REED IS TRIUMPHANT.

Democrats Forced to Adopt Very Rule for Which They Cursed Him.

COULD NOT DO BUSINESS WITHOUT IT.

Majority of One Hundred Compelled to Confess Inability to Legislate Without Reed's Rule.

CRISP WILL COUNT QUORUM.
WASHINGTON, April 17.—The house today by an overwhelming vote decided to adopt the quorum-counting rule which for all practical purposes is the same as that which ex-Speaker Reed inaugurated during the Fifty-first congress and which won for him world-wide reputation.

Neither undue excitement nor tumultuous scenes marked the crushing of old legislative barriers. Reed and the Republicans generally were in delightful humor over the victory they had achieved and those who expected Mr. Reed would taunt and gibe his political adversaries with their alleged inconsistency were disappointed. The Populists did not vote on the proposition.

WILL MAKE MEMBERS WORK.

The adoption of this rule, taken in conjunction with the determination to enforce the old law of 1846, to dock the salaries of members absent save on account of sickness, will it is thought put an end forever to parliamentary obstruction. The enforcement of that law will keep members at their post of duty and this rule will prevent them from refusing to participate in legislation when they are present.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—There was a very large attendance on both sides of the house today in anticipation of a fight over the adoption of the new rule for counting a quorum to prevent filibustering by refusing to vote.

The house plunged into the contest without a single preliminary, even before The Journal was read. In order to prevent parliamentary complications Mr. Catchings, of the committee on rules, withdrew the rule presented last Thursday and presented the new rule.

THE QUORUM COUNTING RULE.

This provides that upon every roll call and before the beginning thereof the speaker shall name two members, one from each side of the pending question, if practicable, who shall take places at the speaker's desk to tell the names of at least enough members in the house during roll call who do not respond, when added to those responding, to make a quorum. If a quorum does not respond on the roll call then names of those so noted as present shall be reported to the speaker, who shall cause the list to be called from the clerk's desk and recorded in The Journal and in determining the presence of a quorum to do business, those who voted, those who answered present and those so reported present shall be considered. The members noted may when their names called record their votes notwithstanding the provision of Clause One of this rule. Clause One requires members present who do not vote to respond "present."

DISCORDANT DEMOCRATS.

Mr. Catchings then suggested that debate on the new rule be limited to one hour and a half but this proposition developed vehement opposition from the Democratic opponents of the new rule and Mr. Catchings finally agreed to make it two hours for each side, the vote to be taken at 4 p. m.

Up to this point Messrs. Reed and Burrows, the Republican leaders, had not put in their oars, though watching every point closely. Then Burrows presented as a substitute the quorum-counting rule of the Fifty-first congress, providing for counting by the clerk on the suggestion of any member or by the speaker's order.

The speaker then submitted the request for the necessary unanimous consent to close debate at 4 p. m. To the surprise of everybody Mr. Wells (Dem. Wis.) objected, ending the attempt at a peaceful settlement. Mr. Catchings appealed to the house to witness the fact that he had made an honest attempt to afford reasonable opportunity for debate.

PREVIOUS QUESTION DEMANDED.

Nothing was left but to apply the gag and so Mr. Catchings demanded the previous question. The vote was taken by yeas and nays. The Republicans voted in the negative and the demand was sustained, 140 to 120. Under the rule fifteen minutes was allowed on each side for debate. Mr. Burrows, after stating that the proposed rule was substantially the rule of the Fifty-first congress, withdrew his substitute. The debate then began and was calm, even-tempered and wholly unlike what had been anticipated. The Republicans were bubbling over with good humor over the consummation of their long legislative struggle and applauded every Democratic convert to the rule put in practice in the Fifty-first congress. Mr. Catchings was first recognized and made a two-minute speech.

Mr. Springer supported the rule because he said it would enable the members of the house to transact the business which their constituents sent them to transact. A burst of Republican applause greeted this statement, which was renewed when he said that the house had in a month done but two days business. Mr. Kilgore argued against the proposed rule. Ex-Speaker Grow (Pa.) upheld the principal incorporated in the proposed rule but objected to its details.

MR. BRYAN'S PROTEST.

Mr. Reed, who controlled their fifteen minutes for the Republicans, yielded five minutes to Mr. Bryan. The latter was very earnest in opposition to the proposed rule. This was a matter of great importance, he said. Over half the states in the Union, including New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Nebraska, required the affirmative vote of a majority of the total membership of their legislative assemblies to enact laws. It might be inconvenient at times but it was an essentially safe plan. It was the safeguard of the minority. It gave the minority power to compel the concurrence of the majority on any measure and while this power could be used for filibustering purposes, after all it was better to be safe than sorry.

Mr. Driscoll (Dem., Ga.), to whom Mr. Reed yielded one minute, declared no one would have the temerity to affirm that the Fifty-first congress would have adopted a quorum-counting device had the Republicans in that house not been so hard pressed for a quorum. With the enormous majority possessed by the Democrats in this house it was a humiliating spectacle to see them forced to the adoption of a revolutionary expedient. A round of Republican applause answered this and Mr. Reed, whose face was aglow, arose and with a display of fervent generosity and good humor asked unanimous consent for five minutes more.

REED'S HOUR OF TRIUMPH.

"The scene here today," said he, "is a more effective address than I could make. The house is about to adopt the principle for which the Republicans have contended since the Fifty-first congress. I congratulate the Fifty-third congress, he concluded impressively, "on the wise decree it is about to make" [Republican applause].

"I don't want to use it myself," said he. "I would like to distribute it among my Democratic friends across the way." Mr. Reed's words seemed to goad Mr. Bynum particularly and he objected. Thereupon Mr. Reed said he would only consume one minute of the remaining time at his disposal.

Mr. Catchings in concluding the debate declared if the proposed proceedings were revolutionary it had been forced by the representatives of the great party who insisted upon the policy of obstruction. He resented the idea that such obstruction could be considered statesmanlike, yet having become the settled policy of the opposition heroic measures were necessary.

NEW RULE ADOPTED.

The vote was then taken on the adoption of the new rule. The Republicans all voted in favor of it and it was adopted, 213 to 47. The Democrats who voted against it were: Abbot (Tex.), Barnes (Wis.), Black (Ga.), Bland (Mo), Breckinridge (Ky), Bryan (Neb.), Bynum (Ind), Capehart (W. Va.), Cansey (Del), Cobb (Ala.), Conn (Ind), Cooper (Tex), Covert (N. Y.), Cummings (N. Y.), Dunn (N. J.), Durbin (Ills), English (N. J.), Epes (Va.), Goldizer (Ills), Grady (N. C.), Hall (Minn.), Hines (Pa), Holman (Ind), Hunter (Ills), Kilgore (Tex), Lane (Ills), Lapham (R. I.), Lester (Ga), Mallory (Fla), Martin (Ind), McAleer (Pa), McKaig (Md), McMillin (Tenn), Reilly (Pa), Russell (Ga), Ryan (N. Y.), Stevens (Mass), Talbot (Md), Tracey (N. Y.), Turner (Ga), Warner (N. Y.), Wells (Wis), Wheeler (Ala), Whiting (Mich), Williams (Ills), Williams (Miss), Wise (Va)—total, 47.

Reed was immediately surrounded by his party friends and given an ovation. Some of the Democrats got up a counter demonstration over Catchings. A large bunch of La France roses was then placed on Reed's desk and another Republican outburst followed. The flowers were sent with the compliments of Representative Apsley of Massachusetts.

WHEELS BEGIN TO TURN.

The parliamentary wheels then began moving again and then came the approval of the Journal of the last three legislative days, which had up to this time remained a stumbling block to progress. Then came the question of discharging the sergeant-at-arms from the continuing order to arrest members adopted almost a month ago.

The discharge was secured on a yeas and nays vote and this gave the first practical illustration of the operation of the new rule. The speaker named Deekery (Dem.) and Cogswell (Rep.) as tellers to watch the count and, if necessary, to count the members present but not voting. They took their places at the side of the clerk, each keeping a separate tally of the vote in order to force the recording of members as present but not voting in accordance with the provisions of the new rule.

The Republicans declined to vote on the first roll call. At its conclusion Mr. Livingston made the point of order that under the new rule there was no second call of the house, but in lieu thereof the list of names reported by the tellers as present but not voting should be called. The speaker, however, stated that the new rule did not contemplate any interference with the roll call and operated at the point of order. The second call then proceeded. Finding no quorum had voted on the first call the Republicans changed their tactics and answered. As a result the vote of 226 to 5 showed a quorum present and the tellers made no report.

The committee reports blocked by the filibustering last week were then presented and the house went into committee of the whole on the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill. After speeches by Mr. McCreary in support of and Mr. Hitt adverse to the bill the house at 4:40 adjourned.

REED CHEERED AT THEATER.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Ex-Speaker Reed was the recipient of a very extraordinary and unusual compliment as he entered the National theater tonight. As he walked down the center aisle during the first act he was recognized and some one started to applaud him. In an instant the demonstration spread in all directions and before he reached his seat the whole house was wildly joining in the oration. It was a most unusual occurrence in a Washington theater. Mr. Reed bowed his acknowledgments.

Democrats Denounce Hill.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—Three thousand Democrats in mass meeting today passed resolutions denouncing Senator Hill of New York for his tariff speech.

STRUCK BY A TORPEDO.

Insurgent Armored Cruiser Aquidaban Destroyed by a Brazilian Torpedo Boat.

ONLY THE BARE FACT IS AS YET KNOWN.

Remaining Insurgent Vessels Surrender and Their Crews Are Pardon.

HOW WENT THE BATTLE?
MONTVIDEO, April 17.—[Copyrighted.]—The Brazilian minister is advised that the rebel warship Aquidaban, formerly Admiral Mello's flagship, has been sunk off the island of Santa Catharina by a Brazilian torpedo boat.

REBEL FLEET SURRENDERED.

BUESOS, AYLES, April 17.—[Copyrighted.]—The remains of the Brazilian rebel fleet under Admiral Mello arrived off this port last night, including the Republica, Meteoro, Iris, Urano and Esperanza. The vessels seem very dilapidated and their crews are suffering from sickness, wounds and lack of proper food. Their wants were temporarily supplied by the Brazilian minister, who has advised from Rio de Janeiro that a general amnesty will be granted the rank and file, including all except the principal leaders, and that Brazil will pay quarantine expenses if the ships surrendered. This is satisfactory to the rebel leaders and the Argentine government is now superintending the delivery of the vessels to the Brazilian minister. Their crews are being debarked and transferred to the hospital.

The Brazilian government has notified Uruguay that the expenses and passage money home of the insurgents, who landed in the department of Roche, Uruguay, will be paid and all except the leaders may return without fear of severe punishment. If Mello or Salgado should fall into the hands of Brazil they would doubtless be shot, so they will seek some foreign shore. It is said Admiral da Gama is so incensed at de Mello for his cowardly desertion of him in the harbor of Rio that he proposes to seek him out and force him to mortal combat. It is understood de Mello will take care to avoid such a meeting.

GRESHAM SECURED AMNESTY.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—For the clemency shown and the general amnesty extended by President Peixoto, the Brazilian rebels have to thank the United States. It was through the efforts of Secretary Gresham that the expediency and propriety of the humane course was urged upon the Brazilian government in an unofficial way. Through Minister Mendonca it was made clear to President Peixoto that he would add to the glory of his triumph and sooner restore good feeling at home and retain the respect of other powers by kindly and humane treatment to the defeated and crushed rebels.

SPEED CHANGES TUESDAY

Senate Will Then Take Up Tariff Bill by Paragraphs.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The senate after some discussion decided to continue debate on the tariff bill till next Tuesday, when the bill will be taken up by paragraphs. The senate then held a brief executive session and decided to consider the Chinese treaty in open session May 3. On reconvening in open session Mr. McLaurin began his tariff speech. Mr. Smith (N. J.) followed. His speech was devoted almost entirely to an attack on the income tax. He touched upon the charge of treason by the Minnesota Democrats and said:

"Party ties grow weak when they make disregard of one's own convictions and disloyalty to one's own people the test of fealty. I do not hesitate to add that even the misuse of the Republican party is to be preferred to the communism of Populists and socialists. If that be treason then the self-appointed censors of Minnesota do right to lay their charge at my door."

During the debate Mr. Lodge offered an amendment for the imposition of certain retaliatory rates of duty against Great Britain, providing that these duties should remain in force until Great Britain consented to take part in an agreement with the United States for coinage and use of silver.

STOLE RIGHT AND LEFT.

More Financial Rotteness of Indianapolis Bankers Exposed.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 17.—The trial of Indianapolis National bank wreckers today was devoted to showing up the fraud in the sale of the Boston branch of the Indianapolis Cabinet company to Thomas L. Pierce of Boston. Pierce had been an employee of the Cabinet company and the day of its assignment the Boston concern was transferred to him for his notes and these notes were sold for a song at auction in New York. The fraud of the sale was brought out in strong relief and the government's case was greatly strengthened. John M. Dickerman, president of the American Desk & Sundry company of Chicago, testified that he knew nothing of the $40,000 in drafts that had been drawn on him by the Cabinet company and turned into the bank as collateral.

Swept by the Cyclone.

GUTHRIE, Ok., April 17.—A cyclone passed over the country thirty miles east of here this morning, doing great damage. In Lincoln county four houses were demolished and several people injured and in Pottawatomie county a dozen houses were wrecked and two people killed.

MARQUETTE, MICH., APRIL 18.
Entered as mailmatter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

EVIDENTLY the editor of the Escanaba Mirror is very proud of that Falstaffian paunch of his, and conceives that it is a grievous affliction for a person not to have a girth like an ox. But brains, not bowels, are what count in the battle of life, and the man who carries about a big "bay-window" front while an under-sized hat suffices to cover his brain-pan usually comes out as the editor of The Mirror has done in the struggle for the prize packages in politics and business.

DEPEW tells the newspapers that his reported candidacy for the Republican nomination for the presidency in 1896 was a "joke." He also says times are getting better, and that if tariff legislation were out of the way there would be a speedy improvement in business. We trust this is not also a sample of the great after-dinner orator's jocularity, for while the people can afford to smile at Dewey's candidacy for the highest office in their gift, statements relating to their own business affairs touch them on a tender spot and are not just now a fit subject for joking.

BRECKINRIDGE's friends announce that he will be a candidate for re-election to congress from his district. If the people of his district shall return this self-confessed libertine to congress as their representative they will become sharers in his infamy and will be regarded with contempt by the whole world. They will also offer an insult to congress which that body would be compelled to resent by unseating him. For public sentiment would force congress to rid itself of the pollution of his presence and membership. The best thing the friends of Breckinridge can do for him is to let him drop out of public sight as quickly as possible. The country has had and heard quite too much of him as it is.

"EX-SPEAKER REED will have some fun with the Democrats if he ever gets back in the speaker's chair," remarks the Kalamazoo Telegraph. No doubt of it. And the Democrat who is now in the speaker's chair is having lots of fun with Mr. Reed at present. No matter how the elections go the men who are sent to Washington to make wise laws for the nation seem to think that all that is required of them after they get there is to "have some fun" with one another in carrying on senseless partisan sparring. Meanwhile the country suffers and a stupid partisan press applauds the "play" they make. How long will the people permit such trifling with their interests to continue?

THE Menominee Herald reproduces this from a paper called The Politician, whose name is, evidently, not a misnomer:
H. O. Young, the Ishpeming lawyer and member of the Republican state convention, told me yesterday that Congressman Stephenson would probably want a re-nomination, and, if so, would get it by acclamation. There was some doubt about his desiring another term two years ago because of his poor health, but he is better now and will probably not consider that obstacle.

If "Our Sam" is willing to accept a fourth term in congress—he can have it if he wants it as a matter of course—The Herald ought to let the people of the district know it without delay. It is near enough to that statesman, being published at his home city, to be aware of his desires without having to get them at second hand.

HAD NO HAND IN IT.
The Detroit Free Press comments very fairly on the outcome of the prosecution instituted by the state against John W. Jochim, ex-secretary of state, and the deductions to be drawn from the division of the jury—six for acquittal and six for conviction. In the course of an article discussing the verdict that paper says:

Upon one point the trial of the ex-secretary of state must have satisfied every person who followed the testimony. There is no longer any shadow of doubt that the returns of the votes cast for the amendment of 1893 were deliberately falsified by somebody. There is no room anywhere for a theory of mistake. There is hope, therefore, that before all the prosecutions are concluded the guilty parties—the persons who actually perpetrated the fraud—may be exposed and convicted. There is nothing in the case just tried to indicate that the defendant had any hand in the actual falsification, though six of the "good men and true" composing the jury panel seem to have been convinced that he inspired it. The exposure and conviction of the real culprits will tend to settle this point; for it is hardly conceivable that they will suffer in silence for an offense if it was committed at the instigation of others, as it certainly was in the interests of the defendant. The Jochim trial did not indicate very clearly from what direction the real thunderbolts of the prosecution are to come or at whom they will be aimed, but there is an abiding conviction on the part of the public that the stock of bolts is reasonably large and that they will be used effectively before the cases are closed. The thought may be in some measure due to the wish that this may prove to be the case; but it is a thought that has certainly been encouraged by the prosecution.
The Free Trade is of the opinion that the action against Mr. Jochim will in all probability now be dropped, but this belief is not warranted by later advices from Lansing, for one of the counsel for the state in the case just tried is quoted as asserting that "if any of the indicted persons flatter themselves that this or any of the other cases are to be abandoned the sooner they revise their opinions and realize that every one of them will be vigorously prosecuted the sooner will they set about preparing their defense." So there is "more misery" in store for Jochim, albeit a Democratic paper concedes that there was nothing adduced in the trial of his case which would indicate that he had any hand in the actual falsification of the salaries amendment returns. The prosecutors employed by the state seem determined not to let up on him even in the face of their admitted failure to produce any evidence connecting him with a criminal act or suggestion in relation to the fraud committed in canvassing the returns and declaring the result of the vote on the amendment.

IN THE GRIP OF A MONOPOLY.
The owners of mining properties on the Mesaba range which are not in the Consolidated combine, the latter being now controlled by Rockefeller, are complaining loudly of the discrimination against them practiced by the railroad connecting that range with the shipping port for their ore. The road is owned and controlled by the Rockefeller combination, and gives a low rate to the mines in that combine, while maintaining a high rate for the business of mines outside of the group belonging to the Standard Oil magnate and his associates.

This practically rules the mines not in the combine out of the market, for they cannot successfully compete with the favored ones in the consideration under such conditions. Editorially considering their complaint, the Duluth News-Tribune observes that "the rates from mines to the docks on the Menominee, Marquette and Gogebic ranges have been reduced, and in every case are lower than the rates charged by the roads here. In addition to that, the lake rates from Marquette and Menominee (Escanaba?) are much less than from Duluth or Two Harbors, and these things are operating against the Mesaba mines. Where the mines are owned by the railroad companies it doesn't make much difference, but it is death to the independent operator."

Just so, and that is what Mr. Rockefeller and his gang of "freeze-out" players intend that it shall be. They have the railroad line and the Barge line in their hands and with the advantage thus possessed it is their purpose to force the owners of other mining properties on the Mesaba to sell out at whatever price the Standard Oil octopus may see fit to pay for their properties. It will take time to coerce the "independent" mine owners who are dependant on the octopus for transportation facilities to discover how hopeless is their case and how inevitable their fate, but Rockefeller is patient. He knows he has them under his thumb and will derive a certain satisfaction from watching their writhings while they are vainly endeavoring to escape him.
It is the old method of the Standard Oil company applied to the iron mining industry on the Mesaba range and when it has worked out its results the Rockefeller combine will own everything worth having in sight there.

KELLYITS MUST TRAMP.

Thought of Padding Over Iowa Mud Revolts Their Proud Souls.

GOVERNOR JACKSON'S INQUISITIVE YOUNG MEN

They Wear Blue Coats and Carry Guns and Object to Commonwealers Stealing Trains.

THEY WILL RUN FROM WORK

OMAHA, April 17.—Kelly's Commonwealth army is still encamped east of Council Bluffs, much out of sorts at what it calls the trick of officials in leading them to believe a Rock Island train was waiting ready to be captured.

Kelly wants permission to march through Council Bluffs back to Omaha. He thinks he could raise enough money there to pay their fare to Chicago.

Kelly was in Omaha all day and when he returned at nightfall had $10 in cash and two wagon loads of provisions.

OMAHA, April 17.—Ten recruits from the Black Hills for Kelly's army were stealing a ride in a box car on the Elkhorn Valley road.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 17.—A detachment of the Kelly industrial army, numbering eighty men, under Captain Goroman reached here today enroute to Washington and 200 more are enroute between Evanston and Cheyenne.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 17.—The wives of members of the Commonwealth army here have formed an auxiliary and will move on to Washington with the men.

ANOTHER TRAIN CAPTURED. VINCENNES, Ind., April 17.—Part of Frye's army, 200 strong, passed through this city at 9:30 o'clock tonight on a Baltimore & Ohio east-bound freight.

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 17.—Coxey's army turned out bright and early this morning and went on board the canal barges which will convey them to Williamsport.

DECLARED UNCONSTITUTIONAL. Inheritance Tax Law Knocked Out by the Supreme Court.

LANSING, Mich., April 17.—[Special.]—The supreme court filed opinions in the following cases this afternoon:

Affirmed—Burns vs Caskey; Davis vs Davis; Warner vs National Life Association; Peters vs Torrent; Mullen vs Owasso; Kay vs Hammond estate; Smith vs Michigan Central Railway Company.

Reversed—Eppinkrook vs Webber; Booth vs Sternberg; People vs Rohrer.

Modified—Emerson vs Detroit Steel & Spring Company.

In Chambe vs Duffee and Hance vs same, writs of prohibition were granted.

The last two cases decided the Doran inheritance tax law unconstitutional.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder ABSOLUTELY PURE

PROUD OF THEIR WHISKERS.

Lions and Tigers No Good Without Their Bristles. "It is all well enough," said Prof. Darling, "to oblige many young women who are anxious to have a lion's whisker as a sort of talisman, but I do not propose to render the five animals which I possess positively useless."

Prof. Darling stood in front of his cage at Hagenbeck's with his big brutes huddled up closely to the iron bars waiting to be caressed. For some time he has been pestered to death by personal applications and by letters asking for "just one lion's whisker" until his mail has become a burden to him, and as he pulled the long brittle-like appendages from the mouths of his lions, he said: "Once a lion loses his whiskers he is practically ruined, not only so far as his appearance goes, but for his usefulness as well. I know one little instance of this," added the professor. "It was in the imperial zoological garden at Schonbrunn, in Germany. Carl Hagenbeck had purchased at the command of the imperial government one of the handsomest tigers I ever saw in all my life. He was most beautifully marked and had long flowing whiskers. The beast was very ferocious and had to be handled with the utmost care. At Mr. Hagenbeck's request, I went with him to help put the tiger in a permanent cage in the zoo."

"The tiger traveled in a box with bars in front, and when the destination was reached the box was backed up against the permanent cage and the door opened to allow the tiger to enter, but budge he would not. We worked at him for hours and nothing would induce the animal to move out of his traveling cage. To make a long story short, we stayed that animal for three days, with pieces of meat lying just outside of his cage, but it did no good. We then tried that remedy which is often tried on wild beasts, although few people know of it, the hose-pipe; and we drenched that tiger but this did not have any more effect upon him than the use of an atomizer on a woman's hair."

"Things were getting in a very desperate state, for with starvation and chill Mr. Hagenbeck feared that he would lose his tiger, so he determined to try that last resort—fire. A newspaper was lighted and thrust into the cage. The tiger turned with a spring and grabbing the fire right in his mouth and as he did so singed off all of his whiskers. The animal proved remedial and tended for him, and you may believe me or not, but that animal with the loss of his whiskers lost all of his pride. The imperial government paid an enormous price for him, but from the day that he lost his whiskers he never would face the crowd of people who came to see him, but would hide his face in actual shame, and finally died. Mr. Hagenbeck, than whom there is no greater authority on such subjects, declared that he died of a broken heart caused by the humiliation of his pride."

"A lion's or tiger's whiskers when once taken off never grow out again. These beasts shed their hair once a year ordinarily, all except the whiskers. Their shedding depends entirely upon the climate, and that is that I never knew a lion or a tiger or any other animal of the cat species to go through the Red sea without shedding. I have seen animals shed at Suakin and come out with hair as fresh and glossy as silk, and yet going through the Red sea they will shed again. No one can account for it, but it is a fact nevertheless. This explains to you," said the professor, as he gave a parting pat to his pet Leo, "why I have been accused of being ungallant in not giving whiskers from my pets to ladies for charms, but I do not propose to have my lions injured or their pride humiliated."—N. Y. Tribune.

GOTHAM'S MENDICANTS.

How the Beggars of New York City Ply Their Arts.

An Industry That Is Imported by Those Who Engage in It—Americans Not Successful Alms-getters.

The comradeship of beggars, to which all writers on the subject of the nether side of life in the big metropolis of New York delight to refer, does not manifest itself at courts or police stations, for no individual arrested for mendicancy in New York for a very long time has described himself as a beggar when arraigned or arrested. There are about fifteen hundred professional beggars in New York. Begging as a fine art or fixed science is not an American institution. Americans do not make good beggars, if such an expression may be used to describe ability in almsgetting.

Begging, says the New York Sun, is a foreign industry, temporarily imported so far as this city is concerned. There is one peculiar thing about it which does not find its way usually into the columns of newspapers. The professional beggars of New York belong in groups, divided by questions of nationality. There is the Italian group, the Spanish group, the Danish group, the French group, the Russian group, the Polish group, the Scotch group, the Swedish group, the Greek group, and so on. Each of these groups has a certain place of rendezvous, and the way they operate is about as follows: If a prominent Italian comes to the United States on a visit and the newspaper chronicle his movements, it is not long before he is beset by Italian mendicants who claim to be temporarily embarrassed, and to have heard from abroad of his liberality and benevolence. A French tourist has the same experience from his compatriots, and so it is all through the list.

The professional beggars are close readers of obituary notices, and when a man of prominence in the foreign colony dies his family is pestered with importunities by beggars from that country. Not very long ago a well-known New York merchant died, and his obituary notice contained the information that he had been born in a certain town of Holland. As soon as the Dutch group of beggars got hold of this fact they overran the members of his family with claims for charity and assistance. All professional beggars in New York read the published newspaper accounts of accidents of an unusual character, and when some member of a family has met his death in a peculiar manner they profess to members of the family to have suffered from a similar affliction, and hope to stimulate their generosity.

These mendicants go about their work of almsgetting systematically. One group does not interfere with another. Facts learned by one member of a group are at the earliest opportunity communicated to the others, and thus, almost automatically, these beggars descend from all parts of the city on a common object of attack. They evade the provisions of the law regarding mendicancy by prosecuting their demands within doors, and not on the streets. They are careful about this, for the distinction which many persons would not observe is a vital one in law.

The great majority of New York professional beggars are intemperate, and the larger amount of what may be described as their "work" is expended in drink. This fact does not comport very well with their known system and precision in securing victims for attack, but it can be easily explained when it is stated that the best organized group of foreign-born mendicants come from countries where drinking is general, but intoxication is rare. The United Charities organization has about driven out from the field of activity the English-speaking beggars, as a class, in New York, but the foreign-born beggars survive in unimpaired numbers, and seem to flourish, despite the hard times.

PAINT cracks.—It

often costs more to prepare a house for repainting that has been painted in the first place with cheap ready-mixed paints, than it would have cost to have painted it twice with strictly pure white lead, ground in pure linseed oil.

Strictly Pure White Lead

forms a permanent base for repainting and never has to be burned or scraped off on account of scaling or cracking. It is always smooth and clean. To be sure of getting strictly pure white lead, purchase any of the following brands:

- "Morley," "Shipman," "Southern," "Red Seal," "Collier," "Fahnestock," "National Lead Co's Pure White Lead," "Union Colors," "one-pound cans," "Save time and annoyance in matching colors, and insure the best paint that is possible to put on wood."

Claim Nearly All.

At the secret meeting of the ore trimmers Monday night it was decided to unite against the proposal of the boss trimmers for this season and to demand that if the two and one-half cent rate were accepted the bosses would have to share with the men according to the old arrangement. The men claim that all but eight or ten of the old trimmers have signed the union decision and that the majority of those staying out are in sympathy with the men's claims, only prefer not to identify themselves with any combined opposition. On the other hand the boss trimmers still claim they will produce a sufficient number of men to trim the first cargo of ore demanded at the docks. Messrs O'Meara and McPartland, when shown the affidavits of the men, published elsewhere, decided to make no specific reply, not wishing to prolong what they consider a useless controversy. They simply reiterate that they never discharged a man for wishing to consult or for consulting bills of shipment, but that the dismissals instanced happened for an entirely different reason. Beyond this they did not care to talk but appeared content to await the test of a vessel arriving for ore. This will not be long delayed now as the first boats passed the Soo last evening at six o'clock and ore boats are on the way not far below the canal.

New Mayarus Building.

Domielck Mayarus, whose property was burned during the fire in Washington street some months ago, has commissioned Loejov & Demar to prepare plans and specifications for a new store and dwelling to be built immediately west of Smith's grocery. The building will be 26 by 73 feet, two stories high with roomy basement. The walls will be of solid brick, the front of cut and artistically detailed sandstone relieved with rich art glass, and promises to be one of the handsomest store fronts in the street. The first floor will be for store purposes; the second fitted out complete for a dwelling. The plans will be ready in a few days for bidders. Mr. Mayarus has evidently grasped the situation in the proper place. If there ever was a favorable time to build it is at present when both materials and labor are cheaper than for years past. A thousand dollars will go much further now—at least such is the opinion of builders—in putting up a house or business block, than a year hence if times pick up at all, and they are bound to do so.

New Vessel Inspectors.

Owing to illness of Mr. Scott of the board at Grand Haven, United States Local Inspector A. O. Kruger and C. M. Gooding of this district, are now making inspections of steam vessels at St. Joseph, Grand Haven, Muskegon, Traverse City and other points in that district. They expect to reach Marquette about April 20 or 21.

ARTIFICIAL DIGESTION.

A Scientific Discovery That Is Changing Food to Life. CAREFULLY EXPLAINED.

Why It Is That This Food When Taken Into the Stomach Does Not Have to Be Digeated.

But a short time ago some eminent scientists made a great discovery. They discovered that fats and oils didn't fatten thin people. Everything seems simple after someone else has found it out. If we had thought we would have remembered that for ages doctors have forbidden starch foods to people who wanted to get thin. It follows they ought to recommend starch foods to people who want to get fat. Nobody knows why they didn't do so. Nobody knows why they don't all do so now. But they are learning. More are recommending it every day. They are beginning to believe in Paskola, because Paskola is a starch food.

It has long been known that starch food is the most natural food for man. Of the four chief chemical divisions of human food, namely: starches, fats, albumens and salts, starch is the most important, fats the least important.

If we had only starch we could do without fatty food. We would die if we tried to do without starch food. Many people are dying today because their digestive organs cannot digest starch food. They eat plenty of starch, but they can't digest it. They keep thin. They keep getting thinner. There is but one hope for them, Paskola.

One reason that Paskola will help them is because it is a pure starch food.

Another reason is because it is a pre-digested food.

Nothing but starch will ever make you fat, strong and hearty. Meat or albuminous food merely repairs waste tissue. But even if it were pre-digested it would not make you fat.

Fat food cannot be pre-digested, and even if it could, it would not make you fat.

Paskola is the only starch food which will make a confirmed thin person fat. Paskola creates an appetite for other foods and helps your stomach to digest them. It also tones up and gives strength to the feeble stomach.

The old, old notion about fats and oils and fatty foods making a person fat is fast fading away. The most eminent scientists and medical men have long since ceased to believe in it. The rank and file of the profession are fast following their example.

Even if fatty food could make people strong and fat, all the good it would do would be to well people, for it is only well people's stomachs that can stand it. Well people don't need food that will make them fat. They are generally fat already. If they weren't fat, they wouldn't be well.

It is just the people who need food that will make them fat whose stomachs can't stand fatty food. We can't fight nature. Thin sick people have a very general and decided aversion to fats and oils. That ought to be sufficient proof to us that fat is not what they need to make them well.

Even the thinnest and sickest people like Paskola.

They like other starch foods, too. They probably eat a good deal of starch food. Nature allows them to do so. They have no decided aversion to it. This is proof that starch food is a good food.

The reason that the food thin people eat does not make them fat is simply that they do not digest it. They are sick, and that is the sickness they suffer from. Most dyspeptics cannot even retain starch foods on their stomachs. It ferments and forms a noxious gas. They are in the unhappy state of needing starch food so badly that they are slowly dying for the want of it, and yet they cannot digest it. The most delicate stomach can retain Paskola.

The great difference between ordinary good starch food and Paskola is that Paskola is pre-digested. Paskola would make you fat if you hadn't a stomach. With a stomach, no matter how sick it may be Paskola makes you fat all the quicker. Paskola is superseding cod liver oil, because it is pleasant to the taste and is far more effective in its operation.

A pamphlet giving full particulars respecting Paskola will be sent on application to the Pre-Digested Food Co., 30 Reade street, New-York city.

SOMEBODY BLUNDERED.

Ishpeming Men Hired to Work at the Canadian "Soo" Disappointed.

GATHERED TO TAKE THE TRAIN BUT FOUND TWAS "NO GO."

Council Holds its First Meeting and Gives Jobs to Several Seekers for Municipal Places.

A DISAPPOINTED CROWD.

At 12 o'clock yesterday John Jones, Jr., who had engaged 200 Finlanders and Scandinavians to go to Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., where they were to be given work by Hugh Ryan & Co., contractors, received a message from the company's representative, Mr. Wilde, at Marquette, stating that the men were not wanted at present; that the places they were wanted for had been filled. This of course put Mr. Jones in a very embarrassing position, so he at once reached Mr. Wilde by phone and told him that the men were all at the depot waiting for the train to pull out and that unless they were given some satisfactory explanation there was liable to be trouble, as it would be a hard matter to satisfy them, inasmuch as they had all prepared for the trip; had packed their grips and trunks and were ready to take the train. Mr. Jones could not then get a satisfactory explanation of the matter other than that the men were not wanted at present.

As soon as Mr. Jones undertook to explain matters to the men some of them grew angry and the more they talked about it the hotter they got. For a time it seemed that there would be trouble. Some of the men had been drinking during the morning and they were in proper trim for mischief. One or two of the interpreters got mad and soon their followers were ripe for a row.

In order to satisfy the men and also to relieve himself from blame Mr. Jones took the 12:50 train for Marquette to consult the contractors' representative. As he was getting aboard some of the men made strong threats and said that if in case he did not return with good news trouble would follow. For a time after the train pulled out many of them talked rather loud and were apparently excited and angry. They remained at the depot for some time after the train left.

As the train was pulling out seven of the men got aboard, paying their fare to Marquette. There they were met by the company's representative, who accompanied them to the Canadian "Soo." As they had paid their own way Mr. Wilde told them he would guarantee them work upon their arrival there. He told Mr. Jones that the remainder of the men would also be guaranteed work provided they paid their way to the Canadian "Soo."

It is unfortunate for the men, and particularly so for Mr. Jones, that a blunder of this kind was made. Many of the men had gone to some expense in preparing for their journey and they certainly had good grounds for complaint. As early as 8 o'clock yesterday morning the men began to congregate about the depot. Two hours later fully one hundred and fifty men had gathered there and at 12 o'clock there were no less than four hundred on hand. The depot platform was crowded from one end to the other and many stood around in the streets adjoining. Trunks, grips and bags filled with the men's belongings were lying in heaps here and there about the platform.

Mr. Jones returned from Marquette on the 4:35 train and fully three hundred men were still at the depot. He explained to them that a mistake had been made on the part of the contractors and that he was in no way to blame for their disappointment. For about an hour after the arrival of the train a large crowd hung around the express office but finally their interpreters succeeded in convincing them that Mr. Jones was not responsible for their disappointment and they left for their homes.

Wants Economy in City Business.

When the new council met last evening Mayor Johnston, calling the meeting to order, addressed it briefly, recommending economy in the conduct of the city's affairs for the ensuing year. His remarks seemed to find a responsive chord in the breasts of the aldermen. After the usual preliminaries the mayor announced the standing committees for the following year, which are as follows:

- Finance—G. R. Person, W. H. Rood, H. B. Paul.
 - Claims and accounts—H. B. Paul, J. S. Olson, C. Haws.
 - Purchasing and printing—J. S. Olson, W. Sterling, T. Gabory.
 - Bonds and sureties—W. Sterling, Jas. Clancy, J. Nolan.
 - Sewerage—Aug. Beerling, J. Lindberg, C. Burt.
 - Water works—J. Lindberg, N. Losselyong, J. Nolan.
 - Building, grounds and insurance—J. Story, J. E. Ohman, M. J. Griffin.
 - Health—Jas. Clancy, M. J. Griffin, J. E. Ohman.
 - Fire—W. H. Rood, W. Verran, T. J. Dawson.
 - Streets and alleys—Mayor, N. Majhannu, Jas. McCutcheon.
 - City lighting—T. J. Dawson, J. McCutcheon, T. Gabory.
 - Police—Jas. McCutcheon, N. Losselyong, C. Burt.
 - Library—W. Verran, G. R. Person, J. Story.
 - Salaries—N. Majhannu, J. Clancy, C. Haws, Aug. Beerling, W. H. Rood.
- The council adopted the rules in force last year for its government during the year ensuing.
- Gus Peterson was named for the position of city marshal and John Nolan for deputy marshal by the mayor, and both appointments were confirmed by the council.
- E. W. Smith was chosen librarian. Dr. Barnett was reelected health officer. Joseph Richards street commissioner and Mr. Robinson janitor of the city building, and W. C. Potter was elected city attorney. Joseph Gingrass was elected city engineer, James Condon engineer of the fire department and Dan Sullivan and Oliver Bronley drivers of hose carts.
- The police force was reduced from six to four and A. G. Downey, William Bodenna, Gus Lindberg and Charles Hiko were the lucky men who got the places.

The Iron Ore was named as the paper in which official publications will appear.

The city treasurer's bond was fixed at $175,000; that of the marshal at $1,000; deputy marshal, $1,000, and street commissioner $1,000, after which the council took an adjournment.

A New Receiver.

The following concerning James W. Wood, the absconding grand receiver of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, and his successor, John C. Ellsworth of Fowlerville, is taken from the Michigan Herald, the official paper of that society published at Detroit:

On March 29th, James W. Wood, grand receiver, left Marquette and has not since been heard from. An investigation of his bank accounts shows a deficiency of $3,000. The grand lodge is amply protected by his bonds and will suffer no loss. He was suspended from office by the grand master workmen April 6th, and Grand Recorder Wilson was appointed grand receiver pro tem. At a meeting of the board of trustees held at the grand recorder's office April 10th, John C. Ellsworth of Fowlerville, was appointed grand receiver and will enter upon the duties of his office as soon as he has qualified.

The appointment of Brother Ellsworth left a vacancy in the office of grand watchman and Brother Charles E. Townsend of Jackson has been appointed grand watchman.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

A son was born Monday night to Mr. and Mrs. George Tucker.

Hon. John Jones has returned from the lower part of the state.

G. B. Sedgwick has returned from Chicago and other points below.

ENGLISH WOMEN AS MODELS.

A Sculptor Says Few of Them Possess a Well-Formed Foot.

Models are an important part of a sculptor's need. I doubt whether in this particular we differ from our Greek predecessors, for we read of choice presents, such as peacocks, given by Phidias to his models, showing how much he valued them, presumably because it was as difficult then as now to get good ones. To be a model is a business of itself, and when we remember the number of art schools there are, even in London alone, and the many artists who are entirely dependent upon them, it may be realized what a large body they must be.

The men are mostly Italians, chiefly, I am told, from the neighborhood of Naples. The women are, as a rule, English, and have often sat from babies. To find a well-formed foot is almost an impossibility among the best of them, owing to the long cramping in boots, but a friend once told me that he had a friend of the foot of an Indian woman that was as beautiful as the foot of a Greek statue.

Our English models lack often the suppleness of figure that distinguishes more southern races, such as the Italian, which is partly accounted for by the heavy, cumbersome clothes our climate necessitates. But such as they are we have to make the best of them, and a really good one is eagerly sought after.—Good Words

HENRY WILSON'S SUCCESS.

How a Vice President Learned to Make Shoes.

Now arose the problem of earning an independent livelihood. No opening being found at home, young Henry Wilson set out for Natick, Mass., where the shoe manufacturers were said to be paying good wages. He chose to go by way of Boston in order to visit Bunker Hill. So one day not long after he stood on the spot where Warren fell, and felt the inspiration which the scene compelled. Pushing on to Natick, he arrived at his destination and found that his entire trip, mostly on foot, had been accomplished with the expenditure of one dollar and five cents.

Here he found employment in the shop owned by Mr. William P. Legro, who agreed to teach him the trade of shoemaking in consideration of five months' gratuitous service. He set to work diligently and soon perceived that he had bargained away his time incautiously; so he agreed with his employer for a release of the five months' obligation for the result of fifteen dollars. The result was that Wilson mastered the trade and began to earn regular wages at the end of seven weeks instead of five months. In those days each workman in a shoe factory made the entire shoe. There was no division of labor, as exists to-day. Young Wilson, anxious to accumulate money to enable him to help his father and mother and to obtain an education, began business on his own account and worked with wonderful energy. He often worked sixteen hours a day. Mrs. William Perry, with whom he boarded, said: "He was a very good young man; we liked him much, but he kept us awake by his continual pounding through the night."

This was the secret of Henry Wilson's success—"continual pounding."—Blue and Gray.

THE GEM

Pile Treatment

A GUARANTEED CURE.

WHAT IT IS AND WHAT IT DOES

IF YOU HAVE THE PILES, NO MATTER HOW BAD, IT WILL CURE YOU.

THE GEM PILE REMEDY is the discovery of a man who for many years had suffered with a most stubborn case of piles, and who had tried many remedies without avail. He brought about a permanent cure by the use of the Gem Treatment, and since curing himself, has cured every one who has come to him with this painful malady, for treatment. The Gem Treatment is entirely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It is not repulsive; neither does it interrupt any person in the pursuit of his employment. There are no restrictions as to diet or habits. A cure is guaranteed in every case, no matter how long the patient may have been a sufferer, nor how serious the malady is. If you are a sufferer from piles, try a box. Instructions for using in every box. PRICE, $1.00 PER BOX.

SENDING ORE FORWARD

Negaunee Mines Begin Loading Ore for Shipment.

Street Railway Company's Annual Meeting--In Honor of St. George

ORE SHIPMENTS STARTED.

The Negaunee mine began loading cars preparatory to shipping ore yesterday. This mine will ship about sixty carloads daily.

Between thirty-five and forty cars are being loaded daily at the Queen mine. The company has not yet begun loading from the stockpiles.

The Cambria mine began loading Saturday. About thirty carloads a day will be shipped for the present from this mine.

The ore thus far loaded at the different mines has been placed on the sidetracks here pending the opening of the pockets at Marquette.

Were Re-Elected.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Negaunee & Ishpeming Street Railway & Electric Company, held in Negaunee Monday afternoon, the board of directors and officers were re-elected for the ensuing year. The officers are: President, Samuel Mitchell; vice president, F. Braastad; secretary and treasurer, A. B. Miner.

Following are the directors: Samuel Mitchell, F. Braastad, C. H. Hall, Alexander Maitland, Charles McVey, weather, J. B. Maas and H. G. Young.

Aside for the election of officers no business of special importance to the general public was transacted.

Will Attend Services.

English Oak lodge, Sons of St. George, of this city, will attend religious services at the Methodist church next Sunday morning. The members have been requested to assemble at 9:30 o'clock to be in readiness for the parade half an hour later. The English Oak band will head the procession. Rev. Mr. Whitney, the pastor, will preach a sermon suited to the occasion. The lodge will not observe St. George's day, next Monday, in a general way. A number of the members may, however, attend the celebration of the Ishpeming lodge on Saturday.

The Assessor's Work.

City Assessor A. C. Seass began work on the assessment roll of the city of Negaunee yesterday. Prior to three years ago Mr. Seass held this position here for four consecutive years. He is familiar with the work and will undoubtedly make a satisfactory roll this year as in years past. While the work of preparing the roll is in progress Mr. Seass is desirous of having the tax payers call at his office in the Breitung House to examine it. He is also desirous of receiving all the assistance and information possible in compiling the roll, so that there will be no complaints made after it has been made up.

FAIRY TALES OF CHILDHOOD.

How dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood.

With fairies and giants and wonderment fraught;

How often I wept for the Babes in the Wood.

Covered over with leaves which the little birds brought.

And sweet Cinderella, whose sisters would whip her.

Till the fairy god-mother sent her to the ball!

What joy when she fitted the little glass slipper.

And married the good, handsome prince after all.

My hair, it would stand right up straight from my forehead.

When Bluebeard found blood on the key which his wife

Had used to peek into that chamber so horrid--

But thank I glad when they took Bluebeard's life.

Dear little Red Riding Hood! Who could be sweeter.

When she thro' the woods to her grandmother sped;

How frightened I felt lest the big wolf would eat her.

When showing his teeth while she lay on the bed.

And Hop-o'-my-thumb! What a smart little fellow.

He was to strew pebbles to find his way home;

I guessed his had uncle felt awfully mellow.

When Hop and his brothers would back again come.

Bold Jack and Beanstalk! I shivered when-ever.

The giant said: "Pe-d-d-fum! Ismell blood."

And held in my breath till Jack's hatchet could sever.

The stalk so the giant fell down with a thud.

And Jack, Giant Killer, so brave and defiant!

He wasn't afraid of old ogres a bit;

He shook his wee fist at that two-headed giant

Who, running to catch him, fell into Jack's pit.

Peas in Boots! How I listened in awe to that story.

And wondered if cats long ago were so wise;

And dear Sleeping Beauty--who slept in her glory.

Until the nice prince came to open her eyes.

And tiny Tom Thumb, on his mouse-horse a rider.

With his little sword needed! O, wasn't he cute!

How bravely he vanquished that terrible spider--

A hero he was of most noble repute.

Beauty and the beast! she gave me a pleasure,

And Sinbad, the Sailor, and Forty Thieves, too.

And Aladdin, whose wonderful lamp was a treasure.

And the Wooden Horse flying aloft in the blue.

Enchantment and fairies and magic and witches,

Hobgoblins and dwarfs, genii, giants and elves,

Kings, princesses, princes and queens and such riches.

Those story books mustn't be closed on the shelves.

A SMART CRIMINAL.

Why He Secured an Easy Job in the Warden's Office.

The train stopped for a few moments at a small town and a young girl got in.

She was tall, slender and pretty, a true village lass, dressed in a neat gown, but one which, nevertheless, bore evidence of home manufacture. The coach was rather crowded and she looked this way and that for a seat.

Till her bright glance rested upon two men seated in the rear of the coach, and she gave an exclamation as she came toward them.

"Why, George Coomer," she said, as she stopped near the younger of the two men and extended her hand cordially.

He was a good-looking young fellow, dressed with great taste, and was evidently a friend of old lang syne with the young girl. By his side was seated an older man with coarse features, a hard expression resting upon his face. He wore a slouch hat. He was powerfully built and would evidently be a hard man to handle where physical force was called for.

"Why, little Grace Shaw," exclaimed the young man. But he did not rise, nor did he extend his hand. He reached over with his left hand and turned over a seat.

"Won't you sit down here?" he asked.

"With pleasure. It is so long since I have seen you, George."

"Yes, about ten years." Then alluding to his companion, he said: "This is--this is my friend, Mr. Charles Grove."

The young woman bowed stiffly, but she made up her mind that she would not like the companion of her old friend. There was something forbidding about him to her.

"What have you been doing, George, since you left town?"

"Oh, a little of everything and a good deal of nothing."

"It was unkind not to have let any of your old friends hear from you all this time."

"Well, a man is so busy, or rather so occupied in town with doing what little he has to do, that he--"

"Forgets old friends," she added, reproachfully.

"Well, not exactly. But tell me about yourself."

"There is nothing to tell. I am teaching school. But you, how have all your wonders, all of us, how you were getting on. Some of us said that you were always so smart that you would do very well in New York. Have you done well?"

"Ask my friend here," he said.

"He has done very well," said the gruff man. "Very well, indeed. He is going to retire from business for a few weeks just now and rest up a bit."

"How lovely! Have you made your fortune then, George?"

"Well, I am on the road."

"He is going to live in one of the biggest houses in the state," said the gruff man.

"How fine!"

"Smart boy is George," chuckled the other man.

Suddenly there was a jolt as the train stopped, and a newspaper which had been carelessly spread over the knees of the two men fell to the floor. The young girl gave an exclamation of terror, for there sat the men handcuffed together.

The young man recovered his suave manner.

"Don't be alarmed, Gracie," he said. "You can now understand what he meant when he said he was going to a big house. I am going to take him there. I am a United States marshal and he is a criminal. That is all, so cheer up, my girl."

The other man gave a grunt and a snort.

"Well, I am blown," he said.

"What has he done?" she asked, eyeing him with terror.

"Oh, not very much. He is a generally bad man. He would as soon burglarize as sandbag a person; he would as soon pick your pocket as run a farm bank; he would just as soon enter a front door and help himself as he would to climb a porch. He is simply a good all-round crook, and I am taking him to jail."

"Whew! whew!" whistled the other man, regarding the young fellow with amazement.

"But don't be alarmed, my dear. He won't be ugly to-day. He knows that I've got him and he'll keep quiet. Just hand me that newspaper, will you? It is as well that people should not know what bad company I'm in."

"Well, I've a good notion to punch--" began the other man.

"How long is he sent up for?" asked the young lady.

"Only five years, but he deserves ten, and I wish they had given it to him."

"Is it possible?"

"Yes. In 1883 he robbed a house of six hundred and fifty-three dollars; in 1885 he escaped from jail; in 1886 he snaggled a man and took his watch; two years after he was running a crooked gambling house, and now he is sent up for forgery. He is capable of all the small vices, and a good many of the big ones."

By this time the train had arrived at the station where the young girl was to leave the train.

"Well, good-by, George," she said, rising.

"Good-by, Gracie."

"I'm so glad to have seen you."

"And I, also. You are becoming such a sweet, pretty girl."

"You don't think so?"

"Indeed I do."

"I'm so glad that you have done well in the city, and I will tell all your old friends."

"Yes, do."

"Be careful of that man with you. Aren't you afraid of him?"

"Oh, no."

"Well, good-by."

"Good-by."

He extended his left hand.

"Shake!" he said.

She put her pretty hand in his and he gave it a pressure that made her blush.

"Sorry I can't shake with the other hand," he said, "but duty, you know, duty."

"Yes."

"Good-by."

"Good-by."

"Don't forget to tell all the folks I am doing well."

"I won't."

"Am prosperous and all that."

"No."

"Good-by."

"Good-by."

She was off, and now the train was bowling on again.

The other man took a key from his pocket and unlocked the handcuffs. Then he fastened the end that had been attached to him to the iron work of the seat.

"Now, Confidence Jim, if you meet any more of your lady friends, just introduce this seat to them."

With that the other man walked into a smoker and lighted a cigar, but he kept his eyes upon the man who was fastened to the seat. But when the warden of the jail heard of the story he laughed. Then he gave the smooth prisoner work in his own office.—Detroit Free Press.

Unnecessary.

The Ainu, an uncivilized tribe on the Island of Yezo, are not at all fond of bathing. Indeed, they share the Chinese idea that it is only dirty people who need continual washing. They do not regard themselves as dirty, and therefore dispense with the uncleanly habit.

"You white people must be very dirty," said an Ainu to a traveler as the latter was preparing to take a plunge into a limpid river, "as you tell me you bathe in the river every day."

"And what about yourself?" was the question in turn.

"Oh," replied he, with an air of contempt, "I am very clean, and have never needed washing!"—Youth's Companion.

MEN ACCEPT CHALLENGE.

Ore Trimmers Furnish Affidavits in Proof of Their Statements.

SAY BOSSES DISCHARGED MEN FOR CONSULTING BILLS.

They Assert No Expense Is Connected With Operating Gangs Which Men Do Not Pay.

THAT ONE-FIFTH STICKS THEM

The ore trimmers held a meeting yesterday afternoon, at which the statements made by Messrs. McPartland and O'Meara, as published in yesterday's MINING JOURNAL, were discussed. Among other things the men claim to have reliable information that McPartland and O'Meara did not stick for three cents a ton for three weeks after they had put in their bid, and as bearing upon this they wish McPartland to publish a telegram received by him from Cleveland, Ohio, on Monday, April 9. They deny that most of the old men have agreed to accept the offer of two cents, and say it is impossible to do the trimming required at this port with two gangs of twenty-five men each, as it is frequently the case that four to six vessels are in port at the same time ready to load.

As tending to prove the impracticability if not the impossibility of doing the work with two gangs of twenty-five men each, they show that in one week last summer, boats were trimmed as follows:

Continental,	1,592 tons	by 28 men.
Kershaw,	1,191 "	" 26 "
Arnold,	1,250 "	" 23 "
Ketchum,	1,568 "	" 32 "
Becker,	1,772 "	" 32 "
Speicher,	1,457 "	" 32 "
Magnetic,	1,721 "	" 32 "
Hackett,	1,122 "	" 27 "
Griffin,	1,991 "	" 34 "
Holland,	1,229 "	" 34 "

They claim to have in their possession bills of lading and other written evidence as to the number of men employed on the vessels a portion of last summer, the number of tons carried by each vessel and the amount received by the men, which they will in due time give to the public, if required.

In accepting the challenge of the bosses to "give the public proof of their statements," they begin by submitting the following, which will be supplemented with the further evidence demanded, if the same shall be required:

STATE OF MICHIGAN,)
MARQUETTE COUNTY,) ss.

James Murphy being duly sworn, deposes and says that during the summer of 1893 the Ore Trimmers' Union of Marquette of which he was a member, appointed a committee of three in each of the three gangs to procure bills of lading and other evidence as to the number of tons of ore shipped upon each vessel, and the number of men engaged in trimming the same for the purpose of ascertaining whether the men were receiving their full share of the freight money. That Herman Krueger, Peter Doetsch and this deponent were appointed as a committee for one of said gangs. That as a member of said committee he applied to Thomas McPartland, a boss of one of said gangs, and asked him for the bills showing the number of men at work, and number of tons of ore upon each vessel when trimmed by his gang. That he thereupon showed deponent what purported to be a statement of the boats, number of tons of ore shipped, and number of men who had worked on each boat for the week preceding. That deponent then proceeded from Mr. Donovan, a clerk in the railroad company's shipping office, copies of the bills of lading for the same cargoes as shown by McPartland's bills. That upon figuring up and comparing the same with the amount paid the men, it was found $4.00 had been retained by the boss. That on the next Monday morning following the time of procuring said bills, and as deponent was about to commence work, McPartland said to deponent: "I can get along without you; I don't want you any more," and thus discharged deponent from his services. And deponent says that on the same day the said McPartland discharged from his service the other two members of said committee, Herman Krueger and Peter Doetsch.

And further deponent saith not.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
Notary Public, Marquette Co., Mich.

STATE OF MICHIGAN,)
COUNTY OF MARQUETTE,) ss.

Martin Rustenhoven being duly sworn deposes and says that he keeps a boarding house on Lake street in the city of Marquette, in said county. That in the summer of 1893, a number of ore trimmers boarded at his house, who were employed under Mr. O'Meara. That on or about the 25th of August, 1893, said O'Meara said to deponent in substance: "How is it about those fellows boarding with you that went up to the office to look up bills of lading?" to which deponent replied, "I know nothing about it," and thereupon O'Meara said to him, "If you don't know, I will find out, and get even with them in one way or another."

And further deponent saith not.
MARTIN RUSTENHOVEN,
Subscribed and sworn to before me this 17th day of April, 1894.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
Notary Public, Marquette Co., Mich.

STATE OF MICHIGAN,)
MARQUETTE COUNTY,) ss.

Adam Reichel, being duly sworn, deposes and says that some time in the month of August, 1893, he had a conversation with Thomas McPartland in relation to his having discharged Peter Doetsch from his ore trimming gang. And deponent says that he asked McPartland why he discharged him, saying that he was a married man and he ought to have kept him, and that McPartland replied: "I discharged him because he was running too much after the bills of lading; meddling too much with them; that is a man I don't want."

And further deponent saith not.
ADAM REICHEL,
Subscribed and sworn to before me this 17th day of April, 1894.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
Notary Public, Marquette county, Mich.

Regarding the statement of McPartland and O'Meara as reported in THE MINING JOURNAL that "they (the men) forget that out of our share of the rate must come all the expense connected with operating the gangs," the men say that this is only intended to deceive the public for, as a matter of fact, the men have always paid for their own picks and shovels and are charged by the bosses with the candles they sometimes have to use in the vessel's hold. That, as a matter of fact, aside from this there are no expenses whatever, except such as the bosses claim are incurred in treating the captains, etc. If there are any other "expenses connected with operating the gangs" they would like to have the bosses specify them.

But as appears from THE MINING JOURNAL's interview with the bosses, those gentlemen still propose to retain one-fifth of all that is earned by the men, and this they declare ought not to be tolerated.

As to the other bids referred to by the bosses, offering to do the work for two and one-half cents per ton, the men claim they are informed that those bids were made by parties who proposed to divide the profits of the work equally with the men, and to work with them had they been successful in securing the contract; and that their chief ground for complaint now is that McPartland and O'Meara insist upon taking one-fifth of their earnings without doing any portion of the work or investing any money whatever in it.

The foregoing was prepared by the ore trimmers' attorneys and THE MINING JOURNAL gives it place without change or curtailment.

About the Boats.

Agent Otterson of the Crescent Steamship line made a trip to Portage lake a few days ago to study the situation and figure on how soon boats might pass through the canal. He found a pretty stiff field of ice still there which, in his opinion, would require at least three days of decidedly warm weather to soften so that boats might pass. He found the Portage river open from the entry to Snake river.

The propellers John M. Nicol, William H. Stevens and James Fiske, Jr., are lying at Duluth. The Nicol was waiting and ready to start as soon as the Soo would be open. As that is now a fact the boat will likely start on her downward trip at once. Mr. Otterson expects the John V. Moran to reach the Soo soon, bound for this port, and looks for her being the first liner to touch here. If she accomplishes this the Crescent boats will open navigation for us this year as they did last. The steamer J. C. Perrett and Boscobal, with their tows of fifteen barges, will run between Marquette and Tonawanda this season in the lumber trade.

Elmer E. Tucker of Detroit, chief engineer of the James Fiske, Jr., was in the city yesterday, accompanied by two sailors, on his way to join his boat at Duluth.

Late dispatches yesterday to this city gave the depth of water over the nitre at the Soo as fourteen feet.

The steamers J. C. Perrett and Boscobal, with their tows of fifteen barges, will run between Marquette and Tonawanda this season in the lumber trade.

Gidday's Plaster Still There.

A MINING JOURNAL reporter took a walk out to Presque Isle park yesterday and found it fair walking about the drives as far as the second bend in the road after ascending the hill. Wishing to secure a view of the lake he stepped to the edge of the rocks and the first thing which greeted his eye was that old yellow insult placed on the rocks last fall by one Gidday who, following a trait suggested by his name, got frisky one afternoon and painted the name of a certain line of fluid extracts he was introducing on a prominent part of the park.

THE MINING JOURNAL took the matter up, placed it before the public and made the gay young drummer so tired that he left an order with one of our business men to have the obnoxious plasters removed. Delay followed until the weather got too cold and the lake too rough to permit of a boat going around the park in safety, but kind nature placed a thick coating of ice over the eyesore so that any one who might have wandered out there could not have been insulted by it. Now the weather is warm enough and the lake sufficiently quiet and the public would like to see Gidday's order for $10 earned and the blot removed from the people's pleasure resort.

The park committee may see from this that the bilious advertisement still disfigures the rocks and any of the members or the commissioner may learn the name of the person holding Gidday's order and see that the evidence of senseless vandalism does not insult visitors by the close of this week. It should not remain their a day longer.

Pine Street Scenery (?)

In explaining to a stranger that Pine street has been reserved as a pleasant driveway to Presque Isle park, and proving the matter by taking him for a spin along this usually well kept thoroughfare, try if possible to direct his entire attention straight ahead while passing between the beginning of the fair grounds and the ice house. If his eyes were allowed to roam at will he might be prompted to ask if ash piles, tin cans and other debris were considered by Queen Cityites any particular improvement on natural scenery. He might wish to know if dumping old shoes, clothing, etc., at the side of a select driveway had a tendency to cause people to break their necks in a wild endeavor to hold the ribbons along that particular stretch of macadam.

Until some person gets around to it and pulls the ash piles, etc., away back behind the trees, it would be a wise policy to blind fold your friend from the time you reach the fair grounds until near the ice house. If he objects tell him it is because the scenery is so magnificent the uncultured eye could not stand a full dose. Of course his nose may convey different information but if you are clever you may fix that also.
