MURDER OF PADDOCK WORSE THAN A CRIME.

Gigantic Blunder for the Strikers and Has Deprived Them of All Public Sympathy.

SCAMPING OUT DISORDER.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 5.—The arrest of L. R. Davis, president of the local Mineworkers association, and his lodgment in jail today, has placed the strikers in a state of bewilderment throughout the region and the abandonment of the strike within the next twelve hours is predicted.

The charge on which Davis was arrested is murder in connection with the deaths in yesterday's riots. He was taken out of a mob of 125 strikers at noon at Scottdale. His arrest has disconcerted the contemplated raids and it is said that nothing further will be done by the strikers in the absence of their leader till a meeting of delegates from all over the region can be held.

In fact this move has spread consternation in the ranks of the strikers and many favor giving up the fight. There are ninety-five rioters in jail here, leaders in the movement. At Mount Braddock 500 strikers assembled and have destroyed some property, but no encounter is feared as nobody is at work. The murder of J. H. Paddock has turned public sentiment against the strikers.

EIGHT CORPSES FOUND.

Today the bodies of eight Hungarians were found in the woods near Dawson. They were lying in different sections of the woods, all with bullet holes through the body and more or less beaten. Where they came from or by whom killed is yet unknown. It is supposed they were shot yesterday by the deputies during the attack on the Bradford works and crawled into the woods to die. In the conflict at these works several volleys were fired and one Hungarian was killed on the spot. The bodies have been identified as members of this mob. They are still lying in the woods, the authorities refusing to care for them.

President Davis of the mine workers regrets yesterday's outbreak and declares the foreign element could not be controlled. He feels confident that he cannot be connected with the killing of Paddock. He will ask his release on bail under a writ of habeas corpus.

It developed this afternoon that Alexander Markey was today made president of the Mineworkers to succeed Davis on account of the latter being in jail and unable to act. Markey is an old strike leader and announces that no stone will be left unturned to force suspension everywhere and declares the strikers are not discouraged.

STRIKERS ARE DISCOURAGED.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 5.—Unless there is a radical change in the situation in the Pennsylvania coal region tonight the strike of the miners and cokers is about broken. The authorities have taken a firm stand and are determined to put down the rioters at any cost. This policy has thrown the lawbreakers into a state of demoralization. Small outbreaks occurred in several places this morning, but the strikers lost courage and the mobs commenced to diminish in size and by the time half the route of each mob was covered its forces had almost completely disbanded. The strikers are still making threats of breaking into the jail here and setting those imprisoned free.

A meeting of the strikers was held at Dunbar this evening at which the great weakness was shown and they will not meet again during the night. Reports received at a late hour show that the strikers are disbanding at every point and the men appear completely subdued.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 5.—Governor Pattison's advice tonight from the Connellsville coke region indicate that quiet is restored and that there is no need of calling out the troops to assist the local authorities.

COLUMBUS, O., April 5.—The state convention of the Mine workers has decided in favor of a general strike May 1 unless the operators restore the old scale.

INDIANS SURROUNDED.

That Scrap in Oklahoma Has Cost Two Score Lives.

EL RENO, O. K., April 5.—A courier from the scene of the battle between the cowboys and Indians says the fight is still in progress, and that twenty-eight Indians and fourteen soldiers and settlers are known to be killed. The soldiers have been fighting since Wednesday evening. The Indians are practically surrounded on the Washita river, but bushwhacking continues, each party shooting at every opportunity.

The sheriffs of G and H counties have organized parties and have gone to the assistance of the settlers. All the soldiers from Fort Reno are now in the field except three troops of cavalry. The courier comes in for ammunition and assistance. A party was hastily organized here and left for the scene at noon. The report that a number of soldiers have been killed causes the greatest excitement and alarm and parties are organizing and going to the fight.

EXID, O. T., April 5.—Additional news from the seat of Indian war is unobtainable tonight. The settlers in the southwestern part of the territory are becoming alarmed at the aspect of affairs and in many instances are preparing to flee at a moment's notice. They are apprehensive that there will be a general outbreak of several tribes if the troops do not get them corralled soon.

'T' WAS A CLEAN SWEEP.

George P. Wetmore Will Be Rhode Island's Next Senator.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 5.—Corrected returns of yesterday's elections show that Governor Brown is re-elected by over 6000 plurality and the entire Republican ticket by the same vote. The Republicans have 102 out of 108 members of the legislature on joint ballot. The Democratic strongholds, Newport, Pawtucket, Scituate, Cumberland and Tiverton, returned handsome Republican majorities. The next United States senator will be Republican and as George P. Wetmore was accepted by convention his election is assured.

TOO HEALTHY TO WORK.

Frye and his "industrial army" will leave East St. Louis tomorrow morning and go to camp on the national trip-trip near Collinsville. This move is made by order of Chief-of-Police Walsh of East St. Louis, who is determined that after tomorrow the city shall be rid of these vagrants who refuse to work for good wages. Two hundred members of the "army" were today offered work by the water board at laying pipes. They were offered $1.50 per day for one year but refused to accept, saying they were not here to dig mud and lay pipe but were going to Washington to enforce legislation in their behalf.

COXEY KEEPS ON MOVING.

PITTSBURG, April 5.—Coxey's "army" broke camp this morning and resumed the tramp toward Washington with 300 men in line. It will camp at Homestead tonight and then march to McKeesport. The "army" passed over the main thoroughfares of Pittsburgh, which were thronged with spectators. At Homestead a crowd of 500 met the Commonwealers and headed by the Homestead Steel Works band paraded the principal streets to the circus grounds, where dinner was served and camp pitched.

SIXTY BUNS LEFT BEHIND.

Sixty-seven members of Coxey's "Army" were arrested on the streets of Allegheny last night and at today's hearing thirty-five were discharged and thirty-two sent to the work house. The workhouse now has sixty members of the Commonwealth for the next month.

Dr. Kirtland, the astrologer, and "Weary Her" no longer belong to the Commonwealth. They were ignominiously dismissed for appearing as freaks in a dime museum here and their names were scratched off the roll. Coxey said: "We will have no dime museum freaks in this aggregation."

OAKLAND, CAL., APRIL 5.—The regiment of the "industrial army" from San Francisco made arrangements with the railroad and left tonight on a train of box cars for Sacramento.

TROOPS ARE WITHDRAWN.

Governor Tillman Will Now Properly Punish the Mutineers.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 5.—Darlington and Florence are no longer in insurrection and tomorrow the state troops will evacuate those now famous localities and proceed to this city to receive the "well done" of Governor Tillman together with $1.50 per day. The governor tonight issued a proclamation stating: "The insurgents are dispersed and the civil authorities are now able to uphold and enforce the law." Governor Tillman is already beginning to reorganize the state militia. He intimates that there will be a series of court-martials.

DARLINGTON, S. C., APRIL 5.—The coroner's jury has rendered a verdict holding McLendon for the killing of Norment, Cain for the killing of Redmond and that Redmond killed Piper.

CONFIDENCE RETURNING.

Showing of Last Bank Statement Is Very Encouraging.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—A summary of reports from all the 3,777 national banks in the country under recent call shows that the lawful money reserve Feb. 28, 1894, was $433,980,261. The aggregate reserve Dec. 19, 1893, the date of the last call, was $414,135,407. Comptroller Eckels regards the financial situation as shown by the bank statements as quite encouraging. Loans and discounts are materially increased and the general showing indicates rapidly increasing confidence and a return to normal business activity.

SEMI-MONTHLY REVOLUTION.

Expected to Arrive in Costa Rica on Schedule Time.

NEW YORK, April 5.—A special to The World from San Jose, Costa Rica, says a revolt is expected there hourly. The troops are held in the barracks awaiting orders. The elections were a farce and the announcement of Iglecia's election, although a foregone conclusion, has excited great dissatisfaction.

MUST HOOF IT EASTWARD.

St. Louis Railroad Managers Refuse to Carry Fry's Army.

ST. LOUIS, April 5.—Representatives of the eastbound roads met today and decided not to transport Fry's division of Coxey's army eastward. On learning this decision the chief of police of East St. Louis, where the army is encamped, notified Fry to take his followers out of the city limits at once.

Liberals Hold the Seat.

LONDON, April 5.—The election today to fill the vacancy in the house of commons caused by the retirement of John W. Phillips, Liberal member for Mid-Lanarkshire, resulted in the return of Caldwell, the Liberal candidate.

VICTORY FOR THE MEN.

Judge Caldwell's Very Important Decision in the Union Pacific Case.

RECEIVERS BOUND BY WAGE CONTRACTS.

Cannot Reduce Wages Without Giving Notice—Contract to Labor Not Enforceable by Injunction.

RECEIVERS ARE IN ERROR.

OMAHA, April 5.—Judge Caldwell's decision in the Union Pacific wage schedule case was rendered this morning and is a complete victory for the employes. The decision is very long. The court begins by saying that the relations of the company and the men are fixed by certain rules, regulations and schedules, some of which have been in effect more than a quarter of a century. Such able officials as S. H. H. Clark and Edward Dickinson had testified that the labor organizations with whose cooperation and consent these governing rules had been established and continued had improved the morals and efficiency of their men and confessedly had assisted in making the Union Pacific one of the best managed and conducted roads in the country.

Among the rules in operation, when the road went into the hands of receivers, was one to the effect that no change in the rules, regulations or rate of wages should be made without thirty days notice to the employes' organizations affected. The court then recites how the receivers came into court last January to force a reduction in violation of this rule, claiming they were not bound by agreements entered into by the management before the receivership.

Coming down to the series of conferences between the receivers and the representatives of the labor organizations of the road just concluded under the directions of the court, he shows that the rules and regulations governing the employment of train dispatchers and telegraphers, one of the most difficult branches to subject to such restrictions, had been agreed on between the road and the men and had been confirmed by the court, showing the value of good temper and intelligent inquiry. This was done in face of the fact that the receivers had represented to the court in the first place that these rules and regulations were unnecessary.

Judge Caldwell goes on to say: "When the court takes upon itself the operation of a great line of railroad, the men engaged in doing its work become employes of the court and are entitled to its protection. Sober, intelligent, experienced men are an indispensable requisite for safe and successful operation of the road. In view of these facts the court will not on light or trivial grounds dispense with their services or reduce their wages, especially of the schedule of wages is a mutual one and therefore presumably reasonable. The receivers, only one of whom is a practical railroad man, have not shown that the present schedule is not reasonable."

Judge Caldwell said he was anxious to preserve the investments of the owners of this road, but to do this the wages of the men must not be unreasonably reduced, even though no dividends be paid on the stock or interest on the bonds. The court would take into consideration the historical fact that for the first $36,000,000 of stock issued the road received less than 2 per cent on the dollar and the profit on construction was represented by outstanding bonds of $43,929,328.

Furthermore, the receivers in asking the court to put into effect the reduced schedule had violated the agreement requiring the men to be given notice or opportunity to be heard. If the men had broken this contract the receivers would have had no recourse, because the court could not have enjoined the employes to continue in service.

"Specific performance of a contract to render service," says Judge Caldwell, "cannot be enforced by injunctions, by pains, penalties or other means. The period of compulsory service, save as a punishment for crime, has passed in this country. It is not unlawful for employes to confer and associate together to maintain or increase wages peacefully, any more than it is unlawful for the receivers to reduce them. A corporation is organized capital. Organized labor is organized capital. What is lawful for one is lawful for the other."

"In the opinion of the court the schedules now in force are equitable and just. Under them the employes are spared the burdens of diminished business. It is no more contempt of court to interfere with property in the hands of receivers than with any other property—for it is unlawful to interfere with any property. Therefore no injunction against the men, as asked, will be issued."

Judge Caldwell closed by saying he hoped that hereafter differences between labor and capital would be adjusted by appeal to reason, not to passion, by appeal to courts, not to strikes or violence. After the decision was rendered the engineers met and passed resolutions thanking Judge Caldwell.

WHO KILLED CALLAHAN?

Coroner's Jury Says That It Cannot Decide the Question.

KANSAS CITY, April 5.—Coroner Langsdale and a jury examined witnesses today in an effort to fit the responsibility for the death of Mike Callahan, killed in Tuesday's election riot. Nine witnesses gave complete accounts of the affair. Not one witness admitted that he had taken any part in the fight. The jury brought in a verdict that Callahan was killed by unknown hands.

MARQUETTE, MICH., APRIL 6.

Entered as mailmatter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

IN THE scramble for the customs collectorship at Duluth Olund came out a winner. The appointee is a Swede by birth and is said to be a very competent man. His appointment is well received at Duluth by all save the unsuccessful aspirants and their backers.

DULUTH'S new mayor has issued an order directing that public gambling must be stopped in that city, and the proprietors of the "open houses" there have been notified to shut them. They will "pull down the blinds" and keep right on doing business at the old stands, but a trifle more cautiously, in all probability. The time may come when gambling will be suppressed in Duluth, but it is far along in the future.

THE country is to be congratulated on having the seigniorage bill disposed of finally by the action of the house on the president's veto of that measure Wednesday. This settles it that there can be no reactionary legislation on silver at this session of congress, and when it comes to electing the next president the people will know what the danger in that direction is and will be able to guard against it.

Not having anything else foolish to do just now the Democrats of the house are spending much of their time in unseating Republican members whose seats are contested by Democrats—thus increasing a majority in that branch of congress ready so large that it is unmanageable. If they should unseat a number of Democrats and put Republicans in their places they would be acting more wisely. The Democratic majority in the house would be much more serviceable to that party if it was cut down in some way. The people will do some pruning on it on their own account next November.

IT is not improbable that the Republicans of the Sixth Minnesota district will put up Charles A. Towne of Duluth as their candidate for congress in the coming election. He is a fluent speaker and full of ambition, and would make a strong run if nominated. The district is naturally Republican, though the Populists and Democrats have taken it in turn in the last two elections. If Towne should be the nominee he will be the next member from that district, for it embraces the iron region of Minnesota, where there has been a large increase in the voting strength of the party since the last election through the development of the Mesaba range, while the Populist movement has lost ground in the western part of the district within the past year. Mr. Towne would make an influential representative and THE MINING JOURNAL would be pleased to see him sent to Washington to serve his district in that capacity.

DONNELLY and Sims will hold a joint debate on the A. P. A. order, its aims and tendencies, at the Lyceum theater at Duluth on the 12th of this month. They met in joint debate on the same subject at Milwaukee recently and the discussion attracted a packed house. Donnelly is not a Catholic, but disapproves of the A. P. A., and Sims has been put forward as the most docty champion of his order, so the discussion naturally excites deep interest. Although their champion is not a member of their faith the Catholics have no reason to complain of the arrangement, for besides having the best side of the argument Donnelly is intellectually far superior to his opponent, and the controversy will not tend to make converts for the A. P. A. What this A. P. A. business needs is that all the light possible shall be thrown upon it. The more discussion of this kind that we have the better for the country and the worse for the A. P. A.

"THE WORLD is full of discontent. Machinery is doing nearly all the skilled labor. Capital is concentrated in a few hands. Energies are dormant. Enterprise is under cover. The world cannot pay for and consume what machinery can produce." We quote the opening sentences of an editorial article in The Evening Patriot of Jackson, and it will not be questioned that they express much that is true. The displacement of skilled labor by labor-saving machinery with no adjustment of the working hours of labor to compensate for the increased productive capacity thus obtained has brought about an immense over-production that has in turn led to a competition that has cut prices to the bone. With the cut in prices of products of labor has come a reduction of the wages of labor itself, and the widespread distress and discontent have followed as a natural consequence. But how shall these things be remedied? That is the question of the hour. It is easy enough to locate the trouble but quite another thing to find a remedy that will cure it.

THERE will be general satisfaction with the action of the president in pardoning Silvola, the ex-postmaster of Calumet, who was convicted of having made improper use of postoffice funds while in charge of the Calumet postoffice, but was not sentenced, an appeal having been taken in the case and sentence having been suspended in order that he might be given a hearing in a higher court. There were extenuating circumstances in the case, Silvola really having used the money to pay for additional clerical service before the business of the office had been adjusted after the Red Jacket and Calumet offices had been consolidated, and doing this on the recommendation of Pulcifer, the notorious inspector who was bounced soon after the present administration went into power. Subsequently Pulcifer, in the hope of ingratiating himself with the Democrats, swooped down on Silvola, found a shortage because of the expenditures he himself had recommended, and reporting this, secured Silvola's removal and the institution of criminal proceedings against him which resulted in his conviction, as stated. The president's action rights a wrong done Mr. Silvola. Mr. Peter White of this city, who exerted himself to procure Silvola's pardon, received a dispatch from Washington Wednesday announcing that it had been granted, which afforded him much satisfaction.

IT WILL NOT DOWN. The Duluth Commonwealth does not yield ready credence to belief that tariff agitation will cease with the enactment of the tariff bill now before congress. It observes that—

The people who have been crying out against the intimate relations between trusts and tariffs will not cease crying out so long as half of the trusts are beautifully taken care of.

The other trusts that have not been taken care of will not cease to besiege congress until they, too, are taken care of or the country quits the whole business.

Meanwhile industry and commerce must reconcile itself as best it can to the prospect of perpetual agitation. If the Republicans had won in 1892 they would have been amending the tariff. If the Democrats, passing this measure, should by a miracle win in 1894, they would be amending the tariff next year.

With clamorous special interests on one side and a fierce hatred of special legislation on the other, and a great body of voters swayed by the passion of the moment, wavering between this conflict of calculation and ideal, you may reckon upon tariff agitation as long as we have a tariff.

But it isn't necessary for business to stand stock still every time anybody makes a tariff speech. No doubt the people, or a large portion of them, will keep "crying out" for tariff changes while the tariff is kept before them as a political issue whether they have any occasion to cry out or not.

If this congress adopts a tariff reduction measure, as now seems likely, before it will have time to work out results a president and congress pledged to high protection may—in all probability will—be installed in power, and then the old contention will again arise, and a high tariff bill will be passed. The pendulum will then swing to the other side and the reaction against a high tariff will be fomented by the politicians until we once more have the government turned over to the tariff reductionists to let them work their will in the matter of tariff legislation. There is but one way THE MINING JOURNAL can see to ensure such stability of the tariff schedule as will prevent the business of the country from being disturbed as it has been for years past by unnecessary and ill-advised changes. That way is to take the work of enquiring into the needs of the country in this particular, and recommending legislation to meet them, out of the hands of a congressional committee and lodging it in a tariff commission made up of men fitted for such investigation and counsel. Such a commission should be appointed by the president, subject to the approval of the senate. It should be non-partisan, and its members should be appointed to serve at least five years. The recommendations of a commission such as outlined would be made after proper research and could not fail to carry weight. Neither party would then be in a position to ignore them, and the result would be that the tariff question would be taken out of politics. Tariff changes would then be less frequent, and less disturbing to business when made, for they would be made with reference to business conditions and necessities, and not, as now, with a view to having them accord with a political platform hastily thrown together and adopted during the heat and turmoil of a partisan convention.

This would be a business way of dealing with a business question. Is there any good reason why it should not be adopted?

RED JACKET, MICH.

HERE IS THE POINT. A NEW DEPARTURE. On the old plan the honest, prompt paying customer pays for the loss incurred by the dead beats. On a cash basis there are no dead beats. Today many persons pay high prices for an entire year for the sake of getting a ten or eleven per cent rebate at the close of the year. We give 20 to 40 per cent when goods are bought which knock the wind out of waiting 12 long months. You want to know how we can do it. 1st—We have no high salaried bookkeeper; no manager to pay; goods sold at small profits turned over twelve times a year for cash only will make money for us. The mistake of the pass-books are avoided. Our sales people can sell three times as many goods as the credit dealing clerks. We invite your close inspection of our prices and methods to convince you of what we have said.

OUR NEW LINE OF

Groceries and Provisions

To our large variety of Dry Goods and Clothing, etc., we have added a large department of Groceries and Provisions which we will sell at Steinmeyers & De Cremer's prices. On only a few very heavy, low priced goods will we make any freight charges, and in this case our car-load rates are very much lower than you could get freight for. So if you now send your money away for goods you will be the loser as we will sell the best goods at the same prices charged in the large cities you send to. We also save you lots of bother and expense, as well as the risk of losing your money. With us you see what you buy. Come in any time after Saturday, March 17, 1894, and we will save you from 20 to 40 per cent.

Devoted Husband Gave It to Woman He Now Says Was Merely His Mistress

GALLANT KENTUCKY COLONEL

WASHINGTON, April 5.—At the opening of the Pollard-Breckinridge case this morning Miss Pollard was called to the witness stand by the defense for further cross-examination.

The next witness was Mrs. Liddie, matron of the founding asylum in 1869. Being shown the record of a child brought there by a large colored woman with a paper pinned to its clothing.

William B. Moore, health officer of Cincinnati, testified that no return of births attended by Dr. Mary Parsons in February 1893 was made.

The first witness called by the plaintiff's attorneys in rebuttal was Dr. William A. Cowan, first cousin of Miss Pollard.

Another relative of the plaintiff, Charles Sawyer, testified that he lived in the same house (Aunt Keene's) near Lexington with Miss Pollard from 1880 to 1883.

Mrs. McClelland Brown, wife of the former principal of Wesleyan seminary at Cincinnati, took the stand in rebuttal of Rossell's testimony.

Mrs. Louise Lowell was recalled and over objections of the defense was permitted to tell the substance of the letter to "my dear sister Louise," which Breckinridge is alleged to have written about the plaintiff.

Mary Yancey who cooked in the house of Mrs. Thomas at 1810 H street last May, was next called.

Mary proceeded to tell how one day in May after the secret marriage to Mrs. Wing Breckinridge lunched with Miss Pollard.

"Every man has his own vocation. There is one direction in which all space is open to him. He has faculties silently inviting him thither to endless exertion. He is like a ship in a river; he runs against obstructions on every side, but one, on that side all obstruction is taken away, and he sweeps serenely over a deepening channel into an infinite sea."—Emerson.

A HEATED ARGUMENT.

It Might Have Been Better or Worse if They Had Only Had a Dictionary. It is a lamentable fact that a difference of opinion as to pronunciation sometimes becomes provocative of irascible behavior.

Not long since a robust, disputative collegian—his clothes of the latest Fall Mall cut, his carmine bifurcated necktie ornamented with a solitaire, his hair dressed with oleomargarine and perfumed with ambergris, his face innocent of hirate adornment, but his mouth guilty of nicotine—formed a sonle, splenic lawyer that he did not pronounce according to the dictionary.

"For," observed the young man, with an air of research, "in your Tuesday's address you said that the sight of cements sufficed to enervate an attorney; that a salamander treated for obesity with prussic acid and pomegranate rind, was disinclined to serpentine movements; that during a soporific discourse delivered to a concourse of youths, eleven exiguous, sacrilegious dwarfs, though under surveillance, made grimaces at an aged man sitting on a three-legged stool; that one of these supple, exile fellows of interesting genealogy, being rebuked, looked contrite, but immediately frescoed with cocaine and marmalade; that in an Aldine edition of a legal work you read of a lugubrious man afflicted with virulent varioloid and purulent eczema, for which a foetid gynecologist injected iodine and cayenne pepper with a syringe warmed in a chaldron of tepid syrup—a malpractice suit being the result. By the way you had a dictionary?"

"Dictionary," replied the lawyer, "pugh! It is a granary from which the pronunciation fiend fills his commissariat with orthoepic romances and vagaries—which to him grow into a philologic fetish; and this fetishism finds outward expression in a supercilious ostentation of erudite vacuity."

Nothing daunted the young man continued: "You said, 'According to precedent it was obligatory upon him to plait his hair as his nomad parents had done, and precedent to stepping under the mistletoe indulged in fulsome praise of himself, hoping thereby to induce a favorite girl to join him. But she being averse to undergoing an ordeal so irrefragably embarrassing, whereupon his features became immobile with chagrin.' This is a verbatim quotation. You sometimes consult a dictionary?"

"Young man," retorted the lawyer, his aquiline nose quivering with derisive disdain, "to illustrate the inconsistency of a dictionary, see how demagoguery is pronounced; then turn to pedagogy."

"Pardon me, I was speaking of you. In your peroration this occurs: 'An incognito communist, being commandant on the frontier, in one of his hunting expeditions came upon an Indian, who, to the accompaniment of the sounding wind, was softly playing a flageolet, for the purpose of quieting a wounded hydrophobic Bengal tiger penned up in a hovel. The colonel's companion, a Malay from Singapore, acting as seneschal or pursuivant suggested laughing the rampant animal, or giving it some dynamite, morphine and saline yeast. A nose was adjusted and the nauseous dose administered, whereupon the combative tiger coming in premature contact with a dilapidated divan, bade adieu to things sublunary and proceeded to grace the empyrean.' You have a dictionary?"

The old man becoming angered at the rallery of this question, and at the cherubic smile of superiority with which it was asked, launched forth in an obtruding tirade; insisting that he did not regard himself sacrilegious to see him try other subjects occasionally. "Have I a dictionary?" thundered he; "dictionary be hanged!"

Here archangels began the sonorous chanting of the music of a bolero, and the disputants adjourned sine die.—Washington Post.

A Desirable Disqualification. "We need a new office-boy, sir," said the book-keeper. "Very well," replied the proprietor; "advertise for one. Add to the advertisement: 'One not afflicted with the stamp-collecting fever preferred.'"—Judge.

Scrofula Cured—Blood Purified by Hood's Sarsaparilla. "C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. 'It is with pleasure that I send a testimonial concerning what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for my daughter. It is a wonderful medicine and I cannot recommend it too highly. Sarah, who is fourteen years old, has been afflicted with Scrofula ever since she was one year old. For five years she has had a running sore on one side of her face. We tried every remedy known without a cure, but nothing did her any good until we commenced using Hood's Sarsaparilla. My married daughter advised me to use Hood's Sarsaparilla because it had cured her of dyspepsia. Since childhood, she has had a running sore on one side of her face. We tried every remedy known without a cure, but nothing did her any good until we commenced using Hood's Sarsaparilla. My married daughter advised me to use Hood's Sarsaparilla because it had cured her of dyspepsia. Since childhood, she has had a running sore on one side of her face. How Lindholm Beat John W. Jochim Out of Party of a Month's Salary.

DREW IT AND SENT WORTHLESS CHECK FOR THE AMOUNT.

Superintendent of Poor Allen's interview With an Angry Ishpeming Landlord.

MORE OF HIS CROOKEDNESS.

A few days before leaving Lansing the absconding ex-deputy secretary of state, August W. Lindholm, drew his private check on a Lansing bank in favor of ex-Secretary of State John W. Jochim of this city for $43 and forwarded it to Mr. Jochim here. This was a portion of Mr. Jochim's salary for last month. The check was deposited here and a few days later, when it was presented at Lansing for payment, it was discovered that Lindholm had no account with the bank, his balance having been drawn by him before he left Lansing.

Lindholm was in the habit of drawing Mr. Jochim's salary every month and sending him a check bearing his own signature for the amount. Lindholm also drew the salaries of the employees under him in the secretary's department. This he was not authorized to do, but somehow he had been doing it from the time he had first took charge of the office. Evidently Mr. Jochim is out part of his month's pay unless the state sees fit to make it good.

Not Paying Rent.

Quite frequently W. J. Allen, the superintendent of poor, is called on to pay the rent of some family receiving aid from the county. Some of the landlords in such cases are persons in no way dependant on their rents for support. These have caused Mr. Allen considerable annoyance of late. They think that because the county is taking care of their tenants it should also pay their rents and stand responsible for them.

Of late the number of rent applications have been greater than they were a few months ago. Mr. Allen has determined not to pay rent for any one hereafter. He thinks the county is doing its share toward helping the needy without paying rent to landlords who can well afford to get along without it. On Wednesday a man who has called on him frequently of late endeavoring to obtain last month's rent for one of his tenants paid him another visit. He had "blood" in his eyes and was bound to get his money if strong talk would fetch it, but he went away empty-handed. Mr. Allen declining to either pay his claim or argue the matter with him.

AN UGLY DUCKLING.

The Great Transformation Effected in Her by a Sensible Woman.

She never thought she had any points; she had quite made up her mind to the irredeemable ugliness which she had been told was her lot. Then spoke a good, sweet, wise woman: "Ask your mother to let you come to spend the day with me when next you are going to a party, and we will see what can be done." So the poor, ugly duckling went, and this is what her fairy godmother did for her.

She took her first for a short expedition, which interested and amused, but did not tire her. Then she gave her a thoroughly comfortable lunch, and made her lie down in a warm room for two or three hours. The short, refreshing sleep induced by the warmth and quiet and take it easy, else a tired expression comes into the face. She allowed no hasty washing with water to irritate the skin, but refreshed her face gently with a cloth dipped in rosewater. She kept up a running commentary on the girl's points as she brought them out one by one.

"Your hair looks bright (as the light falls on it. I admire that pretty chestnut brown, with shades of red and gold in it. There, now your complexion looks as clear as possible. My dear, how bright and rested your eyes look! Now do use the hand-mirror to see how pretty that curve of your neck is, with those little curls just waving about it!"

And the fairy fingers of hope and happiness touched this girl's eyes with light and tinged her cheeks with soft color, and gave her gait a firmness and elasticity which prevented all awkwardness, and when she entered the crowded room she was able to look people in the face, and let them see her eyes, with the new-born light of pleasure and satisfaction dancing in them, and the rest of this girl's story, is it not written in the chronicles of her happy life, and is not the name of this dear, judicious woman engraved upon her heart?

The moral of my little preachment is that if a girl is plain, you won't make her any prettier by dining into her ears that she is plain. And that attractiveness, if not prettiness, is within the reach of all women who realize what their good points are. And that it is a mistake to tire one's self out before a party.—The Housewife.

CANCELED POSTAGE STAMPS.

Many Are Sent to Germany and Are Used in Decoration and in Papering Rooms.

This country contributes some thousand dollars' worth of material yearly to the promotion of a bad long prevailing in Germany. The rage for collecting postage stamps, common enough here, is much more widespread in Germany, and for some time past collectors have been using canceled stamps for decorative purposes. Millions upon millions of stamps are used annually in Germany to paper walls. A room of moderate size may be papered completely with one hundred thousand stamps of the ordinary size. Persons who indulge in this fancy exercise great ingenuity in the arrangement of the stamps, and remarkable color effects may be produced by tasteful combinations. When the stamps have been affixed to the walls of a room, a tedious piece of work, the whole is varnished, in order to protect the papering from damage.

Stamps and parts of stamps are used in decorating tables and cabinets. Those who do this sort of decorating laboriously cut out the head of Washington from the current two-cent stamp and paste the little vignettes by the hundred upon the table or cabinet to be decorated. Then thousands of the tiny figure "2" are cut from the lower corner of the stamp and disposed so as to form a border about the repeated head of Washington. Scores of other designs are treated in a like fashion, and stamps of various colors are arranged in accordance with the taste of the decorator.

One man in New York, not himself a professional dealer in stamps, sends nearly 25,000,000 stamps per year to a dealer in Germany. The same dealer has an agent in Baltimore who sends him vastly larger quantities.

They are sent to the agents from all parts of the east. Children in search of pocket money, women in need of pin money, Sunday-schools, and charities of one sort or another collect and send these stamps to the agent in batches of 10,000 to 20,000, 50,000, or 100,000. The usual price is 10 cents per 1,000, but the real 2-cent stamps fetch less because they are easily obtainable, and also because their dye is not well fixed. The Columbian stamps of small denominations fetch 30 cents per thousand. Rare stamps fetch more, of course, but the German dealer makes no special effort to obtain such stamps here. Many other dealers in Germany have long been buying large quantities of stamps in the United States, but as some failed to pay for their purchases it is now a little difficult to obtain large quantities save through resident agents. The craze for stamp decorations has as yet made small head-ways in this country, though at least one collector in New York is making ready to paper his room with stamps.—N. Y. Sun.

A HINT TO YOUNG MEN.

Advice from an Old Chap Who Has Been Through the Mill.

My son, I wish to give you a little advice on the subject of matrimony. I suppose you will be marrying some day, for marrying sort o' runs in the family. Your mother and I were married, and your grandparents on both sides, so far as I know, were all married for several generations back; so that it is highly probable that you will in time follow the family example.

Now there are two things that a woman dotes on, namely, a helpless baby and a helpless husband. Helpless about the house, I mean; though, as for that matter, there are hundreds of women who marry men who are as shiftless about getting a living as they are helpless about the house, and they will just about wear themselves out in supporting the creatures, and find perfect happiness in their labor.

It is a good thing for a man to know how to sew and to knit and to darn—that is to say, if a man is always to be a bachelor; but if you are up in all these accomplishments, never let your wife know it. At all events, never put your knowledge into practice. No woman with a mind of her own can bear to have a man pattering at woman's work. She can't help despising him, handy though he may be. It seems to her as though she had married a woman.

In case of emergency you may feel like washing the dishes or sweeping the floor or carrying water for the washing, but do not give way to the temptation. If you do, however, do the work in as awkward a manner as possible. Break a dish or two, fill the house with dust, or scatter water all over the house. You will never be asked or permitted to try your hand again.

During courtship you waited upon the woman; now she is your wife, let her wait on you. It is a kindness to her, for it is an acknowledgment of her superiority over yourself; it is a delicate and easily rendered flattery which, while saving you an immense amount of drudgery, cannot fail of making her on good terms with herself, which is the very essence of happiness.

Should your wife ask you to split wood for her, or kindle the kitchen fire, or rattle down the furnace, you will see to it that you clutter up the cellar; scatter ashes about the kitchen floor or fill the house with coal gas. When next there is wood to split or fires to build or furnaces to rattle down she will do it herself.

You will thus give her an opportunity of telling to her acquaintances, with supreme zest, what an awful mess you make of it when you undertake to do anything about the house, and in process of time you will have nothing to do but to be waited upon as tenderly as though you were an infant in arms.

Of course she will be mistress of the establishment and boss—but what of that? It pays to be bossed if the boss does all the work. There is a good deal of nonsense going about being under petticoat government. It is the most delightful form of government imaginable for the governed. You just let a wife have her say and she is willing that you should do nothing but rest yourself and admire her smartness.

You just follow my advice, my son, and your married life will be a bed of roses; neglect it, and you'll have nothing but care and care and heaps of hard work in the bargain.—Boston Herald.

How to Wear a Hat Properly.

"To wear a hat properly this winter it must be set well back on the head," says a fashionable milliner. "Ladies on this side of the water have not yet adopted this style, but, like the bustle it must inevitably come." The very large hat will not be worn, neither will the extremely small bonnet. The shapes are of medium size, and except those that are twisted in every direction will be turned up squarely either in front or back, but the hat off the face is most fashionable. Turbans will be much worn. By turban one does not mean the stiff little affair of former years, that fitted the head like a gentleman's smoking cap. These are artistic little gems made of soft French felt crushed into a cute little cap shape and trimmed high in front, and the woman they wouldn't be becoming to would have to be hopelessly ugly.—Detroit Free Press.

CLEANLINESS.

A Dainty Bathroom Almost an Essential to a Well Furnished House.

Between a room that is dainty and one that is merely neat there is a great gulf fixed to an extent which you never realize till you make it a point to notice your friends' bathrooms. In new houses the builder has usually risen to the occasion and with tiling, oak finish, porcelain and glistening zinc made the room a thing of beauty and cleanliness, a joy forever. But in old-fashioned houses, where the plumbing arrangements are often enough an afterthought, it is frequently a gloomy, comfortless barrack, where you wonder how even grown people, let alone that small race whose antipathy to soap and water is well known, can bathe from anything but the sternest sense of duty.

Dark wood, dark paper, dark walls, with a white-painted window protected by a dismal-hued blind; a sealy tub, which is undoubtedly clean, but doesn't show it in the corners and stowing places all sorts of respectable rubbish, from the rag-bag and the shelves for Indian and indigent books, to the rocking-horse which Bobby has outgrown—this is a composite picture of a good many bathroom. Repapering—pretty wall papers are too cheap in these days for ugly ones to have a shred of excuse for being—with a dash of imitation of tiling, a dollar's worth of enamel for the tub, bright-flowered or white window curtains and rigorous banishment of the household's odds and ends to more fitting quarters could work a moral reformation in that room.

An agreeable variation on the everlasting oilcloth, which the minute you step on it after emerging from the tub chills all your newly made resolutions to bathe more frequently, is one of the white Turkish rugs, which will wash. A bright wire basket for sponges effectively and much more hygienically takes the place of the outwardly decorative but inwardly musty rubber sponge bag, whose name should be changed to that of microbe repository. These little touches, with perhaps a coat of the enamel for the bungling towel rack, which hangs over the tub when it hasn't fallen in it, draw the distinction between bathing in a dungeon and in a cheery, cleanliness-encouraging room.—Philadelphia Press.

A Surgical Operation.

For the cure of Piles is always painful, often dangerous and useless, and invariably expensive; on the other hand there is a new, certain cure, perfectly painless, gives instant relief and permanent cure and costs but a trifle. It is the Pyramid Pile Cure. It is a more certain cure than a surgical operation, without any of the intense pain, expense and danger of an operation. Any druggist will get it for you.

FIRST COUNCIL MEETING.

Negaunee's New Council Will Organize Next Wednesday Evening.

AN INTERESTING SESSION MAY BE LOOKED FOR

Hardwood Store Raided by a Burglar He Was Here in the Early Days, Dramatic Club Benefit.

THE FIRST MEETING.

The first meeting of the newly-elected board of aldermen of this city will be held Thursday evening of next week.

This will be one of the most important meetings of the board, as the new city officers, consisting of marshal, night policemen, superintendent of water works, street commissioner, clerk of the water board, librarian, janitors of city buildings, etc., will be chosen.

For the Club's Benefit.

The members of the Negaunee Dramatic club held a meeting Wednesday evening and decided to reproduce "Crawford's Claim" on Tuesday evening, the 17th inst.

Store Burglarized.

Monday night the hardware store of J. H. Sawbridge on West Iron street was burglariously entered through a window in the rear of the building.

The goods stolen consisted of pocket knives, razors, hair clippers and revolvers. Among these were quite a number of knives. The articles missing were all taken from the front window where they were arranged for the purpose of display.

One of the First Settlers.

Austin La Due of Duluth, who was one of Negaunee's first settlers, has been in town visiting friends the past couple of days. Mr. La Due was one of the first men of the force employed in the Jackson mine, the oldest mining property on the Marquette range.

LOCAL LAOCINIANS.

H. M. Atkinson of Michigamme was in Negaunee visiting friends yesterday.

Stetson's Uncle Tom's Cabin company will appear at McDonald's Opera House Friday evening, the 27th inst.

Persons interested in poultry will find it to their advantage to address E. R. Hixson, Marquette, whose ad. appears in this paper, and get prices.

A HOUSEHOLD TREASURE.

D. W. Fuller of Canajoharie, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's New Discovery and has always found the very best results follow its use.

A New Certain Cure for Piles.

The following letters speak for themselves. Mrs. Mary C. Tyler, of Heppner, Ore., writes: One pkg. of Pyramid Pile Cure entirely cured me of piles, from which I have suffered for years, and I have never had the slightest return of them since.

A COPYIST'S BLUNDER.

How It Materially Affects Our War for Independence.

A clerk in the state department narrowly escaped dismissal in consequence of his negligence in making a blurred and inaccurate copy of an important diplomatic paper.

"The government does not pay you," he exclaimed, "for doing slovenly work! You must make a clean copy without erasure or interlineation. Even a blacksmith could do better work!"

THE OFFICIAL WAS UNDOUBTEDLY RIGHT.

There was no excuse for careless, inattentive copying and botchwork in a state paper. If he had been familiar with the diplomatic history of the war for independence, he might have forced the moral with the effect.

The crisis of the military struggle between Great Britain and the revolting colonies was reached when Gen. Burgoyne's campaign was planned in London.

The object was to strike a tremendous blow at the center of the confederacy. The British forces were to take possession of the Mohawk and Hudson valleys by a concentric march from Lake Champlain, Oswego and New York on converging lines toward Albany.

Orders were sent out from London for the advance of Burgoyne's and St. Leger's forces from Canada. At first Sir William Howe was merely informed of the plan, and was armed with discretionary powers; but finally a dispatch was drafted, positively ordering him to cooperate in the movement from New York.

A clerk made a hasty and very careless copy of the dispatch, which the minister, Lord George Germaine, found great difficulty in reading.

The minister was more culpable than the clerk. Evidently he thought so, for he suppressed the facts. The secret history of the dispatch has only recently been revealed, and Sir William Howe's lack of co-operation was explained; but the first blunder was the copyist's, and very costly it proved.

HEROIC CURE FOR LEPROSY.

Then steamed over a Hot Fire. The Talmud reads: "These four are accounted as dead—the blind, the leper, the poor and the childless."

A singular fact in connection with the disease of leprosy is that, although this terrible scourge has stalked abroad throughout the known world, and has gathered its thousands of victims since the earliest historic times, still, even under the searching glare of the light of modern medical science, no sure and complete remedy has as yet been discovered.

A curious custom in vogue about thirty years ago among the Fiji Islanders was well known in Australia at the time. It seems the natives went to endeavor to cure the victims of leprosy by the smoke of the plant sinugara (Excoecaria agallocha).

Not even those who had been poisoned by handling the deadly juice of this deadly plant could form any adequate conception of the tortures endured and the heroism displayed by a Fijian who voluntarily submitted himself to trying the cure of his leprosy by the smoke of the sinugara.

As soon as the black smoke began to rise the leper was bound hand and foot and a rope was fastened to his heels, by means of which he was drawn up over the fire, with his head about fifteen inches from the head of the stove.

When his relatives considered it time to interfere, the fire was removed, his entire body scraped from head to foot, and gashes cut into the flesh, from which the blood poured in streams.

ELECTRICITY IN CHINA.

The Growing Demand for the New Method of Lighting Cities.

At First Much Opposition Was Offered to the System, But It Soon Became Very Popular with the People.

The streets are very narrow in Canton, as is the case with all Chinese cities, says a writer in "The Electrical World," being from six to twelve feet wide, and filled with hanging wooden signs.

The streets of Canton are divided into sections of a few blocks each, and each section is shut off from all others by heavy gates, that are closed at nine o'clock in the evening.

"RAH: RAH!! RAH!!! RIFLES!"

Company G may well afford to wear a big feather in its cap today on account of the very successful issue of the entertainment given honorary members and Marquette business men in Armory Hall last night. For some time the boys have been treating themselves to quite little suppers and social hours at intervals of a few weeks but last night's affair was the most elaborate and by all odds most successful and satisfactory of all.

In response to the cordial invitation of the officers and men of the Rifles nearly one hundred guests, representing the leading citizens and business men of the Queen City, gathered in the big drill hall at 8 o'clock and watched with interest an exhibition drill and several athletic sports. In the drill thirty-two men took part and followed the commands of Captain Ball in a creditable manner. Then followed Lieutenant Jacobs with his crack squad. This went through the silent drill with but few mis-ques and won hearty and prolonged applause.

The hall was then transformed into a race course, the first item being a quarter mile dash by John J. Bogue and Phil Heffernan, the former winning. A second quarter mile sprint followed, by A. E. Mitchell and P. J. Delf, won by Mitchell. Then came a half mile handicap in which J. S. Wilson gave Euclid LeBeau a start of half a lap and cut the handicap in half during the dash. A bout with the gloves, lasting three rounds, was conducted in a spirited and sportsman-like fashion by James Russell and Andy Forbes. Both men showed excellent judgment and skill but to Russell was conceded the most points.

Then came the concluding feature of this portion of the entertainment, a rooster fight in which Charles Walker and George Hodgkins transformed themselves into travesties on the stately chandelier and kept the spectators actually convulsed with yells of laughter while the odd contest continued. A written description of this fight is practically impossible. A dozen cameras all loaded with dry plates could not fully do it justice. It was simply one of the funniest and most novel exhibitions ever seen in Marquette and the two roosters may now consider themselves famous.

Down to the parlors the pleased guests then filed, where they were further entertained by Stanton Rowell and his sextette banjo, mandolin and guitar club. These young amateurs appear to show gain in skill each time they play in public and last night were heartily and persistently applauded and encored. While most of the guests were listening to the music THE MINING JOURNAL man rambled through the rooms to see how the boys and their friends were enjoying themselves. In the small dining room, which had been tastefully decorated, were several groups of card players. In another room a number were exchanging tales of camp life and in another to the thrumming of banjo and guitar clog and negro sand-dancing were going briskly.

In the midst of all this wholesome pleasantries Captain Ball announced luncheon ready in the drill hall and the procession without ceremony moved to attack the viands. Down the center of the hall stretched a long table with sixty-two covers. This was quickly filled and the carnage began. To Joseph Busch acting as commissary, assisted by F. J. Bernier and Herman Kemp, may be given full credit for the marked success of this spread. The eatables were cooked by the boys and served by them. They had arranged and set the tables, entirely with Armory table ware, and it may be said without exaggeration that a better spread, relished in a heartier manner has never before been discussed by an army of hungry, well-pleased and appreciative men. Dessert consisted in pleasant stories, impromptu toasts, music, recitations, etc. Captain Ball thanked the business men and honorary members for their attendance and introduced D. H. Ball as toast master. Sergeant Bennett was the first to respond, giving Holmes' "Served to Order." Sergeant Dock, V. B. Cochran and J. M. Wilkinson spoke briefly and to the point and Private Bogue wound up with a recital of the "Pappineau Gun" in French Canadian. Following is a copy of the menu card furnished by Commissary Busch:

Lieutenant Jacobs, Sergeant Wilson and Private Kemp are responsible for the first class manner in which the Rifles entertained their guests and if the compliments showered upon them cause their hats to appear small the slight vanity may easily be excused. One thing appears certain, Company G is one of the institutions of our city which cannot without loss be allowed to grow less lusty than at present.

Unconscious Burglary.
One of the best known business men of the Queen City, who rooms and boards in a row of houses, the internal arrangement of which is similar, left his store night before last carrying a big parcel and deeply immersed in thought. His room is away at the top of the house and is ordinarily as neat as a pin and very cozy. When he reached it the night in question he tossed his parcel on the bed and was startled by it bouncing back on the floor. Feeling in the dark he was surprised to find nothing but the springs on his bed. This naturally annoyed him and vowing vengeance against the abigail who would dare to start house-cleaning in the middle of the night, he started for his dresser to get a match. Search as he might he could find no dresser and after knocking down half a dozen articles, barking both shins and making noise enough to arouse the whole neighborhood, he decided to rap up the landlady and demand an explanation.

As he reached the lower floor a room door opened and a young woman, who he knew lived next to his house, stepped into the hall. Then a great light dawned on the absent-minded business man, and, briefly explaining the reason of his presence to the laughing girl, he made as speedy tracks as possible for his own quarters. Yesterday he treated all the boys to cigars and sent the young woman a big bouquet of flowers, but that did not prevent the story from getting out. If you ever want your sole looked after and believe in patronizing an exclusive physician in that line you may with perfect safety look wise and hint at the foregoing episode.

The Least Guilty Apprehended.
The second chapter in the history of the child left at the convent here, as detailed in yesterday's MINING JOURNAL, may now be written and its developments should take away any harshness that may have been felt or expressed toward the young mother. Yesterday Policeman Kramer returned with the girl—for she is not yet sixteen years old—from Red Jacket and she was brought before Justice Cray where a MINING JOURNAL reporter learned her story.

It was simply another instance, though particularly aggravated, of a man's perfidy and baseness and a young girl's ill-placed trust. Her home was near the Quincy mine where she lived with her parents and did not repulse the attentions paid her by a young man, her cousin, nearly double her age. The young, inexperienced girl did not question the propriety of her course nor the fidelity of her cousinly lover until it was too late and she was awakened to the cruel fact that the man who had vowed to always stand by her and the consequences of his impulse and her affection had fled in her direst need after having wrung a solemn promise from her never to divulge his name.

Not fifteen years of age and a mother! Such was her position, and her family, excepting her mother, turned against her and reviled her for her so-called frailty. Last August her mother died and having no defender left and her father's attacks increasing to the verge of persecution, she fled from home to seek that safety and solace its roof should have given. She was told by her friends that there was an orphan asylum at Marquette where she could have her child taken care of and she managed to raise money enough to come here. She was deeply disappointed on finding the home could not take her babe and, acting on the impulse of the moment, she placed it in the little girl's arms, inwardly praying the sisters or some kindly disposed person would take it, and fled to the train. When pressed by the justice to tell the name of her unmanly and dishonorable cousin she at first flatly refused as she said that would be breaking a promise. He had made her swear never to tell his name and she would not break her oath. The court suggested she might write his name on a piece of paper and not break the actual substance of her promise. This she did after some persuasion and the court now holds the name of the coward who left a mere child to bear alone the odium of his offense. On the young girl's account the name is not given to the public at present.

She told the court she did not want to lose or desert her child but wanted it to get better care than she was able to give. Her story was so frank and her position so full of features demanding sympathy that the court was somewhat at a loss what best to do and deferred action until the prosecuting attorney could be consulted. The young mother will be held, but not as a strict prisoner, till Mr. Young arrives. The court and officers hope some course may be open whereby the girl may feel that all business has not gone out of the world and her child may be properly cared for.

Policeman Kramer was ably assisted in his search for the girl by the marshals of Houghton and Red Jacket, Deputy Sheriff Jerry L. Sullivan of Houghton county made the arrest and countersigned the warrant. The girl, while difficult to locate, was not in hiding and when questioned by the officers promptly admitted she was the person sought and willingly accompanied them. There is not much doubt but Prosecuting Attorney Young will see merit enough in the case and such good cause for clemency that he will advise action which will be of advantage of both the young mother and her child.
