mob engaged in the fracas were all Hungarians and Poles under the influence of liquor. Revolvers, stones and clubs were freely used upon each other's heads until the police made a raid upon them. Six of the combatants were arrested and several made their escape. Stanislaus Jacobofski was found lying on the ground unconscious with his skull crushed and died later.

REVEREND PIRATE SINCHED.

Rev. Dr. Funk Must Stop Stealing "Encyclopedia Britannica."

NEW YORK, April 16.—A decision has been handed down by Judge Townsend in the United States circuit court in the protracted suit of A. & C. Black of Edinburgh, publishers of the "Encyclopedia Britannica," against Funk & Wagnalls and the Henry Grellen company of this city for the piracy of their publication. It is in favor of the plaintiffs and permanently enjoins the defendants from manufacturing or selling the reprints.

MARQUETTE, MICH., APRIL 17.

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

If President Cleveland wants to solidify the untried Democracy of the rural districts he will have to get a more expeditious headman than Mr. Maxwell. In the month ending April 4 Mr. Maxwell had only appointed 878 fourth-class postmasters and of these only 370 were in place of Republicans removed, while 508 were to fill vacancies. During the same period in 1889 Mr. Clarkson appointed 1325 fourth-class postmasters. Of this number 503 were to fill vacancies and 825 were to succeed Democrats banded. Thus the record of decapitations for the month March 4-April 4 stands: Clarkson, 825; Maxwell, 370. As an executioner Mr. Maxwell is very evidently not in it. This is a state of things that pleases those ridiculous persons who believe in running the government on business principles but it causes intense mournfulness to hungry and thirsty Democrats.

A strong wind sent the ice fairly out of the bay on Friday, April 7. It came back in a demoralized condition a day or two later but not to such an extent but that a boat could have easily made its way through it. By Monday it was out again and the blue waters of the big bay are clear and free once more. MARQUETTE MINING JOURNAL please copy.—Grand Traverse Herald.

Oh, yes, THE MINING JOURNAL will copy that with pleasure, for it gives it the chance to remark that the bay here was clear of ice several times before the 7th this season. A gentleman at our elbow who lived at Traverse City several years has opportunely produced a little diary from which these facts concerning the dates when the ice went out of Traverse Bay in previous years are taken: In 1887 the ice disappeared on April 22; in 1888 it lingered there until May 4, and in 1890 it was May 6 before the people of Traverse City could feast their eyes on clear blue water in their much-vaunted bay. Grand Traverse Herald please copy.

The chief opposition to an insane asylum in the upper peninsula, THE MINING JOURNAL is informed on good authority, is inspired by Dr. James D. Munson, the misfit superintendent of the asylum at Traverse City. It seems to be Munson's ambition to have the institution he mismanages crowded as full as possible, instead of trying to see how many patients he can discharge cured or can remit to the care of their friends and thus save the people expense. Munson has persistently let the Traverse City asylum fill up just before the meeting of the legislature so he can go before that body and howl for a big appropriation. Of course the bigger appropriation Munson can get the more money he and his little coterie of interested friends at Traverse City can have to spend. The fact is that the Traverse City asylum is too large now. If there were not so many patients there fatal accidents (?) like that which befell Peter Olson of this city, caused by sheer lack of competent supervision, would not be so frequent at Traverse City as they are. The legislature must not let the selfish greed of Munson and his gang continue to kill the helpless insane and rob the taxpayers of the upper peninsula any longer.

WASTE HEAT OF COKE OVENS.

The Age of Steel prints this interesting article on the above subject in its issue of last week:

To reach a point in production where all unnecessary waste is avoided and the best results secured at a cost not sacrificial of grade or efficiency is an object that is more than ever pressing and important. Aside from the competition that is making it a commercial necessity, the utilization of by-products is in touch with our increasing knowledge of the economics insisted on by the limits of provision made by nature. There is nothing inexhaustible in native supplies, and though in many instances the limits are not in measurable distance, human foresight is sufficiently present to determine the eventual results of blind abuse or wilful waste. Modern reform in this direction is being instanced in many ways, and with results that are in justification of its method and purpose. We have on several occasions called the attention of our readers to notable examples of these economies, which, as might be expected, are the logical results of the severer pressure realized in old-world conditions of business, and the intelligence essential to making the most of limited and contested products. In the economies of fuel the utilization of heat hitherto wasted, as in the manufacture of coke, is worthy of notice. The use of coke in iron works has in some instances justified the conclusion that, where possible, the manufacture of coke should be an adjunct of the plant that consumes it. In the Belgium examples of the utilization of the waste heat of coke ovens are illustrated in firing boilers. The generating of steam by this process has economy both of labor and cost in its favor. In many ovens but a small portion of waste is practically utilized, being only used to generate the steam necessary for washing, grinding and discharging, but which could be available for other forms of service without impairing the quality of the coke or in any way interfering with the working of the ovens. In a description of a Belgium plant by a contemporary the following details are of practical interest:

These ovens are grouped in twentys, each group, which fires a boiler, having two chimneys, one square 8 m. high and of one metre side, for carrying off the flames and gases when the boiler is not at work, and another, round, of plate iron, 25 m. high and of 1.1 m. diameter, which is only used when the boiler is fired. The hot gases arrive by four openings in the same horizontal plane that may be closed by fire clay slabs. When the boiler is working, a plate iron damper prevents the flames from passing up by the 8 m. chimney; while, to fire the boiler, this damper is raised and the four fire-clay slabs are brought into the position of "closed." The temperature of the gases at the base of the 25 m. chimney is 300 degrees Cent. The ovens are drawn in groups of five, as regularly as possible, so as to equalize the disengagement of the gases and the generation of steam. While discharging steam is generated in each boiler at the rate of 3,750 to 3,900 kilogs. per hour; but, immediately after drawing it falls to 2,950 kilogs. per hour. Taking a mean of 3,300 kilogs., or 35,000 kilogs. in the five hours, represents 9.2 kilogs. of steam per kilogramme of fuel burnt, supposing the latter to constitute 22 per cent. of the weight of coal charged into the oven.

This result is claimed to be as remarkable as it is commendably satisfactory, and is certainly in evidence of the advantage in available reach of life methods. In cases where the grouping of coke and iron industries are possible the economies of such association are self-suggestive. In speaking of this the authority quoted above says: "The hot air stoves and the boilers of the blowing and other engines could be fired by the coke ovens, and the gases of the blast furnaces could be used for re-heating and puddling when, in many cases, the buying of coal for being burnt raw could be avoided."

Accepting it as a fact that it is not possible to run every plant on these economic lines it is yet beyond controversy that there is a wide margin of waste that under favorable practical conditions could be advantageously utilized.

Caste Marks Vanishing In India.

Mr. Kedarnath Basu, describing some relics of primitive fashions in India, says he does not see the same profusion as he saw 10 or 12 years ago of tattoo marks and red ochre or red oxide of lead (sindur) over the forehead and crown among the women of Bengal. The rapid progress of female education and the consequent refinement in aesthetic taste are the causes of the decline of this rude and savage adornment. The people of Behar, the northwestern provinces and other districts, however, still cling to these remnants of savagery. The up country women, besides tattooing their bodies and painting their heads with red paint, bore the lower lobes of their ears and insert big and heavy wooden cylindrical plugs, which almost sever the lobes from the ears. The plugs are sometimes as big as 2 inches in length, with a diameter of 1 1/2 inches, and as much as two ounces in weight. These heavy plugs pull down the lobes of the ears as far as the shoulders and give the wearers a hideous look.—Science.

Scorched Goods.

What to do with scorched places on cloth is a question that sometimes puzzles the careful housewife. If the scorch is not too bad, dipping the article in soapsuds and hanging it in the sun for some hours will likely remove it. If the scorch is dull, hang the piece before a grate fire.

Scorched spots that are very bad and yet have not consumed the fiber of the goods are said to be restorable by repeated dipping in a saturated solution of borax. The saturated solution, as the chemists call it, consists of as much salt or crystal as the water will dissolve. It is always said to put in a little extra; if the borax stands undisturbed in the bottom of the bottle, one is sure of the full strength solution. Repeated dipings of this, with exposure to sun or firelight, will remove what are by most housekeepers considered hopeless discolorations.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

In Paint

the best is the cheapest. Strictly Pure White Lead is best; properly applied it will not scale, chip, chalk, or rub off; it firmly adheres to the wood and forms a permanent base for repainting. Paints which peel or scale have to be removed by scraping or burning before satisfactory repainting can be done. When buying it is important to obtain properly made. Time has proven that white lead made by the "Old Dutch" process of slow corrosion possesses qualities that cannot be obtained by any other method of manufacture. This process consumes four to six months time, and produces the brands that have given White Lead its character as the standard paint.

"Armstrong & McKelvy"

"Beymer-Bauman" "Eckstein" "Fahnestock" "Anchor" "Kentucky" "Morley" "Southern" "Shipman" "Red Seal" "Collier"

"Davis-Chambers"

are standard brands of strictly pure Lead made by the "Old Dutch" process. You get the best in buying them. You can produce any desired color by tinting these brands of white lead with National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors.

For sale by the most reliable Dealers in Paints everywhere.

If you are going to paint, it will pay you to send us for a book containing information that may save you many a dollar; it will only cost you a postal card to do so.

CROWD LACKED A LEADER.

Otherwise Murderer Mathew Bitson Would Have Ornamented the Nearest Tree.

STATE TROOPS CAME BEFORE LEADER WAS FOUND.

Murdered Woman's Brothers Ask That the Law Take Its Course With the Assassin.

WISCONSIN FARMERS ENRAGED.

CLINTON, Wis., April 16.—If the Clinton farmers had had a leader yesterday they would have hanged Mathew Bitson, the murderer, to the nearest tree, notwithstanding the fact that the blood was running from what was supposed to be a mortal wound in his throat, inflicted by himself just before he was taken. But the mob had no leader and last night Captain Joachim with fifty National Guardsmen came from Madison and took the murderer from the lookup and started away toward Janesville with him. When the sheriff attempted to take the prisoner to the moon train, armed men had stood in his way, but the mob did not attempt to interfere with the militia.

The farmers had lacked a leader all day, but it was known that brothers of Mrs. Hern, one of the murdered women, were coming on the evening train from Dakota, and the word had been passed around that they would take charge of the lynching. But when they came they sided with the sheriff. It was a strange scene for the state of Wisconsin. For the life of his sister's murderer Walter Lawrence was pleading. Around him surged a crowd of 500 angry farmers who answered every argument with yells of "Hang him." Inside the little wooden lookup lay the prisoner, Mathew Bitson, who shot his own wife and Mrs. Arthur Hern, the wife of a wealthy farmer, then soaked their clothing in kerosene, dragged them into the cellar and burned them and the house.

MOB STAYED ALL DAY.

Not since he was lodged in the lookup at 10 o'clock in the morning had the mob left for an instant. They lessened in numbers at supper time, but at 7 o'clock the streets were more crowded than ever. Everyone waited for the arrival of the Northwestern train from Dakota. On this train were Mrs. Hern's brothers, Arthur and Walter Lawrence, of whom much was expected. Both had had the training of border life and the mob evidently expected them to take the leadership. But when the train arrived and the brothers were found to side with the sheriff, it did not produce the expected result. From the top of a lumber pile beside the lookup they addressed the infuriated farmers.

"This is a time when sober counsel should prevail," urged Arthur Lawrence to his old time friends and neighbors. "You all know me and ought to be satisfied as I am satisfied. Let the law take its course."

"You don't know this man. We do. Hang him," was the shout.

"He advertised for a week before hand that he would kill his wife and my sister-in-law. I want to see him hanged," urged Charley Stolter, a prominent stockman who refused to join the brothers in their plea. A great change had come in the temper of the mob since noon. At noon they demanded simply to have him remain in the lookup and bleed to death in peace. As night came on and the doctors were forced to admit that Bitson's wounds might not prove fatal the demand for vigorous measures became more marked.

PRISONER SAVED BY MILITIA.

As the excitement began to increase, however, to a point where violence must have been done the governor's Guard, fifty strong, arrived by special train from Madison. The train stopped at a point near the lookup, the company formed and marched to the little prison and escorted Bitson back to the cars. The mob stood back overawed by the militia and no interference was attempted. After the train had pulled out towards Janesville the crowd dispersed.

It had been a wild day in Clinton. Every store in town was locked up and business was entirely suspended. Isham & Wakefield, the hardware dealers, had sold every firearm in their store and the populace was eager for vengeance on Matt Bitson, the murderer of Mrs. Arthur Hern and Mrs. Bitson. When first surrounded by a mob he had attempted suicide and was bleeding from a bullet hole in his neck. After he was placed in the lookup City Marshal Earle stood guard while a physician attended Bitson, who lay bleeding on a bench, his head resting on his left arm, while from the bullet hole in his neck blood poured in a stream. By the light of a flickering lantern the physician sponged the wound but he could not stop the flow of blood.

The bullet had entered under the right side of the jaw and passed out under the left ear, cutting the blood vessels of the throat. With each breath Bitson threw out from his nostrils clotted masses of blood so thick that it piled on his shoulders and on the floor rather than flowed.

Sheriff Bear came to Clinton at noon, intending to take Bitson to Janesville upon the Chicago & Northwestern train which leaves Clinton 12:10, and to that end the train was stopped a few rods from the lookup. Between the rude jail and the track were several covered sheds and through them it would be necessary to carry Bitson to get him aboard the cars.

"They are going to take him to Janesville," someone yelled as the train stopped.

"Don't let them do it!" cried a dozen voices and the mob surged into the sheds and filled the track alongside the train. Two dozen men gave the engineers the signal to go ahead and all yelled to "move on."

Seeing it was no use the engineer was ordered to go on and the train went to Janesville without the murderer.

BITSON'S WANDERING AND ARREST.

After he had shot his wife and Mrs. Hern Bitson took the bodies into the cellar and poured kerosene over them. Then he touched a match to them and started to run northeast toward Whiteside, about 15 miles from where the murder was committed. After that nothing was seen of him until yesterday morning when a tramp saw him come out from a hay stack about three-quarters of a mile from town and start to walk along the road toward Milwaukee. When he was about a mile from town he was seen by William Dooley, a farmer. Dooley thought it was not Bitson because the man was walking leisurely along the road with his hands in his pockets. The next seen of him he asked for breakfast at the house of J. Carl, an unmarried farmer living about 2 miles from town. Carl got him breakfast for which Bitson paid him $1. While Bitson was eating his breakfast Carl told him that he expected some neighbors to work on the farm and he had better leave if he did not want to be captured, but Bitson seemed to be in no hurry to leave. So Carl went into the road and told some neighbors who were passing and William Dooley, who was plowing in the field across from Carl's house. In fifteen minutes the house was surrounded by 500 men armed with shot guns, rifles and revolvers. When Bitson saw the crowd he put his revolver to his cheek and fired, the ball going through the roof of his mouth and coming out just below the temple. After shooting himself he locked the doors and went into the bedroom. When the mob arrived they ordered him to open the door but he would not do so.

TAKING HIM TO CLINTON.

Marshal Earle burst in the door and took him to Jerome Shimeal's buggy. Shimeal ran his horses and heighs to town with a crowd ahead and behind them. He turned from the main street as he entered the town and the mob that was forming in the village thought that he meant to take the prisoner to Janesville. Cries of "Lynch him," "Don't let him go," were heard. Then Jack Mahaffy, clerk at the Taylor House, who was on horseback fired a navy revolver at Shimeal. The bullet entered the buggy seat under Bitson and Shimeal stopped. Bitson was apparently bleeding to death so he was taken to the lookup.

Dr. Jones, who examined Bitson, said he could not live till night. Bitson was able to say a few words but could not talk much.

When the sheriff took Bitson he asked him if he shot the women, to which he replied that he did not. Bitson later lay in a stupor.

Human blood has stained Mathew Bitson's hands once before. The crime was committed in Bohemia, which country Bitson was forced to leave in consequence. Little is known about the crime except that Bitson told the story himself. He had frequently boasted that he had been shot once and had the wound upon his person. It is said that Bitson had threatened Mrs. Hern's life and said that he would kill her for interfering when he beat his wife.

JANESVILLE, Wis., April 16.—None too soon to say the Clinton lookup from being burned Madison militiamen arrived on the scene last evening. They were under command of Adjutant-General Doe and with their aid the prisoner Bitson was taken from the lookup to a special train before the mob fairly realized what had happened. He was taken to Baraboo, Sauk county, by the military escort, Rock county jail being deemed unsafe.

CLEVELAND'S INDIAN POLICY.

Will Detail Army Officers as Agents on Reservations.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—A new policy in the dealings of the general government with its Indian wards is one of the reforms President Cleveland intends to inaugurate, according to a congressman interested in Indian affairs. It is said to be the president's purpose to divorce the Indian bureau from politics and it was in line with this intention that he had appointed a commission, of which the assistant commissioner of Indian affairs, Assistant Commissioner Armstrong had selected because of his intimate knowledge of Indian matters and not because of his democracy. The authorization of congress to the president for the selection of army officers as Indian agents whenever he may see fit to detail them in place of civilians, which Mr. Harrison carried out to some extent, will be more fully exercised by Mr. Cleveland and judging from what he has said it is probable that he will detail officers of the army for duty as agent at every Indian agency in the country. Mr. Cleveland has given much attention to the management of Indian affairs and believes that the office was not managed by ex-Commissioner Morgan with that degree of unbiased political and religious feeling which should pertain to its administration. He therefore proposes to introduce a number of reforms and congress will hear from him on the subject at its next session.

INTERESTED IN OUR NAVY.

Russ' Sends Expert to Keep Track of Improvements.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—At the request of Prince Cantacuzene, the Russian minister, his government has detailed Captain Mertvago as naval and military attaché of the legation in Washington and he is expected to arrive here with his family in a few days. He was detailed, it is said, for the reason that the naval interests of this country are paramount to those of the army, at least so far as construction and improvement goes, and the Russian government desires to be represented by a naval expert. The Russian legation in Washington has not had a military attaché for years and this indication of the appreciation of the growing importance of the Washington station by the government of the czar, it is confidently expected, will soon be followed by the promotion of Prince Cantacuzene to be an ambassador.

EXPLODED HER BOILER.

Disastrous End of Pleasure Excursion on the River Near Winamac, Ind.

EIGHT PERSONS HURT, FIVE OF THEM SERIOUSLY.

Engineer Saw Something Was Wrong and Headed for Shore When the Crash Came.

NOT ONE WAS UNINJURED.

WINAMAC, Ind., April 16.—The passenger steamer Nellie Bly, owned by J. E. Fishburn & Co., while making a trip down the river this afternoon blew up, seriously injuring eight persons. George Traun, proprietor of the Eagle Machine shops of this city, had both legs broken and crushed and was severely injured internally. The others are less seriously hurt. None of the passengers escaped injury. The boat was entirely demolished and sank immediately after the explosion. Among the seriously injured are: Clarence Fishburn, J. F. Fishburn, Daniel Rhodes, James Long.

When the accident occurred the boat was in shallow water. The pilot had discovered that there was something wrong with the machinery and was steering for shore. But for this fact it is probable that every person would have been lost. Daniel Rhodes was blown thirty feet and completely covered with wreckage. James Long was blown into the river and his rescue was accomplished with great difficulty. Those who were not seriously injured. The physicians have amputated Traun's leg and it is not expected that he will live until morning.

FEMALE AERONAUT INJURED.

Balloon Got Away Too Soon With Miss Nellie Eagle.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—Miss Nellie Eagle, a female aeronaut, was dashed against the side of a building while making an ascension at the Cliff House this afternoon and sustained terrible injuries. There was a strong wind and the balloon while being inflated escaped from twenty or thirty men who were holding it. Miss Eagle was already on the trapeze and before she could drop or determine what to do was thrown against the wall with frightful velocity. Both legs were broken. The woman dropped helplessly to the ground in an apparently lifeless condition. She received internal injuries also but is still alive and may recover.

GIRL BRUTALLY SLAIN.

Harry Stewart Imagined Emma McDonald Caused His Troubles.

DENNISON, O., April 16.—Emma McDonald was murdered in cold blood last night by Harry Stewart, a railroad flagman. Stewart had had trouble with his sweetheart, who boarded at the same house with Miss McDonald, and imagined that the latter was in some way responsible. Late last night Stewart went to the house and upon obtaining admission forced his way into Miss McDonald's room. He asked her for an explanation. She told him she knew nothing of the trouble. Drawing a revolver Stewart shot the girl dead. He at once gave himself up and was taken to jail.

MR. KRUPP'S PET PISTOL.

It Weighs One Hundred and Twenty-Four Pounds.

CHICAGO, April 16.—The big Krupp gun has arrived and tomorrow it will be brought into the Krupp building at Jackson Park and set on its mighty carriage. The 62-ton gun already in place is large enough to terrify the ordinary non-combatant. It is 34 feet long with a 12-inch bore and throws a projectile weighing 1,600 pounds. The gun which arrived yesterday weighs 124 tons and it is expected that it will require the best portion of a week to get it hoisted and in its place on the carriage.

WAITERS WANT MORE PAY.

They Also Desire Less Work and Better Food.

NEW YORK, April 16.—The threatened strike of waiters began last evening at the Holland House where thirty-four waiters, helpers and scullery maids went out. The new Hotel Waldorf also had trouble with its help and was so short-handed that some guests could not be received. The waiters want less work, more pay and more food.

Marie railroad bonds were placed in the London market by the Canadian Pacific Railroad company last week at 91 1/2. The bonds were all absorbed on the first day of trading. The Bank of Montreal is said to have profited largely by the deal.

No More World's Fair Strikes.

CHICAGO, April 16.—It is not likely that there will be any further trouble with the workmen at the World's Fair grounds. The carpenters were strongly inclined to strike but the other building trades assured them that they must fight alone and this meant utter defeat for the carpenters.

Greenhouse Boiler Lets Go With Disastrous Results.

CHICAGO, April 16.—The boiler connected with the greenhouses of Albert Tuchs exploded this afternoon, tearing the boiler house to pieces, destroying over an acre of glass roofing and badly injuring the fireman, Reinhold Scheele. Accident or Murder?

ELSINORE, Cal., April 16.—The body of J. S. Easy As Can Be —washing with Pearline. Just try it and see. None of the rub, rub that made the old washboard hateful. None of the old washboard, either. Nothing but common sense washing of clothes, paint, dishes, anything in the house—with something that takes out the dirt, instead of making you rub it out. It's a big difference. There's a saving in the labor—but, besides that, there's a saving in the wear. Washing with acids and chemicals is easy, too—but it isn't safe. Washing with Pearline is.

Copper Country Insurance Agent

Throws Mud at North Galveston to Down a Rival.

HIS WILDERNESS CAUSES HIM TO OVERREACH HIMSELF.

What a Marquette Man Found in North Galveston in the Same Month of February.

PURE PERVERSION OF FACTS.

In the last issue of the Hancock Copper Journal appeared a column article under the heading "Paper Cities. Experience of a Copper Country Citizen in One of Them. He Didn't Get Much Wealth But Gained Some Valuable Knowledge," the article purporting to be an interview with one S. McDonnell who alleged that newspapers were deluding people into investing their little all in southern towns on the strength of boom advertising, that North Galveston literature published on the upper peninsula had been false from start to finish, that there is no town there and never will be, that a New York syndicate tried to boom up a town on the site twenty years ago but failed.

It was there in February and that the population of 500 or 600 is a myth, less 500; that there were much "some half dozen scattering only" of the cheapest possible cottages, and "if they had a single structure" was no visible indication of a town there.

As the Mining Journal has been running the advertisement naturally North Galveston association, I naturally took a lively interest in this. I interviewed it was brought to my attention yesterday and took immediate steps to establish the truth or falsity of the charges which it has given. The Mining Journal has no hesitation in coming in branding "S. McDonnell" (whoever that individual may be) as probably a sore-head and undoubtedly a liar, and a liar, too, of such colossal proportions that this paper would be very glad to make his acquaintance out of pure curiosity. Mr. Merwin E. Asire of this city has just returned from a prolonged sojourn at North Galveston and to him THE MINING JOURNAL applied for the facts regarding the town. Mr. Asire hasn't a dollar invested there, nor has he an interest in the matter in any way to the amount of a single cent, his testimony will therefore be received with interest.

McDonnell claims to have been in North Galveston in February—Mr. Asire arrived in North Galveston in February 27th with his family and remained there five weeks at the fine three-story hotel built by the promoters of the town. He declares that he was never better pleased with the prospects of a new town and that only his determination to stick by his Marquette interests kept him from casting his lot there. Instead of 500 inhabitants he believes that the town has nearer 1,000, although it is only a year old and says that from the railroad depot he counted sixty-five finished buildings near at hand while building was in progress on all sides. There are twenty-three miles of streets, the principal ones already macadamized with shells while others are being shelled as rapidly as possible, and 9,000 fruit trees were set out by the association as a starter.

He met the sawmill men himself, found them there on their second trip and states that they were then engaged in buying up more timber lands to give a steady business for the mill they will build as promised. As for the brick plant, it is running smoothly and is using clay dug alongside of the very building the plant is in. The first story of the handsome depot is built of pressed brick from this factory and a kiln was burned while he was there. The agricultural implement works were running when he left, the boiler in the scouring mill was being bricked in, the machinery of the knitting mill was in place, the machinery of the compo board factory was on the ground and the basket and woodenware factory was nearly ready to start.

The railroad was built only in January and some of the bridges have not yet been completed so that naturally it looks rough but ballasting is in progress, while the road has two locomotives, several passenger coaches and flat cars and box cars in proportion. It has a fine depot, roundhouse, turn table, etc. As for water shipping facilities North Galveston is less than two miles from the deep water channel on which the United States has expended and is expending millions, it is already to be approached by vessels of light draught, and a strongly backed dock company now has two dredges at work on a ship channel to the government deep water channel, the work to be finished within one year, so much for "millions of dollars and years of time."

Two excursions from Calumet have already visited North Galveston. Of the thirty-four people in the second excursion determined to locate in the new Gulf town permanently and are now residing there while several others bought property there, among them some of Calumet's shrewdest business men. On the 26th of this month a third excursion will go down from the copper country. Many newspaper men have already been there, including at least one from the copper country, and THE MINING JOURNAL has yet to see a claim that the North Galveston Journal, the newsy and well conducted paper published in the new town, does not tell the full truth in all that it says about the town and it is sent all through northern Michigan every week, the fact being that northwestern men are behind the new town, especially men interested in the famous Northwestern Guaranty Loan company of Minneapolis and whose names are known everywhere as those of men of great wealth and financial ability.

THE MINING JOURNAL has devoted this space to North Galveston solely because this paper was itself indirectly attacked in the article summarized above, because many upper peninsula men have determined to make the new town their home, though this paper fully believes that they can do equally well here, and, thirdly, because it has a constitutional objection to seeing a man laboring under such an aggravated attack of piteously without thumping his head soundly in the hope of relieving him somewhat. There is one truthful statement in McDonnell's article, that regarding the fire depot, and until he can show just on one more in the whole column he is invited to hold his peace.

WHEELMEN GET READY.

Ishpeming Bicycle Club Organized for the Coming Summer.

PETITION FOR SUNDAY LAW ENFORCEMENT

"Lobby" Open Once More—About to Rebuild—Hoisting Dirt With Steam Shovel.

HEMATITE BICYCLE CLUB.

At the meeting of the Hematite Bicycle club of this city, held at Room 19 in the Anderson block Friday evening last, the following officers were elected: President, Fred E. Vickers; vice-president, C. A. Violet; secretary, T. W. Durham; treasurer, T. J. Healy; captain, John A. Olson. Regular meetings of the club will be held on the first Monday evening in each month during the summer months. The club colors will be red and blue, and will at all times be worn on the handle-bar of the wheel, and the club badge must be worn on the cap. The badge is now in the possession of the secretary and can be seen by any member of the club. The badges will cost forty-two cents each and all members desiring them can procure them by leaving their order with the secretary.

The club runs will be subject to the call and direction of the captain. At the meeting Friday evening twelve new members were admitted, and others will be taken in at the next meeting. None but members of the League of American Wheelmen will be admitted to the Hematite club. Amateur riders over eighteen years of age, who are members of the L. A. W., will also be eligible to membership. The monthly dues were fixed at fifty cents per month.

The club will take its first ride as soon as the roads are dry enough. The grand meeting of the wheelmen of the upper peninsula, which was to have been held last fall in Ishpeming, but was postponed on account of poor weather, will take place here some time in May.

Want the Law Enforced.

A petition praying for the enforcement of the Sunday closing law was circulated among the members of the Division street M. E. church yesterday and was signed by nearly all of them. The petition asks that all saloon keepers be compelled to close their back doors and that confectionery and other stores be closed also. The matter will be carried into other churches in the city and after a sufficient number of names have been secured it will be presented to the common council with a request that all parties conducting business be compelled to comply strictly with the state law in regard to Sunday closing.

Re-Opened the "Lobby."

Frank Boudy and Ed Hassenger have taken the "Lobby," corner Main and Bank streets, recently vacated by McGuire Bros., and will conduct the place under the firm name of Boudy & Hassenger. They opened up Saturday night but the fact that they had taken the place was not generally known. Mr. Boudy is an experienced bartender. Both are popular and they will undoubtedly control a good trade. They will have their grand opening next Saturday evening.

Will Rebuild.

Olav Neilsen, whose newly erected dwelling in North Ishpeming was destroyed by fire one night last week, has had plans drawn by Demar & Lovejoy for a new dwelling. It will be somewhat different from the other, and will be neat and tasty in design, with plate glass windows in parlor and dining room and a veranda in front. The plans have been completed and work on the building will be started in a few days. E. Gilvold is the contractor.

Will Work a Steam Shovel.

The Lake Angeline company will set a steam shovel at work today loading sand to fill a track near the mine at a point a short distance east of the St. Lawrence mine. It will take about two weeks to complete the job.

A Great Performance.

The production of Charles Dickens' "Bleak House" by Miss Jane Coombs and her excellent company at the City Opera house next Thursday evening will be one that no lover of stage work can afford to miss. Actresses like Miss Coombs are rarely seen in the upper peninsula, and this opportunity of witnessing a splendid play by first-class artists should be taken advantage of by the theatre-goers of Ishpeming. The Cincinnati Commercial of a recent date says:

Miss Jane Coombs appeared last night as Lady Dedlock and Hortense in Charles Dickens' "Bleak House" to a large audience and gave as Lady Dedlock one of the most finished, artistic and beautiful performances of female characters that has ever been seen upon our stage. In the impassioned scene in the third act she reached the most intense expression of passionate acting and received an enthusiastic recall after the fourth act when she disclosed her identity to her child; the audience was moved to tears for the repentant mother, Miss Coombs' regal beauty, magnificent voice and exquisite grace capturing every heart in the large audience. As Hortense, the revengeful lady's maid, Miss Coombs achieved a success, playing it with all the abandon of a French woman, who, when goaded to desperation by Tulkington, deliberately plans and accomplishes his murder. The supporting company was very fine and gave such representations as will not be forgotten. The interest in the piece was sustained to a close; it is surprising that so much of the story could be so well told.

If you want shoes cheap call at Cahoon's within the next two weeks. Remainder of stock will be sold at any price the goods will bring. You can save dollars by buying now.

THE NEW ADMINISTRATION.

Mayor Kaufman Names the City Officers for the Coming Municipal Year.

ALL ARE PROMPTLY CONFIRMED BY A UNANIMOUS NOTE.

The Standing Committees for the Year Announced—Scenes at the First Meeting of New Council.

APPOINTMENTS WELL RECEIVED

Pursuant to the call of the mayor the first meeting of the new council was held on Saturday evening. Mayor Kaufman took the chair and every alderman was in his seat while the lobby was packed with interested spectators. After calling the meeting to order Mayor Kaufman called for the reading of the minutes and after their approval arose and read the following brief inaugural address, hearty applause following from both the council and the lobby:

GENTLEMEN: In entering upon the discharge of the duties of mayor of the City of Marquette I think I may be pardoned for expressing to the citizens of this city my appreciation of the high honor conferred upon me. I am profoundly grateful, and I assure you, the chosen representatives of the people, that I shall endeavor to show my gratitude by doing all that lies in my power to give to the citizens of Marquette a good, business-like administration. To accomplish this I shall, gentlemen of the council, need your assistance, in fact, the great burden of the work must rest on you, for I possess no Aladdin's lamp by the manipulation of which the course of nature can be changed, the population of Marquette increased and manufactures made to spring up. This can be done by the efforts of all good citizens working together. I know of no other way. The city government, however, exercises indirectly a very considerable influence upon such matters. If we keep Marquette well forward as a progressive modern city and at the same time keep the rate of taxation low, making it known that in the matter of public improvements every dollar raised is economically and honestly expended for the purpose for which it is raised we shall be doing much to invite profitable industries to locate here. As individuals we may be able to do even more than this, but as members of the municipal government, no more can be expected.

I have no policy to outline. I know of no reforms instantly demanded. I believe that in the past Marquette has been well governed, and my aim shall be to continue the good work.

I trust our relations during the ensuing year may be pleasant and profitable to the city. I have no other purpose than to serve you and the city faithfully, and I am unwilling to look forward to anything but a prosperous year, and the most cordial and pleasant relations between the mayor and the council.

Immediately after reading his inaugural the mayor stated that he was prepared to announce the appointments entrusted to him by the city charter and the council being ready to receive them he read the following list, as each name was announced half a dozen aldermen jumping to their feet to move immediate confirmation, every one of the appointments being confirmed unanimously:

- City controller, George A. Royce.
- City attorney, Myron J. Sherwood.
- City marshal, James Moloney.
- Street commissioner, Robert R. French.
- President of the council, B. O. Pearl.
- Health officer, Dr. F. M. Harkin.
- City Engineer, E. McIntosh.
- Harbor master, A. J. Otterson.
- Fire wardens, James Todd, L. H. Stafford.

Member of the board of fire and water commissioners, Abel F. Agnew.

Member of the board of trustees of the Peter White library, Joseph F. Neidhart.

Mayor Kaufman announced that he would name his commissioner of public parks and cemeteries later and would also at that time fill out some of the minor appointments. He then named the electric light commission and standing committees of the year in the council as follows:

- Electric light and power commission—President, the mayor ex-officio; treasurer, Alderman Hoch; secretary, Alderman Williams; Aldermen Hennessey, Moore and Gravel, members.
- Finance and taxation—J. W. Putnam, chairman; Henry Hoch, E. C. Williams, members.
- Streets, sewers and bridges—M. Hennessey, chairman; Joel Gillett, E. E. Homeier, Police, grievances and litigation—Geo. Arthur Brown, chairman; James Jamerson, Henry O. Gravel, members.
- Parks, cemeteries, public buildings and grounds—Smith Moore, chairman; Julius F. Zerbel, J. J. Mullally.
- Ordinances, by-laws and rules—B. O. Pearl, chairman; A. Desjardins, J. C. Rygaard.
- Purchases, claims and accounts—A. Desjardins, chairman; J. F. Zerbel, Charles F. Schoch.
- Railways, public conveyances and franchises—Joel Gillett, chairman; E. E. Homeier, J. C. Rygaard.
- Public health—H. O. Gravel, chairman; Chas. F. Schoch, James Jamerson.
- Salaries—E. C. Williams, chairman; Geo. Arthur Brown, J. J. Mullally.

The aldermen appeared well pleased with their committee assignments and expressed themselves so by formal vote.

On motion the bond of the city treasurer was then fixed at $40,000 the amount at which it was placed last year. Just as the council was prepared to adjourn Mr. John Ward of the Seventh ward entered the railing and placed on Alderman Pearl's desk a large package done up in heavy paper. After loosening the cord with which it was tied the newly appointed president of the council arose and said:

YOUR HONOR:—In behalf of the citizens of the famous "fighting Seventh," represented by L. H. Stafford and John Ward, I have a very pleasant duty to perform. The horseshoe is recognized as the emblem of good luck the world over and as expressive of their wishes for the success of your administration and in recognition of the remarkable run made by you in the recent election I take pleasure in presenting to you this beautiful floral emblem of good luck in the name of the citizens of the Seventh ward. May it prove a happy augury for your administration in every particular.

As he spoke Alderman Alderman Pearl threw off the paper wrappings and held out an immense horseshoe of ferns and the choicest cut flowers, laying it on the mayor's desk as he finished his presentation speech. Mayor Kaufman arose with the horseshoe in his hand and tendered his hearty thanks to the "fighting Seventh" concluding his speech of thanks with the statement that "to a Marquette boy born and bred there can be no higher honor than to be elected mayor of his native city and again I thank my friends of the Seventh and of the city at large for the splendid honor which they accorded me in the recent election. I shall ever be proud of it and of the manner in which it came to me." As he concluded everyone within hearing joined in a hearty round of applause and the council then adjourned.

Mayor Kaufman made a decided impression by the manner in which he handled his first council meeting. He rushed the business from the very start and more work was done in fifteen minutes than any one ever dreamed was possible at a council meeting, the aldermen all expressing their surprise when they discovered how short the meeting had been and the actual number of minutes which had passed since the mayor called them to order. Mayor Kaufman was also complimented highly upon his inaugural address and upon the short speech which he made, while the citizens present all expressed satisfaction at his appointments and at the manner in which he shaped his committees. His determination to be mayor in every sense of the word was very apparent and from alderman to citizen every one appreciates the feeling that Marquette's municipal government has a head once more.

The Wheels Moving Once More.

Immediately upon his appointment and confirmation as city controller Saturday night George A. Royce filed the required bond of $5,000 and entered upon the duties of the office, wiring to President Cleveland his resignation of the position of register of the United States land office here. Mr. Royce has had large experience in legislative affairs at Lansing and his record as register is additional ground for the belief that he will make an excellent official as the first controller of Marquette.

The new city attorney, Myron J. Sherwood, was graduated from Hamilton college in the class of 1886 with honors and has been a resident of Marquette since 1887. For three years he was telegraph editor of THE MINING JOURNAL, resigning to accept the position of principal of the high school, which position he held until he was admitted to the bar in 1892. Since then he has made an excellent record and has shown himself possessed of the ability and application which are invariably rewarded in that profession. He is one of the most popular young professional men in the city and his appointment was received with hearty expressions of pleasure on all sides.

James Maloney, reappointed city marshal, has held that office for five years and Mayor Kaufman is the fourth mayor from whom he has received the appointment. He has made a splendid record as an able and vigilant officer and has well merited continuance in office.

The new street commissioner, Robert R. French, is no stranger to the office and would any day be designated by a unanimous popular vote as the best qualified man in Marquette to hold it. Every mayor since he left the office has tried to get him back and in thus endorsing him THE MINING JOURNAL is casting no reflections upon the officers who have served the city faithfully and conscientiously in that position since Mr. French retired.

B. O. Pearl will make an admirable presiding officer for the council. Mayor Kaufman in selecting him to serve the city as acting mayor in his own absence has chosen wisely and well and will find his choice universally endorsed by the people. Alderman Pearl is a member of the well known law firm of Clark & Pearl and is one of the two attorneys in the present council. Geo. Arthur Brown, the new chairman of the committee on police, grievances and litigation, being the other.

Of the remaining appointments it is unnecessary to speak as all will recognize their propriety. Mr. Agnew, the new member of the waterboard, is a trained mechanic and a liberal minded man and should do excellent service on that board.

Jane Coombs in "Bleak House."

The curtain was raised Saturday afternoon at the matinee in Dickens' "Bleak House" at the Opera House before a large and refined audience. It seemed as if every face was an interrogation mark, wondering what Miss Jane Coombs could do with the dual role of Lady Dedlock and Hortense, the French maid. Miss Coombs was not on the stage five minutes before curiosity had vanished from every face and gratification and admiration had taken its place.

This actress is fairly tall, faultless in figure, elegant in manner, graceful in motion and gesture and picturesque in repose—nothing, however, studied, she being thoroughly natural in everything she does or says. Her face is beautiful and full of expression and, as shown in "Bleak House," she is capable of delineating every feeling and emotion. Her voice is sweet and clear and she is fully master of it. Her methods are natural and no matter what thought she has to give expression to it is done with a skill and power which places her among the best actresses in the country. As Lady Dedlock the transitions of feeling incident to the character were marvelous for clearness and consequent effectiveness. Her smile is all sweetness and her portrayal of intensity and passion grand. As to the French maid, Hortense, she was another person and pictured all the deviltry and recklessness of the part with a completeness and skill that was remarkable. Miss Coombs is a great actress. The supporting company was excellent.—Wheeling (W. Va.) Intelligencer.

J. H. LaROCHELLE.

There is no one instrument, unless, indeed, it be a large pipe organ, capable of the variety of effects that are obtainable on the Aeolian. Unlike the pipe organ, however, the Aeolian is adapted to all classes of music; overtures and symphonies can be rendered on it with all the softness and delicacy of the flute and violin and cello and all the snap and brilliancy of the piano. See and hear them at Conklin's.
