CRIME OF A BANK CLERK.

Council Bluffs Bank Employee Shoots Two Men and Then Commits Suicide.

HE HAD BEEN CHARGED WITH DEFAUCATION.

While Facing His Two Accusers He Draws a Revolver and Shoots Them and Himself.

WOUNDED MEN MAY RECOVER.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Dec. 16.—At 11 o'clock today a tragedy was enacted in the private office of the Citizens' State bank, Council Bluffs, which may result fatally for three persons. John Huntington, assistant bookkeeper and collection clerk, shot C. A. Cromwell of Minneapolis and F. N. Hayden of Chicago, representatives of the Fidelity & Casualty company of New York and then emptied the revolver into his own brain, inflicting a wound from which he died two hours later. Cromwell and Hayden, it is thought, will recover. Huntington was one of the best known men in Council Bluffs and numbered his friends by the hundreds. As far as can be learned he had no bad habits and this makes the act harder to explain.

July last a check for $500 was turned over to him by Ira F. Hendricks, one of the employes of the bank, in the regular course of business and from that day nothing whatever has been seen or heard of it. The day following Huntington went for a vacation of several weeks to New York City. As time passed and it became evident the bank was out $500 they sent a message to the Fidelity & Casualty company, who bonded all their employes, suggesting that the inspectors make investigation. The bank officials claim that at that time they had no charges to make against Huntington or any employe of the bank. Cromwell and Hayden arrived in the city Friday. They cross-examined each of the bank employes through whose hands the missing check passed. They claim to have discovered that Huntington was spending more money than his salary of $15 a month would warrant, and on this, together with the fact that the check was last seen in his hands, they based suspicions.

Huntington and the representatives of the Fidelity company made arrangements for a meeting at the bank this morning, when the investigation was to be resumed. At the hour appointed they met and Cromwell and Hayden commenced to put the young man through a running cross fire of questions. President J. D. Edmundson and Cashier C. E. Hannan of the bank were present during most of the interview. The conference had not been in progress more than fifteen minutes when Huntington rose from his chair, pulled the revolver and commenced firing at the representatives of the Fidelity company. The revolver he used is a .41-calibre that belonged to the bank and had been kept in the desk of G. F. Spooner, the paying teller. The first three shots were fired at Cromwell, who had taken the lead in the interrogation and all three took effect. The fourth struck Hayden and then Huntington raised the weapon to his own head and fired. He fell to the floor unconscious and remained so until his death at 1:10 p. m.

The wounded men ran out of the bank down First avenue and into the Grand Hotel, blood dripping from them at every step. They were taken to their rooms and doctors summoned. It was found that one of the bullets had taken effect in Cromwell's back just to the right of the spine, about the waist line. It was located about four inches below the surface and extruded. The second bullet struck in the left side of his cheek, plowed its way around to the right side of his neck and came to a stop after just missing the carotid artery. The third struck him in the right wrist, he having thrown up his hand to strike the revolver out of Huntington's hand. It broke one of the bones of the forearm clear in two and imbedded itself in the other bone, almost severing it. Cromwell will probably lose the use of his right hand on account of the stiffening of the wrist joint as the result of the fractured bones.

Hayden fared better. The bullet struck him in the neck and after passing around about a quarter of the way, emerged and imbedded itself in the panel of a door, where it was afterwards found. His wounds are not considered to be of a serious nature. The bullet that took Huntington's life entered the skull just behind his ear and lodged back of his right eye, where its presence is shown by the discoloration of the lid. The parents of young Huntington were at once summoned. His aged mother is beside herself with grief. "That he is dead is bad enough," said she, "but that he should do such a thing is terrible."

KILLED THE CONSTABLE

Ruffians Cause Trouble by Refusing to Pay at Toll Gate.

NASHVILLE, Dec. 16.—A desperate battle is reported from White Creek's turnpike toll gate near this city between three unknown men and a posse of officers. The unknown men rode through the toll gate, refusing to pay toll and intimidating the keeper, who, after they left, swore out warrants before Squire H. M. Wilkerson for their arrest. The justice, in company with the constable, E. D. Manlove, went in pursuit of the men, and when they were overtaken a battle ensued in which Manlove was shot dead and Wilkerson and a man named Vester badly wounded. One of the unknown men was wounded.

Later news from the scene of the killing is that neither Justice Wilkerson nor Fred Vester were wounded. The shooting was done by J. W. Haynes, a merchant of Turnersville, who escaped and is now being pursued by a large number of men and blood hounds. W. A. Morgan, who was with Haynes, was arrested. He denied taking part in the shooting.

CREEDON REINSTATED.

Immunity Granted Him Because of His Confession.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—The police commission yesterday reinstated Captain Creedon. Two resolutions were offered by Commissioner Murray. One provided for the release from suspension of Captain Creedon and the other called for a conference between the president of the police board and Chairman Lexow of the senate committee concerning Creedon's case and other matters. Commissioner Sheehan cast the only vote against the first resolution, the second being carried unanimously.

It was the general understanding at police headquarters that Superintendent Byrnes was alone responsible for Captain Creedon's suspension at the executive session of the police board yesterday. It was known that the superintendent was against the captain from the moment he heard that Creedon had confessed the payment of the money. Superintendent Byrnes said today: "I have as yet said nothing of the course I shall pursue toward any person, either directly or indirectly. It is not for me to override the police commissioners. Anything that I shall do shall be in the nature of holding an investigation as to whether there are any other officers of this kind in the city and if so who they are."

Policeman A. E. Thorne, who was arrested yesterday for perjury, has made a full confession of all he knows about police bribery. He implicates Captain Stephenson in particular.

WEEK WILL BE INTERESTING.

Senate Considers Canal Bill and the House the Banking Bill.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—In the senate the general understanding appears to be that the Nicaragua canal bill will continue to occupy attention until a vote is taken upon it. It is probable the committee on appropriations may ask for the consideration of the urgency deficiency bill toward the last of the week. The program with reference to holiday adjournment so far as one is arranged is to adjourn Saturday, the 22nd inst., until Thursday, the 3rd of January.

This week promises to be an exciting one in the house owing to the action of the banking and currency committee in bringing forward the Carlisle banking bill. There is considerable opposition among the Democrats to set upon debate and it seems there is a large possibility the committee will be overruled and a special order will give this week to debate with provision for a final vote after the holiday recess.

ON A HUNTING TRIP.

The President and Friends Will Visit North Carolina.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—President Cleveland, accompanied by Dr. O'Reilly, Captain R. D. Evans and Charles Jefferson, left Washington this evening on the Atlantic coast line train for a hunting trip on the coast of North Carolina. The trip has been in contemplation since the early fall and is taken at this time in the hope that the outing will benefit the president and eradicate the remnant of his rheumatism which still lingers with him. The party will return in about a week. Georgetown is the destination of the presidential party. Fine duck hunting is offered there and a few deer are occasionally shot. The party will reach its destination tomorrow morning.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 16.—President Cleveland's train arrived here at 7 p. m. and made a stop of twenty minutes. He came to the car door and shook hands with about two hundred people who piled over each other to reach him.

CAUSED MUCH EXCITEMENT

Italian House of Deputies Prorogued by Prime Minister.

ROME, Dec. 16.—A royal decree proroguing the session of deputies was published today. This move of Signor Crispi has caused most intense excitement throughout the country. Sensational rumors of all kinds are afloat. Don Chicote (newspaper) says the prime minister's action is the gravest constitutional error that has been committed since the foundation of Italian unity. Reports are current that ex-Prime Minister Giolitti and others are implicated in bank scandals and will be arrested. The paper says troops have been hurriedly summoned and are already arriving to reinforce the garrison at Rome. As parliamentary prorogation is regarded as an inevitable prelude to dissolution King Humbert has summoned the various leaders to confer with him on the situation.

POPULAR NOVELIST DEAD

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Dec. 15.—Advices from Apia, Samoa, of the date of Dec. 8 are to the effect that the well known novelist, Robert Louis Stevenson, died suddenly from apoplexy. His remains will be interred on the summit of Pala mountain.

SAME OLD STORY.

MOUNT OLIVE, Ill., Dec. 16.—This morning Bonenico was examining a shot gun and not thinking it loaded snapped the hammer. The load of shot was discharged, killing the three-year-old child of Frank Vecca and seriously injuring another little one.

SEELY MEETS HIS WIFE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Samuel C. Seely saw his wife today for the first time since he abandoned his home and fled. The meeting was pathetic in the extreme. The fell sobbing in each others embrace. Another sad scene was enacted at the parting.

MEMBERS FAIL TO AGREE.

American Federation of Labor Delegates Indulge in a Heated Argument.

SOCIALISM THE TOPIC UNDER DISCUSSION.

Attorney General Olney Charged With Attempting to Break Up Labor Unions of America.

PLANK NO. 10 BECOMES FAMOUS.

DENVER, Dec. 16.—The discussion of plank No. 10 in the political platform, the rock upon which the convention split, was resumed in the convention of the American Federation of Labor yesterday morning. Plank 10 is the so-called socialist one and the arguments became quite warm before the session was finished. Profiting by the experience of yesterday, the chair ruled that no speaker should be allowed to use the time of another member.

The ball was started rolling this morning by Delegate Lloyd of Boston, who wanted to refer the plank to subordinate unions.

Patrick McBryde, secretary of the mine workers, said that he was willing to take such action. He was instructed to vote for the plank, but he hoped if it was voted upon it would be defeated. Delegate Brettell read an alleged newspaper interview with Attorney General Olney in which he was reported to have said that he would break up every labor union in America by means of the anti-trust law. Mr. Brettell thought independent political action was necessary to protect laboring men.

Delegate P. J. McGuire made a strong argument against re-referring. He said the question had made trouble enough in the unions. He was once a socialist, but had become convinced of the folly of the idea. He spoke against socialism, asserting that its advocates had become crazed by the hard times. T. J. Morgan arose to a point of personal privilege. He said Mr. McGuire had reflected upon him. He said he got his few lessons in socialism from Mr. McGuire when he was organizer for Socialist Labor party. He said: "He was in rags. I was ashamed of his personal appearance—(cries of shame! from all parts of the hall). The speaker was called to order by the chair, who ruled that the floor was forfeited. Mr. Morgan refused to sit down, after repeatedly being ordered to do so. Finally he appealed from the decision of the chair. The decision was sustained by the convention.

Delegate Pomeroy made a vigorous address against socialism. His time was extended by the convention and he spoke for twenty minutes. He said that the greatest need of the day was the abolition of that un-American organization, the A. P. A. He strongly advocated the single tax theory.

CAUGHT BY SHARPERS.

Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars Paid for Worthless Patent Rights.

FORT SCOTT, Kas., Dec. 16.—The residents of Bronson and vicinity a few miles west of here, are wrought up over the fact that a number of their citizens have been swindled out of cash, stock and property to the extent of at least $25,000 by three sharpers who professed to be the inventors of a washing compound for which they were selling state and territorial rights. They came to Bronson about two months ago and soon succeeded in working up a great interest in the new fluid. Many prominent business men, and other reputable citizens and farmers secured territory, paying for it in cash, fine stock and mortgages on farms and property. A few days ago the three swindlers gathered together the property collected in this manner and without notice left the country.

THINK THEY HAVE SANTEY.

Denver Police Capture a Member of the O'Malley Gang.

DENVER, Dec. 16.—The city detectives have in custody a man, who answers the description of John Santey, the most desperate member of the O'Malley gang of toughs, who killed Gus Colliander at 117 Oak street, Chicago, during the election riots. Eight days ago Thomas Murphy, another member of the gang, was arrested here for vagrancy, but was discharged by the police justice and escaped before an order arrived from Chicago for his detention.

SEVERAL VESSELS MISSING.

Recent Storm on the Pacific Was a Disastrous One.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Dec. 16.—Much apprehension is felt in shipping circles for the safety of several of the old coasting vessels which went to sea a few days prior to the recent severe storms. The amount of fresh lumber on the beach indicates that several boats went down.

THEIR BODIES FOUND.

Two Children Lost in the Woods Die from Exposure.

WASPUN, Wis., Dec. 16.—The Schultz children, who disappeared from home last Monday and for whom hundreds of men have been searching daily, were found dead this afternoon in the woods. They lost their way during Monday's snow storm and died from exposure.

MARQUETTE, MICH., DECEMBER 17. Entered as second-class matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

GOVERNOR RICH'S plurality exceeds 106,000 on the official canvass, and his vote was 16,000 in excess of that cast for him in 1892. Fisher's vote was about 74,000 less than that cast for the Democratic nominee two years ago.

AN arrangement has been effected with Marinette parties by the publisher of the Menominee Enterprise under which they will become associated with him in the publication of a paper at Marinette, and also in the continued publication of The Enterprise at Menominee.

LAVIGNE administered a bad black eye to pugilism as a permissible sport for the toughs who delight in its savage contests when he struck the blow that resulted in the death of Bowen in the mill at New Orleans Friday night.

This item of copper news is taken from the metal market report of the Boston Post of the 12th inst. Copper maintained the advance in London. Lake is very strong. Bids of 9 1/2 cents have been refused and some wire bars have been sold at 10 cents.

THE Washington correspondent of a Chicago paper relates that Sam Stephenson and some other Michigan men at the national capital were talking over the senatorial situation on this state a few days ago, when the claims of "Skin" Olds, whose friends are urging him for Patton's seat mainly on the ground that he learned a great deal about statesmanship as the late Senator Stockbridge's private secretary, came up for discussion.

ORE AND PIG IRON PROSPECTS.

In its issue of the 13th, The Iron Trade Review, of Cleveland, had this relative to the market outlook for iron ore and pig iron:

There have been more small-lot sales of ore the past week, some of them for shipment to eastern furnaces. With a rate of $1.65 a ton from Buffalo, eastern buyers of Lake Superior ores figure closely upon the units of iron and the amount of moisture in the lakefores they buy and are apt, therefore, to discriminate rather more sharply on these points than the buyer close to the lake docks.

in the past ten days. While some sellers maintain a minimum at $9.50 at valley furnace for No. 2 sales are reported at $9.35, but this price has not been available to carlot buyers.

Though there has been a steady improvement in trade conditions within the past few months it has been so imperceptible in this region that many doubt if any betterment has taken place. And yet the difference between the state of things existing up here a year ago and the situation at present is very great.

Even the Detroit Tribune, unfriendly as it is to Hon. Don M. Dickinson politically, is constrained to award him credit for the valuable service he has rendered the cause of the homesteaders of this peninsula in the Canal company cases conducted by him to a successful issue.

The homesteaders in the upper peninsula who have just been confirmed in the titles to their holdings, have Don M. Dickinson to thank for their good fortune.

Mr. Dickinson's efforts have achieved valuable results to others besides the homesteaders directly involved. The precedent he has been able to establish will have its effect in pulling the land department in the future, to protect innocent holders of titles upon which there is a cloud through no fault of theirs.

To which may be added this handsome acknowledgment from an upper peninsula paper, The Menominee Enterprise, whose sympathies have been with the settlers in their struggle against the rich and powerful Canal company:

To Hon. Don M. Dickinson more than to any other one person is due the fact that the homesteaders on Canal lands in the upper peninsula have at last obtained from the U. S. supreme court a decision which confirms their right to lands for which they have been fighting for years.

THE VOGUE IN RINGS.

Buy the Unset Stone and Have It Mounted in Some Quaint Design. With the revival of the birthday ring—a special stone for each month, as the legend indicates—a feminine mania has arisen in regard to settings.

Whether jewelers approve the fad or not is a theme not to be entered upon rashly, but the feminine lover of precious stones has not touched the hot notch in pleasures of this kind until she has chosen her own birthstone from a glittering profusion, has suffered mentally over the choice of appropriate design in setting, and has awaited patiently that delightful moment when the stone of her heart, in the mounting of her own invention, shall shine upon her finger.

BASS FISHING IN THE SURF.

The Fish is a Fighter and the Breakers Add to the Excitement. What is surf fishing? It is standing on the shore and casting out over the breakers and fishing in the open sea.

The surf fisher is rigged out with a stiff, strong rod, a reel carrying from six hundred to nine hundred feet of fine linen line, and hand-forged steel hooks, from number five to seventy, attached to a four-ply leader, and carrying a pear-shaped lead sinker of from five to seven ounces in weight.

The most likely place for a strike is in the midst of the breaking, boiling surf, where the bottom is churned up by the tumultuous water, and the sea-bugs, sandworms and the other feed the sharp-eyed bass is eagerly searching for an exposed to view. Quick as a flash, before the alarmed fry can hide themselves in the sand, the alert bass is upon them.

If it is a big bass, say from ten to thirty pounds, it will, in its first startled run, take from fifty to three hundred feet of line. While it is thus rushing seaward, the cool and skillful veteran will press his thumb upon the reel just strong enough to put as strong a curb as possible upon the fish without endangering the line.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

RIGHT IN STYLE.

Changeable effects in satins, silks, moires, silk and wool mixtures, and fancy velvets are still the correct fashion notwithstanding their prolonged favoritism.

One of the best-known utility fabrics now used by tailors and modistes is the "fibre chamois"—an ideal interlining made of the felted fibre of the spruce tree. It is as soft and pliable as a tanned chamois or doeskin, yet it is so strong that it can be machine-stitched like woolen cloth, and the manufacturers claim "it is warmer than chamois, also cleaner, cheaper, and healthier, and that as an interlining it will wear as long as any garment it finishes."

For the street for the first cold days of the season are charming light collars of seal, otter, or moiré astrakhan fur, called the "Duchess of York peleries." They have a high collar and are lined with shot silk in gray color-blendings. Other triple collars of black or dark green Lyons velvet are edged with rich fur, and made so full around their lower edges that they show glimpses of their effective linings of yellow, scarlet, or rose-colored moiré.

On some one of the model walking skirts of covert or Venetian cloth is a band of Russian gallow woven in red, green (or black) and gold, with a very narrow line of fur each side of the rimp. A similar trimming is round the neck and sleeves of the round-waisted bodice, and with a corsage thus shaped a belt or girdle is indispensable.

Large velvet sleeves, either in mutton leg shape or in Queen Anne fashion, with a huge puff applied to a close fitting forearm shape, are seen upon very many of the autumn gowns designed for demitress wear.

DARING DAYLIGHT ROBBERY.

Calumet Girl Is Knocked Down and Robbed by Two Young Toughs.

POLICE ARE ON THE TRACK OF THE FOOTPADS.

Robbed the Girl of $100 Just Drawn from the Calumet & Hecla Mine Office.

[All communications intended for this department should be addressed to Horace Stevens, Houghton, Mich. Telephone connection.]

CALUMET.

Shortly after 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon the fifteen-year-old daughter of Dominic Champagna, an Italian miner employed at the Calumet & Hecla, was returning from the mine office, where she had drawn her father's wages. She was set upon suddenly by Matt Blau, Jr., and Fred Riordan, two young toughs who have been in trouble before. The frightened girl was knocked down without mercy, and her pockets gone through. The money she had drawn, a little over one hundred dollars, was taken from her and the young rascals quickly fled. The girl was badly frightened, but gave the alarm and as soon as it was learned by the officers that the young highwaymen had committed a daring daylight robbery almost in the center of the town, officers were sent in pursuit of the footpads who were seen taking to the woods. It is hardly possible that the young men can escape as the police are determined to capture them. Both young men came of respectable families, and their parents are deeply grieved at their conduct.

The clerks who are tired of spending eighteen hours a day on the treadmill are agitating the 8 o'clock closing movement. If the clerks of Red Jacket had the sand displayed two years ago by the clerks in Ishpeming they could score their point in short order—and keep it scored too. The Ishpeming clerks secured the promise of all the merchants to close at 8 o'clock except on Saturday evenings and pay days. The usual chronic hiker turned up in a couple of weeks and kept his store open after the promised hour. He was waited on by a delegation of clerks three successive times and asked to live up to his agreement and each time gave an evasive answer or a promise which was quickly broken. The fourth time the clerks called him with a brass band and torch-light procession, a dozen transparencies, with two hundred of their own members in line and several thousand sympathizers in line. The ridicule to which he was subjected nearly broke his spirits and the publicity given his breach of faith killed his business so that within six months he failed and moved out of town. The stores still close in Ishpeming at 8 o'clock, the merchants do just as much business as before and everyone is suited. It is not necessary to make a man work two shifts a day to get him to earn his salary.

Oates & Son, the auctioneers, disposed of the piano, stoves and a lot of other household effects of Geo. T. Fuller on Saturday. Mr. Fuller will return to Cleveland today and his friends in copperdon wish him heartily a success commensurate with his deserts.

Wm. Walls will build an addition, 30x60, behind the present block at the corner of Fifth and Scott streets, occupied by Knox & Wilner.

The Tamarack has declared a dividend of $4.00 per share, payable Dec. 31st, to stockholders of record. The payment of the dividend will bring the total of returns made stockholders up to the very handsome figure of $4,670,000.

HANCOCK.

The Salvation Army corps located here had a big time Saturday night. The big bass drum was pounded till the echoes were awakened from the Quiney hill and the loud bassoon and other various other instruments were very much in evidence. The Red Jacket band came into town to help swell the noise and enthusiasm, and there was a packed hall and lots of enjoyment of the kind that every true Salvationist believes the best of all.

The improvements and renovations in Haefler's block on East Quiney street are nearly completed.

The fall term of the Hancock schools will be closed with appropriate exercises next Friday afternoon. Declarations, recitations, reading of essays and exercises of a like nature, suited to the age and capacity of the various grades, will be held in each room of the public schools. Parents, friends and taxpayers are cordially invited by teachers and trustees to attend and see what their children have been doing since the long vacation.

DR. KARL HAGESTAM, who will be remembered as the pharmacist at Printz's drug store, has returned from Europe, where he spent several years at the leading medical schools on the continent, and has opened an office in Hancock for the practice of his profession.

Dan Crawford of Hancock has been appointed by the stockholders' report on the condition of the Colby mine at Bessemer. Mr. Crawford has just returned from Bessemer, where he carefully examined the property, and considers it in better shape than had been hoped. A special meeting will be called to listen to Mr. Crawford's report and steps will be taken to work the property on a scale commensurate with its value and capacity as a producer of high grade ore.

Marshal Malherbe earned the gratitude of all pedestrians by thoughtfully spreading a load of sand on the sidewalks wherever there was a sufficient slant to render the footing insecure. A little sand in the right place can save a good many aches and an occasional doctor bill in the course of a winter.

The sleighing is a thing of the past, so far as Hancock is concerned. The hills above the city are nearly bare of snow, and every indication points toward a green Christmas.

A SMOKY CONTINENT.

That Is What North America Has Been of Late.

Notes of a Traveler Who Crossed to the Pacific During the Recent Great Forest Fires—Strange Sightings and Incidents.

Reports continue to come in of forest and prairie fires in the west. The fires in Montana and later in the north-west have been followed by others in Tennessee, Kentucky and Arkansas. Those who have made a study and record of extensive fires on plain and in forest say that those of last summer and this fall are unprecedented in the history of this country. The fires reached from the great lakes to the Pacific.

A New York Sun reporter who went west just before the Minnesota disaster passed through a haze of smoke that extended clear across the country. He went from Buffalo to Duluth on the lakes, and so thick was the smoke that it was necessary frequently to blow the fog whistle of the steamer for an hour at a time. All the fog whistles at the lighthouses on the lakes were kept going night and day. Near Cleveland the smoke was so thick that it was impossible to see more than the length of the ship when approaching the breakwater. On Lake Superior the smoke was so dense that scores of birds lost their way and welcomed the ship as a place of refuge. They were birds that almost never venture beyond the forest, and so exhausted were they that they were practically tame. They took crumbs out of the hands of the children on board the vessel, and one beautiful little green and yellow songster, almost as delicate as a canary, lighted on the head of the reporter and rested there for fully fifteen minutes, while the reporter remained in conversation with a party of at least half a dozen. It was impossible to see the famous Apostle Islands as the ship went by them, and the harbor of Duluth was in a thick haze.

On the way down from Duluth to Minneapolis the fires were burning freely in the famous lumber district, but there was no indication of the terrible disaster that was to overtake Hinkley the next week. The country had been so long without rain that everyone seemed to think that it must come in a day or two, and there was little apprehension that anything more serious than that which had already happened could occur. Travelers could see a few hundred feet out of the car windows, and as night came on the thin line of flame eating its way through the leaves and underbrush was visible every mile or two.

In St. Paul it was impossible to see the river and the city itself from the heights. Out in the wheat country of the Dakotas the haze seemed to lift a little, but when the grazing country of Montana was reached desolation seemed to reign. For fifty miles at a stretch the plains were black as far as the eye could see. The cattle had been driven back to the mountains, the herders said, in some cases for hundreds of miles. The streams of water and the little lakes, that are the salvation of the country for grazing purposes, were dried up. Occasionally there would be a patch for eight or ten miles that would be unburned, but over the mounds in that rolling country there could be seen the approach of the fire, and there was no way to stop it.

At night the fires were especially beautiful. The flame was never more than from six to eight inches high. Occasionally it ran in a straight line parallel with the railroad for a distance of several miles. At other times it formed crescents and circles up the sloping sides of some extended knoll. Again there were acute and obtuse angles and at the smoke rose and filled the air it made it impossible to see clearly for more than a few hundred yards.

In the Rocky mountains it was the same story. Far up the peaks, close to the limit of the wood belt, scores of fires could be seen burning briskly, where no hunter could have left his campfire burning. Some of the fires in the mountains, as well as some of those on the plains, were undoubtedly started by locomotive sparks, and some were started by the negligence of hunters who had not extinguished their campfires on leaving for their sport, but no one could account for the fires far up the mountain sides.

On the Pacific slope the reporter found scores of tourists who had changed their routes and given up part of their trips because of the smoke. Seattle was in a fog, and the attractive Puget sound was as if it did not exist. The sound of the fog whistles on the steamboats was the only indication that Seattle was a seaport. All salmon and other kinds of fishing was at a standstill, and the citizens were saying that the smoke was a most serious loss to the industries of the place. Down through the beautiful and fertile valleys of Oregon the smoke hid the scenery, and not until the travelers were close under the flanks of glorious Mount Shasta in upper California, could the towering pile be seen. All the Cascade range was hidden, and the superb peaks, such as Tacoma, Hood and Adams, were as if they had not been.

Not until the reporter had reached the Selkirk mountains in British Columbia, on his way home, did he find the atmosphere clear. The hotel keeper at Glacier said that the day that burst in splendor over the peaks, on Sunday of the second week of September, was the first perfectly clear day that had been seen there for two months, and at Field, on the eastern slope of the Canadian Rockies, the railroad officials told the same story. Travelers, railroad men and weather experts all along the route that the reporter went over united in saying that probably such an extensive band of smoke never before hung over the continent. It practically reached from the Atlantic to the Pacific for at least six weeks.

ANDY BOWEN IS DEAD.

Fatal Termination of the Prize Fight at New Orleans Friday Night.

HE NEVER BECAME CONSCIOUS AFTER THE BLOW.

Lavigne Arrested Charged With Murder and Admitted to Bail in the Sum of $10,000.

BOWEN WAS KILLED BY A BLOW. NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 16.—Andy Bowen the southern light-weight champion, who was knocked out by "Kid" Lavigne of Saginaw, Mich., in the eighteenth round in the arena of the Auditorium club died yesterday morning at 7:15 o'clock while Father Delaney was praying over him.

The scene at the house was a most pathetic one. Dr. Martin was called in at an early hour and did all that human skill could do to save the life that hung in the balance, but to no avail.

The mother of the pugilist, when he was carried into the house, predicted that he would never recover, while his young wife grew hysterical in her agony. They sat by the side of the unconscious man and went and prayed as only women can, but it was of no avail. His eyes had looked on them for the last time and he never opened his lips.

Between 2 and 7 o'clock the faithful watchers stood by the dying pugilist's side, hoping that his eyes would give some sign of intelligence. Medical science racked its brain in search of a remedy, however violent, that would quicken the pulse and set the brain to working. At 3 o'clock Dr. Finney thought that Bowen had improved and at that hour he did not think that the fight would prove fatal, and sent a certificate to the chief of police that Bowen was better.

As a result of fatality the contest between Dempsey and Ryan, scheduled for last night, was declared off. The news of Bowen's death was made known to Lavigne and his party shortly after it had been communicated by telephone to the central station. Lavigne had been detained at the station with his seconds and attendants all night and he slept but little, being anxious every moment to get tidings from the bedside of the wounded pugilist.

Lavigne was inexpressibly shocked when he heard the news of Bowen's death and expressed his profound sympathy for Bowen's wife. In answer to a question he said that he did not feel that he had been the direct cause of his death; in other words, the blow he had delivered on the jaw had not been sufficiently forceful to have carried with it fatal consequences. He said that he believed that when Bowen fell that his head had struck the pine flooring and that the concussion had been the immediate cause of his death. Lavigne was not only sorry for Bowen's death, but he was in much apprehension as to what would become of him now long it was likely to keep him in prison. Friends assured him that he would probably have no difficulty in obtaining his release after the usual formalities of the law had been complied with, and that he need have no fear of lack of friends and influence to help him out of his unfortunate dilemma.

At 9 o'clock Lavigne and his party were told to prepare themselves to be taken to the Third precinct station. An affidavit for murder against all concerned will be made during the day in the second recorder's court.

Captain Frank Williams of the Auditorium club was very much cast down over the accident. He said that the club did not intend to violate any law and until the unfortunate result of Friday night's encounter was fully investigated it would go no further with glove contests. When asked about further events he said that he thought it looked very dark for pugilistic events in this state hereafter.

Lavigne was admitted to bail in the sum of $10,000, the others in $5,000. Duffe, the referee, and Spitzfaden are the only ones to furnish bonds.

All the participants in last night's fatal contest have been released on bail. The Times-Democrat, in criticizing the affair, says:

"The blow which sent Bowen down was not one of extraordinary force. It was delivered at very short range, but he was so weak as to be able to make no resistance, and falling directly over backwards, the back of his head struck the unpadding floor of the stage upon which they had been fighting with such tremendous force that it sounded as if the floor had been heavily hit with the poll of an ax. When Hall and Fitzsimmons fought in this same arena the floor was thickly covered with padding over which a sheet of canvas had been tightly stretched. Last night, for some unexplained reason, this padding had been removed and the canvas had been stretched over the bare boards of the stage. Had the stage been in this condition when Fitzsimmons knocked Hall out there appears to be little doubt that Hall would have been fatally injured and with such a circumstance fresh in their memory it appears almost unaccountable that the managers of the club should have taken such a serious risk as that to be incurred by permitting the men to fight on an unpadding floor. The doctors who were in attendance upon Bowen last night, said that it was not the blow that had done the mischief but the striking of his head upon the floor which had produced concussion of the brain."

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 16.—Bob Fitzsimmons refused to talk on the subject of Bowen's death. He said, however, that he had telegraphed Lavigne his sympathy and would give him any help he desired. "I am willing to aid him financially," he said.

SAGINAW, Mich., Dec. 16.—The news of Bowen's death is the principal topic of conversation here. William Lavigne, brother of George, has received the following telegram: "Dear Brother—I am in a little trouble. Don't worry. Fix mother all right. Things will come out all right. (Signed) Brother George." Lavigne has always won and had never failed to send his mother the greater part of his winnings.

WILL AID MORALITY.

Bowen's Death Will Arouse Sentiment Against Prize Fighting.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 16.—Governor Foster was seen this evening and asked for an expression of opinion as to the so-called glove contests in the light of the tragic outcome of the Lavigne-Bowen fight. The governor expressed himself as firmly opposed to such exhibitions. He said:

"The unfortunate termination of the contest accentuates the importance of prohibiting any further exhibits. Sound healthy sentiment has outlawed pugilistic exhibitions in almost every state in the Union and I believe the great body of the people of this state are unquestionably opposed to making Louisiana, and especially New Orleans, the scene of these brutal contests."

Lavigne is still detained by the police. He will not retire from the ring but will try for a match with Johnson of Minneapolis. Bowen's funeral will take place in the morning. The grand jury will begin an investigation at the same time and fix the blame for the death.

MILL BOILERS EXPLODES.

The Engineer in Charge and a Laborer Instantly Killed.

APPLETON, Wis., Dec. 16.—The boilers at Willy & Co.'s flour mill exploded yesterday morning at 9:40 o'clock, demolishing the boiler house and killing two men. The dead are:

JOHN STEINEL, engineer, aged sixty-five years, awfully mangled. He leaves a wife and married daughter. JOSEPH KREUTZER, laborer, aged twenty years, unmarried. His head was crushed.

The mill on the south and the elevator on the north end of the boiler house were badly damaged. The loss is $10,000, covered by insurance. A farmer who was unloading grain at the mill was struck by flying brick and had his face crushed. He will recover. Two boys while passing were knocked down. One was out on the head by a brick and the other had a finger torn off. Both will recover. Buildings in the neighborhood were riddled with flying bricks and timbers and many narrow escapes are reported. The ruins took fire and the flames had a hard fight to subside the heated ruins. In the meantime the 100-foot brick chimney, weakened by the explosion, swayed like a reed and threatened every moment to fall and bury the workers. The men killed were evidently in front of the boilers when they exploded. Steinel's flesh was scalded from the bones in places and his clothing burned off. Kreuzer was burned to a cinder about the head and shoulders, but not scalded. The cause of the explosion is not known. The boilers were examined by an expert a few months ago and pronounced safe.

The explosion of a boiler occurred in the same mill less than a year ago and the engineer was killed. The cause of that explosion was that the engineer went to sleep and let the water get out of the boiler. The present explosion is more serious than the last. Greater damage was done to the mill and surrounding property as well as more casualties. The boiler house will be rebuilt at once. An inquest will be held Monday.

INDULGE IN PITCHED BATTLES. SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 16.—Two factional Democratic candidates are in the field for the mayoralty, the election taking place in January. No one can vote who has not paid all his taxes and registered. This provision led to a wild scramble at first and then pitched battles daily between large forces for the choice of positions in the line to the tax collectors' offices. As registration closed Saturday it is inevitable that many citizens will be shut out.

The two factions hired two gangs of toughs each numbering about 100 and including the most desperate whites and negroes in the city. To each was given a list of six names, the largest number the collector would accept taxes from for one person, and the money to pay the taxes with. Each morning for ten days past the gangs have struggled with each other in front of and inside the court house. Hundreds of citizens gathered from all parts of the city to witness the big mills. For two weeks at least no citizen has paid taxes for himself, all entrusting their names and money to these hired henchmen. At times nearly the entire police force had to be called to establish order and for over a week the presence of about forty policemen was constantly required at the tax collector's office.

A number of the hired fighters have slipped with the money given them, thus disfranchising many citizens. It is calculated the cost of keeping up the two armies, which in the last few days has been increased to about three hundred, to fight for poll tax receipts is over $10,000. The next legislature will be appealed to, to amend the law so as to prevent any repetition of these scenes.

CHANCELLOR MAY RESIGN.

Von Levetzow Gets Action on the Revolutionary Bill.

BERLIN, Dec. 16.—It is stated that Herr von Levetzow of the reichstag has threatened to resign unless the anti-revolutionary bill is disposed of before Christmas. It is added that a majority of the members of the reichstag thereupon yielded, although they were anxious to return home, and the anti-revolutionary bill will be taken up next week. In the reichstag yesterday Count von Limburg-Stirum declared that the arrangement with the United States by which Germany's hands were tied was a very serious matter. Under the present "favored nation" clause Germany, he added, was helpless, and he hoped that at the expiration of the present treaty Germany would return to autonomous tariffs. It was a regrettable fact, he continued, that the United States in contravention of a clearly-defined treaty dared to sur-tax German sugar. It would not have occurred, the speaker claimed, under Prince Bismarck's regime.

Referring to the prohibition against the landing of American cattle and fresh meat Count von Limburg-Stirum said that these measures could not be regarded as effective reprisals.

JAPANESE STILL WIN.

Fight Another Sanguine Battle and Experience Little Loss.

HIROSHIMA, Dec. 16.—A dispatch from the front states that the reinforcements have been sent to the Japanese detachment which on Dec. 12 was compelled by a superior Chinese force to retire from Sai Basu. On Dec. 14 the strengthened Japanese force made another attack on the Chinese who were advancing from Sai Basu. The latter fought with vigor but were completely routed, fleeing in disorder. The Japanese pursued the Chinese as far as Chokinshi and captured four guns and several prisoners. The Japanese loss was three officers wounded and seventy privates killed or wounded. The Chinese are still confronting the Japanese division commanded by General Tatsami and fighting is expected shortly.

BOUGHT BY ENGLISHMEN.

Gold Mine in Rainy Lake Country Changes Hands.

RAINY LAKE CITY, Minn., Dec. 16.—English capital has bought a great quartzite lode in the Seine river in this new gold district. Oliver Daunais, the well-known gold and silver land operator of West Ontario, being one of the purchasers, paying $250,000, it is reported. This property lies near Lake Wabigoon, south of the Canadian Pacific road, and was discovered last summer. It is a mountain of low grade quartz, averaging about $5 in gold to the ton, but free milling and very easy to work. The Canadian Pacific railway has agreed to build to it if the company will show good faith in the development of the property.

SOMETHING NEW. A Portrait Party Makes a Pleasant Diversion for the Coming Long Winter Evenings.

At a portrait party the guests, in costume, stand one by one behind a large frame and make pictures of themselves for the benefit of their friends. As when the pictures are shown only the upper part of the body is visible, the head, or to the waist, according to the size of the frame, the guests may prefer to wear their ordinary clothes to their house and to put on there whatever they need for the representation. This will be the best way if you wish to make the preparations for your evening's amusement easy for all concerned. If you follow the other plan and ask each participant to assume a complete costume, after the pictures have been shown, you have a fancy dress party, and so the enjoyment is lengthened. Whichever course you decide upon it is not necessary for anybody to go to the costumers for dresses. Charming effects can be produced with very simple materials. Hold yourself ready to give advice as to the characters to be chosen and as to the manner in which they are to be represented. Your friends may personate historical figures, characters from poems or novels, copy well-known pictures, or even, if they can think of nothing better, contrive a picturesque and becoming attire, and call themselves what they will. Don't attempt anything very elaborate. A simple thing artistically done is much more effective than an ambitious failure. You, or whoever is made adviser in chief for the occasion, will know before hand nearly all the costumes which are to appear. But it is better that the different performers should not know what the others are to represent. Then they can enjoy seeing as well as being seen.

To show the picture properly you need a large room and a large empty picture frame. Your own taste and arrangement of your room will decide the position of the frame. Don't place it too near the spectators. There should be space for a small dressing-room behind, and heavy curtains should be hung on each side and one in front which can be swung back and forth. As screens can be used at the sides and in front you would better arrange some richly-colored material behind the frame as a background for the figures. It may be well to have several such backgrounds on hand, for different costumes will require different colors to bring them out.

When the evening comes ask some artistic person of experience to superintend the exhibition. He or she will give the last touches to the costumes and make suggestions as to the pose of the figures. It is not a bad plan to have a pile of brightly-colored fabrics in the dressing-room. With these your quick-witted helper can improvise stunning effects for those who have prepared nothing for themselves.

If the frame is wide enough to allow it some tableaux with two figures may be introduced.

Then, if the lights are properly arranged and the seats for the spectators are placed so that they can see all ought to enjoy themselves.

IT WAS HIS OWN CASH.

Amusing Misfortune of a Young Man with Two Much Equanimity.

The misfortunes of others are filled with irresistible humor in many cases, particularly in the more trifling acts of every day. To see a man sit on his own stiff hat is relished with keen enjoyment by every other man in sight. If another man finds that the crush has come in reality to his own headgear after laughing wildly at the supposed hard luck of his friend, then the situation is a thousand times funnier.

A young man with this human trait strongly developed swung down Washington street at a sharp pace the other afternoon. He carried his mackintosh flung over his arm. At the crossing of Fifth avenue there was a rattle of coin and a shower of nickels and dimes rained on the pavement from some unknown region. No one was more astonished than the young man, and he stopped with great interest and watched passers eye the scattered currency askance and then shyly, as in fear of a trick. Finally all of the pieces had been picked up by small boys and other sensible pedestrians, and still there was no trace of the source. The curious young man enjoyed the incident and the study of human nature that it afforded, and had got about two blocks further on his way when his face lengthened instantly as he exclaimed: "By Jove! that change fell out of my mackintosh pocket!"—Chicago Times.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant. 40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Spring is the season for suicides as well as for sales. People prefer for this purpose, as statistics show, day to night, and Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday to Saturday and Sunday. In a word, suicides prefer the early part of the week, month and year. It would follow, seemingly, that anybody with a melancholic friend should look after him carefully on the first Monday in May. Men kill themselves two, three or four times more often than women, except in Spain. Women generally "do it beautifully," men crudely. Rutland and Sussex are the most suicidal counties, North Wales and Beds the least. Saxony is the most suicidal country in Europe, and the least so is—the "unhappy country!" Ireland's rate is twenty-four per million to Saxony's four hundred and sixty-nine.—Westminster Gazette.

An Attractive Show Window - Where to Obtain Novelties - The Hearing in Young Kinney's Case.

PONY EXPRESS TO MARQUETTE

John Jones left yesterday for Chicago, where he has been called by the American Express company to arrange for transferring express matter between Ishpeming and Negaunee to Marquette. Mr. Jones stated Saturday that the American Express company intended retaining its office at Marquette and that teams would be put on the road between here and there. Two trips a day will be made.

One team will leave Negaunee in the morning immediately after the arrival of the Chicago & Northwestern train and the other will leave in the afternoon on the arrival of the train from the south. The teams will leave Ishpeming about half an hour before the arrival of the train at Negaunee, taking any express matter that may be sent from here to the Queen City.

Mr. Jones thinks the pony express line between the three cities will work quite satisfactorily. Good, lively teams will be put on the route. When the roads are in fair condition the trip from Negaunee can be made in a little over an hour. The company will do whatever may be required to retain its business at Marquette and to that end will endeavor to give as good service as hitherto. The Marquette office has been doing a larger business than any other in the upper peninsula and is by far the best paying office in this section. The pony express will begin business the first of the year.

Drew a Crowd.

During the past week J. L. Bradford, of L. W. Atkins & Co., has been busy arranging a Christmas window and on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock he had the task completed. As a Christmas display it is by far the finest ever seen here. The scene represents a forest, in which trees, hills, snow drifts, animals, etc., are displayed to good advantage. The principal feature of the display, however, is a real live Santa Claus who amuses the spectators by making toys, pictures, etc.

In ten minutes after the curtains were raised at 4 o'clock from two to four hundred people had assembled in the street opposite the store. When Santa Claus first made his appearance from the opening in the cliff at one end of the window the little ones outside cheered him heartily. The crowd around the place after supper was so large that a police officer had to remain around to keep the walk and entrance to the store clear. Hundreds visited the store and took a glimpse at Santa during the evening, and up to the time he retired for the night there was a crowd outside the windows. Santa Claus will make his appearance every afternoon and evening until after Christmas.

Christmas Market.

The Ladies Guild and Chancel society of Grace Episcopal church will open a market for the sale of Christmas novelties in the vacant store room in the Jenks block next Thursday. The ladies of the church have for some time past been preparing articles of various kinds for the sale and they will have on display an excellent assortment of these, suitable for Christmas gifts. For the ladies and children they have many articles particularly pleasing. In dolls, etc., they have some very rare novelties. A majority of the articles have been donated to the society by the ladies of the church, consequently they will be disposed of at unusually low prices. The sale will open at 9 o'clock in the morning and continue until 10 in the evening. The ladies of the city are cordially invited to attend the market, where they will find many articles to interest them.

Hearing Continued.

The preliminary hearing in the case of James Kinney, who was arrested as a "suspect" in connection with the capture of the Everson-Jernquist gang, consumed all Saturday in Justice Funston's court. The witnesses for the prosecution—there being several of them—were examined Saturday. The case was adjourned until this morning at 9 o'clock when the witnesses for the defense will be put on the stand. It may take the greater part of today to bring the hearing to a close.

A Fine Outfit.

W. J. Bell, late of Ontonagon, who recently engaged in the dental business in the McKey block, is now comfortably settled in his new quarters. Mr. Bell's dental outfit is one of the most complete ever seen here. He is well equipped for doing good work. Before entering the Michigan university to learn dentistry Mr. Bell was superintendent of an electric light plant and has quite a thorough knowledge of electricity. He is making good use of his experience in that line, having just completed a battery for the operation of his drills and other tools. He also has his electrical outfit arranged so that he can use small incandescent lights in the mouths of his patients in examining and operating on the teeth. Mr. Bell is doing a good business.

WHERE DIALECT RUNS WILD.

Specimen of the Argot in Use Among Australian Sheep Shearers.

If the specimen of Australian dialect which Gilbert Parker gives in the Idler is a fair sample of what we may expect when dialect writers begin to work up that country, we have not yet seen the worst. Here is a little story which reads like a missing word puzzle or a cipher telegram: "Tell ye 'ow it was. I toddles off to the shed, pulls down me tongs, 'auls out a bloomin' papillion, and was goin' down the whippin' side, both blades 'eavily loaded, when the boss drops and shot me dead. I takes a 'op skip an' a jump back to the 'ut, put two folds in the old shirallee, slings the 'og 'ide on the tall crocodile, goes up the river like a frog, sits down along sleepy Jim's muster and strips a hundred and forty by four o'clock next." And here is the interpretation which Mr. Parker is kind enough to furnish us: "This is how it happened: I walked off to the shearing shed, took down my shears, hauled out a sheep, and I was clipping down the right-hand side with all my might, when the manager came and discharged me. I went back to the hut, folded up my blanket, put the saddle on my horse, galloped up the river, stopped at Sleepy Jim's sheep pen and shored a hundred and forty by four o'clock next day."

What! Is it a circus? Where is the crowd running to? Why, to P. H. Donahoe's for some of that elegant "stuff." "Put the boots to them."

The House in Which Washington Wrote His Farewell Address.

Some Interesting Facts About the Historic Structure Once Occupied by the First President of the United States.

The state of New Jersey, as every schoolboy knows, was the scene of many stirring events during the revolution, and almost every city, town and hamlet has, or claims to have, a landmark of which its inhabitants are very proud and delight to point out to visitors. As in many other parts of the country, however, some of these landmarks, which should have the greatest claim on the American people from a historical point of view, have been neglected, apparently forgotten and allowed to go to decay and ruin. One of these is the old Berrian house at Rocky Hill. It was in this house that Washington resided for many months, and among other acts wrote his farewell address to the continental army. The house, says the New York Tribune, is an old-fashioned structure, with large, square rooms and low ceilings to retain the heat from the big, open fireplaces. At the time that Gen. Washington occupied the house it was the homestead of the family of Judge John Berrian, one of the oldest families in the state, which at that time owned vast tracts of land, obtained by grants from the crown. Judge Berrian, when the clash came, remained loyal to the American cause, and his house became a refuge for Gen. Washington on more than one occasion. The old Berrian mansion is located about a quarter of a mile from the village, on a steep bluff overlooking the Millstone river. The little village of Rocky Hill is about six miles from Princeton as the crow flies. Off the old post road and located in among the densely wooded hills of Somerset county it was unknown to Cornwallis or his soldiers, and after the battles of Trenton and Princeton was just the place for Washington and his handful of continentals to retire to for rest and refuge.

Washington afterward returned at different periods to Rocky Hill during the progress of the war, but the longest time he resided in the Berrian house was from June, 1783, to the following November. This was just after congress had adjourned at Trenton to meet at Princeton in the old college buildings, and here Washington was summoned to meet them. Accompanied by Mrs. Washington and a part of his military family, Washington took up his residence in the old Berrian house. The general and his staff rode daily over the seven miles of road to Princeton, where congress was in session. Gen. Washington evidently found life exceedingly restful and pleasant in the Berrian house, and found time to indulge in the simple social recreations of the neighborhood. Among the people he called upon was the family of John Van Horn, a wealthy farmer, with whom was staying at the time the noted painter, John Dunlap. The latter, in his reminiscences of Washington, mentions the agreeable surprise among the people over the pleasant discovery that the great general possessed a liking for social pleasures and could appreciate a joke by laughing as heartily as other men. It was supposed that Washington was always serious and grave.

Gen. Washington and Mrs. Washington were still living in the Berrian house on November 2, 1783, and while there the general wrote his farewell address to the little army of patriots. Washington left Rocky Hill at the end of November and went to Newburg to prepare for his triumphant entry with his army into New York. It is probable that he never returned to the old Berrian house on Rocky Hill, although he left behind him many interesting reminiscences of his prolonged stay there.

About fifteen years ago the land and house were purchased by David H. Mount, wealthy miller in the village. Later it was sold to Martin A. Howell, of New Brunswick, N. J. Mr. Howell made many necessary repairs to the old Berrian house, but by the removal of the great two-story veranda in front of it, which was supported, as were those of most colonial houses of pretensions, by large, round pillars, it lost its characteristic picturesqueness. The architectural beauty of the old colonial style of house, with its comfortable, hospitable look, has been entirely lost and the house looks to-day like many other farmhouses, built for use only. It is now occupied by Michael Hines, a boss quarryman, and his family. They revere the memory of Washington even more than others that have lived in the house since he occupied it, and delight to show visitors through it.

Royalty's Queer Fad. Among the many queer fads of royalty is one possessed by both the late czar and his brother-in-law, the duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, namely, a craze for collecting models of ships, especially cruisers. In the case of Duke Alfred they are all of silver; there are some sixty or seventy of them, several being three to four feet in length, and they form an imposing fleet in the long gallery in which they have been placed in his palace at Coburg. Those of the late emperor of Russia, while merely of wood and brass, made up in perfection of finish and detail what they lacked in their intrinsic value, and one of the last additions to the collection was a model over seven feet long of the Cunard steamer Lucania, constructed at cost of over eight thousand dollars.

A Desperate Coyote. The desperation of the coyote when cornered was illustrated the other day in an experience which a Washington farmer had with one of these little beasts near Pasco. Being shot and wounded by him it sprang upon him and man and coyote rolled over and over until he gave it its quietus with a pocketknife.

South Shore Operators Changed About Soft Weather Interferes With Logging Operations.

A WOMAN ASSAULTED.

An unknown man attempted to rob an elderly lady residing on Case street about half-past six o'clock Friday evening. The woman was going from her home to a neighbor's place when the attempt to rob her was made.

One night last week a young lady was assaulted by a man in the vicinity of the furnace. While she was endeavoring to get away from him a woman of more than ordinary nerve happened to come along and on seeing the struggle between the man and girl and rolled up her sleeves and waded into the fellow and soon had him on the run.

Hard on the Lumbermen.

The soft weather of the past week or more has been a serious drawback to lumbering operations in this vicinity. Men who were at the camps during the latter part of last week report the roads in such bad condition that it was almost impossible to drive over them with an empty sleigh.

A PERSON'S WEIGHT.

Curious Facts About Its Daily and Hourly Variations.

This is a subject on which there are some curious questions, and the question can not be answered by any degree of exactness, first, because the accessible scales are liable to error; secondly, because people make no proper allowance for the weight of their clothes; and thirdly, because the weight of a person is in a state of continuous oscillation that may be observed even while one is on the scales.

"Many persons weigh themselves frequently and imagine that they know their weight. Sweet illusion! Nothing is more difficult than to know one's weight exactly, even with access to first-class scales. We hear one say: 'I am making flesh; I have increased two pounds'; and another: 'I am getting into form; I weigh three pounds less'; but while I do not wish to make myself disagreeable, especially to people who keep account of their weight, I am convinced that in most of such cases there is really not an ounce of gain or loss, or if there is any variation, it is not what the scales record.

The causes which influence weight are numerous and rarely taken into consideration. For example, was the weight taken immediately after breakfast or long after? or following active exercise, attended with free perspiration? Again many people, even educated people, have extraordinary ideas as to what affects the weight of the body.

The fact is that people are in the habit of weighing themselves, for good luck, one day after breakfast, another day before dinner, another day with heavy clothes on, another day when it rains, etc. Add to this the errors of the scales, and who can say that he knows exactly his own weight or range of variation? One's weight is like a mobile expression; it changes every instant.

The inaccuracy of ordinary balances, such as one finds in hotels, at railway stations, etc., determined me to make a portable balance to weigh one hundred kilograms (two hundred and twenty pounds), and to be exact to within an ounce, and since then I have weighed myself regularly every day, at the same hour in the morning and under identical conditions, and to-day I possess a record of five years of experiments conducted with the utmost precision.

When we remember that seventy per cent of our body is water, there is little difficulty in understanding that our weight must vary continually with the transpiration of moisture; moreover, it varies with the pressure of the atmosphere. The mere variations in atmospheric humidity suffice to account for a change of more than a pound, and other causes may suffice to account for another pound.

After watching the youngsters for several days the dog caught on to the work himself and took a great liking to it. One day Durr went out to his tobacco patch and found his boys playing in the shade, which was not a strange thing for boys to do. "Why the devil ain't you working tobacco?" he yelled. "Ned's doing it," they yelled back. Durr went to the patch and found the big pointer dog busily engaged in worming the plants, and he was doing it faster than both the boys could have done.

DOG THAT WORMS TOBACCO.

Kentucky Canine That Is Hired Out as a Field Hand.

Speaking of funny things, did you ever hear of a wonderful dog that is owned by John A. Durr, who lives at Vanarsdall, a little settlement down in Mercer county, Ky.?

"Why did you tell the preacher that you never talked shop on Sunday?" said Spadkins to his "friend, a coal-dealer. "He asked me if I saw the error of my weights," replied the latter. —Pittsburgh Chronicle.

EARTHQUAKE INDICATOR.

Telephone to Be Used in Mexico for That Purpose.

An Original Plan Devised Whereby the People of the Volcanic Zone May Be Warned of Approaching Peril.

Senor Francisco Estrada, professor of physics in the state college of San Luis Potosi, Mexico, has submitted an original plan to the government for foretelling earthquakes in the volcanic zone of Mexico, by means of the telephone.

"With the telephone and the more recent invention, the microphone, and with daily simultaneous observations, taken in the volcanic zone, which comprises Vera Cruz, Puebla, Mexico and Guadalajara, I believe it possible to definitely prognosticate earthquakes and volcanic eruptions, as the result of the great interior changes of the earth, which change the geological construction of our land.

"Construction of various telephone lines; let one connect the central government meteorological observatory with the base of the volcano Popocatepetl, being grounded in one of the deepest cracks or crevasses, selecting among them one containing a thermal spring, connecting the other end of the line at the observatory with the metallic tube of one of the deepest artesian wells in the city.

"Here are cool mosses deep, and through the moss the ivies creep, and in the stream the long-leaved flowers weep, and from the craggy ledge the poppy hangs in sleep. —Tennyson.

DEATH OF PHILLIP MORGAN.

Phillip Morgan, a resident of this city since 1867, died Saturday evening at his house on Third street of a bronchial affection from which he had suffered for some years.

Mr. Morgan was born in Wales nearly seventy years ago and in the great iron works of that country learned his trade of machinist and extended his powers into general iron working.

He is survived by his widow and four children, two sons and two daughters. The elder son is a machinist in the South Shore railroad shops.

The Presbyterian church was filled to the doors last evening. Mr. Spencer spoke upon the theme "Off-shore Views of Christianity" in his usual plain and unaffected but very effective manner.
