Seven Train Robbers Make a Haul of Two Hundred Thousand Dollars.

GANG OF TRAIN ROBBERS TURN UP IN THE EAST.

Blow Open the Express Car, Intimidate the Messenger and Then Disappear With the Money.

MADE GOOD THEIR ESCAPE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Two hundred thousand dollars in the coin of the realm was taken from an Adams express car by seven robbers in a hold-up on the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac railroad. The train was the north-bound express between Richmond and Washington, and was held up at Aquia Creek, forty miles from Quantico, Va. The robbers flagged the train and when the engine was stopped the crew were covered with revolvers and compelled to dismount. The express messengers were taken by surprise and were forced from the car which was uncoupled from the train, and ran up the track about a mile. B. F. Crutchfield and H. Murray, the messengers, were then forced to open the safe. The robbers secured their booty and then started the engine toward Washington with no one on board. The frightened express messenger telegraphed to Alexandria and half a dozen empty cars were put on the track into which the engine crashed, causing a complete wreck. It is customary for all trains to stop at Aquia Creek, several miles below Quantico, for water. The train was 200 or 300 yards this side of the creek at 9:25 p. m. when the engineer got a signal to stop. The porter went forward to see what had caused the signal, and was confronted by the robbers, who, it was learned, had given the signal. There were seven of them and as soon as the engine stopped they walked back toward the train and commenced to fire their weapons, at the same time warning everybody to keep inside the car. A number of shots were fired, but by the greatest chance no one was hurt, for by this time the passengers had become excited by the fusillade and some of the more daring ones threw open the windows to learn the cause of the firing. But on seeing the masked men they became aware that the train had been held up by desperate men and sought cover. The robbers by their bold course thus intimidated the passengers and the train crew, and thereupon quickly came clamoring upon the express car. They found the door tightly barred and were unable to force an entrance by persuasion and threats. Their time was precious and they were well fixed to do their work rapidly. The robbers were supplied with dynamite and by its use the door of the express car was shattered and an entrance gained. The messenger was in the car at the time and they told him they would blow him up if he did not open the door of the safe. The messenger appreciated that he was in the hands of desperate men, and after demurring he obeyed their demands and opened the safe. The men got every cent of money that was in the car. No one knows just how much the safe contained.

The safes are brought from various places along the road, and frequently three or four are taken aboard at Richmond. After looting the car of all the money the robbers uncoupled the engine from the train and ran it several miles up the road until it was wrecked. The train remained at the scene of the robbery fully two and a half hours. Later it proceeded to New York. The door of the express car showed evidence of the dynamite and all the glass panes in it were shattered. It was, however, allowed to proceed to New York and the expressman, Crutchfield, who was in charge, accompanied it. The robbers escaped with their booty and have not been apprehended. It is thought that the men escaped across the Potomac river to the Maryland side of the river.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Not a shadow of a tangible clue to the identity of the men who accomplished the remarkable feat of train brigandage in Virginia Friday night has yet come to light. Chief of Police Moore says the detectives are working on a clue which they hope will yield results although he is not particularly sanguine and believes the guilty parties are far away. The man arrested on suspicion will be arraigned on the charge of vagrancy as there is no direct evidence against him. The express officials are reticent, saying there are no new developments. Messenger Crutchfield declines to talk of the robbery.

A DESPERADO LYONCHED.

Killed His Man but Answered for Mob for It.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 14.—Yesterday at the close of the Beatyville fair Oscar Morton, a prominent citizen of Stanton, went on the warpath. Only two weeks ago Morton killed a man at Stanton and was out under $5,000 bonds to appear next week at the circuit court. When Morton arrived at the fair he proceeded to get drunk and then went out to hunt for the sheriff. It seems a feud of long standing was existing between them. Morton was arrested and taken to the county jail. The people were infuriated and early this morning held a big meeting and a mob formed and marched to the jail. The jailer was overpowered and the keys to Morton's cell were obtained. After a struggle Morton was dragged out and taken to a bridge outside of town. A rope was placed around his neck and the leaders drew their guns and told him to jump or else he would be riddled. With bullets doomed and cursing his captors he leaped into space. The jump broke his neck and a volley of shots was fired into him. The mob then dispersed and the body was left dangling from the bridge. None of the mob made any attempt to conceal their identities and the hanging was conducted with as much formality as if it were a legal affair. The murderer was a wealthy man who lives at Stanton. He killed three men. This is eight lynchings in central Kentucky in the past three months and the people are determined to put down murder if they have to take the law in their own hands.

THE TALE IS ONLY HALF TOLD.
Reports Still Coming in of Damage Done by Recent Storm.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Oct. 14.—News of damage to shipping and loss of life by the recent storm is received daily. Today the Spanish bark Barcelona was towed into port by a pilot boat. The Barcelona was dismasted and water-logged. One seaman was swept overboard and drowned. Others of the crew, including the captain, were rescued for a Norwegian bark. The bark John Ludwig was brought in this morning by a tug. In the storm her three masts were carried away and her bulwarks and stanchions stove in. The crew had to lash themselves to the rail. A tremendous wave broke the rope holding the mate and he was swept overboard and drowned. Much anxiety is felt here about the steamship Seythian. She left Tampico with the large coal barge Alhambra in tow and is now several days overdue.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The hurricane that passed over the island of San Domingo on Sept. 21 did considerable damage, especially at the capital. Many houses were unroofed and the streets and cellars flooded. The poor suffered greatly. The surrounding sugar estates were much injured by the storm, particularly the plantations Lefe and Franca. The former was damaged to the amount of $25,000. Not a single sugar estate escaped. Several small coasting vessels suffered, four being lost. On one vessel bound from San Domingo to San Chese eleven persons lost their lives, including a German family of five, mother and four children.

TRAIN WRECKERS CONFESS.

Men Who Ditched a Grand Trunk Train Under Arrest.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 14.—The parties suspected of wrecking the Chicago & Grand Trunk train here on the morning of July 16 during the strike excitement and resulting in the killing of Fireman Crow and injuring about twenty persons have at last been arrested. Today Stanley Knowles, George W. Johnson, George Bodwig and Em Jewell are in confinement as the result of the efforts of the five Chicago detectives. Knowles had been given positions on the road as part of the plan for the capture. Finally the detectives cornered him and extorted a confession which is to the effect that the crime was committed while the men were desperate over the strike and their failure to prevent the trains from running. Jewell and Bodwig are held in Chicago and will be brought here by the other two are held in hiding here by the detectives.

HEAVY LOGGING CONTRACTS.

Marshfield Operators Are Getting Into the Pine Woods.

MARSHFIELD, Wis., Oct. 14.—Among the heavy logging contracts entered into this fall in this section is that taken by Daly & Sampson of Grand Rapids, who will put in 15,000,000 feet of pine for the Arpin Lumber company of Arpin. A railroad will be built to the pine and the longest haul will be but three-quarters of a mile. Joseph Gibson has a contract with Sawyer & Austin of La Crosse to put in 15,000,000 feet this winter on Black River. A great portion of the pine in the last contract must be logged this winter on account of damage done by forest fires.

VIKING SHIP TRANSFERRED.

Norwegian Vessel Formally Presented to the Columbian Museum.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The Viking ship which last year crossed the Atlantic to be one of the attractive exhibits at the World's Fair was formally presented to the Field Columbian museum yesterday. The exercises attendant upon the presentation were participated in by some of the most prominent Norwegians in Chicago. The speech of the day was delivered by Paul Du Chaillu, the famous traveler and author. Addresses were also made by J. K. Bayeson and Nicolay Groestad of Chicago.

BOODLERS UNDER INDICTMENT.

Kansas City Bound to Keep Even With Her Rivals.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 14.—The grand jury which has been investigating the robbery of the county by Justice Ross W. Lattshaw and Justice W. H. Browne, reported yesterday afternoon, returning indictments against both men. Lattshaw failed to account for several thousand dollars of fines collected from dissolute women. Browne, who has long been known for feigning, was also indicted for failure to report fines.

Reports Are Conflicting.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Times says that the news that the czar is better is confirmed by the very best informed circles. The Vienna correspondent of the same paper, on the contrary, hears very unfavorable reports.

CHINESE IN REBELLION.

Rioters Defeat Royal Troops and Make an Attack on Government Buildings.

RUSSIAN TROOPS ARE READY TO MARCH INTO CHINA.

Representatives of Foreign Powers May Meet at Peking and Arbitrate Settlement of the War.

FURTHER RAVAGES EXPECTED.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—A Shanghai dispatch dated today confirms the report telegraphed to the Associated Press that a rebellion has broken out a hundred miles from Kankow. The rebels attacked the government buildings. The royal troops were defeated and many of them killed while many others joined the rebels. Two mandarins were killed. It is expected the rebels will advance on Woo Chang, in the province of Hoo Pee of which Hankow is the capital. The garrison at Woo Chang has gone to the coast and the place is therefore practically defenseless.

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—It is announced here in a dispatch from St. Petersburg that the Russian troops in the towns, villages and passes on the Chinese frontier are being greatly reinforced and that large quantities of provisions and war material are constantly arriving at these places. Everything, it is added, is being prepared for a forward movement into China if this should be necessary.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—The Journal says it learns that a conference of the representative powers will soon be held at Peking with the view of appointing a board of arbitration to settle the war between China and Japan.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—The efforts of the United States naval department towards increasing the force in Chinese waters has resulted in the hurried completion of the 5,800 ton cruiser Olympia, which will soon be delivered at Mare island to the government. As early as her completion of 400 sailors, marines and officers can be provided she will be dispatched to the scene of the present conflict to reinforce the squadron which is now looking after the interests of the citizens of the United States in these troublous times. The battleship Oregon is still waiting for her side armor, but a large force is hard at work completing her inside works. The Olympia is the crack cruiser of the United States navy and will have cost the government over $2,000,000 when completed.

AN ACTIVE CAMPAIGN.

Vice President Stevenson Will Spend the Week in Illinois.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Oct. 14.—Vice President Stevenson arrived in this city Saturday night and leaves in the morning for Paris, Ill., where he speaks tomorrow. He will speak in Illinois all week and deliver an address in St. Louis Saturday night. He will also make ten speeches in Missouri, crossing the state on a private train. He will make a similar tour in New York on the 26th and 27th.

In the fall he struck a protruding nail in the sidewalk, which penetrated his brain. Deceased was a young man and highly respected.

STRIKE ON THE DOCKS.

Ore Handlers at Escanaba Want Increase in Wages.

ESCANABA, Mich., Oct. 14.—The men employed on the ore docks of the Chicago & Northwestern company, in this city, are out on a strike. They have been receiving $1.25 per day and asked for $1.65, but were refused. All hands, about one hundred in number, are out. The company is criticised for its action in the matter, but it is believed that the men will be offered $1.50, as labor is very scarce.

CAPSIZED IN A SQUALL.

Three Occupants of a Catboat Drowned Off Coney Island.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 14.—Frank McIntyre, James Foad and Frank Britton were drowned off Coney Island this afternoon by the capsizing of a catboat in a squall. Walter Booth was rescued. He was clinging to the overturned boat.

HANCOCK FOUNDRY BURNS.
Hard Iron Casting House of Hodge's Foundry Consumed by Fire.

HOUGHTON SCHOOL FIELD DAY A GREAT SUCCESS.

Calumet & Hecla Shaft Strikes the Osceola Amalgamoid Lode—Drowned in Torch Lake.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.
The only authorized collector of The Mining Journal in Houghton county is Mr. Horace J. Stevens. Receipts signed by other than him will not be recognized as valid from this date.

HANCOCK.
At twenty minutes to six Saturday evening an alarm of fire was turned in from Hodge's foundry and two minutes later the flames were visible in all parts of Houghton, across the lake, and from the higher part of Hancock. The local fire company and the Houghton department responded quickly to the alarm blown by the Quincy pump house and several streams were soon playing on the blaze, which was the hard-iron casting house of the foundry. The water was too late, however, and was useful only in wetting down adjacent structures, and the building in flames was speedily burned to the ground.

The hard-iron casting house was built two years ago, and was of heavily framed timber and frame construction. It contained a cupola, cranes, six engine and Buffalo blower, also about $1,000 worth of newly cast stamp-shoes. The latter were badly cracked by water, and will prove a total loss. The cupola was not badly damaged, but the balance of the machinery is nearly or quite a total loss. Mr. C. J. Hodge, who was in Detroit, was apprised by wire of the loss. Mr. Will Hare, the superintendent of the work, estimates the loss at $8,000, on which there is an insurance of $1,000 on the building and $1,000 on the stock. The fire will delay business only temporarily, as the main foundry room will be used for the time being, for casting stamp shoes.

Michael Carroll has returned from a visit to Buffalo, Cleveland and Detroit.

The old Quincy store, a landmark for many years, will be taken possession of by the Quincy company for mine uses and George S. North will build a new store north of the old building. The new structure will be 50x80 on the ground with full-sized 10-foot basement, steam heat, electric light, plenty of plate glass and all the modern trimmings that go to make a handsome store and mark the business home of an enterprising merchant.

The Mining Journal supposed at the time of printing its rather rasping comments on Mr. Williams' proposed writing-up of business men here that the matter so written was to appear in the publication owned by that gentleman in Iowa, but learns that it will be printed in a special edition of the Copper Journal, a newspaper printed here. The strictures passed are therefore recalled having been made owing to a misunderstanding of what Mr. Williams proposed doing. Reading notices in a local paper are worth something to the business men here, whereas in an Iowa paper they would be absolutely valueless.

The South Shore will run an excursion from Copperdun to Duluth and Superior, probably one week from next Saturday, including return trip on regular trains till the following Wednesday and all for the low price of $4.50.

Tony Wendal and Joseph Schulte have formed a partnership for the carrying on of the merchandise business of W. H. Roberts, whose stock and goods will they have arranged to take over on Saturday next.

Enrollment in the public schools is 588, an increase of 10 per cent—a healthy showing.

HOUGHTON.
The first annual field day of the Houghton High school, celebrated on Saturday, was a decided success and the boys feel much gratified at the attendance and at the manner in which the sports were conducted.

The various sports with the records established and names of the winners were as follows: Putting the shot, 34 feet, Will L. Dunn of Houghton; standing broad jump, 9 ft. 4 1/2 in., W. L. Dunn; high kick, 8 ft. 1 in., George Benalock; Lake Linden; throwing the baseball, 305 feet, W. L. Dunn; 220-yard dash, 28 1/5 seconds, W. L. Dunn; 100-yard dash for boys under sixteen, 13 seconds, Martin Haas of Houghton; running high jump, 4 ft. 10 in., George Benalock; pole vault, Will Brand of Houghton; 120-yard race, 21 4/5 seconds, Fred Walker of Hancock; running broad jump, 17 ft. 6 in., W. L. Dunn; standing high jump, 4 ft. 1 in., George Benalock; 100-yard dash, open to county, 11 1/2 seconds, R. Harris of the Mining school; running hop, step and jump, 36 ft., 6 in., Arthur Thomas of Houghton; 100-yard dash, open to the schools of the county, 11 4/5 seconds, W. L. Dunn; relay race, 3 min., 26 1/2 sec., Mining school team. There were entries of teams from the Houghton, Hancock and Lake Linden high schools being the winning team from the Mining school, which was composed of Messrs. R. Harris, John Hoar, John Knox and Frank Van Orden. The course was 4-5 of a mile, each member of the team running 1-5 of a mile.

stated that while he could not positively deny it he did not believe the story to be true and doubted that the sale had been made. The Huron has been idle for nearly two years and is badly tangled financially. The rumored consideration is $40,000 and the shoudering of the various obligations of the Huron by the Atlantic company. The Huron employs three to four hundred men in its mine and mill when running, ranking immediately after the Atlantic in importance as an employer of labor. The mill is of modern construction and is located at the Huron dam, a mile south of Houghton. In case the mine passes into the hands of the Atlantic it is hardly probable that the mill will be operated, as the new mill of the Atlantic company at the mouth of the Salmon Trout river would easily care for the rock from both mines. For the benefit of the town it is to be hoped that the rumor will prove a true one. The transfer of the Huron to the Atlantic would relieve the stockholders of the former of the mountain of debt they are now prostrate under and the $40,000 above the indebtedness, which Dame Rumor names as the consideration, would be worth more to the Huron stockholders than the mine is, in its present financial condition. Employment would be given several hundred men, the delinquent taxes would be paid and the Atlantic would secure a valuable addition to its reserves. While it would be difficult to work the Huron alone at a profit it could be profitably worked in connection with its neighbor. For these reasons THE MINING JOURNAL hopes the story may prove to have a foundation in fact.

The panel of petit jurors for the November term of circuit court is as follows. Court will open on Wednesday, Nov. 7, instead of on Nov. 5, on account of election day falling on the 6th of the month.

CALUMET.
The Osceola amalgamoid lode was cut Saturday morning by the miners sinking the Red Jacket shaft of the Calumet & Hecla at a depth of 3,855 feet, 595 feet below the hanging wall of the Calumet & Hecla conglomerate. The Osceola lode is exceptionally rich in the bottom of the Red Jacket shaft but the thickness of the vein can only be determined by cutting. The Red Jacket shaft will be a mile in depth when completed.

Edward Berg and Miss Dogmar Thomson were married by the pastor of the Norwegian Lutheran church Saturday evening.

The Calumet & Hecla company is earning the gratitude of all who walk by laying a new sidewalk ten feet wide from the bank to the telegraph office corner.

Members of One and All Lodge, Sons of St. George, attended divine service on Sunday, as provided in the constitution of the order.

LAKE LINDEN.
August Savard, aged twelve years, was drowned in Torch Lake, opposite the Deschamps building and but a hundred feet or so from shore, Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. He was paddling about on a plank, lost his balance and fell in. As he could not swim he sank, and when taken out life was extinct.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Christine Gillies was held yesterday afternoon from the Congregational church.

Lake Linden Democrats who want to hear the big guns this week must go to Hancock or Calumet. Arrangements will probably be made to take the faithful to Calumet in "busses Wednesday night."

EAGLE RIVER.
John Kotilla, who was charged with attempt to murder, was found guilty of assault and was discharged by the court. Kotilla got full of whisky and then went to a temperance meeting to break it up. He was ejected and knifed the man who put him out. Ke-weenaw justice let him down mighty light.

CHANGES IN SPELLING.
They Are Numerous in English and Seem to Come by Accident.

Much is said and written about the desirability of reform in the spelling of words; but few persons are aware of the great though gradual changes which have been made already. "Utopia," by Sir Thomas More, was originally printed in Latin in 1615, and was "translated into English by Raphael Robynson, Citizen and Goldsmith, of London," and was "imprinted at London by Abraham Wele, dwelling in Paul's churchyard at the sygne of the Lamb, Anno, 1551." A second English edition was published in 1556, and the writer has before him a facsimile copy of this second edition; and in this we can see how the English language was spelled 338 years ago.

Opening the book at haphazard, we find on page 47, 337 words, of which 111 are of different spelling to that of the present time. On page 63 there are 332 words, of which 123 are different, and on page 77 there are 355 words, and of these 132 are different. Looking to see what these differences are, we find there is no j, but i is used instead of it, as perurie (perjury), judgment (judgment), iorney (journey). Then we see that y is very often used instead of i, as bynne (being), standynge, hys, wyse. Yet i is also largely used, the same as it is now; as side, him, this. Sometimes it takes the place of y, as tyanyne; and we also find y used instead of th, as ye for the, and yat for that. And then it often takes the place of y at the end of words, as perfectie, dewtie, cite.

Next we find u instead of v, as diurs for divers, soener for soever, seruice for service; and then, at the commencement of words, we have v instead of u, as vnto for unto, and vnder for under. It may be borne in mind that in the familiar letter w, we see that v was the original form of the letter v. But in this book we do not find v taking the place of u in the middle of words, and we often find v in its present form at the beginning of words, as in virtues, vices and victory.

Many words which now end in ll have in this book only single l, as al, ful and smal. On the other hand, there are many words with ll where we now have only a single l, as several for severall, apparell, naturall. Many words which we spell with three letters have five in this book, as bukke, farre and hydde for hid. We see also that e is often placed at the end of words in which we now consider it unnecessary, as in fishe, herbe, meate. On the contrary, it is often left off from words in which we now use it, as els, ther, privat.

In numerous words in which we now double the consonant, this book has only a single one, as maner, medle, sorrow. Single o is used in such words as blodshed, roted or wol, while oo is found in doo, gooten and woorkte. We notice also that y follows in such words as condempned and solemepne. We also find many compound words which are obsolete; for instance, as-muche, as-wel and shal-be, while many words which we compound are in this book found separate, as in dede, an other, where as. We also note that an is frequently placed where we are now satisfied with a; for instance, dangerous, perchaunce and pleasaunt.

It may be further noted that in this book there is no uniformity in the spelling, as the same words are spelled in two or three different ways, as because, bycause and becuse, beutie, bewtie and bewtye; dewtie and dewty; foles and foolles; helth, healtie and health; hollye and holly; yf and if; lytle and litle; myles and miles; pryde and pride; syknes, sycknes and sicknes; whyche and whiche; wyffe and wife; wyll and will. The name of the printer is in two places Wele, and in a third place Weale.—Boston Transcript.

HUNTING A TROOP OF WOLVES.
They Charged Until the Bullets Flew and Then Made Off.

On, on they came, each eager to get ahead of the other, and lessening the distance between us and them at a rapid rate. But we stood firm, with rifles raised and sighted on the two in advance, till Ned thought they were near enough. Then after careful aim, his rifle rang out, and the foremost wolf, with a convulsive bound, dashed to one side, and fell over on the ice.

I had good aim on the other, and as Ned's shot made the pack slacken their speed, I luckily sent a ball through its head, and dropped it its tracks.

This reception quite cooled the courage of the nearest wolves, and they cut their race short and began spreading out around us. Those farther back slackened speed, which showed their doubt and hesitation. We would have thought the battle won had not the little one, who seemed to be the leader, come bounding on as fast as ever, passing those ahead, one after the other, and inspiring them with fresh courage. We knew not what this might lead to, and reserved our buckshot for the occasion. It looked serious for awhile, and we were afraid this second attack would prove a harder one to repel than the first. We had not much time to consult on the matter, but we decided that Ned, at the proper moment, was to make sure of the little one, and, immediately after, I was to send my charge into the foremost ones following.

On the leader madly rushed to a point within thirty yards of us, then—without his cunning—turned suddenly to one side. This brought the others to a halt, and relieved us of any fear we had, for we saw their attack was mere bluster. But if they were ready for a parley we were not. We sent our buckshot into the thickest of the crowd and knocked the little one over, which sent the rest flying away, either to the woods or back to the deer, and left us masters of the field.—St. Nicholas.

RUN AMUCK WITH A GUN.

A Drunken Slav Visits His Blind Rage on Several Innocent Victims.

BACKED BY HIS COUNTRYMEN AND THEIR GUNS.

They Hold Out Against Indignant Populace Until Darkness Gives Them an Opportunity to Escape.

THREE PERSONS WERE KILLED.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 14.—As a result of a drunken riot at Maltby, a small Hungarian settlement near this city, one person was instantly killed, two fatally wounded and two others seriously injured. The killed and injured are: GEORGE SIVOSKI, aged seventeen years; head blown to pieces. LIZZIE FOSKI, aged fifteen years, shot in the back and abdomen; cannot recover. JOHN JENKINS, aged twenty-eight years; shot in the abdomen and left hand blown off; cannot live. MAGGIE MOORE, aged fourteen years; shot in the arm and both legs; will recover. THOMAS MOORE, aged twenty-three; shot in both legs; left knee shattered; will recover.

A Slav named Michael Paloski was the cause of the wholesale shooting of human game. Early in the evening Paloski became intoxicated, and going to the saloon of John Moore started a quarrel. He was ordered from the saloon and became enraged at this kind of treatment, and he started for home to procure a shot-gun. He got the gun and on his way back to the saloon he encountered Dan Ryan, who was sitting on his porch, together with Lizzie Foski and Maggie Moore. Ryan advised Paloski to go home but the latter, who was in a terrible rage, raised the gun and fired. The two girls received most of the shots and fell to the porch shrieking with pain and blood spurting from their wounds. John Moore, who had been attracted by the shooting, quickly picked up his sister and Ryan gathered up the Foski girl in his arms and both made a rush for the door to escape the enraged Slav. Before the men were able to get inside of the door the door had closed and the contents of the second barrel into the girls, Moore receiving part of the load in his knee.

The shooting attracted a large crowd, and Paloski was joined by two of his countrymen who were also supplied with guns. John Jenkins attempted to arrest Paloski, when he received a load of shot in his stomach. The crowd then rushed upon the Slav and attempted to disarm him, but the three men escaped into their boarding house and barricaded the door. The three men thrust their heads through a window and threatened to kill the first person who attempted the house. The crowd began to fall back, and as they did so one of the three men fired, but the shot did not take effect.

People living on the opposite side of the street were attracted by the shooting and their heads were out of windows. One of these was George Sivoski. One of the Slavs, seeing the head of the boy, took deliberate aim and fired, the full charge striking the unfortunate boy on the left side of the head, tearing half of his head and face away. The boy fell dead. The other strikers neighbors closed their windows and barricaded their doors. The murderous Slavs, finding no human beings to shoot at, turned their guns on lighted windows, posts and trees and anything their fancy suggested.

After all had become quiet several men armed with shot guns and revolvers went to the house to see if the murderers. The door of the house was found open and the men were nowhere to be seen. They had deserted the house. Two men were arrested at Kingston this morning accused of having been connected with the shooting. Two guns carried by the murderers were found in a pond near by.

WILL BECOME A FARMER.

Anarchist Samuel Fielden Will Retire From the City's Turmoil.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Samuel Fielden, the anarchist, who was pardoned while serving a life sentence for participation in the Haymarket riot of 1886, has concluded to turn farmer. Since his release Fielden has been driving a beer wagon and having saved some money is looking for a farm to purchase. Fielden said today: "I will not change my views on the economic and social questions but I have not spoken at a public meeting for a long time and do not expect to. Why? Because it seems to me the millennium is a long way off. I don't expect it to come during my lifetime so I might as well get some satisfaction out of life and I think I can find it better and easier on a farm than in the unsatisfactory life that a working individual must now endure in the city. The time was when I hoped for better things in the condition of the people. But as I do not expect it to come during my generation I will turn farmer."

General Morgan Makes a Violent Attack on Catholics.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 14.—General T. J. Morgan, Indian commissioner under President Harrison, in an address before the state Baptist convention on "Rome in Politics," made a bitter attack on the Catholic church, which, he declared, was a political organization. The Pope, he said, would soon try to have the abject recognition at Washington as an ambassador from a political sovereignty. He charged the Catholics with securing the defeat of Harrison on account of his administration of Indian affairs. He asserted that ninety-nine out of every hundred Catholics were Democrats, only enough remaining Republican to keep up appearances. He referred to Archbishop Ireland as a man who carries a United States senator in his vest pocket for convenient use, and added that the Archbishops of America were at this moment behind closed doors plotting against free schools and the free institutions of America.

WHISKY FROM MOLASSES.

New Process Will Cheapen the Manufacture of Whisky.

OMAHA, Oct. 14.—The Columbia Distilling company, the strongest enemy of the whisky trust, today made public the result of their experience by which they produce a very fair quality of spirits from sugar beet molasses. The success of the distillery is more important from the facts it affords of the additional profit to sugar manufacturers and to cheapen the manufacture of whisky. The process was never tried before in this country though it is in use in Europe. The trust people claim it is no cheaper than any other process and is of little consequence.

One of the Trains Was Demolished and Many Passengers Seriously Injured by the Accident.

PILED IN PROMISCUOUS HEAP.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 14.—Engineer Simpson, of the East Louisiana railroad, is responsible for a frightful accident that occurred near this city this morning at the crossing of the Louisiana & Nashville and Northwestern roads. The accident will probably result in at least one fatality, while a score of passengers were severely injured. The Louisville & Nashville "Across the Lake" excursion train, consisting of eight coaches well loaded with pleasure seekers, pulled out on time. As the train approached the crossing Engineer Hanley brought the train to a stop and whistled as the law requires. He then gave the signal to go ahead across the Northwestern tracks. The East Louisiana train, also carrying excursionists, came booming along and with a shrill whistle for "down brakes" it crashed into the sixth coach of the Louisville & Nashville train.

The collision threw the crowded coach completely into the ditch, while the attacking engine was derailed. The passengers on the East Louisiana train were uninjured except for the shock of the collision. Not so with the coast excursion, however. Men, women and children shrieked their terror as they were hurled into the ditch. Seats were hurled in every direction by the force of the collision and piteous moans told of painful injuries. Willing hands went to work and the wounded were taken out of the wreck and made as comfortable as possible.

Immediately after the collision Engineer Simpson disappeared and it is said he escaped to the swamp. The most severely injured are: ROBERT CAREY, leg broken, head cut. R. H. HOLMES, leg and arm broken. A. C. WHITLOW, left knee and hip hurt. Mrs. JELIA MUIR, leg and ankle injured, severe scalp wounds. Mrs. FRANK CARAMBAT, severely injured. E. J. EVANS, cut about the face. M. McDONALD, badly bruised about the head and right arm. M. R. LEHMAN, severely hurt about the head. C. S. YOUNGER, bruised about body. Mrs. A. S. GOSPA, badly bruised. Mrs. L. SPIERS, badly bruised. SON OF GENERAL A. S. BADGER, badly hurt.

SHE DESERVED TO MARRY.

For She Showed a Degree of Sagacity Almost Phenomenal.

There was a young man who had a girl friend. He went to see her at irregular intervals. He made his last call one day last week. She had some wedding cake from the nuptials of a friend of hers, and she was telling him of a new way she had discovered for finding out whether you were going to get married within a year.

"I will take some of this cake," she said, "and put it in this envelope and I will take seven slips of paper and write on six of them the names of six girls you know, any one of whom you are likely to marry. Then I will put the slips in the envelope with the wedding cake and give the whole thing to you. Now, you must take it and put it under your pillow when you go home. In the morning, the very first thing after you open your eyes, you must take out one slip. Do this for seven mornings in succession, and on the last slip will be the name of the girl you are sure to marry. If the blank comes last you will never marry."

The young man was quite impressed with the scheme. He took the envelope and promised faithfully to fulfill all the conditions and to come back and report at the end of seven days. He went home and put the envelope under his pillow. Next morning he drew out the slip, and on it was the name of the girl who had given the charm to him. He thought that that was pretty tough luck, for he really liked the girl very much. He was out rather late next night, and when he awoke he was in a hurry and forgot all about the charm. When he got home that night he began thinking the matter over and wondering who the other girls were.

He got the envelope and peered into it. The slips were all carefully folded and he could not see a name. Then his curiosity got the upper hand. He took out all the slips and unfolded them. All of the remaining six had names on them and in each instance the name was that of a girl who had prepared the charm. He sat down and thought long and earnestly. Then he put on his evening clothes and went straight up to that girl's house. He stayed a long time, and when he came away he was smiling and happy, and there is going to be a wedding on the west side one of these days!

A FAMOUS WARSHIP.

Sad Fate of the Kearsarge, Conqueror of the Alabama.

Standing before the bulletin-boards of any of the newspapers of the country, on a morning in the early days of last February, we should have found ourselves in a group of people eagerly discussing the news. We should have heard exclamations of surprise, sorrow, and regret arising on every side: "What a pity to lose the famous old ship!" "Too bad that she should be lost!"—while the older men in the crowd, turning to the younger, were recalling incidents of those stirring times when the Alabama, built in England for the confederate states, was for nearly two years the terror of the seas.

During the height of the civil war, from the Sunday, August 24, 1862, when she was put in commission under the command of Capt. Raphael Semmes, near the Azores, to that Sunday, June 19, 1864, when she was sunk off the coast of France, the Alabama roamed at will over the North Atlantic, South Atlantic and Indian oceans. From Newfoundland to Singapore her name was known and spoken with fear. Appearing and disappearing, she captured and looted prizes, pursued and destroyed merchantmen, but eluded all naval pursuit. Escaping every danger, she accomplished more work and did more harm than any other ship of ancient or modern times.

So great, indeed, was the injury done to American commerce, that at length the government built a ship of good live-oak in the navy-yard of Portsmouth, N. H., and naming her the Kearsarge, after one of the mountain peaks of the Old Granite State, commissioned her, under the command of Capt. John A. Winslow, to hunt down this famous "Corsair of the Seas." The Kearsarge immediately went in search of the Alabama, and found her at last in the harbor of Cherbourg, on the northern coast of France. The Alabama had run in there for coal, and Capt. Winslow, having made sure of his famous enemy, awaited her off the coast. Visitors from Paris, and all the country round, flocked to town, as rumors of a coming naval combat filled the air, and the rumors proved not without foundation; for on Sunday morning, June 19, 1864, while thousands of spectators lined the shore, the Alabama, flushed with her past exploits, and confident of success, sailed proudly out to meet the Kearsarge beyond the neutral waters of the bay.

"We, as victors, will continue last night's festivities on shore this evening," said the Alabama's officers to their friends, on taking leave, laughing merrily over the hand-shakings and good-bys. One hour and two minutes from the time the first guns were fired, those very confident officers were swimming for their lives, and the Alabama, riddled with shot and shell, her hull pierced through and through by the eleven-inch shells from the great after-pivot gun of the Kearsarge, and with many of her crew killed and wounded, had disappeared forever beneath the waves.

"The Alabama sunk!" How the news, when it arrived, flashed over this country, and with what rejoicing it was received in all the loyal states!—H. Gilbert Frost, in St. Nicholas.

WHAT THEY EAT.

Meat for the English Workmen, Flour and Eggs for the Frenchman.

All workers in Britain are heavy consumers of meat as compared with those of the continent. Even in the iron industry the German with 96 1/2 pounds per 100 units, is little more extravagant than the English weaver, while the Frenchman consumes only 57 1/2 pounds, and the Belgian 55 1/2 pounds. On the other hand, the latter consumes more flour and eggs, more than twice as much of each. Their consumption of coffee, too, is large—14 and 19 pounds respectively to the Englishman's 3 1/2 pounds; but on the other hand, tea does not appear in their accounts. It is almost needless to say that these quantities are all exceeded in America. The Illinois ironworker manages to consume 393 pounds of meat per 100 units, and though this is excessive, we find 206 1/2 pounds put down as the average of Pennsylvania, 197 1/2 for Ohio, 187 1/2 for West Virginia, and 155 pounds for Tennessee. The consumption of flour stands about 350 pounds for the states in general, though greedy Illinois has 366 pounds; and sugar, butter and eggs are everywhere more lavishly used than in Europe. There, as here, however, we find workers in the iron and steel industries more self-indulgent than those of other trades, and butcher's bills of the weaver can not compare with those of the steel workers, though they are still far above the expenditure of even the most extravagant worker of Europe.—London Hospital.

History of a Weight Standard.

The grain, the smallest weight standard in general use, was so called from originally being the weight of a grain of wheat. A statute which became a law in England in the year 1250 ordained that 32 grains of wheat taken from the middle of the ear, or "head," and well dried, should make a pennyweight, 20 pennyweights one ounce and 12 ounces one pound. Some centuries later there were some radical changes made in the above, such as dividing the pennyweight into 24 grains, etc. This makes 5,760 grains in the troy pound, as now used.

EVEN WITH THE COMPANY.

"Bluff" from a New Englander That Rubbed Out an Old Score.

The game of "bluff" in honest hands is seldom a winning one, yet an honest young man evened up a loss one day last week through the first bit of "bluff" he had ever tried in his life.

He hailed from New England and ignorant of New York railroads was making a trip to Mamaronck on the New York, New England and Hartford line. Promised by the conductor that he should be warned when nearing the station, he realized nothing until he had reached Stamford, when the forgetful official turned up to inform him regretfully that he was a dozen miles beyond his destination.

"And shall I have to pay my fare back?" he inquired. "Don't exactly see how you could get back any other way," was the reply.

With a sense of unjust treatment, the young man purchased a ticket and rode back in the next train.

He made the same trip again two days later. This time he knew just where his station was but falling into a sound sleep he let himself be carried past it until by a strange coincidence he found himself again at Stamford. With an air of injured independence he boarded the next train back.

"See here, conductor," addressing that functionary, "I've been carried through the stupidity of another of your blooming conductors twelve miles out of my way, and if you suppose I'm going to pay you for taking me back again you're pretty far out. You may call for my fare please. I will not pay it. There's a lot more than that due me for my inconvenience."

"All right, sir," answered the conductor meekly, completely overawed by the apparent depth of resentment confronting him.

"I'm even with that company, murmured the provincial youth blandly when he stepped off the train.

HAD TO HAVE HIS PIPE.

The Rich Chicago Contractor and His Humble Guest.

In one of the fashionable quarters of Chicago, according to the Times, lives an Irishman who has made a fortune as a contractor. He has never forgotten the friends of his youth, especially one Casey, a boss mason, who still lives in the Goose Island district. Casey does not feel exactly at home in the big house, but out of regard for his old friend often spends an evening there with him. On a recent occasion of this sort, a heavy rain set in just as it came time for the visitor to take his leave. "Look here, Mike," said the contractor, as they reached the door, "there's no need of your goin' home in this flood. I have a spare room upstairs. Stay over night with me." "All right, Tim," replied Casey; "O' will. The old woman won't worry." The contractor summoned a servant and had Casey shown to the "spare room." Then he returned to his den to look over the plans of a new block he had on hand. The work kept him absorbed till nearly midnight, when he was startled by a sharp ring at the door-bell. Every one else had retired, and he answered the bell in person. When he opened the front-door, there stood Casey, dripping wet, with a smile on his face. "How's this, Mike?" exclaimed the contractor; "I thought you was to stay all night here." "So I am, me boy," replied the smiling Casey; "that's why I went home for me pipe."

AN EXTRAORDINARY EXPLOSIVE.

The Extreme Liability of Iodide of Nitrogen to Explode.

Among the most wonderful and dangerous of all explosives is iodide of nitrogen. For many years chemists have been trying to determine its precise composition, and in doing so have sometimes fairly taken their lives in their hands, for the substance explodes on the slightest provocation. A mere draught of air passing over it will cause an explosion. The least shock or friction is equally disastrous.

But Dr. Szuhay, of Buda Pesth, says Youth's Companion, has not been deterred by any danger from trying once more to ascertain what the iodide of nitrogen contains, although he has had some of his apparatus pulverized in the winking of an eye. And he has succeeded, too, in his attempt, having recently established the fact that the extraordinary explosive, which he prepared in the form of a fine powder, contains hydrogen as well as iodide and nitrogen. This fact had been suspected, but never proved.

To the general reader it might seem hardly worth while to risk one's life in order to find out a thing like that, but to the man of science, devoting all his energies to investigations that the busy world never dreams of noticing, the discovery of such a fact is as thrilling as the finding of a gold nugget would be to a half-starved miner. And his reward is greater than that of the fortunate gold seeker, for his name goes upon the honor roll of science, to be read, perhaps, hundreds of years in the future.

CLOSE OF THE INSTITUTE.

The Interest Was Maintained Without Flagging to the Very End.

ISHPEMING PEOPLE THANKED FOR MAKING IT A SUCCESS.

Firemen Choose Ball Committee—Professor Patterson Will Give School Children a "Talk"—Politics.

INSTITUTE IS OVER.

The inspiration institute came to a close Saturday afternoon. During the evening many of the visiting superintendents and teachers left for their homes, while several from the adjoining cities and towns spent part of yesterday here.

On Friday evening at the Swedish Lutheran church the same rush for seats occurred as on the previous night.

Many were compelled to stand and several who could not find comfortable standing room went away. The program opened with a song, "On the Laughing Wave," by Eighth grade pupils. Rev. J. H. Green then offered prayer, after which the boys sang "Massa Is in the Cold, Cold Ground." They were recalled and responded. The address by Superintendent R. E. Denfield of Duluth was scholarly and brimming with valuable thought and suggestion. Mr. Denfield is a forcible speaker and held the closest attention of his auditors while he occupied the platform. At the close of Mr. Denfield's remarks, Eva Davis of Marquette sang "The Journey Is Long." She was recalled and responded, greatly to the delight of all present. Her singing was perfect in tone and execution. She has a very sweet voice, of which she has perfect control.

The chairman, Superintendent J. B. Montgomery of Champion, then introduced President L. D. Harvey of the Milwaukee Normal school, who spoke on "The Teacher's Responsibility and Opportunities for the Training of Character in His Pupils." His discourse was masterly and stirring. Mr. Harvey is an eloquent and easy speaker. His remarks were highly appreciated. After a song by the boys, Superintendent Patterson was called on to speak. He responded, confining himself to an expression of his appreciation of the kindness extended him and his associates during their visit here and thanked the educators of Marquette county and the citizens of Ishpeming for courtesies extended. The meeting then closed with benediction by Rev. Mr. Green of the Baptist church.

At the close of the exercises Saturday afternoon the following resolutions, drafted by Superintendents Davis of Negaunee, Chandler of Marquette, and Montgomery of Champion, were presented by the former and were unanimously adopted:

The superintendents and teachers of Marquette county at Ishpeming in convention assembled congratulate the people of this county upon the marked progress of their schools during the past few years as shown by the large representation upon the list of accredited schools at the university; upon the superior educational advantages now enjoyed by the children and youth of this section; upon the cordial and helpful support the public schools receive from taxpayers, parents and patrons; and upon the professional spirit and earnest devotion to the work manifested by the teachers of this county, who aim to train the pupils under their charge to a deeper sense of the duties and obligations of citizenship and to loftier ideals of true manhood and womanhood.

To the boards of education of this county we extend our sincere thanks for closing the schools that teachers might attend this institute; to the officials of the D. S. S. & A. Ry for their generous reduction of rates; to Superintendent O. R. Hardy and other members of the local committee for their untiring efforts in making all necessary arrangements for our convenience and pleasure; to the citizens of Ishpeming for their liberal hospitality; to the Ishpeming board of education for the use of the high school building; to the trustees and pastor of the Lutheran church for tendering their church for the evening meetings; to the proprietor of the Nelson House for special attentions shown members of this association; to Misses Trevor, Davis and Gaffney for the excellent music furnished for the evening sessions, and especially to the worthy instructors, Miss Harris, President Harvey and Superintendent Denfeld, for their able and inspiring presentation of the principles underlying all true teaching.

To State Superintendent H. R. Pattengill, we desire to express our thorough appreciation of the excellent manner in which this institute has been conducted, and our loyalty to him for his ceaseless efforts during the past two years to raise still higher the standard of the schools of Michigan.

To the voters and legislators of this state we renew our request for a Normal school in the upper peninsula, believing that such a great commonwealth should have, at least, two such educational institutions, that the teachers of this part of the state may be spared the fatigue and expense of attending a professional training school so remote from this part of Michigan.

Committees for Firemen's Ball. The committees charged with making preparations for the annual ball of the Ishpeming fire department, to be given at the A. O. U. W. hall on Thanksgiving eve, are as follows: Arrangements, H. Routhier, T. McNamara, W. Vicary, John P. Jones, Herman Jaedecke, D. Harrington, John Locher and John H. Kiefer; reception, John B. Pearce, Joseph Kennedy, M. Casben and W. H. Trembath; floor, John Lacy, Ed J. Gunville, M. McNamara, P. Murphy and R. R. Trembath; hall and music, T. McNamara and D. Harrington; printing and supper, John P. Jones and John H. Kiefer; decoration, J. A. Voelker, James Mullins, Thomas Sullivan, Ed Johnson, Thomas Johns, J. Harrington, W. Vicary, C. Hanson, Robert Gordon and John Goodman.

The department will hold a special meeting next Saturday evening for work on details. A full attendance is desired.

Lecture for the Children. On Saturday before leaving here for Marquette, where he spent Sunday visiting friends, H. R. Pattengill, superintendent of public instruction, consented to give a lecture to the children of the public schools in this city at the Swedish Lutheran church tomorrow evening. The subject of his discourse will be "Westward and Skyward," a Hunter Fatally shot.

A man named Andrew Bankson, aged thirty years, was shot and instantly killed in the woods, twelve miles north of Ten Kilns and about fourteen miles from Ishpeming yesterday. Bankson was hunting with his brother Charles and another young man named Anderson. Charles Bankson was walking in front, carrying a heavy rifle on his shoulder, when the piece was discharged, it is supposed by a branch catching the hammer. The bullet struck Andrew in the groin, severing the femoral artery, and he bled to death in a few minutes.

His brother and Anderson carried the body about four miles, when they gave out, and Anderson came to the city for a conveyance to bring it to town. The remains of the unfortunate man reached here about half past seven o'clock. Bankson was well known in Ishpeming. His home was on Cleveland avenue and he has several brothers residing here.

For Registration and Election.

The city council held a special meeting Saturday evening, when the following places for holding registration and election were designated: First ward, hook and ladder house, both; Second ward, Lake Superior band room for registration and City Opera House for election; Third ward, West's old printing office, both; Fourth ward, No. 2 hose house, both; Fifth ward, No. 4 hose house, both; Sixth ward, Erick Anderson's store on North Third street, both; Seventh ward, Lake Argeline mine office, both; Eighth ward, basement of Division street school, both; Ninth ward, Ridge street base-ment, both; Tenth ward, No. 3 hose house, both. The boards of registration of the several wards will be in session on Saturday, Oct. 3, and the election will occur on the following Tuesday.

They all made many warm friends during their brief stay here, and should they ever have occasion to visit Ishpeming again they will be given a hearty welcome.

Bees in the Mammoth Cave.

"Mammoth cave in Kentucky is getting to be a gigantic bee hive," said a recent visitor. "The last time I went through this big hole in the ground I took both the long and short routes, as they are called by the guides. At several places there were rather too many bees for me to feel entirely comfortable, although I was not attacked by any of them. If the cave should be explored for honey some rich finds would undoubtedly be made. The bees are increasing constantly. In fact, while I have visited the cave frequently for several years, it has only been about two years since I knew that they were there, and this year it would be impossible for a visitor not to know it."

ROLLED MOUNTAIN HIGH.

Many People Went to Presque Isle to View Saturday's Storm.

ALMOST A DISASTROUS COLLISION HERE.

City Convention Tonight—Death of Joseph P. Bray—Other Local and Personal Notes.

GREAT AUTUMNAL GALE.

The autumnal gale which raged over Lake Superior Saturday produced some grand wave scenery and hundreds of people witnessed the turmoil of the waters from the ore docks, from Light House point and from the rocks of Presque Isle. The street railway company made a special rate out to Presque Isle and took several hundred people out to witness the grand display of wind and wave force. One year ago on the same day of the week a great gale raged during which young Moore was washed from the rocks of Presque Isle and his body whirled away into the icy depths of Lake Superior, never again to be beheld by his family and friends.

The most exciting episode of the day was about 7 o'clock in the morning and despite the early hour was witnessed by hundreds of people. At that hour the steamer Viking with three consorts in tow was seen headed in over the raging waters to the shelter of the harbor. Just as she came around the breakwater the line between her first and second bows snapped. The third came on and the spectators held their breath, knowing that a collision was imminent and looking to see the second cut down and sunk before their eyes. The crash came but fortunately the headway of the third vessel was so slight that she only smashed the yawl that hung over the second's stern and all got safely into the harbor.

The force of the gale may be judged by the fact that the sheltered waters of the harbor were so disturbed that the tug Benham, which was tied up at No. 2 dock, began to pull up the piles and had to be moved to a quieter berth. During the night the gale blew itself out and yesterday the sun shone bright over waters but little disturbed.

The gale was equally severe on Lake Michigan. A gentleman who reached this city yesterday morning reported that as he came into Chicago Saturday evening over the Michigan Central the lake was running so high that the spray was flying over the cars where that road skirts the lake.

City Conventions Tonight.

The air is full of politics and there will be some lively hustling and tall talking among the voters today. Both the Republicans and Democrats will hold their ward caucuses and city conventions this evening to name delegates to the respective county conventions. The Republican caucuses will be held at 7 o'clock this evening at the places already announced and their city convention will be held at Cray's office at 8 o'clock. The Democratic caucuses are called for the same places as the Republican but at 7:30 o'clock and their city convention will be held in the Opera House block at 8 o'clock. The Republican county convention will be held at Ishpeming tomorrow and the Democratic county convention here on the same day. The conventions will nominate full county tickets and also candidates for representative in the legislature. Let all voters turn out to the caucuses of their respective parties and express their opinions.

Death of J. P. Bray.

Joseph P. Bray, for over twenty years in the employ of the South Shore company and its predecessors and for fifteen years timekeeper in the shops here, died at 3 o'clock yesterday morning of consumption at his house, 414 West Buff street. He leaves a widow and five children, of whom the youngest was three years old the day his father died. Mr. Bray has been an active member of the Methodist church since he was fifteen years of age. His father-in-law Rev. D. A. Curtis of Monroe county, Mich., and his sister, Mrs. Charles Painter of Negaunee were with him when he died and his brother, Rev. F. H. Bray of Chicago, is expected here for the funeral. Mr. Bray was a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, Knights of Pythias and Sons of St. George societies and was also for two years a director of the Marquette Building & Loan association, and was only relieved from that important duty at his own request. Joseph Bray was a good example of that large class of citizens who make the backbone of any county, a good husband, father and citizen, never seeking notoriety or public applause but striving to do his full duty in whatever station he might be found. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the Methodist church.

"The Galley Slave."

The Charles Riggs company arrived in the city yesterday. Everything is in readiness for its opening performance this evening and the indications point to a successful two nights' engagement. The opening bill, Bartley Campbell's "Galley Slave," is a very beautiful play and one of the few that never grow old because it appeals to the best feelings and impulses of human nature everywhere and tells a charming story in polished, graceful dialogue. The comedy is pure and the situations and climaxes thrilling. So much has already been said of "La Belle Marie," which will be presented Tuesday evening, that little remains to be told. The following is a list of the members of the company: Anne Leonard, Ansel Seeley, Hattie Foley, Dora Drosdeon, Baby May, A. C. Henderson, Henry Gilbert, David Alger, Jack McGrath, John A. Fullwood and Ralph Hayden.

City Hall Steps.

A special meeting of the common council was held Saturday evening to consider bids for the city hall steps, which were not included in the original contract. Several bids were presented, but the matter had not been regularly advertised and the council believed it should be. A resolution was passed to advertise for six days for bids on the work, to be done according to the specifications of the architects, Lovejoy & Demar. The bids must be handed to Controller Royce not later than 2 o'clock next Monday afternoon. The advertisement for this work will be found in another column. There being no other business, the council adjourned.

The Fruits of the Earth.

The Salvation Army last week actively solicited donations of fruits and vegetables to be used as decorations for a series of harvest services. The result is a very pretty and well arranged display at its hall on Front street. The whole lot will be sold this evening at the conclusion of the services, in which Captain Shepherson of Ishpeming will take a leading part. Tomorrow evening these special services will be concluded with a harvest supper with lots of good things at a moderate price.

Posts for Mail Boxes.

Postmaster Midlam has received several of the new pattern iron posts for mail boxes. They will be planted when the old gas lamp posts have been broken down and when the boxes on the latter are in the way of the strain shovels. All boxes with one exception will remain in their present locations. The exception is that at the corner of High street and Hewitt avenue, which will be moved to the corner of Front street and Hewitt avenue.

"WHY IS HE SO IRRITABLE?"

This question is often heard and nearly as often unanswered. It is not always remembered, as it should be, that the occasion of ill-temper and irritability is often to be found in the physical condition of the persons affected. What is the use of trying to "harmonize" a man whose liver has gone back on him? If a man is tortured with rheumatism, how can he be expected to be affable and agreeable? Can a confirmed dyspeptic be expected to be cheerful and always ready to tell a funny story? The only way to remove the difficulty is to get at the cause. Dyspepsia, rheumatism, impure blood and liver troubles yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla; this is why it is an effective tranquilizer, a peaceful messenger, and a preventive of domestic quarrels.
