JAILED FOR VAGRANCY.

Advance Guard of Coxe's Army Run In By Washington Police.

REDSTONE SAYS THEY ARE NOT COMMONWEALERS.

Several Laws That Coxe's Pilgrims Will Run Against If They Ever Reach the Capital.

PRIMROSE BEHIND THE BARS

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The unceremonious manner in which forty vagrants from Texas by way of Cincinnati were taken in charge by the police last night is a forecast of the reception which awaits Coxe's army. Tomorrow these men will be brought into the police court charged with vagrancy. The penalty is ninety days in the workhouse at hard labor. There is no doubt of the application of this law to the band from Texas under "Captain" Primrose, for a search shows that the total cash capital of the company amounts to just $2. They received two good meals today and have been passably comfortable except for the ignominy of confinement in cells.

"Captain" Primrose, the leader of the band, may find himself in more serious trouble than his followers. There is an old law which makes it an offense to bring into the District of Columbia any destitute people who are likely to become a public charge, with a penalty of $25 to $50 fine. The police authorities are considering the advisability of bringing a charge of violating this law against the leaders. The same charge may be brought against Coxe and of course the vagrancy act may be brought into application against his followers.

There are two other laws which it is the avowed purpose of the Coxyites to break. One is that regulating the use of the capitol grounds, which forbids any demonstration or parade, or the making of any oration or the use of any threatening language or the display of any banner or device to attract attention. The other forbids men from congregating on the steps of any public or private building. It rests within the discretion of the vice president and the speaker of the house to suspend these regulations for any proper purpose and perhaps Coxe's followers will apply for permission to carry out their program. Major Moore, chief of police, says these laws must be enforced if Coxe's army arrives, unless congress should give them permission to congregate on the capitol steps. The details of the police movements against Coxe are secret. No doubt he will be met at the District limits and if the number is too great for the police the cops with troops will be called to their aid.

What to do with the gang when it arrives and is taken into custody, if it should be, is the difficult question. The jails and station houses of Washington will not accommodate such a crowd. To simply repulse the men and forbid them to enter the District would be to turn them loose on the suburban residences of Virginia and Maryland. This is the aspect of the matter which gives rise to much uneasiness here.

Colonel Redstone, Coxe's Washington representative, said concerning the man arrested last night that they were not connected with the Commonwealth army and that when Coxe's army arrives there will be no disorder or resistance to law.

Many labor leaders of this city are unopposed at the arrest of the pilgrims under Primrose and declare the proceeding is without lawful authority. They say that Major Moore had no right to deal with these men in this manner and that their arrest is intended as a horrible example for Coxe's army. It is claimed that when the case comes into court tomorrow there will be plenty of friends of the arrested men present, including a noted constitutional lawyer and member of congress, and if authority has been overstepped the proper people will be made to suffer for it.

GOVERNOR WEST DEFIED.

Southern Pacific Unloads the Industrial Army Upon Utah.

SALT LAKE, April 8.—A special train bearing Governor West and a battalion of the Utah militia left here this morning and arrived at Ogden an hour later, where they were met by the mayor, chief of police and other officials. A consultation was held between Governor West and Superintendent Baeroff of the Union Pacific and Superintendent Knapp of the Southern Pacific. Superintendent Knapp was notified not to bring the so-called "Industrial Army" into the territory; that these men could not stay at Ogden or any other point within the territory and unless arrangements were made to send them east they must be returned. The consultation ended and the troops were marched up town and a gatling gun planted in the public square and the whole military force placed under the command of Lieutenant Lester of the Sixteenth United States Infantry.

The governor and the railway officials held another consultation in the afternoon and the governor was informed that the Industrial train had halted several miles west of the Utah line pending arrangements which the Southern Pacific was trying to make with the Union Pacific for their transportation east. At 4 o'clock the Union Pacific gave its ultimatum. It would not carry the men at less than full rates. The Southern Pacific then ordered the train to be brought into Ogden in defiance of the governor's protest.

The train arrived in Ogden at 6 o'clock and was switched into the yard and surrounded by the militia. The pilgrims are now under guard. The Union Pacific refuses to modify its ultimatum and the territory authorities are urging the Southern Pacific to take the travelers back west. The men are reported to be peaceful and orderly.

Boston, April 8.—In a blinding snow storm Morrison I. Swift and a group of followers held a meeting on Boston Commons this afternoon to make arrangements for a battalion of 1,000 of Boston's unemployed to join Coxe's army. An appeal for funds to purchase food and transportation for the Boston contingent was adopted.

TWENTY MEN DESERT.

Coxe's Army Finds the March to Washington No Fun.

McKeesport, Pa., April 8.—There was a score of desertions yesterday from Coxe's little band of hope and grand expectations. The proposed tramp to Monongahela City over eighteen miles of rough road, with a short stop at Elizabeth for lunch, was the cause of it all. Footsore and weary the men did not view the prospects with any degree of satisfaction.

From the expressions in camp it can be stated that were it not for the strict discipline of "Unknown" Smith half the army would be abandoned for a time. The short rations and the seven days' continuous marching in a week over all sorts of roads and all kinds of weather is having a marked effect upon the members of the army.

The jollity has largely disappeared, and last night the men sat about the camp fires shivering in their rags. Denunciations of the fare, quarters and alleged unpleasant demeaning of several of the marshals has supplanted the songs and the pleasing fortitude of the first days out.

Brownville, Pa., April 8.—The Commonwealers arrived here this evening and were fairly well received by a crowd of ten thousand. The army camped tonight in Bracebridge Hall and the marchers retired early. The feeling in Monongahela City was generally favorable to the Coxe movement but no recruits were received.

IS LE CARON ALIVE?

Report That the Death Story Was Only a Blind.

LONDON, April 8.—The Admiralty and Horse Guards Gazette says that a report is current that Major Le Caron, the British government spy who was so prominently connected with the prosecution of the late Charles Stewart Parnell and who was announced to have died recently in this city, is not dead. The Gazette adds that rumor has it that Le Caron is now en route to one of the most distant colonies under government officers' protection.

Le Caron's death was said to have occurred at Kensington, where he lived under the name of Dr. Howard. Le Caron roused the enmity of Irishmen in 1880, when he was one of the most conspicuous witnesses for the London Times during the sitting of the Parnell commission. After the inquiry closed he retired to Kensington, where the Scotland Yard office kept him carefully guarded to prevent assassination.

It is stated today that the disappearance of Le Caron is due to the fact that the detectives who have been guarding Le Caron discovered some time ago that a Fenian plot, having its ramifications in New York and other American cities, existed with the object of killing him. When informed of the danger to which he had been exposed Le Caron is said to have petitioned the British government to enable him to leave England for some distant portion of the queen's dominions, where he would be safer from the vengeance of the Fenians.

Prominent Irishmen when questioned upon the subject of Le Caron's alleged disappearance, said that they would not be astonished if the report circulated by the Admiralty and Horse Guards Gazette were true. A body supposed to be that of Le Caron was buried yesterday in Norwood cemetery. The registrar of deaths ridicules the idea that Le Caron is not dead and that he is on his way to some distant colony.

THE BLUE AND THE GRAY.

Veterans Meet in Friendly Convention on Shiloh's Battle Field.

PITTSBURG, Tenn., April 8.—The grand reunion of the Blue and the Gray under the auspices of the Shiloh Battle Field association closed yesterday. The early part of the day was spent by various committees in locating and marking the positions of their regiments on the battle field. At the mass meeting following there were speeches by Rev. H. M. Carter, Captain George McBride of Michigan, Colonel F. S. Lee of Illinois and J. H. Meeks of Tennessee. Resolutions were adopted heartily supporting the objects and aims of the association. General Lew Wallace of Indiana delivered the closing address, which was an eloquent appeal to the soldiers of the Blue and the Gray to cherish the spirit of union and peace in all sections of our country.

SALE OF THE WHITE CITY.

World's Fair Buildings Are Sold for $75,500.

CHICAGO, April 8.—All of the big World's Fair buildings were sold at a private sale by the South Park commissioners yesterday. L. C. Garrett, a St. Louis contractor, bought the lot for $75,500. This purchase includes the great Manufacturers building, Machinery, Administration, Electricity, Mines, Agriculture, Fisheries and Transportation buildings. The only structures not mentioned in the purchase are the Art building, now the property of the Field Columbian museum, the Convent in Rabida, the two service buildings, into which the Exposition company has gathered its effects, and the Forestry building. The purchaser will begin the demolition of the buildings at once.

Forecast of the Weather.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—9 p. m.—The weather bureau reports the following as its forecast for the next twenty-four hours: For upper Michigan: Increasing cloudiness; slight rain or snow; southeast winds, increasing in force; slightly warmer.

"WHAT WILL HILL SAY?"

Curiosity as to the Tariff Attitude of the Peanut Politician.

EXPECTED TO OPPOSE THE TARIFF BILL

House Democrats Anxious to Get Work Finished So as to Hold Senate for Delay.

THIS WEEK IN CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—If the plans of the Democratic leaders do not miscarry the senate will devote itself almost exclusively this week to the consideration of the tariff bill. Great interest is felt in Senator Hill's speech, which is announced for tomorrow. It is known from former utterances that he is opposed to the income tax and while the bill was in the hands of the committee he sought to have many changes made in the schedules, objected to the wholesale adoption of the ad valorem system and the bill as a whole found very little favor in his eyes. It is not believed he has changed his mind but he is very reticent on the subject since the time of the three day's caucus. Whether Senator Hill speaks tomorrow in accordance with his announcement will depend upon Senator Peffer who has not concluded his speech begun Thursday. Senator Lodge has announced a speech for Tuesday and may also conflict with Senator Peffer.

Other questions which may receive attention during the week are the Chinese treaty, the Russian thistle bill and the resolution providing for the coinage of Mexican dollars in this country.

PROGRAM OF THE HOUSE.

The appropriation bills will have the right of way in the house and it is the intention of the house managers to push ahead with these bills and get them out of the way as soon as possible. Some prominent house Democrats are alarmed at the slow progress made in the senate with the tariff bill and the seeming indifference those in charge of it are manifesting. They think by clearing up the work of the house the country will see that any responsibility for delay on the tariff which may exist will lie at the door of the senate. The consular and diplomatic bill will probably be made the basis of a general review of the foreign relations of the government. Matters connected with the attempt to restore Queen Liliuokalani will again be thrashed over. The Brazilian revolution and the action of Commander Stanton in saluting the insurgent Admiral de Mello will come in for a share of attention, as will also the Bluefields, Nicaragua, incident and perhaps the wreck of the Kearsarge.

SNOW AND HAIL STORMS.

Former Prevailed in Northwest and Latter in Southwest.

ST. PAUL, April 8.—A heavy wet snow storm prevailed all day at St. Cloud and a special from there says it will greatly delay seeding operations. In this city snow began to fall shortly before dark. Vegetation not far enough along throughout the northwest will be seriously damaged.

EMORIA, Kan., April 8.—A fall of the largest hail stones ever witnessed in this part of the state occurred this afternoon. The streets were white and many windows were broken. It is thought much damage to the fruit crop was done.

EL RENO, Ok., April 8.—The heaviest hail storm in the history of Oklahoma passed over this city tonight. Much damage was done to growing crops and unprotected livestock.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 8.—Gillespie county and vicinity was visited by one of the severest hail storms ever known. Many cattle were killed by hail stones. Great chunks of ice went through roofs and ruined the fruit crops.

POLICE IN QUARANTINE.

Death from Small-Pox in the Harrison Street Station.

CHICAGO, April 8.—A case of black small-pox caused the liveliest kind of excitement in the Harrison street police station this evening. A man named Benson Sherman suffering with the plague died in a cell there and from twenty to thirty officers and forty-five prisoners were exposed to the disease. Nothing is known regarding Sherman except that he was brought to the station by a man who informed the desk sergeant that Sherman was drunk and asked that he be kept there until sober. This evening the lock-up keeper noticed that Sherman's face and hands had turned black. The health officer was notified and he pronounced it a case of black small-pox. Before the man could be removed to the pest house he died. Inspector Laughlin ordered that the station be quarantined and everybody therein be vaccinated to guard against the spreading of the disease.

"LATTER DAY SAINTS."

One-Wife Mormons in Convention at Lamont, Ia.

LAMONT, Ia., April 8.—Today was principally occupied by the Latter Day Saints in Sunday school exercises. The services in the auditorium were conducted by E. McDowell of northern Iowa, assisted by I. Boush of Maquoketa. The room will seat 500 and was crowded. The basement was also taxed to its utmost capacity with listeners to the boy preacher, Elder Evans of Canada.

This is from the Baraga County Democrat, whose editor was, much to his own discredit temporarily, and permanent pecuniary loss, for a time associated with the cheap adventurer who is the subject of his strictures:

A paper styling itself The Saginaw Leader, which is being edited by a "turned-down" political flopper, bitterly scores Peter White of Marquette for joining the Republican ranks. The editor of The Leader is unwise in his criticisms, for if there was ever a traitor in the Democratic party he was himself the king bee.

It is with profound regret that THE MINING JOURNAL learns of the defeat of the talented editor of its valued contemporary at Escanaba, Mr. Phil J. McKenna, for the office of supervisor of his ward, in the municipal election held in his city last week. It makes the humiliation all the greater that Mr. McKenna did not run as a Democrat, but came to grief while masquerading in the garb of a non-descript political organization improvised for the occasion.

Among the papers read at the sanitary convention held at Menominee under auspices of the state board of health last week was one by H. O. Fifield, editor of The Herald of that city, on "Restriction and Prevention of Dangerous Communicable Diseases from the Standpoint of the Press." The editor of this paper had been invited to read a paper before the convention on this theme and had consented to do so, but was compelled by circumstances to notify the managing committee at the last minute that he could not be present, so "Hank" was drafted into service as his substitute.

This Iron Trade Review in its last number gives this information relative to ore sales and charters: Ore sales of a few thousand tons each of Bessemer are being made with every week and one recent transaction involving a round lot of non-Bessemer ores is reported.

Inviting Disaster. If ever the leaders of a party destroyed its popularity with the people the representatives of the Democracy in the sitting congress are doing that now.

elections held last week, the Boston Herald finds cause for the reverses of the Democracy throughout the country in the impotence of the Democratic leadership in congress, and administers this severe scoring to the men responsible for the vacillating course of the party on the tariff and its unwise action in regard to silver.

We are not at all surprised that the popular tide is setting against the Democrats throughout the northern states. In this country when a party bids high for defeat, discomfiture is certain to overtake it.

LINDHOLM LET HIM DOWN. The State Republican of Lansing gives this interview with John W. Jochim bearing on the deal given him by his deputy, Lindholm, in its issue of Saturday:

Ex-Secretary of State Jochim arrived in the city last night with his wife and son, and they are the guests of their old friends, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Telan, 508 Michigan avenue west. The Republican called on Mr. Jochim this afternoon to talk with him about the Lindholm escapade.

Mr. Jochim says he has no idea as to Lindholm's present whereabouts, but he thinks he has considerable money with him.

WHITING WANTS IT. Congressman Whiting announces himself a candidate for the nomination for governor on the Democratic ticket, and the Detroit Evening News is industriously working up a boom for him.

One of the Indian boys at the Carhile school developed a new way of doing business the other day. A lady resident wrote two notes, one to the dressmaker and the other to a grocer, and handed them to the boy to deliver.

It is Strange. That people suffering from Piles will endure them for years or submit to dangerous, painful, cruel and expensive surgical operations, when all the time there is a painless, certain, lasting cure, which gives instant relief and costs but a trifle.

something of a snow storm in the Lake Superior region of Michigan on the day of election, so far as the head of their ticket is concerned.

Let the Detroit News make the ticket for the Democratic party and place Whiting at the head of it by all means. It will be worth ten thousand votes for the Republican candidate to have that erawishing statesman running on the other side.

Strange Lack of the Sense of Humor in Some Folks.

Some people have a poor appreciation of humor. This must be an awful load to carry through life. On a crisp, cold day, a Bohemian and his friend stood in front of the Sturtevant house holding down the sidewalk while they thought about what they would do next.

JAPS MAY TAKE A HAND.

Those in Hawaiian Islands Do Not Propose to Be Disfranchised.

TWO JAPANESE WARSHIPS NOW AT HONOLULU.

Thousands of Japanese on the Islands Who Demand Their Share in the New Government.

LET JAPAN HAVE HAWAII.

HONOLULU, March 30, via San Francisco, April 8.—The Japanese question is the all-absorbing topic of interest here.

The warship Naniwa went to Hilo, on the island of Hawaii, recently, carrying the Japanese minister, Mr. Foji, with her.

As there are many thousands of the laborers on the islands, things are becoming alarming. It is surmised that if the Japs insist on the voting franchise and it is refused them they will try to take matters into their own hands.

Should such a contingency occur, it is more than likely that the Chinese will join forces with the Japanese and the white population of the islands would stand a poor chance of victory.

The Japanese want the franchise and they are going to get it. If they cannot, our government is going to take a hand in the matter.

Politically matters have been quiet since the last advice and nothing important has transpired. The American Union party organization, that has taken the place of the old annexation club, has held an election on this island.

The registration of voters for the coming election of delegates to the constitutional convention has commenced. The natives are not registering and it is said they are being made to think that in the case of a restoration their lives would be the forfeit in the event of their taking oath to support the provisional government.

Parsons Again Under Arrest for Destroying Mercantile Records. SAGINAW, Mich., April 8.—Newell B. Parsons, who was arrested last week on suspicion of being implicated in the stealing of $2,000 worth of jewelry and also several books from the safe of the Wells-Stone Mercantile company's office and later released, was again arrested early this morning.

LOOKOUT IS PROBABLE. Contractors Say They Will Run Their Own Business.

CHICAGO, April 8.—There is a strong probability that the employers of labor in the various building trades will declare a lookout by next Wednesday and throw from 60,000 to 100,000 men out of employment.

CHICAGO, April 8.—The three story brick building 154 and 156 Beat street collapsed early this morning. Four persons were killed and five wounded and it is believed two others are in the ruins.

MORE RIOTS PROBABLE

Coke Strikers Will Continue to Trample on the Law

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 8.—If the announced program of the coke strikers is carried out tomorrow will be another day of raiding and rioting. Mass meetings were held all over the southern end of the region today and were liberally attended.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Pa., April 8.—Sheriff McCann returned tonight from a tour of inspection through the coke region from the Standard to the Donnelly works. He reports everything quiet but as the unexpected often happens he is prepared to meet any outbreak that may occur tomorrow.

PITTSBURG, April 8.—H. C. Frick, who control at least two-thirds of the coke making plants in the region which is now in such turmoil, in an interview tonight defends the foreign coke and says they are hardly responsible for the trouble.

INSURGENTS STILL ALIVE

Fleet Before Rio Grande do Sul Captures a Gunboat

NEW YORK, April 8.—The World's Buenos Ayres dispatch says: Admiral Mello's squadron, numbering seven warships, including the Aquidaban and Republica, succeeded in forcing the bar at the city of Rio Grande do Sul but the attempt to land was repulsed by the government batteries on shore.

Buenos Ayres, April 8.—Notwithstanding the order of the Brazilian government forbidding the transmission of dispatches from Rio Grande do Sul, advices reached here to the effect that the government gunboat, Cananeo had surrendered to the insurgent fleet. The land forces of the insurgents number 6,000, all well armed and supplied with provisions.

"DIE, MY BOY! DIE!"

Father's Advice to His Self-Wounded Murderer Son

CHICAGO, April 8.—M. B. Laparle arose from a sick bed when he heard that his son Arthur had murdered his former fiancée, Miss Minnie Belle Allen, because forbidden the house by the girl's father on account of his drunken habits, and then lodged a bullet in his own brain. Going to the County hospital the father stood over his son as he lay on the operating table under the surgeon's knife and with outstretched finger cried: "Die, my boy! Die! It is better that you should not live after committing such an awful thing as this."

DEFENDS BRECKINRIDGE.

Baltimore Preacher Tells His Hearers Not to Vote Rashly.

BALTIMORE, April 8.—A sensation was caused this evening at the Twelfth Presbyterian church by the utterances of Rev. D. B. Greig, who preached on the Breckinridge-Pollard suit. His text was "Stones Thrown From Glass Houses," and he warned his hearers to beware of passing judgment upon their fellows and reminded them of the Saviour's declaration, "Let him who is without sin among you cast the first stone."

DID NOT WAIT FOR SARRIFE.

Game Law Violators Surrender and Go to Jail.

MANITOWIC, Wis., April 8.—Twenty-five persons from the vicinity of Reif's Mills, this county, were placed in jail here Friday night. They preferred the charges themselves and took their medicine of twenty-four hours gracefully to avoid being prosecuted by the game warden, who had them on the list. The prisoners ranged in age from eleven to forty years and included many prominent farmers.

CRUSHED BY THE CAR.

Elevator Ran Down and Killed Two Men in Shaft.

CHICAGO, April 8.—While making some repairs in the bottom of the elevator shaft in the Columbus Cloak company's store this morning Frank Kennedy was crushed to death and Fred Keonig perhaps fatally injured by the elevator car coming down upon them. What started the elevator on the downward course is unknown as there was no one but the unfortunate men about the shaft.

VENICE, April 8.—This city is still en fete because of the presence of King Humbert and the German emperor.

OPIMUM SMUGGLERS CAUGHT.

Four Hundred Pounds of the Contraband Drug Seized.

BUFFALO, April 8.—A gang of opium smugglers was captured tonight. Word reached the officers Friday that a heavy consignment of opium was on its way to this city. They believed the stuff would be sent to the Chinese supply depot on North Division street. Chief Inspector Devenberg and assistant stationed themselves outside the store. At midnight they saw three white men enter the yard and drop several packages down into the cellar. The smugglers were taken to the station and identified as Chas. Kenny, Ed Patterson and Geo. Henderson. Over 400 pounds of opium was seized, all wrapped in newspapers printed at Vancouver, B. C. The opium is estimated to be worth $4,000.

A Popular Hostelry.

In another part of this issue of THE MINING JOURNAL appears a big advertisement of the Hotel Marquette. Landlord Lewis is making hay while the sun shines and getting ready to take care of the coming season's guests. The Hotel Marquette is one of the finest in the upper peninsula. It is pleasantly located on a bluff overlooking Lake Superior and only a short distance from the railway station and boat landings. Commercial men speak warmly of its appointments and tourists are assured a pleasant headquarters at this hostelry while staying in the Queen City. Hunting and fishing parties find the hotel a convenient point of rendezvous and all pronounce the table par excellence the best in upper Michigan. A perusal of Mr. Lewis' big card will be found interesting to intending visitors.

Both Felt Sad.

Justice Cray and a MINING JOURNAL reporter formed part of a fast gathering crowd yesterday, each one eager to see the result of a heated argument between two woodsmen. The men had reached that pass where language seems too tame to fit the situation and had begun removing their coats introductory to a more muscular sort of argument when friends interfered and hurried the would-be belligerents away. The "judge" and reporter watched them sadly as they disappeared, then with tears in their eyes silently shook hands and parted. One had lost a good fee and the other a live item.

Who Stole Those Hats?

Some persons, it appears, walked away from the Machinists' dance Friday night with hats not belonging to them and their kleptomaniac absent-mindedness was noticed by one of the committee of management. The real owners of the hats are naturally put out, the committee is angry and the ones taking the hats are threatened with instant "prosecution to the fullest extent of the law" if the hats are not promptly returned. The hats may be left at Johnson's store, Front street, where "no questions will be asked."

CAUGHT ON THE FLY.

Hannah, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Swanson, 131 Rock street, died yesterday at 7:30 o'clock. The funeral will take place this afternoon from the house to Park cemetery at 2 o'clock.

Such weather as that of yesterday causes one to think of negligee costumes and absence of winter wraps, although last night's chill air prevented any enthusiastic haste to "hang up" last winter's ulster.

The Lake Superior Mission band is arranging a good entertainment to take place in the Presbyterian church tomorrow night. The program will be given in the church and supper served afterward in the church parlors. Admission twenty-five cents.

The delegation of Maccabees announced sometime ago to take place here Saturday last did not materialize. The project was to arrange for a reunion of Maccabees of the upper peninsula in this city but as no delegates appeared it is presumed the matter has been abandoned, at least for the present.

Captain M. M. McIntosh of the propeller James Fisk, Jr., and J. McSweeney, chief engineer of the Stevens, both of the Crescent line, were yesterday guests of the company's agent, A. J. Otterson. Both officers are on their way to Duluth to look after fitting out their boats for the opening of navigation.

Dr. Walter left for the east Saturday last for a course of special study in ear diseases, and will not be in this city to receive patients until May 1. May 7 he will remove his office to his new home, 339 East Ridge street—around the corner from his present office—and change his hours to, daily, except Sunday, 11 a. m. to 3 p. m., Monday and Tuesday evenings from 7 until 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Youmans, instructor in physical culture in the Hughes-Youmans' school, wishes to again remind pupils of the dancing department that they may attend the drills in physical culture without extra charge. Others may arrange with Mrs. Youmans by seeing her at the Hotel Clifton. Under no circumstances will spectators, not pupils, be permitted in the room during drills. The lesson tomorrow afternoon at 4:15 sharp will be attended by women only.

A PERSIAN BANQUET.

Charm of the Formal Dinner as Given in the Orient.

This charm results partly from the lack of the constraint and the freedom of the guests, partly from the cordial welcome which a Persian host so well knows how to give, partly from the exhilarating influence of the wine and music (which though so different from that to which we are accustomed, produces, in such as are susceptible to its influence, an indescribable sense of subdued ecstasy), but more than all from the vigor, variety, and brilliancy of the conversation.

There is no doubt that satiety produces somnolence and apathy, as is so often seen at English dinner parties. Hence the Persians wisely defer the meal till the very end of the evening, when sleep is to be sought. During the earlier stages of the entertainment their minds are stimulated by wine, music and mirth, without being dulled by the heaviness resulting from repletion. This, no doubt, is one reason why the conversation is, as a rule, so brilliant, but beyond this the quick, versatile, subtle mind of the Persian, stored, as it usually is, with anecdotes, historical, literary, and incidental, and freed for the time being from the restraint which custom ordinarily imposes on it, flashes forth on these occasions in coruscations of wit and humor, interspersed with pungent criticisms and philosophical reflections which display a wonderful insight.

Hence it is that one rarely fails to enjoy thoroughly an evening spent at a Persian banquet, and that the five or six hours during which it lasts hardly ever hang heavily on one's hands.—A Year Among the Persians.

MOTTO TO COATS-OF-ARMS.

The Motto Ought Really Not to Contain More Than Eight Syllables.

The art of composing the motto was subjected to severe rules. The "body" and the "soul" were required to be in such relation to each other that the "soul" should invariably explain the "body." The legend must be concise, neatly turned and ingeniously suggestive—like the "Desdichado" of the disinherited knight in "Ivanhoe," says the Year Round.

It had always to be applicable to the person as well as to the material object forming the "body," and it must not be drawn from things unknown, nor must it be too enigmatic or too facile, too humble, or above all, too arrogant.

Again, it was essential that the figure should be agreeable to the eye and its idea to the mind. Finally the device was perfect only when the "body" was unique and the "soul," or motto, in a language which was not the mother tongue of him who bore it.

The motto ought not to contain more than eight syllables. That of our order of the Garter, "Honi soit qui mal y pense," contains only seven; that of our kings, "Dieu et mon droit," only four. The device of Leo X. was a yoke with "Suaue" for the motto—"The yoke of the Lord is sweet." That of Henry III., king of France and Poland, two crowns on the earth and one up above, with the motto: "Manet ultima celo;" that of Charles V., the pillars of Hercules, and the legend, "Ne plus ultra."

Devices went out of vogue in the seventeenth century, and now survive only in the coats-of-arms of the older families, where the reader, if he be so disposed, may study them at leisure and examine how nearly they approach the ideal embodied in the foregoing rules.

An Interesting Sight.

An interesting sight was witnessed by the visitors at Niagara Falls recently. It was the annual migration of crows toward the south. This usually occurs in early winter, but this year, for some unknown reason, did not occur until the 1st of March. The crows passed southward by the million, and for two days the air was black with them, and the noise of their cawing was almost deafening. When they got to the falls the lit in large numbers on the ice bridge and set up a wild cawing. The sound echoed against the walls of the gorge and made a tremendous noise. When they were rested they arose with a loud whirring of wings and continued their flight. Many flew into the falls and were drowned.

APPLICANTS NOT LACKING.

Discussion now turns on the selection of guardians of the city's peace for the coming year. There is quite a difference of opinion as to who should be city marshal. A number of applications for that office have been received by the mayor-elect, in whom the appointing power is vested. As yet Mr. Johnston has not promised the place to any one. He has the matter under consideration and will announce his choice for that office, and also for deputy marshal, at the first meeting of the new council, which will be held in a few days, perhaps some evening this week.

Numerous applications for positions as night policemen have also been filed. These are appointed by the city council. For the office of poundmaster about a dozen applications have been received. This is really a more desirable position than a place on the night force, as it is all day work and the pay is the same. A few years ago the city had difficulty every spring to find a man to serve as poundmaster. In the early days it was the "job that sought the man" instead of the man the job, but no such trouble is experienced now.

There will be many more applicants for all the places to be filled this year than ever before, owing to the lack of work at the mines. The pay of a policeman is more than the average laboring man receives at present. This, too, is one of the principal reasons why so many are seeking places on the force.

It is quite certain that a number of the present officers will be retained. A majority of them are old hands and are familiar with the work and have thus far given entire satisfaction to the people.

The Grand Chief Coming.

Captain James Trebilcock, one of the grand officers of the Golden Eagle society of Michigan, received a letter Saturday evening from F. A. Vanderbeer of Grand Rapids, grand chief of that order, in which he states that he will visit Ishpeming during the coming week if nothing unexpected occurs to prevent his coming.

The object of Mr. Vanderbeer's visit to the upper peninsula is to give the lodges instruction in the new degree of the order.

As there are only two lodges of the Golden Eagle in this part of the state—one here and one at Negaunee—Mr. Vanderbeer's visit will be confined to these two towns, so far as his work in the order is concerned. The lodge here will make preparations to receive and entertain their grand chief in a suitable manner.

Some Fine Diamonds.

Henry Demmert, representing Theodor Lixow, importer of carbon and bartz, of 198 Broadway, New York, has been in the city the past couple of days. He has the finest line of black diamonds ever shown in Michigan. He has one stone that weighs 116 carats, valued at about $2,000. Mr. Demmert says this is the largest and finest black diamond he has seen during his many years' experience in the diamond business. Mr. Demmert is well and favorably known in this section, he having traveled through here a number of years for Dessau of New York prior to the first of last December, when he engaged with Mr. Lixow. He will leave this morning for the Gogebic range, but will return to the Marquette range in a few days.

Broken Up Camps.

John Hilebrandt of Champion, who went into the woods near Clowery, a few miles out of here, last fall, broke up camps Saturday. Although a small force had been employed during the winter Mr. Hilebrandt got out quite a nice lot of timber, which has all been disposed of. He got out in all about one million feet of mill timber, seven hundred cords of wood and four hundred cords of spruce. The timber and cordwood were sold to F. W. Read & Co. and the spruce went to the Appleton Pulp Wood company.

Naturalization Papers.

County Clerk Gad Smith of Marquette, will be in Ishpeming today for the purpose of issuing naturalization papers to persons of foreign birth who desire to become citizens. He can be found at the American Express office in the Jones block from 3 to 6 o'clock and 7 to 9 o'clock this afternoon and evening. It is thought that there will be quite a number of applicants.

A Salvation Wedding.

C. Corneliusen and Miss Ronning, two soldiers of the Swedish Salvation Army here, were married at the barracks in this city on Cleveland avenue Saturday evening. Captain Paulson of Duluth was present and performed the nuptial ceremony. An admission fee of ten cents was charged and quite a number turned out to witness the affair.

A VERMONT SILVER MINE.

Tradition Says There is a Rich Store of White Metal in the State.

The western slope of the Green mountains is prolific of legendary lore, says the Rutland Herald. Especially is this true of a radius of ten miles from Lake Dunmore. From the time of the earliest settlements in town vague traditions have floated in the air that at some earlier period a fabulous amount of silver had been mined, hidden and abandoned somewhere among the foothills that skirt the eastern border of Brandon. When, where and by whom, was the insoluble enigma. These traditional myths began to assume a concrete form about the year 1830, from the advent of a stranger of some three score years, who had been wandering for a long time over the hills in Chittenden and Brandon. By topographical memory he was convinced that he had approximately located the object of his search near the cabin of a named Rogers, about three and one-half miles east from the village of Brandon.

The stranger engaged board with Rogers and disclosed to him his personal history, that of the mining company, and the purpose of his visit. He represented himself as the youngest of a party of fourteen, all Spaniards, one of whom was a woman and his mother. He said that he was born in camp and remained with them till their removal, when he was about fifteen years of age; that they mined about two and a half tons of silver, which was deposited in a subterranean cavern of great depth, and that the approaches to it were carefully filled and concealed, and so far as possible, all trace of their work effaced; that they were driven away by the hostility of the Indians and intended to return at some time and reclaim their property, and that for the purpose of identification they had buried three iron wedges marked with certain symbols, that would indicate the opening of the avenue to their hidden wealth. He invited Rogers to join him in the search and offered him one-half of the spoils. The invitation was declined through distrust of the man. He then secured the cooperation of one Field, and they searched one or two more seasons in vain for the hidden wedges. During a temporary absence of the stranger Field found the wedges, but concealed the fact from his partner on his return. At length the stranger became discouraged and disappeared from the scene. Field prosecuted the work with untiring tenacity until all his resources were exhausted. Without a knowledge of the key to the symbolic wedges they were of little avail. Two of these wedges have been lost; one is now in the possession of a gentleman in Rutland who was among the last to abandon the scheme, though his confidence in it is unshaken.

OVERCROWDING IN CITIES.

Dangers to Health Which Lurk in Swarming Tenements.

One of the most threatening tendencies of modern times in matters of health is that of overcrowding in cities, and the great element of danger from this overcrowding is not only the insufficiency of air in living rooms and the lack of ready means for its renewal, but the accumulation in this air of infectious germs floating with the dust. Abundant water supply and good sewerage have rendered possible and measureably safe, so far as the ordinary waste of life is concerned, the building of vast tenements which swarm with people. But the means of getting pure air, and especially of disposing of infectious material often floating in it when it is confined, have not at all kept pace with the demands of health and cleanliness.

But when we turn to the larger and more liberally furnished dwellings of the well-to-do classes, we do not find everything reassuring from the standpoint of hygiene, for in some respects the rich are sadly handicapped by the "tyranny of things." Of course long and thick piled carpets afford persistent lurking places for infectious as well as other dust. Certainly heavy hangings in a measure hinder the detergent action of the sunlight, shut the used air in and the fresh air out, and shelter floating matter which might otherwise escape. Without doubt complex upholstery with roughened fabrics increases the difficulties in the maintenance of cleanliness. But the usage of the householder in these matters will, after all, depend upon whether his practical devotion be most at Fashion's or Hygieia's shrine, and it may not without temerity be very urgently criticised. And yet we all may long for the coming of a time when clean, clear, airy, simply furnished living-rooms shall replace the stuffy, fabric-strewn apartments in which the fashionable citizen so much delights to-day.

In one particular, however, the devotee to cleanliness may be unreservedly insisted, and that is that in the cleaning of living-rooms, whether occupied by the sick or the well, the distinct and recognized purpose of the operation shall be to remove, and not simply to stir up the ever-gathering dust. The past few years, so beneficently signalized by the exploitation of the new germ lore, have seen marked departures from the traditional sweepings and dustings of a past era; and the emancipation of the housekeeper, and incidentally of the household, from the thrall of the pestiferous feather duster seems fairly well advanced. Still, some of the old barbarous trappings upon cleaning widely persist. The dry broom still seeks out in the deep recesses of the carpets not the coarser particles of dust alone, but the hordes of living germs which were for the time safely ensconced; and among these what malignant forms the chances of the day may have mingled! These are all set awlwhirl in the air; some gather on salient points of the fittings and furnishings; many stay with the operator, to vex for hours the delicate breathing passages or the deeper recesses of the lungs. Then in the lull which follows gravity asserts its sway, and the myriad particles, both the living and the dead, slowly settle to the horizontal surfaces, especially to the carpets. Then the feather duster comes upon the scene, and another cyclone befalls. The result of it all is that the dust has finally been forced to more or less completely abandon the smooth and shining surfaces where it would be visible, and is largely caught in the surface roughnesses of the carpets or upholstery or hangings, ready at the slightest footfall or the chariest touch to dance into the air again, and be taken into the lungs of the victims of the prevailing delusion—the delusion that the way to care for always noxious and offensive and often dangerous dust is not to get it out of the house, but to keep it stirring in the air until at last it has settled where it does not vex the eye.—T. Mitchell Prudden, M. D. in Harper's Magazine.

GULLS ARE SACRED IN UTAH.

Why Grateful Mormons Impose a Fine for Killing the Bird.

Most interesting of the birds that we saw on our daily way to the pasture, says a writer in the Atlantic, were the gulls, great, beautiful, mowey creatures, who looked strangely out of place so far away from the seashore.

BETTER THAN A PENSION.

A Gentleman Who Got Pretty Thoroughly Disintegrated in a Railroad Wreck.

"A month or so ago," said the drummer to a Detroit Free Press man, "I stopped over night at a small tavern in Illinois and before retiring I sat for an hour in the room used for an office talking to two or three men, one of whom, a lame man, was to occupy the double room with me.

"By the way," he said, "you were talking about pensions downstairs, weren't you?"

"Yes, I rather believe in pensions, especially administered."

"So do I," he said, taking off his glasses, and with them a wax nose, which he laid on the table, somewhat to my discomfort, "but I don't believe in being indiscriminate—here he fished out a glass eye and put it in a tumbler of water and then took out his teeth and put them with the eye.

"I know men who are to-day getting from ten to fifty dollars a month—he removed his wig and hung it up carefully—who do not deserve it any more than my grandmother does, and I hate to see—by this time he had off his coat and collar, and removing his left arm, he placed it on the bureau—'good deserving men getting a miserable little pittance whose records are stories of bravery and daring—at this point he sat down, kicked off his trousers and one shoe, took off a cork leg and laid it by the arm, and I was about ready to jump out of the window.

"Good Lord, man! I almost yelled, as I sat up in bed, 'don't you get a pension?'"

"Of course not," he answered, with a look of surprise. "I was in the army four years, but I got this in a railroad wreck, and the company had to put up fifty thousand dollars' damages. That beats a pension all to pieces." Then he put out the light, hopped over to his own bed, and I had nightmare and jimjams till daylight, dressed with my eyes shut, and got out an hour before my distinguished friend did."

How a City Was Started.

The little city of Mt. Vernon, New York, owes its origin to communistic discussions in a tailor's shop far down Hudson street. The tailor and some of his acquaintances finally agreed to put in one dollar a week until the accumulations should reach a sufficient sum to purchase a tract of land in the suburbs of New York.

A NEW PROFESSION.

Procuring Tenants for Sky-Scraping Office Buildings.

Evolution of a Race of Expert and Efficient Liars Who Get Good Pay for Their Efforts—How They Operate in Chicago.

Getting tenants for sky scrapers has become an important profession. The only professors of this kind live in Chicago, says the Post of that city, and this is their harvest time.

To do the quacks justice it must be explained there is neither school nor college in this town that issues diplomas to recognized professors and hence one man has just as good right to practice as another, if not a great deal better.

He may really have heard of a firm that intends changing its location, but in the majority of cases he has not and goes forth to hunt a man who wants to move. He goes into a tall building, begins at the bottom and works up to the top, stopping in every office and explaining that he has a number of choice suites in the newest sky-scraper.

"Pardon me," he begins, after being shown into the private office of the head of the firm, "but I learned from a friend of yours that you are dissatisfied with your present location and are thinking of changing."

"Well, I don't like to give you his name, but it was a friend of yours, and he asked me to come around and see you."

"The floor plans are out by this time, and the professor goes on to explain the advantages of his building. He explains its location with reference to the car lines, and if he is talking to a railway supply man, for instance, gives the names of purchasers of that class of goods who are in the building.

"People in the big buildings are getting to know the tenant-getters and to give them a cold reception. The other day one of them entered the office of a lawyer on the eighth floor of the Rookery and made his little speech about having heard the tenant was dissatisfied."

"Is that so?" the lawyer answered. "Now, who told you I was sick of this building?"

"One of your friends whom I met at the club yesterday."

"Well, you tell him that he is mistaken. Six weeks ago I signed a new lease for five years."

The Latest Slang Phrase. State Senator Owens recently spoke of an opponent as follows: "That fellow is no good; he wears rubbers."

A reporter of the New York Sun has been inquiring about the meaning of the phrase. He asked a well-known politician: "What does it mean when you speak of a man as wearing rubbers?"

He said, "My boy," said the politician, "that is the very latest slang expression. It simply means that a man is a sneak; that, figuratively speaking, he approaches you with muffled feet. If you go into any police museum in the country one of the things they'll show you is the rubber shoe that the sneak thief or the assassin uses. It is an ordinary tennis shoe with a rubber sole and a canvas upper, and the only reason it is worn by crooks is because it gives them an opportunity to creep up behind their victim without being heard."

MAN'S MICROSCOPIC FOES.

Dr. Thiel Tells Marquette Club Members About Germs and Their Study.

TALK FULL OF DEEP INTEREST AND INFORMATION.

Organisms That Produce Disease—How Their Onslaughts Are Met By Energetic Lymph Cells.

IS AN EXACT SCIENCE.

A. Kline Thiel, M. D., presented a very interesting paper before members of the Marquette club Saturday night on the practically exhaustless and comparatively new subject of "Germs." The array of facts and microscopic pictures of these infinitesimal organisms, which the doctor held before his audience in the course of his talk, opened wide the eyes of all and once, when their activity and power of multiplying were mentioned, it caused the heart of the stoutest to quail slightly and a half-credulous smile to flit across each face.

Introducing his subject the speaker said that the history of bacteriology had indissolubly linked with it the names of Pasteur, Koch and Lister. Their researches had not only added incalculably to medical science but had enriched commerce almost beyond computation. Pasteur's study into the causes of silkworm destruction in France had restored to that country the immense revenues derived from silk manufacture and Professor Tyndall said that if the value of a man to a nation was simply what revenue he produced that France was indebted to Pasteur for his researches in anthrax or splenic fever, in a sum greater than the national debt incurred by the Franco-Prussian war. The work of Sir John Lister had made possible the brilliant achievements of antiseptic surgery of today and Koch had sent a gleam of most searching light into the hidden mysteries of the chief specific diseases.

Bacteriology is today as exact a science as mathematics. It is not only possible to state that a certain disease is produced only through the agency of a distinct microorganism but it may be definitely proved that such is the case just as readily as a problem in algebra may be worked to its conclusion. The long controversy between botany and zoology as to which class belonged these microbes had apparently been settled in favor of the former and scientists now discussed bacteria as vegetables instead of animals.

In plain, simple language stripped as closely as possible of technical verbiage, the speaker explained the differences existing between the several classes of microorganisms by which they are distinguished in microscopic and laboratory work. As something by which to get a mental impression of their size it was stated that through the hole made in a piece of paper by a cambric needle point 1,500 bacteria might march abreast without jostling each other and the same number placed end to end would stretch comfortably across the head of a small pin. The reproductive powers of these little organisms is enormous, almost beyond credence. Under ideally favorable surroundings one bacterium could in five days, according to a computation of Professor Tyndall, reproduce itself in sufficient numbers to make a mass equal to all the oceans in the world, supposing each to be a uniform depth of one mile. This statement caught the breath of the listeners but the doctor went relentlessly on adding comparison to comparison until the coolest head was bewildered and fancy was too much of a laggard to keep pace with such amazing fecundity. The methods employed in the study of germs were plainly described thus leading up to the relation existing between microorganisms and disease. There is an emphatic and distinct connection between germs and diseases which the entire medical world now accepts and acts upon. It has been proved beyond possible doubt that most diseases result from germs. But yet the germ is not the direct cause of the disease. A chemical poison produced by the microbe enters the system inducing abnormal symptoms and the object of the physician's treatment is more to neutralize the effect of this toxic principle than to destroy the germ although both are necessary to perfectly restore health.

Concluding, the speaker graphically described the action of the white blood corpuscles in defending the blood from the ingress of poisonous germs. These lymph cells act as guards and whenever a microbe gains access to the blood they pounce upon it and attempt to destroy it. If they are successful in this, health continues, if the microbe is victorious, fever, illness and perhaps death result. The pus formed about a wound or in a boil is simply an aggregation of dead lymph cells destroyed by bacteria in their heroic efforts to maintain normal health. It would be impossible by abridgment to do justice to Dr. Thiel's masterly paper and THE MINING JOURNAL will not make the attempt. It was so full of information that the most erudite listener carried new ideas away, yet in treatment so simple that the ordinary schoolboy might have understood every word. After the talk the members were treated to a glimpse of many specimens of microorganic life viewed through two powerful microscopes. It would not be easy to imagine a more interesting hour than that spent listening to the doctor's talk on "Germs."

At the request of President White, Justin W. McEachern will talk next Monday evening to the club on "Does the Press Mould Public Opinion?" and briefly describe the methods by which the Associated Press and like organizations gather and distribute news.

Captain Taylor Arrives on Dock. Captain Taylor of the City of New Baltimore is expected to reach the city from his home in Escanaba today. He has almost fully recovered from his serious accident of some weeks ago and will begin at once fitting out the Baltimore for her excursion work this season. The wharfs and pavilion on Partridge island, work on which the captain's mishap interrupted, will be pushed ahead as vigorously as possible to completion. It is Captain Taylor's purpose to make the Baltimore fairly bum this summer and "be kin of any one kin, be kin."

Benevolent Society's Statement.
The regular monthly meeting of the Benevolent society was held Saturday afternoon in the society's rooms, Y. M. C. A. building. The report of the benevolent committee shows a good deal of work done, but a decrease from that of February. Following is a detailed statement of the benefactions:

One thousand and sixty-four pupils taught by 106 teachers during five day's sessions! What a splendid record and how easily may the projectors and managers of this school be pardoned for a feeling of elation at such a result following their unselfish efforts. The reward work means garments, etc., made by the pupils, the material being furnished and cutting done by the school, under the eye of teachers and when done satisfactorily becoming the property of the girl who had worked upon it.

The items of aprons and dresses in progress are being made by advanced pupils and represent the finer class of work. The aprons are of good white material and require careful, skillful work and the dresses are a considerable elaboration on the regular aprons of the younger pupils. These classes are in charge of Mrs. Bennett and Miss Grylls and each article when finished will become the property of the pupil. One pupil is working on each apron and dress. The sewing school will close for the season with this month but its influence will not end as long as the little scholars have life enough left to ply the needle.

The Theora Was Late.
The fish tug Theora went out Saturday to set her first gang of nets. The day was beautiful and spring-like and Captain Parker naturally congratulated himself on so fine a day for beginning his season. Sturdily the Theora puffed her way past the breakwater and soon had passed beyond the horizon line far out into the lake. She should have returned about 6 o'clock in the afternoon, but when darkness set in without a sign of her, friends became alarmed and they surmised some mishap had befallen her.

At 9:30 another tug was making ready to go in search of the Theora when her well known whistle sounded entering the harbor and soon she was tied up at her dock and Captain Parker was explaining the reason of his delay. Just after placing the first net the gaskets of the steam feed pipe blew out and in a few minutes the fire hole was full of hot water and the boat disabled. The captain had to wait until the boiler and pipes had cooled off before the break could be repaired. This consumed about five hours before the captain determined to keep on setting till all the nets were placed. He was somewhat surprised to find his friends had been uneasy. He thought they might take it for granted that such an old veteran was bound to turn up O.K. before long.

Will Be Well Cared For.
Prosecuting Attorney Young held a conference with Justice Cray Saturday regarding the young girl mother who had been held for what seemed a desertion of her child by leaving it in the care of a little girl after which she went to the copper country. Among a number who had applied to be permitted to adopt the child was Mrs. Abey of Ishpeming and as Mr. Young knew her to be a woman of good standing and a kindly nature he advised the young child be given to her. The young mother, who is greatly pleased at the outcome of her adventure, was sent back to her home at the Quiney mine.

The Military Dance.
Friday evening next Company G will give a big military dance in the Armory for which invitations have been issued. It is the Rifles' purpose to make this the most imposing as well as pleasing social affair they have ever attempted. All members of the company and local staff officers will appear in full dress uniform, giving a decidedly military effect to the dancing hall. Tickets have been placed at $1 and guests will be refreshed in the Armory dining rooms.
