NOT ON OFFICIAL BALLOT.

Anti-Tammany County Ticket Not Allowed on Official Ballot in New York.

FAULKNER FAILS TO BRING THE FACTIONS TOGETHER.

Senator Hill Speaks at Cooper Union and Vice President Stevenson Address Brooklyn Audience.

ON GROUND OF INFORMALITY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The anti-Tammany Democratic county ticket has been refused a place on the official ballot on the ground of informality. Senator Faulkner, chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, returned to Washington today. He admitted, prior to his departure, that his mission hither had been a failure so far as the Democratic congressional situation in the city districts was concerned. He had been unable to bring the factions to an agreement. In Brooklyn Senator Faulkner says the outlook is better.

A vast crowd assembled at Cooper Union tonight to hear Senator David B. Hill speak. The gathering assembled under the auspices of the combined labor organizations of the city. Hill's gubernatorial administration was the subject of the laboring men's demonstration and resolutions were adopted endorsing his political career in New York state and pledging to him their support of the gathering at the coming election.

Although Vice President Stevenson early this morning decided that he was too tired to speak at Cooper Union half an hour later he decided he would speak at Brooklyn with Amos J. Cummings. About 1,000 people greeted the vice president at Tivoli hall. He said he brought good news to Brooklyn. Everything throughout the country is assuming a brighter prospect and business has increased. He then took up the tariff question and followed with a discussion of the silver law. "All eyes are now turned toward the Empire State," he said in conclusion, "and in this hour of peril let the lines be closed and all stand for that matchless leader, David B. Hill, who at all times and under all circumstances has said: 'I am a Democrat.'"

WILSON WELL RECEIVED.
CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 25.—This city tonight was the scene of the biggest demonstration in the history of Harrison county. When the train bearing the Wilson party pulled into the depot two thousand people surrounded the cars. There was a uniformed marching club from Fairport, a large number of people from the surrounding country and enough others to make up a parade column half a mile long. At the fair grounds five thousand people were assembled. Assistant Secretary McAdoo was most enthusiastically received and made a taking speech. He was followed by Wilson, whose reception was flattering.

CRISP IN TENNESSEE.
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 25.—An immense audience greeted Speaker Crisp tonight. A torch light procession of Democratic clubs escorted Crisp to the Vendome, which was packed to overflowing and hundreds were turned away. Crisp spoke two hours to an intensely interested audience. He reviewed the acts of the Democratic congress, spoke of the disturbed condition of the country financially and industrially, referred to the panic and traced it back to its source.

MAC VEAGH BANQUETTED.
ROCKFORD, Ill., Oct. 25.—Franklin MacVeagh paid Rockford a visit today. MacVeagh was given a banquet at the Nelson Hotel. Despite the bad weather the opera house was filled with a representative audience tonight and MacVeagh spoke for an hour on the issues of the day.

ONAHIA, Oct. 25.—Hon. J. C. Dahlgren, Democratic candidate for state auditor, today withdrew in favor of the Populist nominee, John W. Wilson.

WILLING TO LEND AID.

Foreign Governments Will Assist in Stopping Padrone System.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Superintendent Herman Stump of the immigration bureau returned to Washington today from a six weeks' tour of European cities. While Colonel Stump's tour was wholly unofficial the subject of immigration was investigated with more or less care in all the cities he visited. He found the governments willing and indeed very anxious to co-operate with the United States in wiping out the admittedly pernicious padrone system. Colonel Stump is of the opinion that a far better class of emigrants is now coming to this country than at any time in the past. He believed it to be a fact that none of the European governments are now giving any aid to intending immigrants and if assistance is being furnished at all it is by the friends and relatives of the immigrants themselves.

CAN VOTE EARLY AND OFTEN.

United States Has No Authority to Punish Repeaters.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 25.—According to a decision by Assistant United States Attorney Graffen rendered this afternoon vote repeating at the November election can go on uninterrupted without the slightest danger of prosecution of the offenders by United States authority. The opinion was given on the application of Chairman Olson of the Republican county general committee of Jackson county for warrants for the arrest of certain persons who had been detected registering twice or three times under assumed names. After careful investigation and research in the statutes bearing on elections Draffen said: "I have been unable to find anything in the statutes authorizing the United States to punish persons for fraudulent registrations except section 5518 of the revised statutes known as the crimes act. I find this section has been repealed." Draffen added: "Under the circumstances I can do nothing except to refer Mr. Olson to the prosecuting attorney of the county."

MARRIAGE WAS POSTPONED.

Princess Alix Not Yet Married to the Czarowitz.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—A dispatch to The Daily News from St. Petersburg says the marriage of Princess Alix has not occurred yet. Whether the delay is due to her protests against declaring the evangelical church accused as the Greek church dignitaries insist she shall do or to the condition of the czar is not known. All hope of sustaining his majesty's life has been abandoned and the worst may happen at any moment through heart failure. The czar awaits death with perfect composure. In order to counteract the disposition of those about him he ordered a band at the palace to play during lunch time. The czarina though suffering severely never quits her husband's side. The czar, it is said, has made all arrangements with a view to his approaching death.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 25.—A bulletin issued from Livadia at 8 o'clock this evening says: "Neither somnolence or spasmodic symptoms were observed today. His majesty's appetite is satisfactory. Oedema did not increase as usual."

Rooms are being hastily prepared at the winter palace for the reception of the czarowitz.

The police have seized a number of nihilist proclamations which have been secretly circulated and have arrested a number of young men on the charge of distributing them in various quarters of the city.

GATHERING IN NEW YORK.

Recognized Republican Leaders Speak Before Large Audiences.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—At a Republican rally at the Windsor theatre tonight Chauncey M. Depew, who was the principal speaker, said he had made a great number of speeches and almost everywhere, but never before on the Bowery. He said of Hill that he was one of the best men in the Democratic party and always displayed the most ability when on the wrong side. Depew discussed the attainments of Republicanism, said he was himself a workingman, and dipped into other public topics on the same lines he has before pursued in public speeches.

BUFFALO, Oct. 25.—Governor McKinley found a rather extensive program prepared for him on his arrival here. Three meetings were arranged for and at each a large audience was assembled. All three of the assembled crowds were attentive, appreciative and demonstrative. In the morning the governor starts out to make a few scheduled speeches.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Ex-President Harrison will address a special Republican mass meeting in Music Hall Wednesday night.

CRANK CALLS ON CLEVELAND.

Wants the President's Assistance in Avenging Fancied Insult.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Richard Roeder, the crank who some months ago wrote a letter to Emperor William challenging him to a duel, called at the residence of Dr. Bryant, President Cleveland's physician, this morning and demanded to see the president. The latter said he could not be seen. Roeder insisted that the matter was of the utmost national importance. This brought Dr. Bryant to the door, who finally succeeded in persuading the crank to go.

Roeder told Dr. Bryant he had been trying to see the president for two or three days in order to wipe away the stain which had been put on him by his incarceration in a lunatic asylum in Germany. He had challenged Emperor William to a duel, but the latter was a coward and had put him in an asylum. Cleveland was the only man who could wipe away the stain. As he left the house Roeder promised he would call again.

ARE STILL LOOTING TOWNS.

Indian Territory Bandits May Fight With Officers.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Oct. 25.—The report has reached this city that the little town of Gibson Station was robbed in pretty much the same fashion as the Watoba holdup, the express office and several stores being looted. Marshal Grump received a telegram from Deputy Lambert who is in pursuit of the Cook gang saying a fight between the bandits and officers may be expected at any time. The latest robbery reported here was that of a preacher at Illinois Station by two men. It is not known how much was secured. The train from Wagoner which arrived here this morning was guarded by a force of twenty-six men. The same posse guarded the westbound train leaving here a few hours later. The conductor reported that the whole country is up in arms and on a hunt for the outlaws. Fully five hundred men are in the chase.

FIGHTING THE PLAGUE.

Two Additional Cases Reported but No Deaths Take Place.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Up to noon no new cases of small-pox were reported here. The health authorities are doing their utmost to prevent an epidemic. The news of the spread of the disease has caused considerable alarm. It is estimated that over five thousand were vaccinated.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Since noon today no further deaths from small-pox have occurred but two additional suspected cases are reported. The patients are doing well.

ELEVEN MINERS ENTOMBED.

Pewabic Mine at Iron Mountain the Scene of a Serious Accident.

MAY BE SUFFOCATED BEFORE HELP REACHES THEM.

It Will Take Eighteen Hours for the Rescuing Party to Reach the Unfortunate Miners.

ONE MINER INSTANTLY KILLED.

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—What may prove to be the worst accident in the history of the Menominee range occurred on the fourth level of shaft No. 1 at the Pewabic mine at 3 o'clock this afternoon. One man is known to have been killed and eleven others are entombed and their fate will not be known for eighteen hours, as it will take that length of time for as large a force of men as can be employed in the narrow shaft to clear away the rubbish.

The accident was caused by the sandstone capping, which overhung the room, coming down with sufficient force to crush the timbers without warning. The settling commenced in an old room above the third level about one hundred feet in height.

In an interview this evening with a correspondent of THE MINING JOURNAL Superintendent Brown expressed himself as being confident that all the entombed men would be taken out alive. This will depend very much on whether the air is pure and of sufficient quality to keep them alive. Some of the miners interviewed seem to think that the supply will not prove sufficient and that it is charged with poisonous powder gases.

Frank Garbarie is the name of the man killed. He is a married man and his body has been taken out. Superintendent Brown was unable to furnish a correct list of the men imprisoned but among them are John Farrell, Peter Hellberg, William Rickard and William Thomas. All are men of families.

It is expected that the room in which the men are confined will be reached at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning if no bad luck is experienced. In the meantime the mine location is the scene of many heartrending incidents, relatives and friends being at the shaft waiting for information of dear ones.

KILLED BY A FALLING TREE.

Lousin Jacobs Meets His Fate in the Forest Near Ewen.

EWEN, Mich., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Lousin Jacobs, a woodsman working at Amen & Lafore's lumber camp about three miles from here, was instantly killed this afternoon about 5 o'clock by a tree falling on his head and smashing his skull. He was taken to Thomas & Suls undertaking establishment from which place his remains will be shipped to his home in Iron Mountain.

UNWILLING DONATIONS.

Some Federal Officers Force Employers to Make Contributions.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Theodore Roosevelt, civil service commissioner, submitted a report to the commission of his findings in an investigation he has made at Pittsburg of the charges that federal office-holders have been guilty of coercing employers to make campaign contributions. Roosevelt says the internal revenue office, being without the civil service law, was used as a clog to the law and while the collector was not violating the law the office was run on the spirits system. He recommends that the internal revenue office be put in the classified service.

Postmaster O'Donnell was found to be scrupulously obeying the civil service law, but Roosevelt says it is to be regretted that he did not state publicly at the time the assessments were attempted in his office what he has since stated to the commission, which was that he had no hand in making the assessments and he would not discharge employees for refusing to contribute to campaign funds. Roosevelt recommends that congress be asked to make it unlawful to solicit contributions from federal office holders anywhere and he asserts that the solicitations of the treasurer of the Pittsburg Democratic committee amounts to blackmail.

BACK IN WASHINGTON.

President Cleveland and Family Return From Their Vacation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—President Cleveland returned to this city tonight accompanied by Mrs. Cleveland, his two children, nurses and Secretary Lamont, who joined the party at Baltimore. Private Secretary Thurber was at the station to meet the president's family. But a small crowd was on hand as the time of the president's arrival was not generally known. The president had enjoyed his vacation and was feeling very well and his appearance bore testimony to that effect.

VIOLATED GAME LAW.

New Jersey Supreme Justice Is Placed Under Arrest.

PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 25.—Judge Jonathan Dixon of the New Jersey supreme court was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Senior of this city today for violation of the game law. Judge Dixon pleaded not guilty. The case is to be heard next Thursday.

ANOTHER ONE FOR GRIFFET.

Proof continues to accumulate of the utter baselessness of the Negaunce Iron Herald's lying slanders of Mr. Rusch Calver in regard to his relations to the homesteaders.

The appended letter from Mr. Willard Kingsley of Grand Rapids, counsel for the United States in the test case of the Michigan Land & Iron company, explains itself and requires no comment except that it was written, as indeed it shows on its face, wholly without solicitation on the part of Mr. Calver.

KINGSLEY & KLEINSMAN, Attorneys at Law, Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 25, 1894.

Dear Sir: I am out of politics, or more properly speaking never was in them, yet, as a looker on, I like to see fair play even in a hot congressional campaign. I notice that some malevolent, and probably politically interested, parties are circulating the report that you have been unfaithful to the interests of the settlers.

Very Truly Yours, WILLARD KINGSLEY.

THE TAMARACK MANAGEMENT.

The following criticism of the management of the Tamarack company appeared in the Boston Transcript of Tuesday and will be read with considerable interest here, where the opinion has until recently been quite general that the property was extremely well handled.

To the Financial Editor of The Transcript: The annual report of the Tamarack Mining company for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1894, is a disappointment in more respects than one.

As there is every reason to believe that the physical features of the mine and its workings are not open to any unfavorable criticism, the conclusion is forced upon stockholders who are kept in the dark that the methods of marketing the finished product of the mine and prices received for the copper would be better concealed than revealed.

Recent operations have shown how the market may be sold down by offering largely the inferior grades which constitute a good delivery for good merchantable copper.

RESTORED TO ENTRY.

Over Eight Thousand Acres Opened to Settlement.

The following decision and order regarding the lands in the common limits of the Ontonagon & Brule River and Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon grants was received at the local land office yesterday and is here published, together with a full list of the lands, for the benefit and information of those interested.

Register Primean informs THE MINING JOURNAL that the official notice of the opening of these lands for settlement will be published in a few days, as soon as the form can be prepared.

New filings must be made by all who desire to settle on these lands.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, GENERAL LAND OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 22, 1894.

Sirs:—By act of June 3, 1856 (11 Stat. 21), a grant of lands was made to the state of Michigan to aid in the construction of a railroad from Marquette to Ontonagon in said state.

Acting under the above construction of the act, this office proceeded to ascertain the amount of lands in the common limits of said roads certified under the grant, and vacant and subject to selection and of which, under said decision, the Ontonagon & Brule River road would be entitled to a moiety, while the other moiety would revert to the United States.

The quantity thus ascertained was found to be 16,773.59 acres, which (in order that the Ontonagon & Brule River Railroad company might receive its moiety, and the remaining moiety be restored to entry), were described and separated into two lists and were as equally divided, section by section, as was considered proper and just, reference being had to as nearly an equal division as possible when the sum total in each list was considered, it being impossible to exactly divide the quantities in each section so as to place one-half in each.

These lists, as finally prepared, contained the following amounts, viz.: List No. 1, 8,387.15 acres. List No. 2, 8,386.44 acres. Total, 16,773.59 acres.

The lists having been prepared as above, the lands in each of the two grants were described and separated into two lists and were as equally divided, section by section, as was considered proper and just, reference being had to as nearly an equal division as possible when the sum total in each list was considered, it being impossible to exactly divide the quantities in each section so as to place one-half in each.

July 17, 1894, this office reported the matter to the honorable secretary and recommended that action be taken looking to the restoration of the lands in list No. 2, to settlement and entry. I am now in receipt of a letter, dated the 18th inst., from the honorable secretary, wherein he directs that the lands in the common limits of the two grants referred to and not embraced in the selection of the Ontonagon & Brule River Railway company on account of its moiety, be restored to entry after due notice by advertisement.

Accordingly I herewith transmit a copy of list No. 2, aforesaid, and to the end that the restoration be made in accordance with the view of the honorable secretary, I have to direct that you cause to be published once a week, for thirty days (six publications) in some newspaper of general circulation in your district and in the vicinity of the lands, a notice that said lands, a particular description of which will be published with the notice, are restored to the public domain, and will be subject to entry on a day to be fixed by the notice, which shall be not less than sixty days from the date of the first publication; and that all persons claiming the right of purchase under the act of March 3, 1857, (24 Stat., 256), must come forward during the sixty days of publication and give notice of their claims by publishing their notice of intention to make proof and payment in accordance with the requirements of the circular of Feb. 13, 1890, (8 L. D. 348), upon a day which shall be subsequent to that fixed for the restoration.

You will also include in the notice so published a notice of prior applicants for the lands that their applications conferred no rights upon them and that, upon the date specified therein, all the lands included in the list will be opened to homestead entry without regard to such applications, which will be held to be rejected by said notice.

may have opportunity to present their claims.

The receiver will pay the cost of the publication and transmit a copy of the notice with evidence of the publication as his voucher for the disbursement. You will also immediately on publication transmit a copy of the first issue of the paper containing the notice to this office for its information.

A copy of the honorable secretary's letter of the 18th inst. is herewith enclosed.

Very Respectfully, EDW. A. BOWMAN, Acting Commissioner.

A GLORIOUS VICTORY.

Heroic Defense of a Town Against Immense Odds.

One of the most heroic defenses of a town against an overwhelming force happened eighty years ago, when a British squadron under Sir Thomas Hardy bombarded Stonington. The place was defended by two old eight-pounders and a six-pounder mounted in a crude earthwork, and there was not even a flagstaff on which to display the national colors.

"May," said her husband, as they prepared to go out calling, "do you really mean to use those phonetic visiting cards, with your name spelled 'Miss Kathryn Alys Smith'?"

SIMPLE IS THE RACEGOER.

He submits to Being Swindled on Every Hand—Even Plays the Shell Game.

One of the most notorious swindlers in this country once said that New Yorkers were the most provincial people in the world, and that it was easier to separate a Gothamite from his money than to swindle a farmer out of a cent.

Every one takes a turn at buncoing the racegoer, and a trip to any of the tracks with a crowd of horsemen will furnish the best verification in the world of the swindler's statement.

Then, again, the admission to a race track is exorbitant. It has been shown that with free admission the associations can still make a tremendous amount of money, yet they charge one dollar and a half for badges, and without paying that much one cannot get inside the grounds.

But these swindlers are mild compared with the games that are run on the Bay Ridge ferrybody which carries the racing crowd from the foot of Whitehall street to the train at Bay Ridge.

Out upon the deck went the swindlers, the cappers betting and winning, and occasionally an outsider stepping in and losing a dollar or so. Finally, in the other cabin the gang struck just the sort of a snap they wanted.

"I am already taken with you," he murmured, and she liked to have had a conviction fit right there.

When the passengers had disembarked the swindlers stayed on board and went back to New York to work the next boat load.

After the Peninsula, the Life Guards proceeded to the Netherlands, and there took part in the crowning victory of Waterloo.

THE LIFE GUARDS.

A Body of English Soldiers that is Famed for its Fighting Qualities.

Then ensued a long interval of seventy years, occupied with the peaceful duties of state ceremonial, and the only changes which took place were those of dress and equipment. In 1817 steel helmets superseded the brass ones, which in 1813 had replaced the cocked hats, and in 1841, at the coronation of George IV., these in their turn gave way to bearskin caps, similar to those of the Grenadiers, with a white plume on the left side passing over the crown.

Then, again, the admission to a race track is exorbitant. It has been shown that with free admission the associations can still make a tremendous amount of money, yet they charge one dollar and a half for badges, and without paying that much one cannot get inside the grounds.

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

—The bodies of Greeks, when not burned, were placed in earthenware coffins and buried in tombs along the highways. An occasional exception was made in favor of distinguished men, who were sometimes buried in the forums of the towns.

—According to a recent pamphlet by an Italian doctor a sure way of restoring life in cases of syncope is to hold the patient's tongue firmly. After two other doctors had worked for an hour without result over a young man who was apparently drowned, he thrust a spoon into the patient's mouth, thrust the tongue, and worked it violently until the victim gave signs of life.

—At the Gobelins manufactory the new tapestries for the foyer of the Comedie Francaise have just been finished. They represent scenes from the most famous plays in the repertory of the theater.

—Sultan Abdul Aziz, the new young sultan of Morocco, does nothing without consulting his mother, who is a woman of tact and talent.

MINING JOURNAL CO. (LTD)
Marquette, Oct. 25, 1894.

HANCOCK.

Edward Demar, of the architectural firm of Demar & Lovejoy of Marquette, arrived yesterday morning with the plans for the new store of S. D. North & Son at the Quincy location. The foundation of the new structure is now under way and the building when completed will represent an investment of about $10,000 and will probably be the best store building on Portage Lake. The store will be two full stories and basement, 50x55 on the ground, and built of Portage Entry sandstone throughout, making it not only substantial but highly ornamental as well. The basement will be used for the storage of vegetables, woodenware, etc., with the first floor for the regular store business and the second for furniture and other departments requiring more room than could well be spared below. There will be a large office handsomely furnished, also an order room at the rear of the first floor. The entire structure will be heated by a modern steam plant located in the basement and lighted by electricity throughout. The style of construction will be a modernized Romanesque with iron shutters to protect the numerous windows, while the frontage will have its windows protected by rolling iron shutters of handsome appearance.

Arrangements will be made at once for bids from builders for the erection of the store from the water table, as the basement construction will be completed very soon be completed. Work will begin as soon as possible and continue till the completion of the structure, which cannot well be earlier than next spring owing to the extremely solid manner in which it is to be put up. That it will be an ornament to the town goes without saying and the village people can be excused for feeling rather envious of its being built upon the hill instead of down town in the village.

The board of registration of the township of Franklin will be in session on Saturday, Nov. 3, from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m., without intermission at noon, for the purpose of registering the new voters of the township.

A. Mossbrugger, of Der Lake Superior Pioneer of Marquette, spent yesterday here in the interests of his publication and will remain in the copper district during the balance of the week.

Mr. Martin Miswald of Ontonagon and Miss Josephine Rosenblatt of Hancock were married at St. Joseph's church on Monday, Oct. 22, by Rev. Father Keller, Miss Tillie Rosenblatt acting as bridesmaid and Mr. William Kehring as best man to the groom. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Miswald drove to Calumet, after which they went to Ontonagon, where Mr. Miswald is manager of the Ontonagon Brewing company and where they will reside.

Mr. Patrick H. O'Brien of West Superior will speak on the issues of the day from the standpoint of the Populist party at St. Patrick's Hall this evening. Mr. O'Brien is a pleasing speaker and very much in earnest in the furtherance of the interests of the political party which he has endorsed. As he was for many years a resident of Houghton county he will doubtless be welcomed by a larger audience than would be secured simply to listen to an orator who expounded the Populist doctrine without the advantage of having lived here for many years.

Jerry Bourke has completed his survey of the second addition to the village of the Hancock Copper Mining company and the plat was placed yesterday in the hands of Mr. Edward Ryan. The second addition contains twenty lots only, ten facing on the lake and ten on Water street, with a 12-foot alley running between the lots. The lots are 50 by 100 feet each and as the immediate vicinity has been almost solidly built up the lots are best man to the groom. The new addition lies south and west of the crossing of Quincy street by the Mineral Range and the lots are therefore quite desirable.

Democrats are feeling rather blue because so far as known there are no more Democratic speakers billed for the copper country during the campaign which the Republicans are filling the woods with talkers. It is undeniable that the Democrats are making rather an apathetic campaign in Houghton county and the prospects of their electing anyone seem to grow smaller every day.

HOUGHTON.

Governor Rich will speak at the Armory this evening, a change having been unexpectedly made in the date of his appearance here, which was set for last night. Judge Hubbell will follow Governor Rich. Mr. Hubbell's speeches are always worth listening to and the announcement that he will talk will help him the Armory.

J. H. D. Stevens of Ironwood spoke Wednesday night at the Quincy and last night at the Atlantic mine. What- ever strictures THE MINING JOURNAL may have seen fit to pass upon Mr. Stevens in the past it must be admitted that his speeches are always worth listening to and has aroused the most enthusiasm of any campaign speaker in the county this fall.

Professor Geo. L. Johnson's "Mendelssohn" recital will take place at the Hartman block this evening.

A special train will leave here at 6 o'clock tomorrow night for Lake Linden for the benefit of Houghton and Hancock people desirous of attending the Epworth League or Y. P. S. C. E. county conventions, both of which take place at Lake Linden tomorrow afternoon and evening.

SCENES IN A SHOT TOWER.

How Bullets Are Made and Where They Come From.

There is an old legend of how it was first discovered that melted lead dropped from a height into water became bullets. The story goes that the discovery was made a long time ago by the garrison of an ancient castle who found it necessary to place a grating at an embrasure in the wall. While pouring the lead into the holes which held the grating fast to the stone work some of the metal escaped and fell into the water of the moat beneath. The next day, while some of the guards were walking along the moat, they noticed the bright and shining objects at the bottom. Fishing them out of the water they were surprised to find that the drops of lead had been turned to bullets. Where the castle was or the name of the discoverer of this method of shot-making remains in obscurity.

There are two large establishments in New York where shot is manufactured, not a few at a time, but where tons and tons of pig lead are turned into the little balls of lead which work such havoc among the game of plain and woodland and upon the battlefield. These queer factories are known as shot towers, and resemble great tall chimneys, rising one hundred and fifty to two hundred feet in air. The only difference one can see from the outside is the small windows with which the wall is dotted up to the top, which is surmounted by a conical-shaped cap not at all like the coping stone of a factory chimney. All day long from the summit of this cap there issues a tiny stream of smoke, which makes it resemble the crater of some dormant volcano. On entering the structure one sees on every side huge piles of pig lead. In one corner is a small but powerful elevator of the simplest construction, for it is just two platforms, one six feet above the other, and about four by two feet in measurement. Standing on one of the platforms, and taking hold of the cable to keep from knocking against the grimy brick walls, the elevator starts. It is like entering a coal mine, only one ascends instead of descending. Presently there is an opening in the wall, and one sees what appears to be a shower descending through the hole in the center of the tower. So it is—a shower of shot falling from a height of one hundred and fifty feet into the water below. All the way up at each landing one can look at the steady downpour. When the landing at which the men are at work is reached it presents a novel sight.

To one side there is the furnace with the great melting pot from which the melted lead is carried down by a pipe to the iron colander which is fitted in a framework just over the center of the drop hole. The holes in this colander vary from 1-50 to 1-300 of an inch in diameter. A peculiar fact is that the shot dropped from a colander will not pass through the hole in it, as the shot swells when cooling. If lead alone were used to make the shot the pieces falling in the water would not be round, but would take an elongated shape, something like a grain of oats. Arsenic is therefore mixed with the lead, and the chemical properties are such that the metal takes a true globule form. At the melting platform there are but two men at work. One attends to the dropping colander and sees to it that the colander is always kept filled with the liquid metal. He does this by turning a valve on the pipe which carries the metal from the melting pot. He also is constantly employed in skimming the dross from the surface of the mass in the colander. Beside him is a wheel around which runs an endless belt of wire iron on a small cup is attached. This cup runs down into the water into which the shot is continually dropping. When the operator wishes a sample he sends the cup down and it brings up some of the shot. This is so he can tell how the metal is running. The other man looks after the furnace and keeps putting the pigs of lead and arsenical metal into the melting pot.

The larger sizes of shot are dropped from the greatest height, because it takes the larger mass of metal longer to lose a small amount. The well of water at the bottom of the drop hole is bubbling and seething like the water under the great falls of Niagara. This well would soon become filled were it not that an endless chain to which are attached small cups are dipping the shot out all the time, depositing it on a belt of webbing upon which it dries off and passes to the machine which separates the imperfectly formed from the perfect shot. This apparatus is a series of inclined boards over which the shot rolls. The perfect shot will roll straight down the center of the board, while the imperfect run off to one side. At the bottom of the board there is a little hurdle. Perfect shot will jump this, but the imperfect fall into receptacles to one side. The little balls of lead then pass to the sorting machine, which is a series of metal barrel sieves, each barrel having the size hole for the different sizes of shot. From here they pass to the polishing machine, a tumbling barrel in which the shot is polished and smoothed. This rounds the shot off and turns them out smooth and glossy. In the packing room there is an automatic machine which weighs out twenty-five pounds of shot and deposits it in canvas bags, which the operator passes under an upright sewing machine, and they are then ready for shipment.

Buckshot cannot be made by dropping, but have to be molded by hand. They are made about one hundred at a time, after which they pass through the same process as the smaller sizes. The dropping shot in the tower looks more like a stream from a shower bath than anything else, but it would prove a very bad one for a boy or man to stand under. The imperfect shot and dross are melted over again and the process of dropping the liquid metal from the iron colanders is kept going on day after day. Some of the little bullets no doubt find their way into boys' pockets to be used in bean flippers and crochets, with which some of them are famous shots.—N. Y. Recorder

FIRE FANNED BY FURIOUS WIND.

HYANNIS, Neb., Oct. 25.—This week is a direful one in a large portion of the Sand Hills, devastating fires having swept through the western part of Cherry and Grant counties, burning everything on the north side of the Burlington & Missouri railway track to within four miles of Hyannis.

At about the same time another fire started on the south side of the track, burning everything clear from Lake-side to Blue river. At present the fire is largely confined to the isolated districts of Sheridan, Grant, Thomas and Cherry counties.

In Sheridan county the fire burned over a strip of country over forty miles in width and is still burning. Thousands of tons of hay is destroyed and leaving the cattle destitute of homes and stock.

At Bedford, ten miles south, the citizens were out until a late hour burning fire guards and at this time the town is considered safe unless fires should come in north of the strip.

Hundreds of thousands of heads of cattle were grazing in Cherry, Thomas, Grant and other counties where these fires were raging.

AGE AND YOUTH.

Fashion of To-Day Favors Mother and Daughter to Dress Alike.

Fashion of late years has done much toward improving the appearance of the middle-aged woman. It was not so many years ago that the mother of the young lady daughter was always attired in somber colors.

Now a decided change has taken place, and it is not strange to see both mother and daughter appear in costumes of the same piece.

And she is not compelled to wear a morning cap either. Her hair may be fashionably arranged and her bonnet as chic as her granddaughter's.

AGC demands more attention than youth, and the elderly woman of to-day realizes this and dresses accordingly.

CHARGING A CACTUS.

The Painful Experience of a Terrified Hunter in Texas.

Gen. Maury says that when he was in Texas he heard a great deal about the fierceness and activity of the wild cattle, and determined to find out the truth of the reports. So, one morning at daybreak, he set out with him, the guide, and two other men, with pack mules to bring in the meat they expected to kill.

Again, after half an hour's pursuit, we came upon our bull, and, as before, I dismounted, and ran up to make a sure shot, and running closer to him than before, delivered it. Old Juan was too wise to dismount, though I had not observed this.

As my rifle cracked I heard the bushes rattling, and the men cried out: "Look out, lieutenant! he is charging you!"

I wheeled, and ran for my horse; but the bull was too close for me to stop to mount, so as I heard him close at my heels, I turned suddenly to a huge cactus I was passing, and sprang into it, struggling through it and tumbling flat upon the ground on the other side.

In all my life I had never been so terrified, and I was so tormented by the great cactus spines, which had pierced my body, that for an instant I would have welcomed the bull or anything else that would have relieved me of my misery.

After some moments I ventured to rise and look about for the animal, an action which I immediately regretted; for he instantly saw me, and made another dash for me, the men crying, as he did so: "He's charging again!"

I whirled through another cactus, the twin one I had just left, and lay as flat and still as a dead man; and I almost wished I was dead, for in my flight I had acquired a second supply of cactus spines.

They are of the size of a large darning-needle, with barbed points, and when one is pulled out it leaves the barb in to mark the place.

The bull was gone, but alas! the cactus spines remained. Later in the day we had better success with our game, and went home driving the mules packed with meat.—Youth's Companion.

FOR FIVE CALVES.

Story of the Most Extraordinary Lawsuit on Record. The Case Has Been in the Courts for Twenty Years, and the Costs and Judgments Amount to Thirty Thousand Dollars.

The "Jones county calf case" will vex the souls of coming Blackstones for a century. It is the "Jarndyce vs. Jarndyce" of America, and by comparison with it the Myra Clarke Gaines case pales its ineffectual fires. The heirs of Anneke Jans would be happy could they divide the mere court costs in the Jones county calf case. The map of Iowa has been devastated by this insidious litigation, and boys have grown to be men and lawyers, too, since it began its infestive career. For a score of years the readers of American newspapers have been in the habit of seeing, here and there, at sporadic intervals and in unlooked-for connections, mysterious allusions to the great "Jones county calf case," and arithmetical geniuses have ever and anon blanched before its involved accounts and gone driveling to lunatic asylums after vainly attempting to compute its costs and ascertain its results.

Exaggeration? By no means. I have taken pains to gather at first hand from the plaintiff, who is now the victorious party, from Jones county officials and from other quarters, the facts of this singular story now set forth to the public for the first time. There is no stranger chapter in the annals of American law. The plaintiff himself writes me: "Some of the best farmers in Jones county lost all their property long ago in lawing this case. Then their children and friends took it up and fought it as long as they could. It is still pending!" And it has long since passed from the condition of a neighborhood scandal to the magnificent proportions of a national curiosity.

This is how it came about—Robert Johnson, Ohio boy, of Virginia stock, went to farming in 1858 in Jones county, Ia. In 1874 Farmer Potter, of Greene county, an acquaintance of Johnson, came to Johnson and said he wanted to buy some calves. A man named Smith, a stranger thereabout, who has since succeeded in concealing himself from observation, must have heard of this; he went to Johnson and sold him five small dark calves, which on June 4, 1874, Johnson delivered to Potter. Just then Farmer John Foreman, of Jones county, discovered that five calves had disappeared from his farm. He had seen Johnson drive five calves away to deliver to Potter, but made no inquiry about the matter until afterward. Farmer Peter Onstott saw Farmer Johnson deliver the five small dark calves to Drover Potter. When Farmer Foreman missed his calves he followed Drover Potter to Greene county, Ia., and found his missing property in Potter's herd. Potter said he had bought from Johnson the calves which Foreman now identified as his own. So Foreman went back to Jones county and demanded from Johnson the value of his missing calves, which Johnson, though an innocent man, gave to Foreman in the shape of a note for $45.

Johnson then tried to find the mysterious villain Smith, intending, no doubt, to make Smith give him (Johnson) a note for forty-five dollars, but Smith had vanished. Determined to have satisfaction somehow, Johnson, who was then only thirty odd years of age, took a jaunt out to Greene county, and on being shown by Potter the calves which Farmer Foreman had claimed as his missing property, swore that he (Johnson) had never sold those calves to Potter and that he would not pay the forty-five dollar note he had given to Foreman.

Mr. Foreman then concluded that it was time for him to take another hand in the game. He was fairly pining for the excitement of a lawsuit. He sent word to Potter that if he (Potter) did not institute original proceedings against Johnson, he (viz. Foreman) would invoke the majesty of the criminal court against him (Potter). So Potter went all the way to Jones county again, joined the Anti-Horse-Thief association and succeeded in having the unfortunate Johnson indicted for the larceny of forty-five dollars worth of calves. The mysterious villain named Smith still remained in abeyance. This was in December, 1874. Now comes fun.

The indictment was quashed in May, 1875. In December, 1875, a new indictment was found and a change of venue to Cedar county was secured by Johnson. In 1876 there was a trial, and the jury stood eleven to one for acquitting Johnson. Then there was another trial and Johnson was acquitted. Farmer Peter Onstott testifying that the calves Foreman claimed from Potter were not the calves Johnson had sold to Potter, and that Potter knew it, and had even admitted it, but had advised Farmer Onstott to keep his mouth shut, which Farmer Onstott would under no circumstances agree to do.

"Heighho," said Farmer Johnson to himself after hearing Farmer Onstott testify; "let us have more law." So he began an action for ten thousand dollars damages in Anamosa, Linn county, against seven prominent members of the Anti-Horse-Thief association. A verdict for three thousand dollars was rendered in Johnson's favor, but the judge, probably hating to see a leading calf case spoiled, as it were, set the verdict aside. The defendants were anti-horse thieves, as follows: E. V. Miller, David Eall, John Foreman, A. B. Miller, Harmon Keller and S. D. Potter. They were real glad the judge felt that he had charged the jury wrong. When there was another trial the jury disagreed.

All hands now voted for a change of venue, and more juries and more trials. So they moved the Jones county calf case to the town of Clinton, in Clinton county, Ia., and to the jury assessed seventy-five hundred dollars damages in Johnson's favor. The Clinton coun-

MANY HEARD BURROWS.

Eloquent Congressman Expounded Republican Doctrines in Crowded Houses.

FATHER KEUL DEPARTS FOR HIS NEW CHARGE.

Weak Health Compelled Him to Ask to Be Transferred to an Easier Post.

TALKED TO CROWDED HOUSES.

Hon. J. C. Burrows spoke to crowded houses Wednesday afternoon and evening. The attendance at the afternoon meeting was so large that it was clearly shown that additional seats would be in demand at the evening rally, consequently about one hundred more chairs were procured and placed on the stage. Over an hour before the meeting was called to order, as soon as the doors of the opera house were thrown open, people began to file in and take possession of the most desirable seats. By the time Mr. Burrows and the local gentlemen who accompanied him to the hall arrived over six hundred people were in the room. Those who waited for the band shortly after 7:30 o'clock were unable to get in. All the available standing room was soon filled and a number of men sat upon the front of the stage. Never in the history of the City Opera house has so large a crowd gathered nor has such an interest in any political speaker been manifested.

At the afternoon meeting Mr. Burrows spoke on the tariff question and advocated the Republican policy upon that issue. Quite a number of ladies, including several teachers and high school pupils, were at the afternoon meeting. At the evening session Mr. Burrows spoke on protection and tried to prove that a protective tariff benefited the workingman. He is a very interesting speaker and his without doubt one of the best orators that has ever addressed an Ishpeming audience.

Mr. Burrows has delivered forty-seven speeches to date in this campaign and expects to deliver from thirteen to fifteen more prior to election day. Last night he spoke at Sault Ste. Marie, that being his last address in this peninsula. This is Mr. Burrows' first visit to this section but it is hoped by Democrats as well as Republicans who had the pleasure of meeting or hearing him that he will visit us again and talk upon some subject not involved in political controversy.

Goals to His New Pastorate.

Rev. J. A. Keul, who has been in charge of St. John's parish of this city for the past four years and three months, departed for St. Ignace, his new field of labor, yesterday at noon. Many members of the congregation were at the depot to bid him good bye. Father Keul's departure from Ishpeming is generally regretted, not only by the members of St. John's parish but by hundreds of others as well. He was universally esteemed by all, which fact was demonstrated during the last four days of his residence here when many citizens, aside from those of his own faith, called at his home to express their regrets at his departure and to offer their good wishes. Father Keul was greatly attached to the people of this community but owing to his weak health felt that a change to a smaller parish was necessary and it was his own wish that he be transferred to St. Ignace. About nine years ago he spent a year at St. Ignace, at which time he liked the place and its people and principally on this account he was desirous of returning there.

Father Keul is a broad-minded man who gained the esteem and respect of all classes because of his devotion to his church, his liberality of mind and his general make-up as a gentleman. He is scholarly, a fine conversationalist, is progressive, a speaker of more than ordinary ability and is a sound believer in American principles. Miss Rose Lennon, who has been keeping house for Father Keul, left for St. Ignace with him. Rev. Langan, the new pastor, arrived here from Marquette yesterday afternoon.

The Races Today.

The last horse races of the season will take place at Union Park this afternoon. All the best-trotting stock in Marquette county have been entered for the two races today, a 2:45 trot and a gentlemen's driving class. There will be five horses in the first contest and it is expected that there will be five or six in the gentlemen's race. The city street roller will be run over the track this morning. The admission will be twenty-five cents for men and women will be admitted free.

The old New York mine will soon be abandoned altogether. The rails and ties in the sidetracks leading to the pockets and stockpiles are being torn up. The ore on surface has all been shipped and now the old place begins to look deserted. The mine is worked out.

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS.

For deer shooting or other big game, the Winchester repeating rifle, manufactured by the Winchester Repeating Arms Co., New Haven, Conn., is absolutely the most effective. In all the requisites of strength, simplicity and durability, it stands second to no firearm. There is an entire absence of any bothersome complication in its construction. Nearly all sportsmen who are recognized as authorities on the subject, have endorsed the Winchester rifle. In one instance which we call to mind—the Turtle Lake one of the largest and most successful Shooting Clubs—which, by the way, is organization of the kind in the country—the Winchester rifle is used by every member and no others are to be found in the gunroom of the club. The Winchester Repeating Arms Co.'s shot guns and single-shot rifles have also a world-wide reputation. These guns are for sale by all leading dealers. A handsomely-illustrated catalogue describing the guns and giving directions for their use will be mailed to intending purchasers on request.

The result of the war between China and Japan is uncertain, but you will make no mistake in preparing for a cold winter. Buy storm sash and keep your house warm and your fuel bills down. We make them at prices within your reach.

THE MODERN GUILLOTINE.

Weight Added to the Knife—Line of French Executioners.

Before I left Paris I met one of the journalists who was present at Caserio's execution, and from him I learned that the guillotine knife is no longer a knife, but a piece of steel about one-eighth of an inch in thickness, oblique in shape and with a beveled edge. Diebler, the present executioner of France, has made what he calls an "improvement" upon the old blade. After long practice with the guillotine he discovered that a sharp edge was liable to deviate in its course when it came in contact with the vertebrae, and now he relies upon the weight of the knife, rather than the sharpness of the edge. Counting the piece of lead which is fixed upon it, the blade weighs nearly two hundred pounds, and it falling it "de-taches" to use Diebler's own expression, rather than cuts off the head.

Propos of executions, the death is announced of Eugene Demorest, an old gentleman of benevolent aspect, who was very much respected in Vincennes, where he lived on his modest pension of three hundred and sixty dollars a year, hardly a soul being aware of his antecedents. In 1870 the French provincial executioners were suppressed by Adolphe Cremieux, minister of justice. A chief executioner, with five assistants, was appointed, and had to live in Paris. His salary was fixed at about two hundred and forty pounds yearly, payable every month. Traveling expenses were also allowed.

The first assistant receives, under the arrangement of 1870 a sum of three thousand francs, the next two thousand five hundred francs and the others two thousand francs each. Eugene Demorest lived a very quiet life at Vincennes. He walked about in the streets alone, and never entered a wine shop. For some years he was a member of the Academy of Hygiene—an institution founded by a medical man for the prevention of infantile diseases—and on the books of that body the ex-headsman was entered as a retired accountant. The only person who was known to visit Demorest in his lodgings was a cabinet-maker from the Avenue Parmentier, who acts as an assistant to M. Diebler. The old ex-headsman was recently much troubled by the doings of the anarchists, and when he heard that M. Diebler was threatened he is said to have sent to the minister of justice a plan for the protection of the chief executioner and his machinery. Prior to his retirement from active service Demorest accomplished a double execution in Bordeaux—that of a parried named Desbats, and of a murderer and incendiary called Bonacciere, who struggled violently before he was thrown on the easelle. Demorest died at the age of eighty-three, having survived his three sons, one of whom had he lived, and had the office not been suppressed, would have inherited his father's post of headman of Bordeaux and Aix.

The first man who acted as chief executioner for the whole of France was Heinrich, who guillotined Troppmann in 1870. The communists burned the guillotine in 1871. Heinrich died in 1872, and was succeeded by Nicolas Roch, a man much more common in personal appearance than his predecessor, who had almost a distinguished air. Roch had a weakness for wearing gold rings in his ears, sailor fashion. In his time the allowances for the keep of the two guillotines were raised. Mme. Roch was intensely proud of her husband's mode of guillotining, and was in the habit of saying that he took the pompon, which may be interpreted as the "cake," for quick work. She also affirmed that her husband could never be replaced, but Constance Diebler, his successor, has proved the contrary. M. Diebler has finished off several notorious criminals, such as Pranzani and Prado, and he will also go down to posterity as the executioner of Ravachol, Valliant, Emile Henry and Caserio Santo. For an executioner his record is therefore a remarkable one.

Diebler, who is in the hottest of water with the anarchists, has removed from his former residence in the Rue Vieq d'Azur to suburban Auteuil, where his retreat is a secret. He always wears a tall hat, dresses in black, and carries an umbrella or stick when engaged in professional duties. He is the son of a headsman, and married into the family of Raseneux, the "executeur des Hautes-oeuvres" for the colony of Algeria.

After all the guillotine is a very merciful means of death. Just think what sort of a time Caserio would have had something about one hundred years ago in France. Damiens, in 1557, tried to kill Louis XV. The king was very slightly hurt, but a horrible punishment awaited the criminal. The high court of parliament tried him and sentenced him to be tortured to death. Damiens was taken to the Place de Greve, where a scaffold had been erected. Here he was stripped naked, slung by the arms, breast and legs upon hooks; the blade of the knife with which he had committed his crime was made red-hot and placed in his right hand; hot lead, burning resin and sulphur, melted together, were poured into the wounds made by the hooks, and then he was drawn and quartered by six horses. For three hours he was tortured. Then his body was burned, and the dust thrown to the four winds.—N. Y. Mail and Express.

—Mlle. Duvernat, who sixty years ago was the great rival of Tagliani in the ballet, and who first introduced the "cachuca" in London, died recently in England at the age of eighty-seven. She married a rich banker named Lyne Stephens, and was probably the wealthiest woman in England. A few years ago she built a Catholic church at Cambridge which cost seven hundred thousand dollars.

IN HARD LUCK. Charles Matsen, who has been ill and unable to get out of the house for the past two months, planted last spring quite a large patch of potatoes on the Parina farm near the old Milwaukee mine.

Matsen is quite poor and was depending on the money he would realize out of his potatoes to pay his doctor bill and other debts contracted during his illness. He feels badly broken up over the loss but says he hopes those who have robbed him of them are not as badly in need of them as he is at the present time.

INDIANS ON THE TRAIL. Their Willy Practices While Dogging the Steps of an Enemy.

The wonderful instinct shown by a dog in following a trail has often excited surprise, but it may be questioned if it is as marvelous as are the acuteness and skill displayed by an Indian in tracking a person or persons over the most arid desert land.

The Indian scouts who are attached to bodies of our troops in the west show a skill in trailing which is almost phenomenal. The Apache is a footman, while the Sioux is the best type of mounted scout.

When Apache scouts are acting with troops in the field they are up before the first sign of dawn. After instructions have been given they start out from camp and spread out like a fan, in groups of three.

The scouts reconnoiter the country for five miles on each side of the trail, and not a single thing escapes their notice. Ashes of camp fires, upturned stones, broken branches, tracks—in short, everything is commented upon, and if thought to be important, reported to the commander of the column.

He pointed out where they had gone under low branches of trees, which could have been avoided by daylight, and where they had crossed rocks and ravines at bad places, when there were good crossings near by, which they would have selected if there had been light enough to pick the trail.

In tracking an enemy from point to point an Indian will discover one sign after another very rapidly. A blade of grass trodden down, a foot or pony track, upturned pebble, flakes of foam—all these are discovered with the most wonderful swiftness, and they are interpreted with a degree of accuracy which is simply astonishing.

It was, therefore, difficult to find any particular trail; but on the third morning one of the Indian scouts who was with the troops suddenly stopped his horse, went a little to the right, scanned the ground closely and then, coming back, reported that he had found the trail of the Indians.

Some moccasins and bits of cloth, which had been thrown away, were carefully examined. He found that the moccasins were sewn with thread, instead of with sinews; that they were made as the Sioux make theirs, and that the cloth which was lying around was the same as is used at agencies. Other signs indicated that the Indians had remained in camp one day, and soon it was clear that they were Sioux and not Cheyenne, as had been reported; that they had recently left an agency, and that they had not crossed the Yellowstone at the time stated, but two days previously.

Shakespeare speaks of being possible to find tongues in trees, books in the running brooks and sermons in stones. To an Indian the record which people leave in passing over the most barren country is as complete as if it had been written out, and every incident of their journey can be pictured by the old savage with photographic exactness and distinctness.—Golden Days.

DID NOT FEAR THE CZAR. Intrepidity of Rostopchin, the Governor of Moscow.

There was a time, in the early years of our century, when the name of Rostopchin was in everybody's mouth; for he was the governor of Moscow, who probably planned the burning of that city, and so put a serious check to Napoleon's career.

As the emperor insisted, he wrote the letter and gave it to him to sign. After the signature he added, in his own hand: "Do nothing of the kind; he is crazy."

When the emperor, in a fit of anger, resolved to send the empress to a convent, the count tried to bring him to reason. Failing in this, Rostopchin wrote to the emperor, with the utmost firmness.

"Heaven has granted you all that was necessary for your own happiness and the good of others," he wrote, "but you create a hell for yourself, and condemn yourself to dwell therein."

A few minutes after the letter had been delivered he received a sheet from the emperor containing these words, written by his own hand: "You are a terrible man, but you are right. Let nothing more be said on the subject."—Youth's Companion.

DEATH IN THE DESERT. Frightful Experiences in the Death Valley Region.

During a march of seventy-five miles on one desert in the southwestern corner of our country, a party of government surveyors counted three hundred and fifty graves along the trail of the victims of thirst. At one point a family of eight was buried. These foolish people carried their water supply in large demijohns. The bottles were broken. The precious fluid was swallowed by the sand.

As the emperor insisted, he wrote the letter and gave it to him to sign. After the signature he added, in his own hand: "Do nothing of the kind; he is crazy."

A SLEEP WITHOUT AWAKENING.

The city was shocked yesterday morning by the sudden death of Ernest Palmer, the popular chief clerk of the Hotel Marquette, a man whose courtesy and pleasant address had made him a favorite with the traveling public and given a very wide acquaintance among the men of affairs in the upper peninsula. Mr. Palmer on his way down town yesterday morning from his rooms in the Coles block entered Anderson & Johnson's a little before 8 o'clock and after chatting with different parties for a while went back and sat down apparently to look over the morning paper.

There was nothing in his manner to attract attention and it was not until a few minutes after 10 o'clock that Mr. Anderson noticed that he was still sitting there and apparently asleep. He spoke to him but could not rouse him and although Mr. Palmer's head was bent slightly forward over his folded arms on the table in a manner entirely natural to one nodding in sleep yet Mr. Anderson was impelled in some way to make a second attempt to arouse him and on touching him at once discovered something was wrong. Assistance was called at once and physicians sent for. Two were soon at hand and at once declared that death had been before them.

Mr. Palmer was a son of Wiley J. Palmer, Ph. D., at one time at the head of the largest deaf mute institution in Canada, that at Belleville, Ont. He came to the upper peninsula twelve years ago with his father at the time that the Wellers began their big lumbering operations down the line of the D. M. & M. He was employed in the company's store at Marquette and remained in the mercantile business for several years, Dr. Palmer returning to North Carolina, his native state, where he died three or four years ago.

On coming to Marquette Mr. Palmer had charge of J. H. Gillett's store at Chocomaug for four or five years while Mr. Gillett was operating the mill there. After that he was with Watson & Palmer for a couple of years and then became the clerk of the Summit House, remaining with the proprietor, J. B. Taylor, until Mr. Lewis induced him to take the clerkship of the Hotel Marquette upon the retirement of Mr. Packard. In this position Mr. Palmer was a decided success and endeared himself to all with whom he came in contact by his unflinching good nature and his readiness to do any one a service even at some inconvenience to himself. In these respects and in many other personal traits he was a true son of the old North State, the personification of courtesy and good humor. He possessed decided musical talent also and was a rare entertainer when time permitted him to exercise his gifts in this line.

Mr. Palmer was married October 16, 1893, and leaves his widow with an infant child, now a little over two months old. He also leaves a brother and sister, the former the teller of the Hamilton, Ont., branch of the great Canadian Bank of Commerce and the latter, who visited him here last summer, a teacher in the Illinois institution for the deaf and dumb at Jacksonville in that state.

At the inquest held upon the remains yesterday the physicians announced as a result of the autopsy that death had been caused by fatty degeneration of the heart and the jury brought in a verdict to that effect. Mr. Palmer was finance keeper of Queen City tent, K. O. T. M., and carried an insurance of $2,000 in that order, hence his family will not be left entirely unprovided for.

Eight Thousand Acres.

Register Primeau of the United States land office states that the lands included in the list published elsewhere in today's paper and comprising 8,356.44 acres in the common limits of the Ontonagon & Huron and the Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon grants, will be advertised as soon as possible and will be thrown open for entry early in January. This will give the necessary sixty days after the publication of the notice and also allow time for the notification of first filers and other claimants of the rejection of their claims as noted in the letter of the acting commissioner published with the list.

Foot Ball Tomorrow Afternoon.

The most exciting and fascinating of all modern sports will be given its first introduction to the Marquette public tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when the first meeting of the foot ball elevens of the Marquette and Negaunee high schools will take place. The Marquette eleven consists of George Frei, Jay Spear, Selden Crary, Goodwin, Hodgkins, Eastman, Joe Busch, Conklin, Primeau, Wilson and Price with Pendill and Orric Brown as substitutes. Mr. E. W. MacPherran has been coaching the team and the boys have been putting in hard work for some time under his direction. A number of changes in the team are probable as soon as an actual contest shows up more fully the character of the different players. It is expected that Busch will captain the team tomorrow and a hot fight will probably go upon the field fully as well equipped for the fray as the home eleven. The game will be played under Rugby rules and should be well attended, as it will surely prove a revelation to those who have never seen a modern foot ball contest. There are a number of old college players in the city to whom the play of the two new teams will necessarily seem crude, but to the average spectator it can safely be declared that the contest will have more excitement in it than would be afforded by half a dozen ball games. The admission fee will be twenty-five cents and game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

Lakeside Works to Resume.

Mr. H. C. Taylor has succeeded in straightening out the tangles connected with the Lakeside Iron works and is now preparing to place the establishment in operation again. The building occupied by the plant is being thoroughly overhauled by the owner, Mr. Adams, and Mr. Taylor has seized upon the occasion to entirely rearrange the interior of the works, resetting the machinery and moving the boiler and engine in order to give room for a more convenient arrangement of the machines. The work is expected to be far enough along to enable the rejuvenated Lakeside works to begin operations within another week. In rearranging the interior provisions had been made for a supply should it be found advisable to have a foundry connected with the plant.

Recovered His Riv.

Geo. W. Reed has at last recovered the horse and carriage stolen from him last June by Fred Miller, a young man who seems to have a penchant in that direction as it transpires that he had served three years in prison in Wisconsin for horse stealing before he began his sojourn in Marquette. Miller is a very clever man in his chosen line of villany and much difficulty was experienced in tracing him. It was finally found that he had disposed of the horse and rig to a sales stable in Marinette and the carriage was recovered there and the horse from a farmer near Oconto to whom the Marinette parties had sold her. Mr. Reed is still on the track of the thief and hopes some day to have the pleasure of seeing him lodged in Castle Van Evera across the bay.

So Bad It Was Good.

A more incoherent and futile piece of variety hall patchwork than the so-called farce comedy entitled "They're After Me," presented by the Bersie company at the opera house last evening, has seldom been seen on the local stage. A large prize could be safely offered to anyone who would sit through the piece and tell what it was about. Even a farce comedy is supposed to have at least a thread of plot but in this case the thread was practically invisible. This so-called "play" is simply a string of variety-hall horse-play and more or less comic songs of more or less ancient date. It is fair to say, however, that the company advertised that there was no plot whatever to the piece and hence its absence might have been forgiven had the performers been able to do specialty business well. But none of these could sing and yet they persisted in singing on the faintest excuse or no excuse at all. Some of the tunes were amusing and the audience finally settled down to laughing at the performance because it was so bad and to making the best of the case. The conglomeration might be fairly successful in a concert hall where beer is served in the house and smoking allowed, because then one could talk and drink and smoke and would not be expected to keep any run of what was going on on the stage. But to call it a play and divide it into acts and drop the curtain is simply absurd. Such a string of variety tunes is only fitted for performances at such a place as suggested above. The audience was fairly large but the company could not draw a corporal's guard to the opera house again.

The Marquette Ideal orchestra very acceptably relieved the monotony of the evening by playing some good music between the acts.
