COXEY LET OUT ON BAIL.

Commonwealth Leader Arrested for Turbulent Conduct on Capitol Grounds.

DES MOINES TIRED OF FEEDING KELLYITES.

Sovereign Turned Down by Debs and Crawls Into His Hole—Nothing to Investigate.

AN ORDINARY PEACE-BREAKER.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Carl Browne and Christopher Columbus Jones of Coxeys' Commonwealth were arraigned in the police court this morning. The merely curious general public was not admitted. The prisoners had quite a notable array of counsel, including the Populist Congressman Pence of Colorado, Baker of Kansas, Kem of Nebraska, Bohn of Minnesota, and Adjutant General Tarnsey of Colorado, a brother of Representative Tarnsey of Kansas City. Chairman Taubeneck and the People's party central committee were also present.

When Coxeys appeared he was notified that an information had been filed against him and submitted to arrest without formality. After some discussion it was decided to put the hearing over until Friday and Coxeys and Jones were taken to the police station, the court refusing to accept cash bail. Browne, having given freeholder's bail last night, was allowed to go. Subsequently Frank Hume, a wholesale grocer, signed bonds for Coxeys and Jones and they were released.

Coxey persists in his determination to remain in Washington. Affairs at the camp of the Commonwealthers are in a quiescent state today. There was no disorder or demonstration of any kind requiring the presence of the large force of regular and special policemen stationed at and in the vicinity of the camp.

Several members of Coxeys' army walked through the White House grounds today. Two of them expressed a desire to enter the building but were induced to abandon the plan by a couple of detectives. There was no disturbance of any kind and the president held the usual afternoon reception without incident.

JUST MARCH OR STARVE.

DES MOINES, May 2.—The outlook for Kelly's army is decidedly unpromising tonight and the industrialists are in anything but a good humor. All hope of securing a train has practically been abandoned by the local committees, their propositions for stock cars and cut rates having been refused.

In addition to the prospect of walking to Chicago the army is threatened with an empty larder. The indications are that Kelly will have to walk out of town Friday or starve and much uneasiness is felt over the possibility of the army breaking up in Des Moines.

Kelly has again asserted that he will never walk and the men are equally determined. Many of them left the camp and begged food tonight and it is apparent that their pleas for free bread will not long be listened to by the people.

SOVEREIGN TURNED DOWN.

President Reese of the local American Railway union wired President Debs today asking him if Grand Master Sovereign of the Knights of Labor is authorized, as has been intimated, to call on the railway men to secure a train for the army. Reese tonight announced that Debs had replied that such reports were false and to pay no attention to them or to Sovereign. Sovereign refused early in the evening to talk about the matter and then disappeared.

The baseball game between Kelly's men and the Des Moines Stars this afternoon terminated in the latter's favor by a score of 6 to 5. At the last moment Kelly refused to play because the managers of the enterprise would give him but 50 per cent. of the proceeds. Some of the industrialists are clever players and the crowd was well contented with the game.

HELPLESS AS USUAL.

The Trades & Labor assembly held a meeting tonight and at a late hour decided on action similar to that taken in Omaha on behalf of Kelly's army. A call was issued to all labor organizations to meet in front of the citizens' headquarters to march to the state house at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and demand that Governor Jackson take such action as will secure a train for the industrialists.

This decision was made after lengthy speeches by General Weaver, Colonel Speed and others and was accepted as the last resort. No resolutions were passed, but upon motion it was decided that a popular demonstration was the only hope for sending Kelly on his way. It was suggested by some of those present that the governor be asked to free the railroads to furnish a train free and by others that reduced rates be demanded. But the nature of the demand on the governor was left to be decided on tomorrow.

GOVERNOR SURPRISED.

Governor Jackson was informed of the action of the labor organizations and was much surprised at the proposed demonstration. "If these people go to the capitol," he said, "I will receive them cordially and listen attentively to what they have to say. I have not had time to consider the matter but I do not see what I can do. There is no action for me to take that I know of and I shall probably so tell them."

Officials of railroads entering here say they do not believe General Master Workman Sovereign of the Knights of Labor is able to make good his threat to tie up the roads unless Kelly's army be furnished trains. Kelly looks on the bright side of Sovereign's promises and these two leaders were quite chummy today.

THE RIGHT OF PETITION.

ASPEN, Colo., May 2.—A large mass meeting of citizens declared for the maintenance of the right of petition and decided to raise funds for Coxeys.

DENVER, May 2.—A mass meeting of the unemployed passed resolutions demanding the immediate release of Coxeys' followers under arrest at Washington and calling on all law-abiding citizens to unite with them in a demand for the purpose of sustaining the constitutional right to petition for redress of grievances.

JULESBURG, Colo., May 2.—The Denver Commonwealthers left on foot for Hot Springs, Neb.

NOTHING TO INVESTIGATE.

House Refuses to Consider Johnson's Coxeys Resolution.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Mr. Johnson (Dem. O.) created a small sensation in the house by offering a resolution calling for a congressional investigation of the alleged beating of citizens by the police during the Coxeys demonstration at the capitol yesterday. He declared the alleged clubbing occurred on the capitol grounds and purported to be in defense of members of congress. The resolution was objected to and Mr. Johnson could not get immediate consideration for it as asked.

TO REFORM EVERYTHING.

Representative Bell (Pop. Colo.) introduced a joint resolution for the appointment of a joint congressional committee to devise means for the employment of the idle men of the country, to restrict immigration, to start up mines, to increase the currency and to prohibit the issue of interest-bearing bonds without the authority of congress, and for other purposes.

HOUSE DID SOME WORK.

The house went into committee of the whole upon the bill to improve methods of accounting in the treasury department and the bill passed without amendment. The house then went into committee of the whole to consider the river and harbor appropriation bill. At 5 o'clock committee rose and house adjourned without action.

SQUIRE'S TEDIIOUS TALK.

The proceedings of the senate were rather dull and the day was mostly consumed by Mr. Squire (Wash.) who spoke in general opposition to the tariff bill. Before the tariff bill was taken up Mr. Squire tried to pass his anti-slavery bill but it met with considerable opposition and ultimately went over without action. At the conclusion of Mr. Squire's speech the senate adjourned.

AVALANCHE OF DOLLARS.

Mint Clerks Narrowly Escape Death or Serious Injury.

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—Some of the fifty million silver dollars stored away in Vault C at the mint came very close to causing disaster to two clerks counting coin this afternoon. The coin was piled up in bags to the height of twelve feet and width of eight feet. As Wellington Morris was standing on top of the pile raking in some loose coins he trod into a bag and the silver dollars at once began to slide out. There was an ominous rumble and the clerk at the foot of the pile, seeing the impending danger, made a wild break for the door and got out in the nick of time. Morris kept on the top pile and succeeded in escaping unhurt. The impact of the falling dollars shook the mint building as by an earthquake and intense excitement prevailed among the employees. It is estimated that the amount which fell is valued at fully $2,000,000 and weighed 112,000 pounds.

DEADLY DYING WORKS.

Man and Woman Killed and Others Hurt by Explosion.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Two persons were burned to death and three other badly injured today by an explosion and fire at a dyeing establishment on East Twelfth street. A tank of benzine exploded and in five minutes the whole place was in flames. The charred remains of a man and a woman were taken out after the fire was subdued. They were identified as Leopold Chenier and Louise Thoman. Emil Masson was so badly burned that his recovery is doubtful. John B. Boncarron and Leon Bauduin were also badly burned. The people in the factory scrambled down the stairs and fire escapes. Some with their clothes in flames ran wildly about the street until captured by policemen who took the burning garments from their bodies.

"SOLDIERS OF THE LAW."

Mr. Harrison's Words to His Comrades in Arms.

CINCINNATI, May 2.—At the meeting of the Ohio commandery of the Loyal Legion today ex-President Harrison presided. After installing the officers Mr. Harrison spoke on the war and his army associates. Among other things he said: "The opportunity to serve our country did not end with the war. We have a life enlistment as citizens. Our duty is to support law and order and fight for the preservation of good government. Let us have free debate. Let every man oppose and defend any reform, or anything he thinks to be a reform. But let us never as soldiers or as citizens undertake to carry any idea of reform save by methods that conform to law and order."

GOLD RESERVE REACHED.

Treasury Gold Again Below the Hundred Million Mark.

NEW YORK, May 2.—One million dollars in gold has been taken for export, of which $920,000 comes from the United States treasury, reducing the gold reserve below the one hundred million limit.

"The Bomb That Failed."

LONDON, May 2.—A supposed bomb was found this morning at the entrance of the army recruiting office. Investigation proved it to be harmless.

RAIDED THE FACTORIES.

Cleveland Rioters Drive Away the Workers and Wreck Buildings and Machinery.

FOUGHT POLICE WITH CLUBS AND IRON BARS.

Mobs Are Dispersed and Troops Held in Readiness for Any Further Disturbances Today.

SIMPLY BLIND DESTRUCTION.

CLEVELAND, May 2.—A mob of six or seven thousand assembled on the public square this morning and marched out on a mission of destruction. Every window at the Variety Iron works was broken and the workmen run out. At the Upon Bolt & Nut works the windows were broken, the machinery smashed and the men driven away. The men were also run off from the Church Furniture works. At this point the police charged and drove the mob up the hill on Jennings avenue. The police were hurried to the scene from all points and all reserves, including the mounted men, were ordered out. Many arrests have been made and great excitement prevails in the southern part of the city.

The rioters raided a scrap iron yard and armed themselves with pieces of iron. Under appeals from their leaders they re-formed to resist the police. Reinforcements for the police arrived and another charge was made on the mob. The rioters stood their ground only a moment and then scattered, though not until many had been knocked down by policemen's clubs. The captured rioters were sent in patrol wagons to the nearest station. Many rioters threw stones at the police from the bridge but all were finally scattered.

While part of the mob was fighting the police others made an unsuccessful attempt to hold up a mail train on the Nickel Plate road. The train slackened up in order not to run any of the rioters down but managed to get through safely.

Mayor Bell announced this afternoon that no more rioting would be permitted. He issued a proclamation commanding the people not to assemble on the streets and at the same time called upon the Cleveland Grays, the Gathing gun battery and the resident companies of the Ohio National Guard to assemble in their armories and await his call. The troops are ready in response to the mayor's call and tonight at least 500 men are under arms awaiting any emergency that may arise. The trouble is thought to have subsided.

The mob was composed largely of ignorant foreigners fired by socialist preachings, with reinforcements of crooks and thugs of all descriptions. They cannot be learned to have any particular grievances against the factories raided but were simply moved to destroy property wherever they could. Some of them perhaps formerly worked in the factories which they wrecked but the greater number, aside from the known tramps and thieves, are common laborers, largely Poles, Hungarians and Slavs of the most ignorant class. The riots were undoubtedly directly incited by the socialist demonstrations usual of late years upon May 1. If there is any continuance of disorders today the rioters will undoubtedly get a sharp and bloody lesson, as their purposeless destruction of property and attacks upon unoffending workmen have alienated the sympathies of all classes.

RIOTS ON THE MESABA.

Workers Driven Out by Strikers and Mines Closed.

DULUTH, Minn., May 2.—Telegrams were received this afternoon by Sheriff Sharkey from every mining center of the Mesaba range stating that the strikers had stopped work at every mine and the situation was critical. One telegram from D. H. Bacon of the Minnesota Iron Company, who is at the Auburn mine, urged immediate action. The sheriff at once telegraphed Governor Nelson asking permission to call on the militia. If permission is given the sheriff will take the three Duluth companies to the range tonight. In any event the sheriff with a force of deputies will go to the scene of the disturbance.

ST. PAUL, May 2.—Governor Nelson, before issuing orders for the militia as requested by Sheriff Sharkey, has sent the adjutant general to Duluth to look over the ground and decide whether there is any necessity for such action. If needed the militia will be ordered out but all other more peaceful means of preserving order must first be tried.

SOLD OUT BY HIS LAWYER.

Robinson Wants $1,200,000 and 160,000 Acres of Land.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—John R. Robinson has begun a sensational suit against the Southern Pacific company, to which the Central Pacific, the Huntington-Stanford-Crecker and the Hopkins-Searies interests and others are made parties. He claims that through collusion between Attorney A. A. Cohen and the railroad (Cohen while appearing to be fighting the road being in its pay) the complainant was in 1877 defrauded out of $1,200,000 worth of stock of the Central Pacific and 150,000 acres of land. He asks for an accounting for these sums and interest.

Restored to his family. Who say the clouds of life have not a silver lining? Look at little 4 year old Grover Reynolds, Watson, Ill. His father, Daniel W. He was treated by a council of eminent physicians. They made incisions to let the water out and finally properly advised an operation, but confessed the little sufferer was so weak death would likely result. I refused and began giving him Dr. Fomer's Kidney and Backache Cure. Before one bottle had been entirely taken the stone had become so far dissolved by the remedy that it passed out of itself and the child is well and sound to-day."

Non-Commissioned Officers of Company F Appointed—Personal and Miscellaneous News Notes.

(All communications for copper country department letters should be addressed to A. F. Isler, Houghton)

The state fish car left yesterday for Sault Ste. Marie. While here several thousand trout were planted in the following streams: Otter, north and south branch, Pike, Pilgrim, Cole's creek, Schlott's creek and Salmon Trout. Even at this time of the season it was found very hard to get at many of the streams but the plant was more successful this year than ever before. With those planted in the Swedetown and Boston creeks and a branch of Boston creek a few days ago, as well as the streams in the other parts of the county, fishing in a year or two should be very good.

Captain George Miller of Company F announced the following appointments of non-commissioned officers last evening: Sergeants, John Holland, Charles Hendricks, Charles Beaubien, Henry Schwankamp, Frank Meyers; corporals, Charles Mutter, Albert Hadley, John Osborne, Charles Thebo, Alex Siller, Charles Walters, Hiram Cundy, Richard Hooper; company clerk, James O. Stanford University Students Making an Interesting Search.

The progressive students of Stanford have begun a scientific exploration of the great mound near Castro station, some four miles east of the university grounds.

MIGRATORY STATESMEN.

European Notables Who Spend Much Time in Travel.

Countries That Are the Resorts of Powerful Aliens—A Curious Fact About the Reigning Families of Europe.

There is hardly a country in Europe that is governed exclusively by men of that nationality. This peculiar state of affairs arises from international marriages, the accidents of war and voluntary changes of residence by men who are "down on their luck." M. Waddington, who, though English by birth, rose to be premier of France, is mentioned by the Rochester Herald as a notable example. Another French statesman, Eugene Spuller, bears a German name and was born of Badenese parents. Gambetta, the greatest public man France has had for years, was of Italian parentage, while Napoleon himself was a Corsican.

Austria is especially rich in powerful aliens. Its prime minister, Count Taaffe, is an Irishman and a member of the British peerage.

Spain is also very plentiful in the Austrian public service. Irishmen are very prominent in Spanish affairs, which accounts for the prevalence of Irish names in the Spanish-American republics of South America.

But the most curious fact is that numerous members of reigning families are unable to speak the language of the countries over which they rule without a marked foreign accent.

King Christian of Denmark and the queen are of German birth and education, and their son, King George of Greece, is also German by birth.

There is a faint trace of French in the speech of Sweden's King Oscar, descendant of Marshal Bernadotte. The father of Leopold of Belgium was a German.

Even Emperor William, who does not love English habits or the English people, betrays in his speech the English origin of his mother.

It is also true that the queen of England was wont to talk in German with Prince Albert, and even uses that tongue to-day in her family.

AN INTELLIGENT HORSE. Night Owl Knows Enough to Seek Shelter When It Rains.

A horse which evidently has a fondness for doing odd things daily draws one of the wagons of the American Express company in Cleveland.

He occupies a large space in the company's barn at the corner of Wood and Hamilton streets. The drivers call him Night Owl because he prowls about the barn at all hours of the night.

They say he would pull his neck from his shoulders if they placed a halter on him and tied him in a stall. When driven double to a wagon he becomes angry if the other horse goes ahead of him and tries to kick the driver from the seat.

For this reason Night Owl is driven single. If the weather is stormy and the wind blows the rain in his face he turns around and travels in the opposite direction despite the efforts of the driver to drive him straight ahead.

If the driver leaves him standing in front of a building which he enters to deliver an express package and stays too long Night Owl becomes impatient and walks away. If he is not overtaken by the driver or stopped by some person on the street the horse goes to the barn and nods his head for admission.

One day when the rain was blowing from all directions and Night Owl was unable to keep it from beating into his eyes he walked across the street, hauled the driver and wagon up on the sidewalk and stopped when he found shelter in a stairway and had placed his fore feet on the steps. He was never known to injure anybody.

Shorthand on the Battlefield. The statement circulated that the German and Swedish armies were contemplating using shorthand "on the field" having been widely ridiculed, a well-known stenographer has written to the Phonetic Journal, giving the gist of a conversation he had in Berlin with a military shorthand writer.

From this interview it is evident that the rumor was well founded. Officers of patrolling detachments have experienced great drawbacks because they could not quickly enough record their ideas, and just at the moment when very quick writing would be of the utmost importance they have to write longhand, and their report is only very inadequate. It will be an advantage if the officer can jot down a full message in a moment in shorthand and send it off immediately and proceed with his reconnoitering, instead of having to stop to make cumbersome notes in longhand, or to trust to memory.

AN EQUITABLE ARRANGEMENT.

He Bore an Evil Name, While She Possessed Coveted Riches.

The lady was a widow and rich—very rich—as the French novelist says, richissime. The gentleman was a widower, past sixty; extremely, even ridiculously, poor, and the last of a most noble and most historical house.

Which ever side they took, it always ended in their being captured and decapitated for high treason, or else killed in battle. From father to son, from generation to generation, for long centuries none of them ever went out of the world from an inglorious feather bed; it was always from the grassy field of honor or from a scaffold.

The lady, besides being a widow and richissime, was of ignoble origin, and her late husband had made his money in trade. Reflection upon this point made her unhappy.

"Twice arranged in this sense, the lady took and furnished for herself a great hotel, writes Walter Besant in London Queen. She had the rooms decorated in honor of this and that illustrious ancestor.

WAR OF EXTERMINATION.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 2.—News has been received here of another rout of the Mexican soldiers by the Yaqui Indians near Guaymas on the gulf of California. The savages have managed to get the best of the forces heretofore sent against them and it was determined this time to send force enough to make sure of exterminating them and putting an end to the troubles with them.

On the afternoon of March 5 the trail led through a long narrow and deep defile in the Sierra de Bacete. These mountains are wild, precipitous and 2000 feet high in places. A skirmish line was sent forward and beat the sides of the canyon, which were covered with brush, without discovering signs of the enemy.

When in middle of the defile, suddenly huge masses of boulders began to be tumbled from the cliffs above upon the hemmed-in column, crushing horses and their riders into shapeless heaps of quivering flesh.

Finally a wounded bugler was found with enough strength left to sound calls, as the commands of the officers could not be heard, and the remnant of the column, getting together such of the wounded as could be carried, fought its way back to open ground where the Yaquis dared not follow.

After the battle Dr. Corda with a small escort was sent to attend the wounded. He was ambushed and the savages skinned his feet and compelled him to walk. When he sank with exhaustion they killed him with lances.

GOOD WORDS FOR ASSES.

In Some Respects Man Must Yield the Palm to the Long-Eared Quadruped.

Of all mammals it is claimed that man is the strongest. An infantry soldier marches all day with seventy pounds of arms, ammunition and baggage, half his own weight, while a cavalry horse is well loaded with two hundred and fifty, one-quarter his.

Even the wonderful camel will howl and refuse to rise under a burden more than one-third his own weight, but the little ass may be actually loaded with three quarters of his own weight, and will then travel off at four and one-half miles an hour and keep it up.

The Syrian ass is often quite big, almost as tall as a polo pony, and a good-sized, well-bred and fine gaited white ass brings more than a good Arabian. As a traveler, day in, day out, he is superior in ease to the horse, will go over roads on which a horse cannot find a footing, and will do as good a day's journey.

I fancy that man must yield the palm of strength to the ass, by whose name he so keenly resents being called. So far as I have observed in the course of my travels, no animal can equal the ass in ability to carry loads except perhaps the woman coolie of Tibet.

She is a little bit of a thing, rarely weighing more than one hundred and ten pounds, and yet she will work twelve hours a day under a load of from eighty to one hundred pounds, and I have heard it said she will carry one hundred and twenty-five.

It is odd how we have got to associate obstinacy and numberless ugly qualities with the ass. This is all wrong. The one word which we are wont to use to cover all these assumed vices is mulishness. But a mule is a hybrid, and one of the peculiarities of hybrids is their general lack of the stanch virtues. If I were to hunt for a creature whose conduct from birth to old age came nearest to exemplifying the four cardinal virtues I would unhesitatingly choose the ass.

The nerves of the horse all end near the surface; those of the ass are deeply imbedded. But if there is any one quality for which, as I grow older, I gain in admiration, it is sweet reasonableness, and this the ass possesses while the horse does not.

There is an aristocracy of asses and there are the many headed. If you want the former look at one of the white Syrian asses. He is richly saddled and bridled and has two attendant Arabs to cater to his wants, for he must be kept in the finest condition for his master, the emir. This handsome fellow is truly a noble, if handsome is as handsome does.

His manners are perfect, and his gait is as smooth as theirs are rapid. He will go off at a running walk which would not spill a drop of water out of a brimful cup, and which will cover full six miles an hour. He can enter all day at an eight-mile gait but his traveling gait is the running walk on the rock, and in these gaits he has no equal. He is far more comfortable than any horse, and in a week's travel will go quite as far.

The background of the picture of the ass is always dire poverty. In prosperous countries the ass is not considered. In countries where strict economy is necessary to the barest existence, where every kernel of wheat, every grain of rice, every spear of green stuff which can be eaten is counted, where it is a question, not of whether a man can rise in the world, but whether he can keep body and soul together until the next harvest, the ass is useful as no other animal can be.

One hardly needs to feed him. He can pick up a living on the highway.—Boston Globe.

Amputating a Lion's Tail.

At Madras, some time ago, a valuable lion having incautiously allowed its tail to stray into an adjoining cage, the tail was seized by an evil-disposed leopard, close to the body. When the lion attempted to escape almost the whole of the skin of his tail was stripped off. This was followed by such an amount of inflammation that the lion's life was in danger.

Surgeon Maj. Miller, brother of the late Prof. Miller, of Edinburgh, the surgeon to the governor of Madras, volunteered to perform amputation. The lion was seized in his cage and his head covered with a cap containing a quantity of chloroform. He was then dragged to the edge of the cage and the tail passed through the bars, where Dr. Miller cleverly performed his operation. The animal made a good recovery.

CHILD SLAVERY IN SICILY.

Shocking Condition of Affairs in the Sulphur Mines at Girgenti.

An investigation has been set on foot regarding the sulphur mines of Girgenti. The researches reveal a fearful state of things. Each miner working at the vein has as assistants or "enrusi" one or two children, whose duty it is to carry the broken mineral to the surface. These children are bought from their parents for one hundred or one hundred and fifty francs; so long as that sum is not returned the child belongs to the miner, in his personal property—his slave, in fact.

Twelve hours a day these poor wretches labor, carrying upon their backs heavy loads to the surface. A little bread and some raw onions are all the food which these children, whose ages vary between eight and fifteen years, have to support life upon. At night they sleep upon the hard floor of a cave.

Their skin hangs in rags from their shoulders, their bodies are covered with sores, their backs bent, their limbs twisted, their foreheads wrinkled, and their eyes are sunken in their sockets. Death alone can set them free, and the barbarous treatment of their tyrants often accelerates this fatal issue. Many victims perish under the blows of their masters, and no one troubles himself in the least about it. The most terrible moral corruption reigns at the bottom of this hell, and the wretched "enrusi" is the victim.

An Enormous Amethyst.

A huge amethyst, weighing twelve pounds and measuring nine inches by five in thickness, was found recently by W. Norwood, on Granite creek, his attention being first attracted by the brilliant display of colors sparkling in sunlight. The color takes the most beautiful shade, a violet blue and a pinkish purple, in one hexagonal prism, which will measure about four inches.

A variety of tints is shown through the balance of the stone, according to the mixture of peroxide of manganese when it was formed. This particular specimen is the hardest variety of quartz or rock crystal, cutting plate glass almost as neatly as a diamond. It is more valuable as a beauty specimen, probably, than for commercial purposes.

BULLET IN HIS BRAIN.

Elijah Sutton Attempts to End His Life With a Pistol Ball.

PHYSICIANS SAY HE CANNOT POSSIBLY RECOVER.

Not Discovered Until Seven Hours After Firing the Fatal Shot. No Cause Assigned.

HELD OFF AT PISTOL POINT.

Elijah Sutton, foreman at Pickands' coal sheds and dock, lies in his bed at Cudaby's boarding house, Superior street, with a bullet in his brain, fired there by his own hand yesterday morning. He is unconscious and at midnight was sinking rapidly. Physicians pronounce his wound fatal.

Just when the fatal shot was fired is not known. Yesterday morning about 9 o'clock Sutton was seen in a closet near the sheds and just back of the milling company's warehouse. A few hours later he was still there but as he moved and held the door when any person would attempt to enter it was supposed there was nothing much the matter, in fact those who tried to get in did not press the matter, supposing he wished to sleep off the effects of too much alcohol, for he was known to have taken considerable liquor the night before.

After dinner, however, George Drolet happened by and on hearing how long Sutton had been in the closet suggested to Martin Bain and Peter Bystrom, two dock hands, that they go and investigate. They approached the small house and asked Sutton to open the door. This was not done and they attempted to force an entry but desisted and fled as the door slightly gave way and a revolver appeared in the opening. Marshal Maloney was sent for and stationed himself to one side of the door. When the gun was again pushed through the opening the officer grabbed it and pushed the door wide open.

Sutton was found partly lying on the seat, one eye entirely closed and terribly swollen, one leg powerless and the floor, his hands and face covered with blood. Examination of the revolver, a .38-calibre, showed four chambers, the five discharged. Two bullet holes were found in the walls of the closet, one downward through the door, the bullet having struck the plank wall; the other partly upward, the ball having made a deep dent in the iron sheeting of the warehouse. It seemed to be a clear case of attempted suicide and the wounded man was taken at once in a carriage to his boarding house where surgical aid was soon at hand. A careful survey of the exposed portions of the body showed no trace of a pistol wound. The black eye appeared caused by a blow and one of the hip joints seemed dislocated. The body was chilled through and while the man appeared to see he could not speak.

Here was mystery. The man had been found with a revolver in his hand with nearly all its chambers discharged, he was nearly dead but yet no sign of a wound was visible. The surgeon after his first examination decided the man had got roughly handled in some manner, or had been drinking heavily but that he had not attempted to take his life. A few hours later, another examination was made when the surgeons were prompted to look in the man's mouth. In the roof was a small hole up which a probe could be passed a considerable distance. The mystery was solved and the case well defined as one of suicide. The last attempt to locate the bullet was made about 10:30 last night, but it was not found. It appeared to have passed toward the left side of the forehead, close behind the left eye and to have lodged about two inches backward and upward from the eye. The right eye would frequently open but there was no gleam of intelligence in it and it was the opinion of the surgeons that he had been unconscious from the time of firing the shot and all since then had been without his knowledge.

Mr. Sutton is a man about forty years of age, unmarried and of fair physique. He has worked for Pickands a long time giving satisfaction. He is well spoken of by his acquaintances and if he had an enemy it was himself. He had been addicted to taking more liquor than was good for him and to this, undoubtedly may be ascribed the cause of his rash act. When his clothes were removed his pockets were found to contain $18, some miscellaneous articles and a box of cartridges. There were many stories afloat yesterday regarding the matter and offering possible accidents as the cause of his condition but the finding of the wound in the mouth puts them all aside and leaves only the mournful fact that the man, for some unknown reason or cause attempted his own life.

JOY IN IRON MOUNTAIN.

Chapin Mine Will Resume and Take on Five Hundred Men.

M. A. HANNA'S EFFORTS ARE SUCCESSFUL.

Fee-Owner Will Forego Royalties and Join in Operating Big Menominee Range Mine.

CLOUDS BREAKING AT LAST.

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich., May 2.—(Special.)—For the first time in eight months the Chapin mine whistle was blown to-night, announcing that the management was ready to resume work at this property, which has been idle since last summer.

Trustee Flannigan and Superintendent McNaughton state that to M. A. Hanna of Cleveland is due full credit for placing the mine once more on the producing list.

Some days ago he secured an option on a controlling interest in the property and telegrams received here today authorized Superintendent McNaughton at once to begin employing miners.

It is announced that Mr. Chapin, the fee owner of the mine, is associated with Mr. Hanna and has agreed to waive all claim to royalties, which have heretofore been seventy-five and thirty-five cents per ton.

The opening of the mine takes practically all the people off the relief committee's hands and solves the question of the future existence of families supported by charity.

AN EQUITABLE ARRANGEMENT.

He Bore an Envied Name, While She Possessed Coveted Riches.

The lady was a widow and rich—very rich—as the French novelist says, richissime. The gentleman was a widower, past sixty, extremely, even richly so, poor, and the last of a most noble and most historical house.

Whichever side they took, it always ended in their being captured and decapitated for high treason, or else killed in battle. From father to son, from generation to generation, for long centuries none of them ever went out of the world from an inglorious feather bed; it was always from the grassy field of honor or from a scaffold.

The lady, besides being a widow and richissime, was of ignoble origin, and her late husband had made his money in trade. Reflection upon this point made her unhappy. She was so rich that she thought she ought also to be noble, just to correspond. It is a common confusion of thought.

'Twas arranged in this sense. The lady took and furnished for herself a great hotel, writes Walter Besant in London Qu.-en. She had the rooms decorated in honor of this and that illustrious ancestor.

The hotel became the museum of the house, and at dinners and on reception nights the duke himself was always present, grave, dignified and stately, with the look of one who had stepped out of a picture frame five hundred years old, and had put on the clothes of the nineteenth century, but not its manners.

WAR OF EXTERMINATION.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 2.—News has been received here of another rout of the Mexican soldiers by the Yaqui Indians near Guaymas on the gulf of California.

The savages have managed to get the best of the forces heretofore sent against them and it was determined this time to send force enough to make sure of exterminating them and putting an end to the troubles with them.

On the afternoon of March 5 the trail led through a long narrow and deep defile in the Sierra de Bacete. These mountains are wild, precipitous and 2000 feet high in places.

When in middle of the defile, suddenly huge masses of boulders began to be tumbled from the cliffs above upon the hemmed-in column, crushing horses and their riders into shapeless heaps of quivering flesh.

Finally a wounded bugler was found with enough strength left to sound calls, as the commands of the officers could not be heard, and the remnant of the column, getting together such of the wounded as could be carried, fought its way back to open ground where the Yaquis dared not follow.

After the battle Dr. Corda with a small escort was sent to attend the wounded. He was ambushed and the savages skinned his feet and compelled him to walk. When he sank with exhaustion they killed him with lances.

GOOD WORDS FOR ASSES.

In Some Respects Man Must Yield the Palm to the Long-Eared Quadruped.

Of all mammals it is claimed that man is the strongest. An infantry soldier marches all day with seventy pounds of arms, ammunition and baggage, half his own weight, while a cavalry horse is well loaded with two hundred and fifty, one-quarter his.

Even the wonderful camel will howl and refuse to rise under a burden more than one-third his own weight, but the little ass may be actually loaded with three quarters of his own weight, and will then traver off at four and one-half miles an hour and keep it up.

The Syrian ass is often quite big, almost as tall as a polo pony, and a good-sized, well-bred and fine gaited white ass brings more than a good Arabian.

As a traveler, day in, day out, he is superior in ease to the horse, will go over roads on which a horse cannot find a footing, and will do as good a day's journey.

A fancy that man must yield the palm of strength to the ass, by whose name he so lately resents being called. So far as I have observed in the course of my travels, no animal can equal the ass in ability to carry loads except perhaps the woman coolie of Tibet.

She is a little bit of a thing, rarely weighing more than one hundred and ten pounds, and yet she will work twelve hours a day under a load of from eighty to one hundred pounds, and I have heard it said she will carry one hundred and twenty-five.

It is odd how we have got to associate obstinacy and numberless ugly qualities with the ass. This is all wrong. The one word which we are wont to use to cover all these assumed vices is mulishness. But a mule is a hybrid, and one of the peculiarities of hybrids is their general lack of the stanch virtues. If I were to hunt for a creature whose conduct from birth to old age came nearest to exemplifying the four cardinal virtues I would unhesitatingly choose the ass.

The nerves of the horse all end near the surface; those of the ass are deeply imbedded. But if there is any one quality for which, as I grow older, I gain in admiration, it is sweet reasonableness, and this the ass possesses while the horse does not.

There is an aristocracy of asses and there are the many headed. If you want the former look at one of the white Syrian asses. He is richly saddled and bridled and has two attendant Arabs to cater to his wants, for he must be kept in the finest condition for his master, the emir. This handsome fellow is truly a noble, if handsome is as handsome does.

His manners are perfect, and his gaits are as smooth as they are rapid. He will go off at a running walk which would not spill a drop of water out of a brimful cup, and which will cover full six miles an hour. He can canter all day at an eight-mile gait, but his traveling gait is the running walk on the rock, and in these gaits he has no equal. He is far more comfortable than any horse, and in a week's travel will go quite as far.

The background of the picture of the ass is always dire poverty. In prosperous countries the ass is not considered. In countries where strict economy is necessary to the barest existence, where every kernel of wheat, every grain of rice, every spear of green stuff which can be eaten is counted, where it is a question, not of whether a man can rise in the world, but whether he can keep body and soul together until the next harvest, the ass is useful as no other animal can be.

One hardly needs to feed him. He can pick up a living on the highway.—Boston Globe.

AMPUTATING A LION'S TAIL.

At Madras, some time ago, a valuable lion having incautiously allowed its tail to stray into an adjoining cage, the tail was seized by an evil-disposed leopard, close to the body. When the lion attempted to escape almost the whole of the skin of his tail was stripped off. This was followed by such an amount of inflammation that the lion's life was in danger.

Surgeon Maj. Miller, brother of the late Prof. Miller, of Edinburgh, the surgeon to the governor of Madras, volunteered to perform amputation. The lion was seized in his cage and his head covered with a cap containing a quantity of chloroform. He was then dragged to the edge of the cage and the tail passed through the bars, where Dr. Miller cleverly performed his operation. The animal made a good recovery.

CHILD SLAVERY IN SICILY.

Shocking Condition of Affairs in the Sulphur Mines at Girgenti.

An investigation has been set on foot regarding the sulphur mines of Girgenti. The researches reveal a fearful state of things. Each miner working at the vein has as assistants or "curusi" one or two children, whose duty it is to carry the broken mineral to the surface. These children are bought from their parents for one hundred or one hundred and fifty francs; so long as that sum is not returned the child belongs to the miner, is his personal property—his slave, in fact.

Twelve hours a day these poor wretches labor, carrying upon their backs heavy loads to the surface. A little bread and some raw onions are all the food which these children whose ages vary between eight and fifteen years, have to support life upon. At night they sleep upon the hard floor of a cave.

Their skin hangs in rags from their shoulders, their bodies are covered with sores, their backs bent, their limbs twisted, their foreheads wrinkled, and their eyes are sunken in their sockets. Death alone can set them free, and the barbarous treatment of their tyrants often accelerates this fatal issue. Many victims perish under the blows of their masters, and no one troubles himself in the least about it. The most terrible moral corruption reigns at the bottom of this hell, and the wretched "curusi" is the victim.

AN ENORMOUS WEIGHING.

A huge amethyst, weighing twelve pounds and measuring nine inches by five in thickness, was found recently by W. Norwood, on Granite creek, his attention being first attracted by the brilliant display of colors sparkling in sunlight. The color takes the most beautiful shade, a violet blue and a pinkish purple, in one hexagonal prism, which will measure about four inches. A variety of tints is shown through the balance of the stone, according to the mixture of peroxide of manganese when it was formed. This particular specimen is the hardest variety of quartz or rock crystal, cutting plate glass almost as neatly as a diamond. It is more valuable as a beauty specimen, probably than for commercial purposes.

Blood Poison

THE BANE OF HUMAN LIFE, Driven Out of the System by the Use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I was a great sufferer from a most persistent blood disease; none of the various medicines I took being of any help whatever. Hoping that change of climate would benefit me, I went to Cuba, to Florida, and then to Saratoga Springs, where I remained some time drinking the waters. But all was no use. At last, being advised by several friends to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I began taking it, and very soon favorable results were manifest. To-day I consider myself a perfectly healthy man, with a good appetite and not the least trace of my former complaint. To all my friends, and especially young men like myself, I recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla, if in need of a perfectly reliable blood-purifier."—JOS. A. ## BULLET IN HIS BRAIN.

Elijah Sutton Attempts to End His Life With a Pistol Ball.

PHYSICIANS SAY HE CANNOT POSSIBLY RECOVER

HELD OFF AT PISTOL POINT.

Elijah Sutton, foreman at Pickands' coal sheds and dock, lies in his bed at Cadaby's boarding house, Superior street, with a bullet in his brain, fired there by his own hand yesterday morning. He is unconscious and at midnight physicians pronounce his wound fatal.

Just when the fatal shot was fired is not known. Yesterday morning about 9 o'clock Sutton was seen in a closet near the sheds and just back of the milling company's warehouse. A few hours later he was still there but as he moved and held the door when any person would attempt to enter it was supposed there was nothing much the matter, in fact those who tried to get in did not press the matter, supposing he wished to sleep off the effects of too much alcohol, for he was known to have taken considerable liquor the night before.

After dinner, however, George Drollet happened by and on hearing how long Sutton had been in the closet suggested to Martin Bain and Peter Bystrom, two dock hands, that they go and investigate. They approached the small house and asked Sutton to open the door. This was not done and they attempted to force an entry but desisted and fled as the door slightly gave away and a revolver appeared in the opening. Marshal Maloney was sent for and stationed himself to one side of the door. When the gun was again pushed through the opening the officer grabbed it and pushed the door wide open.

Sutton was found partly lying on the seat, one eye entirely closed and the other swollen, one leg motionless and the floor, his hands and face covered with blood. Examination of the revolver, a 28-calibre, showed four chambers of the five discharged. Two bullet holes were found in the walls of the closet, one downward through the door, the bullet having struck the plank walk; the other partly upward, the ball having made a deep dent in the wall of the closet. The door, it seemed to be a clear case of attempted suicide and the wounded man was taken at once in a carriage to his boarding house where surgical aid was soon at hand. A careful survey of the exposed portions of the body showed no trace of a pistol wound. The black eye appeared caused by a blow and one of the hip joints seemed dislocated. The body was chilled through and while the man appeared to be he could not speak.

Here was mystery. The man had been found with a revolver in his hand with nearly all its chambers discharged, he was nearly dead but yet no sign of a wound was visible. The surgeon after his first examination decided the man had got roughly handled in some manner, or had been drinking heavily but that he had not attempted to take his life. A few hours later, another examination was made when the surgeons were prompted to look in the man's mouth. In the roof was a small hole up which a probe could be passed a considerable distance. The mystery was solved and the case well defined as one of suicide. The last attempt to locate the bullet was made about 10:30 last night, but it was not found. It appeared to have passed toward the left side of the forehead, close behind the left eye and to have lodged about two inches backward and upward from the eye. The right eye would frequently open but there was no gleam of intelligence in it and it was the opinion of the surgeons that he had been unconscious from the time of firing the shot and all done since then had been without his knowledge.

Mr. Sutton is a man about forty years of age, unmarried and of fair physique. He has worked for Pickands a long time giving satisfaction. He is well spoken of by his acquaintances and if he had an enemy it was himself. He had been addicted to taking more liquor than was good for him and to this, doubtless, may be ascribed the cause of his rash act. When his clothes were removed his pockets were found to contain $18, some miscellaneous articles and a box of cartridges. There were many stories afloat yesterday regarding the matter and offering possible accidents as the cause of his condition but the finding of the wound in the mouth puts them all aside and leaves only the mournful fact that the man, for some unaccountable reason or cause attempted his own life.

Mr. Wilson of the lighting station complains of some persons breaking the incandescent electric lamp which is at the head of the steps leading from Lake street from the corner of Buff and Blaker. ## SCHOOL BOARD DECIDES ON THIS STROKE OF ECONOMY.

Rigid Inspection of Chimneys to Be Enforced—Half the Saloons Have Gone Out of Business.

TEACHERS' SALARIES REDUCED.

At a meeting of the school board Tuesday evening the reduction of teachers' salaries for the ensuing year was carefully considered and a general vote was decided on. With this saving and the reduction in the superintendent's salary recently announced, $2,625 will be saved by the city in the cost of conducting the public schools during the year. This is about 15 per cent. of the teachers' pay roll and will average between $5 and $7.50 per month for each teacher. The salaries of the school janitors will also be reduced, but not until their year ends, which is in September. There are four janitors in all. The board expects to save between $100 and $200 in the expenditure on this account during the year.

The board did not consider the applications of teachers, but will meet again for that purpose in the near future. Although a few of the applications have been practically considered, those whom the members know will positively remain here next year, none have yet been assigned places.

The board thought it best to not engage the teachers until the new superintendent, Mr. O. R. Hardy, had looked over the schools. He will be here for that purpose next week and about the 20th inst. the board will hold a meeting to engage a corps of teachers.

The Chapin Mine Resumes.

Yesterday an Ishpeming man returned from Chicago. While in that city the previous day he met the delegation of citizens sent from Iron Mountain to Lansing to confer with Governor Rich regarding measures for relief of the distressed miners of that place. They told him that while conferring with Governor Rich and ex-Governor Alger at Detroit they received a message from the Chapin Mining company stating that operations would be resumed at the Chapin mine at once in order to give the men and their families temporary relief. The Iron Mountain gentlemen expressed the belief that if the company resumed work it would most likely continue to operate the property permanently. The committee received assurances from Governor Rich and ex-Governor Alger that relief would be forthcoming in case of urgent necessity. The delegation returned to Iron Mountain with good news yesterday.

Chimney Inspection.

Chief Routhier of the fire department has issued, with the approval of Mayor Johnston, a circular relating to the inspection of chimneys, addressed to the fire wardens, which calls their attention to the necessity of getting to work at once, as all the chimneys must have been inspected by the 15th of the current month. The circular gives directions for doing the work and making a record of the condition of the chimneys, etc. If the inspection is made in accordance with the directions of the chief it will be thorough and will have a tendency to prevent fires in the city.

A Long Walk Ahead.

Five Finlanders who were disappointed by a contractor at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., a couple of weeks ago, yesterday started to walk to that place. They got tired of remaining here doing nothing and thought if they were at the Soo they would stand some chance of finding work, as there is considerable doing there at present.

Saloons Suspending.

From present indications there will be only about twenty saloons in Ishpeming during the ensuing year. Twenty-five of those who were engaged in the business last year closed their doors Tuesday. Last year there were over forty saloons doing business in Ishpeming.

JUST IN TIME.

A Narrow Escape from Being Buried Under a Himalayan Avalanche.

An English gentleman and his wife were in the Himalayas on a bear-shooting expedition, and had encamped on the snow-line. It was at a time of the year when there was great danger from avalanches, and in crossing the narrow parts of the mountain valleys it was necessary to hurry. Human lives are often lost, and great numbers of animals are buried.

We were lucky; but we had one narrow escape. We had gone up a fairly broad valley, on the lookout for bears, and no danger being apparent, had sat down at twelve o'clock to eat our luncheon. When we were done, we moved on about fifty yards, and then sat down again to have a look round with our binoculars.

We had not been seated five minutes before we heard a tremendous roaring sound above us. There was nothing to be seen, but I guessed what was coming, as we were sitting on the edge of an old avalanche. He shouted to me and the coolies to make a run for it, and we made off as fast as we could go, at right angles to the spot where we were sitting.

Fortunately the snow had melted in the direction in which we ran, so that we were able to make good progress. Had we been obliged to run, or rather to try to run, over soft snow, escape would have been impossible.

As it was, we were only just in time. An enormous avalanche, thousands of tons of snow, came sweeping around the corner, on the very spot where we had been sitting, carrying everything before it.

It brought up on the opposite side of the valley and the pine-trees—thirty or forty feet high—under which we had eaten our dinner were buried out of sight.—Youth's Companion.

Some Queer Poisons in Tobacco.

Chemists say Turkish tobacco contains prussic acid and Cuban tobacco has another alkaloid called colidine, one-twentieth of a drop of which will kill a frog, giving the creature all the symptoms of paralysis. Experiments have proved that three drops of the liquor that accumulates in the bowl of a pipe will kill a rabbit in nine minutes. A drop of pure nicotine inserted near the conjuncture of any small animal will kill it almost instantly; eight drops will kill a horse, giving him frightful convulsions. If one drop of the stuff would give a man convulsions one day it would take two the next, four on the third day, etc., which shows how readily the system adapts itself to poison.—St. Louis Republic.

—Young wife—"What is baby trying to say, dear?" Husband—"Give it up. He seems to be trying to manufacture a word about twenty syllables long." Young wife—"Isn't that lovely? He'll be a great scientist some day."—Tit-Bits.

GOOD FOR NEGAUNEE. Her Schools Now Rank With the Best in the Country.

ANENT REDUCTION OF THE TEACHERS' SALARIES

He Didn't Want to Steal the Boy--An Accurate Job of Mine Surveying.

NEGAUNEE ON THE LIST

Professors Demmon and Pettie of the Michigan University, who were here two weeks ago today examining the work of our schools for the purpose of ascertaining whether they are sufficiently well advanced to entitle graduates from them to the University on their diplomas without examination, have made a favorable report to Superintendent Davis. After hearing the report of the committee the board of examiners decided to place our schools on the list for three years, in the courses of Latin, Scientific and English, leading to the degrees of Ph. B., B. S. and B. L.

The only other schools in the upper peninsula on the Ph. B. list are those of Marquette and Ishpeming, and those on the B. S. and B. L. are Champion, Houghton, Hancock and Lake Linden. While in this section Professors Pettie and Demmon visited the schools at Sault Ste. Marie, Escanaba, Calumet, Ironwood and Bessemer, with a view to placing them on the list also, provided they proved satisfactory.

Superintendent Davis and others connected with our schools were particularly interested in the report of the committee and very anxiously awaited it.

Superintendent Davis and his corps of high school teachers, Mr. J. H. McDonald and the Messrs. E. M. Griffith and Carrie T. Stewart, have reason to feel elated over the result of the committee's visit here. To their work the high standard of our schools is largely due.

While here Professor Demmon and Pettie complimented Superintendent Davis and his assistants very highly on the standing of the schools. They said they were really surprised to find them so well advanced and hoped that on their next visit here they would find them still further to the front.

To insure a continuance of the good work it is quite necessary that the greatest care be exercised in the selection of teachers. It is said the present corps of teachers are disposed to remain here for another year provided the salaries are satisfactory. It is quite likely that a slight reduction will be made in the salary list as the board is being urged by the taxpayers to reduce the school tax if possible. If a reduction is decided on it should be made as light as possible. There is a demand for teachers of skill and experience and to reduce the salaries of ours below the average would be to surely lose the services of some of the best now employed here, in which event the standing of our schools will certainly be affected.

The school board will hold a meeting as soon as all the members are in the city for the consideration of the salary question.

Thought He Was an Abductor

Tuesday evening Charles McLean, a stranger here, while slightly intoxicated wandered about the back streets. He imagined he was lost and asked a son of Benjamin Richards to show him the railroad track that he might follow it back to town. He gave the little fellow a nickel and the lad unhesitatingly accepted the coin and started with the man in the direction of the track. As they were passing by the boy's home his mother saw him and, thinking the man was a tramp and was trying to kidnap the child, she became excited and started out to call the neighbors to her assistance.

In a few minutes the whole neighborhood was aroused and a number of men and women and a whole regiment of kids were soon on the trail of the man and boy. When the stranger saw what was up he lost no time in getting to town. The crowd followed him and soon the police officers were after him. He did not know what to make of it when Officer Moll made him a prisoner, but offered no resistance.

After placing McLean in jail the officer learned the cause of the excitement. When he heard the prisoner's story he concluded that there was no cause for his detention and released him from custody. The man said he had no use for the boy as he is hardly able to take care of himself.

After being released McLean went to John Nesbitt's place where he gave a very fine exhibition of dog dancing and acrobatic feats. He declared that his being arrested for kidnapping was the funniest experience of his life.

Did Good Work

S. E. Potts, mining engineer at the Swanzev, did a clever piece of work surveying for the new shaft recently sunk there. The shaft was put down to a depth of 150 feet, where it met a raise of ninety-three feet coming from the levels below. The shaft and raise were less than two inches out of plumb when they came together. In completing the surveys twenty different settings of the instrument were necessary and over twelve hundred feet of surveying was done.

THOUGHT IT HELD DYNAMITE.

How a Satchel Filled with Manuscripts and Electrotypes Frightened the Police.

An illustration of the mental nightmare that afflicts the public mind when a startling sensation appears in the newspapers was afforded by an incident that occurred after the recent arrest in Harlem of a man found with several loaded dynamite bombs in his possession.

The following day, according to the New York Herald, a correspondent of several out town papers entered a Park row restaurant. He carried a large leather satchel filled with manuscripts and electrotypes cuts, which he placed behind his chair and was soon absorbed in his paper and the enjoyment of his dinner.

When he got up to pay his check he looked for his satchel in vain. It had been stolen by some thief who had evidently judged from its bulging sides and great weight that its contents must be of immense value. The thief upon realizing that he had secured a white elephant dropped the bag and its contents on the doorstep of a neighboring store and slunk away unnoticed.

A crowd soon gathered and stared curiously at the bulging satchel, but nobody offered to disturb it. A newsboy happening along was about to kick it, but was halted by the cry: "Look out, it's dynamite!" The clerks in the store gazed fearfully at it through the door windows and gave it a wide berth whenever they had occasion to go out.

For a half hour it lay there until a policeman came along. He pushed through the crowd, and seeing the satchel, though nobody said a word, the bluecoat seemed to realize intuitively the cause of the excitement. He approached it very reluctantly, gingerly picked it up, and, walking slowly and carefully, carried it to the station house.

The exact nature of the police investigation that followed is not known, but when in response to a note apprising him of the recovery of his property the owner called at the station house the following day the satchel and its contents, bearing evidence of having been thoroughly soaked in water, were returned to him without a word of explanation.

RUSSIA'S BOSS DOCTOR.

Little Eccentricities That Make Him the Object of Professional Dislike.

Prof. Zalkharin, of Moscow, who attended the czar during his recent serious illness, is almost as well known in Russia for his eccentricities as for his eminence as a physician. When he is called to attend to a patient, says the British Medical Journal, special arrangements must be made in the house, all dogs must be kept out of the way, all clocks must be stopped, all doors must be thrown wide open. The professor on entering begins a process of gradual undressing, leaving his furs in the hall, his overcoat in the next room, his gaiters in the third, etc. He insists on perfect silence on the part of the afflicted relatives, except in reply to his questions, when their speech must be literally "Yes" and "No."

He has a theory which he expresses in the maxim "Take a rest before you are tired," and accordingly he sits down every eight or ten steps. His demeanor toward doctors with whom he happens to be unacquainted makes him greatly feared by them, and some eight years ago a kind of public agitation was got up in opposition to him in which many hundreds of doctors took part. Resolutions were passed and addresses were presented, and echoes of the gathering storm made themselves heard in the press. These manifestations of feeling were quickly repressed in a way characteristic of Russia. The then general-governor of Moscow, Prince Dolgoroukoff, sent for the editor of the medical journal in which the addresses were printed and told him that if he published a word more about Zalkharin he would have to leave Moscow in twenty-four hours' time. His eccentricities, however, cease at the bedside of his patient; there he is courteous and considerate, most painstaking and minute in his examination, and very thorough in his treatment. So successful has he been in his profession that it is believed to be worth some half-million sterling.

IMPORTANT TO SUFFERERS.

How You May Obtain a Lasting Cure from Piles.

No Surgical Operation, No Pain, Trifling Expense--A Simple, Harmless Remedy but It Does the Work.

There are some people who have piles as regularly and frequently as other people have colds. A little bowel trouble will bring them on, any extra exertion, as in lifting, will produce them, and in fact will often appear without any apparent provocation. Piles, however, is much more serious than a cold, as the tendency is always to grow worse until the trouble becomes deep seated and chronic, or develops into some fatal rectal disease.

While there are many pile remedies which give relief, yet there is but one which not only gives instant relief but at the same time makes a permanent cure, and that is the well known Pyramid Pile Cure.

This remedy is composed of simple, harmless, vegetable ingredients, but combine so effectively and act so promptly and thoroughly that it cures every form of piles whether itching, blind, bleeding or protruding. In long standing cases the Pyramid Pile Cure has proven to be the only certain cure except a surgical operation, and its advantages over an operation are many, as it is painless, causes no delay or interference with daily occupation, and last but not least, is cheaper than any surgical operation could possibly be, costing but a dollar a package at any drug store. The cases that the Pyramid Pile Cure will not reach are so few that physicians are doing away with operations for piles and depending on this cheap but effective remedy to accomplish a complete cure, and it never disappoints, except in cases beyond the reach of medical skill. The Pyramid Pile Cure is prepared by the Pyramid Drug Co. of Albion, Mich., and for sale by druggists everywhere at one dollar per package. Each package contains a treatise on cause and cure of piles, together with testimonials from every section of this country.

ECONOMY OF HIGH WAGES.

The Value of Improved Machinery and the Abolition of All Trade Restrictions.

Improved machinery stands to high wages in a twofold relation: it is at once cause and effect. The better the machine with which a man works the more productive is his labor and the more valuable consequently to his employer. On the other hand, the higher the wages paid the greater is the inducement to the employer to use more and more productive machinery and so reduce his expenses. Not only is the labor employed in connection with improved machinery more highly paid, as we have seen, than any other, but the increased cost of it is a powerful stimulus to further improvement. Thus, a strike among the boot and shoe makers of Massachusetts, a few years back, resulted in the invention of a machine which reduced the numbers employed in the operation of "lasting" by eighty per cent. And in this connection we notice a curious paradox, viz., that machinery should not be made to last too long. In times of depression it is the firms which use old-fashioned machinery which are the first to suffer--as, for instance, visiting Oldham in 1886, Mr. Schoenhof found that the cotton spinners were making no profits at all, whereas at Rochdale a newly built mill, fitted with all the latest and best inventions, was doing well, the reason being that not only was the expense of working less, but waste had been greatly diminished. Such improvements are often resisted, or at least viewed with little favor, by the workmen themselves, who see in these improvements a means of superseding their own labor. But they have not grasped the key to the situation, and have not understood how closely their own earnings are bound up with their equipment.

On the continent such conservatism is far stronger. It is a matter of pride to the manufacturer that his machinery outlasts that in use here; but, so far from being an advantage to him, the fact really handicaps him in competition with his English rivals. And such conservatism is possible only when a large supply of workmen is available at low wages, for if new machinery is to be employed a higher stamp of workmen is needed. In the industry of silk-throwing, for instance, there is a remarkable difference between England and America in this respect, for the wages paid in America are far higher than with us, and yet the cost is far less. Now the growth of nerve-power necessary for work at such tremendous pressure is possible only when the conditions of life are favorable--in short, when wages are high. Let us now summarize Mr. Schoenhof's somewhat optimistic views. High wages cheapen production in two ways. They make the laborer more efficient--he is stronger, more capable, more alert, and consequently the product of his labor is greater, increasing proportionately faster than the rise in wages. They also provoke, and indeed necessitate, a constant growth in the productive power of machinery, and give the maximum of stimulus to the inventiveness of its makers. Short hours of labor produce similar results, for employer and employee are under every inducement to greater application on the one side and economies on the other, lest the volume of production should be lessened. And in proportion as wages rise, so does the demand for the products of industry rise also; for the working class--i. e., the great majority of consumers--are able to purchase more. What, then, is needed in the present and the future? More light and air for production; the abolition of all restraints, protective or otherwise, upon exchange of commodities; the increase of competition everywhere. At the same time no agency should be neglected which will help to increase the laborer's efficiency. His home, his food, his surroundings, should be jealously guarded; art schools, museums, libraries, all that go to improve his mind, should be provided without stint.--Edinburgh Review.

BOARD'S PROMPT ACTION.

Steamer Peerless Strictly Quarantined by City Health Department.

A MILD CASE OF SMALL POX DISCOVERED ON BOARD.

Sault Ste. Marie Health Officials Evidently Not Well Acquainted With Small Pox Symptoms.

YELLOW FLAG DISPLAYED.

Acting on the information published in yesterday morning's MINING JOURNAL, the local health department took prompt action regarding the reported cases of small-pox on the steamer Peerless. The health officer with special deputies was on the dock when the boat approached at 11 a. m. and at once placed her under strict quarantine. Orders were given that no person be allowed to go from the boat or to it and that not a pound of freight should be discharged. Then the health officer went aboard and carefully inspected each member of the crew. He found one mild case of small-pox and five suspected cases—that is five other persons who were not in perfect health, such under the circumstances being sufficient to excite suspicion. These were ordered at once isolated from the remainder of the crew.

Dr. Harkins had received a telegram from the state health officer, Dr. Baker, instructing him to quarantine the Peerless, isolate all small-pox cases and suspects, vaccinate the entire crew from captain down and thoroughly fumigate the boat. Having carried out the two first provisions, vaccination was next undertaken and it is probable forty-eight men will be carrying sore arms within a few days for that was the number inoculated by the physicians. Then the health officer started in search of a place in which to take proper care of the patients.

The extreme farsightedness of the city authorities was pointedly emphasized by this search. For years there has been nothing of the kind possessed by the city and although the matter has been suggested to the proper persons this pressing emergency finds us hustling to the four quarters of the compass to find even a passable shed in which to place the unfortunate victims of this plague. It is simply another instance of procrastinating in matters which may at any moment concern the health or prosperity of an entire community. In all probability there will now be a mad rush to build and provide a pest house for the city.

In his search for a place in which to care for the patient and suspects Dr. Harkins paused long enough to wire Dr. Baker if he meant by isolation that it was to be on the boat or on shore and at 9 o'clock received the following answer: "You have most facts so far as best judgment; but telegraph me places Peerless will touch and when. Better allow no one to land except to go into isolation hospital." This message was considered by President Pearl, the health officer and assistants and Mr. Spear, who was waiting to wire the boat owners the conclusion of the board. This was soon reached.

The board decided that perfect isolation might be had on board the vessel and the well portion of the crew not be exposed to any unusual danger. The Peerless was not to touch at any dock, not to unload any freight and not to allow any person to land. A physician would be furnished to accompany the boat to her destination and the company would be advised to recall her to Chicago where she might be more readily and more cheaply fumigated and the patients taken care of. This decision was wired to Chicago but no word had been received from them before going to press.

Considering the fact that all other ports at which the Peerless would touch have been notified of the case by the health officer, it is not likely the company will instruct the captain to continue a trip that will not permit of a landing. Marine Surgeon Youngquist, after ordering the Peerless to an anchorage and to display the yellow flag of contagion at her mast head, sent on board about thirty mattresses so that all the crew would have plenty of accommodation aside from the bunks in common use. The boat was also ordered not to pass beyond the harbor lines without special permission. Dr. Youngquist acted in harmony with the local board according to instructions from Washington.

Reviewed in all its bearings the position taken by our board of health is full of commendable points. It is not only humane but judicious, the very best for the sick and crew of the boat and by all means best for the city. Searching diligently most of yesterday no place could be found to do service as a pest house and the decision to have the patient attended by a local physician until he could be taken proper care of on shore was wise. The board did its full duty toward all concerned.

As much cannot well be said of the Soo board of health. One of the questions most frequently asked yesterday was: "Why did the authorities at the Soo allow the Peerless to be freed from quarantine without taking proper care of the suspected cases on board?" There are but two rational answers to the query. They were either too ignorant to hold positions as health officers or criminally negligent of their plain duty. They may take either choice they wish and it will not prevent their being held up to censure or ridicule. THE MINING JOURNAL understands that when the health officials first inspected the crew of the Peerless they pronounced the case held here one of small-pox. Shortly after they seemed to reconsider their first decision and on making a second examination declared it not small-pox and released the vessel from quarantine. From the development of the disease when discovered here our physicians say there must have been unmistakable signs of the scourge when the boat touched the Soo. If so, what other conclusions can be drawn than that the health officers at that port do not know small-pox when they see it or deliberately shirked their duty and hastened to unload the cases on Marquette?

Four physicians are said to have examined the patient. Two of them declared he had small pox, one was uncertain and the fourth did not know. The plain course in such a case was to treat the case as genuine and not take such a shaky and unprofessional position. Marquette will do well in the future to not place implicit confidence in the ability and judgment to call it by no other name, of the board of health that is supposed to guard the pass to Lake Superior.

There were many reports yesterday that members of the crew were allowed to land and persons from the city to go on board. All such are entirely false. No one left the Peerless since she entered this harbor and none but the physicians who inspected and vaccinated the crew went on board. The quarantine has been perfect, the docks well guarded all last night to prevent communication with the vessel and there is not the slightest foundation for alarm or scare on the part of citizens. The first case of small pox to approach us has been kept out and we are likely to be successful should others apply for admission; but it will be wise to only depend on ourselves as other health officials do not seem to be over careful.

They Pleased Us All!

The Rice, Wolford & Sheridan company finished a very successful engagement here last night, presenting "Underground," a mining episode replete with remarkable scenic effects and a goodly showing of dramatic possibilities, which were taken satisfactory advantage of by the players. The attendance was good and the audience showed as marked appreciation as on the two previous evenings.

It is not a difficult matter to praise such a company as this. The personnel have made an impression not only in their capacity as actors but by their gentlemanly and ladylike demeanor elsewhere in our city. They are mentioned with pleasure by those who have had the good fortune to meet them and will be missed even though they only had three days in which to form acquaintanceships. THE MINING JOURNAL unhesitatingly commends them to the good people of the towns they will visit after leaving here as not only presenting creditable, clean, amusement but as worthy of such considerations as are customarily tendered ladies and gentlemen. They decidedly pleased the people of this city and will be welcomed back again with open arms when they pay us a return visit. The Marquette Opera house will always be open to Rice, Wolford & Sheridan company, and we will be pleased to see its members again in our stores and other public places. From here the company goes to Lake Linden, Houghton, Hancock, Red Jacket, etc., and the people of these places are advised to see the shows presented as they are worthy of patronage.

The matinee yesterday afternoon was well attended, hundreds of school children crowding the house. "The Train Wreckers" was repeated on account of the new members of the company not being fully up in the lines of "Mystic Mountain." It is scarcely necessary to say that no demands were made to have money refunded and Manager Rice carries his $2,000 away intact to grace the box office of some other place.

Ladies Sextette Club Coming.
The Ariel Ladies Sextette, under the management of the Shearer Musical and Lecture bureau of Cincinnati, will give an entertainment in the First Methodist Episcopal church, Monday evening, May 14.

The entertainment is guaranteed to be first-class in every particular. The following personal notices are worthy of consideration:
VINCENTES, Ind., May 8, 1893.
MY DEAR SHEARER: Our May festival was an amazing success and has been a lot of good. The Ariels have now made their ninth appearance before Vincennes audiences and they have grown in constant favor. The crowds grew larger from night to night and praises daily grew more enthusiastic. They have left with us a healthy, uplifting influence and all of us keep delightful memories of their visit with us. We shall want them again next year.
Sincerely Yours,
REV. L. H. MURKIN,

LEXINGTON, Ky.
DEAR MR. SHEARER: The Smith sisters are worthy of their growing fame. Miss Gertrude is as much at home in her role as a mocking bird in his native orange grove while Miss Marguerite's impersonations of her sister Gertrude's first appearance in public I have never heard surpassed, on stage or platform. It is captivating beyond description and is of itself worth a reserved seat ticket to their entertainment.

No More Stuffed Toes.
The contract for making repairs to the federal building has been awarded Donahoe & Anderson as their bid was the lowest. The work will mean an expenditure of $7,000. The bids ranged all the way from that figure to $8,634. The repairs concern the entire building from painting to a new roof but the improvement most concerning the public will be a new artificial stone sidewalk to take the place of the foot warring brick pavement now surrounding the building.

E. F. Bradt, Chairman.
The new county board met yesterday and ground out a big grist of business details of which will be found elsewhere in this issue. E. F. Bradt of Ishpeming township was elected chairman and appointed his committees for the coming year.

CARD OF THANKS.
We desire to publicly express our sincere thanks to our many friends and relatives for the assistance and sympathy rendered during the illness and our adopted daughter, Sarah Cantey, and especially do we wish to thank Mr. D. W. Kaufman for the beautiful Easter lilies sent us.
MR. AND MRS. D. E. LOFTIS.
