MARQUETTE, MICH., APRIL 5.

Entered as mailmatter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

IN THE election of Monday the A. P. A. crowd won a partial victory at Menominee, but were completely turned down at Sault Ste. Marie and everywhere else in this part of the state where they showed their heads. In Marquette a few who are in sympathy with the order sought to make it a factor in the campaign but failed to accomplish anything save to assist in bringing about the defeat of the men who sought to profit by raising the religious issue here.

THE newly appointed senator from Georgia, who was named by the governor of that state to succeed Senator Colquitt, is said to be a free silver man. The silver heresy has permeated the south to a much greater extent than has been believed, and it has also obtained a no inconsiderable foothold in the states west and southwest, as well as in our own Michigan. The friends of honest money have a fight before them upon the issue of which more depends than is involved in the tariff question. It is time they were getting together to meet it.

IN HIS paper of the 2nd inst. Editor Lou Rowley of the Lansing Journal addresses an open letter to Congressman Whiting in which he vigorously scores that seven-by-nine statesman for alleged disloyalty to the principles and policy of his party on the several leading issues on which congress is now attempting to legislate. An interview with Whiting recently published in the Detroit News furnishes the Lansing editor with his text and provocation and he makes out a strong case against Whiting from a Democratic standpoint. It is none of THE MINING JOURNAL's affair, the contention being between a Democratic paper and a man who was elected to a seat in congress on the Democratic ticket, but this paper enjoys seeing Whiting called down all the same, for in the last congress he made himself conspicuous by his opposition to the interests of this peninsula. Whiting is more of a Populist than anything else and if the Democrats of his district can find no better man for the place he holds than he they will do wisely to let district fall into the hands of the Republicans, who can produce candidates by the score fitted to ably represent it.

PETE DORAN, who wanted the place that was given to Hon. John Power, thinks the "referee system" is to blame for the defeats sustained by the Democrats in several of the local elections in this state last Monday. Pete thought well of the system until he failed to get an office that he is not specially qualified for. If the system that now finds no favor in his sight exists and has had to do with turning him down for Mr. Power it must be said to work well in some instances, even though it falls short of perfection. Pete knows as much about politics as he did about a proper rate of taxation for iron mining properties when he introduced a bill making the specific tax on the product of our mines twenty cents per ton. His advocacy of that measure had more to do with destroying whatever chance he ever had of being appointed United States district attorney for the Western district of Michigan than the "referee system," or any other system. It would have been an insult to the people of this district to have had a man who had sought as a senator of the state to put a paralyzing embargo on one of its principal industries appointed to that office, and the powers at Washington were not allowed to remain in ignorance of the fact.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUILD. The Minneapolis Journal is urging the people of that city who have building to do to undertake the work now, when it can be done cheaply, and advances some cogent reasons in support of its position. Its arguments apply in a lesser way to smaller places, and what it says is, comparatively speaking, as true of Marquette as of Minneapolis. We quote from its article on the subject: This is the year in which to build. Some of the people are hesitating because "times are hard," when they have not felt the depression in the least. There is a good deal of imagination in connection with hard times. The man who draws a large salary and who has not suffered in this depression to the extent of one cent, is complaining about hard times, in the face of the fact that he is earning as much money as ever, while his living expenses are a good deal less, for table goods are much cheaper now than they were a year ago. Some of these men have a good balance in the bank, and they have decided to build a home, but they hesitate. The time for those men to act is now. The Journal showed on Saturday that building can be done this year at very much less cost than a year ago. The time to build is now and all people who are able and who expect to build should begin their preparations at once. Let Minneapolis show that her people are progressive in times that are not of the best. Duluth affords a prominent instance of the difference in the cost of building between this year and last. The contract for the new board of trade building in Duluth was let Saturday at a saving of $78,000 over the lowest bid for the same building made last fall. Of this saving $40,000 was on iron. While this saving is larger than would follow in a building composed of less costly material, it is estimated by builders and the dealers in building material that a saving of 20 per cent can be made on wood structures if built this year. There should be sufficient inducement in these facts to make a stir in Minneapolis building circles. Let's get to work.

It would do much to improve the tone of business and hasten the return of industrial activity if the suggestion of the Minneapolis paper were to be generally acted on. Those who intend building in the immediate future will save money by getting their plans ready and going at it now, and in addition to that they will aid in restoring business prosperity to the country. There are in every town and city of any considerable size a number of persons who have building projects in contemplation, and these would consult their own interest and aid in promoting the general welfare by not procrastinating longer, for when the tide turns everybody will be busy, the cost of labor and material will advance and the expense of the work will be very much greater than now.

THE new state treasurer, Mr. J. M. Wilkinson, is bringing to bear on the transaction of business in his office rules that will do away with the possibility of crooked work by subordinates in any of the state offices, such as was practiced by Lindholm as deputy secretary of state and Marcus Peterson, late clerk of the state board of auditors. The board of auditors at the first meeting held since Mr. Wilkinson's introduction into office, adopted the following resolution, which will have the effect to stop one of the leaks that Lindholm and Peterson took improper advantage of: Resolved, That the clerk of this board be instructed to notify the heads of the different departments that, hereafter, no allowances or vouchers for postage will be passed by the board until the postmaster's receipts are first filed with the clerk of the board for the full amount previously drawn.

Mr. Wilkinson has adopted other important regulations to prevent the possibility of fraud by subordinates, and it is safe to assume that under his administration there will be a noticeable change for the better in the methods of doing business in the financial branches of the several state offices.

$100 REWARD, $100. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for free trial bottles free at H. H. Stafford & Co.'s Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

A HOUSEHOLD TREASURE. D. W. Fuller of Canajoharie, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's New Discovery and has always found the very best results follow its use; that he would not be without it, if procurable. G. A. Dykeman Druggist, Catskill, N. Y., says that Dr. King's New Discovery is undoubtedly the best cough remedy that he has used in his family for eight years, and it has never failed to do all that is claimed for it. Why not try a remedy so long tried and tested. Trial bottles free at H. H. Stafford & Co.'s Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

My wife was confined to her bed for over two months with a very severe attack of rheumatism. We could get nothing that would afford her any relief, and as a last resort gave Chamberlain's Pain Balm a trial. To our great surprise she began to improve after the first application, and by using it regularly she was soon able to get up and attend to her house work. E. H. Johnson, of G. J. Every spring and summer for six years or more, my health has been so poor from heart trouble and general debility that at times life was a burden. I would become so

Emaciated and Weak and Pale that my friends thought I would not live long. I could do scarcely any work at all and had to lie down every few minutes. "Shave your Soap"

—so the soap makers say, especially if you're washing delicate things. Now, in the name of common sense, what's the use? When you can get Pearlina, in powder form for this very reason, why do you want to work over soap, which, if it's good for anything, gets very hard and difficult to cut. Besides, Pearlina is vastly better than any powdered soap could be. It has all the good properties of any soap—and many more, too. There's something in it that does the work easily, but without harm—much more easily than any other way yet known.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearlina." IT'S FALSE—Pearlina is never peddled, if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—and it back.

It Has Struck the Copper Country!

Just what the honest buyer knows will save him money has been adopted at

Vertin Brothers Mammoth Store,

RED JACKET, MICH.

HERE IS THE POINT. A NEW DEPARTURE. On the old plan the honest, prompt paying customer pays for the loss incurred by the dead beats. On a cash basis there are no dead beats. Today many persons pay high prices for an entire year for the sake of getting a ten or eleven per cent rebate at the close of the year. We give 20 to 40 per cent when goods are bought which knocks the wind out of waiting 12 long months. You want to know how we can do it. 1st—We have no high salaried bookkeeper; no manager to pay; goods sold at small profits turned over twelve times a year for cash only will make money for us. The mistake of the pass-books are avoided. Our sales people can sell three times as many goods as the credit dealing clerks. We invite your close inspection of our prices and methods to convince you of what we have said.

OUR NEW LINE OF

Groceries and Provisions

To our large variety of Dry Goods and Clothing, etc., we have added a large department of Groceries and Provisions which we will sell at Steinmeyers & De Gremer's prices. On only a few very heavy, low priced goods will we make any freight charges, and in this case our car-load rates are very much lower than you could get freight for. So if you now send your money away for goods you will be the loser as we will sell the best goods at the same prices charged in the large cities you send to. We also save you lots of bother and expense, as well as the risk of losing your money. With us you see what you buy. Come in any time after Saturday, March 17, 1894, and we will save you from 20 to 40 per cent. (3-16-1m)

The concert given under the auspices of Sutter hire, L. O. T. M., in Miller's Hall Tuesday evening was a most enjoyable affair and largely attended. The hall was beautifully decorated and the excellent program published in these columns was carried out, each number receiving hearty applause. Dancing followed and a good social time was had. A special train brought about forty members from Calumet and returned in the small hours. The ladies will clear over $100 and they are to be congratulated on the success of the affair, it being their first attempt.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of the copper country hold their annual ball at the Armory Opera House in this city tomorrow evening. HANCOCK.

The seventy-fifth anniversary of Odd Fellowship will be celebrated by a grand reunion of the lodges of Houghton and Keweenaw counties in this city April 26 under the auspices of Mystic Lodge, No. 109. Upon the arrival of the trains from Calumet and Lake Linden the different lodges will form in line and parade the principal streets. John N. Mitchell will act as marshal of the day. After the parade there will be eloquent addresses in St. Patrick's Hall by Past Grand Master Rev. N. H. Martin of Calumet and other past grands. Mrs. N. H. Martin will sing two solos between the addresses. Supper will be served in the dining rooms of Germania Hall and the Hotel Northwestern by Charles Linder.

In the evening, commencing at 8 o'clock sharp, "Fanchon, the Cricket" will be produced for the last time in the copper country under the management of Mrs. Paul Rietseby in St. Patrick's Hall. A grand ball will be given in Germania Hall, commencing at 10 p. m.

J. N. Mitchell will be floor manager. The Quincy Excelsior band will furnish music both for the parade and dance.

W. J. Uren and R. M. Edwards, who own a small yacht, had a copper boiler made for it. The boiler was not much larger than a good-sized tea kettle but it was made of first class Lake Superior copper which had been scientifically tested as to its strength for boiler purposes. But when the government inspector of boilers got around to it he refused to issue a certificate and the matter was referred to J. C. Dumont, the supervising inspector. A letter was received from him last Saturday in which he refused to allow Messrs. Uren and Edwards to use the boiler.

The concert to be given in Germania Hall by the members of St. Joseph's church on the 25th will be one of the best ever given here. The program will consist of choruses by the church choir, several selections by the Maennerchor "Lyra" and by some of the best local talent.

The special train on Tuesday evening to the Macabees ball at Houghton carried a large number of passengers.

Sam Lawrence, who purchased the Ekman stock at sheriff's sale has an advertisement in another column. He is rapidly closing out the stock at low prices.

Sleighing is quite good from here to Keweenaw Point.

SEIZED BY DEVIL FISH.

A California Boy Keenest with Difficulty by His Plucky Comrade.

Among the many pastimes enjoyed by the inhabitants of Pacific Grove, Cal., says the San Francisco Examiner, abalone hunting is one largely indulged in, both on account of the beauty of the shell of this mollusk and also the delicacy of the meat. A few days ago two boys, about seventeen and eighteen years of age, thought it would be a profitable undertaking to go out by the Point Pinos lighthouse and try their luck among the large masses of rocks there. They arrived at their destination at ebb tide, and proceeded to hunt for the shells. Abalones, as a rule, fasten themselves to the under surface of large rocks. While the boys were scrambling among the rocks they came across a large crevice filled with water. Kelp or seaweed was floating on the surface of the water in this black pool, and amid the tangle of tawny whip-like stems, bulbs and masses of leaves, bubbles arose in quick succession as if the water was boiling. The curiosity of the boys was thoroughly aroused by this apparent phenomenon, and after watching the bubbling water awhile they decided to investigate. One of them leaped over the pool, and leaning over the edge closely examined the kelp. What he finally espied in the brown floating mass of weeds he thought was the tail of an eel. Reassured by his conclusion, and with the knowledge that eels are perfectly harmless, he grabbed for the moving object and his hand closed firmly on it.

Like the long lash of a whip curling at the end of a stalk wielded by an expert driver, swiftly uprose from the dark waters a purplish, mottled thing which fastened itself like a snake about the outstretched arm of the boy. With impetuous motion he attempted to withdraw his hand, but the slimy thing clung to him, and the boy was dragged into the pool. Then more of those horrible snake-like appendages thrust themselves up and vared in the air, clutched at the frantic victim, and from a hideous barrel-shaped body two bead-like eyes over a wicked-looking beak watched the struggles of the boy, as it tried to fasten more securely to its prey. The boy was in the grasp of the tentacles of a huge octopus, which had been left by the tide and was lurking under the kelp. The boy's companion dashed into the water to the rescue, and, seizing the tentacle that still gripped firmly, he succeeded in loosening its hold, and both boys scrambled upon the rock into safety.

Rich Women's Charities.

Miss Helen Gould is said to spend one hundred dollars a week on private charities which no one knows about. Her latest offering at charity's shrine is a gift of land which lies back of Lyndhurst, the Goulds' country home at Tarrytown, to the Kindergarten and Potted Plant association for the building of a summer home for poor children. Mrs. John Rockefeller and her daughters spend an immense amount annually on charities of every description. Miss Alta Rockefeller supports and superintends a small private hospital of her own for delicate women, at which she has entertainments given every week to interest the invalids.

STERN MEASURES NEEDED.

fields and if the workmen there succeed in holding their places it will break the strike. There were numerous raids in the southern end of the region today.

Many men were driven from their work and roughly handled but nobody was killed. The men at Frick's Leith and Brownfield works were among those driven off.

The first pitched battle occurred shortly before noon at the Mayfields and Donnelly plants of the McClure company. A large number of rioters gathered and demanded that the men at work come out.

Fifteen armed deputies guarded the works and ordered the strikers off. They, however, made a rush on the workers and the deputies fired a volley. One Hungarian fell mortally wounded and the rest fled, carrying the wounded man with them.

The strikers deny that they fired at all and declare it was an unprovoked assault on them by the guards. The rioters are now rapidly massing for another attack. The excitement prevails and another pitched battle with more serious results is expected.

The company has telegraphed the sheriff here to send fifty armed deputies with all the ammunition available. The sheriff is swearing in deputies who will go at once to the scene.

The sheriff of Westmoreland was also telegraphed and arrived on the ground at noon with a posse of deputies. The reinforcements will be distributed at various works and the men ordered to shoot and kill if strikers attack them.

To-morrow morning an immense mass meeting will assemble south of Uniontown and march from one end of the region to the other to force suspension everywhere.

The strike is a success so far as the southern end of the coke region is concerned and the final success of the movement depends entirely upon the resistance put forward on the northern end.

At present all the labor organizations of Connellsville and west of the Youghiogheny river are shut down, while all works north of Connellsville are in operation excepting the Donnelly plant of the McClure company.

All works of W. J. Rainey are out. These include 1,422 ovens. This is the first time in ten years that the labor organizations have been able to get Rainey's men out and the strikers generally are elated over it.

ALBERTON, Pa., April 4.—The coke drawers at the Denny coke plant were attacked by a riotous mob of sixty Huns, men and women armed with revolvers, clubs and pickets. The men hastily retreated, followed by the triumphant mob. The men were knocked down and dinner buckets and coke forks thrown into the ovens.

Many of the laborers were injured and one man, a Pole, was fatally wounded. Others were cut about the head and face. Sheriff McNoun arrived at the scene a few minutes later and swore in a number of deputies. An attempt will be made to arrest the rioters. Huns are arriving from all directions and a bloody time is anticipated.

Mr. PLEASANT, Pa., April 4.—When the coke strike began in the southern end of the region few people here gave it serious attention. But today's developments have given the matter a most serious aspect. The strikers attacked the Donnelly works of the McClure company this morning and while the plant ran today it was under protection of deputies.

At Morewood and Alice the only two plants in operation in this district have been turned over to the sheriff and his deputies, as it is said that a mob of 4,000 strikers is waiting near these two places. When the men go to work in the morning everything will be in readiness to repel an attack should one be made.

FESTIVE PARIS ANARCHISTS. Still Another Dynamite Outrage and Two Persons Hurt.

PARIS, April 4.—Another bomb explosion occurred here at 9:30 this evening near the senate chamber. The bomb was placed in a flower box on the window sill of a restaurant opposite the senate chamber. The bomb exploded with a tremendous report and shattered all the windows in the restaurant besides breaking the windows in a number of other buildings.

Two Italian artists and a lady were injured. A strong force of military and police soon had possession of the restaurant and the official investigation was commenced.

So promptly did the police work that but a comparatively short time elapsed before the alleged anarchist was in custody.

A waiter in the restaurant was seriously cut by flying debris and several other persons were slightly injured. The second man suspected of being implicated has been arrested.

MADRID, April 4.—The minister of justice in the cortes today introduced a bill aimed against anarchists and punishing persons committing dynamite outrages in which human life is lost with death or with penal servitude for life.

MURDERED A NEGRO. Darlington Rioter Shoots Negro Who Told the Truth.

DARLINGTON, S. C., April 4.—Much excitement was created this afternoon by the killing of Henry Green, colored, by Dr. V. H. Payne. It seems Green went before the commander of the state troops and testified that he had seen Payne coming out of the dispensary Sunday with bottles of whiskey. The two met today and an altercation resulted in the negro's death. Payne was arrested.

REPUBLICAN VICTORY. They Sweep Rhode Island Under the Plurality Law.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 4.—The state election held here today was the first under the new law by which a plurality elects instead of requiring an absolute majority as heretofore. Under the old law last year no candidate secured a majority and the election was thrown into the legislature. One house being Democratic and one Republican, a deadlock resulted and old state offices held over. The candidates today were the same as at the last election, Governor Brown heading the Republican ticket and Baker the Democratic.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 5.—The election was a clean sweep for the Republicans throughout the state, gains being notable in this city. The victory was celebrated at 1:30 o'clock this morning by firing a salute and street parade. The Democratic papers concede Brown's election by a plurality of 4,941 and says the general assembly is also the enemy's.

Notwithstanding the rain which fell nearly all day a heavy vote was cast, the largest in the history of the state. In most of the cities the Republicans claim gains. In Pawtucket, hitherto a Democratic stronghold, the Republicans claim the entire assembly ticket. In Providence the Socialists polled but few votes. The A. P. A., which claimed 4,000, polled, it is claimed, only a few hundred.

Frightful Explosion Wrecks House Cause Is Unknown.

OIL CITY, Pa., April 4.—A terrible explosion occurred here late this evening by which four persons were instantly killed and two fatally injured. The dead are:

JOSEPH KAULLIS, laborer, aged fifty. MARY KAULLIS, aged six. JOE KAULLIS, aged four. JANE KAULLIS, aged seven. Mrs. KAULLIS and babe six months old fatally injured.

The cause of the explosion is a mystery. The bodies are terribly mangled and the entire rear portion of the house was blown to kindling wood. The only plausible theory advanced is that Kanille found a glycerine can and brought it home with him and it was accidentally exploded.

Among it is the golden table service made for George IV., calculated for one hundred and thirty guests and containing the famous crystal champagne cooler, which is large enough for a bath tub. There are many pieces in it that formerly belonged to Queen Elizabeth, besides splendid solid gold vessels from India, Siam and China. A VISIT TO UTAH.

An Instance of the Preponderance of Smiths in That Territory.

That I know about a magnificent territory and its vastly interesting population is due solely to accident. I had become ashamed of sailing east year after year, and made up my mind to hitch my wagon to the star of empire and learn something of my own great country.

I knew there was a territory called Utah, where Mormons indulged in the domestic eccentricity of polygamy, and that was all. I might visit Salt Lake City. All would depend upon circumstances. All did. It chanced that in the middle of October I found myself in a mining town.

I was to cross the mountains on horseback, and snow blocked the way. I sat disconsolately in one of those hostleries that reconcile you to instant death. It was gotten up on the noble principle of violating every longing of the human soul.

No lath and plaster had ever defiled the virgin boards that separated one human being from another. It didn't make any difference which door was banged upon. All humanity responded to the thunder. As even a worm will turn, so did my soul revolt when one morning at an unearthly hour a voice from my keyhole shouted: "Smith, it's time to skip!"

"My name's not Smith," I replied, aroused from dreams of home.

"What is your name, then? If it isn't Smith it ought to be—you're down in the register as Smith."

"No, that's not Smith," shouted my opposite neighbor, the day cleric. "Smith's at the end of the hall."

"Well, this is the end of the hall."

"Aren't there two ends? It's the other end, you fool."

"Who wants Smith?" asked a sharp voice in the distance. "I'm Smith."

"What's the matter? I'm Smith," shouted still another voice.

Were the guests all Smiths, myself excepted?

"Well, whichever Smith wants to get up at four o'clock, him's the one," growled the keyhole.

Both the Smiths slammed their respective doors with a big, big D—

"It's Smith in No. 1," screamed the day cleric, and the idiotic porter performed a reveille on No. 1 until the right Smith responded, and everybody but the other two Smiths and myself put out their heads wanting to know where the fire was.

If sleeping were a farce, what shall I say of the feeding?

"Eat, drink and be merry," was the cheerful salutation suspended over the dining room entrance. It was a sickly sarcasm, as there was nothing to eat, nothing to drink away from the bar, and being merry under such circumstances was more than could be expected from even a Mark Tapley.

This was not the town where I read the significant scale of prices warranted to meet the requirements of any appetite:

Good meal..... $.50

Perfect gorge..... .75

I dared not expostulate, for it was in this sylvan retreat that an innocent "tenderfoot" was asked by the waiter, who carried his right hand to the rear of his person and laid it firmly upon a very perceptible pistol, "Ham or bacon?"

"Both," replied the "tenderfoot." This was too much for human endurance. Drawing forth his pistol, the unsophisticated child of the mountains exclaimed: "No such epicurean gourmandism were allowed in that ar community!"

Being taken for "Smith" was an insult; being starved to death was an injury. It was time for me to go. Shaking the snow off my feet, I madly started for the nearest big town. It chanced to be Salt Lake City. I expected to remain a week. I tarried one year.—Kate Field's Washington.

WHAT ARE EARTHQUAKES.

The Very Recent Development of the Science.

Strangely enough, the true conception of the nature of an earthquake shock is of very recent origin. It is only within the past ten years that the science of the measurement of earthquakes has been placed on a sure basis, and it is hardly more than a generation since the first steps were taken in this direction.

From the time of the ancients until the middle of our own century the phenomena of earthquakes had been observed and described on countless occasions. But if any one will look over the pages of Humboldt's "Cosmos" (published in 1844) which summarizes the then existing knowledge on this subject, he will find almost no sign that earthquakes are to be studied like other mechanical motions. The effects of the great Neapolitan earthquake of 1857 were so studied by Mr. Robert Mallet, a distinguished engineer, and his most interesting work, in two profusely illustrated volumes, is, perhaps, the first in which an attempt is made to attack the problem from its mechanical side. His study of the destruction due to the earthquake was intended to lead to the knowledge of the intensity of the individual blows or impulses. But in fact an earthquake is not made up of blows at all. It is a continuous series of intricate twistings and oscillations in all possible directions, up and down, east and west, north and south, of the greatest irregularity both in intensity and direction. Frequently it is quite impossible to find among these any single impulse at all adequate to do the damage which is actually observed. This damage is not done by a blow; it is done by the combination of many small motions and twistings taking place in many directions. On account of this fundamental misconception of the nature of an earthquake, most of the conclusions arrived at by Mr. Mallet are not valid, and his methods generally do not lead to correct results. But, nevertheless, the spirit in which the question was approached was the true one, and he is one of the founders of the modern science of earthquake measurement.

This science had its birth in the city of Tokio only a few years ago. Within the last dozen years the University of Tokio has brought together a great number of foreigners of ambition and learning to constitute its faculty. I shrewdly suspect that in many cases they had few prescribed duties, and that the instruments and laboratories for research were often lacking, at least in the earlier years. This band of learned and active men could not fail to be incited to the study of the very frequent earthquakes in Tokio and the vicinity (when we take all Japan into account there are on an average two shocks daily), and it is chiefly to the members of the Seismological society of Japan that we owe the science of earthquake measurement.—Prof. Edward S. Holden, in Century.

THE AMERICAN POOR.

Their Pride Makes It Extra-difficult to Assist Them.

They are the most perplexing of creatures to do anything for. They are apt to resent any and every attempt to help them even in the most guarded way, as if it were an insult. The consciousness that they are extremely poor, that their income is completely cut off, impels them to act as they would not if they were in possession of a handsome independence. Their pride being sensitive to morbidness during their penury, all sorts of shifts are required not to wound it. Repeated endeavors to alleviate their indigence have miscarried, even when made with great tact, discernment and delicacy.

There is no such general devotion to charity, it is superfluous to say, as will induce the adoption of various expedients that needy though stubborn people may be prevailed on to take it. Hence the difficulty of helping Americans. Many generous persons who try to assist them meet with such rebuffs, or with so emphatic a denial of their needs, that they release their intentions. Others get angry, and frankly assert that persons who decline aid freely tendered forfeit all right to it. Doubtless the unemployed Americans here are hard to manage, and frequently very provoking. But he who understands their cruel circumstance and sympathizes with sensibility will respect and honor them for their inconsistent behavior. Contumacious pride may often be a high virtue.

It is very hard to tell how these American men may be approached, how they can be brought to admit their distress. But their own kin, their acquaintances, their friends should charge themselves with the duty.

Where these know that they have lost situations, been divested of income or earnings by the great commercial upheaval, they will have their cue to act, and sympathy will direct them.

Recently I heard of a case in point. A young married couple, with two small children—they were New Yorkers—removed in July from a small apartment to an inferior one in a mean quarter. The man had been in receipt of a small salary as bookkeeper, and was permitted to resign to reduce expenses. An old acquaintance learned the fact last month, visited them, and discovered their sadly altered state. He offered them money.

They said they did not want it. He insisted and questioned until the poor bookkeeper was so wrought up that he broke down completely, bursting into a flood of tears. When an American man weeps it is of deep significance.

The sequel proved that he had sought for another situation daily to no purpose; that he had worked in silence with nearly everything pawnable, and had been driven to bay. He had been sought out and relieved on the eve of madness or suicide.

This instance must be one of many.—Harper's Weekly.

DO YOU SLEEP ENOUGH?

If Not, Something Is the Matter and It Needs Attention.

Nothing is so important as sleep. If for any reason you do not get enough sound sleep, you are sapping the vitality from your nerves and laying the foundation for the most dreaded nervous diseases. Many things prevent sleep, such as weak nerves, nervousness, worry, indigestion, overwork or strain upon the nerves. Thousands of people become sleepless and have weak nerves and weak bodies and yet do not call themselves exactly sick. Still they are out of order, nervous and have no ambition for work or pleasure. You need the great spring medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It will make you well.

Mr. Frank E. Bacon, of 7 Dyer avenue, Arlington, R. I., writes the following letter telling how he was cured of the horrors of sleeplessness:

"For over a year I suffered terribly with sleeplessness, indigestion, nervousness and debility. At night sleep would not come to me. I would get up in the morning and go to work fully as tired as I would go to bed the night before. Every morning I had that same tired and broken down feeling that I had all day.

"I would toss and turn in bed, but could not get a night's rest. I had indigestion fearfully and my food distressed me constantly. I could eat hardly anything. Life seemed a burden to me and I was completely discouraged. I could not do justice to my work and I feared I would be obliged to give up entirely.

"I would toss and turn in bed, but could not get a night's rest. I had indigestion fearfully and my food distressed me constantly. I could eat hardly anything. Life seemed a burden to me and I was completely discouraged. I could not do justice to my work and I feared I would be obliged to give up entirely.

DOING WELL OUT WEST.

Ishpeming's Late Distinguished Citizen, J. Maurice Finn, Has "Struck It Rich."

HE IS PILING UP WEALTH AT CRIPPLE CREEK, COL.

Is in the Real Estate and Law Business and Doing Well in Both According to Accounts.

FINN HEARD FROM.

J. Maurice Finn, whom almost everybody in the upper peninsula and many in the lower part of the state knows or has heard of, is now numbered among the hustlers of Cripple Creek, Col. From an upper peninsula man who returned from Cripple Creek a few days ago THE MINING JOURNAL learns that Mr. Finn is doing a flourishing business and is accumulating wealth at a rapid rate. Finn has been at Cripple Creek a little over a year. When he located there he engaged in business. Soon afterward he established a collection and real estate agency in connection with his law practice. At present he employs a stenographer and an assistant, who looks after the general work about the office. Finn devotes much of his time to buying and selling gold properties. In this line he has had good luck and has handled some big transfers. A few weeks ago he sold a claim for $100,000. On this amount he realized 10 per cent.

The upper peninsula man referred to went to Cripple Creek with a view to establishing a business there provided the country and the general surroundings suited him. He was there for a week or more and during his visit he called on Finn several times and made special inquiries from different people in the town regarding him. He says that from what he heard he thinks if Finn would "clean up" now he could pull out of Cripple Creek with from $75,000 to $100,000 cash. In the real estate line Finn has a better "pull" than the average broker there.

The Cripple Creek district is booming. The recent labor trouble there has affected the place considerably and the real estate movement is not as lively as it was a few months ago. The towns there are crowded with men, many of these being speculators. Every day in the week the streets are as crowded there as they are here on Fourth of July. Under the circumstances the place is not as rough as one would expect. In comparison with the amount of business transacted and the number of people there the place is very quiet. During the recent strike there the miners caused very little trouble. For some time nearly all the mines in the district were idle. A number of these have resumed work and business is steadily recovering its former activity.

The MINING JOURNAL's informant states that he called on P. H. Malloy, an Ishpeming boy, who recently struck up a claim in Cripple Creek. He said that Malloy and a partner had sunk a shaft about seventy-five feet deep on their claim and then quit sinking, awaiting an opportunity to sell. About midway in the shaft the quartz assayed $80 to the ton. This of course was very rich, but it did not hold out. At that time they had a chance to sell their claim and Malloy was anxious to let it go, but his partner advised him to hold on a while longer. They have now begun work on another claim a short distance from the old one. The first claim is looking well, but they intend to hold it for sale without putting any more work into developing it.

Many Applications.

The members of the Ishpeming school board have received numerous applications from persons desirous of succeeding Professor H. Olcott as superintendent of the Ishpeming schools. A majority are from the lower part of this state, while many come from other states. Some of the applicants are highly recommended and judging from the number already received the board will have no difficulty in securing a suitable person for the place. It is the intention of the board to consider the applications in the near future and to select a man for the place within a month. The rumor to the effect that a certain Ishpeming gentleman had made application for the place and was already promised it is unfounded. No application from anybody here has been received and one of the members of the board informed THE MINING JOURNAL, yesterday that the gentleman referred to has no desire for the place.

A Genuine Surprise.

The surprise party tendered Mrs. Al. Smith at her residence Tuesday evening was a very pleasant affair. The party consisted of thirty-two ladies and gentlemen. When the merry crowd rang the door bell Mrs. Smith answered the call. As she was receiving her friends at the front door she heard a racket behind her, about one-half the party having entered at the rear and obtained possession of the kitchen and dining room. The visitors were accompanied by a load of chairs, edibles, etc., which were brought in the back way by the contingent that came in from the rear. The program for the evening was progressive. Prizes were awarded as follows: John S. Olson, gents' first prize; Mrs. Cleo. Meilleur, ladies' first prize. C. J. Byrns was also awarded a prize. A very enjoyable evening was spent. The party broke up at 3 o'clock.

Where is Richard McDonald? Information as to the whereabouts of Richard McDonald, late of Blanchardville, Wis., now supposed to be somewhere in the lumber woods of the upper peninsula, is desired by Cornelius Kennedy of Ishpeming, Menominee, Escanaba and Iron Mountain papers will confer a favor by publishing the above.

Will Meet Tonight.

The final meeting of the Ishpeming city council will be held tonight. All business presented will be disposed of. Last night was the regular meeting night but as tonight had been set for the canvass of the vote cast in the municipal election the regular meeting was postponed until tonight, when the business of both will be taken up.

ROSA BONHEUR'S PETS.

Her Lions Love Her and Are Fed and Cared for with Freedom.

Rosa Bonheur loves the animals she paints, and is in turn adored by them. She showed her recent purchase, a magnificent lion, who purred and writhed like a gigantic cat when his owner fearlessly stroked his mighty head. Then, says the New York Commercial Advertiser, showing the head of a most superb specimen of the African lion transferred to canvas with startling realism, she tells the story of Nero. He was her first pet lion and lived for several years in the garden at By. At last one day Rosa Bonheur was about to travel and disposed of Nero to the Jardin des Plantes. She parted with him reluctantly, for he was a great pet, and would greet her always with a peculiar little note of welcome.

When she returned from her wanderings, two years later, she went to see her Nero and beheld a sad sight. The poor creature had not been so carefully tended as he was used to be at By. Ophthalmia had set in, and the splendid brute lay blind and ailing, unheeding the curious crowd that stared at him. Rosa Bonheur watched him for a moment and then called: "Nero!" The effect was magical. The lion rose to his feet, uttered his accustomed note of welcome and sprang toward the well-beloved voice with such impetuosity that the shock against the bars sent the sightless brute rolling, stunned, back on the floor. The great artist took him back, soothed his last days with attendance and petting, and finally he died in her arms at the foot of the staircase at By, his huge paws clinging to her. As if imploring her not to forsake him in his death struggle, and his last moment being a feeble attempt to lick the hands that held him with such infinite tenderness. "You see," said Rosa Bonheur, as she meditatively ruffled her new lion's mane, "to be really beloved by these wild beasts you must really love them."

The Growth of a City.

Pittsburgh, which used to be a little town squeezed down into the narrow triangle of the junction of the Alleghany and Monongahela, has grown into a city of unusually large area in proportion to its population. The city engineers were cutting streets through dense woodlands more than twenty years ago, and farms, miles from the city hall, were held at speculative prices. The city line is now more than six miles from the Ohio eastward, and its length between the Alleghany and Monongahela is between four and five miles.

GROWN BY THE ANCIENTS.

Asparagus is a Vegetable with Something of a Pedigree.

Of all the plants used for food, there is none which has been so long known, or has had, so to say, so distinguished a lineage as asparagus, says Chambers' Journal. Its record, in fact, reaches back to almost the commencement of authentic history, as it is mentioned by the comic poet Cratinus, who died about 425 B. C., and was a contemporary of, though slightly older than, Aristophanes.

Among the Romans, also, the tasty vegetable was held in high esteem. Cato the elder—not the gentleman who was of opinion that Plato reasoned well, but his great-grandfather, who insisted upon the destruction of Carthage, and who was born 234 B. C.—wrote a work which is still extant, "De Re Rustica," and in it he treats at length of the virtues and proper cultivation of asparagus. Pliny, also, in his "Natural History," (about 60 A. D.), has much to say on the subject. "Of all the productions of your garden," he feelingly observes, "your chief care will be your asparagus," and he devotes several chapters and parts of chapters to its many beneficial qualities and the best modes of raising it.

He asserts that, even in his day, the soil about Ravenna was so favorable to its production that three heads grown in that district had been known to weigh a Roman pound. As, however, this pound seems to have been equal to only about eleven of our ounces, it would apparently have required four of the stocks to reach a pound of our weight; but this result, considering the state of horticulture in those days, may be looked upon as wonderful enough, and has, in point of fact, only been equaled in our own times.

Not an Unusual Case. It's seldom I have any opportunities to do good," said the kind old lady, "but the other morning, after Darby Ann and me had cleaned all the snow off the sidewalks, I reckon I fed mo'n a dozen men that dropped in at different times to know if there wasn't some little job they could do so as to earn a bit or two of cold victuals."—Chicago Tribune.

seeing the World Move. It is possible by a simple experiment to demonstrate to the eye that the earth really moves; a fact which most of us at present take largely upon hearsay. Place upon the floor of a room, with closed doors and windows, a large bowl full of water. Sprinkle over the surface some powder that will not readily sink by wetting. The finest pulverized sandvut is excellent. Take care that it is placed in the middle of the surface of the water and does not touch the edges of the dish. Carefully scatter a very narrow line of charcoal over the sandvut and across from side to side of the bowl. Place a long, slender stick on the floor in a parallel line with the charcoal streak upon the sandvut. Leave the bowl and room undisturbed for a few hours, when it will be seen that the floating line is no longer in the same relative position to the stationary one. The explanation given of this is that the earth, in its motion carries the room and the bowl, but the water, having a slight inertia, moves more slowly, and revolves, as it were, in the bowl. To make this experiment entirely successful, it is necessary that there shall be no draughts or currents of air in the apartment and no perceptible jarring of the building.—N. Y. Ledger.

THE ONLY MAN IN THE WORLD. An Old Lady's Remark Which Moistened the Eyes of Every Healer.

In one corner of the car, near the door, sat a very old lady. Such a plain, almost shabby old body, with a queer black bonnet, of a style of years gone by, and a rusty black wrap. Her face was wrinkled and seamed and worn with age and care, and her slender old shoulders had begun to bend beneath the accumulating burden of years and the sorrow of this world.

"I declare, grandma! I don't see how you can sit there and take things so quietly! It's too provoking! It seems as though all the tiresome things in the world saved themselves up to happen between Christmas and New Year's!"

"There was no reply, and after an instant the young girl spoke again. "Doesn't it seem so to you, grandma?"

"The blue eyes that had been looking afar through the mist came back to consciousness of the impatient child. The wrinkled face bent itself tenderly toward her, but the smile about the faded lips was strangely wistful.

"I don't know, child," she said. "The season is always pleasant to me." And then softly, as though she had forgotten her hearer and was speaking to herself, "I was married between Christmas and New Year's sixty years ago--to the only man in the world."

AN EMPEROR'S HUMILITY.

Madame de Krudener's Wonderful Influence Over Alexander. When Madame de Krudener was in the zenith of her spiritual powers, says Charles Ford in his biography of her, she exercised a wonderful influence for good over Emperor Alexander, the most autocratic of all the rulers of Europe.

"One evening when the emperor was crossing the anteroom of Madame de Krudener's hotel, he turned to his attendant valet and asked him whether he had executed an order which he had given him.

"Yes, sire," stammered the mystified servant, and his imperial master, after thanking him, returned in a relieved frame of mind to his spiritual director.--Youth's Companion.

"During a large part of the reign of Louis XIII. and his successor masks were generally worn in public by ladies of quality. These artificial coverings were of black velvet, lined with white satin. They folded like a pocket-book, and were kept in place by a small glass button held between the teeth of the wearer.

"In the sixteenth century the faces of ladies were covered with a sort of enamel. It was brittle, and the wearers were obliged to preserve a fixed expression of countenance to keep it from cracking.

AN INDIAN BOY'S TRAINING. Bringing Up a Young Sioux in the Way He Would Grow.

The training of the Sioux begins when he listens to the songs of war, the songs of the chase, and the songs of the "Great Mystery," or Wakan-tanka; and these are the lullabies which we heard in our infancy. Of course there were some boys who were deprived of the training they needed, even in wild life; but the true and loving parents were ambitious and hopeful for their children as any civilized and educated parents could be.

"This sort of teaching at once enlightens the boy's mind and stimulates his ambition. His conception of his own future career becomes a vivid and irresistible force. Whatever there is for him to acquire must be acquired; whatever qualifications are necessary to a truly great warrior are wanted, he seeks at any expense of danger and hardship. Such was the feeling of the imaginative and brave young Indian.

It becomes apparent to him early in life that he must accustom himself to rove alone, and not to fear or dislike the impressions of solitude, but acquaint himself thoroughly with nature. Much has been said about Indian children's "instincts." To be sure, we inherited some of the characteristics of our ancestors, but the greater part of our faculties we had to acquire by practice. All the stoicism and patience of the Indian are acquired traits.

My uncle, who educated me, was a severe and strict teacher. When I left his teepee for the day, he would say to me: "Hakada, watch everything closely and observe its characteristics;" and at evening, on my return, he used to catechize me for an hour or so. "On which side of the trees is the light-colored bark? On which side do they have most regular branches?"

Down to the sixteenth century the extraordinary mixtures, both as to ingredients and seasonings, which prevailed, gave an indication of the tastes of the period. This blamable, or, as it is generally spelled, blanc-manger, instead of being merely a jelly of milk or cream, was formerly composed of the pounded flesh of poultry, boiled with rice and milk of almonds, and sweetened with sugar, while a mixture of the same kind, but colored with blood or sandal wood, was called a rose.

Momene or mawmone was a sort of porridge for which the cuisine of our own day affords no parallel. Its components were "plenty of wine and sugar, a quart of honey, a gallon of oil, a pound of powdered spices, together with ginger, cinnamon and galangale." (Cyperus longus) a plant much used for flavoring. All these were boiled together with the pounded flesh of eight capons, and the mess served in bowls like porridge, with (according to one recipe), a lighted wax candle stuck in the middle of each. Mortwres, a dish mentioned by Chaucer in his "Canterbury Tales," was held in great esteem.

It derived its name from the mortar in which the meat used in making it was pounded; and as the recipe is a representative one, we will here give it as it stands in the "Forme of Curry": "Take hennes and porke and sethe hom togidre. Take the lyre (flesh) of hennes and of the porke and hack it small and grinde it all to dust. Take bread gyrrated, and do (add) thereto, and temper it with the self broth (i. e. the broth in which it was boiled), and alye (mix) it with zelkes of ayern, (yolks of eggs), and cast thereon powder fort (pepper) and boil it; and do thereto powder of gynger, saffron, and salt, and luke that it is standing, (stiff) and flour it all with powder of gynger."--Quartley Review.

In 1617, Sturdy, the Jesuit philosopher, conceived the idea that the two magnets might be connected in such a way as to move sympathetically, and that if two persons devised a prearranged code they might communicate with each other at any distance. The idea is pleasantly enlarged upon in Addison's Spectator, in which he imagines that two lovers are provided with magnets and dials properly lettered so as to enable them to communicate with each other at any time.

"The sentence is that ye be hanged," said a Welsh judge to a poor criminal; "and I hope it may prove a warning to you."--Tit-Bits.

Things are different. Chili could just jump on a little, unarmed band of American sailors, on shore to avoid surry, and "astonish" them with her military prowess. But when it came to the American nation, the just the slow anger, but terrible when aroused, UNCLE SAM was there and there was no question but what he "was in it." It was something, after all, to be an AMERICAN CITIZEN. It means a GOOD DEAL. The same is true of Dr. Fenner's Kidney and Bladder Cure. It means everything, when it is known and used by those who are in need. If you are bowed down with kidney disease, female weakness, or blood impurities, together with their results, backache, haggard looks, skin eruptions, rheumatism, drowsy, constipation, the blues, weariness, headaches, erysipelas, salt rheum, or any kindred affection, as well as heart disease, phthisis, dropsy, etc., its use means a restoration to health, an elastic step, florid cheeks, strength and happiness. In short it means "ing 'em back" again. If you are in need take a bottle home to-day. If you are satisfied not given money refunded.

WHO WANTS THE BABY?

Woman Leaves Her Child in Little Girl's Arms and Then Skips.

BABY TAKEN TO CONVENT AND OFFICERS NOTIFIED.

Selfish Parent Traced to Copper Country and if Found Will Be Brought Back.

TOO YOUNG FOR THE HOME.

The orphan's home, under charge of the Catholic sisters of this city, has a child at present within its walls that is causing a good deal of hustling on the part of certain authorities and which does not appear to be specially wanted by any person.

Tuesday afternoon a rather fine appearing woman about twenty years of age presented herself at the home carrying a very handsome boy of nine months in her arms. She told a story calculated to excite pity and arouse sympathy and wished the sisters to take charge of her child. She was told that the rules of the home only permitted the admission of children of two years and over and while the sisters would like to help the young woman they had no alternative but to obey their rules. It was explained how difficult, if not impossible, it was for the institution to take proper care of such young children as the one presented, and the mother, apparently satisfied, left.

A short distance down the street from the convent she met a little girl, daughter of Henry Seigel, and asked if she would be good enough to hold her baby until she went down town. The little girl obligingly complied and took the little one in her arms. The woman instructed her to walk up toward the convent and she would shortly return and relieve her of her charge.

The young girl, who is only about nine years of age, promenade with the somewhat heavy baby until she was almost exhausted but the woman who had persuaded her to act as nurse, did not return. Finally the girl, crying from exhaustion and annoyance at her peculiar position, brought the babe to the convent and was relieved of her burden by the sisters. The police were notified and started a search for the missing woman.

It was learned a person answering the description of the absent-minded mother had taken the South Shore train to the copper country. Inquiries by wire were sent to Houghton and it is understood the woman was located at Red Jacket. Whether the person suspected will prove the right one or not cannot be determined until the officers sent after her return. The child is said to be a fine, handsome, bright boy, in excellent health and something which ordinary mothers would be proud of. But the parent in question does not appear to belong to the most desirable class of mothers else she would scarcely wish to leave her child in the arms of a little girl, not knowing what its fate might be. The sisters hope the mother may be found and compelled to take better care of what evidently belongs to her and whose duty it is to look after and care for it.

Brisking Up Realty.

M. E. Asire the hustling real estate man, is again to the front with a new and novel scheme whereby the investor of moderate means may procure for himself and family a comfortable home on small monthly payments with a small cash payment down.

The scheme is to sell fifteen lots in the North Marquette addition, situated in Blocks 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5, and fronting on Presque Isle avenue, on the line of the electric street railway, at a uniform price of $300 each. Mr. Asire has now in course of erection upon five of these lots a family cottage valued at $400. After the fifteen lots are disposed of, buyers will meet at the office of Mr. Asire and by a method, to be hereafter determined, each will draw his allotment. Whether it will be a vacant lot or a house and lot the drawing must decide.

The fact must not be lost sight of that $300 each is the price which has been asked for the bare lots so that no matter whether a buyer draws a lot with a cottage on or one without he is assured of receiving full value for his money. The terms of sale will make the investment so easy that almost any wage earner in the city may take advantage of it. It is an excellent opportunity to secure a home or it bought only as an investment and a house and lot results the rental of the house alone would probably return the amount of the original expenditure in four or five years.

North Marquette seems booming of late and Mr. Asire is determined to make it the most populous addition to the city. There are now nineteen houses in the addition built and occupied, three more receiving finishing touches, which with the five to be built on the lots embraced in this special sale will make quite a settlement on land which a few years back was nothing but dense woods.

W. A. Ross and M. H. Foard will have charge of the sale of this property and they are primed and ready to talk the scheme over with any person curious enough to make inquiries.

Getting Ready for Summer.

The electric railway company is putting its plant and equipment in first-class condition for the coming summer season. Superintendent Retallic has begun overhauling all the cars and yesterday finished No. 3, putting it on the Presque Isle route. The entire car was gone through in a thorough manner and is now as serviceable as a brand new one. The old headlights on the top have been replaced by encased electric lights with powerful reflectors, which will add much to the safety with which the motormen may operate the cars, particularly along the dark stretch of track in Presque Isle avenue, where the only accidents reported last year happened.

The other cars will quickly follow suit until all are in perfect order. The snow trouble of last winter was quite a strain on the cars and made repairs necessary so they might successfully handle the anticipated travel of this season. Workmen will soon begin putting the track in shape, which the frost has got slightly out of ballast. In short, the company will see that every foot of the line, every car and all the machinery at the power house are put in the best possible condition to assure Marquette citizens a better service than ever before.

Same Old Chestnut.

An alarm of fire shortly after 6 o'clock last night called the fire department out to smell the dead smoke which a burning chimney in John Crowl's house, Division street, had caused. Of course the slight blaze was out long before the firemen arrived. They had not to get off their carts and what should have been the occasion of something demanding serious work simply resulted in exercise for the horses and an outing for the men.

THE MINING JOURNAL once before suggested that it would be a good thing for the safety of the city to have regular inspections of chimneys and fire flues by regularly appointed persons, something in the nature of fire wardens. The suggestion is again offered but with the additional reason that such an inspection would be a matter of decided economy. Every flue in Marquette might be thoroughly inspected and ordered cleaned for less money than it has cost to have the fire department answer alarms resulting from burning chimneys and senseless excitement during the past three months.

Why not have the city employ some capable person to make a tour of the city at stated intervals and cause the cleaning of every dirty chimney and the repair of every dangerous one? This would seem to be the cheapest and best way to offset the useless expense which needless alarms are causing the taxpayers.

Last Month's Weather.

The local weather bureau has compiled statistics for the month just past, showing the variations in temperature, etc., and comparing it with the same month during twenty-two years past. The average temperature for March last was several degrees above the average for the twenty-two years. Highest temperature, 56 on the 4th, lowest 5 on the 29th. On the 14th the mercury frisked through a range of 32 degrees and on the 22nd was almost stationary, varying only 3 degrees. The mean barometric pressure was 29.93; highest barometer, 30.39; lowest, 29.32.

The prevailing winds were from the northwest and they managed to run up a grand total of 8,973 miles, striking a pace of forty-one miles an hour on the 30th. The total precipitation was 4.14 inches, which was only exceeded by that of 1891, with a fall of 4.45 inches. The average precipitation for March during twenty-two years was 1.70 inches, thus showing an excess for the past month of 2.66 inches. There was not a clear day reported, but 14 cloudy and 17 partly cloudy.

Rifles Will Entertain.

The Marquette Rifles will entertain honorary members in the Armory to-night beginning promptly at 8 o'clock. Each honorary member is cordially invited and earnestly expected to be present. The proceedings will consist of an exhibition drill and varied athletic sports up in the hall, following which a luncheon will be served in the dining room concluding with speeches, songs and such pleasantries as good fellowship may suggest. The new Ishpeming squad of seven will be down to take part in the festivities and the mandolin, guitar and banjo sextette club, which gave such excellent music at the Rifles' charity entertainment a short time ago, will be a prominent feature of the post prandial diversions. From past specimens of Rifles' entertaining it is safe to predict a right royal time to-night.
