TWENTY-SIX MINERS KILLED.

Fire in a Mexican Coal Mine Leaves Many Widows and Orphans.

WHOLE FAMILY CREMATED IN NEW YORK FLAT.

Owner Had Offered to Put Up More Fire Escapes but Tenants Had Objected to Them.

CROWDS WAIT THEIR CORPSES.

EAGLE PASS, Tex., June 4.—Full particulars of the Puente coal mine disaster, as nearly as can be learned, are as follows: The Mexican National railway, which recently came into the possession of the mines, is operating a narrow gauge road with a small engine which penetrates the main entry hauling in empty and bringing out loaded cars. This main entry is lined on the sides and at the top with crosscut lumber and three air shafts from it supply the mines with ventilation. The entrance of the track is on the north side of a range of hills through which it passes down an incline to the mouth of the tunnel on the banks of the Escondido river. Workings are all to the east of the main entry and some fifty men were employed taking out coal.

At 4 o'clock yesterday evening, shortly after the engine left, the mine was discovered to be on fire and smoke and flames were seen issuing out of the air shafts. About one-half of the miners were working near the main tunnel and these made their escape, leaving twenty-six of their number to perish from the heat and from the poisonous gases which spread to every portion of the mine.

When it was seen that all efforts were useless to rescue the imprisoned miners every energy was directed to saving the property from destruction. A hand pump was placed in position on the Escondido river, pipes were laid into the mine as far as any work could be done, hose attached and water poured upon the burning timbers. A portable engine was speedily obtained from Piedras Negras and in three hours the fire was under control.

There are twenty-six chambers in the mine and the dead miners are supposed to be well to the front of the mine. At 12 o'clock today, when the correspondent reached the scene, one body had been recovered from the seventh chamber and shortly afterwards another fearfully scorched and blackened was brought to the surface. The tenth chamber has been reached and men with ropes tied to their bodies to effect their rescue if overcome by heat and smoke are fighting their way to where the bodies of their dead comrades are lying.

Superintendent George M. Spence ventured in too far and was overcome by heat and smoke. He was prostrated but was rescued. It is believed that by tomorrow the mine will be cleared of the heat and smoke which at present it is impossible to cope with and that all the bodies will be recovered. All the miners employed were Mexicans and most of them leave destitute families.

It is reported that all parties responsible for the management of the mines have been placed under arrest pending an investigation of the causes of the disaster. But for the prompt action of the officials of the Mexican National and the heroic efforts of the mine workers the bodies would have been recovered. This is the first great disaster in the history of coal mining in Mexico.

Large numbers of the friends and relatives of the unfortunate miners are gathered at the mouth of the mine, waiting the recovery of the bodies of their sons and husbands. When a body is taken out there is no outburst of grief but a look of quiet resignation and deep sorrow appears upon every countenance. Hundreds of people from Eagle Pass and Piedras Negras have visited the scene today and smoke still issuing from the air shafts impresses on all the folk the hope of any of the imprisoned miners are yet alive.

WHOLE FAMILY CREMATED.

Fatal Fire in a New York Apartment House.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Lying in an undertaking establishment in East Twenty-eighth street are the five blackened and burned bodies of the persons who perished in the fire last night in the flat house 138 East Forty-Third street. With one exception the bodies are burned beyond recognition. The charred remains are: WILLIAM BENTE, twenty-five years old, a stenographer. LOUISE BENTE, twenty-five years old, his wife. ELSIE BENTE, twenty years old, a niece of Mrs. Bente. HENRY PUGSLEY, thirty-five years old, occupied a hall room in the Bente flat.

Four of these investigation showed were burned in their beds, having been overcome by the suffocating smoke before they were awakened to realize their danger. Mr. and Mrs. Bente were in their bed in the sleeping room next to the back parlor and little Elsie Bente and little Helen Dietz were in the room adjoining where they had slept together.

Henry Pugsley alone, of all the members of the household, had been aroused. He had opened his door evidently to make his way to the settle in the roof when he was overcome by the smoke and was stricken down in his tracks. He was found where he had fallen, on the threshold of his apartment. His body was only slightly burned.

It is generally believed that the fire was caused by hot ashes which had been sent down on the dumb waiter. The waiter was of wood, as was also the shaft. The fire evidently started somewhere between the third and fourth floors, the flames and smoke going with great rapidity to the floor where the Bentes lived.

Mrs. Charles H. Bjorkwatt was the first to discover the danger. Shortly before 12 o'clock she opened a window of the bath room which looked into the air shaft on the fourth floor and was almost overcome by the smoke which poured in. She screamed fiercely and aroused the other members of the family. Her two sons, 20 and 17 years old, went down the main stairway carrying their 15 year old sister. Mr. and Mrs. Bjorkwatt with Mrs. Boyston and her baby, who lived with them were helped down the rear fire escape. The third floor was unoccupied. Mary and Kate Riley who lived on the second floor and Mrs. Dugan and her children on the first floor escaped without much difficulty.

In the meantime an alarm had been sent out and when the firemen arrived they found the people panic-stricken and rushing from their homes in their night clothes from nearly all the buildings in the row. Streams of water had scarcely begun to play on the flames before there was the report of a loud explosion from the Bente flat, where most of the fire was. The gas which had accumulated in the kitchen from the gas stove exploded and completely enveloped the top of the building in flames. Until after the fire had been extinguished it was thought that no one had perished. Then the firemen searched through the place and found the dead bodies.

The loss by the fire is about $7,000. The building as well as the entire row of which it is a part is owned by Cooper, Hewitt & Co. Three weeks ago ex-Mayor Hewitt proposed to put fire escapes in front of the flat but the tenants objected, saying that those in the rear were sufficient. Ex-Mayor Hewitt was the scene of the fire today and together with the fire marshal was investigating the cause of the fire. They found nothing, however, to indicate that it was, as first thought, of incendiary origin.

DROWNED IN THE RIVER ROUGE.

Two Little Girls Swept Away by Its Swift Current.

DETROIT, June 4.—The saddest drowning accident that has been recorded in some time occurred about 1 o'clock this afternoon in the river Rouge at Dearborn, a few miles south of Detroit. The victims are Lottie Dingemans, the thirteen-year-old daughter of Peter Dingemans, the well-known sash and blind manufacturer, and Clara Wagner, his five-year-old granddaughter, whose father, Charles Wagner, is a prominent brickmaker at Dearborn. The latter tried to save both the girls after they were in the water but the current prevented him although he made a desperate effort and nearly lost his life. Mr. Wagner's residence is situated on the old Arsenal grounds and the river bank is about 100 feet to the rear of it. Just how the children managed to get into the water is not known but it is thought that Clara fell in accidentally and Lottie, while trying to rescue her, was also carried away by the swift current.

TOOK SEVERAL LIVES.

Fatal Wind Storm Sweeps Over Wharton County, Tex.

HOUSTON, June 4.—Spanish Camp, Wharton county, twenty miles from the railroad, was struck by a terrible cyclone Friday night. Numbers of houses were unroofed and destroyed in the village. Josh Wilkins' house was blown down and two of his children killed. Three miles from town Mrs. Simmons was killed and Wash Jenkins, a negro over a hundred years old, was caught beneath the ruins of his cabin and crushed to death. All the residences and outhouses on the Montgomery plantation were blown away and several persons hurt but none killed. On G. Duncan's farm the houses were unroofed and two families of colored tenants were badly injured, two fatally.

REVOLVERS AS ARGUMENTS.

One Man Killed and Two Hurt at Democratic Primary.

PINEVILLE, Ky., June 4.—A shooting affray occurred yesterday at a school house one mile from town, where a Democratic primary was being held, in which Joe Jones was instantly killed by Levi Hoskins. Hoskins was himself shot and slightly wounded by Jones. The difficulty came up over a trifling affair and grew out of the election of county committeemen. Judge Green, mayor of the town, had a difficulty with Bill Gordon. Matt Green, a son of the mayor, and also a police officer, took a hand and shot Gordon through the leg. The wound is not dangerous, however. There was considerable feeling over the election and after the last encounter there came near being a general fight. No less than twenty-five pistols were drawn in the crowd.

METHODIST PREACHER JAILED.

Shining Light of Church Charged With Numerous Forgeries.

BATESVILLE, Ark., June 4.—Rev. R. S. Deener, pastor of the Methodist church in this city, was arrested at Newport yesterday afternoon for forgery. The series of crimes of which he is alleged to be guilty is of a most startling nature. Deener was the most popular minister in the White River conference, of which he has been secretary for two years. He has also been grand prelate of the Arkansas grand lodge of Knights Templar for two years and president of the State Sunday School association. His best friends and prominent members of the church suffer by his criminality. His plan was to put up forged notes as collateral for loans and to give mortgages on land and cotton he did not own.

RAIN LESSENER THE CROWD.

Rained Nearly All Day but Sixty Thousand People Visited the Fair.

NEARLY ALL WORKINGMEN AND THEIR FAMILIES.

They Brought Lunches and Did Not Patronize Side Shows That Cost Anything Extra to See.

ART AND MACHINERY FAVORED.

CHICAGO, June 4.—What the attendance at the World's Fair might have been today had it not rained no one will ever know. But it rained and it rained hard nearly all afternoon and tonight the total number of paid admissions was less than 60,000. The second open Sunday of the fair dawned bright and clear and unaccountably warm. The railways, surface and elevated, and the steamboat lines brought out their entire service in anticipation of an immense business but they were disappointed.

Up to 1 o'clock in the afternoon they did a fair business and carried upwards of 35,000 people to the White City. About that hour an ugly, threatening black cloud arose in the west and in less than an hour later the rain was falling in torrents. To make matters worse the wind blew a perfect gale and it thundered and the lightning flashed in an uncomfortable manner. It was after 4 o'clock when the rain ceased and the sun came out again, but it was so late that the people did not come out in crowds and late this evening the bureau of admissions estimated the total paid attendance would be less than 60,000 people.

NEARLY ALL WORKINGMEN.

This much may be said of the visitors who attended the fair today: They were largely of the working class and inhabitants of Chicago. There were thousands of laboring men out with their families and nearly all of them brought their lunch with them and at noon the benches and seats scattered throughout the grounds reminded one of a basket picnic. An official connected with the bureau of admissions in speaking of the local character of the crowd said that out-of-town people had been coming to the fair all week and were tired out today and were taking a rest so as to be able to make a fresh start tomorrow. About the only people that came out today were those who could not attend during the week.

Another thing was noticeable. The pay shows on the Midway Plaisance were not well patronized and the rolling chairs were scarcely used at all. It was a crowd made up of the people who had to work for a living and could afford few of the luxuries. The money spenders were at home resting. Machinery Hall was crowded pretty much all day and so was the Fine Arts building and the Manufactures building. The gondoliers had little to do and the electric launches less. Nearly all the eastern state buildings were closed to the public while the majority of the buildings of the western and middle states were open. The open air concerts in the pavilion of Administration plaza were well patronized, especially towards noon when the people thronged thither and ate their lunch and listened to the music at the same time.

EASTERN PEOPLE ASLEEP.

According to the registers found in nearly every state building western people are coming to the World's Fair in much greater numbers than those living in older eastern commonwealths. The result of an investigation shows the following round numbers of people registered at the different state buildings: Montana, 3,000; Nebraska, 2,500; Minnesota, 2,600; Virginia, 2,400; Connecticut, 2,000; Maryland, 1,550; West Virginia, 1,300; Kansas, 1,000; Maine, 1,200; New Jersey, 1,200; Arkansas, 84; Arizona, 65; New Mexico, 50; Utah, 300; Idaho, 250; Delaware, 300; Rhode Island, 800; New Hampshire, 4,000; Vermont, 900; Massachusetts, 2,400; New York, 3,100; Missouri, 1,850; Louisiana, 1,175; Ohio, 3,000; Washington, 1,000; Wisconsin, 3,000; North Dakota, 400; Pennsylvania, 4,000; Michigan, 9,000.

CAPTAIN MYERS IN A CORNER.

Attempt to Smuggle Chinese Gets Him Into Difficulty.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 4.—United States District Judge Bellinger has served an order on Captain Myers of the steamship Danube, which brought 500 Chinese from Victoria, B. C., to this port, commanding him to bring into court next Monday a number of Chinese whose certificates had not been passed upon by the collector of the port. The captain has asked for a number of deputy marshals to assist in taking the Chinese from the vessel to the court room but the request was refused. If any of the Chinese escape enroute to the court room the captain is held liable to a heavy fine. He has through the British vice consul here appealed to the British ambassador at Washington for relief in the matter. Out of about four hundred of Danube's Chinese already examined nearly two hundred have been refused landing.

FELL DEAD AT A WEDDING.

Very Sudden and Remarkable End of Henry Vedder.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Henry Vedder of Jersey City while in attendance upon the marriage of his niece last night dropped to the floor dead. Mr. Vedder was in the Confederate navy during the civil war and was on board the Alabama in her encounter with the Kearsarge. He entertained the company with several war melodies and had just finished the song "The Blue and the Gray" when he fell back dead. The coroner viewed the body today and decided that the death had been caused by heart disease.

MARQUETTE, MICH., JUNE 5.

Entered as mailmatter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

GLADSTONE is getting to be quite metropolitan in some respects. A bank there, the Exchange, failed last week, the failure being an after result of the Plankinton bank's suspension at Milwaukee. This will drive the Escanaba papers wild with envy.

THE American Manufacturer prints a letter from Billy Doyle of the Gogebic Advocate, setting forth that a prime cause of the distress the mines of this region are experiencing is due to the excessive royalties and railway freight rates they are compelled to pay. The Manufacturer makes the article the text for an approving editorial, which is great honor for "Billy," whose opinions and editorial utterances do not, as a rule, carry much weight where he is known.

A SUPERIOR paper, The Daily Call, advocates having the land companies there and other large holders of real estate scale down the prices of lots that they hold for sale, particularly those intended as sites for dwellings. "The incubus that has been crushing this city with its intolerable weight," remarks The Call, "has been the prices on real estate." So there is something "crushing" Superior with an "intolerable weight," eh? We suspected as much but did not expect ever to find a Superior paper making the admission.

A WARM rain with a south wind yesterday made quite an impression on the snow drifts in and about Marquette. Traverse Bay Herald please mention. If that envious sheet will also make a note of it that Speaker Tatum is up here recuperating after the strain on him of his arduous work as presiding officer of the house last winter, and that he is having a delightful time. THE MINING JOURNAL will take it as a favor. We may persuade Mr. Tatum to stay up here long enough to give us the benefit of his excellent judgment in locating that upper peninsula insane asylum.

THE News-Record of Ironwood states that Mr. Chamberlain, the Gogebic representative in the legislature, is going to leave Bessemer and locate at Ironwood for the practice of his profession. This is what THE MINING JOURNAL advised him to do after the Bessemerites had put him up for mayor, apparently to show their ingratitude by defeating him, in the charter election of last spring, held while he was absent attending to the interests of his constituents at Lansing. His townsmen treated Chamberlain rather shabbily in that matter and it is not surprising that he has decided to take "pot luck" with them no more forever.

DETROIT's street railway people are now willing to meet the city "half way" for a compromise of its differences with the municipality, but Mayor Pingree says his fight with the corporation is "to a finish" and that he will not consent to any compromise which involves a surrender of a jot or tittle of the advantage that the city has gained through the decision of the court. The mayor of Detroit is a born fighter, but if he relies on the decision of Judge Taft THE MINING JOURNAL is apprehensive that he will find it a weak staff to lean on, for it is hardly an interpretation of the law that will stand the test of investigation in the supreme court. Now that he has a chance to nail down a substantial victory for the people of his city it might be well for him to take no chances. It is sometimes a very good policy not to crowd a disconcerted enemy too hard.

SLUGGISH MOVEMENT OF ORE.

It appears from what the Cleveland Iron Trade Review reports that ore is moving to lower lake ports in much lighter volume than during the early part of the season a year ago. We give this article on the subject from the issue of that paper for last week:

Iron ore purchases are being made on a scale in accordance with other operations in the iron market. Some furnaces who are not satisfied as to the probable course of the market in the next sixty days have been buying of late in moderate quantities, and non-Bessemer have had the preference in the transactions of the past fortnight. Purchases have been made on as low a basis as $1.50 per ton at the mine, but standard non-Bessemer that have been in best demand in other years are selling at from 50 to 75 cents below last year's early prices. There have been a few transactions in Mesaba ores, but tonnage is not sought by sellers of these ores earlier than July and the bulk of the Mesaba product will come down in the last three months of the season. The attitude of Gogebic producers is reflected in shipping reports. It may be fairly estimated that Ashland shipments in May were not in excess of 100,000 tons; last year they were 300,000 tons up to June 1. If the present rate of shipment is kept up through June, it is fair to presume that the record on July 1 will show less than half of the 1,500,000 tons shipped from all parts up to that date in 1892. In cases in which sales were made in the early part of the present season with a guarantee as to price, the contest of the selling firms for an equally high figure on later sales is likely to prolong the deadlock that now exists on certain standard Bessemer, and the outcome will turn on the question whether it is more profitable to limit production to sales already made at a fair figure or to cut the initial price and make the rebate on early sales. Furnacemen have indicated in the last half month that they were ready to pay the figure made in the largest Gogebic transaction so far recorded, and that their money was as good as that of any steel magnate. They have found it easier, however, to find producers of non-Bessemer who will meet their ideas than to make terms with the holders of standard Bessemer. Lake freights are not different from last week's quotations—a wild rate of 95c. from the head of the lake, 85c. Marquette and 65c. Escanaba.

THEY DID WELL.

The people of this peninsula have cause to be grateful to their representatives in the state legislature for the work done by them during the session just ended in furtherance of the interests of this portion of the state.

In the face of strong opposition, and with the influence of the governor rather against them, they succeeded in getting good appropriations for the mining school at Houghton and the branch state prison at Marquette, and also secured an appropriation for an asylum for the care and treatment of our insane to be located at some suitable point on this peninsula.

This was good work and only by united and strenuous effort on the part of our members in both branches of the legislature could it have been accomplished.

It was very essential for the progress of the mining school that the appropriation asked for it should be granted, but it was difficult to convince the members of the legislature from the lower peninsula counties of this, and that they were persuaded to deal fairly by that institution argues that our members worked wisely and energetically to secure it.

The appropriation made for the branch state prison was also much needed, but with both the outgoing and incoming governors recommending that the prison be changed into an asylum for the insane it was no small task to get the legislature to grant an additional $15,000 to further equip the institution for prison purposes. But it was done, thanks to the persistence and zeal of our entire delegation in the legislature, and we may now expect to hear no more about the advisability of turning the branch prison into something that it was not originally intended for.

But the best service rendered the peninsula was in getting the Wagner insane asylum bill through. There were a number of places in the lower part of the state that wanted the additional asylum which it was conceded would have to be provided, and these made common cause against the bill that proposed having it located on this peninsula. If they had prevailed and the asylum had gone to the lower part of the state it would be many years before we could secure an institution of the kind for the upper peninsula, and our insane would continue to be taken to lower peninsula asylums for treatment at a heavy cost to the counties of this peninsula for their transportation. Now we will have an asylum easy of access from all parts of the peninsula where our insane can be taken at a comparatively light expense, and where their friends can visit them occasionally without having to travel the best part of a thousand miles to do this.

This is a very great advantage, both for the welfare of the patients and in the matter of the cost of placing them in an institution where they can be properly attended to.

A GREAT FISH STORY.

HOW THE REPUTATION OF A TOWN WAS IRREPARABLY RUINED.

Mayville Had a Great Run of Bullheads Once and All the Inhabitants of the Place Never Tire of Telling About It, but Nobody Believes It.

I have received permission to tell the boss Yankee fish story, provided that I do so in a truthful and temperate manner. I do not know how to obey this injunction better than by giving it in the words of Dr. Clark of Mayville, Wis., from whom we first heard it.

"These events happened before the war," said he. "They are so singular and improbable that I always hesitate about telling the story. You will probably laugh at me and not believe me, yet every word of this is true. The winter of 1890 was very cold. At that time a vast lake covered the whole ground where Horicon marsh now is. This lake was full of fish, and when the ice had frozen deep over every portion of the lake these fish became distressed for air. The Rock river, as you know, is a lively stream here, and as you have noticed it has a stretch of swift water just below the great dam at Kekoskee. This dam existed at the time of the story. You have looked with your own eyes upon the very spot where these incidents occurred.

"The first arrival of the run of fish at the solid lake, crowded up the live channel of the Rock river, making for the hole which the swift water kept open in the ice below Kekoskee dam. Most of these fish were bullheads, and no run of salmon ever equaled this run of bullheads. It is six miles from the dam up to Kekoskee dam, and the ice on the river was two feet thick, yet the whole bed of the river, 40 yards wide, was for six miles so packed with bullheads that the heavy covering of tough ice in places rolled and tossed like the waves of the sea, so desperate was the struggle of the horny beast beneath it.

"The first arrival of the run of fish at the open hole was marked by a geyserlike eruption of bullheads 50 feet across and about 12 feet high. The pressure of the fish behind was simply enormous. The fish could not get back in the water and so slid out on the ice, covering it in every direction for hundreds of yards to a depth varying from six inches to two feet.

"The air was filled with a strange, low, murmuring sound which could be heard nearly a mile around. Old settlers say they never heard such a sound since. Dreading some unknown calamity, they hastened to the spot, and there, as you may suppose their dread was turned to joy.

"Before noon of that day every team of the whole neighborhood was at the dam hauling bullheads. The amount of bullheads taken from the spot I hesitate to state, for fear you will not believe it. They always laugh at us when we tell this story and think we have gone crazy. In Wisconsin the term 'Kekoskee man' is used to designate any man who has a wild idea in his head. No Kekoskee man has been believed on oath or admitted to a jury in Wisconsin since 1890. This unearned reputation has ruined the town. You see it as it is, silent, almost deserted, a few empty buildings standing as monuments to a town martyred to its own pride.

"If you will come with me about a mile out into the country, I will introduce you to the Widow Schneider, now an old lady. The Widow Schneider will tell you that on one morning she counted 900 wagonloads of bullheads on their way from the geyser below the dam. This was only one morning, and the run lasted for two weeks. Of course this number of wagons represented only a part of those who passed, and this was on only one road of several leading out into the country.

"The bullheads were shoveled into the wagons like potatoes, and a regular price was 25 cents a load—a nominal sum, to cover the shoveling only. One man who shoveled there bought him a farm in this vicinity with the money so earned.

"The bullheads were hauled out into the country and used largely for manure. There is no richer land in Wisconsin than this has been since 1890. All the farmers fed the bullheads to their hogs, and for two years after that you could get a decent piece of pork in this part of the state. It was all fishy. The hogs all took naturally to worms and liver after that, and some of them evinced rudimentary gills behind the ears. Oh, I don't blame you for doubting this.

"The run was a fever, for the road at this point of the river, but the wagons could not get into the water. After the first eruption of bullheads had subsided planks were laid across on the living pooton bridge of fish, and on these the teams crossed.

"Even after the run had subsided very much dogs and children were known to run across the open hole on the backs of the bullheads. Still later in the run, after the fish had thinned out a great deal, a man well known in this community, Julius Cornell, slipped from the ice and fell into the hole. He could not get into the water for the fish. You smile at this. I do not blame you. We are used to it. No one ever believes this story.

"After the bullheads thinned out so you could get a spear through them as they lay in a matted layer, it was discovered that there were layers of bass and pickerel lower down in the water.

HANGED HIM FROM A HACK.

Twenty-Five Resolute Men Storm the Jail and Lynch Sam Bush.

SWIFT VENGEANCE TAKEN BY ENRAGED FARMERS.

Black Fiend Placed on a Carriage Roof and Swung Up to an Electric Light Pole.

THOUSANDS WATCH THE DEED. DECATUR, Ill., June 4.—Twenty-five men walked into this city of 23,000 people yesterday morning and strung up a man on the principal street without meeting any opposition.

The details of the lynching were sensational from start to finish. Bush was in jail awaiting trial. A guard of twelve men had been put in the jail and an extra force of men were put on duty outside.

At 2 o'clock twenty-five men came on a rush up Wood street. They were without masks and moved in a solid body. They forced their way through the crowd and knocked on the door of the jail.

The men then went to work with sledge hammers and chisels on the outside door. It was of solid cast iron an inch thick. Twenty minutes elapsed before it was forced.

When the first door was opened it took twenty minutes to force the bars across the corridor, which opened to all the cells. A frightened negro inside pointed out Bush's cell.

They seized him and crowded him out the door. Someone gave him a hard kick in the stomach. When the first door was opened it took twenty minutes to force the bars across the corridor.

In front of the jail is a telegraph pole, toward which the lynchers made a drive, but finally went to one about six hundred yards away, one of the most prominent corners of the city and directly in front of the court house.

Finally the spectators began to get impatient. A man had climbed half way up the pole and stood in the glare of the light all the time. "Cut that short," he said.

Others took up the cry, "Hang him!" "He has prayed enough!" "Let him go!" was yelled.

The rope was passed to the man on the pole. He put it over a guide wire and the crowd pulled. The negro's body, now naked as the day it was born, swung up into sight four feet from the ground and fell back.

Two doctors walked up and held the pulse. They pronounced him dead in two minutes. The neck was not broken. The body was cut down by Coroner Bendure, the rope was cut up and divided among the crowd around.

Monday it is charged he went to the house of Mrs. E. B. Dill and committed an assault upon her. About 11 o'clock Tuesday morning Bush, it is alleged, went to the house of William Vest, eight miles from Decatur, in Mt. Zion township, and finding the woman alone assaulted her in the presence of her small children.

News of the crime spread over the township and the farmers dropped their work and turned out to hunt the negro, who, however, kept in the brush until he got about twenty-five miles away. Then he came out and was captured.

He admitted being at Vest's and having seized Mrs. Vest by the arm just to scare her. A neighbor identified him as having been near the Vest house. This was the first lynching that ever occurred in Macon county. The hundreds of citizens around the scene today took it coolly though they condemned the fiend.

FISHERMEN ARE KICKING.

British Columbia Is Getting Tired of the Chinese.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. June 4.—A monster meeting of the Fishermen's association was held here today to discuss the wholesale naturalization of Japanese and Chinese for the purpose of getting fishing licenses.

Several speeches were made and it was pointed out that white and Indian fishermen were gradually being crowded out by the Japanese and Chinese.

There are thirty-one canneries on the Fraser river and although the biggest pack on record is expected to be made this season not one white fisherman has been employed so far by the canneries.

The Japanese and Chinamen were taken in their places. The native Indians were also being supplanted by the Japanese. Resolutions were passed asking the Dominion government to refuse to grant licenses to Japanese and Chinese and to issue the same only to whites and Indians.

SEIZED THE BEER WAGON.

New Wrinkle in Prohibitory Liquor Law of Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, June 3.—Fritz Engle, driver of one of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing company's wagons, went over to Kansas City, Kansas, early this morning with a big load of beer.

While supplying the saloons the driver met Deputy Sheriff Cummings. The officer mounted the wagon and the team was driven to the county jail. Engle was placed behind the bars, the horses put into the sheriff's barn and the kegs of the beer rolled into the jail.

Deputy County Attorney Holt has discovered a new wrinkle in the Kansas prohibition law. He claims a beer wagon and its contents can be held and confiscated by order of the court the same as a stock of liquor and the fixtures of a saloon.

CANAL STRIKERS ARE UGLY.

Say They Will Drive Away All Men from Work.

JOLIET, Ill., June 4.—There was no disturbance along the drainage canal today but there is a strong possibility that there will be trouble tomorrow. The men have decided to meet on Stevens street in Joliet and when the full number of strikers is assembled they will march along the canal and through the various camps and wherever men are found at work they will be forced to quit.

CLUBBED BY HIGHBINDERS.

Agents of Six Companies Attacked and Nearly Killed.

SPOKANE, Wash., June 4.—Chinese highbinders attacked Frank Wong and Charley Lum, agents of Chinese Six companies, in an alley here last night and nearly killed them. Clubs and knives were used and both victims were badly wounded. Wong and Lum were suspected of giving information to the police which led to a raid on an opium den. The highbinders escaped.

Principles of Geary Decision May Be Applied to American Citizens.

LEON SPITCOER'S EXPULSION FROM AUSTRIA.

Austria Did Not Want Him and Said It Was Nobody's Business Why She Did Not.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The decision of the supreme court upon the Chinese exclusion act recently delivered may possibly have a much wider scope and affect a greater variety of persons than was probably foreseen by the justices who declared it to be the law of the land.

The volume of "Foreign Relations" for 1892 just published by the state department contains a case in point, where the arguments used by a foreign government to justify or explain its decree of expulsion of a citizen of the United States are in suggestive parallel with those outlined by Justice Gray in announcing the judgment of the supreme court of the United States on the 15th of last month.

Leon Spitcoer, born at Vienna, Austria, in January, 1867, emigrated to the United States in February, 1882, was naturalized in New York in January, 1889, and returned to Europe in November, 1889, and to Vienna in July, 1890. In an affidavit Mr. Spitcoer declared that his residence was in New York where he was a "manufacturer" and that he intended to return to the United States within two years with the purpose of residing and performing the duties of citizenship therein.

In March, 1892, Spitcoer was notified by the authorities of Vienna that he had been expelled from Austria under a law of 1871. He appealed to Minister Grant, who brought the case to the attention of Count Kalnoky, prime minister and minister for foreign affairs, protesting that this treatment of Spitcoer was in violation of the treaty of 1870 between Austria-Hungary and the United States guaranteeing certain rights and the protection thereof to the citizens of their respective countries.

Referring to Minister Grant's complaint on behalf of the Spitcoer Count Welsersheimb, for the minister of foreign affairs, said that Spitcoer's emigration to the United States was manifestly for the purpose of evading the military duty which the Austrian government exacts of its citizens; that the expulsion of such individuals is based upon considerations of public order; and that every state has a right to expel foreigners from its territory for reasons as above stated; and that the question whether and when reasons for such expulsion exist can be judged only by an internal point of view.

This sentiment accords with the views expressed by Mr. Justice Gray and the language is quite similar. Minister Grant notified Count Kalnoky that this government could not accept this interpretation of the treaty, a position in which he was supported by Secretary Foster, who in a dispatch dated July 23, 1892, said, after stating that the United States would entertain a proposition for a modification of the treaty in question, "but so long as the treaty remains in force the United States government will insist upon a strict compliance with its terms; and after a careful examination of the case in point it is reluctantly obliged to dissent from the views expressed by the Austrian-Hungarian government. As Spitcoer was expelled on the vague and indefinite grounds of the interests of public order, and as no valid and explicit reasons in support of the order are alleged, your action in making a formal protest is approved by the department."

This ended the correspondence so far made public and as Spitcoer's departure for the United States was intimated in one of Minister Grant's letters it probably closed the incident. In view, however, of the apparent inconsistency between the executive and judicial branches of the government as disclosed by this correspondence and the decision on the Geary law the attitude of the government upon the next case of alleged violation of treaty rights by a European government will be watched with interest.

CAUGHT ON THE TRESTLE.

Farmer Walters Badly Hurt and His Daughter Killed.

CHARLESTON, Ill., June 3.—George Walters, a wealthy farmer, and his daughter Nellie were run down on a trestle near here by a Clover Leaf train while on their way home. In their endeavor to save themselves both jumped into the creek below. In the fall the girl was killed and Mr. Walters was badly injured, his right leg being broken and his hip dislocated.

DIED OF HEART FAILURE.

Sudden End of a Veteran Western Newspaper Man.

PERU, Ind., June 4.—Thomas J. McDowell, one of the pioneer newspaper men of the west, a leading man of this city and identified with newspaper publications for nearly fifty years in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana, dropped dead at his home in this city yesterday of heart failure, aged 69 years. He also resided in this city in an official capacity for twenty years.

FURNITURE WORKERS SHUT OUT.

Seventy Cincinnati Factories Closed to Anticipate a Strike.

CINCINNATI, June 4.—A tremendous lockout of the furniture manufacturers began here yesterday. Seventy factories announced that they would close indefinitely. They combined and took this method of answering the demands of their union workmen that nine hours should be the working day with ten hours pay; that apprentices should be limited to a very small number; that the factories should not sell goods to persons employing non-union labor. These propositions were presented as in ultimatum to the manufacturers and they concluded to take time by the forelock and substitute a lock-

CURRENT NEWS CONDENSED.

The steamer Corsica, on laden from Escanaba to Ashabua, ran down in a fog an unknown schooner fifteen miles off Thunder Bay island, Lake Huron, at daybreak Friday. The schooner went down with all hands. The bows of the Corsica were badly stove. She headed for Alpena but the water gained so fast that she ran for the beach of Thunder Bay island. The tug Angler picked up a coat in which was a letter dated March 30, addressed "My Dear Brother" and signed "Joe Davy, Green Bay, Wis." The Corsica was first reported beached but a later telegram from Captain Williams says she is at anchor with a driver at work on her.

The management of the Plankinton bank of Milwaukee is being severely criticised in that city for lending over $200,000 to Lappen & Co. and about $300,000 to its president, Frederick T. Day, when its capital was only $200,000. The stockholders are liable for twice the amount of their stock, or $400,000, and it is considered certain that depositors will lose nothing. Assignee Plankinton, who held but a small interest in the bank, will endeavor to untangle its affairs as fast as possible. President Day seems to have been very much of an autocrat and to have run the bank entirely to suit his own notions.

District Attorney Burleigh of Pittsburgh has quashed the indictments against Chairman H. C. Fricke and other officials of the Carnegie works at the request of the private counsel retained for the prosecution by the Amalgamated association, the lawyer finding no just cause for charging the accused with murder or any other crime in connection with the Homestead troubles. The indictments against Robert and William Pinkerton and the employees of the Pinkerton agency were dismissed for the same reason.

Sixteen thousand pounds of dynamite in a magazine one and one-half miles from Farmington, on the Mesaba range, exploded Saturday, blowing in the front of every building in that village and leaving hardly a window whole. The loss in town is about $8,000. W. B. Mitchell, a druggist was knocked insensible and badly bruised and several others received slight injuries.

SOME BIRD FRIENDS.

APPARENT SOCIAL STATUS OF CROWS AND SPARROWS.

The Ubiquitous Little Marauder and the Sable Devourer of Carrion Seem to Thrive in the Same Localities—They Follow Man and Civilization.

The ubiquity of the sparrow is truly remarkable, and the wonder continually grows as to the pioneer instincts of this cheekiest of all birds. I think the sparrow even outdoes the Hindoostanee crow for his contempt of all mankind. In India the crow hangs about the house like some despicable friend whom you would like to get rid of, but fear the consequences of his dismissal. He hops jauntily from the babachi khanna (cookhouse) to the veranda, where the chota hazra, or little breakfast, is being served, and nimbly steals a toasting crust on the open brazier or makes a sudden swoop upon the table and successfully seizes and carries off a choice morsel.

He snatches from the hands of children their buttered bread and stalks away with head on one side to some secure place, there to devour his thievish gain. Indeed the Hindoostanee declare he is the very soul of this sleek black bird. Stone a crow or kill one, and no rest will come to that unfortunate house for days or weeks. From each tree top will come an avenging call, and when a multitude of throats give vent to multitudes of caws the din is terrifying.

There is some sort of comradeship between the sable bird and the sparker-sparrow. Both are found in the most unfrequented places. For many years the crow and the sparrow were the only birds of the desert, except some strange little fellow who was wing weary and had halted for a few brief moments on his way. It is also astonishing when one comes to realize it, the increase in bird population in the waste places of the globe, and I am compelled to the belief that birds have to leave their birthplaces and wander abroad just as we have to do. Some 30 years ago, when there was no Riverside and that locality was but a wild swept sheep range, there were no birds there, but with cultivation have come hundreds of songsters, whose cheery music can be heard among the pretty grounds of those artistic homes.

Arizona, as far as I can judge from my hasty visits, is birdless, but the works that are being inaugurated along the Gila and Colorado rivers will soon bring in an immigration. It is queer how these birds know where food is to be found, and it is queer still how they disseminate their knowledge. Here the birds are getting plentiful, when not five years ago a bird was indeed a rare avis, and what mischief these little sparrows and finches can do! Not content with destroying hundreds of dollars' worth of early fruit in spring they continue their destructive war till late in winter, and when the heads of the tender alfalfa are just springing through the soil peck, peck go the birds, and each succulent sprig is eaten.

They find plenty of amusement, do these little fellows. The seed of the sagebrush is steadily falling, and myriads of them devote their attention to that, alternating between the desert and the barns. It is pathetic when one comes to consider how soon man can establish friendly relations with these little monsters. All birds are possessed of considerable confidence, and no sooner do they know you are harmless than they take entire possession of you and your belongings. I had a box of barley on the porch, which was immediately confiscated. On my first venture on the stoop a cloud of dust and feathers rose from the box. On my second visit a few of the late arrivals fed. On my third visit the birds never left the grain, and subsequently they quarreled and fought and chattered as if I were some inanimate log, or at least their ward.

It is difficult, on the other hand, to conciliate a crow. The average desert crow is yet an uneducated bird and hovers about the house awaiting the dropping of some titbit. He prefers rather to hunt in the vineyard or the orchard and is as furious an enemy to the field mouse and the kangaroo rat as a cat. What pests, too, are these kangaroo rats, and the crow who will attack, kill and eat these wretched rodents deserves the full meed of praise. The kangaroo rat is rightly named. He is white with a long tail, and hops about like himesake of Australia. He burrows immense holes, and a truthful rancher once told me he had poured 75 inches of water into one of his burrows for 48 hours and yet the tunnel never showed signs of filling. "They must be at the bottom of the earth," he reflectively remarked, and concluding said, "The mischief of it is he always selects the finest land," which shows they are not wanting in good sense.

The quail now is more of a nuisance than ever, and all through the operation of the coyote law. The coyote is the desert farmer's friend. He eats the rabbits who gnaw the trees and he breakfasts sumptuously on quail, which destroy the early fruit. Mr. Gale of Idaho had his crop of grapes almost entirely destroyed by these voracious birds. They settled in great clouds upon his vineyard, and as the berries ripened they ate. The whir of their wings as they arose from the vines reminded one of some huge piece of machinery suddenly started.

The quail on the desert, of which there are three kinds—the desert, the mountain and the valley—are by no means shy and have so little been disturbed by hunters that they fall an easy prey, but it is almost impossible to bag them unless with a dog. They are the nimblest of runners and are never so unwise as to rise to a shot, but will scurry in the thick underbrush and hide there so cunningly that one may almost tread on them before they will move. Great is their vitality, and they will carry off more shot in their heads and live than would an Ethiopian from Dahomey. However severely they may be wounded, they make a bitter fight against capture, and their instinct is to get to cover.—John H. Gilmore in San Francisco Chronicle.

A New Certain Cure for Piles.

We do not intend to forego any except articles of genuine merit; we therefore take pleasure in recommending to sufferers from Piles in any form, a prompt and permanent cure. The following letters speak for themselves:

Mrs. Mary C. Tyler, of Heppner, O., writes: One pkg. of Pyramid Pile Cure entirely cured me of piles from which I have suffered for years, and I have never had the slightest return of them since. Mr. E. O'Brien, Rock Bluffs, Neb., says: The pkg. of Pyramid Pile Cure entirely removed every trace of itching piles. I cannot thank you enough for it. The Pyramid Pile Cure is a new, certain, painless cure for every form of piles. It is safe, sure and cheap. Any druggist will get it for you if you ask him.

"The Pace That Kills" is overwork—makes no difference what kind. Using greasy and inferior soaps is one road to premature decay—sore hands—sore hearts—clothes never clean. Not so when is used. Cheerfully proceeds the labor of wash-day with health and long life assured. Hands all right—heart's light—clothes pure and white as a Greenland snowdrift. JAS. S. KIRK & CO., Chicago.

Dusky Diamond Tar Soap, Makes the Skin Soft and Smooth.

Driving the Brain at the expense of the Body. While we drive the brain we must build up the body. Exercise, pure air—foods that make healthy flesh—refreshing sleep—such are methods. When loss of flesh, strength and nerve become apparent your physician will doubtless tell you that the quickest builder of all three is Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, which not only creates flesh of and in itself, but stimulates the appetite for other foods. Prepared by Scott & Bowne, N. Y. All druggists.

RATHER A FISHY STORY.

Ishpeming Creditors Are Regaled With an Improbable Statement by Neilson.

HE CLAIMS TO BE ABLE TO SETTLE ALL CLAIMS.

But Still Hangs Out in Minneapolis and Wants a Man in Ishpeming to Fix Things Up for Him.

NEILSEN WANTS TO SETTLE.

Olav Neilson, the absconding insurance agent, wired an Ishpeming gentleman Saturday afternoon from Minneapolis asking if he would "straighten out his affairs for him," asserting that his "assets are $2,500 and his liabilities but $600." What Neilson's motive was in skipping out under these circumstances is hard to understand. If his assets are what he claims it would be an easy matter for him to send his creditors drafts covering their claims and thus establish his honesty of intention.

He has also written one or two letters to persons here giving as his reason for leaving "that he represented a company which failed recently, and that the policy holders were jumping on him." It is true that Neilson had a very unpleasant time of it the last week or two of his sojourn here on account of the failure of the company, but that did not justify him in leaving as he did. If he is desirous of settling his affairs here he had better come over from Minneapolis and adjust them personally. An Ishpeming business man who has been carrying an insurance policy in one of Neilson's companies for about a year told the reporter Saturday that he had just learned that his name was never on the books of the company in which he had supposed he was insured. There are a number of others here who no doubt have been gulled the same way.

Hand Car Excursion.

Four hand cars, laden down with numerous good things to eat and drink, chartered by a number of local nimrods left here yesterday morning at 4 o'clock for North Lake. The committee on angle worms, which was charged with having all arrangements made for a start at the appointed hour, found it no small task to arouse those who were booked to go in time to catch the excursion train. Some of them were out as early as 2 o'clock oiling up the gearings of the hand cars so that they would run up the St. Lawrence grade without much difficulty. In waking up some of the members of the party the committee aroused the neighborhood for several blocks around. The day was spent enjoyably at North Lake but very few fish were caught. The excursionists got home after dark and disbanded at the Barnum siding.

Union Park Officers.

At the stockholders' meeting of the Union Park association, held at John Jones' office Friday evening, a board of directors was elected as follows: Messrs. G. W. Hayden, F. Braastad, R. Hoch, John Jones, Jr., J. T. Burke, W. C. Uren, F. J. Eggan, E. C. Anthony and G. A. Newitt. The directors met Saturday evening and elected the following officers: President, F. Braastad; secretary, W. C. Uren; treasurer, F. J. Eggan. In view of the fact that several parties are desirous of leasing the park, a committee of three, Messrs. J. T. Burke, J. Jones, Jr., and W. C. Uren, was appointed to consider propositions and report on the same at another meeting to be held next Saturday evening.

Died After a Short Illness.

Gust Ollinen, a Finlander who lived at the boarding house near the Cleveland mine known as the "old school house," was taken ill Thursday while at work in the mine and was removed to his boarding house, where he died Friday evening. He was a married man and leaves a wife and two children in Finland. He had been in this country about two years. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock under the direction of the Finnish National Union, of which society the deceased was a member. The City band led the funeral procession. Funeral services were conducted at the Finnish church by Rev. Tolonen, the pastor.

The Clerks' Appeal.

The Clerks' association has made an appeal to the people of Ishpeming to assist in bringing to time one or two of the business men who do not close their stores promptly at 8 o'clock. The clerks ask the people to patronize only those who have stuck to their agreement. They appeal to the ladies to do their buying before the closing hour so that there will be no reasonable excuse for the dealers to keep open.

A majority of the merchants are as anxious to have the 8 o'clock closing agreement stand as are the clerks, but they dislike being put at a disadvantage by less scrupulous competitors.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

The Ishpeming Temperance band was out serenading Saturday evening.

City Treasurer Peterson of Ironwood has been in Ishpeming the past few days.

Charles L. Sodergren arrived home Saturday from a two weeks' visit to the World's Fair.

The Misses B. Connors and F. Brandt will leave for Chicago this week to visit the World's Fair.

Wm. McNabb, the painter, came down from the Mesaba range Saturday. He reports business good in his line.

Miss Jennie Scholier of Ironwood, who has been visiting friends here for several weeks past, left for home Friday.

Charles Larson of 306 Euclid street, advises his residence property, which is very desirable, for sale in this issue. Mr. Larson intends leaving Ishpeming for a farming district.

Have you seen L. W. Atkins & Co.'s new advertisement in this issue. Note a few of the high grade goods they handle.

The newly elected officers of Sir Humphrey Davy lodge, Sons of St. George, were installed last Thursday evening.

A loan meeting of the Ishpeming Building and Loan association will be held at the Peninsula bank tomorrow evening.

A sidewalk is badly needed on Fourth street between Cleveland avenue and Division street. So say residents in that neighborhood.

On the evening of the Fourth of July the firemen will give a display of fireworks from the picnic grounds in the Lake Superior grove.

A tan-colored pocket book containing a meal ticket and other articles has been lost. The owner can be found at the telephone office.

James Alexander and family have taken up their residence on their farm at West Ishpeming. Three other families are living in that locality.

A class of fifty-six was confirmed at St. John's church yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The confirmants presented a very fine appearance as they marched, together with the members of the sodality, from the convent school to the church.

Andrew Anderson, who was awarded the contract for constructing sewers in district No. 1, expects to get a small force of men at work on the contract the latter part of this week. The start will be made on Ridge and Bank streets, east, where the ground is high.

Fred Karinen, editor of the Finnish paper printed here, will remove from Ishpeming to Minneapolis the latter part of this week to begin publishing an eight-column quarto there. Mr. Karinen has a good opening at Minneapolis. He expects to retain all his subscribers at this place. He prints a good paper and should do well at Minneapolis.

Stealing the Declaration of Independence.

When James Monroe was president and John Quincy Adams secretary of state, an ingenious English engraver obtained permission of the two dignitaries mentioned to take the Declaration of Independence and engrave it in facsimile on copper. He carried the precious document to the printing office of one Peter Force. When everything was in readiness, he placed it upon the imposing stone and laid a sheet of india paper of the same size upon it. This india paper was next moistened with water in which gum arabic had been dissolved. A heavy proofer roller with a weight hanging from each end was then rolled several times over the historic document. When the india paper was removed from the face of the instrument, it took with it almost one-half of the ink used in writing and signing the document.

The document is less than a century and a quarter years old, and with proper care should be almost as legible as it was on the 5th day of July, 1776. As it is, only 11 signatures out of the 53 can be read without a glass, and some of them have disappeared beyond recall, all on account of the thieving trick of a government which, when they found that they could not keep the colonies dependent, stole the very ink from the document which declares our independence.—St. Louis Republic.

The Wife of Robert Louis Stevenson.

Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson is a portly, gray haired woman, who was a grandmother—and looked it—when she married this second husband. Her son Lloyd, who collaborated with Stevenson in the ghastly tales, "The Wrong Box" and "The Wrecker," was a middle aged man before he began to write. Her only other child is the wife of Joseph Strong, the artist, and is herself a painter in a small way. Stevenson has been accused of thrusting his sisters, his cousins and his aunts into fiction. Certainly, although Fanny Stevenson has produced some creditable work as Mrs. Osborne, she had no reputation for brilliancy in a very clever San Francisco set. There she was introduced solely in the capacity of chaperon, to sit, smiling, in her black silk gown, while her gay little daughter sang French songs or chatted with the bright Bohemian club men.—New York Times.

How Tennyson Decided a Matter.

Here is Tennyson's own account to Mr. James Knowles, editor of The Nineteenth Century, of how he was offered and accepted the laureateship: "The night before I was asked to take the laureateship, which was offered to me through Prince Albert's liking for my 'In Memoriam,' I dreamed he came to me and kissed me on the cheek. I said in my dream, 'Very kind, but very German.' In the morning the letter about the laureateship was brought to me and laid upon my bed. I thought about it through the day, but could not make up my mind whether to take it or refuse it, and at the last I wrote two letters, one accepting and one declining, and threw them on the table and settled to decide which I would send after my dinner and bottle of port."

EVELETH.

The new townsite of the Mesaba range; Surrounded by Nine Huge Iron Mines, to wit: Adams, Little Duke, Parkersburg, Leonidas, Cheeseboro, Billings, Nelson, Fowler and Detroit, some of which have already been proved giants in extent and quality of ore. In the centre of the pine belt, a large saw mill is already an assured accessory to the natural backing of the town, and its progress is bound to be measured by monstrous strides. Ely Lake, the coming summer resort of the Mesaba county, is situated close by; it abounds with fish and bids fair to attract the attention of the pleasure seeker, thus adding to the natural advantages of EVELETH and assisting materially in its development. Two railroads, the Duluth, Missabe & Northern and Duluth & Iron Range, will build to EVELETH at once and by the close of the present year it will be a city of hundreds of happy homes and thousands of busy, industrious citizens. To those who are seeking a safe investment we recommend to their consideration this young aspirant for commercial honor.

LAKE SUPERIOR ACADEMY.

Marquette Firm of Architects Reasonably Certain of Capturing the Big Plum.

TWO CONVICTS MAKE THEIR ESCAPE OVER THE PRISON WALL.

Sons of Veterans Growing—Cheverton, Martin & Co., Chicago, Make an Assignment—"Merry Cobbler."

THE MARQUETTE MEN "IN IT."

Canon Karl E. G. Oppen left the city Saturday for a brief rest at home after months of travel and unremitting labor in behalf of the proposed Lake Superior academy at Houghton, an institution to complement the Mining school as before described in these columns. There is now every probability that plans will be accepted in a few days and that work will be commenced upon the building as soon as the contract can be properly advertised and let.

Seven plans were submitted by architects east and west and yet out of all the competition a Marquette firm holds its own and is reasonably sure of the prize, all the plans having been thrown aside except two, those submitted by Lovejoy & Demar of this city and those entered by one of the leading architects of Milwaukee. The latter has designed a most beautiful and stately Gothic pile, a structure which would be a proud ornament to the upper peninsula as far as exterior show is concerned but could not be much more than fairly started for the sum named by the directors as the cost of the building.

On the other hand Lovejoy & Demar's plans while providing for a very attractive exterior also show an admirable interior arrangement, greatly exceeding the Milwaukee plans in the latter respect. Further than that they provide for a building which can be erected anywhere in the upper peninsula for an amount within the limit named. It is therefore easy to see why it is generally regarded as a settled fact that the directors will accept the plans of the Marquette architects.

If built in accordance with the designs of Lovejoy & Demar the Lake Superior academy will be a very imposing and beautiful structure of rock-faced Lake Superior sandstone and pressed brick four stories high and 96 by 133 feet in extreme dimensions. The front elevation shows rock-faced sandstone up to the second floor, the basement being well out of the ground. Above the second floor pressed brick with rock-faced stone trimmings are called for, while the roof, especially designed for this country of heavy snows, will be of slate. The entrance planned is a beautiful double arch of heavy rock-faced stone and a large Gothic window in the gable which is the distinguishing feature of the center front, is also very beautiful, while still another attractive feature is a handsome recessed balcony at the northeast corner with heavy stone railings.

The basement will contain the gymnasium and Turkish baths besides the features usually found in basements, the gymnasium being 21 by 70. The first floor will contain the handsome public rooms of the institution, a noble hall, the library, business college, three large class rooms, music and art room and the dining room (so arranged as to be thrown together with a stage provided at the other end for entertainments, etc.) while a rear wing will contain the kitchen. On the second floor will be the chapel, the director's family rooms, the matron's suite and the sick ward besides a number of students' rooms. The chapel will be 35 by 25 and will be two stories in height. The third and fourth floors will be devoted to students' rooms, a feature of the fourth story being the grand recessed balcony at the northwest corner of the building from which the architects planned to give a magnificent view of Portage Lake and the towns of Houghton and Hancock.

The building will have all the latest improvements, including passenger elevator, and will be a decided addition to the list of public buildings on the upper peninsula, there being many features of excellence in the plans which THE MINING JOURNAL cannot mention in an article of moderate length.

Officers Installed.

Marquette camp, No. 168, Sons of Veterans, installed officers Saturday evening, the following being the new list: Captain, E. E. Homeier; first lieutenant, M. F. Blair; second lieutenant, F. A. Wentworth; camp council, Captain J. W. Gogarr, C. F. Schoch, W. H. Marshall.

Captain Homeier then announced the following staff appointments: Chaplain, W. H. Marshall; first sergeant, P. E. Paquin; quartermaster sergeant, E. J. Mahan; color sergeant, James Dooley; sergeant of the guard, George Homeier, Jr.; corporal of the guard, John Gray; camp guard, Sam Ewen; picket guard, Almet White.

Marquette camp is experiencing a great boom, thirteen men having been mustered in since Memorial Day, giving the camp a strength of about thirty. Any son of a soldier or sailor of the late war, if he is eighteen years of age, is entitled to membership in the Sons of Veterans and should apply to Captain Homeier for the necessary pointers about joining.

Two Prisoners Escape.

Two prisoners escaped from Marquette prison yesterday afternoon by one of the nerviest breaks ever made there. As it was Sunday and the men were not out working there were no armed guards on the walls and these two prisoners, Jerry Laughlin, one of the oldest men in the prison, his number being 54, and Knebone, No. 346, made a dash for the wall and scaled it, gaining the shelter of the thick second-growth near the prison before the guard who witnessed the escape could get his hands on a rifle. Laughlin was among the first prisoners received at the prison, having been sent up from Houghton for seven years for larceny. He had served four years of his time. Knebone was in for two and a half years, also for larceny, and was sent up from Escanaba.

Warden Van Evera has issued the following descriptions of the escaped convicts, offering $50 reward for the apprehension and detention of each man:

NO. 346, KNEBONE. Twenty years old; English-American; light complexion; smooth, boyish face; light auburn hair; hazel eyes; 5 feet, 6 1/2 inches high; weight, 150 pounds; slight build and sharp features.

NO. 54, JERRY LAUGHLIN. Irish-American; twenty-four years old; dark muddy complexion; dark brown hair; low forehead; brown eyes; thick, flat nose; chin narrow and pointed; ears set close to head; weight, about 160 pounds; 5 feet, 7 inches high; second finger of left hand off at first joint; first finger of left hand crooked.

A Private Bank Failure.

Saturday's dispatches announced the failure of the banking firm of Cheverton, Martin & Co., Chicago. The active members of the firm were Rev. E. G. Cheverton, formerly pastor of the Baptist church here, and W. L. Martin, son-in-law of W. L. Wetmore of this city and formerly cashier of the First National bank of Marquette. After leaving Marquette Mr. Cheverton retired from the ministry. He was married in Chicago to Miss Lida Campbell, daughter of the late Ambrose Campbell of this city, and it is not known how far the Campbell estate is involved by the failure. The following dispatch gives the statement of Mr. Martin:

Cheverton, Martin & Co., private bankers, made a voluntary assignment today. Assets were scheduled at $100,000 and liabilities at $70,000. According to M. L. Martin, the junior member of the firm, the failure is due to the unsettled condition of the money market. "We have had a constant demand on the part of our depositors for the last month," said Mr. Martin, "and we were unable to withstand it. Our currency simply gave out and forced us to suspend."

"The Merry Cobbler."

John R. Franz Cumpson appears in Marquette tonight for the first time in his amusing German dialect comedy, "The Merry Cobbler," with songs, something after the style of "Fritz" Emmett. Mr. Cumpson is a very fine singer and his cobbler song especially has made a great hit. In the cast are three children who add greatly to the "go" of the piece by their acting and dancing, making the attraction interesting for children as well as adults. The Chicago Times said of the company in January: "The Merry Cobbler," a new German dialect comedy with songs somewhat after the Emmett pattern, is being done this week at the Criterion by John R. Franz Cumpson, an exceedingly clever dialect comedian, and a capable company. It is the pleasanter because in the nature of a surprise, and presents a thoroughly enjoyable evening's entertainment. Two little girls are especially clever and charming. Indeed the whole affair, though entirely on well known dialect comedy lines, is very bright and interesting."

The New D. & C. Boats.

The new City of Alpena, which is being built for the Detroit & Cleveland Steam Navigation company, will make her first trip on June 28. She will carry a load of Pittsburg Knights-Templar to Mackinac from Detroit on their way to the World's Fair on that date. The party has engaged through transportation with the Detroit & Cleveland company from Cleveland to Chicago. A day will be spent in Detroit by the party and a program of carriage drives and other pleasant features has been arranged for its entertainment by the local knights. The party will stop at Mackinac two days.

The new City of Mackinac will make her first trip about thirty days later. Each boat has twelve more staterooms than the City of Cleveland.

Dr. C. H. Morse, who has had charge for the past two years of the office and practice of Dr. Speer & Co. in this peninsula and who has met with such signal success, has severed his connection with Dr. Speer & Co. and has gone into the general practice of medicine in the city. His old patients and new ones will find him at the offices in THE MINING JOURNAL building formerly occupied by Dr. Speer & Co.

MALARIA.

Malaria was formerly considered as a miasm, limited to the exhalations engendered in low-lying lands. But modern researches have shown that while the miasm is more intense in such localities, yet it is by no means confined to them, and that as a fact but very few and narrow sections of country are entirely free from malarial cities, villages, towns and country all have it in a greater or slighter degree. Humphrey's specific No. 16 cures fever and ague, dumb ague, malarial, intermitting fever, malarial fevers, effects of malaria, old suppressed agues, ague cake, enlarged liver or spleen, or other effects of badly treated agues, and of the quinine, chalone, arsenic or other drugs taken to cure it. Specific No. 16 is the best remedy and cure for these old drugged and mismanaged cases, and the best protective and cure for malaria in whatever form. Hundreds of families living in malarious regions say that they are exempt from malaria and ague if they habitually use specific No. 16. For sale by all druggists. Manual free.

"ROYAL RUBY" PORT WINE.

If you are reduced in vitality or strength by illness or any other cause, we recommend the use of this grand old Port wine, the very blood of the grape. A grand tonic for mothers nursing and those reduced by wasting disease. It creates strength; improves the appetite. Nature's own remedy, much preferable to drugs, guaranteed absolutely pure and of age. Young wine ordinarily sold is not fit to use. Insist on having this standard brand, it costs no more. $1 in quart bottles of the Royal Wine Co., Chicago. For sale by H. H. Stafford, Son & Co., Marquette, and J. N. Perkins & Co., Negamie.

Success speaks volumes. Geo. Moebis & Co.'s cigars are the best sellers. [5-23-93]

WINZE HOISTS

There is no one instrument, unless, indeed, it be a large pipe organ, capable of the variety of effects that are obtainable on the Aeolian. Unlike the pipe organ, however, the Aeolian is adapted to all classes of music; overtures and symphonies can be rendered on it with all the softness and delicacy of the flute and violin and cello and all the snap and brilliancy of the piano. See and hear them at Conklin's.
