FOR HEALTH NOT GOLD.

Congressman Wilson Denies That He Brought Back English Gold

TO ASSIST IN FREE TRADE CAMPAIGN.

A Barbecue and the Presence of the "Father of the Tariff Law" Attract Many Democrats.

HE DID NOT BETRAY TRUST.

BEVERLY, W. Va., Oct. 18.—A barbecue and the presence of Hon. W. L. Wilson attracted fully five thousand Democratic voters to this point today, delegations coming from half a dozen counties. A procession a mile and a half long escorted the speakers to the fair grounds, where the barbecue took place. Congressman Wilson made the main address of the day. During his remarks a voice interrupted Wilson to ask the truth of the Republican report that Wilson had brought back with him British gold to aid him in the free trade campaign. To this Wilson replied: "I went to England not for gold but for something infinitely more valuable to me than gold—health—and I thank God I brought back with me no English gold but restored health. I thank God I never needed gold to make a campaign in the mountains of West Virginia. If I had wanted gold, I had no need to go to England for it. I could have secured on this side of the water ten times more gold than I could by any possibility have obtained abroad if I would have consented to even the slightest betrayal of the great trust reposed in me."

LAST HOPE GONE.

Supreme Court Decides Against Administration Democrats.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 18.—The last hope of the administration Democrats to secure recognition for candidates nominated by the state convention, which botched the regular convention, was destroyed tonight by the supreme court deciding that the fusion O'Brien ticket shall be designed as the Democratic official ballot. The question came up on a petition as to the power of the secretary of state with respect to certificates of nomination under the provisions of the ballot law. The court was also asked to pass on the question, does the law authorize the printing of more than once on the official ballot of the names of the candidates nominated by the different parties or by petitions?

Answering the first question the court said that the secretary had the power when an objection was made to any certificate filed with him to determine from extrinsic evidence whether or not such certificate was fraudulent, and whether the nomination certified was made by a convention or an assembly of voters in good faith claiming to represent the party which cast the requisite number of votes at the last election, as plainly implied from the state law.

Answering the second question the court declared that the ballot law evidently contemplated that the name of each candidate shall appear but once on the official ballot, followed by such political designations as to correspond with the nomination papers of file with the nomination and officers are charged with the duty of printing and distributing them. It follows that there exists no authority for printing the names thereon more than once. The decision as to the last question is a victory for the alleged bolters, since it was intended to have the names of the fusion candidates twice on the ballot as Populists and Democrats.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 18.—The secretary of state this afternoon declined to issue a certificate of nomination to Singley B. Allen, People's party candidate for senator from the Forty-fifth district, as that party did not cast a vote of 2 per cent. at the last general election. Allen was named as the successor to Jessup, withdrawn.

WILL NOT QUALIFY.

If Republicans Control Legislature Hill Will Keep Senatorship.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 18.—The Associated Press correspondent in an interview with one of the most intimate political associates of Senator Hill was informed that if the Republicans secure control of the legislature Senator Hill will retain his seat in the senate and will not qualify as governor even though he be elected.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 18.—More than 3,000 people heard Senator Hill at the Lyceum this evening. His references to our "patriotic president" were loudly cheered but the greatest enthusiasm was evoked when he referred to the Democracy as firmly opposed to religious intolerance. He was very hoarse and appeared much fatigued by the constant campaigning.

CAMPAIGN NOTES.

BLOOMINGTON, Ills., Oct. 18.—The Republican campaign opened here today with an enthusiastic mass meeting. The attendance at the out of door afternoon meeting was about 3,000. Ex-Governor Pifer presided and Senator Culom spoke for hour treating on the chief issues of the campaign. Tonight at the opera house an immense audience was addressed by General Clark E. Carr of Galesburg and Mrs. Worthington of Chicago. An immense overflow meeting was also held.

ROBINSON, Ills., Oct. 18.—Vice President Stevenson spoke here today to about three thousand people. He was received on his arrival by an enthusiastic delegation. Tonight he is the guest of his cousin, Rev. W. M. McCaughray, and a public reception was given in his honor. A large number of people called to pay their respects.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Oct. 18.—Ex-Governor Boies was received with an ovation here tonight when he spoke to the Democrats of this section at the opera house. He made the tariff question the principal subject. Some interest was felt as to how he would deal with silver but to the surprise of the silver men he ignored the subject.

CLAIM COLT WAS DRUNK.

Citizens of Washington Court House Will Ask for Court Martial.

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, O., Oct. 18.—The feeling against Colonel Colt and the troops was so intense this morning that had they remained in town further rioting would be unavoidable. It is charged that Colt was drunk and the massacre in the street was caused thereby. Responsible citizens ask for a court martial. The indignation against Sheriff Cook is as fierce as against Colt.

This place is as quiet tonight as though rioting and bloodshed had never been seen within its borders. The withdrawal of the last detachment of soldiers acted like a soothing potion upon the half-crazed populace. From that hour the excitement rapidly subsided. William Sams, who died this evening, adds the fourth to last night's victims. Theodore Ammerman is dying tonight and F. L. Nitterhouse can hardly survive until morning. Little George Keating, whose injuries were at first thought to be fatal, may recover but he will be horribly maimed. A number of those reported seriously injured are now known to be but merely scratched or bruised. Considerable excitement was caused tonight by a rumor that an attempt on Sheriff Cook's life would be made before morning but this cannot be traced to any reliable source. There is much feeling against him.

REACHED JAIL IN SAFETY.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18.—Jasper Dolby, the negro for the protection of whose worthless neck at Washington Court House last night the militia were obliged to kill a number of the mob who were thirsting for his blood, was safely landed in the penitentiary here shortly after 7 o'clock this morning. The Cincinnati regiment and the two Columbus companies arrived at Washington Court House at 3:30 a. m. and the negro, under guard of the militia, was immediately taken to the train, which was accomplished without incident.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—The statement that the condition of the czar had changed for the worst was confirmed by news to the same effect which reached this city today. Grand Duke Vladimir, the eldest brother of the czar, and Grand Duke Axelis, Russian high admiral and second brother of the czar, left Paris tonight for St. Petersburg.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—The Cologne Gazette has a dispatch from St. Petersburg stating that the czar appears to be dying. All members of the imperial family are enroute for Livadia, where his majesty is sojourning. The formal appointment of the czarowitz as resident ruler is hourly expected.

CONSPIRACY AGAINST CZAROWITZ.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 18.—Dr. Von Schmidt, who claims to have inside information from Russia, says he has just received another letter from St. Petersburg indicting when the czar will die. Students and members of the army and clergy are honeycombed with a conspiracy to set aside the czarowitz and place Prince George on the throne in spite of the czar's personal wishes.

CHARGED BY POLICE.

Many Austrian Socialists Severely Injured by Onslaught.

VIENNA, Oct. 18.—Ten thousand socialists met today at Sofiensaal. At the close of the meeting those present formed in a procession. When Ringstrasse was reached a squadron of thirty mounted police charged upon the crowd with swords. As the police charged one of the horses fell and a number of other horses tumbled over him, bringing their riders to the ground. Many socialists were knocked down by the sudden onslaught. Fifteen socialists and one policeman were left lying on the ground, severely injured by sabre strokes or the hoofs of the struggling horses. The procession was ultimately broken up and many of the participants arrested. Pernersdorfer, a member of the reichstag, declared that the police interference had caused the whole disturbance. He intends to address the reichstag tomorrow on the subject.

HUNG FOR MURDER.

Two Minnesota Men Strung Up for Killing Bartender.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 18.—Between 5 o'clock and daylight tomorrow Otto Wouhnt and Charles Ermish, the self-confessed murderers of Bartender Lindhoff, will be hung in the enclosure between the county jail and court house in this city.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Oct. 18.—The examination of C. I. Searey, arrested for the Virginia train robbery, has been postponed until tomorrow. This is a growing conviction that the prisoner, although probably a crook, had no connection with the hold-up.

DETROIT, Oct. 18.—William C. Liphart, one of the boodler members of the city school board, was today sentenced to five years at the state prison.

WANTS ANOTHER TRIAL.

Arguments for a New Trial for Mayor Lauer Begin Today.

SPRING VALLEY, Ill., Oct. 18.—Much excitement has been created in this city over the outcome of the motion for a new trial in the famous Lauer case. The arguments began tomorrow at Princeton before Judge Stipp. Lauer is the mayor of this city and was recently convicted and sentenced to Joliet for a year for inciting riot. The arguments for the new trial will be based upon prejudice and some additional evidence that is alleged to have been discovered since the last trial.

THE CZAR MUCH WEAKER.

Evident That End of Ruler of Russia Is Drawing Near.

SYMPTOMS OF HIS DISEASE MORE PRONOUNCED.

Physicians Have Given Up the Idea of Taking Him to Southern Crimea—Causes Consternation.

DEATH IS EXPECTED SOON.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 18.—It is announced that the condition of the czar has changed for the worse and the symptoms of general debility and heart failure are more pronounced. The physicians have given up the idea of taking him to Corfu, southern Crimea. The news causes great consternation and the general feeling is that the end may be expected any day. The famous Pere Ivan of Cronstadt, otherwise known as Holy John of Cronstadt, who is universally revered by Russian people and who has often been called to the bedside of persons dangerously ill to pray for their recovery, has started for Livadia to pray for the recovery of the czar. This is cited as a striking proof of the gravity of the czar's condition. Prayers for the recovery of the czar were offered today in Kazan cathedral. Later a bulletin issued at 7 o'clock tonight says there is no change in the czar's condition.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—A St. Petersburg dispatch to The Times says the announcement that the condition of the czar had perceptibly changed for the worse was contained in an official bulletin signed by Professors Leyden, Hirsch, Zaccarini, Popoff and Benjaminoff. The bulletin added that his majesty showed symptoms of general debility and his weakness of the heart was more pronounced. The bulletin produced a most depressing effect there and caused much agitation on the Bourse. There is some doubt in St. Petersburg as to the whereabouts of Princess Alix. All news is being vigorously suppressed but it is probable that her marriage to the czarowitz will take place shortly. The ceremony will be performed more or less privately.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—The statement that the condition of the czar had changed for the worst was confirmed by news to the same effect which reached this city today. Grand Duke Vladimir, the eldest brother of the czar, and Grand Duke Axelis, Russian high admiral and second brother of the czar, left Paris tonight for St. Petersburg.

MARQUETTE, MICH., OCTOBER 19.

Entered as mailmatter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

MARQUETTE county is glad to see Hon. Spencer O. Fisher, even though the majority of her ballots may be cast for John T. Rich.

Both the leading candidates for governor are good men and the voters may safely vote for either. With both of unexceptionable personal character the choice between them must be made on lines of public policy. But the voters should more severely scrutinize the candidates for the legislature, for the best of governors can do little without a clean and honest legislature behind him.

BETS are going at two to one on Morton for governor in New York and as the men who are making them are mostly of the class that do not wager their money for sentiment this may be taken as an indication of the belief that Hill has at last overreached himself and had better have rested content with his seat in the senate instead of trying for the presidential nomination through another term as governor.

HON. CARLOS D. SHELDEN of Houghton will please accept THE MINING JOURNAL's compliments and congratulations on his practically certain election. His Democratic opponent has withdrawn and Mr. Sheldon ought to have no difficulty in defeating the Populist candidate. With all due respect to the undoubted ability of Mr. Hagen it would still appear that if experience counts for anything then Mr. Sheldon is the better man of the two. He made a good representative and will make a good senator.

THE TARIFF AND SHEEP.

The wool tariff was a point of the protective policy that THE MINING JOURNAL never was able conscientiously to support. In spite of all the preachings of the political shepherds of Ohio the stubborn fact has always remained that under low tariffs the prices of American wool averaged higher than under high tariffs. The reason of this is not far to seek. Wools are of almost infinite variety and districts that can profitably raise certain kinds of wool cannot compete with other districts in other kinds. Again, in the more settled parts of the country sheep are and should be a side issue with the farmer, though an important one. A small band of sheep may be kept to advantage for mutton and wool rather than for wool alone, on almost every farm, especially where there are rough lands. Sheep will pick up a living where cattle will starve and are useful to clean up the ground. Free wool or low tariff wool has always meant better and cheaper clothing than high tariff wool, and this despite the fact of the average higher price of American wools under low tariff. The interest of this region, with its long, cold winters, is certainly to have woolen clothing as cheap as possible. The Chicago Herald of yesterday has the following sensible comments on the wool question, which are reprinted because they are in line with THE MINING JOURNAL's own ideas:

Head Shepherds Lawrence, Harpster, Klinge, Caswell and Corodue, in their recent mournful address to the public, volunteer some advice to the wool growers of the country. They say:

The free-wool policy cannot be reversed until after 1896. In the meantime sheep cannot be made to pay for capital invested and labor in producing wool. The true policy is: Fatten the wethers and old ewes; sell them for mutton; keep the breeding ewes and be ready to rapidly increase the flocks after 1896. Let all people who desire prosperity for Americans rather than for foreigners vote for no candidates for congress who do not favor protection of wool to all American industries, which by its aid can be made to furnish all needed supplies at fair American prices. The free-wool infamy will soon be wiped out, never more to return.

The business part of this advice, involving an extensive slaughter of the innocents, is not likely to be followed to any very great extent. Probably it is not intended as serious advice to wool growers. Probably it is intended rather to influence people who raise no sheep and have no knowledge of the business.

Professor John A. Craig, of the Wisconsin agricultural experiment station, recently wrote a letter for publication in which he warned sheep owners against following the advice of the head shepherds. The warning was unnecessary, doubtless, as sheep owners may be trusted to look after their own interests. But Professor Craig says some things that people who do not own sheep ought to know when they are asked to help restore the old policy of dear woolen goods and abundant shoddy. He says of the sheep that have lately been forced upon the market:

An inspection of the sheep that are selling exceptionally low in the present market will bear out the assertion that, considering the quality and condition of the sheep, the prices are good. With the clearing of inferior stock that has been made it is a fair assumption that the price of properly finished sheep will not only be maintained but advanced.

He further says that "the market during the past few years has shown that a good quality of mutton creates its own demand," and that "at the present prices for good mutton a small flock of sheep will yield a satisfactory revenue on a Wisconsin farm." And further: "The markets have made prominent the fact that the sheep that will yield the greatest profit is the one that will produce a high quality of mutton and the best wool that is compatible with it."

Professor Craig directs attention to the fact that aside from their wool and mutton sheep play a useful part in adding to the fertility of the soil, in keeping it clean and in bringing returns from rough pasture lands. He concludes that skillful breeding and proper feeding "will place the industry on a basis of permanent prosperity."

Free wool would not exterminate the flocks by any means. But if it should, that would be a thousand times better than to compel all the American people to go on forever either paying double prices for woolen clothing and blankets or buying shoddy and mixed cheats. People are of more importance than sheep, and all the people are of more importance than a few shepherds.

HE WANTED TO BE INFORMED.

Was Always Polite to Strangers in the Country and Expected Courtesy Here.

He hadn't been in the city long and he wasn't expected to know, but he was firm in the conviction that he had the right to inquire. Down where he came from they often had people—stranger folk—who put questions about byways and such things, and he was always glad to answer them—even going so far as to put them into the right path if they had any doubt about their ability to follow his directions, which were minute to a degree. He, therefore, had no compunction about putting a question or two himself, seeing that he was not upon his native heath, and if city folk had half the politeness ascribed to them he would find out just what he wanted to know. Something of this was passing through his mind as he ranged up against the window of the ticket seller on the uptown side of an elevated station.

"Say, mister," he began to the ticket agent, "do the trains on this yer track go to the ferry?"

"Certainly not," answered the ticket seller. "This is the up side."

"Well, a man on the street told me ez how they did," he said, smilingly.

"Well, they don't," tersely replied the agent.

"That's funny, too," mused the farmer, good naturedly.

"What's funny?" asked the agent, impatiently.

"Why, that he should say that they did, an' that you should say that they didn't."

"There's nothing funny about it," snapped the agent.

"Mebbe you don't see it," urged the hayseed, patronizingly.

"No, sir, I do not," brusquely answered the other, seeing a crowd behind the countryman, anxiously waiting to get their tickets.

"Well, one of you are lying, that's the funny part of it."

"Do you mean to imply—"

"I ain't implyin' nothing, only he looked jist ez respectable ez you, an' you've no call to git so all-fired mad about it, either."

"I tell you the cars on this side of the road only run up town," cried the agent, desperately.

"An' they never run the other way?"

"Not on this side."

"They ain't likely to be any change in that?"

"No, sir."

"It's a settled thing, an' everybody's satisfied?"

"Yes, sir," replied the ticket seller, with a martyred look.

REPUBLICANS TURN NOW.

Governor Rich, Sam Stephenson, Senator Patton and Other Prominentes

WILL SOON ADDRESS HOUGHTON COUNTY VOTERS.

Nine New Cases of Typhoid Fever at Centennial-Grist of Interesting News Notes.

IMPORTANT NOTICE. The only authorized collector of THE MINING JOURNAL in Houghton county is Mr. Horace J. Stevens. Receipts signed by other than him will not be recognized as valid from this date.

On Saturday evening Hon. S. M. Stephenson will appear at Calumet, where Judge Peek of Charlotte will deliver a Republican speech. On Monday evening Judge Peek, assisted by Mr. Stephenson's moral support and countenance, will speak at the Armory in Houghton. On Thursday evening, Oct. 25, Governor John T. Bigham and other speakers will be at the Armory, and on Monday evening, Oct. 29, Senator Frank Patton, Jr., will speak at St. Patrick's Hall.

O. W. Robinson, Republican nominee for the legislature in the Second district of Houghton county, is making an active canvass. One of Mr. Robinson's principal planks and one which is helping him very materially with the voters is the promise that if elected he will do all that lies in his power to bring the railroads of the upper peninsula to the same regulations as those of the lower portion of the state. The lower peninsula roads are now limited to a maximum charge of three cents per mile, while the roads of this section of the state may charge—any do charge—four and five cents per mile. Inasmuch as Mr. Robinson is known to be a man who keeps his word under any circumstances, his declaration of principles cannot be taken as a campaign bluff and is not so looked upon by the voters of the district.

Rev. J. Edward Reilly will give his illustrated lecture, "The Emerald Isle," at St. Patrick's Hall on Wednesday evening, Oct. 31. The proceeds will go to the Y. M. C. A.

The visit of Senator McMillan here may have been devoid of political significance, but the best judges of political matters think otherwise. Mr. McMillan arrived without notice and was shown the Quincy mine and various other points of interest around Portage Lake by Judge Hubbell. There were two senators to be elected next winter and Senator McMillan would like to succeed himself. Mr. Jay A. Hubbell is also a candidate and will have the solid backing of the upper peninsula.

The refusal of Dennis J. Norton of Ewen to run for senator on the Democratic ticket in this district, and the declination of Mr. Domingo W. Sutter of Lake Linden to stand for the legislature in the First district of Houghton county leaves the Democracy with only the remnants of a ticket to support in Houghton county, inasmuch as four Republicans were endorsed on the Democratic county ticket. As a matter of fact the Democrats hope to elect the county treasurer and have a fighting chance for the representative in the Second district of the county.

Mr. E. R. Penberthy, who has been credited with aspiring to the receivership of the land office at Marquette by a county paper, denies that he wants the place. His duties as manager of the large and rapidly increasing business of the Superior Soap company require his full time and closest attention.

Confirmation of the reported purchase of the Haron by the Atlantic company fails to materialize.

The "Old Folks" concert, to be given at Miller's Hall on Tuesday evening next for the benefit of St. Ignace's church, promises to prove a highly enjoyable occasion as the best local talent will take part.

James K. Dee has gone to the Soo on business. The work of stringing extra wires to complete the metallic circuit for the county telephone district will be completed this month.

Mr. J. H. Rice, cashier of the National bank of Houghton, has returned from a ten days' trip to Chicago. It was necessary to get the sprinkler out yesterday to lay the dust.

The strippers at the Portage Entry quarries struck yesterday for a raise of twenty-five cents to $1.50.

There are now nine cases of typhoid fever here and the infection has been traced to a well, which has been cleaned out and disinfected. Several bushels of rubbish and garbage, including cast-off wearing apparel, old hats, decayed shoes, hoofs, horns and bones, horse shoes and various other things, were taken out. After viewing the former contents of the well it is not difficult to see how the fever originated.

The threatened complaint of the Law and Order league against the village authorities, in which the latter are charged with winking at flagrant violations of the liquor and Sunday laws, has been lodged with Governor Rich. As THE MINING JOURNAL advised the members of the league a month ago, the complaint will rest in innocuous desuetude until after election, for Governor Rich is an old campaigner and is not likely to decide the matter with an election pending.

"La Belle Marie" will be presented this evening at the Red Jacket Opera House. The remains of the late Alexander Finlayson were taken on Thursday morning's train to Lochalsh, Canada, where the deceased formerly resided. Mr. John R. Finlayson accompanied his father's body to its last resting place.

The meeting of the Y. M. C. A. next Sunday afternoon will be addressed by Mr. C. A. Stringer on the subject of "Perils of Young Men." Miss Jessie MacNaughton and Mrs. C. A. Stringer will sing solos and a new feature will be introduced. Come and see what it is.

Fred Lean, who has been indisposed for several days, resumed his run on the Mineral Range Thursday evening. Joe Urfels acted as conductor during Mr. Lean's illness.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Anderson, who died Tuesday, was held yesterday afternoon from the Congregational church. The ladies of the Norwegian society "Norra" will give a social and lunch at the hall Saturday evening for the benefit of the temperance mission fund. Admission, twenty-five cents.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert James was buried Thursday afternoon. The Osceola baseball club will give a dance at the band hall Saturday evening. Tickets, fifty cents per couple.

WONDERFUL NERVE.

How a Locomotive Engineer, Pinned Down in a Wreck, Endured His Agony. I was riding on the Seattle, North Shore & Western railroad four years ago when the engine went through a trestle into a shallow stream. The engineer, Jim Boyle, was under the locomotive, and two other train hands were holding his head up out of the water when I reached the spot. From just above his knees his body was uninjured, but the lower parts of his legs were crushed flat and held in a vice which knew no loosening.

Several miles above some Chinese miners were working, and they dammed up the water every night before quitting, letting it loose again when they began to wash dirt next day. The engineer lay in water of sufficient depth to prevent a doctor, had he been present, from amputating his legs, and there was the added danger that at any time the Chinese might set the water loose and thus drown the injured man. Boyle lay there in what must have been agony certainly, and with the water barely below his mouth, and icy cold at that, and never whimpered.

He inquired calmly if a coffin dam couldn't be built around him, and when this was found to be impossible he asked that his wife be sent for—he lived a few stations back—to come up on the wrecking train. Then he asked for a smoke, and smoked away at a pipe as contentedly to all appearances as if he had been in his engine cab. The trainmen relieved each other, and the passengers also took turns in holding up Boyle's head above the water, and as the hours rolled away, everybody seemed to feel the awful strain of Boyle. Shortly before noon a welcome toot was heard to the south of us, and Boyle heard it.

"I'll bet the cigars that Clara's aboard that train," was all he said. It was the wrecking train and the first person off it was a white-faced little woman, with tightly compressed lips. She knew the state of affairs and went straight to the cut and down into its awful bottom with unhesitating steps. She took her husband's head in her arms and kissed him.

"My legs are gone, sure, Clara," said the man with a smile. "Well, your heart's all right," she responded, cheerfully. There was no hopelessness in her appearance, no matter how full her heart might have been. Some one came running down with the startled cry: "The Chinamen have begun washing!" Neither the man nor the woman showed a bit of fear.

"Let me have the gun, dear," he pleaded. "You die with a sin on your soul," she replied. "I'll do it, darling, and live to square myself." That woman, gentlemen, had come prepared to kill the man she loved in preference to letting him die a most horrible death in a flood of dirt and sand and gravel. An Englishman, who had been a passenger on the train, appeared at this juncture with an implement shaped something like a mallet. No one knew where he got it. "Maybe we can scrape the bottom away under Boyle's legs and drag him out, or what's left of him, anyhow," he suggested.

He went to work. Every now and then he would strike the crushed leg of the engineer and ejaculate, "I beg pardon," and Boyle would invariably reply, "No harm done, general. In ten minutes he asked Boyle to brace himself and motioned to the men at his side. Boyle's arms and shoulders were quickly grasped by muscular trainmen, there was a strong jerk, and Boyle was released.

Even in that supreme moment of agony, when he was laid on the side of the cut with masses of bleeding, crushed, quivering flesh and bone where his feet, shins and knees had been, he looked up at the Englishman and said: "General, thanks; you are a corker," and then fainted in his wife's arms. Ten minutes later the cut was ten feet deep, with a bubbling, hissing, rapid stream of yellow water.—Washington Post.

"Kranse will have it that he made a speech of two hours' duration at the meeting, but I see it only takes up the space of half a column in the papers." "Ah, but, you know, Kranse stammers."—Humoristic Blatt.

THE ICE AGE.

A Time When Northern North America Was Buried in Snow. A great many years ago—exactly how many I never could find out, because the men who have told me piecemeal the story which I am now rehearsing were never very certain themselves whether it was ten or fifty or a hundred thousand years ago, and were without so pleasantly liberal with their centuries that it somehow seemed mean to urge the matter; but at any rate, a great many years ago, one might have visited unattended the far northern regions toward which Peary and Nansen are struggling, and thought no more of it than as a somewhat long and toilsome summer journey.

The way northward would have led through forests much the same as those which grace New England and the middle states to-day, or with an aspect even more tropical than these, and many smaller plants, suggesting those familiar to us now, would have brightened his path.

Even over distant Greenland and into those desolate regions where so many brave and hardy explorers have perished he might have wandered, finding all as warm and bright and teeming with life as are our own latitudes to-day.

One thing, however, would have made such an undertaking adventurous, if not dangerous, and that is the hideous and gigantic animals which roamed over the country in those times. Great flying beasts, huge hulks of flesh like overgrown elephants, colossal lizards, and all manner of uncanny breathing things would have relieved the stroll northward of too tame and pastoral a tendency. In a word, a long time ago the temperate regions of our earth, with plants whose families at least still flourish, and monsters, uncounted animals now happily extinct, extended over the Arctic regions.

But for some reason or other, or for a number of reasons together—reasons which it would lead us too far afield to consider now—this warm, sunny, plant-clad region about the North Pole began to grow colder. And, as century after century passed, gradually, but relentlessly, the snow began to accumulate. At first it didn't melt away as early in the spring as it was wont to do, and there seemed to be more of it, and it got packed into solid masses of ice in the valleys and the cooler places. By-and-by there was snow all the year round, and more and more ice formed.

The animals were driven southward and the plants died off. Finally ice and snow covered everything and formed great masses hundreds of feet thick.

The worst of it was that this was not confined to the far-away regions about the North Pole. The ice sheet crept slowly southward like a white shadow; over Greenland, over British America, over northern Europe. Great bodies of water—lakes, rivers and inland seas were frozen solid, and still the white terror crept slowly on. Down over New England, over New York state, over the region of the Great Lakes, over Ohio, and into Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and over many of the northwestern states.

This ice-mantle was hundreds, in places thousands, of feet thick. Our great hills, the White Mountains, the Adirondacks and the Catskills were either altogether covered up, or just showed their tips, like tiny islands in the great white solid sea.

Now it was so cold over all the northern part of North America that this ice-mantle once formed stayed there for thousands of years. But it wasn't still by any means. When ice and snow collect in great masses, filling up valleys and covering the land, it has an enormous weight, and although ice seems so solid and firm and brittle, it actually does, when on slopes or when pressed upon from behind, flow like thick molasses, or asphalt, only very slowly. But its motion, when in such huge masses, is irresistible, so that great rocks are torn away from the top of the ice rivers, sometimes on top of the ice, sometimes buried deep out of sight. Often rocks are broken and ground to fine powder as they are held fast at the bottom of the ice mass and pushed along the solid rock surfaces beneath. Furthermore, these rock surfaces over which the great moving ice masses slide, no matter how rough and jagged they may be, are rounded off and ground smooth, or by the stones which the ice mass holds and grinds against them, they are deeply grooved and scratched.—T. Mitchell Pruden, M. D., in Harper's Magazine.

NAMES OF THE PILGRIMS.

Derivation of Some That Are Peculiar to New England. Territorial families who lived at a thorpe often bore its name, as is always the case in early times with landed houses. Thus Adam de Thorpe, Simon de Thorpe, or Ralph de Trop may all be mentioned. Mr. Bardsley tells us, in the self-same register; while familiar modern names derived from similar sources are Althorpe, Calthrop, Westropp, Conythrop, Hartrop, and Gawthrop. Thorpe itself figures often in the un-compounded form as a surname, while Thrupp is only a slight dialectal corruption of the same original syllable.

Names of this type are particularly common in parts of New England, where, through a curious incident, they pass as almost a patent of nobility. To have "come over in the Mayflower" is, of course, the Massachusetts equivalent of coming over like the Slys, "with Richard Conqueror." Now, the Mayflower refugees, as all the world knows, were for the most part Lincolnshire men or East Anglians; they called their capital Boston after the Lincolnshire port which was once Botulfston; and they mostly bore such surnames themselves as Winthrop, Haythrop, Lothrop and Lathrop. Hence these Danish patronymics are very aristocratic to-day in Salem or Concord; they mark their possessor as a person of antique distinction in the Puritan commonwealth. "My people came over in the Mayflower," said an unknown New Yorker to a Plymouth Winthrop. "Indeed!" was the crushing answer, "I didn't know the Mayflower took steerage passengers."—Cornhill Magazine.

HELD ITS ANNUAL MEETING.

Stockholders of Pullman Car Company Met at Chicago Yesterday.

THE USUAL QUARTERLY DIVIDEND WAS DECLARED

Company Made No Profit from the Works at Pullman but Earnings Still Very Large.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS ELECTED.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Pullman Palace Car company was held today, over $25,000,000 of capital stock being represented.

It is known that the meeting discussed earnestly the chances of legislation adverse to the interests of the company in the near future.

The statement shows that no profit was made by the operation of the works at Pullman during the last year and the revenue was made up of three items—earnings of cars, $8,761,934; patents, $6,386, and rentals, dividends, interest, etc., including the loss in the manufacturing department, $226,746.

The value of the manufactured products of the car works for the year was $4,347,317, and of the other industries, including rentals, $578,014, making a total of $4,925,331 against $13,414,703 for the previous year.

The report of Mr. Pullman to the directors takes up at some length the question of the strike, but he makes in the published statement no comment made at the time of his public utterances during the strike.

PARIS SEWER BOOTS.

How They Are Utilized in Making Fine Shoes for Ladies.

Speaking of the fashions brings us to an odd discovery which has recently been made. There is a small shop on the other side of the Seine, in the Rue des Ecoles, which deals exclusively with the second-hand boots of the men who work in sewers. These boots, says a Paris letter, are furnished by the state, and come half way up to the thigh, and each man is allowed a new pair every six months. When new they cost nine dollars; when sold second-hand they realize the modest sum of fifty cents; but as at least six thousand pairs per annum are sent to the Rue des Ecoles it makes quite a booming industry.

The leather of these boots is, so to speak, tanned by the alkaline and greasy water in which the sewer-cleaners so perpetually paddle, and they are eagerly sought for by the great Parisian bootmakers; for this leather, being at once tough and light, serves to sustain the curve of the Louis XV. heel. At first this was done by a piece of iron; but that was heavy and clumsy, so finally the ingenious dealer hit upon this substitute, to the delight of the sewer-cleaners, who realized a modest sum, and the content of the fashionable bootmaker, whose shoes profited by the change; but the great lady whose satin-shod feet glide over the earth with such majesty of gait little knows that one of the component parts of her dainty footwear has risen from a sewer to reach her.

THE GRAVE OF LAFAYETTE.

An American Flag Has Always Waved Over It.

"While in Paris a short while ago," said a traveler recently, according to the Washington Post, "it occurred to me that it was a fitting act to make a pilgrimage to the tomb of that illustrious Frenchman dear to the hearts of all American patriots, Marquis de La Fayette. I asked a number of people before I could find anyone to enlighten me as to the spot, but after repeated inquiry ascertained its location. The grave is situated in old Paris, within the grounds of a convent that the ancestors of La Fayette founded, and where repose the remains of many of the French nobility."

OLD SOLDIERS' REUNION.

QUINCY, Ill., Oct. 18.—The eighth reunion of the Fiftieth Illinois infantry, Twenty-seventh Illinois infantry, Tenth Missouri infantry and Third Missouri cavalry takes place here today and tomorrow. Four hundred survivors are present. The Fifty-fifth session of the Militia Tract Medical association also began at Quincy today with about a hundred prominent physicians of three states present. Twenty-seven professional papers are on the program besides the routine business.

MISUNDERSTOOD.

A young man, who looked every inch the bridegroom, stood in the rotunda of the Great Northern the other day, says the Chicago Times, telling a friend of the manner of his proposal to his bride. She had known of his wild ways and fondly hoped to reform him through marriage. "After I had popped the question and she had accepted me," he said, "at once began to talk about the wedding. 'We will go away somewhere by ourselves, my dear,' I said; 'there will be no flourish, no cards, no ceremony—here she interrupted me, and, with a dignified sweep of her arm, declared: 'Mr.—, I shall certainly insist upon a ceremony.'"

HOW SODA WATER IS MADE.

What the Refreshing Summer Beverage Consists of.

With the hot and dusty days of summer comes delicious soda water to cool the heated and assuage the thirsty. When the sun pours its hot rays relentlessly down, and the air is dense and oppressive, the perspiring denizen finds infinite enjoyment and relief in the sparkling beverage which trickles and gurgles down his parched throat and diffuses a sweet, cool soothing over his sun-tortured anatomy.

Time and time again he swallows his glass of soda water and departs happy in its cooling effects, yet he never stops to consider its composition. Happening one day to meet a gentleman connected with one of the largest soda water manufacturing in the world, I was prompted to inquire the ingredients of its composition and the process of its making. With a kindness which is characteristic of him, he offered to satisfy my curiosity, and together we went into the factory where it receives creation. The manufacturing of soda water, unlike the self-made man, begins at the top instead of the bottom.

We were, therefore, compelled to ascend to the fourth and highest story, where, pointing to a huge tank standing in the center of the apartment, my guide said: "That is the filter. The water in its crude condition, as drawn from the general supply, runs into this tub, or vat, where the purifying process begins. From here it is filtered to the next tank below, and so on, until it reaches the ground floor. The filters being finer in each successive tank, when the water reaches its last receiver it is absolutely pure." And this was true. From a murkiness characterizing the water in the first tank, each one contained liquid clearer than the other, until in the last it looked like a solid mass of untainted crystal, or the fountain home of some sprang-up nymph!

"So much for the water. We will now have a look at the gas making," said my friend, "but it shall be but a partial one. The secret of our success lies in this, so, of course, I could not show or tell all. However, the gas is composed principally of magnesia, marble dust and oil of vitriol. Those large cylinders on your right, of which there are six, are what we term gas producers. On one end of an iron bar set in the cylinder you will observe a rapidly turning belted wheel. The wheel turns the bar, and it in turn revolves an agitator on the inside of the cylinder."

"Pardon, but what is an agitator?"

"You have seen a propeller on a steam launch? Well, the agitator is its counterpart. To continue, the chemicals are passed through each cylinder successively, the embryo gas receiving a higher degree of production as it passes from one to the other. When it reaches the last it is carbon gas. "It is in too crude a condition yet for use. It must be purified. In order to do this it is passed into three other cylinders, which you see standing upright on your left. In these the gas is purified by a pressure of one hundred and eighty pounds of water. This little pipe connected with the cylinders runs to the chemist's office. It tells on an indicator there the exact condition of the purifying water. As soon as the water becomes polluted by the impure matter abstracted from the gas, it is withdrawn and fresh water supplied. You can now perceive that we make the gas as pure as the water."

"Now, then, having the two ingredients, we will see how soda water itself is made. Here in this corner we have a double-acting pump, on one side of which is pumped the gas and the other the water. Both are sent to the top floor. "We climbed again to the highest story. Here were seven cylinders of exactly the same construction as the gas producer. "The gas and water are both pumped into these," said the soda man, "where by means of the agitator the water is well charged with gas. Thus through each are then passed the gas, giving greater vigor and strength to the liquid, until at last it is sparkling and effervescent. The soda water is made."

"The filling of tanks is another branch on which I must remain silent, but sufficient to say that by our process we fill our sixteen-gallon tanks in six minutes. That's pretty quick work. "So," said my painstaking friend, "after we drank a glass of soda in the office, 'you see soda water making is not such a dreadful complication. It requires, like everything, infinite and unceasing care.'—N. Y. Journal."

Early Mentions of Sugar.

The introduction of sugar into England is often dated so late as the fifteenth century; but it was really in use there in the thirteenth. Zucra is mentioned in the wardrobe accounts under date of 1245, and in the same records have been discovered many allusions to the sugar-consuming propensities of the English court in medieval times. In the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries there are entries of rose and violet sugar, of sugar in tablets and in gilded waters. When a Princess Mary went on a pilgrimage to Canterbury in 1317, the accounts record that she consoled herself for any mortifications she may have met on the road with five and one-half pounds of rose sugar of honey. Other ancient sweetmeats mentioned in these old rolls are preserved ginger, citronade, candy and "penydes." The last named is supposed to have been a confection made from the cones of the common vine tree.—Paris American Register.

INSECT ORGANIZATION.

Singular Distinctions Manifested Among Bees and Ants.

If deer and antelope do not make progress because their wants are already satisfied, on what theory can we account for the divisions and subdivisions of social functions in nests of crawling ants? Take, for example, the Amazon ants. Their homes are filled with slaves, and the master ant has lost not only the desire to work, but even the habit of feeding itself, so that it would die of hunger beside a pile of sugar if a gray ant were not there to put it into its mouth. "Among the Amazons the slaves undertake every labor: it is they who build, and who carry the young for their masters. They bring them food, clean them, and carry them from place to place, if there is need to emigrate. The masters, by losing interest in work, lose also their votes when it is a question of taking a resolution concerning the whole colony. The servants act on their own initiative and their own responsibility, and even in grave concerns, such as emigration, the idle masters do not seem to be consulted."

The divisions of insects into castes of fighters and workers seem in some instances due to sexual difference, as in the case of bees and hornets. But this does not explain the subsequent appropriation of the tasks of each in the common interests of the society. Who directs that one set of bees shall go abroad to fetch honey, another set wait to receive and clean them on the platform at the mouth of the hive, and a third body guard the entrance against robbers? Yet the working of this organized system can be watched wherever a beehive is inhabited in an English garden. The "gardening ants," which collect pieces of vegetable, and pile them up to rot in the dark interior of the nests until they are covered with a kind of fungus, on which the ants live, make a walled street, partly roofed, up the plant whose leaves they propose to cut, and divide the labor according to the size of the workers. The largest act as road-menders, and repair the "permanent way" when it becomes injured by traffic. The next in size cut the leaves and carry them, and the very small ants fuss around, and being unable to cut leaves, get in the way, and are sometimes carried themselves on a leaf in whose transportation they are anxious to assist.

The mechanical societies of these insects are wholly beyond explanation. The analogies of reason which hold good in the case of the higher animals must fall when applied to any theory of rational development in the ant and bee. Their instinct is born fully developed, whereas in the higher animals there is at least the rational attribute, that though they do not progress as a class, individuals do occasionally develop social tendencies which are analogies with our own.—London Spectator.

How to Wave the Hair.

The fashion of waved hair brings about a new method in the use of the old-fashioned curling iron. The hair must no longer be crimped, but must be laid over the head in large, natural looking waves. The entire secret lies in the fact that the tress of hair are applied to the tip of the tress of hair and the hair wound over it, but the tress of hair itself is wound around the iron, beginning as near the scalp as it is comfortable to hold the heated iron. The parting of the hair, which proved so unpopular when it was first introduced, has been accepted chiefly by those persons of the Madonna type of face, for they can bear this severe style of hair-dressing. The delicate fringe of curls, which so many maidens still continue to wear, is too becoming to the majority of American girls to be driven out of fashion.—N. Y. World.

The Footstool.

One of the prettiest bits of furniture on which women can exercise their taste and ingenuity is the low stool, very popular nowadays. The top is not upholstered but is handsomely finished in wood, and on it is laid a loose cushion. This can be made of any desired color or material; sometimes the two sides are of different colors, so that a welcome change may be made from one to the other. Or there may be several cushions which can serve now on the sofa, now on the stool. Footstools are also in favor again, made either of leather, linen or heavy cotton material. They can be either plain or gathered, of one color or several. A very pretty flat, round shape has the material smooth on the under side and gathered into a rosette on the upper.—Chicago Journal.

THE INTREPID FISHERS. They Fished Just for the Real Sport of Angling. The French people are extremely fond of angling, though their streams are comparatively destitute of fish, and their lakes and ponds are few. Many Frenchmen, nervous and excitable on other occasions, are content to sit by a stream with a pole and wait all day for a bite.

THE INTREPID FISHERS. In a certain country town not far from Paris there exists an ancient fishing club, named the Intrepid Fishers of Marpignon. A pretty stream flows through Marpignon, but for many, many years not one fish had been seen in this stream. So the intrepid fishers had nothing to do.

THE INTREPID FISHERS. The excitement may be imagined, therefore, when the word ran through Marpignon that a large barbel—a very tough and gamey fish—had been seen in the stream. The intrepid fishers turned out, and having ascertained that there was indeed a barbel in the stream, immediately stopped the water some little distance above and below him with gratings, so that he could not get away.

THE INTREPID FISHERS. They ranged themselves joyfully along the stream with hook and line, and all went to fishing for the one fish. By and by one intrepid fisher caught him, and immediately threw him back into the water. In the course of time another caught him and did the same.

THE INTREPID FISHERS. For three days the intrepid fishers kept at work, catching this one barbel; and at the end of that time the fish died of exhaustion and loss of blood. Then the intrepid fishers counted up the notches that they had made on their fish-poles, and the man who had caught the barbel the most times was declared the champion fisherman of Marpignon, and received great honors.—Youth's Companion.

THE INTREPID FISHERS. "Do you give her here?" asked a wild-looking man who rushed into a dentist's office. "We do," replied the dentist. "Does it put a fellow to sleep?" "It does." "Sound asleep, so you can't wake him up?" "Yes." "You could break his jaw or gouge out his eye and he wouldn't feel it?" "He would know nothing of it."

THE INTREPID FISHERS. "How long does it make him stay asleep?" "The physical insensibility produced by inhaling the gas lasts a minute or probably a little less." "I guess that's long enough. Got it all ready for a fellow to take?" "Yes. Take a seat in this chair and show me your tooth."

THE INTREPID FISHERS. "Tooth nothing?" said the excited caller, beginning rapidly to remove his coat and vest. "I want you to pull a porous plaster off my back."—Chicago Tribune.

THE INTREPID FISHERS. She had met him for the first time that evening at a function, and half an hour or so later, when some of the party rather doubted a story he had told, appealed to her. "You don't think I'd tell a lie, do you?" he asked in a somewhat tender strain. "Well," she replied cautiously, "I don't know. What business are you in?"—Detroit Free Press.

SPOKE TO CROWDED HOUSE,

Ishpeming Democrats Turn Out in Great Numbers to Attend the Rally.

HOISTING RESUMED AT THE CLEVELAND LAKE SHAFT.

"Our Boys" Hop a Grand Success—Republican Managers Securing a Number of Good Speakers.

EXPUNDED PARTY PRINCIPLE.

The opera house was packed to the doors last evening to hear Democratic doctrines expounded by Hon. Spencer O. Fisher, candidate for governor, Rush Culver, candidate for congress, and C. R. Whitman of Ypsilanti. Mr. Fisher disclaims being an orator and gave a straight business talk in which he made a number of good points. Mr. Culver devoted himself mainly to the land question. Mr. Whitman is one of the most polished and eloquent speakers ever heard here and greatly pleased his audience. Several local Democrats also spoke briefly. Mr. C. F. Sandstrom of Michigamme, deputy collector closed the meeting with a speech that was well received and evoked frequent bursts of applause. He made many telling points for the party to which he belongs and scored an unquestioned success as a campaign orator. All the speakers were warmly received and frequently applauded and all made a most favorable impression. Quite a contingent came up from Marquette by special train and returned after the meeting. The meeting was one of the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in Ishpeming.

Resumed Hoisting.

Hoisting ore from the mine was resumed at the Cleveland Lake shaft on Wednesday night, after a suspension in that direction of about three weeks. No dirt will be hoisted on the day shift for the present as there is a certain amount of underground filling which will be done during the day. The dirt used in the filling is lowered from the surface, consequently there is no possible chance of using the skips for hoisting to any advantage while this work is being done. About three hundred tons in weight will be hoisted for the time being.

The improvements under way about the surface are being pushed forward with all possible rapidity. The old boilers, five in all, have been transferred and connected so that the hoisting and other machinery can be operated as formerly. The foundations for the new boilers are not yet in shape to receive them, but no time is being lost in getting them ready as the company realizes that in a few weeks more the work cannot be done as rapidly as now owing to the more severe weather setting in.

A retaining wall, about one hundred and fifty feet in length by about twenty feet high is being built north of the engine house. This was deemed necessary to assist in holding the railroad tracks, which are laid on filled ground, in place. Work on the wall has been fairly steady and it is expected, with fair weather and the continuous employment of the present force of masons it will be completed in about two weeks. Owing to the condition of the ground underlying the tracks this wall will be a great improvement.

They Liked the Music.

The second of the series of hops given Tuesday night by "Our Boys" Dancing club at the Knights of Pythias hall was attended by the usual large crowd, there being over one hundred couples in attendance. The members of the club as well as all others present were delighted with the music, which was furnished by the Twin City orchestra. During intermission a descriptive selection, "The American Derby," was played. The trap drummer introduced quite a number of traps not previously seen here. His imitations of sand jigs, clogs, locomotives in operation, trotting horses and many other specialties were unusually good and were greatly enjoyed. The selection was heartily received and the orchestra was requested to play a second piece, when they rendered "Hap-hazard," also in a very pleasing manner. The greater part of the dance music played by the orchestra was also entirely new. In the polkas, gallops and jigs the drummer played some very nice solos on the xylophone. Altogether the dance was one of the most pleasant ever given by this popular club. Their next hop will be given on Thursday evening, Nov. 8.

The Republican Rallyes.

The local managers of the Republican campaign have not yet quite completed their list of speakers to be heard from prior to election day. However, dates have been set for J. C. Burrows, who will be here on Wednesday evening, the 24th inst., T. P. Keaton, known as the "tramp printer," who will be heard from on the 29th. Professor C. R. Chinblom, president of a Swedish college in Chicago, is in the city and will deliver an address on the evening of Nov. 2. Mr. Chinblom is said to be a very fair talker. He speaks fluently in both the English and Swedish languages and will quite likely talk in English as well as Swedish. He has been in the city the past few days and is meeting a great many of his countrymen. A Republican speaker will also be here on the evening of Nov. 5th, the night before election. The principal orator for that night has not yet been announced.

Injuries Proved Fatal.

Peter Peterson, residing at 210 North Second street, who had his foot badly crushed at the Cleveland Lake shaft while discharging his duties of pocket tender about two weeks ago, died from the effects of his injuries on Tuesday night at the Ishpeming hospital, he having been brought there from his home last Saturday. Ill luck had followed poor Peterson for some time. It was only about two months ago that his wife died of typhoid fever, leaving him with four helpless children to care for. When his wife died one of his daughters was very old with the fever, but she has since recovered and is now able to be about. He was very poor who no doubt caused him more or less inconvenience in providing for his little ones.

The deceased was about forty years of age and has resided in this city several years. The funeral will be held this afternoon from the Swedish Methodist church.

A Good Race Anticipated. Several of the horsemen of the county have just about completed arrangements for a trotting race to take place at Union Park next Wednesday afternoon. It is proposed that the owners of five of the best horses in the county put up $25 each, the winner to take the entire amount. A special purse for a gentlemen's driving race on the same afternoon is also talked of and will quite likely be arranged. Two or three of the enthusiastic horsemen of this city went to Marquette to complete arrangements for the proposed races with the owners of some of the fast flyers of that city. If these races are held, it looks now as though they will be, they will be the last of the season.

A Pleasant Social. A large number of the members of the Calvary Baptist church held a social at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Thompson on South Pine street last evening. A musical and literary program was rendered and games of various kinds were played. The church choir assisted in the musical selections and all present spent a very happy evening indeed.

Card of Thanks. We desire to express our sincere thanks to our kind friends and neighbors and others who extended us aid and sympathy during our recent bereavement. The kindness of those who assisted in conveying the remains of our son and brother from the woods where the Almighty claimed him, as well as those who otherwise lessened our sorrow by the expression of their sympathy, will ever remain fresh in our memories.

MRS. BANKSON AND FAMILY. ISHPERING IN BRIEF. T. J. Healy returned from Chicago Wednesday.

Members of the fire department should not forget the special meeting to be held tomorrow evening.

Manville Jenks and Captain Thomas Walters went up to the Newett-Walters camp near Republic to spend a short time, yesterday.

Dan Gourdran came down from Duluth yesterday morning and will spend a few days here visiting his brother, Dr. A. E. Gourdran.

The members of the local branch of the Liquor Dealers' association are requested to attend the special meeting called for this afternoon, as business of more than ordinary importance will be presented.

Fred Hamill has a number of fine horses suitable for logging, still on hand. He is offering unusually low prices on his stock this trip and during the past few days has disposed of several draught horses.

The little son of William John Moyle of the National location, who came to his death by a fall of ground from a sandbank, was buried yesterday afternoon. The interment took place in the Ishpeming cemetery.

C. W. Kennedy, who traveled through this section a number of years in the interest of Dessau, the New York diamond merchant, but has not visited the upper peninsula in the past year or more came to town yesterday.

A new sidewalk, with a substantial stone foundation, was laid in front of No. 1 fire engine house yesterday. The floor near where the engine and large hose cart stands has been improved and other necessary repairs have recently been made about the place.

WHAT A FLIRT IS.

A Word Which Has a Queer English Derivation.

I remember a long time ago hearing a singular definition of a term very well understood by most of us, given by an old Scotchman, who spoke with a strong accent. "What's a flirt?" said he. "A man who proposes and is refused." How he came to be in such a state of benighted ignorance is more than I can say, but so it was, and I am reminded of the story by seeing in a book that the verb "to flirt" means "to move to and fro with a pert motion, as, to flirt a fan." The fan being used for coquetting, those who coquetted were called "fan flirts." Lady Frances Shelley introduced the word.

While on this subject, says a writer in the New York Journal, I should like to mention, as the result of observation, that flirts are born, not made, and that unless the faculty comes by nature, it is not very much use to try and acquire it, because not only does the effort recall sometimes the attempted gambols of a cow, which only draw attention to the natural heaviness and solemnity of the animal, but it is as likely as not that in putting on a manner and "ways" that are not consonant with one's temperament, one may make hideous mistakes, just as when a very shy person tries to be cool and assured in bearing it happens often that the coolness seems like rudeness, and the assurance like insolence. I don't believe we can really alter our natural selves even externally, any more than we can change our physical appearance much without its being found out. It is the "ass in the lion's skin," after all.

Very Palatable. The Mexicans have a way of making a kind of hot bread, called tortillas, that is quite appetizing to a hungry man. The cooking utensils used in the making of it are simple in the extreme, consisting merely of a smooth, flat stone about two feet long and a thin plate of iron. On the stone is placed a mass of corn that has been thoroughly soaked in alkali. This is mashed until it becomes a smooth paste. It is then taken up in small handfuls, patted into thin cakes and seasoned with cayenne pepper, after which each cake is wrapped in a leaf of corn and placed on the hot iron plate to bake over a hot fire.

The Rice-Bird Lookout. A curious fact, showing the habit of the rice-birds, was brought to the attention of a Morning News reporter recently. A hunter had just made a sale of a bunch of several dozen to a restaurateur man. The latter was examining his purchase. "Here's a watchman," he said, holding up a skinny little fellow, distinguished by his lack of fat from his fellows. "Yes," assented the hunter, "I had eight watchmen on one bunch to-day." In response to the inquiry as to what was meant by a watchman, as regards rice-birds, it was explained that watchmen are birds who perch upon bushes and keep watch while their companions feed. As a result watchmen are always poor and skinny, while their companions are rolling in fat. Judging by their appearance, the little sentinels must be faithful to their trusts. Nevertheless they frequently meet the fate of their fellows. Perhaps they fall asleep on their posts from hunger and fatigue. More likely they are killed on the wing while the droves are flying past the hunter.

LESSONS FOR LITTLE ONES.
Negaunee Supports the Only Complete Kindergarten Department in Marquette County.
SPLENDID TRAINING FOR THE
YOUNG CHILDREN.

Unlucky Hunters Declare Their Intention of Waiting for Deer if It Takes All Winter.

IS AN IMPORTANT FACTOR.
Negaunee is the only city or town in Marquette county which can boast of a complete kindergarten department in its schools. The importance of kinderggarten work in the schools becomes more apparent every day, as in it the younger children are taught discipline and other qualifications necessary to make good pupils. The first year of their school life is spent in this department, which is termed by many of the little tots, "the play room".

One of the new rooms recently fitted up in the High school building is occupied by the kindergarten pupils. It has been provided with the regular tables and chairs, especially built for the exercises and games taught in such departments. After performing certain work at the tables the little ones are given seats around a circle painted in the centre of the floor where they are taught games of various kinds by the teacher. After devoting certain of their time to the various exercises introduced in the ring they are again seated at the tables and another half hour or so is devoted to the training of manners, etc., while the drawing of pictures and other pleasing pastimes are allowed. In this way the children have a much happier time than would be possible were they to remain at home and play about all day. At the same time they are off the street and out of danger of all kinds and are unconsciously receiving a training that is most valuable to them during their further advancement in school work.

There are eighty pupils, all about five years of age, attending the kindergarten department. Miss Bernice Jilson, is in charge of the room and is assisted by Miss Margaret Murphy. Half day sessions are held, owing to the large number attending. After the pupils leave the kindergarten department they are taken into the primaries where they are instructed on the charts and the first books are introduced. When they are taken into the primary departments they know what they are expected to do and also know just how to behave themselves, having been taught these lessons in the "play room" where they had spent their previous year.

At the institute held last week at Ishpeming President Harvey of the Milwaukee Normal school recently defined the great importance of a kinderggarten department in every school. He talked at considerable length on the work accomplished there and fully showed its necessity and importance.
Mr. Harvey has spent the greater part of his life in school work and during his discourse offered many suggestions relative to the kindergarten and primary departments of the schools, which no doubt will be considered by the parents, teachers and educators generally who were fortunate enough to have been present and heard his excellent discourse. In the various schools of the county kindergarten departments is taken up for an hour each day in the primary departments. In the opinion of those who are best qualified to know that is not enough time to devote to it. In view of the interest manifested in this work by the educators generally and considering the benefits to be derived by the establishment of complete departments for its adoption, it is quite possible that every school of importance in the county will adopt kindergarten departments next year.

Will Wait for Deer.
A. Maitland and C. L. Sporely, who have been down at Helena switch waiting for an opportunity to get a glimpse or a shot at a deer sent up yesterday for a new supply of provisions. Agent Campbell of the Chicago & Northwestern road received the order which was filled promptly and forwarded to the presumably famished hunters. They also sent word that they did not intend to return home until they shot a deer.
That may result on their remaining in the woods a week longer as there are quite a number of hunters who have been out longer than they have and there are others who have been out and returned, and did not even have the pleasure of finding the footprints of a deer. However, it is hoped, for the bold hunters sake, that they will return with venison enough to give all their friends a "chank".

A Good Performance.
Bersie's company of comedians which will present the musical comedy,
"The're After Me" at McDonald's opera house next Wednesday evening, the 23rd inst, give a very pleasing performance. Some of the railroad boys who saw the show at Escanaba about a week ago commend it very highly. The price of tickets will be twenty-five, thirty-five and fifty cents, the latter price being for reserved seats which are on sale at Moll's drug store.

Winding Up the Work.
Chaussie Bros., the local contractors who have been building the fine new block for Timothy Hughes at Ishpeming during the past six weeks, are making good progress with the work. The roof was finished yesterday and the cornice have all been put in place on the front. Louis Kellan of this city, who has the contract of the plastering will finish putting on the first coat today. The block will be ready for occupancy Nov. 10.

LOCAL LAOONICS.
Mrs. A. F. Barnell of Munising, spent yesterday in the city.
W. C. Warfield of Houghton, was a Negaunee visitor yesterday.
Manager Baker of the telephone system was up from Marquette yesterday.
Several of the local Democrats attended the rally at Ishpeming last evening.

Governor John T. Rich will deliver a political speech in this city one week from tomorrow night.

Hans P. Johnson and Frank Anderson went down to Swanzy on Wednesday to remain a few days hunting deer.

S. Kaufman of Marquette, took supper at the Breitung House on Wednesday.

A postponed stockholders' meeting of the Escanaba River, Land & Iron company will be held in the Kirkwood block tomorrow afternoon.

Politics were never warmer than at present in Negaunee. Every man in the city is manifesting an interest to a certain extent in the approaching election.

H. R. Pattengill, state superintendent of public instruction visited the schools here on Wednesday and gave the pupils and teachers of the High school a talk. His remarks were highly appreciated by all present. Mr. Pattengill left on the evening train for the lower peninsula.

UNCLE SAM'S WARDS.
The Problem Presented by the Indians of the United States.
The recent passage of the Indian appropriation bill by the house of representatives was preceded by a long and exhaustive debate, in which the present Indian service was thoroughly reviewed, and the great change noted in the manner of treating the Indians which has taken place since the year 1869.

In that year President Grant appointed the first Indian commission—a body of public spirited citizens who, in an effort to bring peace where there had been little but war, and to put the Indians on the road to civilization, served the country without pay and really accomplished a great and permanent work.

The most noteworthy thing done by the house, as the result of this debate, was the practical abolition of this Indian commission, which, with changes in membership, has been in continuous service since 1869. This abolition was effected by the stopping of the appropriation for the commission's expenses.

This was done on the ground that the occasion for the commission's services no longer exists; though a small but earnest minority of the representatives contended that it is needed as much as ever to supervise purchases for the Indians, oversee the agencies, prevent frauds and promote civilization among the red men.

In the last twenty-five years the situation of the Indians has changed almost completely. The problem which they present is no longer a military one, but an educational and industrial
one. A representative of South Dakota declared in the debate to which we have just referred that the Sioux Indians, the most warlike of tribes, are no longer warlike; and he opposed the appointment of army officers as the government's agents at Indian reservations on the ground that, as he expressed it, they too often "have blood in their eye," and are inclined to be overbearing and oppressive.

Of the two hundred and fifty thousand Indians in the country, only about thirty-five thousand are supported on reservations by the government. There are almost a hundred thousand more on reservations who are self-supporting, and nearly sixty thousand more of the reservations who are not only self-supporting, but are taxed, and most of them are voters. All these are in addition to the five civilized "nations" in the Indian territory.

In the last ten years a great many Indians have been settled upon allotments, or lands held in severalty, the tribal condition being to that extent broken up. These Indians are expected to become self-supporting, and some of them do become so; but many of them, having no knowledge of agriculture and no individual responsibility, become more helpless than ever.

A special appropriation has to be made each year to take care of them, and efforts are steadily made to teach them to make use of their opportunities, and to educate them and their children.

The education of the Indian children really presents the most serious problem of the Indian situation. At the latest date about twenty-eight thousand children were enrolled in the Indian schools, but only sixteen thousand were in actual attendance. The enrollment is increasing at the rate of almost a thousand a year.

The education of an Indian child costs about ninety dollars a year.
There is as yet quite insufficient school provision for some of the tribes.

Many of the Indians to whom individual allotments of lands have been made are denied access for their children either to the Indian schools or to the schools of the whites.

GERMAN PAWNSHOPS.
Institutions That Are Managed by Public Authorities.
There is a strange variety of pawnshops in Germany. We find institutions under public control working side by side with private establishments. The latter lend lower amounts, but at a higher rate of interest, than the royal, state, ducal, county, and municipal pawnshops. In no case, however, can it be more than twenty-four per cent. There are about one hundred publicly-managed pawnshops in Germany. In Berlin, at the Koniglichen Leihamt, and at the municipal pawnshops at Breslau, Munich, Hamburg, Dantzig, Strasburg and many other large towns, the interest is twelve per cent. The Berlin royal pawnshop pays ten per cent. on its capital, and gives the surplus every year to charitable purposes.

At Dresden the interest is nine per cent., at Leipzig eight per cent., and in some towns less. The period for the loans ranges from three to sixteen months. The interest is frequently on a graduated scale, being highest on small pawns. Almost all the municipal pawnshops are connected with the savings banks, and are self-supporting. In most towns they advance loans on securities at four or five per cent. There is great elasticity and diversity about the German system of pawnshops, but on the whole the German Liebau of Pfandhaus does not compare favorably with the French mont de pieté.

In Austria the system is somewhat similar to that in Germany. There are royal pawnshops in Vienna and Prague, which charge ten per cent. interest.
There are provincial pawnshops, and in many towns municipal pawnshops.
If the authorities do not establish pawnshops, or if they do not supply the needs of the population, private enterprise is allowed to step in, but is kept very closely under control. The pawnbrokers have to give guarantees, and their shops are under inspection.

Contemporary Review.
THE "BRAGANZA" DIAMOND.
The Biggest Diamond in the World and Its Value.
The biggest alleged diamond in the world is the "Braganza." It is the size of a goose egg, weighing eleven ounces, and is still uncut, though valued at $25,000,000. Three outlawed criminals found it in a rivulet in Brazil. They surrendered it and received pardons in return. The stone is now in the treasury of Portugal. Experts suspect that it is only a white topaz and it is kept hidden in order that Portugal may not lose the financial credit attaching to the possession of a gem of such enormous price. The German Aulic Councilor Beireis, of Helmsstadt, had a white topaz as big as an ostrich egg, which he always claimed, and many believed to be a diamond. After his death, in 1869, it could not be found. It was thought that he destroyed it rather than that his reputation should suffer by the discovery of its true nature.

It seems strange to take a couple of ounces of charcoal in one's hand and to consider that one is handling the pure material of the diamond. If you could transform it into crystalline form you could sell those few pinches of stuff for one million dollars perhaps.
No wonder that chemists are eager to discover the secret of effecting this change. To assert that they will never learn how to make crystals of carbon would be absurd. By means of the voltaic battery real diamonds of almost microscopic size have been deposited upon threads of platinum. But even if a successful process should be discovered, it might be that the cost of making a diamond by it would be bigger than the price of a stone of equal size and purity from the mines. One recalls the experiment of Prof. Sage, who turned out gold pieces in his laboratory from gold extracted from the ashes of certain burned vegetable substances.
The result was beautiful, scientifically speaking, but the expense of making in this way one five dollar piece was about twenty-five dollars.

aparilla. It prevents sickness by making

IT MAY DO AS MUCH FOR YOU.
Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so called kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to cure of all Kidney and Liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50c. for large bottle.

A RABBIT MINER.
The Little Animal Led an Indian to a Fortune in Silver.

The famous silver mines of Potosi, in South America, were discovered by an Indian who was in pursuit of an antelope. He was climbing the steep slope of a hill and seized a bush to help himself up. The plant gave way and he started to fall backward, but by a desperate effort saved himself, and, falling forward, cut his nose against a projecting ledge of stone, says the New York Journal.

Stopping to stanch the flow of blood, he chanced to look at the stone which had done the damage, when, to his astonishment, he perceived it was almost pure silver.

This story may be apocryphal, but a tale which comes from Mexico is tolerably well authenticated. According to this narrative, one of the richest mines in that land of mineral wealth was haunted by a rabbit. An Indian was hunting rabbits and his dog chased one to a hole in a hillside.
The Indian hesitated for a moment whether to dig out the rabbit he had seen enter or go in pursuit of another.
Determining finally that one rabbit in a hole was worth more than half a dozen on a rocky hillside, he got a spade and went to work.

Before he had turned over half a dozen spadefuls of earth he had forgotten all about the rabbit, for he made the thrilling discovery that he was handling almost solid silver. The man dropped his spade and ran to his employer with the intelligence, the latter returning with him to the spot to see for himself and verify the discovery. The rabbit escaped; at least it is supposed it did, for it enters no more into the story, but its memory is preserved in the name of the mine, which, being translated into English, signifies the "Rabbit's Den."

It would have been well for the Indian if he had escaped when the rabbit did, for, according to the story, the poor fellow was murdered by the Spaniard, who desired to keep the secret of the mine and was afraid that the Indian might reveal it and the government might step in and claim either the whole or a large part of the proceeds.

The Horse's Ears.
When the horse sleeps it is said that one ear is directed forward, why is not known. A writer in the English Mechanic thinks this is to guard against danger, being a survival of their originally wild habits. He says: Watch a horse asleep through the window of his stable and make a faint noise to the front. That ear will be all attention, and probably the other will fly round sharply to assist. Now let him go to sleep again, and make the same noise to the left. The forward ear still will keep his guard, with possibly a lightning flick round, only to resume its former position.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.

McMillan Here in the Morning and Fisher in the Afternoon.

MEN OF BOTH PARTIES SEE PROMINENT LEADERS.

Swedish Lutheran Fair Had More Visitors Than Hall Could Accommodate—Other News.

LEADERS GATHER THEIR FORCES.

"I am more than pleased at my reception throughout the upper peninsula," said Hon. Spencer O. Fisher to a Mining Journal reporter yesterday. "Our meetings have been very largely attended and the people seemed to take great interest in what we have had to say. If these indications count for anything the Democratic ticket should poll a considerably increased vote in this peninsula this year. Of course I am no stranger here in one sense, but heretofore my journeyings in this section have been merely those of a private citizen on business. Only since I became a candidate for office have I had the opportunity to meet large numbers of your people and to fully experience that hospitality of the upper peninsula of which we have all heard but which I had never fully known until now. As I said before, my experience everywhere has been most pleasant, and kindly greetings have come from men of all shades of political opinion besides my own. I have been most hospitably received everywhere and no matter what the result I shall always retain most agreeable impressions of the upper peninsula and its people."

Mr. Fisher, Mr. C. R. Whitman of Ann Arbor and Fred S. Isham of the Detroit Free Press reached the city yesterday afternoon, and were met by a number of leading Democrats. Hon. Peter White took the visitors out for a drive around Presque Isle and the natural beauties of Marquette's great port were much admired by all. On the return a short stop was made to inspect the public library and a number of local Democrats took advantage of the opportunity to pay their respects to Mr. Fisher. The latter then walked about the streets for a time and after supper at the Hotel Marquette the party took the special train to Ishpeiming, where a big Democratic rally was held last night. The party is expected back here this morning and will go on to Newberry in the afternoon, where Messrs. Fisher and Whitman will speak this evening. Two carloads of Democrats from this city accompanied the visitors to Ishpeiming last evening and returned after the meeting there. Mr. Fisher certainly made a most favorable impression on all who met him here.

SENATOR McMILLAN'S VISIT.

Senator McMillan and party came down from Ishpeiming yesterday morning in the senator's private car. They were met by several leading Republicans. The senator walked over to J. M. Wilkinson's banking house, where a large number of gentlemen called upon him, but nothing in the nature of a public reception was held. Of course it was well understood that Senator McMillan's visit was for the purpose of conference with local Republican leaders and he seemed well satisfied with the results of his visit. The senator was not inclined to talk much for publication beyond a general assurance that this was a Republican year and that he had no doubt whatever of the triumph of the party in this state. The McMillan party went east on the afternoon train.

The Fair a Success.

Although last night was rainy and disagreeable outside a large crowd thronged to the store room on the corner of Bluff and Third streets where the Swedish Lutheran fair under the auspices of Messiah church is being held. The building was not only crowded but the overflow extended to the walk in front. The ladies of the congregation have been busy for several days past putting the place in order, trimming the room with evergreens and flowers and placing the booths in attractive shape. These latter are arranged along the sides of the room and contain so many attractive and dainty articles that one finds himself purchasing almost before he is aware of it. In one corner at the rear a young lady conducts a "fish pond" where every angler is sure of a bite for ten cents and the catch at the end of the line often provokes peals of laughter. Tables were spread at one end of the room and patrons supplied with tea, coffee, cake and other light refreshments. The Marquette Ideal orchestra was also present and rendered many choice selections in its usual first class style. The pretty girls selling chances on different articles, the hum of conversation, the merry laughter and music all lend enchantment and make it a charming place to spend the evening. The only thing to be regretted is that the room is not a larger one, as the fair has proven so successful that the place was packed to its utmost capacity throughout the entire evening. The fair will be open this afternoon and evening as well as tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night. This evening the Bethany orchestra of Ishpeiming will be present and furnish the music for the occasion.

For St. Paul's Church.

It has been decided that the performance of "Pinafore" at the Marquette Opera House Monday night is to be partly for the benefit of St. Paul's Episcopal church of this city and St. James' church of Sault Ste. Marie. When the piece was played at the latter place it was under the auspices of St. James' church, which also furnished a fair share of the persons who took part in its production and who are to appear in its rendition in Marquette. The fact that it is under the auspices of St. Paul's church of this city should bring out a large additional patronage to the performance, aside from its intrinsic excellence, which has been spoken of so highly.

Reserved seats are on sale at Bigelow's and are going off rapidly. Considerable interest is also being manifested at Ishpeiming and Negaunee and it is quite probable that the South Shore road will run a special theatre train for the occasion.

Accident to Yard Engine.

One of the South Shore switch engines is laid up for repairs on account of an accident that happened to it yesterday in the yards near the Third street crossing. The engine was moving along at a lively gait when the shaft of the forward drive wheel connecting with the piston rod broke. The engine ran for some distance further before it could be stopped and at each revolution of the drive wheels great furrows were plowed in the ground. The loosened rod tore off the guard to one of the wheels and did some other damage to that side of the locomotive. Before the engine could be stopped the rod on the other side of the engine broke and also did some considerable damage. The engine was hauled up to the shops where it is now being repaired. The accident was fortunately of such a character that none of the trainmen was injured by it.

Home-Seekers' Excursion.

The South Shore road announces elsewhere in this issue a one-fare rate from all its principal stations to a long series of points in lower Michigan for the benefit of persons desiring to go down into that country to buy farms. Tickets will be on sale Nov. 14 only and will be good to return for twenty days after that date. They also carry unlimited stop-over privileges in the territory to be visited. Quite a number of the thrifty miners of this peninsula have lately taken the idea that it is a good thing to get back to the soil and have gone into the agricultural regions of lower Michigan to purchase farms. Many of those whose thoughts are turned this way will doubtless avail themselves of the low rates offered by the South Shore road and its connections on this occasion.

Presque Isle Day.

The street railway company announces another "Presque Isle day" for Saturday of this week and will make the fare out to the park for that day five cents. The experiment of a special day with half fare was tried last Saturday and was productive of so much increase of traffic that the company has determined to repeat it. The fishing is good out at Presque Isle and the woods are in full autumn glory. Gatherers of autumn leaves should remember, however, that the laws forbid breaking or injuring of trees on Presque Isle and that the penalties are heavy.

Through to Japan.

The Crescent line steamer Fisk carried up on her last trip seven carloads Vacuum oil en route to Japan. The manufacturers, who are located in Cleveland, sent along suitable banners to be placed on each car before it rolls out of Duluth on its trip across the continent. American manufacturers are certainly reaching out when they begin to ship lubricating oils to Japan in competition with those of Europe. It is understood that this particular consignment is largely for the use of the Japanese navy.
