SERIOUS TROUBLE AHEAD.

England Refuses to Recognize Nicaraguan Government and Sends Warship to Bluefields.

NICARAGUAN CANAL HER REAL CAUSE FOR ACTION.

United States Government Promptly Sends the Warship Columbia to the Scene of Possible Trouble.

AN EXPLANATION IS DEMANDED.

PANAMA, Nov. 27.—Advices from the Mosquito reservation state that the British minister has notified Nicaragua that Great Britain refuses to recognize the Nicaraguan government at Bluefields and has telegraphed to Port Limon for a British warship to come to Bluefields immediately. It is reported that the Nicaraguan canal project is at the bottom of the affair and serious trouble is feared.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The state department officials and the Nicaraguan minister are diplomatically silent regarding the reported trouble at Bluefields but the fact that the United States warship Columbia has been ordered from Kingston, Jamaica, direct to Bluefields tends strongly to confirm the story.

If the facts are as represented then the situation is undoubtedly one of great gravity. The mention of the Nicaragua canal as being the real cause of British action goes to confirm the suspicions long cherished here that Great Britain really cares nothing for the Mosquito territory but is disposed to insist upon its protectorate over the reservation in order to base the claim of jurisdiction over that part of the old reservation which they have contended extends as far south as the eastern mouth of the Nicaragua canal. Should this claim be maintained it would of course operate to prevent the United States from controlling the projected Nicaragua canal if, indeed, it should not cause an abandonment of the project.

It is undoubtedly a matter of great annoyance to our state department that this troublesome Bluefields subject should be reopened by Great Britain's summary action when it was supposed that the difficulties there were adjusted in a manner entirely satisfactory to all the parties concerned. However, the prompt dispatch of the Columbia to the scene of the threatened trouble is evidence that the state department is not to be taken unawares by such proceedings and she will doubtless preserve the status quo there while negotiations are in progress.

Gresham has cabled Bayard to request an explanation of the reported differences from the British foreign office.

POLICE CHIEFS IN SESSION.

Will Try to Divorce Politics and the Police.
AURORA, Ill., Nov. 27.—The Chiefs of Police union of Illinois met here today to consider such legislation as would divorce the police departments of the cities from politics. About thirty officers from the larger cities of the state were present at a meeting this afternoon. Superintendent Brennan of the Chicago police department made one of the principal addresses. While pledging himself to support any measure the union might evolve he recommended the creation of a commission which would control appointments and promotions and an impartial trial board. He urged that in view of the fact that Mayor Hopkins of Chicago had appointed a commission to act along these lines the union should appoint a committee to confer with the commission. A business session of the union will be held tomorrow.

LOOKING FOR CROOKED WORK.

Committee Is Investigating Former Actions of Judge Ricks.
CLEVELAND, Nov. 27.—Hearing of the charges against Judge Ricks closed today for the present. Miss Lillis, a former stenographer under Judge Ricks when he was clerk, and Charles Beatty, who was deputy clerk at the same time, were examined concerning the compensation of Miss Lillis in the Birdsell case. Miss Lillis said she received $153 and signed a voucher for $300. Judge Ricks was questioned by Chairman Bailey as to the practice of charging fees and estimating the clerk's compensation, Bailey remarking that at the close that the law had not been closely followed in the matter. Judge Stevenson Barke, one of Judge Ricks' counsel, requested thirty days time in which to prepare explanatory papers in regard to the new statements. The committee allowed but fifteen days.

BELIEVED TO BE INCENDIARY.

Pattern Shops of Pullman Car Company Burned Down.
CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—The pattern shops of the Pullman Palace Car company were destroyed by fire tonight, entailing a loss of $35,000. Some of the minor officials of the company are inclined to consider the fire as incendiary although they have discovered no tangible support of the theory. Twice last week cars standing near the shop were discovered on fire without any apparent cause and the Pullman people are inclined to believe all the fires were incendiary.

BAD OTHER ACCOMPLICES.

Embezzler Seelye Preparing to Make a Full Confession.
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—A well-known physician says Seelye, the man through whom the Shoe & Leather bank was robbed, is ill near New York. He is preparing a statement in which he will claim that Baker was not only the accomplice, that really five were concerned in the conspiracy, two of them high in the financial world, and that he was merely a tool in their hands. He has decided to throw himself on the mercy of the court and make a full disclosure. It is said some of the stolen money was invested in the west in enterprises by a man now serving sentence for embezzlement.

PRINCESS BISMARCK DEAD.

The Wife of Germany's Great Statesman Passes Away.
VARZIN, Nov. 27.—Princess Bismarck, wife of the great chancellor, died at 5 o'clock this morning. She had been ill for some time and suddenly grew worse yesterday. Though Bismarck has been in better health lately he is still feeble and on account of this with his advancing years it is feared the shock of his wife's death may have a serious result.

Princess Bismarck had for years been suffering with bronchitis and gastric catarrh. The immediate cause of death was dropsy, complicated with heart disease. The disease rapidly became worse during the last few days. The princess was cheerful to the end trying to deceive her husband as to her real condition. Doctor Schwelinger and Chrysanter regarded the case as hopeless a month ago but concealed the truth from Prince Bismarck. The prince is quite overcome by the death of his wife. Prince Bismarck personally communicated the news of the death of the princess to the emperor and empress, who immediately sent a long telegram of condolence.

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—According to dispatches from Varzin Prince Bismarck is so broken down that his doctors insist upon his speedy removal to Friedrichsruhe. The funeral ceremonies will be on a most modest scale out of regard for his condition.

ROBBERY FARO GAME.

Bold Bandits Make a Successful Raid on an Oregon Hotel.
BAKER CITY, Or., Nov. 27.—A daring robbery was committed here this morning. Six men, heavily armed with rifles, shot guns and revolvers and wearing masks, entered Hotel Warshaus. The employees and bystanders were placed under cover of the arms while two robbers relieved the saumon bar till and the faro game cash, amounting to about $1,100, which they placed in a sack and departed. The fire alarm was turned in by the officers a few minutes after the robbery which drew out a large number of people but the robbers were not to be seen, having made good their escape. There is no clue whatever.

ELRENO, I. T., Nov. 27.—Late dispatches tonight over the military wire from Fort Sill announces a fight between the Canadian City gang of express robbers and the pursuers. In the fight it is reported that two of the bandits were killed and three of the pursuing party disabled, one being killed.

HIS SCHEME FAILED TO WORK.

Stockman Tries a Novel Way of Robbing Express Company.
ARDMORE, I. T., Nov. 27.—Last Friday George Isaacs, a stockman living in the western part of the Chickasaw nation, expressed to himself from Kansas City two packages said to contain $25,000. Packages addressed to Campian, Texas. About thirty minutes after the arrival of the train bearing the packages four robbers rode up to the express office and attempted to rob the agent. Deputy Sheriff McGee was present and opened fire on them and in the fight that ensued McGee was mortally wounded. The robbers were frightened off without securing anything. McGee has since died. The packages were opened and found to contain $200 in one and two dollar bills. Two of the robbers were identified as Isaacs and a friend. They fled in an eastern direction heading for Chickasaw. Officers are in pursuit.

INDIANS SHOW FIGHT.

Governor of Utah Makes Request for United States Troops.
SALT LAKE, Utah, Nov. 27.—Governor West received letters today from the sheriff and other officials of San Juan county, Utah, asking for assistance in driving out five hundred Ute Indians. The Indians came over from the Los Pinos agency in Colorado, bringing with them ten thousand sheep and four thousand cattle. They announce they will fight rather than return to Colorado. About three hundred Navajo Indians also left the reservation in the territory and seem to have formed an alliance with the Utes. There are not sufficient white settlers in the county to cope with the Indians. The latter are in a belligerent mood and the settlers are getting alarmed. Governor West immediately notified the secretary of the interior and asked that troops be sent to drive the Indians back to Colorado.

PETITIONS ARE DISMISSED.

Railway Receivers Have the Right to Discharge Members of Labor Organizations.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S INSTRUCTIONS IGNORED.

Judge Dallas Refuses Petitions of Railway Trainmen Against Pennsylvania & Reading Road.

RECEIVERS ARE SUSTAINED.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—Judge Dallas filed an opinion in the United States circuit court today dismissing the petitions of Levi Hicks and other members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who desired to compel the receivers of the Philadelphia & Reading company to retain them in their employ and at the same time allow them to remain members of that organization. In the opinion Judge Dallas makes no reference whatever to Attorney General Olney's recent letter on the subject, in which the latter took the ground that the receivers were manifestly wrong in interfering with the employes as members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and in which the attorney general gave his opinion that the men had a perfect right to organize. Judge Dallas, in the opinion, among other things says: "I thought, and I still think, that neither the association or its chief officer had any legal standing or right to be heard in the complaint of any action taken or proposed by the receivers, or to invoke or advise the disallowance of any measure adopted or contemplated by them in the performance of the duties assigned them. They made no contract with or through the association and none had been so made by the company."

"The real question, however, is not whether the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen is or is not inimical to the general welfare, but whether these receivers should be ordered to retain their members in their service despite the company's pre-existing rule to the contrary and against their unanimous judgment. If such an order ought to be made it must be because action to be restrained would injuriously affect the interests the receivers have in charge or would be contrary to law or unjust to those immediately concerned. If there is any other consideration upon which the direction asked for could be based the counsel has not suggested it nor do I perceive it."

"That the contemplated action is not unlawful is too plain for argument. That it contravenes public policy is asserted. But how can this be established? I know of no means of ascertaining the policy of the public in relation to personal rights but by consulting public laws. This particular association is not a corporation, but if it was it would not follow, as seems to be supposed, that it could rightfully insist upon the retention of its members in the service of another corporation against its will."

ALTERED ELECTION RETURNS.

Two Ashland County Officials Are Now in Trouble.
ASHLAND, Wis., Nov. 27.—District Attorney Sleight has sworn out warrants before Judge Foster for the arrest of J. H. Leasia, chairman of the county board of Ashland county, and E. B. Gordon, town clerk of the town of Morse, charging each of them with the crime of forgery upon the election returns for county superintendent of schools in the town of Morse.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Secretary Gresham, who has charge of the matter, has decided upon the erection of a monument of American granite as the most suitable method of marking the birthplace of Washington at Wakefield, about seventy miles below this city on the Potomac river. The amount available for the construction of the monument is $11,000. The exact design of the shaft and its inscriptions and decorations have not been finally determined upon.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

Son-in-Law of Chief Justice Fuller Under Arrest.
CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—A warrant was issued today for the arrest of Matthew Aubrey, the young man who created a sensation several years ago by eloping with the daughter of Chief Justice Fuller of the United States supreme court. The charge is forgery, Aubrey being accused of signing the name of his father-in-law to a check for a small amount on the Atlas National bank of this city.

FATAL MINE EXPLOSION.

Ignited Gas Causes the Death of Three Coal Miners.
ALMA, Ia., Nov. 27.—A terrible explosion occurred at the Jack Oak coal mines today, three men being fatally injured. The victims are John A. Jones, James Dyon and a man named Taylor. They all lived near the mines. The explosion resulted from a common powder blast which ignited gases. The loss to mine property will be heavy.

EX-BANKERS ON TRIAL.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Charles J. and Frank R. Meadowcroft, ex-bankers, were placed on trial today on the charge of receiving money for deposits after the insolvency of their bank which failed in 1893. The proceedings indicate that the case will be hotly contested.

THE COLOR TONE OF CITIES. The color of New York is red, said a much-traveled American artist to a New York Sun reporter. "I mean," he went on, "that look down on New York from any height sufficient to give you a good bird's-eye view of the city, and you will have a distinctly red effect. Now Washington, on the other hand, seen from the monument or from the porch at Arlington, looks green. The color of Chicago, from the observation point at the top of the Masonic temple, is a whity-drab. So is San Francisco, seen from any of the summits of its seven hills. St. Louis is still whiter, when you look down at it from the top of the exchange; while Boston, looked at from the hills back of Cambridge, is gray. Philadelphia, from the scaffolding of the city hall tower, is red; and Baltimore, as you get a glimpse of it from Druid hill, is also red, but a deeper red—something approaching burnt sienna.

THE COLOR TONE OF CITIES. "Of course, you understand, I don't mean to say that you see no other colors than those I have mentioned when looking at the respective cities. Those colors I mean have the preponderance; that is, they are the cities' color tones, so to speak; and if an artist of the impressionist school wanted to paint a distant view of any of the cities mentioned with a single slap of the brush, it would mean a red blotch with a green streak up the middle for New York, a whity-green blurry for Washington, an undulating smudge of gray for San Francisco, and so on."

COUNTY IS NOT AFFECTED.

Hancock Township Alone Suffers the Loss of Its Delinquent Tax Roll.

EFFORT BEING MADE TO BEAR OSCEOLA STOCK.

Anonymous Circular Sent to Small Stockholders Saying the Osceola Stock is Worth but Little.

[All communications intended for this department should be addressed to Horace J. Stevens, Houghton, Mich. Telephone connection.]

HANCOCK.

The statement that the decision of Judge Hubbell, declaring invalid the tax levy of 1892 in the township of Hancock, might invalidate the levy of that year for the whole county and that in such case the entire delinquent tax of two years ago would be uncollectible, proves fortunately not to be warranted by the facts in the case. The decision of the court was based upon the fact that the necessary certificate of comparison was not signed by the county clerk. The archives of the auditor general's office at Lansing were examined by the attorneys of the Keweenaw association and the omission was not discovered by the auditor general, as it was plainly his duty to examine the returns carefully for errors or omissions. The delinquent tax lists of 1892 for all of the townships were prepared by Treasurer Miller, and were by him taken to the county clerk for comparison. The comparison was duly made and the lists found correct. The twelve different certificates for the twelve townships of the county were filled out and all but one were signed. It is probable that two of the sheets became stuck together or that one of the little books containing the tax lists were accidentally inserted in another, hence the omission. Had the auditor general's clerical force exerted ordinary discretion the error would have been discovered in time for rectification. The amount of tax covered by the decision is between six and seven hundred dollars. The township officers are in excellent condition, as enough money was turned over from the highway fund to carry things on swimmingly without the money which was absorbed by the delinquent taxes. As it would probably cost as much as the amount in dispute to appeal the case to the supreme court, the township authorities will in all likelihood pocket the loss.

The ball of the Irish Relief club will be given at St. Patrick's hall this evening. The members of the club have been untiring in their efforts to render the ball a pleasure to those who attend and have every reason to congratulate themselves on the prospects for this evening.

The last vestige of ice has disappeared from Portage and Torch lakes and the terrific storms that have been raging on the big lake have rendered the mariner's life anything but a pleasant one.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held as usual, taking place this year at the Hancock Methodist church. Rev. J. Edward Reilly of the Hancock Congregational church will conduct the morning services at 10 a. m. At the evening services Rev. E. W. Frazee of the Houghton Methodist church will preach and responsive exercises will be conducted by W. Wright with prayer by Rev. F. A. Holtzhausen.

HOUGHTON.

At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon George H. Loranger of Hancock and Miss Clara Kutscheld of Houghton will be married by the Rev. William Geers at the parsonage of St. Ignace church. A wedding reception will be held in the evening at the residence of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Loranger will take up their residence at Calumet.

Professor Keeler of the Houghton High school left Tuesday for lower Michigan to spend Thanksgiving with his own people. It is anticipated that a Miss Bliss of Ann Arbor will become Mrs. Keeler before the professor's return to duties pedagogical.

The electricians are wiring the Sheldon residence, soon to be used for club purposes.

The special train which will carry the members of the Houghton military company to Calumet this evening for the purpose of attending the annual ball of the Calumet Light Guards, will leave the Houghton depot at 7:30 sharp and will return "after the ball is over." Fare, fifty cents for the round trip.

OSCEOLA.

In a private letter to the writer, I. H. Perkins & Co. the well known Boston brokers, comment as follows on the anonymous circular which has been spread in an effort to bear Osceola stock:

"Some one has evidently been making use of the Osceola list for an anonymous circular on the value of that mine has been sent to all the small stockholders to the effect that the shares are not worth much. Up to this time the circular has produced little effect. It is supposed to have been put out by a concern which is reputed to do a good deal of Lake Superior business, and is short of their customers' stock."

This view of the matter is undoubtedly the correct one. The writer of the circular evidently had some acquaintance with the mine, but the assertions made, all of which were calculated to injure the standing of the mine, were false, and apparently so through malice and through ignorance. A stockholder who thinks the property he has an interest in will cease paying dividends or that its shares will depreciate in value sells his stock and holds his own counsel. The only possible object in the issuance of such a false and apparently malicious circular would be to depress the market value of stock—and the only object in depressing the price would be to buy in, either in hope of a future profit or to cover a shortage.

CALUMET.

The annual ball of the Light Guards takes place this evening at the Armory. A special train will bring the Houghton company and invited guests from Houghton and Hancock while a number of guests will drive up from Lake Linden and South Lake Linden. There is every prospect that the ball will prove a brilliant event socially and a remunerative one financially.

Charles Williams and Miss Annie Kemp will be wedded this morning at the Sacred Heart church at 9:30 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Williams will then return to Hancock where they will reside.

The new hard iron foundry at Hodge's works is enclosed and while the painters are at work on the outside the carpenters are busy inside.

FOUR KINDS OF WOOD.

All Parts of One Tree Now Growing on the Elk River, Missouri. Four miles from Pineville, Mo., on the grounds of J. L. Parish, is a freak of nature so curious that if I had not seen it with my own eyes I could scarcely have believed it possible, says a writer in the Kansas City Times. On the bank of Elk river rises a large tree that towers high above the neighboring trees. At the ground a solid, buttress trunk appears, from eight to ten feet in diameter. A little higher than a man's head this high trunk divides into four lesser trunks, the two smaller of which are in themselves fair-sized trees, while the other two are far above the average size. Here comes in the queer part of the story. Of these divergent trunks the two larger ones are respectively an elm and a sycamore, while the two smaller ones are an oak and a sycamore. Above the union of common trunk each tree, in leaf, branch and bark, is normal to its type. The trunk itself seems one homogeneous whole. I would not presume to say that close examination would not show in the bark from different sections of the trunk those peculiarities that distinguish the bark of one tree from that of another, but certainly these characteristics do not show on cursory examination, nor are their lines of jointure visible where the four trunks coalesce. I doubt if anyone can point to a stranger growth than this. Two sycamores, an oak and an elm, all growing from one common trunk. This meeting together of four youthful tree trunks as they thickened with age is occasionally seen, but this is an unusually fine illustration. Each tree must, however, form its own bark—that is to say, no one of them has been wholly enveloped by another. Hence a careful investigation ought to disclose a slight line where the incuring bark of each original tree meets.

CAT KILLS AN EAGLE.

The Bird of Freedom No Match for Its Four-Footed Opponent.

Persons living at Carbonate, Lawrence county, S. D., the other day witnessed a remarkable struggle between a cat and an eagle, in which the cat was the victor, killing its antagonist. The cat, says the Chicago Herald, is owned by Charles Wiswell, of Carbonate, and has for some time been in the habit of killing rabbits, night hawks, mountain rats and other small game. While watching for the reappearance of a chipmunk which it had chased into a hole, the cat was pounced upon by a full-grown eagle of the bald species. Pussy accepted the gauge of battle thrown down by the eagle. It was a desperate struggle, and although the cat was badly scratched by the eagle's talons, it secured a decided advantage. For a few moments the air was filled with fur and feathers and the ground was all torn up for many yards around the spot, but pussy in a short time succeeded in biting through the neck of the eagle. The struggles of the bird of freedom grew weaker and weaker and soon ceased altogether. Pussy, exhausted by the violent exertions and sore from the wounds inflicted by the eagle's talons, rested for a moment; then, as calm as though sitting on a rug before the kitchen fire, went carefully about smoothing out its ruffled fur. The combat was witnessed by a number of people, everyone of whom expressed a desire to buy the cat, but Mr. Wiswell says he would not sell it for the best mine in the Black hills. The eagle measured six feet four inches from tip to tip.

THE COLOR TONE OF CITIES.

To the Impressionist New York is a Red Blotch with a Green Streak.

"The color of New York is red," said a much-traveled American artist to a New York Sun reporter. "I mean," he went on, "that look down on New York from any height sufficient to give you a good bird's-eye view of the city, and you will have a distinctly red effect. Now Washington, on the other hand, seen from the monument or from the porch at Arlington, looks green. The color of Chicago, from the observation point at the top of the Masonic temple, is a whity-drab. So is San Francisco, seen from any of the summits of its seven hills. St. Louis is still whiter, when you look down at it from the top of the exchange; while Boston, looked at from the hills back of Cambridge, is gray. Philadelphia, from the scaffolding of the city hall tower, is red; and Baltimore, as you get a glimpse of it from Druid hill, is also red, but a deeper red—something approaching burnt sienna.

"Of course, you understand, I don't mean to say that you see no other colors than those I have mentioned when looking at the respective cities. Those colors I mean have the preponderance; that is, they are the cities' color tones, so to speak; and if an artist of the impressionist school wanted to paint a distant view of any of the cities mentioned with a single slap of the brush, it would mean a red blotch with a green streak up the middle for New York, a whity-green blurry for Washington, an undulating smudge of gray for San Francisco, and so on."

A VICTORY FOR PASKOLA.

It Receives the Official Endorsement of Eminent Experts and a Jury of Representative Citizens.

The suit brought by Ohio's food commissioner against a Cincinnati druggist for selling Paskola on the ground that it was nothing but glucose resulted in a great victory for Paskola and a verdict against the state.

During the course of the trial Professor Shaller of the University of Cincinnati testified that Paskola was not glucose, and even if it was it would be harmless. He also bore witness to its activity as a digestive agent. Professor William Dickore of the Miami college testified to the same facts. So did Professor Schmidt, the chemist of the board of health, Professor William Hoffman and others.

A practical test was made in court showing the digestive action of Paskola on eggs and meats of various kinds, whereas glucose under precisely the same conditions produced no effect whatever.

This test but confirmed the experts' statements and proved Paskola to be of great value in indigestion and wasting diseases.

This verdict disposes of the malicious attack that has been made against Paskola by interested rivals and suits have now been brought against the proprietors of a well-known emulsion of cod liver oil for having given wide circulation to a false formula and other misrepresentations regarding it.

The animus of this attack will be better understood when it is stated that Paskola is being largely used in the place of cod liver oil.

WOMAN NO LONGER CHATTERS.

When She Has Anything to Say Now She Writes It.

One of the joys of my childhood was to stand in front of a newspaper shop, with face close to the glass, devouring eagerly all the illustrated comic papers in sight. The news agent was often inconsiderate, in that the papers were folded in two, so that half the picture or the moral thereof was frequently missing. Then I used to pretend that it was a stupid joke, and I did not care to read any more. Even in those days the critical spirit of the age must have infected me, for I remember, says a writer in the New York Advertiser, a vague discomfort, due no doubt to the unexpressed idea that, had it not been for talkative women and for warlike mothers-in-law, the editors of comic papers would be short of material.

Mothers-in-law have been grossly maligned, but we all know the talkative woman. The disciplinary effects of contact with such a being are unrivaled. Concentration of thought cannot be attained more surely than by reading assiduously while the woman talks. One of two things is inevitable. You either quarrel violently or learn to read stealthily through everything, and to quarrel with people who know your private affairs is foolish, for it leads to a publicity which modest souls shun. The only thing to be done is to read with persistence. Practice renders this quite simple. When you are an adept you will find yourself throwing in a graceful "Yes" or "No" whenever the woman stops to take breath.

Owing to the vast increase in newspaper correspondence and to other literary causes, the voluble woman is rapidly becoming extinct. A few years ago almost all the writing was done by men. Consequently whenever a man was filled with exuberant vitality he wrote a novel or a poem. Thus he was able to remove the pressure from his brain, and double joy—expound his views without contradiction. If he could not get anything printed, he could still write. As a last resource, he could always write letters to the newspapers, sign them "Paterfamilias," "Pro Bono Publico," or "An Indignant Ratepayer." This kind of thing has a particular charm for some people; you can say so many nasty things about your enemies under cover of a swimming bath agitation or a schoolboard question.

For woman, till lately, there was nothing of this kind. Consequently her vitality bubbled over in foolishness, and her sex was stamped as a sex of babblers, through no actual fault of its own. Those women who did not chatter were either dull and unresponsive, or they were sensible and expressed their exuberance. As physicians might say, repression induced caustic speeches when the individual was off guard and thus women got the reputation of being scolds. Again, through no fault of their own, all this is being altered. Now, nearly every woman at least writes to the newspapers, and many write for the newspapers, and very well, too—sometimes, and so a blessed end is served. Journalism is a healing balm. The voice of the talkative woman will soon be heard no longer in the land and the comic papers will have to take a new line.

TWO LIVES SAVED.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at Farham's Drug Store. Each Nation for Itself. This large uncertainty which is now characterizing all things Russian adds a new element of confusion to the already complex and doubtful situation in the far east. It is understood here that England has made proposals for a joint action of the powers in the Pacific and has been refused by all save Italy. Whether this be true or based only on the general failure of the present foreign office administration to do the things it wants to do is not clear, but the tone of the semi-official papers in Berlin, Vienna, and Paris alike, makes it apparent that nobody intends to risk a scorching for the sake of bringing the British chestnuts out of the fire. The issues involved in the China-Japanese struggle are too big and the chances of individual profit, in case of a general oriental breaking up, are too fascinating for any power to surrender thus early the advantage of a free hand.

CAUGHT ON THE FLY.

Hughes Ideals leave this afternoon for Iron Mountain. A. D. McIntyre and Chan C. Brown are up from Alger county.

Sunday hours will be observed at the postoffice on Thanksgiving day. There will be a raffle at Shea Bros.' saloon, Lake and Main streets, this evening for a full set of silver tableware.

A social will be given at the Presbyterian church under the auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E. Thursday evening. All are cordially invited to attend.

Before another issue of THE MINING JOURNAL appears the American national fowl will have been offered up as a smoking sacrifice upon millions of dinner tables.

A. S. Westlake has an announcement in today's paper that will interest all lady readers. The subject of corsets, always an important one, receives his special attention this week.

Kassel Oshinsky, always presenting startling bargains to the public, announces a closing-out sale of men's, boys' and children's clothing and overcoats at fifty cents on the dollar.

The pupils of the High school will make today their usual distribution of Thanksgiving dinners. Those who have not yet sent around their contributions should do so bright and early.

The Machinists' ball this evening will be the most elaborate given so far this season. The Marquette Ideal orchestra will furnish music and the ladies of the Locomotive Firemen will serve supper.

Attention is called to the announcement elsewhere of Manthel & Gibson. They have received six thousand pounds of poultry, which must be sold by tonight. In order to do so they will shade the regular price a little lower.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held at the Presbyterian church at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. Rev. Mr. Eastman of the Methodist church will preach the sermon and there will be appropriate music by the church choir.

A broken wire caused the fire bell to clang eccentrically yesterday afternoon. The defect was soon tested out and the line repaired. The fire alarm circuit is so arranged that a cross or break is at once brought to attention by the bell ringing.

A MERE ACCIDENT.

Was Responsible for the Fact That Tennyson's "Timbuctoo" Got the Prize. Mr. James Payn tells an amusing story of the way in which Tennyson's "Timbuctoo" won its prize at the university, says the New York Tribune.

The examiners for the year were three-the vice chancellor, who had a great reputation but a violent temper and did not write very well; a classical professor who knew no poetry that was not in a dead language; and a mathematical professor. It was agreed that each should signify by the letters "r" and "b" (for "good" and "bad") what he thought of the poems and the vice had the manuscript first.

When the mathematical professor got them he found "Timbuctoo" scored all over with "g's," and though he could not understand why, nor indeed the poem itself, and did not think it worth while as he afterward said; the fact was that he was afraid to ask the vice his reasons, so he wrote "g" on the poem also. The classical professor thought it rather funny that both his predecessors should admire so unintelligible a production; but, as he said, "he did not care one iota about the matter," and so wrote "g" on it also; and as no other poem had three "g's" the prize was unanimously awarded to the author of "Timbuctoo."

After all was over the three examiners happened to meet one day and the vice, in his absolute fashion, fell to abusing the other two for admiring the poem. They replied very naturally and with some indignation that they should never have dreamt of admiring it if he himself had not scored it over with "g's." "G's," he said, "they were 'q's' for queries, and I could not understand two consecutive lines of it."

Mr. Payn says that there was a queer resemblance between himself and another Trinity man. "Not only was I often addressed by persons who took me for him, but people used to ask, apropos of nothing, whether I knew So-and-So. I remember making a considerable impression on a chance passenger in a railway train on the Cambridge line, who was staring at me rather hard, by suddenly observing: 'No, sir, I do not know Mr. So-and-So.' It had been the very question he was going to ask me, but my anticipation of it seemed to him so uncanny that he got out at the next station."

KEIGN OF THE COMMON PEOPLE

An Assurance That Future Wars Must Have Reasonable Grounds.

We are frequently told by cynical critics that democracy is on its trial, but when the democracy demands the abolition of standing armies, or urges a mutual disarmament, says the Westminster Review, it gives a good answer to critics of this type. Such facts are sufficient in themselves to enable us to contrast the blind and stagnant selfishness of callous autocrats with the advance possible under broader forms of government which stimulate the progress of our race by putting the destinies of humanity into its own hands. He have in such expressions of the popular voice an evidence of a growing sense of moral and intellectual self-respect among the common people of the nations of the world. We are coming to the time when the peasant and the artisan will inquire into the merits of a quarrel in which they are ordered to sacrifice themselves. They may refuse to stand up and be shot down without asking question, and not be so easily led away by appeals to that spurious patriotism which has ever been the device by means of which ambitious monarchs and wily statesmen have sought to make their quarrels those of the communities. Hitherto we have had democracy in name rather than in fact. The way in which the sayings and doings of monarchs and statesmen are chronicled by the press; the manner in which such people have been allowed to act without question upon affairs of the gravest concern to humanity; the extent to which they have been able to count upon the support of the people in any war they might resolve upon; the levity often shown by them toward the interests of the people-without whose support the most powerful among them would be reduced to the level of common clay-in such matters we have proof of the extent to which we are still governed by men whose chief claim to govern often consists of the fact that their ancestors did the same before them.

Silk House in the Wash Tub. To wash a silk blouse proceed as follows: Make a good lather with white curd soap and hot water in a small tub or pan and add a small wineglassful of vinegar, pouring the same amount into another pan containing about two quarts of cold water. Place the blouse in the water, holding it by the neckband and rub it downward, taking care not to drag it in any way and never to rub soap upon it. As soon as it appears to be clean place it in the cold water, stir it about to remove all trace of soap and squeeze carefully, but do not wring; roll in a dry cloth for a few minutes or pass through an India rubber wringer, and iron on both sides, keeping the grain of the silk quite even. If the blouse needs stiffening it can be passed through a solution of gum arabic (made by adding a quarter of an ounce of gum arabic to one quart of boiling water) and then ironed, but the use of the gum spoils the texture of the silk.-Chicago Tribune.

His Lamb Answered. In a restaurant the other day a gentleman left his wife for a few moments to chat with an acquaintance at another table, and while he was there his friend persuaded him to partake of some lamb. Under a misapprehension the waiter removed the lamb before he had eaten it, whereupon he exclaimed: "Goodness! where is my lamb?" His wife, overhearing the question, answered, in a clear voice: "Here I am!"

When Voltaire wrote his "Candide," in which occurs the bit of satire about the eight tramps meeting at an inn, most of them without money enough to pay for their dinner, there were, at that time, no less than eight dethroned monarchs wandering about Europe, some of them in great poverty.

FIREMEN'S BALL TONIGHT.

The annual ball of the Ishpeming fire department will be held tonight at the A. O. U. W. hall in the Anderson block. Over two hundred tickets have been sold. The firemen did not make much of an effort to dispose of tickets, as they intend within a few months to begin soliciting funds for the firemen's tournament, to be held in this city next summer. Several of those who bought one or two tickets for the ball offered to take more, but the boys did not wish to realize any more than expenses this time in order that all may feel disposed to assist them in raising funds for the tournament they propose making one of the best ever held in the state.

The members of the department are requested to be at headquarters at 8 o'clock this evening preparatory to marching to the A. O. U. W. hall fifteen minutes later. The City band will head the parade. The music for the ball will be furnished by the Twin City orchestra and supper will be served at the Nelson House. Landlord Outhwaite will set out an excellent spread for the firemen and their guests and is prepared to receive a large crowd. Fifty cents a plate will be charged for supper.

Thanksgiving Services.

Most of the churches of this city will hold Thanksgiving services tomorrow, and there will be several entertainments and festivals in the evening. At the Swedish Lutheran church services will be held at 10:15 o'clock a. m. An appropriate sermon will be preached by the pastor. In the evening an entertainment will be given in the Young People's hall under auspices of the ladies of the church. A program, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, will be rendered and Mr. Charles Regnstrom will read a poem which he composed for the occasion. The ladies will serve coffee, cake and oysters. An admission fee of twenty-five cents for adults and ten for children will be charged at the door and there will be a charge of ten cents a dish for oysters. The ladies extend a cordial invitation to the public at that end.

At the Division street Methodist church union services for the Methodist and Presbyterian congregations will be held. Rev. C. D. Jacobs of the Presbyterian church will preach the sermon. In the evening "Queen Esther" will be rendered by members of the Harmonic society. There will be seventy voices in the chorus. The admission for adults will be thirty-five and fifty cents.

At the Swedish Methodist church there will be services in the morning commencing at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. F. Gustafson, the pastor, will preach a sermon appropriate to the day. At 7:30 o'clock in the evening an entertainment will be given in the church. The program will be made up of vocal and instrumental selections, speeches, etc. The ladies will serve coffee, cake, etc. No admission will be charged.

The members of the Norwegian Lutheran church will give an entertainment at Braastad's hall in the afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock. The program will consist of speeches, musical selections, etc., and the ladies will serve oysters, turkey and other good things. At the Salisbury Methodist church the bachelors of the congregation will serve supper, beginning at 5 o'clock. As soon as the feast is over an entertainment, in which some of the best talent in the city will appear, will be given. Adults will be charged twenty-five cents and children fifteen cents for supper and entertainment.

The Great Incahoney.

Andrew H. Patton, great incahoney of the Red Men of the United States, will be in Ishpeming tomorrow, instead of Saturday next, as previously announced, he being compelled, owing to a change in his route, to change his date here. A special meeting of the Red Men's lodge will be held tomorrow evening, when Mr. Patton will give instructions in degree work. He will remain here all Friday and that evening. A banquet will be given in his honor by the Red Men and Pochontas lodges at the Red Men's hall. A large turnout of members to both meetings is desired. The regular meeting of White Rose tent of Rechabites, which was to be held tomorrow evening at the Red Men's hall, has been postponed for one week on account of the hall being in use for the special meeting of the Red Men.

Caught Stealing Coal.

Officer Lindberg caught two boys stealing coal from Hampton's sheds Monday night. Mr. Hampton knew that coal was being stolen from his bins right along and asked the officers to keep a lookout for the thieves. The lads were taken before Justice Kennedy, and a postponement of the hearing of the case was taken until today to enable Mr. Blanchard, county agent of the board of corrections, charities and reforms, to be present.

Concert Selections.

The Twin City orchestra will render two selections, "The Night Alarm" and "Life on the Mississippi," during intermission at the firemen's ball tonight. The synopsis of "The Night Alarm" is as follows: "Opening, a calm and peaceful night; lights out—10 o'clock; choral, all asleep; cry of fire, fire; alarm from box No. 32; gallop; horses rush out; on the way to the fire; tableaux; before coming to the fire; at the fire; unreeling the hose; whistle for coal; fire out; recall; reeling up of hose; the march home; the finale." Following is the synopsis of "Life on the Mississippi": Opening: Early morning on the river; steamboats pass-

THEY LIKE THE JAPANESE.

American Sailors Speak Well of the Mikado's Honest Subjects. In her present struggle with China Japan has the undenied moral support of the American blue jackets. Those who have spent some time upon the Asiatic station and have experienced the hospitality of the mikado's subjects are enthusiastic in their praise of the Japanese and equally rigorous in their condemnation of John Chinaman. Those seamen who have not been as fortunate hope to be some time, and the stories told by their fellows have awakened in them a respect for the Japanese, and contempt, deep and irradicable, for the pig-tailed Celestials who dwell in the flowery kingdom. Should the United States have occasion before the present war passes into history to uphold Japan the task of fighting in her cause will be a grateful one to our sailors. Many of the seamen who recently returned from the orient on the Lancaster can now be found around the Brooklyn navy-yard.

"Why does I like the Japanese?" said one of them the other day to a New York World man. "Why, sir, you've never been to the Asiatic station or you'd never ask a question like that. I lived in Japan when our ship was there—lived among her people—and a nicer crew I never knew. They treats us like lords, so they does, when we're out there. They're the most faithful, the most polite and the most honest furriners on earth; that they are. Sure, when a sailor man gets his skin full of frog in Tokio he never need fear that when he gets his bearings again his pockets will be empty. No matter how much money he has he can travel in safety. No Jap would ever think of stealing from him. I have seen a finricksha man watch over one of our fellows who was full, when his blessed guardian angel wouldn't recognize him. He was kicked and cuffed and told to shove off more times than I've swallowed good whisky, but it was to go. That Jap stuck like a leech. And when the sailor lay down in the gutter and fell asleep the little man lifted him into the finricksha, carried him home and put him in bed. The sailor had a couple of hundred in his clothes, and it was there, every penny of it, when he turned out in the morning. They are very generous, too, and lend our boys any money that they have. The fellows play sad tricks on them sometimes. I have known Japs to come out to the ships asking for John L. Sullivan, James G. Blaine, Grover Cleveland, Dr. Talmage and other distinguished citizens who, they said, had borrowed five or ten or maybe fifteen yen from them. They always got the money, however, for few of the boys would swindle a Jap.

"Is it the same in China?" Indeed, it is not. A Chinaman would steal everything you have. You can bet your life we are with the Japs, and I only hope they lick the shoes off the blooming Chinamen."

Strangling the Lord's Fish.

Some years ago in a Maine town a revival had been conducted jointly by two churches. When the meetings were concluded one dominie put forth his best work and succeeded in getting nearly all the converts into his fold. The next Sunday the other person felt that this circumstance needed a word of explanation, so, looking down at the handful of converts in his congregation, he said: "Brethren, it doesn't make any odds who strings the fish—the Lord knows who caught 'em."

At the close of the entertainment the floor will be cleared for dancing, the music for which will be furnished by members of the orchestra, assisted by Florence Curran, pianist.

Tied Up for the Winter. The street car service between Negaunee and Ishpeming has been abandoned for the winter. The storm which set in Monday and continued all that night and yesterday drifted the tracks so that it has been deemed advisable not to continue running cars. The expense of keeping the road open is great and traffic light, so it does not pay to keep the cars running, hence the decision of the management. Those who have occasion to visit either city frequently will miss the street cars very much, as the trains running either way are from three to four hours apart.

Union Services. There will be union services for the Methodist and Presbyterian congregations at the Methodist church tomorrow morning. Rev. J. A. Green, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will preach the sermon. At St. Paul's church a high mass in honor of the day will be celebrated by Rev. Langner, the pastor, commencing at 8 o'clock.

The members of the Mission congregation will observe Thanksgiving by a feast in the evening at the "Mission home" on Cyr street. Twenty-five cents will be charged for the supper. A supper will also be served tomorrow evening by the members of the Finnish Temperance society. Twenty-five cents a plate will be charged for the meal. There will be music in attendance and a good time is anticipated.

The Wind's Work. The glass in one of the large windows in the vacant store room of the Sundberg block was broken by the wind Monday. The glass was a little loose, as also was the frame, this causing the accident. It will cost about $100 to replace the plate.

Hibernian social Club. A club bearing the above title has been organized in Negaunee. Its object is to adopt some means of amusement for the winter months. At a recent meeting a committee to report on a ball or social to be held at a near date, was appointed. When the committee makes its report the club will arrange a winter program.

LEARN TO WALK.

A Grace That Needs Cultivation in America.

An observer at Saratoga notes the lack of proper training in the modulation of the voice and in correct pronunciation on the part of most of the women who crowd the fashionable summer resorts. To this might be added a very general failure to acquire an easy and graceful walk and bearing. While there are finishing schools without number where it is supposed that some attention is paid to these matters, it is a fact that unless an American woman is naturally graceful in her movements she is condemned to be awkward and stiff or "slochy" in spite of the ease with which this may be overcome. Perhaps it arises from excessive self-consciousness. Certainly that is at the root of the apparent seriousness or melancholy, or else the hysterical animation of our women, who are seen to advantage only in the privacy of their homes.

The vivacious and exclamatory French visitors to the World's fair were struck by the sedate and almost sad bearing of American crowds in the Midway. The purpose of this annex to the great show was to provoke hilarity, but it was a dismal failure as far as the Americans were concerned. In public we are like the English, of whom old Froissart wrote: "They take their pleasures sadly, after their fashion." We are self-conscious, and each of us has found it difficult or impossible to get rid of the delusion that we are the observed of everybody, and that the chief occupation of the world is to comment on our appearance and behavior. Therefore we are sedate almost to a look of sullenness, or we are vivacious to a palpably artificial degree and frequently rude. At home we are found to be particularly the women, amiable and naturally cheerful and bright. A stranger taking his first ride in a crowded street car would declare Americans to be morose and dull and cold blooded people, or else, on seeing the hysterical young woman or the woman whose artificial animation is associated with a loud voice and who talks for the benefit of the crowd, he would regard us as vulgar. Americans are not any of these things, but simply the victims of neglect.

Without being made obviously and aggressively artificial, the American woman can be made graceful and sufficiently dignified without losing every appearance of amiability. It is no more natural to walk after the manner of St. Vitus, with jerkiness, which is a common fault with American girls, than with a graceful swing. It is certainly no more difficult to acquire a free and charming walk than the walk which seems to dislocate the hip joint, and which was highly popular among school girls a few years ago. Something has been gained for tall and long limbed women by the tragic Delaunay walk, but it is not adapted to the young women who are most in need of training, and who carry themselves as though they are on two jointless sticks and are in constant haste.

It is well worth while for the young woman to pay a good deal of attention to her walk. Also to the modulation of her voice and to her pronunciation, both of which are neglected by school instructors. The American girl has brains, high ideas, a sense of humor and good nature, besides the distinctly domestic virtues. Almost her sole faults are those we have mentioned, and they are easily corrected.

Now is the time to have your order for a winter suit or overcoat. Our prices are reasonable. H. J. Peterson.

DEEDS OF STRONG MEN.

Physical Feats Performed in Ancient and Modern Times.

Latter-Day Athletes Far More Than a Match for Those of Old--Some of the Wonderful Feats Performed by Giants of the Present.

I have often heard it asserted, says a writer in the New York Advertiser, that the human race was degenerating in regard to personal strength and activity; that the ancients were physically stronger than the men of modern times. In searching through the records of the athletes of ancient Greece, etc., I have been enabled to make some comparison between the strong men of that time and those of the present day, which, I think, shows conclusively that the present generation are far ahead of any authenticated record we can find of the ancients. The idea that the human race as a whole is degenerating is a popular delusion, founded on ignorance of the plainest and most undeniable facts. The idea that men are falling off in size is a mistaken one. There are good grounds for doubting that any man of former times ever performed a feat of strength beyond the powers of the strongest man of the present time. In popular estimation Samson (the original one) remains the typical strong man, and many will think it sacrilege to doubt his claim to be the strongest man that ever lived. Yet what feat is recorded of him that has any undoubted definite value as a measure of strength. He killed a young lion with his hands. Polydamus also killed with his bare hands a huge fierce lion, and so did Richard Cœur de Lion, according to history. Samson broke ropes of various kinds. How strong were they? Breaking ropes and chains are indefinite proofs of strength. He killed one thousand men with the jawbone of an ass. To fracture a man's skull with such a weapon needs no very great amount of strength, as several men have killed a man with one blow of the same fist. If one thousand men were all opposed to him at once they must have been a sorry lot.

Another celebrated athlete who flourished about 500 B. C. was Milo, of Crotona, a Greek town in the south of Italy. In his case also we have nothing recorded by which we can form any accurate idea of his strength. He was victor six times at the Olympic games, and among the things attributed to him are the following: Binding a cord round his head, he could break it by retaining his breath and swelling out his veins; with his elbow resting on his side he defied anyone to open his closed fist; standing on an oiled quilt he defied anyone to push him off it. The last is sheer nonsense, the first two are definite. Samson or Sandow of the present day can bind chains around their arms, and by swelling their muscles can burst the chains easily, which I consider a much harder thing to do than breaking a cord--that would be child's play for them. I have seen Samson break a silver quarter in two with his fingers. Let anyone try to do it, and he will find out what an enormous power it requires to bend or break it.

Coming to more recent times, we find Thomas Topman, an Englishman who exhibited about 1740. He was about 5 feet 10 inches in height and weighed in the neighborhood of 200 pounds, and was very strongly built. Topman's feats were feats of real strength, and he is the first performer that could bear comparison with those of the present day. Here are two of the best records of real strength recorded of him: He stood on a platform which had two parallel bars at a convenient height on his right and left, on which to place his hands. Below him on a lower platform were three barrels of water, weighing altogether about 1,836 pounds. These being bound together, a chain from them passed through the platform on which Topman stood, and was attached to a belt that passed over his neck and shoulders; he then lifted the whole by straightening his arms and legs. His other genuine record was lifting by seizing with his hands a frame on which rested a stone weighing 800 pounds.

It is my candid opinion that there are men living at the present time of greater personal strength than any Milo, Samson or Topman. We will now place the following records against Topman's lift of 1,836 pounds. In this country some twenty years ago several athletes gave their attention to devising harness for lifting heavy weights, with the following results: Dr. S. W. Winslip lifted 2,600 pounds, John J. Lucas 2,700 pounds, A. A. Butts 2,737 1/2 pounds, and William B. Curtis, at present editor of the Spirit of the Times, 3,230 pounds--1,403 pounds more than Topman's. There is no doubt but that the apparatus of these athletes was superior to that used by Topman, but Donald Dinnie, the famous Scottish athlete, in that he had no supports for his arms, with mere straps, lifted 1,904 pounds. In 1884 Louis Cyr, a young Canadian, standing under a plank, with legs slightly bent at the knees, back bent forward and his hands resting on a stool, pushed up with his back, arms and legs the plank with pig iron resting on it weighing 3,550 1/2 pounds, and a few years later the same athlete, using the same method, raised 3,536 pounds.

In hand lifting there is less room for improved apparatus, and here again the modern strong men completely eclipsed Topman. Dr. Winslip lifted 1,300 pounds, William B. Curtis 1,330, L. Lenzing 1,384, David L. Dowl 1,442 1/2 pounds, and Jefferson, of Boston, lifted with his hands alone 1,714 1/2 pounds, nearly double Topman's best lift.

There are generally from half a dozen to a score of athletes, each proclaiming himself the strongest man on earth. Here are some of them: Samson, Kennedy, Sandow, Cyclops, Ajax, Atilla; the brothers Samson and Hercules and Louis Cyr, who, in the writer's opinion, is really the strongest man in the world to-day.

THE TERRIBLE TYPHOON.

A Description of Its Dire Work in the Hong Kong Harbor.

I had been anxious to see a typhoon, writes the author of Ten Years in Indo-China and China, and I had my wish gratified in Hong Kong more than once. The strength of the wind at such times is greater than I could have thought possible. It whirls ships helplessly adrift from the nearest moorings, and with sudden blast takes away the corners of houses and sends projecting verandas flying across the street.

During the height of the gale the residents for the most part shut themselves closely in their houses, carefully securing their doors and windows, and so remain with constant apprehension and dread, lest the dwelling should be swept away and themselves be entombed in the ruins.

Once, while the storm was at its worst, I ventured down to the Praya to see the crowd of Chinese boats that had been blown inshore and piled up in a mass of wreck just below the city. The sky was of dark leaden color and the wind caught up the crested waves and sent them in long, white streaks of vapor across the scene, through which the dismantled ships were dimly desiered drifting from their moorings.

The heavy, stone-faced wall of the Praya had given way, and the great granite blocks had been washed in upon the road. Half-blinded by the waves as they leapt over road and dashed in angry foam against the houses, and buffeted by the wind, I made slow headway to the east end of the settlement, where a number of foreigners were attempting to rescue two women from a small Chinese boat.

We had to cling to the lamp-posts and stanchions, and seek shelter against the doorways and walls. Advantage was taken of a slight lull in the storm to fire off rockets, but these were driven back like feathers against the houses. Then long life-boats were dragged to the pier, but the first was broken and disabled the moment it touched the water, while the second met a like fate and its gallant crew were pitched out into the sea.

In short, every effort proved abortive, and as darkness set in the unhappy women and their boat were reluctantly abandoned to their fate. Next morning the whole length of the Praya presented a scene of wreckage and desolation. Many of the Chinese, notwithstanding their shrewdness in predicting storms, had been taken quite unawares, and hence the fearful sacrifice of life and the loss of property which had ensued.
