WILL BE CLOSELY WATCHED.

Wilson Tariff Bill Will Cause the House to Be the Center of Attraction.

THE BILL WILL BE INTRODUCED THIS WEEK.

Ways and Means Committee Will Probably Recommend a Tax on All Incomes of $5,000 and Over.

CONGRESS WILL CONVENE TODAY.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Interest in the regular session of congress which convenes at high noon tomorrow will center at the house wing of the capitol, where the new tariff bill is on the way. An enormous pressure of legislation of all kinds, public and private, beneficial and otherwise, will exist from the first, but as soon as the decks can be cleared the tariff bill will have the right of way. The extraordinary session showed the purpose not only of eliminating the silver question but advancing the tariff problem four months on the road of solution.

The Wilson bill will be introduced in the house the latter part of the week, probably Thursday. On that day the ten days allowed by the rule under which the tariff bill was filed during the recess will expire. If the Republicans attempt to prevent the reporting of the bill this week on the ground that the ten days allowed them should not be deemed to have been until the Democrats of the committee furnish the estimates of the revenue to be derived from the bill, these estimates as yet not having been completed, the claim can and probably will be set up in opposition that the order under which the Republicans were allowed the few days in which to make their report was a recess order and its terms not having been complied with the order falls at the opening of the regular session and the statu quo is restored.

The estimates of the revenue to be derived from the tariff bill are completed and will be submitted tomorrow. They show that the deficit in the revenues, on the basis of a governmental expenditure of $55,000,000 a year, will be raised to $65,000,000, which must be raised from increased internal revenue taxes or an income tax. It is not probable that the tax on whisky will be increased more than ten cents per gallon, which will increase the revenue from this source $10,000,000. Although it was at one time last week practically decided in an informal way to impose a tax on the incomes of corporations and legacies there has been a change of sentiment and it is almost certain that a straight tax on individual incomes over $5,000 will be recommended.

Even if the Wilson bill is reported this week it is not expected that the debate can begin until next week. The proceedings in the house this week cannot be accurately forecasted. It is expected that the death of Representative O'Neill of Pennsylvania, "Father of the House," will be announced after the convening of congress and that an adjournment of both houses will follow out of respect to his memory. It may be, however, that the announcement will be withheld until after the reception and reading of the president's message. If not, the message will be read on Tuesday.

The bankruptcy bill has the right of way as soon as the preliminaries are over. By the terms of the order adopted Oct. 19 this measure must be considered after the morning hour each legislative day until disposed of. General debate on this measure lasted two weeks and Representative Oates will ask that the debate be continued under the five minute rule. The bill was fought with vigor and persistence during the extra session and there is no reason to doubt that the fight will continue. The general belief is that it will hold the right of way until the tariff bill or something else of more urgent importance appears to antagonize it.

It may be that the Hawaiian affair will out some figure in the proceedings to during the week. A resolution calling for the papers in the case is almost sure to be introduced, and it might come up in still another way if the news from Hawaii, which is expected via Auckland on the seventeenth, should be of a sensational nature.

FINISHING THE MESSAGE.

President Cleveland's Document Ready to Go to Congress.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Every possible care is being taken to preserve the secrecy of the president's message. President Cleveland and his private secretary, Mr. Thurber, have been closeted today looking over the proof sheets. The copies which are designed for transmission to congress have already been written. One of those who have handled the message is authority for an estimate as to its length. While he had not estimated it in words he expressed the opinion that it would fill a page and one or two columns over in a newspaper. This would make the total probably over 15,000 words.

WORK FOR THE SENATE.

Federal Elections Bill Will Claim Attention of Senators.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The bill for the repeal of the general elections law is expected to receive the attention of the senate at an early day during the session which will begin tomorrow, but whether the subject will be taken up on the bill now on the calendar, which was introduced by Senator Hill early in the extra session and reported by the judiciary committee, or whether the senate will elect to wait until the committee can consider and report upon the bill which passed the house cannot be stated. The only material difference between the two bills is found in the fact that the Hill bill deals exclusively with the portions of the election laws relating to the franchise, all of which is repealed, while the house bill seeks to accomplish the same purpose and also repeals the portion of these laws relating to crimes in connection with the national elections and is therefore more sweeping. It is not now believed that the subject will give rise to prolonged debate but that Republican senators will content themselves with the putting on record their protests.

CANDIDATES NOMINATED.

Both Parties Put Up Candidates for Mayor Harrison's Shoes.

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—The nomination for mayor of George B. Swift of the Republican convention today was attended by a tragic incident in the sudden death of the well-known banker, Charles Kozminski. Mr. Kozminski had seconded the nomination of Mr. Swift and retired to a committee room to serve on the committee on resolutions when he suddenly sank to the floor, expiring immediately. When the excitement caused by the banker's death had subsided the convention proceeded to the nomination of a candidate for the office made vacant by the murder of Mayor Harrison. Mr. Swift's was the only name placed in nomination and the present acting mayor was speedily chosen by acclamation.

The Democratic mayorality convention, also held today, promised a pretty little war, with John P. Hopkins and Frank Wenter as combatants. Ex-Senator Frank Lawler, who had for a time posed as a candidate, threw his influence to Wenter, but Hopkins showed unexpected strength and was nominated on the first ballot. A picturesque picture in the convention during the general harmonizing after the nomination was Mr. Lawler shaking hands with Washington Hering who a few days ago was appointed over Lawler's head as postmaster at Chicago.

MEXICAN OFFICERS WOUNDED.

Appearances Indicate Another Battle With the Insurgents.

EL PASO, Dec. 3.—Persons who arrived from Chihuahua this morning confirm reports of revolutionists of a severe battle between the federal troops and the insurgents. They have indisputable proof that last Thursday morning a number of officers were brought in from the west to the army hospital. It was reported that they were ill with dysentery but it is positively known that they had been shot in a battle. Where it was fought is not known. Neither can it be learned how many officers were brought in. The reports of the continued movement of federal troops to the west and northwest from Chihuahua have also been confirmed. Governor Ahumada declared again today that The Times newspaper shall not be circulated on the Mexican side of the river, but the threat has not yet been made good.

NEW ITALIAN CABINET.

Formation of New Ministry Is About Completed at Rome.

ROME, Dec. 3.—The following ministry was reported this morning to have been formed and the report has been confirmed by the afternoon papers: Signor Zanardelli, premier and minister of interior; General Baratieri, minister of foreign affairs; Signor Fortis, minister of public works; General San Marzani, minister of war; Admiral Raabich, minister of marine; Signor Coceruti, minister of husbandry; Baron Rischi, minister of posts and telegraphs; Dr. Vaccelli, minister of the treasury; Signor Gallo, minister of education. Signor Bosselli was offered the portfolio of minister of finance, but has not yet decided. He is expected to give his decision tomorrow. The portfolio of minister of justice has not yet been bestowed.

PREPARING FOR TROUBLE.

Lehigh Railroad Getting Many Special Policemen Appointed.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Dec. 3.—Recorder Stevens and his clerks were busy all day recording commissions and certificates of twenty-five newly appointed special policemen for the Lehigh Valley railroad. The commissions arrived late last night at President Wilbur's office from Harrisburg by special messenger. Recorder Bruce of Northampton swore in twenty-two more new policemen last night. The destination of the policemen is unknown but it is believed to be Wilkesbarre in connection with the Lehigh Valley strike. More appointments are expected.

ASHORE AT MICHIGAN CITY.

Propeller F. W. White Runs Aground with a Load of Coal.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Dec. 3.—The propeller F. W. White, bound from Buffalo, N. Y., for Chicago, went ashore here at 3.30 o'clock with 2,100 tons of coal aboard. She is damaged and if the storm continues may go to pieces. The steamer is owned by E. Whitney, Jr., of Detroit and is valued at $120,000 with no insurance. The crew of sixteen men were rescued by the Michigan City life savers amid a blinding snow storm and a furious sea.

FOUND THEIR FREEDOM.

Thirteen Prisoners Make Their Escape from a Jail.

CAMDEN, Ark., Dec. 3.—Thirteen prisoners escaped from jail at this place early this morning. Among them was Will Phillips, sentenced to be hanged Jan. 4, 1894; Henry Howard, convicted of murder but not yet sentenced; two men by the name of Bishop, indicted for horse stealing; three men from Columbia county, brought to this jail for safe keeping. Those that did not leave town were J. K. Norman and Will Kramer, indicted for murder. On their trial the jury could not agree. They deny any intention of leaving.

COUGHLIN WAS THE LEADER

Startling Testimony to Be Given by New Witness in the Coughlin Case.

ANOTHER VERSION OF THE CRIME GIVEN BY A WOMAN.

Will Testify That Coughlin Was the Ringleader Although Not Present When Cronin Was Murdered.

WAS BRAINED WITH A CHISEL.

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—The Post prints in detail the testimony which it is claimed will be given by Mrs. Andrew Foy, who will be the first witness presented by the state in the Coughlin trial. The facts, Mrs. Foy avers, were told her by her husband at the time when remorse for his part in the crime would overcome him. These parts of the evidence, while not admissible as against Foy, are competent against any of the other men mentioned in her story. According to The Post the substance of Mrs. Foy's evidence will be as follows: Dr. Cronin was killed in the Carlson cottage by repeated blows on the head with a heavy carpenter's chisel in the hands of Patrick Cooney, while Martin Burke held the struggling victim helpless in his strong grasp, and Michael Cooney, now a member of Chicago's police force, stood guard at the door. No one but Cooney struck the doctor, and only Burke, Cooney and Michael were in the cottage.

Patrick O'Sullivan stood outside at the rear of the cottage watching and guarding against possible interference. Dan Coughlin did not reach the cottage till after the murder, when he came accompanied by Andrew Foy. The man who called at the Conklin residence with Dinan's white horse for Dr. Cronin was Martin Dawn of Hancock, Mich.

Coughlin was the head and front of the conspiracy, which included the following men, who held secret meetings almost nightly for some time prior to the murder: Daniel Coughlin, detective, to whom all others reported for instructions, who hired the white horse from Dinan and who was one of three men in the wagon that carried the trunk containing the doctor's mutilated remains; Andrew Foy, at whose house the conspirators met and planned their work and who accompanied Coughlin to the Carlson cottage the night of the murder and was mistaken for John Kunze by the milkman; Martin Burke, laborer, who rented the Carlson cottage and was one of the three men to whom fell the lot of killing Cronin; Patrick O'Sullivan, iceman, who according to instructions given, made the agreement with the physician regarding the presentation of the card which was used as a means to get Dr. Cronin to the place of murder; James Cunnea, a grocer's clerk, who as "J. B. Simonds" rented the place at 117 Clark street and bought the furniture and trunk; Patrick Cooney, bricklayer, the actual slayer of Dr. Cronin; Martin Dawn, laborer, of Hancock, Mich., brought to Chicago to decoy the doctor from home and selected because no one who might see him with Cronin would recognize him; Joseph McKenna, who drove to the Carlson cottage from the south side the wagon used to haul away the corpse in the trunk; Michael Cooney, now a city policeman, who was deputed to aid Cooney and Burke in the killing, and who opened the door of the cottage to admit the doctor and held it closed while the murder was being committed. The latter man's name is suppressed because his early arrest is probable. The other two men, one in Chicago and one in Hancock, Mich., were spoken of by the conspirators by name and were doubtless parties to the plot.

Martin Dawn and Andrew Foy are supposed just now to be in seclusion. Cunnea, Cooney and McKenna have long since disappeared and little is known of McKenna's present whereabouts. Burke and the iceman O'Sullivan are dead, so that Dan Coughlin and the unnamed member of the Chicago police force are the only ones on the list within reach. There is little doubt entertained as to the general plausibility of Mrs. Foy's story. It is said that still another Coughlin juror, Henry E. Taylor, has given cause for suspicion. States Attorney Kern admitted as much this morning.

TRIAL BEGINS TODAY.

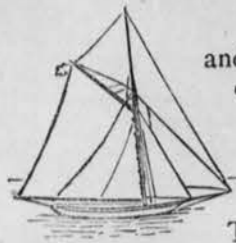

Two Weeks to Secure a Jury in Prendergast's Case.

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—The trial of the assassination of Mayor Harrison, Prendergast, will begin at 10 o'clock tomorrow before Judge Brentano. Prendergast was very quiet today and refused to leave his cell to talk. "I have nothing new to say and I will not talk over the same old thing," said he. Guards will be placed at the foot of the stairs leading to the court room, and as soon as the seating capacity is exhausted no more people will be allowed to pass up to the second floor. It is believed that at least two weeks will be required to secure a jury.

OBJECT TO AN INCOME TAX.

New French Cabinet Outlines Its Policy for the Future.

PARIS, Dec. 3.—The declaration of the new ministry which will be read by Premier Casimir Perier in the chamber of deputies tomorrow was approved at a cabinet council held tonight. This declaration of policy is said to be as emphatic as that of the Dupuy cabinet against an income tax, a revision of the constitution and the separation of church and state. The ministry, however, intends to pursue a democratic policy and will agree to the proposal to establish a superannuation fund for workmen, but will reject the Utopian schemes of the Socialists. A peaceful foreign policy will be pursued. The election of M. Dupuy to the presidency of the chamber of deputies is regarded as assured.

Sailing Away, and both of them for pleasure,—with the chances for safety in favor of the washboard. In fact, there isn't much chance for safety until it's gone. If you want to keep your clothes, if you don't want them rubbed to pieces—throw it away. Then use Pearline.

That washes clothes without harming them. The washboard wears them out while it's getting them clean. It's rub, rub, rub, and wear, wear, wear, without Pearline. It's work, work, work, too. Pearline takes away the rubbing and takes away the work. There's no use for either, because, easily, quickly, safely, and cheaply, Pearline takes away the dirt.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back.

FOR HOLIDAY PRESENTS Nothing is more suitable than a fine Piano or Organ. M. DANIELS in the old postoffice building, Red Jacket, sells the best the market affords, The Ever Popular Estey Piano or Organ which took the first prizes at all expositions. He also carries a full line of Musical Merchandise and Sewing Machines.

WM. WALLS & CO., At the Corner store near the Mineral Range depot, Red Jacket, is meeting "The Times" in such a manner that the prices he makes on the splendid quality of Dry Goods, Clothing, Gents Furnishing Goods and Boots and Shoes that he sells are real bargains, and if you visit the store once you will go again. We are replacing the stock sold by the dissolution of copartnership with goods that have been bought at the late panic prices.

RICKARD'S ART GALLERY RED JACKET, MICH. Is meeting the ten per cent reduction in wages at the mines by a fifty per cent cut in the price of pictures. Cabinet photographs have been reduced to from $1.50 to $3.00 per dozen for the best work. No excuse now for not having your holiday photographs taken.

J. H. Ostrander EXPERT REFRACTIONIST, The value of spectacles depends altogether upon the skill of the one who fits them.

DISEASES POSITIVELY CURED. DR. C. H. MORSE, The Well Known Specialist, Who has had such signal success in treating private and other diseases during a considerable residence in Marquette, now desires to announce that he has always given obstetrics and gynecology special attention and is prepared to answer calls or give office treatment in these important branches, having had twenty-five years experience in hospital and general practice.

FURS AT WHOLESALE. MERCHANTS can afford to handle our goods, because they are POPULAR, STYLISH, WELL-MADE, and, all things considered, cheaper than any others. Muffs, Boas, Collars, Etc. Lists or Samples furnished on application. WALTER BUEL & CO. DETROIT.

FOR GOGEBIC SUFFERERS. Public Meetings Called at Red Jacket and Hancock to Raise Funds.

HOUGHTON COUNTY TRAINS HAD TO BUCK SNOW. Lyra Society's Concert and Ball Very Successful—Last Term of Court Cost $5,000.

RED JACKET. Rev. S. T. Morris of the Red Jacket Congregational church, Rev. William Wallace of the Calumet Congregational church, Rev. John Sweet of the Methodist church, Rev. Stalker of the Presbyterian church, Rev. S. B. Williams of the Tamarack Methodist church and Captain W. Poysore of the Salvation Army have made a call upon the respective members of their churches and congregations and the public generally assembled at the opera house in this city on Thursday evening, Dec. 7, for the purpose of devising ways and means and putting the same into immediate operation for the relief of distressed people of Gogebic county.

LAKE LINDEN. Charles Green Shields, the liveryman, has purchased Ethier's stage line between this place and Red Jacket. It will run in connection with Pearce & Stutte's line with headquarters at their livery barn as before.

DOLLAR BAY. A large shipment of trolley wire was made from the T. O. C. Manufacturing company's wire mills yesterday and Saturday. In order to make the shipment yesterday the wire mill was run on Sunday.

HANCOCK. The following circular issued and distributed Saturday should and no doubt it will, meet with the approval of every citizen and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance at the meeting tonight: Attention—To the citizens of Hancock and vicinity: You are requested to attend a public mass meeting called to take place at the fire engine house, Hancock, on Monday evening, Dec. 4, at 8 o'clock for the purpose of devising means for assisting the destitute and suffering miners of the Gogebic range. Their needs are urgent, and help in any form will be appreciated. All charitably inclined people should turn out and assist in forming some organization for their relief.

JACOB BAER, President village council. Any person having articles of food or clothes to donate to the Gogebic sufferers can leave such gifts, if they so choose, at the Y. M. C. A. building and General Secretary Massman will see that all donations are properly boxed and sent to the proper relief committees.

The concert and ball given by the Lyra singing society, assisted by the Fifth Regiment band, the singing society Concordia and the Finnish singing society of Calumet was one of the most largely attended entertainments ever given in this city. The only thing to mar the pleasure of the evening was the lateness of the arrival of the special train from Calumet. The stormy weather had filled up the roadway and the train was compelled to buck snow. In doing this something broke on the engine, delaying the train over an hour. The large crowd began to get impatient and the program was begun. Thus several numbers had been rendered before the arrival of the visitors from Calumet. The program was carried out in full and every number was a gem, each being heartily encored. By special request the Finnish singing society, although not on the program, rendered two very fine selections, for which they received hearty applause.

The tableau during the singing of "The Red, White and Blue" with Mrs. Wartin as Columbia, was one of the finest ever seen here. The grand ball followed and nearly all of those who attended the concert remained. The hall was beautifully decorated with the stars and stripes and the colors of Germany and in the center of the stage stood a large lyre. The members of the society here as well as those who so ably assisted them have every reason to feel proud of the success of the affair.

The stormy weather had no effect on those who had made up their minds to attend at the Irish Hall club's dance at St. Patrick's Hall on that evening. Over one hundred couples were present and all had one of the enjoyable times of their lives. An excellent supper was served in the basement of St. Patrick's church by the ladies of the church and they also were well patronized. Taken all in all the affair was a grand success socially and financially.

Hancock's new ice link is well under way and will be ready for use in a few days. The building is 48 by 150 and is well braced. It is situated on the south side of the Mineral Range railroad track in the old Hancock mill property, just two blocks from the center of this city. The proprietors, George W. Emery and Fred Francis, intend keeping it open three nights a week and the best of order will be maintained. Already several have ordered skates and a polo team has been partially organized. If everything goes well the grand opening will take place next Saturday night.

The barge Rhodes, which passed up last Wednesday night and on account of the stormy weather outside had to remain at the canal, will winter there, the crew having passed through here on their way home Saturday. The Shrigley's crew also took their departure Saturday noon. Lake Superior lodge, No. 109, Knights of Pythias, at its meeting Friday night held its annual election of officers with the following result: C. C. James, T. Fisher, V. C. John N. Mitchell, Prelate, Thomas Conghlin, K. of R. and S. Maurice E. Wright; M. of P. T. F. Cruse, M. of E., Fred Wagner, Jr.; M. of A., Will Kauth; P. C., Dr. W. H. Dodge.

The social given by the Ladies auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. in the association's rooms Friday evening was very largely attended and netted the ladies about $20, which will be used to purchase pictures for the rooms.

Mrs. Washburn, mother of Rev. G. Y. Washburn, died Thursday evening at the Congregational parsonage. Funeral services will be held this afternoon, Rev. G. A. Walker officiating. The remains will be taken to her former home at Medway, Mass., for burial.

During the course of his sermon at the Congregational church Thursday evening, Rev. E. W. Frazee read a copy of General Washington's first Thanksgiving proclamation, something never heard here before.

Hon. Edward Ryan has been confined to his home the past few days from the effects of a heavy cold. He is improving and expects to be out again in a day or so.

At a meeting of the members of the Congregational society held Wednesday evening an unanimous call was extended to Rev. Frank N. White to occupy the pulpit of this church.

A little daughter was born to Judge of Probate and Mrs. Thomas Dooling on Thanksgiving day.

The first meeting of Miss Grace Cavan's dancing class at Germania Hall Saturday afternoon was largely attended.

A chicken pie social and musical festival will be given at the Armory Opera House Thursday, Dec. 7, under the auspices of the Epworth league and Ladies' Aid society of Grace Methodist church. Supper will be served from 5 to 8 p. m. and from 8 to 10 p. m. Music will be given during the evening by the Houghton High School orchestra. From 8 to 9 p. m. a special program of vocal and instrumental selections will be rendered by popular musicians, among which will be Mesdames Shields, Stringer, Fisher, Edwards, Douglass and Kidwell; Misses Daney, Gardiner and Stanton, and Messrs. Rees, Schumann and Frank and E. Fenner Douglass.

Mr. J. A. Taylor, the celebrated cornet soloist, will give a selection which alone will be worth the price of admission and the fine acoustic properties of the new opera house will be fully demonstrated. Fifty cents will admit to all. Those taking supper can get free tickets to the concert. Proceeds will be applied to the church debt.

The old ice house owned and formerly used by A. Mills & Bro., was set on fire by someone unknown Thursday afternoon and burned to the ground. The structure was not of much value, but the parties who set it on fire should be found out and given what they deserve. There was a heavy wind blowing at the time and it was lucky that none of the sparks blew far enough to do any damage elsewhere.

The entertainment given in Miller's Hall Friday evening under the auspices of the ladies of St. Ignatius church was one of the most largely attended ever held in that hall. The ladies netted about $100 and the large crowd pleasantly passed an evening.

At the recent term of the circuit court there were more than five hundred jurors and witnesses and as each one is paid by an order on the treasurer County Clerk Shields has been busy since the end of court issuing orders and county Treasurer Miller was kept on the jump issuing checks. The financial term of court cost the county in the neighborhood of $5,000.

The Teachers' association of Houghton county will meet at the Rock school in this city Dec. 9. The subjects for discussion will be various and interesting and there will without doubt be a large number in attendance. All teachers are invited to come and bring friends of education to join in the discussions.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH. Vassar college was founded by Matthew Vassar in 1861. The first Christian school was established by Pantemus in 181.

Education among the Hindus has always been in the hands of the Brahmins. The children of dissenters were first admitted to English parish schools in 1863. The National Educational association in the United States was formed in 1890.

Germany has twenty-one universities, with 1,920 professors and 26,700 students. The Australians have more churches in proportion to population than any other people. The first medical school in the United States was founded in Philadelphia in 1764.

A regular academy of arts and sciences was founded at Alexandria by Ptolemy Soter, B. C. 314. Bartholomew Columbus, the brother of Christopher, brought to England in 1489 the first map ever seen there. In Liverpool there are technical educational schools for teaching cookery, laundry work, dress cutting and household sewing at two pence per lesson.

In India the work of Christian Endeavor is being vigorously pushed, and the constitution, which is now translated into six of the languages of India, is being largely circulated. Central Congregationalist. The Philadelphia Sabbath association has offered two prizes, one of $70 and the other $30 for two essays on the great need of better Sabbath observance by its professed friends. All essays must be in by January 1, 1894.

The English Wesleyan missionaries did apparently little good at Cape Coast, Africa, for many years. Only a few years ago they were giving $10,000 a year to this field, but now there are 8,000 converts, who contribute $20,000. As a result of the meeting in Chicago of the Catholic bishops and archbishops, a communication has been sent to Catholic editors in all parts of the country cautioning them not to attack or criticize ecclesiastics, and especially bishops for their decrees and decisions on church matters.

In France, in recent years, much attention has been given to school hygiene. Not only is physical culture made compulsory in public schools, but the plans of all school buildings, both public and private, must be approved by the proper authorities, and all schools are subjected to systematic medical inspection. College catalogues grow in bulk from year to year. It was long the custom of American colleges to make their annuals thin paper-bound pamphlets. These grew and grew until a few of the large colleges began binding their catalogues in boards. After that the growth went on, until at length the Columbia catalogue for '93-4 is a large octavo volume of more than 300 pages.

A well-known woman's rights champion has founded a school for fencing in Paris. A condition of membership is that the pupils place their swords at the service of woman's emancipation. They intend to be able to defend their cause at the point of the rapier, and one of the rules is that the members conduct their practice secretly, that the persons with whom they may have to fight duels may not learn their methods.

The oldest buildings of Washington and Jefferson college were erected in 1795, and so this greatly useful institution, with the present term, enters on its second century. The financial depression has not told on the usual attendance of students, to the great delight of the full corps of professors who are on duty. The new $40,000 gymnasium is thoroughly equipped, and is a great source of attraction and satisfaction.

THE AUTUMN GIRL. She Possesses a Pleasant and Distinct Individuality. Much has been written of the summer girl, and many a line has been indited to the grace of her winter sister, but few there are who have taken up their pen to sing the praises of the autumn girl, and yet she is a creature well worthy of all the commendation that may be bestowed upon her.

To begin with, the summer outing has caused her cheeks to assume a rosy flush and her eyes to sparkle with vigorous health. She has not yet entered upon the round of social duties that will leave her worn out and fatigued by spring, and in this between season she is really at her best. Every day one sees her on the street in a distinctively new gown that does not have to be covered by a wrap, and which fits her like form to perfection. She is full of life and the exhilaration of youth. The hot weather that made her too languid to care even for the glories in the shops has passed away, and she enters with renewed zest into everything that has been denied her during the summer months. In the park and on the country roads she bows along in a stylish turnout, herself the trimmest feature of it all.

Though we miss the summer girl, with her fluttering ribbons and filmy laces, there is ample compensation to be found in the graceful figures of the women who have abandoned muslins and who have not yet put on furs. In real life the autumn woman is the one who has passed her teens and is not yet well into the thirties. She is bright and worldwise, but still enough of the bygone spring clings to her to make her enthusiastic and delightful without any silly girliness. In fact, the autumn girl, wherever you meet her, is one that appeals peculiarly to all types of humanity, and is in her own way quite as attractive as her sisters of other seasons.—Chicago Tribune.

A Surgical Operation. For the cure of Piles is always painful, often dangerous and useless, and invariably expensive; on the other hand there is a new, certain cure, perfectly painless, gives instant relief and permanent cure and costs but a trifle. It is the Pyramid Pile Cure. It is a more certain cure than a surgical operation, without any of the intense pain, expense and danger of an operation. Any druggist will get it for you.

HE WAS HARMLESS. A Flannel Night Robe and the Consternation it Caused.

He was going north on a Woodland avenue car. He had a bundle on his knees and from the way he hitched around and looked at the men on either side of him it was evident that he wanted to talk to some one.

"I'm having it considerably this fall," said the other. "Strikes me in the right shoulder and I can't wash the back of my neck more'n half the time. You look as though you might be subject to it."

"The dapper man looked straight across the car and the only movement betraying life was a jerky motion of one toe.

"Bis-a-buyn' a flannel nightshirt," persisted the man with the bundle. "Some advised me to get medicated flannel and some said the common red flannel would do. Which sort do you think is best?"

The dapper man was now flushed up and his eyes turned to the door, but he gave no other sign.

"I paid a dollar for this," continued the bundle man as he untied the string, "and he warranted it not to shrink. I'd like to ask your opinion of the goods. Have I paid too much?"

He unwrapped the paper and held the shirt up to view. It was a red flannel nightshirt, which appeared to be nine feet long, and at first sight the dapper little man turned whiter than flour, got up and fell over his cane, and got up again, shot into the air, and dropped off. Everybody else laughed heartily, and after looking around in a surprised way the old man began doing up the bundle and observed:

"He needn't have been scared of me. Lands save him, I never hurt nobody in my life."--Detroit Free Press.

A BIG LAUNDRY BILL. How the Washing for England's Royal Family is Done.

It may not be generally known that the queen has a special laundry, but such is the case, and it would be difficult, indeed, to pick a more picturesque spot than that occupied by the royal laundry, on the borders of Richmond park.

The ordinary linen, consisting of towels, table-cloths, etc., arrives at the laundry in huge square baskets. These are then emptied, the contents sorted, compared and checked with the lists accompanying them.

The personal linen of the royal family is sorted in a special room, the wooden boxes containing it bearing brass plates upon which is inscribed the owner's name and number of the box, such as "The Queen, No. 16," "The Princess of Wales, No. 21," etc.

The washing apparatus is of the most perfect and recent manufacture, and the wringing, drying and mangling machinery is most complete.

In every room order and the strictest cleanliness are observed, and the different operations are conducted with clockwork regularity and dispatch.

When the clothes are properly dried, they are placed in big heaps, each heap belonging to a different palace.

Most of the linen is prettily marked in red cotton, O. H., B. C., R. P., with V. R. L. above, but some of the markings are now done with rubber hand stamps. To show how the royal linen wears, the date 1890 may be noticed on some of the table-cloths, which are of exquisite fineness, specially made for the queen, and the designs are exceedingly pretty, consisting as they do of ingenious combinations of her majesty's monogram and the rose, thistle and shamrock, together with a number of royal armorial bearings.

Some idea may be gathered of the extent of the royal laundry when it is mentioned that the queen's annual washing bill amounts to very nearly six thousand dollars.--N. Y. World.

A Berlin correspondent says that it is generally believed in Germany that the emperor's real object in making advances to Prince Bismarck is to induce the ex-chancellor to give up a number of letters which he wrote to him during the illness of Emperor Frederick. The present emperor then treated Prince Bismarck with unbounded confidence, and it is supposed that he was indiscreet in some of his communications to the chancellor.

ONE OF CORWIN'S PRANKS. How He Rid His Sister of the Attention of an Obnoxious Suitor.

Among the many interesting things that were printed in the Louisville Journal of Monday, July 17, 1893, is the following amusing story, in which the famous Tom Corwin figured. Everyone has heard of the eloquent, pathetic and humorous stump orator of Ohio. He was pronounced by Henry Clay--a most competent authority--to be the best stump speaker he ever heard. He carried his love of fun into every department of life. In the private circle, where he knew every person, and where he unbosomed himself fully, he was a most delightful conversationalist.

"I do not know," says a writer in the old Louisville Journal of the date above referred to, "that he now, as age and infirmities are creeping on, indulges in the humorous proclivities so much as he used to do, but some twenty years ago he seemed to tell with great gusto the following story:

"In early life--so early that I cannot remember the removal--my father pulled up stakes, and, carrying with him the household goods, went from Bourbon county, Ky., where I was born, to Ohio. Notwithstanding a rough-and-tumble struggle with the world I had a hard time to get on, owing to a numerous and rapidly-increasing family. Well, family matters had not much improved when I reached my thirteenth or fourteenth year.

"At this time there lived in the neighborhood a young merchant named Pickering. He had inherited a well-stocked farm, was good-looking and made a strong profession of religion. This latter qualification caused him to find peculiar favor in the eyes of my father, who was always blinded by professions of extra piety.

"This fellow had a strong hankering after one of my sisters, who was a very pretty girl. To her he was peculiarly distasteful. She seemed always annoyed by his presence. She dared not dismiss him entirely for fear of the paternal anger. Things went on this way for a year or two, and as I partook largely of my sister's hatred of him I resolved to get rid of him in some way. I cast about some time for a plan, but nothing gave me the slightest hope of being successful.

"At last returning home late one summer night from the mill, I found the family at their nightly devotions. Passing the windows of the room in which they were assembled, I saw Pickering was there, and pretty soon discovered that he was nodding, and finally his head dropped. Now was my opportunity.

I stole slyly into the hall, and, reaching the door, which was slightly ajar and close by which was Pickering "on bended knee," I reached in, quickly pulling his chair from under him, he rolled heavily, as a sound sleeper would, upon the floor. The noise alarmed all. The old gentleman stopped in the midst of his almost interminable prayer and saw the position of Pickering. All the family laughed outright; even my mother smiled.

"Pickering endeavored to pick himself up as rapidly as possible, but he had touched the old man upon his tender point. It was evident, from his rubbing his eyes, that he had slept under the old gentleman's ministrations, and was not Pickering's professed brother? Slowly, yet most dignifiedly, did the old gentleman approach him. "Begone, hypocrite!" he cried in thundering tones. "Never enter my house again."

"Pickering was thunderstruck. He felt that he could make no apology which would not add to the insult. He had no suspicion of the extra force which had aided him in his fall. He at once found his hat, took up his line of march, and, completely crestfallen, passed by me as I stood in the shadow of the porch.

"At a suitable time I entered and got my supper, was told by my brother in hurried whispers what had happened, and then I stole off to bed, affecting ignorance, and laughing most heartily, as I escaped myself between the sheets, at the complete success of my plan. Next day I cautiously imparted my secret to my sister. She was in her own room at the time, and threw herself upon the bed and rolled in agonies and convulsions of laughter. She had been emancipated forever from an obnoxious lover. The old gentleman did not hear the real state of affairs for fully twenty years, but when he did he laughed heartily."--Louisville Courier-Journal.

OLD TIME REMEDIES. Some of the Medicines Used in the Days of the Middle Ages.

Not many remedies of Queen Mary's time retain a place in the modern pharmacopoeia. Cardano recommended bark of Indian wood, cinnamon, caryophyllum, colocyth, camphor, cyclamen, poppy, turpentine, hops, anise, senna, viola, mustard, myrrh, wormwood, agrimony, liehen, privet, rue, raisins, hyssop, crocus, marjoram, scabious, figs, hony, and many more; and he earnestly urges the use of a remedy which he had tried himself for breathlessness accompanied by bad cough. Take the lungs of a fox and forthwith wash them with wine and dry it in a furnace to a cinder powder, and mix well with the yolk of an egg.

Among his external remedies, one which was evidently a prime favorite was that which he applied over the sutures of the skull, and especially the coronal, and which he found a grand remedy for bringing away the humors of the brain. It was composed of Greek pitch and ship's tar, white mustard, euphorbium, and honey, sharpened, if necessary, by the addition of blister fly.

He had unbounded faith in the efficacy of elaterium--two grains dissolved in four ounces of goat's or cow's milk and as much water, this to be drawn through the nostril when the patient was fasting. He had found--and we can well believe it--that when this remedy was used a very copious discharge of humor took place from the nostrils.--Blackwood's Magazine.

PATENTS!

NOTICE TO INVENTORS.

There was never a time in the history of our country when the demand for inventions and improvements in the arts and sciences was so great as now. The necessities of mankind in the factory and workshop, the household, on the farm and in official life, require continual accessions to the apparatuses and implements of each in order to save labor, time and expense.

The political change in the administration of government does not affect the progress of the American inventor, who being on the alert, and ready to perceive the existing deficiencies, does not permit the affairs of government to deter him from quickly conceiving the remedy to overcome existing discrepancies. Too great care cannot be exercised in choosing a competent and skillful attorney to prepare and prosecute an application for patent. Valuable interests have been lost and destroyed in innumerable instances by the employment of incompetent counsel, and especially is this advice applicable to those who adopt the "no patent, no pay" system. Inventors who entrust their business to this class of attorneys do so at imminent risk, as the breadth and strength of the patent is never considered in view of a quick endeavor to get an allowance and obtain the fee then due.

THE FEDERAL CLAIMS COMPANY, John Wedderburn, General Manager 618 F Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., represents a large number of important daily and weekly papers, as well as general periodicals of the country, was instituted to protect its patrons from the unsafe methods heretofore employed in this line of business. The said Company is prepared to take charge of all patent business entrusted to it for reasonable fees, and prepares and prosecutes applications generally, including mechanical inventions, design patents, trademarks, labels, copyrights, interferences, interferences, validity reports, and gives special attention to rejected cases. It is also prepared to enter into competition with any firm in securing reign patents.

THE Y. M. C. A. CLOSES DOWN.

Public Support So Slack That Committee Is Forced to Discontinue.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY TAKES THE UPPER ROOMS.

Will Keep Reading Room Open Three Afternoons a Week If Young Men Show Appreciation.

WOMEN FILL THE BREACH.

The following announcement from the committee managing local Y. M. C. A. affairs will be read with a good deal of regret but, perhaps, not much surprise. Those who have watched association matters during the past few months find much to commend in the efforts made by the management to keep up the flagging interest, and a good deal to condemn on the part of the public for not rendering a heartier support to so worthy an institution. The committee has finally been forced to make the following statement public: The committee appointed by the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. to decide what should be done about keeping open the rooms of the association, have decided to close them temporarily and would now state to the members of the association and the public why this was done. We wish to say first, that neither this committee nor the board of directors whom they represent feel that we are the association. We are only the officers elected to administer its affairs to the best of our ability. When this committee was appointed there were uncollected pledges amounting to $725, while the bills owed were slightly greater in amount and were made depending upon those pledges to pay them. The committee made an earnest effort to collect, but though expenses were reduced by giving our secretary a leave of absence, enough could not be collected to pay the current expenses. Therefore, we felt we could not in justice to those who trusted us and the good name of the association continue to add to its debt, we accordingly suspended the work Saturday, Dec. 2. The balance of the pledges will be collected as soon as possible and applied to the association's debts. We were reluctant to take the step we have taken, particularly at the beginning of winter when the attendance showed a gratifying increase, but it seemed the only thing for us to do. The Ladies Benevolent society will occupy the entire second story of our building with their sewing school and other work during the winter. They have made arrangements by which the association reading room will be kept open till further notice on Friday and Saturday afternoons from 1 o'clock till dark. All are invited to come at these times. W. S. HILL, JAMES PENNELL, For the committee.

As the Benevolent society has to keep open and warmed rooms for its charitable work and sewing school Friday and Saturday afternoons it has decided to keep the Y. M. C. A. reading room open and warmed on those and Sunday afternoons. This will be tried as an experiment during this month and if a sufficient number of young men respond to show appreciation of these kindly disposed women's efforts they will continue to keep the reading room open on those days. Now, young men, here is your chance to show that the association bearing your name is not altogether dead.

Hazard Still Invents.

More than once has THE MINING JOURNAL noticed with pleasure results of the inventive genius of Dexter Hazard and now he presents another opportunity equal in value and brilliancy to any of his former efforts. A patent has just been issued to Mr. Hazard in securing a device which, applied to car wheels and rails, prevents slipping on steep grades. The invention is simplicity itself in this virtue resides its chief value.

Briefly described the device is as follows: On the side and close to the rim of the car wheels is placed a circle of cogs attached to a disk which has a certain amount of play on the wheel, this movement being controlled and adjusted by a powerful spring. Beginning at the point on the grade where slipping is probable a row of cogs is bolted to the outside of the rail, projecting not more than a quarter of an inch above the top. This racket continues till the top of the grade is reached.

When the car approaches the grade and the cogs on the wheels come in contact with the racket perfect meshing is secured by the play of the disk and the control of the spring. The disk slips until stopped by a pin and remains so until released from the racket when the spring throws it back to its place at once. As stated the simplicity of the attachment is its most commendable feature besides the certainty of doing all it is expected to. It may not only be applied to street cars but locomotives where they have heavy hauling to do, particularly at the grades near the mines. The slipping of wheels on electric cars is a great waste of power and also on locomotives it uses up much more steam than is needed for steady hauling.

The Street Railway Review refers to Mr. Hazard's invention as a very effective device and one that avoids the difficulties of the ordinary rack and pinion feature of grade climbing now in use. Expert engineers and railway men also speak very highly of it and are decided in their opinion that it will do all the inventor claims for it. It is likely to supersede all other methods for grade climbing, to prevent slipping or spinning wheels and for mountainous railway travel.

Vandenberg and Hallstrom.

Special elections were held Saturday in the First and Fifth wards to elect aldermen to fill vacancies in the common council caused by resignations.

The First ward polling place was at the store of E. L. Frazer, corner Division and Hampton streets. Two candidates here asked favors of the electors and the voting was very close. Earnest W. Vandenberg was the nominee of the first caucus. At a second one

Joseph H. Bice was also placed in the field. The result of the vote was: Vandenberg, 73; Bice, 67. There were 142 votes cast, of which two were thrown out.

In the Fifth ward L. G. Hallstrom, the only nominee, had things all his own way. The polling took place at 416 Washington street. There were 35 votes cast, two blank and the rest all Gus'.

The council will probably meet Thursday to canvass the vote and then the aldermen-elect will become so in fact and take their seats up in the loft over Tommy Meads' place.

America on Wheels.

By no means the least interesting person one would care to meet is John Gilman of Worcester, Mass., publisher of Gilman's Farm Register. The gentleman is nearly seventy years old but still as spry as a cricket. Twenty years ago he got up an exhibition car stocked with products and curios from different parts of the union and traveled with it over most of the North American continent. This was talked about a good deal at the time and Mr. Gilman was happy. But as time passed and other men began to do greater things Mr. Gilman's spirit of enterprise moved itself within him and he is now engaged in getting up one of the most gigantic exhibitions on wheels ever planned. It is nothing less than a car from each state adequately representing the products of that state, strung together in two immense trains of nearly thirty cars each. These Mr. Gilman will take to the California exhibition and, following that, travel them all over the continent. The scheme is a big one but the promoter is confident of success and has met with decided encouragement wherever he has broached the matter. Saturday he had an encouraging chat with the South Shore officials and left last night for Duluth and St. Paul. The project when complete will fairly represent the wealth and industry of this immense country in miniature.

School Board After Germs.

The fact that within a not very great time six or seven cases of scarlet fever have occurred among pupils of the Ridge street school and all from one room, decided the school board that something was not exactly right. The directors took expert sanitary advice on the matter and as a result subjected not only the room in question, but the entire building to a thorough fumigation Friday and Saturday.

There is not a great deal of scarlet fever at present in the city—probably not more than twelve cases in all—but as all the cases occurring among the pupils of Ridge street school came from the same room the board wisely acted with promptness and judgment in taking steps which will probably prevent any more outbreaks, supposing the cause to have been in the room itself.

Parents of the pupils may rest assured the school board will do all in its power to conserve health and secure healthful surroundings in the different school buildings and in a case like the foregoing it will not conjecture a possible cause but act to remove such should it exist.

A Craft of Ice.

The steamer W. H. Stevens of the Crescent line, bound from Buffalo to Duluth with a large cargo of miscellaneous freight, moored alongside Spear's dock late Saturday night and spent most of yesterday discharging a big deckload of empty beer bottles. The Stevens experienced quite a stormy and bitterly cold passage. This was felt the worst on Lake Huron, where the waves and spray dashed almost continuously over her bow and froze in fantastic forms to the very highest point of the pilot house. The boat was suggestive of the ship in which Clark Russell's "frozen pirate" might have awakened, so covered was it with ice from stem to stern. This is the Stevens' last trip for this season. She will distribute the remainder of her cargo between here and Duluth and put up for the winter at the latter place.

Last Load of Ore.

The steel barge Cadillac cleared from this port at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon carrying the last load of ore for the season. Navigation so far as Iron Bay is concerned, is practically closed with the going of the Cadillac.

The big docks have now donned their winter dress and will remain inactive until spring when it is expected they will awake to an activity and bustle greater than at any time since they were built. Winter is really when the boats stop running although from present appearances the bay may remain open a month or two yet.

Will Build Polish Church.

J. O'Meara, agent for the Baldwin addition, sold Saturday to Rt. Rev. Bishop Vertin lots 58, 59 and 60, corner Rock and Seventh streets. It is understood the bishop purposes building a handsome Polish church on the property but as he was out of the city when a MINING JOURNAL called particulars could not be learned.

Card of Thanks.

H. F. HANDFORD,
THE EXCLUSIVE SHOE DEALER.

There is no one instrument, unless, indeed, it be a large pipe organ, capable of the variety of effects that are obtainable on the Aeolian. Unlike the pipe organ, however, the Aeolian is adapted to all classes of music; overtures and symphonies can be rendered on it with all the softness and delicacy of the flute and violin and cello and all the snap and brilliancy of the piano. See and hear them at Coskin's.
